MARQUETTE, MICH., FEBRUARY 2.

Entered as second-class matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

DONNELLY of Minnesota is more thoroughly convinced than ever that the country is going to the 'demillion how-wores' since the legislature of his state rejected him for United States senator in favor of Knute Nelson.

Unsuccessful candidates are apt to feel that way, but we notice that the country managers to get along somehow, just the same.

"It is now proposed that the state of Wisconsin shall pay Mr. Flower $250 a month to talk about waterways wherever it will do the most good," remarks the Duluth Commonwealth.

Yes—the most good to Mr. Flower's failing health, which he says is so impaired that he must go to Europe (at public expense) to restore it.

The state of Wisconsin should put up the cash if the city of Superior has got tired of footing his bills. It is worth all he asks to have the country well rid of him.

EDITOR WRIGHT of the Manitowish Democrat has just put in a complete newspaper and job printing equipment, and will now be able to do business with more satisfaction to himself and greater benefit to his patrons.

He has taken into partnership with him Mr. Henry F. Anderson, who formerly published a paper at Crystal Falls, and as they are giving the people of Schoolcraft county a newsy and readable paper and are both hard workers and talented they are sure to achieve a fair degree of success even against the odds they have to contend with in that corporation-ridden ballwick.

It is a noteworthy fact that the Republicans in congress take more kindly to the president's recommendations relative to a new issue of gold bonds than do the Democrats.

The same is true of the newspapers. His message meets with less criticism from Republican papers than from many of those of the president's own party.

Ever since he called that special session of congress President Cleveland and the leaders of his party have been drifting apart, and the chasm which now separates them is too wide to be bridged.

In speaking of his special message on the financial situation a Democratic senator observed the other day that it is really "a message to the next congress," and there is some point to the remark.

It is very certain that the next congress could not well accord it a more unfriendly reception than it has received from that now in session, which manifests no disposition to act on its suggestions.

The Democratic party is pretty badly split up, with little prospect that it can pull itself together again very soon.

THE AID of the courts is still being invoked by wealthy New Yorkers who are averse to paying the income tax.

Two suits were brought in the supreme court of that state this week. The parties who brought them are Charles Pollock, a stockholder in the Farmers' & Trust company, and Louis H. Hyde, a stockholder in the Continental Trust company, and in each case the party defendant is the Trust company.

Suit was originally brought in the United States circuit court for the Southern District of the state of New York in the form of an application for an injunction against each corporation named to restrain it from voluntarily complying with the provisions of the tax law and paying the tax.

"not only in respect to property, income and profits of the Trust company, but also in respect to the various estates under its control."

None of the federal officials who will have to do with the collection of the tax is made a party to the suits. A demurrer to the bill was sustained by the circuit court, when an appeal was directly made to the supreme court.

The suits will have a result similar to that reached in the one instituted for the purpose of restraining the secretary of the treasury and commissioner of internal revenue from taking steps to collect the income tax by Mr. Moore of New York city.

IN ITS issue for this week The Iron Trade Review of Cleveland says, regarding ore market prospects:

"There are evidences that the prolonged uncertainty in regard to financial legislation, poor railroad earnings and the further outlook of gold are holding back a number of projects that involve a large tonnage in iron and steel. The financial problem is in fact the largest element of uncertainty in the outlook for every industry. It is evident that heavy buyers of Lake Superior iron ores are going to be in no hurry to make arrangements for the next year's supply, preferring to wait until there are more definite indications as to the future basis of values.

While work on which contracts have been let has brought a certain amount of orders to the mills and there is promise of goodly tonnage a few months hence, there is a sharp struggle for orders that can be put in hand at once. January business in nearly all lines has been below anticipation. Pig iron sales to mills and foundries have been small. Prices for foundry iron are quite as weak as at holiday time. Bessemer pig and billets hold the better prices noted last week. Sales of Bessemer pig are reported at $10 and $10.15, and of billets at $14.90, through Pittsburgh.

brokers. Wrought iron pipe producers have come together on a 10 per cent. advance, and conditions in that market are such that this can be maintained.

THE Wisconsin ex-state treasurers against whom suits for large amounts were brought under the late administration to recover the interest on public moneys deposited by them in the banks, and which they retained for their own use instead of turning it over to the state, are preparing to immoralize the legislature at this session asking to be relieved from paying the judgments. If the legislature lets them off it will furnish the Democrats with a strong argument against the retention in power of the Republican party in Wisconsin. The treasurers who obtained interest amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars in addition to their salaries for the use of public moneys may find it a great hardship now to pay it back, but so do all people who are compelled to make restitution of property not their own of which they have unlawfully secured and retained possession. If they had not retained it they would not have to return it. The Republicans in the Wisconsin legislature will make a bad mistake if they allow themselves to be persuaded to let the ex-state treasurers escape.

THURSDAY'S Detroit News contained this piece of information, furnished that paper by its Washington correspondent, and it is the earnest hope of THE MINING JOURNAL that it is based on solid fact: A. P. Swineford, the ex-editor of THE MARQUETTE MINING JOURNAL and ex-governor of Alaska, is registered at the National hotel.

Mr. Swinford is now a special agent in the service of the general land office, but has since Jan. 10 been on a leave of absence necessitated by the death of his brother, C. A. Swineford, of Barabon, Wis., a former superintendent of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. This brother went to Alaska at the time A. P. Swineford was governor and both invested in a gold mine on Baranoff island, on which Sitka is situated. The mine is in fact only fourteen miles from the Alaskan capital.

