HAS AN OPPOSITION BILL.

Reed Endeavoring to Get Support of Republicans for Another Currency Bill.

PLANS OF ADMINISTRATION MEN OVERTURNED.

Silverites and Other Democratic Opponents of Administration Bill May Support Reed's Scheme.

TO BE OFFERED AS SUBSTITUTE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The calculations of the supporters and opponents of the new administration financial bill were upset today by the interjection of a new factor into the campaign. Reed, the Republican leader, brought forward a new plan for which he is endeavoring to enlist the entire strength of his party and which he will offer as a substitute for the administration scheme, if he thinks the plan can command sufficient support to make it a factor in the fight.

There are but two sections to the Reed plan in the form in which he submitted it to his colleagues. The first proposes to restrict the law of 1875, which authorizes the treasury to issue bonds to redeem greenbacks, to 3 per cent. bonds. The second section authorizes the secretary of the treasury, when there is a deficit, to issue certificates of indebtedness to pay current expenses, the certificates to be in sums of $25, $50 and $100 and any multiples thereof and bearing interest at 3 per cent. and payable in coin. The bill, as Reed explained, is but a temporary expedient to tide over the present distress.

The substitution of "coin" for the gold provisions of the administration plan is expected to win for it the teleration, if not the support, of the free silver men, who bitterly oppose all propositions to discriminate by stipulation in any bill in favor of gold. Its comparative simplicity, it is expected, will commend the bill to the house in preference to any more complex plan.

Reed's plan is to offer his bill as a substitute for the administration bill and by polling the solid Republican vote, while the Democrats are divided on the administration bill, make it meet a formidable opposition in the field and perhaps induce the Democratic opponents to the administration bill to rally to its support. Chairman Springer and colleagues counted on most of the Republican votes for the administration bill and proposed it would call about the same support that was given to the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. Accordingly Reed's move overturns their calculations.

Interest in the financial question about the senate today centered in the activity of the silver senators and the frequent consultations held by them. Taken in connection with the call issued by Voorhees, the chairman of the finance committee, for a meeting of that committee tomorrow, led to the general supposition that an attempt is to be made by the silver advocates on the committee to secure the reporting of a bill which will be satisfactory to silver men.

AGREE WITH THE SECRETARY. Treasury officials generally express the opinion that Secretary Carlisle's estimate of a surplus of $22,500,000 for the calendar year of 1895 is conservative. It is urged that the customs duty on sugar alone should bring in at least thirty-five million dollars during the next eleven months and the revenue from the income tax is likely to reach forty million. Receipts from the general customs and from whisky withdrawals are expected to increase from now on which, it is believed, will bring the receipts for twelve months up to about $344,500,000. The disbursements for the year, it is thought, will not exceed $315,000,000, leaving a surplus after deducting the seven millions deficit from January of $29,500,000.

In answer to inquiries Secretary Carlisle stated he had nothing to say on the financial situation. Assistant Secretary Curtis, who has returned from New York, would not say whether or not his mission in New York was successful. As far as can be learned no steps have been taken to prepare plates for another bond issue. The amount of bonds which the administration contemplates issuing, and notice of which may be given at any time now, is $100,000,000 per cent. to run thirty years. It is believed the government has been assured that these bonds will be paid for with foreign gold.

DECLARATION WITHHELD. Mexican Laborers Willing to Fight in Case of War.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 4.—In spite of many announcements that today was set for a definite declaration in the Guatemalan embroglio nothing transpired and a statement of the policy is not looked for now until tomorrow. Ten thousand laborers with banners and bands today marched to the palace and calling out President Diaz tendered their services to the country in case of war.

STRIKERS SCORE A POINT. Brooklyn Aldermen Vote to Revoke Street Car Franchises.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 4.—The Brooklyn board of aldermen at a meeting this afternoon adopted a resolution presented by representatives of the striking motormen and conductors revoking the franchises and privileges granted to the Brooklyn trolley lines which were connected with the present strike. The vote stood 10 for and 8 against. When the board of aldermen adjourned a committee of strikers called upon

Mayor Schieren to urge the mayor to sign the resolution which was passed by the aldermen. The mayor said when the resolution came before him Wednesday next in the regular way he would have something to say about it. He declined to say in advance what he would do.

President Norton, of the Atlantic Avenue Railroad company, was arraigned before the United States commission this afternoon, charged with violation of the United States statutes in displaying United States mail signs on trolley cars that were not carrying mail. United States District Attorney Bennett appeared for the prosecution. The strike leaders have cautioned the strikers against violence and evert, acts and the strikers generally are obeying the instructions. The only disturbance today was when the police dispersed the strikers who marched to the city hall to present a petition to the aldermen.

HAD NOT SUFFICIENT POWER.

