The globe he'll carpet, never fear! And Myriad feet shall nail it down In every street of every town. For to the shoe, what 'ere the weather, The world is carpeted with leather. ## BULLDOZED THE SULTAN.

European Powers Do Not Wish Americans to Investigate Armenian Atrocities.

AMERICANS WOULD TELL THE EXACT TRUTH.

Selfish Political Considerations More Weighty in Europe Than Justice to Suffering Armenians.

CONSUL JEWETT EXCLUDED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 25.—The sultan has finally and positively declined to allow United States Consul Jewett to make either an independent inquiry into the Armenian troubles or to accompany the European commission.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—The refusal of Turkey to allow an independent investigation into the Armenian outrages was not expected. The state department does not appear to see any way of going behind the decision, for Consul Jewett, being refused permission to make an investigation as an officer of the United States, could not safely undertake it as an individual. Therefore all connection of the United States with the proposed inquiry is at an end and the investigation will be made entirely by Europeans.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—The Turkish legation has received the following official telegram: "Certain newspapers announced the execution of thirty-six Armenians at Erzeroum. This information is not correct, the facts being as follows: Out of forty-six Armenians under arrest at Erzeroum, thirty-six were liberated, five were condemned to death and the remaining five to ten years hard labor. Seven others were also condemned to death, but they are in flight. The condemned men were convicted of murder and assault. The formalities concerning these sentences have not yet been fulfilled."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 25.—Chief Bey, president of the board of cassation, and Djelaleddin Bey, president of the correctional section of the court of appeals, have been appointed members of the Armenian commission in place of Abdullah Pasha, who has been recalled on account of the representations that he is inferior in rank to Zekki Pasha, the commander of the Turkish troops said to be responsible for the outrages and who will be examined by the commission.

The Italian government has appointed a consul at Erzeroum, and he will probably follow the Armenian commission. In view of the severity of the winter the commission is not likely to be able to visit the mountain districts of Sassoun.

JAPANESE PARLIAMENT.

Emperor Refers to Victories—Skeptical About China.

TOKIO, Dec. 25.—Parliament was opened yesterday. The speech from the throne briefly referred to the victories achieved by the Japanese troops in every engagement, and says they are steadily pressing forward in the enemy's territory, adding that it is especially satisfactory to note that in spite of cold and hardships the forces are more than ever distinguishing themselves by their valor. The relations of Japan with the great powers are more friendly than ever. The revision of treaties on long-cherished lines has been carried out with some caution, and with other states the negotiations for this purpose are making favorable progress. In conclusion the speech says: "Having been placed in such a glorious situation we wish more than ever to promote the civilization of the country and enjoy parliament to take notice of the state affairs at home and abroad and by securing harmony between this government and the people assist in the furtherance of the imperial wish."

The government is still skeptical in regard to Chinese peace overtures, and points out that no authoritative statement has been made by China in regard to the mission and that, while China now professes to desire peace, news has reached the government of Japan that China is negotiating for the purchase of an entire squadron of the Chinese navy, and the agents of Colonel von Hannekin in Europe, it is added, are trying to enlist a number of German officers for service in the Chinese army and navy.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—A dispatch received here from Shanghai states that the third Japanese army is reported to have landed west of Chae Foo and captured Lai Chow, a seaport town of China in the province of Chan Tung on the south shore of the Gulf of Pe Chi Li.

BELL BEATS EDISON.

Wizard's Phonograph Was Failure While Bell's Succeeded.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—A decision was yesterday rendered in the supreme court of the District of Columbia in the suit, which has been pending for nearly two years, brought by the American Graphophone company nominally against the Columbia Phonograph company, but the real parties defendant being Thomas A. Edison and the Edison Phonograph works.

It was alleged by the American Graphophone company that the original Edison tinfoil phonograph was a failure, as the sound records it made were not accurate, permanent nor capable of being reproduced as often as desired, could not be detached from the machine, handled and transported and that the art as now known was created by the inventions of Alexander Graham Bell, Chichester A. Bell and Charles Sumner Tainter, who began their work under the auspices of the Volta Laboratory association and whose patents were afterwards acquired by the American Graphophone company, and that every phonograph, every phonograph cylinder and every phonograph record became practical and valuable only so far as it relied upon the principle of engraving the record as distinguished from the abandoned method of indenting, used in Edison's original tinfoil phonograph.

No testimony was taken for the Columbia Phonograph company in the case and when the time limit fixed by the court had almost expired the defendant withdrew counsel and allowed a decree by default. The court finds for the American Graphophone company on every point, issues a decree of injunction against the defendants and orders an accounting by the auditor of the court. Other suits are pending in New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Massachusetts, Illinois and Kansas.

DEBS' SENTENCE.

A. R. U. Leader Will Not Go to Jail Until After the Holidays.

CHICAGO, Dec. 25.—Judge Woods yesterday decided that the jail sentence for Debs and his six associates in the Santa Fe case should begin on Jan. 8. On motion of Attorney Gregory for the defense the Santa Fe and government cases on which sentences were cumulative were separated and sentence in the latter case was deferred until the Santa Fe sentence should be served. An appeal will be taken in the government case and the sentence was deferred to Jan. 8 to allow an appeal to be perfected.

The defense asked that the sentences be made cumulative instead of concurrent. There were two cases in which the union men were found guilty of contempt—the government case and the Santa Fe. Judge Woods entered the order which, if carried out, will give Mr. Debs one year in jail instead of six months and the others six months instead of three. This point was purely technical for the purpose of testing the legality of both sentences in the United States supreme court.

CHICAGO, Dec. 25.—A suit was begun yesterday by R. C. Rathburn against the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, which, if successful, will add heavily to the expenses resulting to the railroads from the big strikes of last summer. Rathburn sues for $130 wages he claims due him for services as deputy marshal during the strike and his attorneys say that his suit is a test case for hundreds of men who served in similar capacities. The case will reach a hearing next week.

QUIET IS RESTORED.

Only Two Negroes Were Killed in Brooks County, Ga.