The most productive Alaskan gold mines are in the region about Juneau, on the mainland, but the expenditure of about $80,000 to date has brought encouraging results in Mr. Swineford's "Lecky Chance" mine, although on the island where no lucrative properties have yet been developed. Partly because of the death of his brother, Mr. Swineford will extend his leave of absence and organize a stock company with large capital to work his mine on a bigger scale. His long deferred mission to Alaska to investigate the gobbling of valuable water front privileges in apparent defiance of law will probably not be undertaken till early summer.

THE Chicago Times calls attention to what it calls "two queer coincidences" in an editorial article here reproduced from that paper:

Washington correspondents are pointing out the singular coincidence that ex-Senator Edmunds, as attorney for the snar trust, has succeeded in getting declared unconstitutional the Sherman anti-trust law, which, as chairman of the judiciary committee of the senate, he reported favorably and supported in a strong speech. Little coincidences of that kind, however, will occur as long as every trust has its senator and nearly every senator his trust.

After all this is not a more startling illustration of what the sporting men call a reversal of form than occurred once in this city. A judge decided a cause adversely to the plaintiff. Appeal was taken. Before the case was heard again the judge's term on the bench expired and he was retained by the litigant against whom he had decided to conduct the case on appeal. This he did with suavity and ability, attacking his own decision with keen, incisive arguments, and urging that it was characterized by deplorable ignorance of law.

Because such little coincidences occur shall we harshly accuse the senate and the bench of in-cincerity and a lack of high ethical principles? Never. They only prove that Yankee cuteness is still a considerable force in our lawmaking bodies. Mr. Edmunds in particular has proved himself worthy of the veneration in which New England habitually holds him. It isn't every retiring senator who is cut enough to get laws enacted which, as an ex-senator and a corporation lawyer, he can defeat for a proper consideration.

A WIFE AS A MASCOT. The Arts of a Woman Against the Skill of a Gambler.

How a Mexican Cattleman Recovered His Money in a Losing Game of Monte and Cleaned Out the Dealer.

"It was in the state of Simalca, in Mexico, where I was in the employ of an American dealer as a collector of bird skins," said Thom Louger, a taxidermist, to the New York Sun man, "that I saw the charms of lovely woman exerted in rivalry to a gambler's skill, and they won, as they always should. I was staying at the time in a little city called Tuxtapan, and I strolled into the principal gambling-place one evening to watch the players at monte. There was a single large room, with a bar at one end and tables ranged about the wall for gambling. The place was lighted by candles, and was half-filled with Mexican charros, with here and there an American mining man or some native visitor from the capital city in London-made clothes.

"Playing was slack, except at one table, where a Mexican cattleman from up-country, in full charro costume of sombrero with silver braid, jacket, wide pantaloons with a row of big silver disks running down the outer sides and bright ivory-handled revolvers at his belt, was dropping his money at monte. The dealer sat at the center of the kidney-shaped table, with high heaps of silver dollars at his elbow, while the players sat round the outer circumference. The cattleman was sharp and watchful, so that the dealer had no opportunity to do tricks, but the regular odds of the game caused the stranger to lose slowly, until, with an exclamation, he announced himself broke and rose from his seat.

"But I have three hundred dollars at the hotel," he said; "if you care to wait, I will go for it, and perhaps leave that with you."

"At the senator's pleasure," responded the dealer, showing his white teeth in an affable smile beneath his black mustache.

"The cattleman went out and the game went languidly on until in ten minutes he returned carrying in his hand a bag of Mexican dollars. He was accompanied by his wife, a pretty little dark-eyed Spanish creature, in flowered silk ball dress and mantilla. At sight of her the dealer instantly sprang up to offer her a seat, but she coquettishly declined the attention and, sauntering carelessly along, jumped upon an unoccupied end of the table with one leg curled under her and the other, displaying a daintily booted foot, swinging toward the floor.

"Her husband seated himself opposite the dealer and the game proceeded. As the stacks of silver dollars passed to and fro, this time with no particular advantage in luck to either side, the woman, apparently becoming more and more interested, leaned forward with the hands of her hands on the table eagerly watching the game. Her manner was frank and engaging, but from where I stood I could see that her eyes were dividing the attention of the dealer, who perceptibly was losing interest in the game and displaying less of the dexterity that in the beginning had characterized his handling of the cards.

"At last the ranchman was winning, and the canvas bag in which he had brought his three hundred dollars stake was full to overflowing and triple rows of dollar stacks lay at his right hand. All other play was suspended as the spectators crowded about the table to watch with breathless excitement the game, which now was running as high as one hundred dollars on the turn of a card. The conversation in the room was desiccated, and none present failed in due manifestation of respect to the presence of the pretty little dark woman perched on the table, who was well known in Tuxtapan as the wife of the gaming caballero with the ivory-handled revolvers. From my position near the wall, a little in the rear of the table, I noticed that as in her intense interest in the game she leaned toward the dealer her mantilla upon the side next him was slipping from her shoulder, which—she being of Spanish nationality—was a very charming piece of living statuary. Mechanically the dealer lifted from between his feet a bag from which he counted out two hundred dollars to pay the cattleman's last winning. Without a word the latter arose, this to his stake already on the table making four hundred dollars to be lost or won. As the dealer shuffled the cards the mantilla fell from her head and shoulder, and she gathered it about her with a half-startled, half-coquettish look of dismay as he turned the deciding card without looking at it.

"I will again!" said the ranchman, and he began to pile the dollars again on the cards.

"The dealer reached down to the canvas bag and emptied it in counting out four hundred dollars. Then he passed the bag across the table to his opponent.

"The game is ended! The bank is broke! Let me congratulate the senator on his good fortune," he said, smiling but behind the smile was the silent anger of a man who realized how he had been defeated, but must hold his peace.