Japan is Ready When China Shows Proper Disposition.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Japanese legation today received a cablegram from their home foreign office giving the following explanation of the rejection of the Chinese peace commissioners: "At a meeting of the plenipotentiaries of Japan and China on the 22nd inst. Count Ito pointed out to the Chinese plenipotentiaries the defectiveness and insufficiency of their powers. He gave them the positive assurance, however, that whenever China manifested a serious and sincere desire for peace by confiding actual and full powers to the Chinese officials, of such a nature and scope as would render it certain that the terms which might be agreed upon would be confined within the limits of what would actually be carried out in good faith Japan would be prepared to enter upon new negotiations."

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 4.—The official naval report of the fighting about Wei-Hai-Wai has just been received. It says: "Three forts about Pail-Chi-Hyao were taken during the morning of Jan. 30. The naval and land forces at once occupied Chiapoo Island and bombarded Tattao Island. The enemy's ships and forts on Lung-Lin-Chi islands replied and three of our sailors were killed. Our ships are still outside the fort. We have had heavy weather since Jan. 31 and the cold is intense. This prevents naval movements. The land is invisible owing to the snow."

LOXON, Feb. 4.—A Times dispatch from Tien Tsin says Admiral Togo, commander of the Chinese fleet at Wei-Hai-Wai, landed two thousand men and made an attempt to recapture the southern forts from the Japanese. The attempt was finally abandoned and the Chinese reembarked.

ENGLAND DID NOT INTERFERE.

Hawaiian Correspondence Relative to Late Rebellion Submitted.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Hawaiian correspondence was submitted to the house today. Secretary Gresham states that the department has no information in regard to arms having been furnished by British subjects to persons in rebellion against the government of Hawaii except in a telegram from the United States minister at Honolulu, Jan. 11, in which he says: "Arms are reported to have been brought from Vancouver by the Norma." The department has no information in regard to any intervention by the representatives of Great Britain to prevent the application of martial law by the Hawaiian government to those concerned in the insurrection, or any foreign representative other than the statement contained in the note of the Hawaiian minister Jan. 20 that "the British commissioner at Honolulu called upon the government of Hawaii to give him assurance that no capital punishment would be inflicted upon the insurrectionists, there being fifteen Englishmen under arrest, which assurance the government refused to give."

Following this there was an exchange of notes between Secretary Gresham and Thurston, the Hawaiian minister here, which was interesting mainly because of the insinuation of the latter that the presence of an American warship at Honolulu would be acceptable.

PROVED TO BE FALSE ALARM.

Tugs Fail to Find Wreck of the Steamer Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—At 6 o'clock tonight the tug Morford, which left harbor this morning to search for the Chicago, returned. The tug had made its way through the ice all the way to Whiting, Ind., and neither on the trip to that place nor on the return was anything seen that in any way resembled the hull of a vessel. It would have been impossible for the vessel to have been in open water last night and been hidden from the view of the men in the tug this afternoon. After the return of the tug the Graham and Morton people announced that they had given up all hope of ever seeing the Chicago or any of its crew again. Vesselmen are now of the opinion that what was taken for the hull of the Chicago was nothing but a mass of dirty ice.

GOVERNMENT EVIDENCE IN.

Prosecution in the Debs Conspiracy Case Announces That Its Testimony Is Complete.

DEFENSE ASKS FOR DISCHARGE OF PRISONERS.

Failure to Secure Subpoenaed Witnesses Causes Sudden End to Testimony for Government.

THE ENDING WAS UNEXPECTED.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Unexpectedly this afternoon the counsel for the government announced that it had submitted all its evidence in the Debs conspiracy case. Saturday the prosecution issued forty-five or more subpoenas for witnesses and the returns from these were expected to keep the government on the stand all week. When Walker announced that the prosecution would rest its case there was some surprise. The jury was requested to retire and counsel for the defense asked for the dismissal of the defendants.

Judge Thoman for John F. McVeau of Cleveland, O., a member of the board of directors, asked that his client be discharged; that during the trial his name was not coupled with any of the others save as being a fellow director. There was no proof that he had been in Chicago during the strike or that he had ever been in any of the councils of the board of directors during the strike period. Walker for the government admitted this representation but called the attention of the court to the fact that McVeau had voted in convention to order the strike and had acted as a member of one of the committees.

Darrow asked for the preterpory discharge of Frank Dryer, Dennis Larkin, James McDonald and John Burke, not one of whom having been named as taking part in a single overt act. He asked for the discharge of John Hanahan against whom, he said, the government had failed to prove an overt act. He then argued for the discharge of the members of the board of directors. The court said he would take the motions under advisement and make a decision in the morning.

The failure to secure in time all the witnesses for whom subpoenas had been issued Saturday night was the cause of the sudden closing of the government side of the trial.

COLDEST IN MANY YEARS.