QUITMAN, Ga., Dec. 25.—The trouble in Brooks county is over. The Valdosta Videttes were ordered here last night by the governor. Captain Cafferty, Lieutenant Staten and Lieutenant Peoples, Dr. Bass and Sheriff Thrasher at once visited the scene of trouble. They found peace restored and the citizens assured them that there would be no more trouble. They came back to Quitman about 3 o'clock and the troops left on the afternoon train for Valdosta. The negroes were killed because they were supposed to know the whereabouts of Waverly Pike, the brutal murderer of Joseph Isom. The good citizens of the county will do their utmost to bring to justice the men responsible for the trouble.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 25.—Advices from Brooks county today are to the effect that only two negroes were killed in the rioting yesterday instead of seven as at first reported. The two blacks lynched yesterday were not implicated in Pike's crime and were apparently slain because they would not reveal his whereabouts.

WEST TRAIN WAS WRECKED.

Engineer and Fireman Badly Scalded by Passing Train.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 25.—The Louisville & Nashville through passenger train to New Orleans was wrecked tonight near Brentwood, nine miles south. An American reporter who went to the scene telephoned that the train ran into some coal cars. The engine was demolished and Engineer D. G. Shurgart and his fireman are badly scalded and unconscious. The baggage and express cars caught fire and were destroyed. The baggageman was hurt but not seriously. The passenger cars and sleepers did not leave the track but the passengers were shaken up though no one was hurt.

JOINS HIS BROTHER IN JAIL.

Wisconsin Boy Sent to Waupun for Six Years.

WAUSAU, Wis., Dec. 25.—Robert Habeck, a sixteen-year-old lad from the town of Wein, was called yesterday to answer in the circuit court to a charge of an attempt to assault Emma Roemer, a five-year-old child. Habeck pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve six years in state prison. His elder brother is serving a seven-year sentence at Waupun, having been sent there a year ago for killing his father with an ax.

STANFORD WAS NOT IN IT.

Was Easily Beaten by the University of Chicago Team.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25.—The Chicago University football team today showed California how they play football in the east. The men from the World's Fair city dallied with the experts from Stanford University and won as they pleased by a score of 24 to 4. The Stanfords were outplayed at every point and only managed to score at all by a fluke.

Lord Randolph Churchill Dying.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—Lord Randolph Churchill is suffering from general paralysis and at 3 a. m. was rapidly sinking.

Steamer in Distress.

DEMOCRATS SHOULD QUIT.

James J. Hill Advises Congress to Adjourn and Go Home Now.

DISCORDANT MAJORITY CAN DO NOTHING.

Wants a Commission of Bankers, Economists and Business Men to Consider Currency Reform.

TINKERING SHOULD STOP.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 25.—"There is not a word of truth in it," said President J. J. Hill of the Great Northern railway this morning in reply to a statement in a Washington dispatch that there would be a conference this week between President Cleveland and J. J. Hill and other financiers of the country to consider a new substitute currency bill. Mr. Hill continued:

"The present want of harmony among the majority makes it impossible for any good legislation to come from this congress. The best relief they can give the country is to adjourn and go home.

"They should appoint a commission of some twenty-one members from bankers, political economists and business men to investigate the whole situation and prepare some financial system and when that is done let congress go to work and pass the bill.

"Not one of these men now at the head of affairs could go out and make a good living; not one could command a salary of $10,000 a year from any large commercial house. These are the men that are trying to adjust our financial affairs."

DISAPPOINTED THE CURIOUS.

Father McGlynn Balked Through Which Came to Stare.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—Rev. Dr. McGlynn celebrated high mass at the church of the Holy Cross on Forty-second street this morning. It was the first occasion on which Father McGlynn has been the celebrant at high mass in this city during the past eight years and the immense concourse which gathered to greet him in the early morning returned with augmented numbers later to hear his sermon. The gatherings which thronged and packed the church both at 4:30 and 11 o'clock this morning were probably the most fashionable and numerous assemblages which ever filled the edifice. His sermon was merely the conventional Christmas discourse avoiding all matters relating to the sensational incidents of his troubles with the prelates of the church.

CHRISTMAS AT WHITE HOUSE.

The Cleveland Children Have Their First Christmas Tree.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—The president and members of the cabinet celebrated Christmas in old fashioned way, making it essentially a family affair. At the White House it was really children's day, everything being given up to their pleasure. Their Christmas tree was in the library and was the first the Cleveland children have called their own. It was beautifully decorated with tiny partitioned electric lights in lieu of the old time wax candles. The gifts for the little ones were numerous and almost till noon express wagons and messengers came to the White House laden with presents for them and for the president and Mrs. Cleveland. They in turn remembered all the employes in the White House, some with turkeys, some with substantial presents of money. The White House dinner was confined to members of the family and the same was true of the dinners at the houses of members of the cabinet.

NOAH FOSTER CONFESSES.

Admits Having Killed His Young Companion Near Pana.

PANA, Ills., Dec. 25.—Noah Foster made a full confession in the Taylorville jail that he murdered Arthur L. Binnion near here one week ago. It was unnecessary as evidence would convict him without doubt. The father of young Binnion went to Taylorville this morning with a gun and told some people he would kill Foster. Foster confessed in the presence of his victim's father, who raved like a maniac. The latter was unarmed at the time. Foster said he killed the boy in a quarrel as to who should build a campfire. He made the boy's acquaintance on the night of the murder.

BELIEVE HE WAS MURDERED.

Chicago Police Investigating the Death of Thomas Hannon.

CHICAGO, Dec. 25.—Thomas Hannon, a Lake street bridge tender, died suddenly at the county hospital today. The indications point strongly to murder and the police are making an investigation pending the inquest. It is known that Hannon, who was a ward politician of some note, received a letter making an appointment at the spot on Jackson street where he was found bleeding and unconscious. The police believe the person with whom the appointment was kept assaulted him.

Congressman Gear's Attack.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—Congressman John H. Gear of Iowa was stricken suddenly early this morning with symptoms of apoplexy. Cupping and leeching were resorted to with such beneficial results that this evening the patient was resting easily.

MARQUETTE, MICH., DECEMBER 26. Entered as second-class matter of the second class in the post office at Marquette, Mich.