"Without a word the cattleman swept the silver dollars on the table into the bag and passed it to a wild-looking vaquero who was standing behind him. Ten dollars he passed to the bartender to be expended in treating the crowd. The little woman, her eyes dancing with triumph, hopped down from the table, and then, with her leaning affectionately on the dealer, the cattleman bowed to his arm, the spectators, said: 'Buenos noches, señores,' and passed out of the room into the street, followed by his cowboy attendant, carrying the two canvas bags, in which were over fifteen hundred dollars."

SEASONABLE FANCY WORK. Tasty Trifles to Occupy a Woman's Leisure Moments.

To have ever had at hand something pretty in the way of needlework to occupy a spare moment is one of the bits of wisdom that some women are much given to. It is possible, with a little good material, to prepare holiday gifts that are conspicuous for their elegance, and doubly appreciated because they involve care, time, thought, and not a little skilled labor. Among the most attractive of these are toilet sets, consisting of scarf for the dressing-table, with mats, cushion-cover and similar accessories.

A good cushion is the first necessity, and to make this is not altogether an easy task. Some persons buy cushions already stuffed, but one need not do this if cost is any object. Strong muslin carefully stitched into a square bag is required, and this is filled as full as possible with fine sawdust, bran, or other suitable material. It is best to pack the corners very tightly, else, after the cushion is used, it becomes soft and the beauty of it is destroyed. The cushion may then be covered with plain silk or satin or, as some prefer, with white linen. Colored covers, however, are much better liked by many, as over these lace tidies can be pinned and changed at pleasure. The scarf should be made with a view to the place where it is to be used. In some instances one square for the middle and smaller squares for either end of the dressing-table is desirable. A piece of satin of the proper length is lined either with moderately thick muslin or with crinoline. Then the lace cover is made. This may have a center of dotted muslin, net lace, or some fanciful bit of embroidery, around which lace edging is set on full. The cushion cover is usually in a square, with lace gathered on and ribbon bows at each corner. Dainty and useful covers that are washable are made by drawing threads and hem-stitching the edges. Then ribbons are run through and tied in knots or ruffles at the corners. These may be taken out when the linen is to be washed.

A handsome set is made with a diamond of fine linen wrought with a very elaborate monogram. To make a square, strips of insertion and heading are set on until the proper proportion is reached; then a band of linen is stitched around the edge of the lace and just across the points of the diamond. Around this is wide edging to match the insertion. This is an exquisitely dainty design, and while somewhat difficult to make, well repays the labor bestowed upon it. Linen squares with alternate rows of heading and narrow embroidered insertion with edging of embroidery to match, make beautiful covers and durable ones as well. There are also art squares and fancy silks that work up to good advantage and make useful accessories at not very great cost. If one keeps one's eyes open while going about, it is a very easy matter to provide the work-book with materials that are always available.

In the purchase one should not forget a full assortment of silks of all sorts, those for etching, filling in and ordinary embroidery may be found at almost all fancy stores, but there are only a few of them that are absolutely fast colors. As this is a matter of a good deal of importance, it is worth while to see that one gets only the best. The difference in cost is but trifling, and it is extremely aggravating after spending a long time on a piece of work to find that the materials fade at the first touch of sunlight.—N. Y. Ledger.

The Last Straw. Once upon a time a Camel, belated far from home, applied for lodging at a wayside inn.

"O, certainly!" the landlord declared; "here is a bed that will cost you but ten cents, all to yourself."

Much pleased, the Camel retired to rest.

With the break of dawn he called his host and, having remunerated him, pointed to the couch, saying: "If any one should ask you, tell him that is the straw which broke the Camel's back."

Thereat he moved away, evincing much bodily distress.—Puck.

Sure Thing. "Ha!" gasped the murderer, in sudden fear. "The blood-stained garments. Where shall I put them that they may be lost forever?"

He paced the floor in agony. "I have it," he cried at last. Triumphant marking his initials on the clothing in large indelible type and wrapping it in a paper, upon which he wrote his name and address in a bold hand, he sent it to a steam laundry. Exulting then in his security, he went forth.—Detroit Tribune.

Dyspepsia Cured. "My wife has been a great sufferer with dyspepsia for over four years. Three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla have perfectly cured her. At times the heaviest food would distress her terribly. She could not sleep well at nights and she said no one could tell how badly she felt. She was also troubled with sick headaches. She had tried different kinds of medicine, but none did her any good. At last Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and one bottle did her so much good that she took two more and now she is perfectly well. She is not now troubled

CONGLOMERATE PLANT SEIZED ON CHATEL MORTGAGE

Annual Dance of the Fifth Regiment Band at Calumet Was a Grand Success.

[All communications intended for this department should be addressed to Horace J. Stevens, Houghton, Mich. Telephone connection.]

CALUMET.

When John R. Ryan seized the plant of the Conglomerate Wednesday afternoon he also notified Sheriff Dunn that he and his partner desired to be released from the jail bond furnished for A. H. Phipps and H. A. Sessons, the editors of the paper. As a consequence Deputy Sheriff Sullivan took both gentlemen in custody Wednesday evening. They were driven to Houghton Thursday morning and returned the same evening after reporting themselves to Sheriff Dunn. Constructively both are in custody though every liberty is allowed them.

It will be remembered that several years ago the Conglomerate made some very damaging assertions about the conduct of Mr. Edward Thibaud, then a parochial school teacher in Lake Linden. Thibaud brought action against Phipps and Sessions for criminal libel and a verdict of guilty was returned and each was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or suffer six months' imprisonment. The case was appealed to the supreme court where the decision and verdict were affirmed and in order to prevent the immediate carrying out of the sentence an indeterminate jail bond was required. This was furnished by Ryan and Slattry, the conditions being that should either Phipps or Sessions leave the county the bond would be forfeited. Mr. Ryan became convinced that Mr. Phipps was arranging to leave the county and withdrew from the bond at the same time he foreclosed the mortgage. The combination was a disastrous one for the editors of the Conglomerate, as they lost their business and their liberty at one fell stroke. It is probable that Mr. Ryan was mistaken in thinking that Major Phipps proposed leaving the county.