Chicago and Vicinity Suffering from a Severe Cold Snap.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—The sharpest cold wave that has visited Chicago for twenty-two years made its appearance last night and is still doing business with unabated vigor. The signal service thermometer fell to 13 below zero, the coldest on record according to the weather bureau since 1873. Thermometers owned by private individuals marked from 16 to 18 below zero. Several cases of freezing are reported and in a flat at 123 West Eighteenth street M. Carmody was found frozen to death. The police rounded up any number of gentlemen who had filled themselves with red liquor and selected alleys and vacant lots as choice places in which to slumber. The majority of them are in hospitals under treatment with frozen hands and feet. Reports from many points in Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin show the same state of weather, the mercury ranging from 12 below at Springfield, Ill., to 29 below in northern Wisconsin.

Syndicate Is Composed of American and Foreign Capitalists.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—On reliable authority The Press tomorrow will announce that the new bond issue is to be taken up by a syndicate composed of American and foreign bankers. The men who will underwrite the new issue according to the best information in Wall street are Rothschilds, represented by August Belmont, and J. Pierpont Morgan and several prominent local financiers who are at the head of big moneyed institutions in this city. The Press also learns there will be an opportunity given to the public to make a bid on the new bonds. Inside advices are that the local financiers will take about $50,000,000 of the new loan and remainder will go to foreign houses.

APPEALS MADE FOR AID.

Kansas and Oklahoma Sufferers Begging on the Streets.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 4.—Destitution among the Kansas and Oklahoma farmers is becoming more evident and urgent appeals for outside aid are being made. "Men and women begging for food is a daily sight upon the streets of our suffering little town," said Patrick McCloskey, a merchant of St. Francis, Kan., today. A letter to a local minister from reputable women at Blackburn, Ok., tells the same story: "The Kansas senate today today amended the seed grain bill so as to give $50,000 for the purchase of seed to be loaned to settlers and $50,000 in cash for the relief of the destitute."

GIBRALTAR AND ITS DEFENSE.

Possibilities in the Event of Attack by a Hostile Force.

Experiments at Shoeburyness have shown that an Armstrong shell can be thrown 2,170 yards—about five and one-third miles—says a writer in Temple Bar. It is therefore absolutely clear that if all the fleet were temporarily absent, either on some special mission or depressed by a storm, hostile forces could take up a position within four miles of the eastward of Europa point and shell into the outlying parts of the fortress and cause much destruction of life and property.

TWO PIECES OF SILVER. How They Saved the Life of a Mine Manager. "Muerte a los gringos!" Black Rosa's small, angular form shook with rage.

"Here, my good woman," said he, "here are two silver dollars. You had better not stay around here," he added, kindly, as she took the money and called the blessings of the saints upon his generous soul.

Senora Rosalina Ortiz once enjoyed a happy home in the City of Mexico, her birthplace. She had all the opportunities of education, both in Spanish and English, and in her early married life had traveled much.

She was living as his mistress with a hardened character known as "Robber Dan," an American, whose life both in and out of the penitentiary was a series of misdeeds.

The ill treatment she had received at the hands and tongues of the miners at Rico had burned into her soul like a hot iron, though the wound was largely healed by the soft words and the silver so kindly bestowed by John France.

Even Robber Dan and his male companions in crime—who formed the most notorious and daring band of robbers in southern Colorado—did not escape the vindictive spirit of Black Rosa.

"You see, they didn't put me on. Never seen a sheriff yet that thought a stage driver had nerve enough to play out his hand in a game like that; and I don't know but a feller would get a little bit rattled a wonderin' how he's a-goin' to come out at the end of the game."

"So France, when he gets the 'o' woman's note, he just quietly lets Barney in," Barney tells him his system, 'n' they plays it to win. W'n France he goes up to his room, Barney he goes 'n' his team 'n' meets France at the back door 'n' they goes out 'n' lays for the gang."

"What shall I do with him?" asked the sheriff. "Lock him up," said the manager of the Bull Domingo hotel, "lock him up! That is the little rascal who came to me a few minutes ago begging for money."

There was a murmur of indignation against the man who would seek the punishment of a child for stealing a silk handkerchief—and that after it had been returned.

"Senora forgets the two silver dollars," taunted Robber Dan; "I thought the senora might feel sorry that we had planned to rob this fine American. But it's all right now—is it, dearest?" he added, mockingly.

At twelve o'clock that night four men, heavily armed, rode out of Durango. Two hours later the stage followed them, with one occupant on the front and the driver alone on the front seat.

Coming to a bend in the road, where the ascent of the first steep mountain is begun, Bloomer fell into a reflective mood and remarked to the night wheeler that the fellow on the inside might possibly "rise to an appreciation of the society of a stage driver and his hosses if the muzzle of a double-barreled shotgun should happen to appear at the window of the coach."

Of course Bloomer was not really expecting such a surprise for his unobtrusive passenger; so when the shotgun appeared, with three others, and accompanied by an order to "throw down their ribbons and throw up their hands," he was himself so completely surprised that he obeyed without a word of protest.

"You see, they didn't put me on. Never seen a sheriff yet that thought a stage driver had nerve enough to play out his hand in a game like that; and I don't know but a feller would get a little bit rattled a wonderin' how he's a-goin' to come out at the end of the game."