BURNS, the English labor leader, is making bad breaks in his addresses to the workmen of the United States during his tour of the country. He does not seem to understand the labor situation here, while his vanity is such that he persists in talking like a "Sir Oracle," as if every word that drops from his lips were the essence of economic wisdom. The labor organizations which were so much enthused over his coming will be still more rejoiced to see him leave, for he has both disappointed and disgusted them by his arrogance and offensive remarks.

THAT race war in Georgia is not at all as serious a matter as was made to appear by the first reports regarding it sent to the press. It is bad enough to have bloody affrays occur between the whites and blacks where the two races are so evenly balanced in numerical strength that the prejudice of color is a constant incentive to trouble between them, but it is not well to announce every scrimmage they engage in as a "race war." In that way the two elements of the population of the south are educated to look on such a war as more than a possibility, and that increases the probability of a conflict that could not fail to be attended with deplorable consequences.

McBride, the new president of the American Federation of Labor, has large views as to what the government should do for the working people. "I believe," he says, "that the government should operate all lines of production and transportation." The government would soon go to pieces through the magnitude of its undertakings if it were to attempt to settle the labor question in accordance with Mr. McBride's notions. If he and those who believe with him yearn to live under a paternal government they should emigrate to Russia. Come to think of it, however, they would soon have this government Russianized if they were permitted to have their way. A czar would be the logical and certain fruit of the reaction from the system they would have established here.

A SHOCKINGLY brutal murder was committed in Detroit Sunday night by a gang of five toughs, who insulted a lady who was being escorted by her brother-in-law, at whose house she had been visiting, from his residence to a street car, and who turned on the gentleman when he remonstrated and pounded him to death. The ruffians were full of whiskey and looking for a row when they encountered the unfortunate victim of their brutality. They are all under arrest. Detroit seems to be infested with young ruffians of this class who delight in fiendish outrages on inoffensive citizens of that thug-ridden city. In this case the brutes who committed the outrage were sent to the penitentiary, but that is altogether too mild a punishment for such a crime. They should be strung up like dogs, and since the maudlin sentiment embodied in our criminal laws prevents that from being done legally we are not sure that it would not have a most excellent effect if the people there for once took the law in their own hands and did it without the sanction of the courts.

THERE was less mileage of new railroad constructed in this country during the year just drawing to a close than in any single year of the past twenty, the total being but 1,919 miles. For several years in succession the construction of new railroads has run light, but the record of 1894 beats them all. One reason for this is the fact that there are no more roads being built to secure land grants; another is that all the great trans-continental lines that will be needed for some considerable time yet have been constructed, but the financial stringency that has prevailed during the year has no doubt had much to do with the marked shrinkage in railway building during the past twelve months. We may look for an increase in railway construction just as soon as business generally improves, for there are many feeders to the great railway systems of the country that will be built as soon as confidence in stable business conditions is fully restored and money goes freely into circulation. It is safe to say that the bottom has been reached in this branch of constructive enterprise, as in many others, and that the coming year will show a large increase over this year's showing in new railway construction.

THE American Manufacturer is disturbed by the apprehension that foreign ore is going to flood the American market under the new tariff law. In its last number it says on the subject. For a year or so past the depressed condition of business has greatly restricted the sale of Spanish iron ore in the United States. But with the first sign of returning prosperity and favored by reduced tariff rates, foreign ore producers turn their eyes toward our shores. Press dispatches within the last few days have informed the country that the British steamships Hartington, Guildhall and Baltimore City have been chartered to take ore from the Mediterranean to Philadelphia. The ore will be taken on at Cartagena, Spain. It is stated that the agents of Spanish ore have already sold large lots which are to be delivered at Philadelphia. As a Lake Superior contemporary states, that field is mining ore cheaper than ever before. Large additions are constantly being made to the number of mines and tonnage of ore in sight. Wages are lower than for twenty years past. They mine with improved machinery, with steam shovels, with everything of the best that modern skill and abundant money can furnish. This season, which was a dull one, and with many mines working feebly, or not at all, 8,000,000 tons were produced. In spite of these facts, however, foreign ore is enabled to enter our market. The low rate of labor in the Spanish mines makes the first cost of the ore so small that the present duty can be easily met. Thus we see the first benefits which Spanish ore producers are receiving from the kind provisions of the new tariff law.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Hell Gate was called by the Indians Monahontok. "Place of Bad Water."

An ostrich will never go straight to its nest, but always approaches it with many windings and detours in order, if possible, to conceal the locality from observation.

The natives of the Titicaca Basin in Peru, who inhabit a district 12,000 feet above the sea, prepare their potatoes by soaking them in water, then freezing them, then steeping them in water and mashing them to remove the soluble matter.

The alligator never leaves fresh water, while the crocodile frequently travels long distances by sea. It has been seen 1,000 miles from land, and it is possible that these sea-going crocodiles have given rise to sea serpent stories.

A country cat can always be kept at home by cutting off her ears, or for a time by clipping out the hairs in the interior. The long hairs serve to keep out the drops of dew that fall from the leaves of plants and grasses, and when the hairs are removed the cat will stay at home rather than claw the water out of her ears.

The Bayards used to own Bombay Hook Island, in Delaware Bay, a place locally famous now as a summer resort. Petrus Bayard obtained the title to the island in 1681, and later one of the Bayards, who accepted the Labordist teachings and became deeply immersed in religion, retired from the world to this island, and lived out his days in a solitude it no longer affords.

The Trans-Siberian railway, which is to be the longest in the world, has now been opened as far as Omsk, and one may go there from St. Petersburg, 2,200 miles, in less than five days. The difficulties encountered have been prodigious, and in draining a bog of sixty miles wide engineers and men had to live in huts built on piles and accessible only in boats. Four thousand masks were bought to keep off the venomous mosquitoes.

Gossips on the eastern shore of Virginia still point out the spot where Rachel Donaldson, the wife of Andrew Jackson, was born, a black-eyed girl of reputed Indian ancestry. Jackson married her two years before she was divorced from her first husband, Lewis Robardo. A loutish fellow who was presented to Jackson at Cumberland, Md., asked him a question about his marriage, and was almost transfixed with the gaze that Jackson turned upon him as the old soldier said: "You are a very brave man, sir; a very brave man."