Up to noon yesterday no new bondsmen had been secured, as the bond is for a rather particular thing, the simple passing over the county line forfeiting $1,000. Under the circumstances it is not probable that the two editors will conclude to begin serving their sentences. If this is done Mr. Thibaud must pay in advance, weekly, for their board. When last heard from Thibaud was in Chicago studying dentistry. It is very probable that after paying two or three weeks' board Thibaud would feel satisfied to let the unfortunate editors enjoy the blessed privilege of paying their own board bills. Otherwise the sentence will hang over their heads for an indefinite term.

Mr. Ryan put the former employees of the Calumet Conglomerate office in charge on assuming control. He found it necessary to drill upon the safe, but promptly did so. R. V. Simmons, who was to have been director of the Calumet Morning Telegram, had that ill-starred project materialized, will associate himself with Mr. C. A. Ferrier, who recently took charge of the job printing department of the Conglomerate, and the two will publish a weekly newspaper to be known as the Red Jacket Tribune.

Both Phipps and Sessions are married men and much sympathy is felt for their families, as well as themselves. The predicament in which they find themselves is certainly an unusual and most unpleasant one, the combination of chattel mortgage, demand note and jail bonds being one that has badly entangled them in all directions.

The annual concert of the Fifth Regiment band was given last evening at the opera house and despite the intensely cold weather there was a packed house. It goes almost without saying that the concert was as high an artistic as it proved a financial success. The last number was "The Night Alarm," during which these handsome musicians were shown. The entertainment concluded with an informal hop for which the band furnished some new and highly satisfactory music.

The parts for the opera "Martha" have all been assigned and are now being diligently studied. Rehearsals will begin next week and a date for the performance of the opera will probably be set until the rehearsals show that the cast is sufficiently perfected in both libretto and score to warrant appearing in public.

The snow storm of Thursday, accompanied as it was by a furious wind and a low temperature, made the day the worst of the winter. It was at times impossible to see across the street. People who drove between Red Jacket and Lake Linden were nearly used up and a number of frozen faces and hands were secured on such trips, while several narrow escapes from freezing to death were reported. Friday morning the temperature was 20 degrees below zero.

There should be no difficulty in securing a good crowd from Calumet for the special train which will take people from here to the Armory at Houghton, where "Charley's Aunt" will be presented by Chas. Frohman's original stock company with all the necessary accessories of original scenery and property. No one who takes THE MINING JOURNAL'S advice to see the play will regret going while those who miss it will assuredly regret having done so.

N. A. Tanner of Marinette, proprietor of the Chicago Bankrupt Clothing store located in the Wilkins block, is visiting at St. John, manager of the store, and is also arranging for larger quarters.

Landlord R. J. Burge of the Hotel Burge is still making improvements in his house, and between new paint, new paper, new plumbing and new furniture, the place has undergone a decided change and a very healthy improvement.

Robert Weitzel returned Thursday afternoon from a four weeks southern trip. He relates that he was nearly shocked out of consciousness on opening the window of his room at Lake Worth, Florida, and finding a bunch of coonats hanging from a tree within reach. To one who has lived within walking distance of the north pole so long as Mr. Weitzel has the transition from pine to palm necessarily proved a great novelty.

Ed March has returned from Chicago where he went to buy new stock and fixtures for the Ford saloon, on Fifth street, of which he took possession yesterday. Mr. March proposes to make the place city headquarters, and with his persuasive ways, will probably accomplish what he sets out to do.

Arrangements have been made by which it is hoped that the Red Jacket patrons of THE MINING JOURNAL will obtain a better delivery service than they have had of late. Two new boys have been engaged as carriers. Patrons of the paper will confer a favor by promptly returning any delinquency in delivery to the representative of the paper. Subscribers in the past have been too enary of making complaint.

BOUGHTON.

Stack Bros. and A. G. Kaufman of South Lake Linden on trial on charge of violation of the liquor laws, withdrew their pleas of not guilty and pleaded guilty.

The dance given Friday evening at the Armory by the Hurontown fire department was a very successful affair, though the attendance would have been larger had the weather been more favorable. The temperature kept many at home who had intended going. Very nice refreshments were served by the ladies of the No Name club and all went merrily till the last waltz Saturday morning.

"Charley's Aunt" will be presented this evening at the Armory. The people of Houghton and Hancock are doubtless aware of what Frohman's company is and what their play is like without further comment. It can safely be promised that the play will give perfect satisfaction in every detail to every person of the audience that assembles this evening at the Armory. "Charley's Aunt" is the funniest play on the stage at the present day and is not only meeting with remarkable success in London and America but transiting many at home who had intended going in half a dozen countries on the continent of Europe.

The jury finds John Messner not guilty of keeping his saloon open on Sunday. The liquor men are jubilant. Court has adjourned to meet Monday afternoon.

At the World's Fair Dr. Price's Baking Powder received highest honors, because absolutely pure.

NEWS OF L'ANSE.

Death of Mrs. Catherine Doran—Boy's Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Catherine Doran died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning of general debility after an illness of some weeks. Mrs. Doran was a very old resident of the upper peninsula, having settled at Sault Ste. Marie over forty years ago with her husband and lived in this section ever since. She was about eighty years of age and had lived at Ontonagon and Houghton many years before coming to this place. She was the mother of Luke Welsh of this place and of Patrick Doran, formerly chief of police at Duluth. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from St. Joseph's church.