"You see that kid what stole the handkerchief done that for a blind. His 'o' woman she put him on. She writes a note ter France 'n' tell the kid ter drop it in his pocket 'n' steal his handkerchief, or anythin' else he could git his hands on, 'n' then kinder loiter 'round so's to git caught. Well, sir, that 'o' Black Rosa was a corker. She gives the whole snap away in the note, 'n' she tells France ter have the boy put in jail, 'n' that'd be a tip for her that he gets the note. Then she sets up a howl 'n' throws the gang off, 'n' havin' bin drinkin' considerable 'n' feelin' a leetle bit skeered that her play wouldn't win, she was knocked clean out—excited—'n' fainted on the dead square."

"So France, when he gets the 'o' woman's note, he just quietly lets Barney in," Barney tells him his system, 'n' they plays it to win. W'n France he goes up to his room, Barney he goes 'n' his team 'n' meets France at the back door 'n' they goes out 'n' lays for the gang."

"Yes; perhaps the two silver dollars did have something to do with it—silver was a great power 'n Colorado 'n them days."—Lewis Eddy, in N. Y. Advertiser

MAKING A LIVING. Queer Ways of Doing It in a Large City.

Two men, one carrying a tripod and camera, the other carrying a high stack of photographic plates, bound around by a shawl strap, halted in front of a grocery in Blue Island avenue.

"You got them out in front and I'll be ready for them," said the man with the camera, as he spread his tripod in the gutter and took aim at the front door of the grocery.

"It is a pretty good picture," said the grocer, closing one eye and surveying the photograph with admiration. "Those will be nice souvenirs to send to your friends and relatives."

"Certainly not, and you don't have to take them unless you want to, but I should think you could find use for a dozen of them."

"I'll let you have them for two dollars and a half."

"That's pretty cheap, but I'll take it."

"It is thus that some street photographers make their money. They know that every business man is flattered when he sees himself in a photograph standing in a proprietary attitude in front of his establishment."

This is but one of the many unusual ways of making money in a large city. There are small and trivial demands which are multiplied by a large population, so that it often becomes profitable to furnish a supply.

duce the British custom in Chicago. He was well patronized by a few ultra-society people, but the others neglected his bureau and entertained themselves in some manner.

An eccentric gentleman goes from office to office teaching the latest Parisian style of hair-combing. He has not been as successful as another enterprising person who deals in crests and coats-of-arms. It is related that a wealthy and hard-headed business man with a good, old-fashioned name something like Ferguson was visited by a dapper gentleman, who carefully unwrapped a framed water-color painting of a shield bearing certain heraldic symbols.

"Well, what's that?" asked the merchant. "The Ferguson coat-of-arms, which you have a right to use," was the reply. "I have traced the genealogy of your family and have proofs that you are a lineal descendant from Lord Rupert Ferguson, who distinguished himself as a friend and counselor of the duke of Buckingham."

"That may be true enough, but I don't care a continental about it. My father was a farmer in Ohio, and my grandfather used to own a flour mill in Pennsylvania. I never got any further back than that and never cared to."

The visitor went away much disappointed. But the hard-headed business man happened to mention to his wife and daughter that the coat-of-arms had been offered him and they implored him to purchase it no matter what the cost might be.

Therefore the Ferguson family has a coat-of-arms and a family tree, the two costing Mr. Ferguson up less than fifty dollars. It is said that the same gentleman who approached him has made extensive researches for other wealthy gentlemen with the invariable result that somewhere in the dim past he has found a family coat-of-arms.

A Chicago woman is supporting herself and deriving a good income by instructing housewives how to make angel food. She goes from house to house, and when employed as an instructor goes into the kitchen with her pupil and makes a practical demonstration of her skill.

Sometimes a second or third visit is necessary, as the housewife is not considered apt until she bakes a successful cake under the watchful eye of the instructor. This woman receives two dollars from each pupil.

A colored woman living in a remote region of the west side supports herself managing a dish-washing circuit. Along the street where she resides are about twenty families, who have given her the contract to wash dishes for them. She goes from house to house and covers the circuit three times a day. Her rates are fifteen cents a week for a family of not more than three, but the families are generous and give her something extra so that her income is considerably more than three dollars a week.

The connoisseur who collects cigar stamps and puts them into a basket flourishes only in big towns. Then there is the man who reseats chairs, the man who polishes up metal signs, the wandering plumber who repairs leaks at non-union rates, and the woman who is introducing preparations for the complexion. The latter takes the "lady of the house" into the kitchen, induces her to steam her face over a pan of hot water and then applies various creams, powders and perfumes. When the lady of the house has been done up in white enamel and is afraid to smile for fear she will break her face, the agent departs leaving the house strewn with advertising matter.

But of all the queer ways of making a living two boys on Fifth avenue had the queerest. It was so queer that it smacked of swindling.