Down in eastern Long Island the people rarely fish with beef for crabs, as is done in other parts of the country. They spear them, as a rule, and when they want an evening's profitable sport they "jack" for them, after the fashion of deer hunters. With a bright light over the bow of a rowboat they can see the crabs clearly and approach as near to them as may be wished, the crabs giving no heed, although in the daytime it is difficult to get within striking distance of them. A hundred were recently taken in Peconic bay by a jacking party in one evening.

The sacred cattle of India take more readily to American ways than do the people of that land, according to the caretakers of the national quarantine for cattle at Garfield, N. J., where there is a small herd of the animals, imported for Oliver H. P. Belmont. Said one of these men: "Mr. Belmont sent over for the cattle some of the native feed. It is a grain or berry which when ground up resembles ground chichory. The cattle ate it all right, but after a few days here they became sickly. The superintendent gave them some Yankee feed, on which they immediately began to thrive, and now they won't touch the feed sent over with them."

One of the first military incidents connected with the American flag occurred on August 2, 1777, when Lieut. Bird and Lieut. Brant invested Fort Stanwix of Schuyler, commanded by Col. Peter Gansevoort. There was no flag in the garrison when the enemy appeared, but pride, patriotism and ingenuity soon overcame the matter. The design for the flag just adopted by congress was known, and a flag was quickly made. Sheets were cut up for the stars and the white stripes, the red was supplied from bits of scarlet cloth collected from the soldiers, while the blue was obtained from a Dutch cloak belonging to Col. Abraham Swartout, of Dutchess county. The siege was raised August 23, but what became of the improvised flag is not known.

The advance of a wave of cold weather has set the commercial traveling men to searching for their monkey wrenches, with which they overcome the efforts of country landlords at excessive economy in the matter of steam. Hotel keepers in the smaller cities set the valves of the steam radiators at a point which they think will allow sufficient steam in the rooms let to transient guests, and remove the wheels or handles of the valves. To circumvent the landlord and secure greater warmth many drummers carry small adjustable wrenches, with which they can turn the valves at will. Some of the drummers also carry an extra lava tip for the gas burner, one which will supply six feet of gas an hour, with which to replace temporarily the landlord's three-foot tip.

Tried by Adversity. The Saunterer always liked the reply of an old dorky who was unfortunately sentenced to imprisonment by the police justice for some petty offense. "Well, Sambo," said one who attempted to console him, "adversity tries us and develops our better qualities."

"Twan' dat way at all wid me, sah," replied Sambo, indignantly. "It wasn't adversity what tried me, sah, but a ole fool judge; and he developed all ob my bad qualities and none ob my good ones."

This is much the same fate as they are sure to receive who get far enough into politics to become candidates for office.—Boston Budget.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

When the scalp is atrophied, or shyn-bald, no preparation will restore the hair; in all other cases, Hall's Hair Renewer will start a growth.

IF WE COULD ONLY SEE. Beauties of the Universe Invisible to the Human Eye.

Our best acquaintance with the wonders of the visible universe must always be held provisional. The organ where-with we are aware of it is an imperfect one, insensible to the colors beyond the red and the violet which certain insects appear to perceive. Light itself is nothing but a vibration of what we call, without understanding it, the ether; and sight is a sense easily deceived and of very feeble range. It is probable that only a slight exaltation of the power of the optic nerve would present the picture of the starry sky to us in a very different aspect.

To our vision the waste of space appears astounding, much as the Pacific ocean seems far too large for its archipelagoes. The boundless vault looks as though wasted in containing at such enormous intervals the tiny specks that are its worlds and suns. Would it wear anything like so open an aspect if we had better or different eyes? To see the stars at all it is necessary to wait for the darkness of night; to be aware of those crimson fountains of glory streaming into space from the sun, we have to borrow the help of the moon's interposed disk.

Since all heavenly bodies exercise an influence, gravitatory and otherwise, upon all other bodies, it is conceivable that a kind of vision may hereafter exist to which their mutual contact and interaction would be perceptible. We see nothing now which is not of the nature to reflect upon our retinas or to project upon them those light waves of which alone our light sense can take any cognizance. The fish which dimly perceives a star through the water composed of oxygen and hydrogen is not in a much worse position for reliable astronomical observations than man, with his limited visual spectrum, at the bottom of his ocean of oxygen, nitrogen and the new gas.—Sir Edwin Arnold, in North American Review.

GOT WHAT HE DEMANDED.

The Policeman Picked Him Up and Carried Him Across the Crowded Street.

It was an easy matter to see that he was a citizen with a full sense of his responsibilities, both municipal and national.

There was a firmness about his tread on the sidewalk denoting proprietary interest, and he gazed up at the public buildings with the keen glance of one who had money invested in them, and expected its value to stand out boldly.

He always gazed at a policeman whenever he passed one, sternly, his eyes clearly denoting that the official was under the surveillance of an employer who expected him to earn his wages, and when he entered any public office his eye looked penetrated to every nook and corner for a possible reason of complaint and pierced each and every official through and through in a way that clearly said: "You are a public servant, sir. I hope you have a due regard for the fact. If you have not I shall lose no time in reminding you of it."

Such was the little man who approached a tall policeman of the Broadway squad the other day at Fulton street with indignation glistening in his eyes. "I demand to know," he said in a firm voice, "why I am forced to remain on this side of the street, when my business calls me to the other."

The policeman looked a trifle startled for a second or so, but recovering himself, he replied: "Well, who in blazes is keepin' you from goin'?"

"The traffic, sir, the traffic of vehicles—yes, pedestrians are supposed to have the right of way."

"Well," gruffly responded the officer, "What are you going to do about it?" "I am going to insist upon my rights, sir," said the responsible citizen. "That's easy," said the officer, coolly. "And see that I get them."

"That will be harder."

"You are a public servant in the public's pay, and at the call of the public. I therefore demand a safe passage for my person across this thoroughfare. It is your duty to see that my demands are complied with."

And the little man expanded his chest with real citizen independence. The big policeman looked at him for a moment in a quandary, and then, seeming to solve the problem, he said with a wink in his eyes: "A safe passage, you want, is it? Well, begorra, you shall have it."

And before the responsible little citizen could divine his intentions, he had picked him up, tucked him under his arm and was dodging between the horses' heads in a sortie across Broadway.