Tony Stark had a close call for "that golden shore" Thursday. He and two other boys were in Ruppel's warehouse catching sparrows. Tony climbed up on the collar beams and in some way slipped and fell through the hatchway to the ground floor, a distance of forty feet. He was taken home unconscious and revived in a short time. The doctor says there are no bones broken and the young man will probably pull through all right.

A long felt want in Houghton will soon be supplied by the opening of a house near the Gazette office where gentlemen can be shaved or shaved at any time. A few roomers desired. For further particulars enquire of Mrs. S. E. West, Houghton, Mich. (1-29-17)

THE DISCOVERY SAVED HIS LIFE.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We will keep store or home without part. Got a free trial at Farnham's Drug Store."

DISEASES OF THE WILL.

Some Strange Manifestations of Mental Aberration.

Persons Who Wish to Do the Simplest Acts of Everyday Life Are Stopped by a Falling Will Power—a Man Who Couldn't Put on His Coat.

Persons who are interested in the curious side of human nature should look into the work of the French doctor and scientist Ribot on the diseases of the human will, where are to be found some extraordinary instances of men and women losing their powers of volition in regard to certain acts while they keep fully active and healthy in all others.

Eschewing all research as to first causes Ribot takes volition as a form of activity and studies it in a purely pathological sense. That strange power in us which every day says "I will," that power which "summons, suspends or dismisses," as another Frenchman, Renouvier, defines it; that force in us and behind us which, in its ultimate possibility, can hardly be limited, is shown in this work to be subject to the strangest diseases and to be modified in the most peculiar manner.

There are some persons, says the Chicago Times, and they enter into all the daily circle of life, whose wills are so soft and pliant that they need the strength of another will to be joined to theirs before they can act. This common phase of a weak will is accentuated in disease to a degree hardly deemed possible by the nonobservant. Persons suffering from this form of diseased volition can will themselves according to the dictates of reason. They can feel a desire to act, but they cannot make a move toward that end. They are powerless to translate that desire into an act.

Esqurol mentions in this instance the case of a magistrate highly distinguished for his learning and his powers as a speaker, who was seized with monomania in consequence of certain troubles of the mind. He regained his reason, but would not go into the world again, though he acknowledged himself to be in the wrong in not doing so. When advised to travel or to attend to his much-neglected affairs he would say:

"I know that I ought to do so, but I am unable. Your advice is very good, and I wish I could follow it. It is certain that I have no will save not to will, for I have my reason unimpaired. I know what I ought to do, but strength fails me when I ought to act."

The case of the magistrate, however, is hardly as strange as that recorded by Prof. J. H. Bennett of a man who could not carry out what he wished to perform, even to the simplest acts of daily life.

Often, on endeavoring to address, this man was two hours before he could get his coat off. All his mental faculties were perfect, but his will was impaired. Once he ordered a glass of water. When the servant brought it, he was utterly unable to take it off the tray, though he was most anxious to do so. The servant waited half an hour before he came to the end of which time the man overcame the difficulty, seized the glass and drank down its contents. He described his feelings afterwards "as if another person had taken possession of his will."

The abuse of opium produces a somewhat similar condition. Dr. Quincy says: "The opium eater loses none of his moral sensibilities or aspirations. He wishes and longs as earnestly as ever to realize what he believes to be possible and feels to be exacted by duty. But his intellectual apprehension of what is possible infinitely outruns its power, not of execution only, but even the power to attempt."

Another curious instance quoted by Dr. Billod of Nancy is that of a man who was greatly frightened at thirty years of age by certain civic tumults in which he, unfortunately, became involved. Thereafter, though he retained perfectly his mental balance, he would not remain alone, either on the street or in his chamber, but was always accompanied. If he went out it was impossible for him to return alone.

"Whenever he went out alone, which he rarely did, he would soon halt on the street and there remain indefinitely, neither going on or turning back, unless some one led him.

"He seemed to have a will, but it was that of those around him. Whenever the attempt was made to overcome this resistance of the man he would fall into a swoon."

There are dozens of persons who every year take refuge in asylums because they are tormented all the time with the impulse to kill those who are dear to them.

"Sometimes," says Ribot, "fixed ideas of a character frivolous or unreasonably find lodgment in the mind, which, though it deems them absurd, is powerless to prevent them from passing into acts."

Westphal tells of a man who was haunted by the thought that he might perchance commit to writing that he had been guilty of some crime and lose the paper. "He accordingly carefully preserves every bit of paper he finds and even picks them up on the street and examines them." He knows it folly, but he is powerless to dismiss it.

Lesion of the brain will sometimes cause loss of will. A man who had received a violent blow which destroyed part of the frontal convolutions lost all will power. When an operation was performed and the pressure of the skull on the brain was removed he completely recovered.

Romans and Carthaginians.

At the battle of Thrasymene between the Romans and Carthaginians there were sixty-five thousand men engaged. The Romans were taken by surprise and defeated with great slaughter. The total number of men killed on both sides was seventeen thousand, or about twenty seven per cent. of the number engaged in the conflict.

KIRKWOOD PHARMACY FIRE.

The damage to the stock of goods at the Kirkwood pharmacy, which was scorched by fire Thursday night, is much greater than was at first supposed.

The firemen did exceedingly good work, as the blaze had quite a good start when the alarm was turned in.

The firemen did exceedingly good work, as the blaze had quite a good start when the alarm was turned in. When they entered the front door of the store, which they forced open, the place was full of smoke.

Some of the firemen were almost suffocated while working in the burning building. One of their number, who did not take time to find his mittens when starting for the fire, had his fingers quite badly nipped by the frost.