A well-dressed little man at the Randolph street corner stopped for a moment to allow a car to pass. While he was standing there a boy edged up behind him and hooked to his coat tail a card on which was printed in black letters:

As the man went across the street several persons saw it and turned to laugh at him. The second boy was waiting across the street. He ran up to the man and said: "Mister there's a card hooked to your coat behind. Let me take it off."

"Goodness me!" said the little man, "how did that get there?"

"One of them tough lads put it on, I guess."

"Confound them! Well, here boy, here's a dime for you."

"Tanks, mister."

Two minutes later the good little boy hung in on a fat man and his partner on the other side of the street intercepted the fat man and collected a nickel. He had to ask for it, but he got it.

A man would be a brute to refuse a nickel to a poor boy who has done him a great service.—Chicago News.

With the Naval Reserve. "When we are off on the ship for practice during the summer," said my friend, "we get lots of fun out of life. While on watch we go around amongst the sailors and get acquainted and talk of matters nautical."

"One day, just after we had taken on board the members of the New York reserve, I asked one of the old tars how he liked our new friends."

"Don't like 'em at all," he said. "They won't talk with you nor do anything but go around with their heads up, as if they bossed the whole affair. But now with you Boston fellows it's different. We like you first-rate; you aren't so stuck up."

"I'll tell you just how it is," he added, confidentially. "Them New Yorkers are gentlemen!"—Harper's Magazine.

"Why," asked the boarder at the head of the table, "are ham and eggs always associated together?" "That," remarked the very bad actor, eagerly, "is just what I would like to know."—Detroit Tribune.

WAS A RECORD-BREAKER.

Sunday Night the Coldest Experienced in Years at Ishpeming.

TEMPERATURE PLAYED AROUND 30 BELOW.

That Valentine Party—Firemen Feel Grateful—Benefited by the Baths.

THE COLDEST YET.

Sunday night was the coldest experienced here this winter. Although last Thursday night was exceedingly cold here the temperature was from 3 to 5 degrees lower Sunday night.

Some of those who reside on Strawberry hill reported 35 below, while others reported from 28 to 32. In the vicinity of Wadsworth's place, which is generally considered the coldest point in the city, it was 28 below between 7 and 8 o'clock.

In Negaunee the temperature was about the same as here. Reports came from Michigamme that it was only 30 below at 8 o'clock, while at Republic it was reported 32 below at the same hour.

Valentine Party.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the "Valentine party" to be given under auspices of Zerith lodge No. 33, Knights of Pythias, on the night of the 14th inst., desires it understood that persons attending the ball are expected to wear costumes—either comic or otherwise—the same as at a regular masquerade ball.

Appreciated It.

The members of the Ishpeming fire department were greatly pleased Sunday at the manner in which the members of the Negaunee and Marquette departments turned out to the funeral of the late John Jones, Jr. On account of the extreme cold it was thought that the attendance of firemen from the neighboring towns would be comparatively small, but over forty of the Negaunee boys and twelve of the Marquette firemen turned out to show their respect for the deceased.

Baths Were Beneficial.

Patrick and Bridget Welch, who have been at Hot Springs, Ark., for the past three weeks, will be back today. Miss Welch took the bath treatment while there for the benefit of her eyes and reports her sight greatly improved.

New School Building.

The Ishpeming school board has concluded that another school building must be erected and ready for use before the opening of the September term. At the last monthly meeting of the board, held last week, the necessity for providing a new school building was fully discussed and it was decided to take steps for erecting it at once.

Nearly every department of the Ishpeming schools is crowded to an uncomfortable degree. Owing to the present condition of things it is impossible to advance the pupils in some of the primary departments to higher grades, as in some of the rooms almost one hundred pupils are being accommodated, necessitating, in some instances, half-day sessions.

Have gone into the coal and wood business. Hard coal delivered $7 per ton. Wood of all kinds will be furnished as cheaply as can be obtained from any firm in Marquette county.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF

Mrs. Maggie McHale of Hurley is visiting friends in the city.

The city council will hold a regular monthly meeting tomorrow evening.

Charles F. Sundstrom and M. Levine were down from Michigamme Sunday.

Rose company No. 1 of the Ishpeming hose department held a special meeting last evening.

Collector M. C. Scully came up from Marquette to attend the funeral of the late John Jones, Jr., Sunday.

Miss Eva Phillion concluded a week's stay here this morning and will return to Turin, where she is teaching school, today.

The Ninth ward social tomorrow evening will be largely attended and a good time is looked for. A very fine program has been prepared.

Robert and Sarah Robertson, who were here attending the funeral of the late John Jones, Jr., returned to their home at Ontonagon yesterday.

Cards announcing the marriage of Charles Simmons and Miss Florence K. Sikorski, to take place Wednesday evening, the 13th inst., have been issued.

Charles Erickson, one of F. Braastad & Co.'s teamsters, held the lucky number which took the gold watch recently raffled off by John L. Ryan. The number of the ticket was 15.

The toboggan slide of the Ishpeming Snow Shoe club is in excellent condition and the members of the club have enjoyed several pleasant evenings there of late, despite the exceedingly cold weather.