The little man had not recovered his breath before the bluecoat had dropped him on the opposite sidewalk, and was on a return expedition, gallantly escorting a pretty store girl.—N. Y. Herald.

FUTURE LOOKS VERY BLACK TO PENNOYER.

His Voice Is Still Raised for More and More Tons of Debased Silver Currency.

GROVER'S CHRISTMAS PRESENT.

PORTLAND, Dec. 25.—Governor Penoyer remembered President Cleveland today by sending him the following letter: "Christmas has again visited our stricken land with its prostrated industries and its idle throngs, willing but unable to work and unwillingly forced to beg or suffer. Your panacea, changes in the Sherman law and the tariff, has been administered. But there is no change in the sad condition of our unfortunate country. After two years of ruinous delay and mismanagement you have, thank Heaven, at last discovered the real trouble, although you have not proposed the proper remedy. As you now concede, the country needs more money, but it does not want the worthless stuff your proffer. It needs gold and silver money with which to pay debts and it does not want bank bags with which it cannot pay debts.

"Sixty years ago the Democratic party had a president who defied the banks in the interest of the people. Has it now a president who defies the people in the interest of the banks? All the traditions of the party which elected you are for gold and silver money and against bank currency. Do you aspire to furnish an example of treason to the cause entrusted to your care which will be without any parallel, except one, in all the annals of American history? Your party in both houses favors the restoration of silver as standard money. The people actually suffering from existing prostration of business favor it and will you not stand with them in one return to the monometallic policy of the British monarchy which is fast degrading our fair country to the condition of a subjugated province and our hitherto free people to a condition of financial serfdom? Always remember the unemphatic motto, 'Give us our money back, I pray God, may give you light and strength to do right.'"

MANY TITLES AFFECTED.

Suits to Set Aside Tax Titles Because of Insanity.

SHOX CITY, Ia., Dec. 25.—Suits have been begun involving thousands of acres in northwestern Iowa. In the early 50s John Irwin located a large number of military land warrants upon some of the choicest lands in this section. During the civil war Irwin became financially embarrassed and failing to pay taxes upon his lands they were sold. The tax titles thus acquired were purchased by parties who improved the lands and for many years resided upon them. In October, 1893, Irwin died in Nebraska and his heirs have brought suit to redeem from the tax sales, claiming that Irwin was insane at the time the lands were sold and so continued up to his death. In Clay county alone over seventy different farms are involved.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—In regard to published reports that Governor Mitchell of Florida had consented to honor a requisition on him by the governor of Texas for H. M. Flagler of the Standard Oil company as a fugitive from justice from the state of Texas, Mr. Flagler said tonight: "I never was in the state of Texas in my whole life. If, however, the governor of Florida has really granted a requisition for my body, the Texas officers, if they remain in Florida long enough, will in the course of two or three weeks be given a chance to serve warrants upon me. I am certainly going down to Florida some time next month."

This petition is signed in fifty languages and by as many nationalities throughout the world and asks that the protection of the government may no more be vouchsafed to the sale of intoxicating liquors and opium, or to legalization of social vice. The petition is to be presented to the British government at the World's W. C. T. U. convention in London, June 14 to 21, 1895. It is expected that large delegations of American women will be present on both occasions.

SEELY GOT EIGHT YEARS.

Frederick Baker Scared Him Into Stealing Over $250,000.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—Samuel C. Seely, who on Monday last pleaded guilty to the charge of abstracting funds and altering the books of the National Shoe and Leather bank, was yesterday sentenced to eight years' imprisonment in Kings county penitentiary by Judge Benedict in the United States district court. The total amount of the defalcation was $352,000, but the specific charges against Seely involved only $250,000. It appeared in evidence that Frederick Baker, a lawyer, discovered that Seely had been foolish enough to conceal an error in his books and by threats of exposure forced the latter to allow him to draw from the bank money in large sums. Baker was drowned on the day of Seely's defalcation was discovered and is believed to have committed suicide.

HAD TO SMASH THE CAR.

Shocking Accident to a Boy on a Brooklyn Trolley Car Line.

CAUGHT BETWEEN WHEELS AND MOTOR BOX.

Took Forty-Five Minutes to Tear the Car to Pieces and Get Him Out.

CHRISTMAS DAY TRAGEDIES. BROOKLYN, Dec. 25.—Thousands of people witnessed a heart-rending scene on Myrtle avenue near Bridge street tonight. Frank Tolrieka, a fifteen-year-old boy, was struck by a trolley car while attempting to cross the avenue. With both legs near severed above the ankles he was wedged between the forward wheels and the motor box. In that position he remained for forty-five minutes, gasping in agony. It was impossible to move the car backward or forward without crushing out the little life left in the boy. Men from the office of the company finally arrived and had to tear the car apart before the boy could be extricated. He will die.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

The Montreal Iron Mining company has been reorganized and its mines at Hurley, Wis., will be wrought all winter.

John Coats knocked out Paul Johnson in eleven rounds at Baltimore and won the light-weight championship of the south.

The upper floors of the handsome six-story building of the Young Men's Christian association at Albany, N. Y., was gutted by fire last night; loss, $50,000.

Archbishop Satolli celebrated high mass yesterday at St. Augustine's church, Washington, the congregation of which is chiefly composed of colored people.

Harry Menier leaped from the rail of the Poughkeepsie, (N. Y.) bridge with parachute and was picked up unhurt by friends in a row boat. The distance was 212 feet.

The Berlin socialists celebrated Christmas by lifting the boycott against certain brewers in that city, being unable longer preach socialism if deprived of beer.

Charles Edward Duffee, aged twenty-eight, died of consumption at Mobile, Ala. He was well-known as "Home-Run Duffee" and was a star player of the St. Louis Browns.

Thomas H. Williams, Jr., the new guardian for Mrs. Sarah Althea Terry, whose dramatic career seemed to end when she was sent to an insane asylum, charges Porter Ashe with having robbed the estate.

Grand Rapids police have notified cigar stand men to do away with the dice box, as no more shaking for the cigars would be permitted. Matching pennies and penny-ante are also under the ban, while professional gamblers have been notified to leave town instantly.