The damage to the stock is estimated to be about $2,000. It was insured for $5,000. The German-American company has $2,000 of the insurance and the Phoenix of London $3,000.

FACTS ABOUT SCHNEBELITE. A New and Powerful Explosive Whose Main Feature is Simplicity and Cheap.

The advantages of schnebelite, the new explosive, are thus enumerated by the New Science Review: "Its manufacture is simplicity itself; it is adapted for all war, sporting and mining purposes; it is almost smokeless, with a very slight recoil; it is not permanently damaged by heat or wet; the gun does not foul or become oxidized; no noxious gases are produced from its combustion; it is very cheap to make; a temperature of 540 degrees Fahrenheit is required to produce a combustion; when a lighted match is applied to it in its unconfined state it simply burns, no explosion being produced; the pressure developed by the charge of schnebelite, required to give the normal velocity to the bullet fired from a military rifle, is from 1,620 to 1,800 atmospheres, as compared with 2,600 to 3,200 atmospheres, the pressure developed by charges of other explosives when the same velocity is imparted to the bullet, and as compared with the best dynamite its force is as 55 to 45, or 20 per cent. greater, while it does not pulverize the surrounding rock as dynamite does. The inventors assert that schnebelite can be manufactured and sold at least 50 per cent. cheaper than any other known explosive of a similar character. Its adoption by the French government would, it is believed, result in a saving of 50,000,000 francs per annum."

Recognized a Fellow-Craftsman.

Commercial travelers, sometimes called "drummers," have acquired a reputation, perhaps undeserved, for largeness of statement. Thus we read in the Washington Star that a commercial traveler of the more flashy type had just finished a startling story, when the listener, a new acquaintance, remarked: "That reminds me of one of Munchausen's yarns."

YOU DON'T HAVE TO SWEAR OFF.

says the St. Louis Journal of Agriculture in an editorial about No-To-Bac, the famous tobacco habit breaker. "We know of many cases cured by No-To-Bac. No cure no pay. Book free. S. Erling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago. (1-4)

New Use for Indian Grass.

Sweet grass has been put to a new use. It is woven and made into cushions in which pins can readily be stuck with ease. In this guise it becomes a useful as well as decorative object. Those seen so far are quaint in the extreme. There is a small doll which makes the foundation, and the woven grass becomes her gown. This last is somewhat elaborate and shows bows and ribbons enough to stand for the model of a winter fashion plate, but all are made from the grass. The ample skirt is stuffed, and so the cushion is formed. The whole hangs upon the wall and is very charming, at the same time that it holds pins in safety and by the score.

FLORIDA SINKHOLES.

Mysterious Actions of the Ground of That State.

Large Depressions in the Earth Which Appear and Disappear from Causes as Yet Undiscovered.

The recent accident on the Florida Southern railway near Gainesville recalls the old question concerning the Florida sinks. What are they?

Except the railroad feature, there is nothing so very unusual in the formation of a new sink; one was formed a year or so ago about a mile from the site of the accident, and close by the same railroad, but there was no particular publicity given to the fact.

Alachua county probably has a larger number of these sink holes than any other county in the state.

Some of these sinks have water in them, some are dry, and some are forty feet in depth, and bearing orange trees grow on the sloping sides.

All efforts to find natural causes for these sinks have failed to account for their existence, says a correspondent of the Savannah News.

The numerous recent discoveries in some western states, in Central America and in Mexico of the remains of the dwellings of a people who lived beneath the surface of the earth suggest the possibility that these Florida sinks are the breaking-in of the roofs of chambers formed by a race of people who, in the long ago, occupied Florida.

That subterranean chambers and passage-ways exist in Florida is well known, but how they were formed and for what purpose I have never seen even suggested in any work on the subject.

The natural wells all have an artificial appearance. They are all entrances to tunnels in which water runs. Persons have often entered one and come out by another. I have heard it claimed that these natural wells are the open air shafts to subterranean roadways, and that they lead to large rooms in some places. I have been told of a large subterranean chamber near Archer on the walls of which are picture writings.

The investigation of this subject might yield some very interesting information. A small party of friends have made some very strange discoveries regarding these Florida sinks. They have found that, like the numerous other ancient works of Florida of which I have written, such of these sinks as they have examined all bear the same engineer's marks (attractive bodies placed on the ground), by which the outlines of the original work can be traced, and also the connecting passages; and this has led to the further discovery that the same lines are quite numerous in places where there are no signs of sinks or natural wells to be seen.

A decided similarity exists between many ancient works found in American and Egyptian work. There is no good reason why we should not take what is known of Egypt to at least suggest the form or purpose of the unknown in America. In Egypt and Morocco, I am informed, the excess of grain crops is placed in chambers in the ground, the chambers are closed, and all visible traces of its existence are destroyed. In time of need the soil or silt finds the chamber by use of the shaft of loo, and thus a famine is provided against.

May not some of our numerous large sinks represent similar large granaries or store chambers?

The scene of the accident on the Florida Southern railway is on the edge of Payne's prairie, where twenty thousand acres of rich land might yield grain enough to require an immense storage capacity. The spot is centrally situated for water transportation of the crop across the prairie by its central drainage canal, and is easily accessible from a region where there are no large prairies to cultivate.

Near Gainesville and in the city there are many places where it is often noticed that where horses trot over there is a hollow sound comes from the ground. I have traced on some of these spots the very same lines that are found at the sinks. At Ocala, Dade City, Tampa and Port Tampa City I have found the same lines, and I have been told of many other places where these lines have been traced by gentlemen interested in the same line of investigation.