Mrs. Welch, mother of Luke Welch, one of the oldest residents of the upper peninsula, died at her son's home at L'Anse Saturday last. The deceased was known to several of the older residents of Marquette county.

White Rose tent, No. 23, Independent Order of Rechabites, will give a public social at the home of Mrs. E. Buckett, 200 North street, Wednesday evening, the 20th inst. A musical and literary program is being arranged for the event.

W. L. Porter of Ontonagon, whose petition for a franchise for the establishment of a telephone system in this city will be presented to the city council at the regular meeting to be held tomorrow evening, will be in Ishpeming today and will quite likely appear before the council and furnish some information concerning the system tomorrow.

In the days when Brigham Young was directing the theocratic government of Utah Mormon missionaries in England converted a one-legged man near Dulwich. This man, now strong in faith, conceived the idea that the prophet in Salt Lake City might effect a miraculous restoration of the leg which he had lost in an accident.

Strange as it may seem, the prophet said he would willingly get him a new leg, but begged him first to consider the matter fully. This life, he told him, is but a vale of tears and as nothing compared to eternity. He was making the choice of going through life with one leg and having two after the resurrection, or having two legs through life and three after. The man found the prospect of being a human tripod through all eternity so unattractive that he accepted with resignation his present lot and excused the prophet from performing the miracle.

A peculiar substitute for window glass, known as "tectorium," is stated to have been for some time employed in Austria, Italy, Germany, Switzerland and Russia, as a covering for hot-houses, marquees, verandas, windows of factories, roofs of stores, etc. It is a special, insoluble, bichromated gelatin, translucent as opal glass and incorporated in wire gauze. It possesses, we are told, the transparency of opal glass, is tough and flexible, bends without breaking, does not dissolve in water and is not injured by frost. It is a bad conductor of heat, and becomes stronger, it is stated, the longer it is exposed to the air.

Don't Stop Tobacco.

How to Cure Yourself While Using It. The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is to sever a shock to the system, as tobacco, to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. Baco-Curo is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his private practice since 1873, without a failure, purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want, while taking Baco-Curo, it will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to permanently cure any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent interest. Baco-Curo is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew of smoke. Origin of Camlet.

Camlet was first made in England during the reign of Elizabeth. It was so called not, as some suppose, from its being made of camel's hair, but from the River Camlet, in Montgomeryshire, on which the first factory was located.

GOOD MANNERS AND MORALS.

Both Characterize the Naval and Military Society Life of the Capital.

There are two phases of social life at the national capital about which people in civil life know little or nothing.

These are the army social life at the barracks, Fort Meyer and the naval circle at the navy yard, says the Washington Post. In many respects they are similar, inasmuch as they constitute little worlds apart from the general society of Washington.

The life is free from the struggling jealousies and heart-burnings which characterize the outside world. There is a simplicity of life, sociability and refinement which makes an army or naval station peculiarly attractive. The hospitality is unbounded, people are expected to live within their means, they know exactly what they are going to get, and they gauge their expenditures accordingly.

It is more like a large family than a social circle. The bonds which bind army and naval men to each other are among the strongest. There is always a feeling of comradeship among them all which does not obtain in civil life. The high standards of character, courtesy and duty required officially has its effect upon social life.

Men cannot live beyond their pay, bent their creditors or slander brother officers without being brought to book and held to account. The code of manners and morals, therefore, is higher than it is in most social life and among commercial people. There are always a lot of friendly and informal little entertainments, in which people are thrown together in a charming way, free from the conventional buckram of the grand functions of society.

To young girls the life is particularly attractive and charming. They have the society and attention of well-bred and well-educated young fellows, who are always at their service and never fail to do everything in their power to contribute to their pleasure. The married couples have pretty, tasteful establishments, with all the modern comforts and conveniences and without the fear of burglars, tramps, book agents and thieves.

The relations among the families are kindly and neighborly, and in times of sickness and sorrow sympathy and assistance are prompt.

Of course, there is some friction at times over the assignment to quarters, or when some officer attempts to make himself disagreeable, or when some woman attempts to command the garrison and lay down the law to other officers' wives, or talk too much about other people's affairs. Offenders of this kind are generally promptly sat upon, and no arrogance or petulance goes unpunished.

The routine duty of the officers is not very hard and does not monopolize all their time. They have enough leisure for social life and time to be polite. There is none of the hurry and scurry, the anxiety and worry of civil life. As a rule the officers prefer duty with their regiments and batteries to so-called soft details in the departments. They leave that sort of ambition to those who pull for it.

SOME NEW MAXIMS.

Intended Especially for the Instruction of the Over Educated.

Education is an admirable thing, says the Philadelphia Record, but it is well to remember from time to time that nothing that is worth knowing can be taught.

Public opinion exists only where there are no ideas.

The English are always degrading truths into facts. When truth becomes a fact it loses all its intellectual value.