R. G. Peters will at once build a logging railroad from Grayling eighteen miles into the heart of a lot of pine timber owned by him. It is expected that 80,000,000 feet will be carried over the road for the owner. There is also a large amount of pine owned by other people tributary to the road.

A HISTORIC HOWDAH.

The Indian Government Reducing the Number of Its Trained Elephants. The order has gone forth to break up the expensive establishment in India known as the "Howdah Khana." Already the roll of government elephants in all India has been reduced to between two hundred and three hundred instead of one thousand, at which it lately stood in North India alone, says the Westminster Budget.

As railways penetrate the great fighting frontier districts, elephants, which still, as in the days of Alexander the Great, are scared in battle, are being less and less used to drag the heavy batteries. Mules are preferred for mountain warfare. Even native princes are content with one elephant or so, where formerly they kept a score. The Scotsman remarks that state ceremonials and processions are no longer what they were up to John Lawrence's time, when even that simplicity-loving viceroy held the grandest of all durbars at Agra, around and near the Taj Mahal.

Only the governor general's silver howdah is to be kept there, and one or two state elephants. That historic howdah was furnished up under the artistic arrangements of Lady Canning for her husband's viceregal progress after the mutiny. It has been used by almost every British ruler in India since the first Warren Hastings. Around it circle the memoirs of more than a century's wars and pageants; but even that has become a victim to the depreciated rupee and the irresistible railway.

BORN A FIGHTER.

A French soldier who Reviled in Scenes of Death.

Many men have made good soldiers and brave commanders who, nevertheless, had no relish for fighting. Gen. Oudinot, so famous in the wars of Napoleon, was a warrior of another type, says Youth's Companion. He seemed, at all events, to love war for its own sake. His fiery temper and his ideal of a soldier are well exemplified in two brief anecdotes gathered from his biography, recently published.

In July, 1805, when Oudinot was thirty-eight years old, the emperor reviewed the grenadiers at their camp at Boulogne. The customary maneuvers were performed, and at the end Gen. Oudinot—in command of the grenadiers—started to march at the head of the line before Napoleon.

He put the spurs to his horse, and the steed balked. The struggle was brief, for the exasperated general drew his sword and gave the horse such a stab in the neck that in another moment the horse lay stretched upon the sand.

That night the commander of the grenadiers dined with the emperor, and in the course of the meal Napoleon said: "Is that the way you treat your horses?"

"Sire," answered Oudinot, "when any one knows not how to obey, that is my method."

The second anecdote is even more grim. Some one spoke to Oudinot about the deep affection which a general must cherish for his devoted troops. "Love them!" he exclaimed. "Do I love them! Ah! I think I do! I have had them all killed!"

There spoke the born fighter, who shirked no danger himself, and accounted it the most enviable lot of a soldier to die on the field.

WHAT A "TEAM" IS.

It Depends on What Part of the Country You Are In.

What is a "team"? Is it an animal hitched to a wagon, or two or more animals and a wagon, or simply two animals harnessed up together? Does the word include the vehicle? An excited Bostonian, writing from Nebraska to a Boston paper, confesses his humiliation when, upon remarking that a "team" had been left in the street, he was told by a cowboy that he meant a wagon. He admits, says Harper's Weekly, that the cowboy was right; and so it seems here. In the state of New York, where a high standard of language prevails, "team" properly includes the animals, if more than one, which haul a vehicle, but not the vehicle itself; but improperly it is used to designate any animal or animals hitched to any vehicle. It is not used, however, to designate the vehicle without the animals, as seems sometimes the case in New England. A synonym for team in its degenerate sense in New York state is "rig." In the more objectionable phrase of newspaper English a horse and buggy are invariably a "rig," and livery stable-men and farmers' boys apply the same brief and comprehensive term to almost any vehicle drawn by anything on four legs.

SHOOTING WILD HORSES.

Noble Animals Slaughtered Without Any Justification.

A recent visitor to Nevada, according to the Northwest Magazine, says one of the strange sights he saw in Lincoln county was the cowboys killing wild horses. "One morning," he said, "I saw five going forth well mounted and armed with tremendously big revolvers. I asked them where they were going. 'Oh, out to kill some horses,' they said. Well, they did kill them. They had a boy to change horses and ride round and round in a circuit miles in extent after them. As the wild horses would come around the cowboys would bang them over. I saw horse after horse—great magnificent stallions of all colors—killed in this way. They would come around on the dead run. There would be a shot, or probably a fusillade of shots. The horse would take a leap into the air and come down dead. It looked a shame to kill such magnificent brutes, but the cowboys shot them down without the least compunction."

MARRIAGE LAWS.

They Are Easily Broken in Austria and Evaded, Too.

The great difficulty in Austria is not to have the Gordian knot cut, but how to get another tied, says a Vienna correspondent. Most of the people belong to the Catholic church, and according to the terms of the law, a Catholic can never marry a second time—divorce or no divorce—unless his first wife is dead. But suppose he becomes a Protestant? That will not help him in the least; the law says that he who was a Catholic at the time of his marriage must, in the matter of divorce, be treated as a Catholic forever after. What divorced couples, who wish to try their matrimonial luck again, generally do is this: They make a little excursion to Hungary—an hour's ride on the railway—declare themselves to be members of another religious denomination, and they can forthwith be married again; for the Hungarian marriage law is very different from that of the sister kingdom. It's a case of "where there's a will there's a way."

CAUGHT AT ISHPEMING.

A Man Charged With Having Stolen $150 at Negaunee Captured by Ishpeming Officers.

PART OF THE CASH FOUND WHERE HIDDEN.

Stole a Jail Companion's Overcoat. Mildon Block Modernized-Entertainments This Evening.

MADE A GOOD HAUL.

Fred Graves of Negaunee came to Ishpeming Monday afternoon and informed the officers here that he had been robbed on Saturday of $150, and suspected Charles Harris, a boarder, of having committed the theft. Harris had left his place rather suddenly, coming to Ishpeming. Graves learned before consulting the officers that Harris was staying at the place of John Lemin at the Cleveland mine location and that he had been spending money quite freely since his arrival here.