Reasoning from the lines found at the sinks, wells and tunnels that are known, the same lines being found where no sink or well now exists, the same conditions should be in these spots as must have been in the others before the supports of the roof gave way to form the sinks or wells. Several attempts have been made to dig down and see the actual condition—if there be a chamber and what it contains; but but water and quicksand were in every instance too much for the means of the explorer, so that it still remains a mystery, and no one has yet satisfactorily answered the question: What is a Florida sink?—Savannah News.

KEEPING OLD AGE AT BAY. Vegetarian Argument with Illustrations Which Appeal to All.

A few years ago an Italian bacteriologist proclaimed that he had discovered the "germ of old age." The idea was scouted by all scientific men, but there may be something in it after all.

These considerations suggest at once the thought while all human beings must necessarily be constantly subject to the influence of toxic substances generated in their own alimentary canal.

It is this theory is correct we should expect to find the greatest longevity among those animals and those men who subsist on the simplest and purest diet, other conditions being equal.

There is little doubt but that the Negaunee club will be permanently organized at the meeting to be held for that purpose at the Breitung House this evening at 9 o'clock.

SHE GOT GOOD MONEY.

How a Neat Trick Was Turned on a Street Car Conductor. A woman gave a conductor on a Ravenswood electric car a quarter and received in change two silver dimes.

"Here, here," said the passenger, "this coin has been filled and I'd like to have a good one."

"That's good money," retorted the nickel snatcher, with a look that showed he had expected just such an outcome.

The woman dropped the defective piece of money into her purse, says the Chicago Tribune, muttering something inaudible, but allowing a look to spread over her countenance that indicated trouble ahead for that conductor.

"Can't take that, madam. Company requires me to turn in good money," "O, but you told me only a moment ago that it was good money and now I want you to make it good or I'll undertake to get you a long lay off."

THE KINDLY PANTHER. Becomes a Household Pet in Patagonia and is Fond of People.

On the desert of Patagonia there are more panthers in proportion to the area and the number of other kinds of animals than in any other region in the world. The lonely wayfarer is not often found there afoot, but men have been on the desert unmounted, and the panthers have come to play around them, too.

This name of the beast, elsewhere counted ferocious, arose from an incident well authenticated in the history of Buenos Ayres, though I have no doubt that other instances of the kindly disposition of the panther toward the human race have served to perpetuate the title.

The idea of being able to invent something strikes most people as being very difficult; this delusion the Company will dispel. AVOID DUPLICATE WORK.

Superintendents of Evangelical Missions in This Peninsula Confer.

INTEND TO MEET EVERY YEAR HEREAFTER.

Laborers in Common Cause Get Together With View of Averting Waste of Effort.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

A short time ago three gentlemen of Hancock and Houghton interested in the cause of missions in northern Michigan determined that it would be a good thing to get the men charged with the general missionary work of the various denominations together for mutual conference and acquaintance.

The conference was in every way helpful. The field is so large and work so thinly spread that the superintendents in several cases met for the first time. It was conceded that a perfectly frank understanding about each other's work would simplify the general subject of home missionary work very much, and it was found that had this understanding always been possible any denominational rivalry which might seem the reverse of edifying might easily have been prevented.

The various bodies represented at this meeting seem to be related as to number of ministers and in membership about as follows, Methodists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Congregationalists, Baptists. The meeting will be probably an annual one after this and will effect at once interchange of reports, year books, and general information.

Quite a Cold Snap.

An icy wind was blowing from the southwest last night and the thermometers on the street were registering 8 degrees below at 11 o'clock with the probabilities of a further fall before daylight. The minimum temperature Thursday night was 16 degrees below zero. Observer Patrick's record at the weather bureau shows 5 above at 7 p. m., Jan. 31, with a gradual fall until 2 a. m., Feb. 1, and then a sharp decline until the minimum of 16 below was reached at 5 a. m. yesterday morning and so remained until 9 a. m. The highest temperature yesterday was 27 below zero and at 7 p. m. the record was 8 below. The record of 8 below at 11 o'clock, noted above, was by untested thermometers but was probably about correct for that hour.

No dependence whatever is to be placed on the ordinary commercial thermometer. It may be right, but it is generally wrong and the only way to be sure is to have your thermometer tested. Many private thermometers registered 20 below yesterday morning and were off just 4 degrees as shown by the weather bureau's tested instruments.

The South Shore road's weather report showed 12 at St. Ignace, 8 at Sault Junction, 12 at Au Train, 16 at Marquette, 25 at Michigamme, 17 at L'Anse, 10 at Houghton, 23 at Sidaav and 30 at Tomaston—all the foregoing figures being below zero.

Dr. Anderson of the University of California, reports Dr. Price's Baking Powder absolutely pure.

Should Claim His Grips.

Some months ago two valises were shipped by American Express from this city by some person unknown to Hermann Reiger, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. The latter never appeared to claim them and after being held the usual time they were returned to the office in this city. The charges amount to $1.20 and the valises themselves, regardless of their contents, are evidently worth considerably more than that amount. The record of the name of the shipper has been lost and he is requested to call at the office of the American Express company and claim the property, as if they remain unclaimed much longer they will be sold for the charges.

Sunday Services.

Following is the musical program for high mass at St. Peter's cathedral at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. There will be the usual sermon in addition to the mass: "Asperges" chorus, Zangl; "Mass in honor of St. Theresa" LaHache; Offertory—duet for soprano and alto, Miss M. McQuade and Mrs. N. Taylor. "Veni Creator"—solo and chorus, Weigand; Miss Irene Johnson and choir. Postlude "Coronation March" Mejerbeer.

The usual musical vesper service with choir and organ will be celebrated at 3 o'clock p. m.