It is a very sad thing that nowadays there is so little useless information.

The only link between literature and the drama left to us in England at the present moment is the bill of the play.

In old days books were written by men of letters and read by the public. Nowadays books are written by the public and read by nobody.

Most women are so artificial that they have no sense of art. Most men are so natural that they have no sense of beauty.

Friendship is far more tragic than love. It lasts longer.

What is abnormal in life stands in normal relations to art. It is the only thing in life that stands in normal relations to art.

A subject that is beautiful in itself gives no suggestion to the artist. It lacks imperfection.

The only thing that an artist cannot see is the obvious. The only thing that the public can see is the obvious. The result is the criticism of the journalist.

Art is the only serious thing in the world. And the artist is the only person who is never serious.

To be really medieval one should have no body. To be really modern one should have no soul. To be really Greek one should have no clothes.

Dandyism is the assertion of the absolute modernity of beauty.

A Sharp Trick.

An amusing thing occurred while I was at Yokohama, says a recently returned traveler. An official notice of the government had been published in the Japanese newspapers saying that all Chinese who desired to depart must do so by a certain date, or else remain until the war was over. Thereupon, Ah Shing, a big clothing dealer of 10 Water street, called all the Chinese together, and they all agreed to go. They got their goods to the dock, and finally aboard steamer, with themselves, and the steamer pulled out. At the last minute it was found that the wealthy merchant had held his goods and slipped back to the city. He at once resumed business, having got rid of all opposition merchants, and is now rolling in riches because of the great business he is doing.

NO DOG IN HER HOUSE.

A Boarding-House Keeper Tells Why She Has Made This Rule.

Persons with dogs and other pets meet with a cold and clammy reception in New York boarding-houses.

"If I cannot keep my darling Xenophon, we'll move," protested the owner of the dog, who practiced the principle of "Love me, love my dog."

"Then you'll have to move," said the landlady, firmly. "I'm not keeping a dog kennel."

"How in the world they ever got that dog in here without my seeing it," said she, after the obnoxious Xenophon had been disposed of.

"What did he say?" "Say! Why, he abused us all as a set of brutes for keeping his dog locked up there, and gathered it up under his arm and took it upstairs as if it had been a piece of Dresden china!

STAGE COACH DAYS.

How People Traveled in the Middle States Forty Years Ago.

Forty-two years ago last New Year's day the last through United States mail arrived by stage coach from Baltimore at Wheeling, W. Va.

Mr. Reeside's father, the late James Reeside, was a pioneer in this travel. The son entered the same business when about fifteen years old.

Probably the most interesting of Mr. Reeside's experiences were in connection with the national road, or "old pike," projected by the national government in 1806.

"The stage-coach headquarters in Baltimore," said Mr. Reeside, "were at Old Bassett's hotel and the Fountain inn, which stood on the site of the Carrollton hotel."

"One of the great obstructions to travel along the road were large droves of cattle, sheep and hogs being driven from western plains to eastern markets."

Marquette's City Hall Dedicated to Public Use by Mayor Kaufman.

COUNCIL'S FIRST SESSION IN NEW CHAMBER.

Mayor Kaufman's Address Opening the New Building—Grand Army Hall a Brilliant Success.

ALL MARQUETTE WAS THERE.

Marquette's beautiful new City Hall was devoted to the uses of the municipality last night with ceremonies of democratic simplicity appropriate to a building which belongs to all the people.

The building was turned over to the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic for their annual ball. In thus permitting the men who offered their lives that the nation might live first to use the building the city paid a graceful compliment to them and gave honorable recognition of their services.

Shortly after 7 o'clock the people began to assemble. The aldermen's desks had been closed up on the mayor's to leave as much room as possible and in the space thus gained chairs were placed for ladies. Gentlemen other than members of the council and city officers were sent to the gallery, which was soon filled to overflowing.

On each alderman's desk was a large bunch of roses and carnations and a pink carnation for the buttonhole. The mayor's, recorder's and controller's desks were decorated with flowering plants and palms. These flowers were Mayor Kaufman's compliment to the aldermen and city officers. The council chamber, with its crimson carpet, mahogany furniture and wealth of flowers, was a beautiful picture under the radiance of the electric light.

The council and city officers, headed by the mayor, marched into the chamber and took their places shortly after 8 o'clock. The roll was called and Alderman Brown of the Eighth was the only absentee. Then the mayor read his dedicatory address, as follows:

MAJOR KAUFMAN'S ADDRESS: GENTLEMEN OF THE COMMON COUNCIL, FELLOW CITIZENS: LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Before proceeding with the regular order of business I think I may be pardoned for expressing a few thoughts suggested by this occasion.

The progress of a municipality, like the success of an individual, seems to be divided into periods and each period is marked by some important event which serves as a sort of a milestone showing the rate and character of advancement. Whatever may be said of the thrift of the individual who owns and occupies his own home may also be said concerning a city. Tonight as we begin living in our new home I think that every citizen of this city has cause to congratulate himself over the fact that at last we have a place which we can call our own and that we have passed a milestone in the city's progress.