A warrant for the arrest of Harris was issued and placed in Officer Downing's hands. Harris was found at Lemin's place. The officer searched him but none of the money was found on him. After giving the house a thorough searching the sheds and woodshed outside were overhauled. At the bottom of the woodpile $30 in gold was found. The coin was covered with snow. Some time was spent trying to find the rest of the money, but without success. Harris was placed in jail, but he firmly declares his innocence. He will be given a hearing today.

About three years ago Harris robbed his boarding house at the Badger hill a sum of money. He was found guilty of the theft and was sent to prison for a year.

Stole a Comrade's Coat.

Charles Kronowsky was given lodging in the city jail Sunday night. Monday morning, just before he was released, he stole an overcoat belonging to a prisoner who was run in the night before, and walked off with it. When the owner of the garment was ready to leave the jail he could not find his coat. The officers suspected Kronowsky of having stolen it and at once instituted a search for him. They found him in a saloon on First street. When taken in hand by the marshal Kronowsky said he intended to take the coat back to the jail, that he had no intention whatever of keeping it. He was taken before a justice of the peace and given twenty days in the county jail. Marshal Carlson took him to Marquette Monday afternoon.

"Amatist as Guid as New"

The improvements on the Mildon block at the corner of Main and Bank streets, which have been under way for some time past, will be completed by the first of the year. The boards which have covered the front while the work was in progress in that part of the building, have been removed. The new front is a decided improvement over the old in every respect. The block has been overhauled from basement to attic. New hardwood flooring has been put in throughout on both floors and all the interior woodwork has been repainted. The walls have also been repapered and calcimined, while new doors have been substituted for the old ones. Each department is now provided with closets, wash bowls, etc.

The rear of the main building has been fitted up as an assembly and banquet hall for the Swedish Home society, which will take possession of the place Jan. 1, while the front of the building is occupied by the dental parlors of Dr. C. W. Jarvis. The upper floor of the wing facing on Bank street is occupied by The Superior Posten Publishing company. The hall is 22 by 48 feet in size and the banquet room is 12 by 22. The ante rooms, pantries, etc., in connection are very conveniently arranged. The entire building will be heated by steam. The new heating plant is now ready for service.

Mr. Mildon has not yet secured a tenant for the store room on the first floor, but several persons are figuring on renting it. The place will not be long without an occupant, however, as it is one of the most desirable business stands in the city.

Entertainments Tonight. St. Humphrey Davey lodge, Sons of St. George, will give its annual benefit entertainment at the Division street Methodist church tonight. The proceeds will be distributed among the widows and orphans of deceased members. An interesting program has been arranged and a good time is promised to all who attend. There is little doubt but that the church will be filled with the charity entertainments of this lodge are always largely attended.

The Scandinavian society will give an entertainment and oyster supper at the A. O. U. W. hall this evening. A program made up of selections by the City band, vocal and instrumental solos, and addresses by members of the society and others, will be rendered. The price of tickets, including the entertainment and supper, is reasonable.

A Victim of Consumption. Edward Southey, who has been a sufferer from consumption for several years past, died at his home on Second street at half-past 3 o'clock Monday morning. A wife and five children survive him. The funeral will be held under the direction of St. Humphrey Davey lodge, Sons of St. George, of which the deceased was a member.

Across the Deposit. The men employed testing the ore deposit recently discovered near the Cleveland lake shaft on the Cleveland Iron Mining company's lands are meeting with good success. A ditch leading from a point where the ore was first discovered has been extended across the deposit in the direction of the Lake shaft one hundred feet or more. Ore has been found the entire distance. As soon as the ore is reached the trench is continued, as the company is not seeking to prove the depth of the deposit at present, its object being to get some idea of its length and width first. The ore continues good and it is reasonable certain that there is a large body of it there. The deposit has a downward dip northward, the depth of the sand above the ore being eighteen or twenty feet some eighty or ninety feet from where the discovery was made.

A SOLDIER'S DOOM.

The Horrible Result of a Bite from a Mad Horse. One day at the fort a sudden cry was raised that the major's horse had gone mad, but it was not until the wild-eyed and foam-flecked animal had been shot as he rushed back and forth across the parade ground that we learned he had bitten Corporal Wallace on the arm when he first gained his liberty. Some said the horse had been bitten by a reptile or insect and was only frenzied with pain. Others dropped their voices to a whisper as they recalled the suspicious actions of a strange dog which had been fired upon and driven away a week or two before. The teeth of the horse had torn cloth and flesh and drawn blood. He had not bitten like a horse, but snapped like a dog.

"Pooh, man, no danger, no danger!" the surgeon had said, as he dressed the wound.

"It's only a scratch, and we won't talk about it," the corporal made answer to all his comrades.

We had nothing more to say, except among ourselves, but from that hour every trooper in "C" company felt that Corporal Wallace was a doomed man, just as surely doomed as if a court-martial had sentenced him to death and the president had refused to interfere with the findings. You will say it was curious that we avoided him, so it was, and yet we could not but feel that he was a dead man walking about among us. We heard him speak, we saw him in apparent good health, we listened to his songs and stories at night, and yet every man who heard and saw and listened kept repeating over and over to himself:

"The corporal was bitten by a mad horse, and sooner or later he will go mad and die."

The man sought to blind himself to the situation, but he could not. We had the feeling among us, and we could not shake it off. Each morning we looked at him and wondered if the terrible virus would show itself before night. Each night we looked at him and wondered why he did not rush out on the broad plains in the darkness and try to run away from the specter.

He was a big, brave hearted fellow, carrying the scars of half a dozen battles. He sang and whistled and was merry, and yet he did not deceive us. We knew the haunting fear and terrible thoughts which came to him at night when wrapped in his blanket and the barracks were quiet.

Days passed away, and yet men whispered when they spoke of Corporal Wallace. Weeks passed away, and yet men looked at him in askance, and still regarded him as walking in the shadow of death. April, May, June, and then the restless Indians broke away from the reservation, and the troops were sent out to find and drive them back. When C company was drawn up in line for departure there was Corporal Wallace in his proper place. Why not? There was no bigger, healthier man in the troop, nor one whose saber or carbine could be depended on to do more execution. And yet we wondered that he should go, and there were murmurs of dissatisfaction as we rode away. He was a doomed man, a dead man sitting in the saddle as if he were one of us.