Archdeacon Williams will celebrate Holy Communion at St. Paul's church at 8 o'clock and 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The sermon in the morning will be on "Life-Giving Bread" and the evening sermon will consider "Joy on Earth and in Heaven." Service will be held at St. Margaret's chapel at 4 o'clock. The girls of St. Margaret's guild have purchased a very handsome and sweet-toned organ for the chapel to take the place of the borrowed one they had been using.

At the Presbyterian church Sunday morning the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be celebrated and new members received into fellowship according to the impressive ritual of the church. In the evening at the Sunday club service Mr. Spencer will give the third discourse on the Twelve Gates of Heaven of Appropriation.

The club cordially invites all strangers and residents to attend these services.

Y. M. C. A.

Last Sunday afternoon many representative young men, together with the pastors of each of the evangelical churches, met in the parlors of the Baptist church to talk over and formulate plans for a series of gospel services to be held each Sunday afternoon for the next three months. The meeting resulted in the unanimous proposition that the entire work should be under the management of the Young Men's Christian association. The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. were notified and immediately called a meeting, ratifying the proposition, accepting the undertaking and appointing committees to arrange for each service.

As the Young Men's Christian association building is closed for the winter the Baptist church parlors were offered and accepted for the place where each service shall be held. The committee promises the men of the city for the next few weeks a series of addresses of the most interesting and profitable character and a cordial welcome to each service. The following well-known gentlemen will address one service each: Hon. J. W. Stone, Hon. C. R. Brown, Archdeacon Williams, Rev. C. S. Eastman, Hon. F. O. Clark, Rev. W. E. Peeman, Hon. D. H. Ball, Rev. D. B. Spencer and Rev. Mr. Johnson. The first service will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and Hon. F. O. Clark will give an address. All men are earnestly invited to be present.

Lebeau Won the Race. There was a lively race at the Casino last evening for the gold medal representing the championship of the upper peninsula offered by the management. That is the race was lively for two miles but after that Lebeau had the floor to himself and took it easy. Evicde Lebeau, Fred Price and Ralph Broad entered for the prize. In the second lap Broad lost a skate and retired. The contest between Lebeau and Price was hot for two miles. Then Price struck his leg against a chair and was compelled to drop out, being at that time half a lap ahead and apparently gaining. The first two miles were made in five minutes but for the third mile Lebeau, having no opposition, took it very easy and the time for the three miles was 10:20. According to the conditions of the medal it must be won three times and then becomes the property of the winner. This contest was open to all upper peninsula skaters and Lebeau is now subject to challenge by any skater in the district. It is hardly probable that Pelletier of Negaunee will stand by and see himself deprived of the championship without an effort and at least two more lively races may be anticipated.

Popular Lectures.

For several years last past societies connected with the Methodist church of this city have made provision for lecture courses and have been fortunate in securing some of the best talent in the lecture field. No regular course has been provided for the present winter but it is their purpose to furnish the people of Marquette with one or more first-class lectures in the near future. The first announced will be given Tuesday evening, Feb. 5, by Rev. E. W. Frazee—subject: "The Shibboleths of Modern Christendom." Tickets of admission will be twenty-five cents. Parties who have heard this lecture declare it to be of superior merit and that those who listen to it will enjoy a rich treat. At the conclusion of the lecture refreshments will be served in the church parlors under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society, for which a small charge will be made.

Dr. Price's Baking Powder is declared by all official experts absolutely pure.

Death of Matthew Hardiman. Matthew F. Hardiman died about 11 o'clock yesterday morning at 517 West Washington street after an illness of nearly a year. He came here in 1856 with Charles Gay, in whose employ he was for many years. He was with Mr. Gay when the latter died at Detroit and brought his body back overland to this city for burial. Afterwards he was barn boss at the Morgan furnace and at the powder mills. He was about fifty-five years of age and is survived by two daughters. There is also a brother at Negaunee. The date of the funeral is not definitely announced but it will probably be held Sunday afternoon from St. Peter's cathedral.

Mrs. Smith looking anxiously at her neighbor: "How is it Mrs. Jones that I always have cream for coffee and such elegant butter for biscuit? Mrs. Jones, smiling: "Why that's simple, I get my milk from Vandenberg and that gives me cream enough for coffee every day, and he brings me a jar of fresh butter every Friday and that is in as regular as a clock." Mrs. Smith: "Please tell him to call at our home tomorrow for I am dying for some cream and fresh butter." 2-1-1w needed flesh, no matter how you've lost it, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It works wonders. By restoring the normal action of the deranged organs and functions, it builds the flesh up to a safe and healthy standard—promptly, pleasantly and naturally. The weak, emaciated, thin, pale and puny are made strong, plump, round and rosy. Nothing so effective as a strength restorer and flesh maker is known to medical science; this puts on healthy flesh not the fat of cod liver oil and its ally compounds. It rouses every organ of the body to activity, purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood so that the body feels refreshed and strengthened. If you are too thin, too weak, too nervous, it may be that the food assimilation is at fault. A certain amount of bile is necessary for the reception of the fat foods in the blood. Too often the liver holds back this element which would help digestion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery stimulates, tones up and invigorates the liver, nourishes the blood, and the muscles, stomach and nerves get the rich blood they require.

Spent Hundreds of Dollars with no Benefit. M. J. COLEMAN of 27 Sargent St., Roxbury, Mass., writes: "After suffering from dyspepsia and constipation with a great deal of pain for at least 18 months, I am more than pleased to say that after using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets for one month, I was entirely cured, and from that day to this I do not know, thank God, what even a slight headache is. I paid a doctor on Tremont St., Boston, in one day (for his advice only) the sum of $500 with $50 for medicine, and derived no M. J. COLEMAN, Esq. benefit. I got more relief in one hour from your appetite or constipation and will use your medicine as I have done; he will never regret it."