Days and nights of hard riding and hunger and thirst and we turned the Indians back. It had been a week of wild haste and constant excitement, and the troopers were bruised and sore and exhausted as we made camp after an all day's ride. We had no fuel for fires and little to eat, but there was a grand spring at which man and beast quenched their thirst. The darkness was falling and we had huddled together when someone whispered that Corporal Wallace was sitting alone by himself. Then another drew us closer together and said he had seen the corporal kneel down to drink at the spring and started back as if he had caught the sight of a serpent. We whispered and wondered and peered at him through the gloom, but no man approached him. By and by he arose, stood for a moment as if undecided and then walked with faltering step to the spring. When he reached it he turned his head away and knelt down. Then he made as if he would drink, but sprang to his feet with a cry of horror, and rushed away into the darkness.

"It has come! The corporal is mad!" was shouted through the camp, and for a moment confusion reigned supreme. Then there came a sudden silence, broken after a few seconds by the voice of our captain making a detail to secure the man and by the blood curdling yell of the corporal as he reeled away into the black night with death keeping pace at his side.

Five, ten, twenty men pursued him within the hour. He ran here and there, dodged and turned, always escaping the hands which sought to clutch him, and again and again returning to the spring to quench the awful thirst upon him, but always shrieking at the sight of the water bubbling up. For more than an hour we pursued him as if he were some wild animal we sought to capture. Then at last he broke through our lines again, circled back to the spring, and with a cry of agony, which was heard all over the camp, he fell down and writhed and twisted about for a moment or two and died. He had been a doomed man for weeks and months. We bent over the body and saw the look of horror on the face growing pale, the hard-shut teeth, the blood and froth on his lips, and we were glad that death had come at last.—St. Louis Republic.

FUN FOR THE PLAIN GIRLS. But Hours Were Easy Between the Two Profits Once the Trials. They had certainly been rivals, and when she came to call the two plain girls who had dropped in to offer their congratulations decided not to go yet.

"How well you are looking, dear," said the hostess. "Your hair is really much more becoming than when it was its natural color."

"Really, it is too bad to be left out in that way. I shall ask Jessie to be sure to send you a card for her reception - it will be quite a crash; she is simply asking everybody."

"Don't trouble yourself, dear. You know I don't care to visit Jessie. Besides, my time is really not my own now."

"Why, no, indeed!" she cried. "I am so glad to hear it! The poor fellow was so distressed when I told him in August that he must give up hope - I've felt quite guilty ever since, and now I'm so glad that you have consented to 'resole' him."

"The strain of keeping 'this to myself' will be more'n I kin stand at it!" I say. "I wish I hadn't seen it, for I'll have to keep it all to myself, now I'll bust," I say.

"I picked myself up and started for home, but I hadn't gone far when a bear jumped up on a log and went to stand on his head. I didn't wait to see what more he could do, but made a break on a short cut to get out of them woods."

SMART BEARS.

Their Actions Surprised Uncle Bill Hammond Till He Learned the Cause. I've always said, an' stuck to it through thick an' thin, said Uncle Bill Hammond, of Eldred, that Sullivan county bears, an' specially them that lives up Eldred way, was the smartest bears on earth, an' now I'm glad I done it, for they're provin' to me this season in the most amazin' way that I ain't the victim of misplaced confidence.

I tell you, I'm proud of Sullivan county bears this season. I'm kind of sorry they done it, though, 'cause it seems to me now that it ain't much better'n murder to go out an' knock one o' them bears over.

I generally start out to'able early in the season to skirminish round in the woods up in the Eldred district, so's to see what the prospect is for bear and things, an' while I had always seen a heap o' evidence that our bears was uncommon smart it hadn't never s'prised me much, knowin' that they was Sullivan county bears, livin' in the Eldred woods, an' so couldn't help it. But there ain't no doubt that when I took my skirminish' tramps through the woods this season I was s'prised from the ground up.

"Great Nat'ar!" says I. "If this was any bear but one o' our'n, says I, 'I wouldn't a b'lieved it!'"

WOODEN BOOKS. The Singular Library That a Botanist Has Collected. In a retired street of Cassel stands an old-fashioned roomy house, the depository of the Natural History Museum of Hessen.

The upper edge shows the young wood cut crosswise to exhibit the rings and pith, while the outer edge is of old wood, cut in the same manner, to illustrate the changes which take place in the texture as the tree grows in age and size.

Under this is given the degree of heat, Reaumur and Fahrenheit, obtainable from a cubic inch of dry wood in a cubic foot of space, that given out by the same quantity when it becomes a glowing coal, its diminished size and weight when charred, and the properties of the tree, together with a description of the soil in which it flourishes best.

The author of this really marvelous work was Carl Schiedbach, of whom little is known save that he was a Hessian born, was manager of the menagerie at Cassel from 1771 to 1785, was bullfinch of the domain of Weissenbaden, now Wilkelschhoehe, in 1795, and died in 1816, leaving a widow, but no children.

The library remained in Schiedbach's possession until 1799, when it passed into the hands of Landgrave William IX., of Hesse, for the consideration of a life annuity of about 1,600 marks.

Fuseli, in his "Art Lexicon," says: "At first Carl Schiedbach fed tame and wild beasts in Cassel, but afterwards turning his attention to science he raised himself in a short time, by means of talent and enormous diligence, to the position of one of the greatest scientists in Germany. Buffon appreciated him and tried to induce him to go to France, but in vain. He was a mechanical genius, and though he never had a lesson in drawing or painting, he was a connoisseur of art."

A Fatal Ring. Queen Christina of Spain recently presented to Our Lady of Almudena a valuable opal ring that belonged to her late husband, Alfonso XII. Alfonso gave the ring to his first wife, Queen Mercedes, just before her sudden death; it then went to the king's grandmother, old Queen Christina, the mother of Isabella II. She died two months after receiving the ring and left it to Mercedes' sister, Maria del Pilar, daughter of the Duke of Montpensier, who also died after a few months, as did also her sister Christina, who inherited the ring from her. Alfonso then determined that no one else should wear the fatal opal, and took it himself; within two months he was buried. This story is believed in Spain; so to prevent further harm the queen has given it to the Virgin.