When I first entered upon the duties of my office as mayor of this city I recommended the erection of a city building and the common council immediately passed the necessary ordinances setting the project in motion. At that time and since there has been some complaint about the extravagance of erecting such a building during hard times, but it has seemed clear to me that if ever the expenditure of money for the purpose of building has injured to the benefit of the merchant, the mechanic and all citizens of this city, it has been during the past eighteen months. On July 13, 1893, the voters of this city were asked to express their opinion of the rate and character of erecting a City Hall and less than one-seventh of the entire vote was against the project, thus showing that a very large majority of the taxpayers of the city favored building; and the building we have here now, therefore, is an expression of the judgment of most of the people of this city.

Since a building was needed and was to be built it seems to me almost providential that we were able to construct it during hard times, thereby giving employment to many of our citizens who would otherwise have been without work. Most of the labor which has entered into the building has been performed by Marquette men. The stone was quarried within the limits of this city. The brick were made by Marquette men. Marquette factories have prepared the inside finish, and so on from foundation to roof, outside and inside, the building today stands a monument to Marquette enterprise and skill. I cannot allow this opportunity to pass without thanking each and every member of the common council in the name of the people for the zeal you have shown in support of the idea of having a good building at the very least possible cost.

As I have said, the building stands as a monument to Marquette skill and enterprise and above and beyond all that it will ever be pointed to as a monument to the honor and integrity of Marquette's common council. In these days when the tongue of scandal is busy discussing the misdemeanors of men in high places, it is certainly refreshing to find a body of men serving a community without fee or reward, who are so far removed from rasqually that they are able to expend over $50,000 of the people's money without loss from any cause. It is a source of great pride to me, not only on account of the membership of this council but on my personal account, that I am able to say to the citizens of Marquette tonight: Here is our building, completed and paid for, and every penny which has been charged to its account has been honestly expended. We surely have value received for our investment and to this council and the preceding one our citizens should say "Well done, good and faithful servants." Our city officers are now or soon will be quartered under one roof and I am sure that the small additional cost to our tax payers on account of running expenses will be more than compensated for by the facility with which we will be able to conduct our business.

I was born in this city nearly thirty-three years ago, and during those years I have resided here and noted the city's progress. Some of those within the sound of my voice have lived here much longer.

but each one of us here, whether we have been residents of Marquette for a long or short period, know that all this growth and improvement which we have today has been accomplished in less than half a century, and we now have a city which has the reputation of being one of the gems of Michigan. While it is not my intention to make the first person singular a predominant feature of my remarks, still I cannot refrain from observing that the first school I ever attended was on the site now occupied by this beautiful building, and this location is therefore doubly hallowed in my heart, as it undoubtedly will be in the memory of many of the boys and girls who attended school with me. In adding this building to Marquette's treasures as one of the contributions of this generation, let us hope that succeeding generations will say of us, "They builded better than they knew."

Before closing I must say a few words in explanation of the manner of opening and dedicating this building. Several plans were suggested, each one having certain merits, but the plan which appealed most strongly to the judgment of a majority of the aldermen and in which I heartily concurred, was the idea of holding a regular council meeting in this beautiful chamber and inviting the public, and allowing the members of the Grand Army of the Republic to occupy the balance of the building for such purposes as they desired. I have heard but little criticism of this plan and knowing the liberality and good sense of most of our citizens I am sure that there will be no dissatisfaction over the privileges accorded these men, who in the hour of the nation's peril risked their lives and the lives of others in the great struggle for the preservation of the Union. These men today constitute only a small remnant of a noble and grand army that the world ever knew. Exposure during the war has left tell-tale marks on most of them; and on all the hand of time is writing the certain signs of the approaching day when "taps" will sound and all lights must be put out in camp. In view of these facts the most that we can do for these surviving heroes is only a slight recognition of the service they have rendered us. I am constrained to hope and believe that all our citizens will approve of the action of the council in allowing this building to be occupied tonight as stated.

Finally, gentlemen of the council, speaking for the executive and legislative branches of the city government, I declare this building duly opened and let us here and now devote it to the best interests of each and every citizen of this municipality, and let us hope that our affairs may be so managed in the future that rich and poor, strong and weak, may be equally protected, and that our local government may be "of the people, for the people and by the people."

The mayor's address was universally applauded and then the council sat down to routine business. The minutes were read and approved and a communication offering a compromise on certain disputed taxes was referred to the city attorney. The call of committees produced no business until the electric light commission was reached. Then Alderman Hoch, of the commission, submitted for the approval of the council the reduced prices for incandescent lamps noted in another column, and they were approved. An order to place are lamps at Third and Hemet streets and at the east end of Arch street was passed and another to purchase an electric light meter for the City Hall. Controller Royce submitted the usual list of bills and they were ordered paid and the street commissioner's report was read. Alderman Sherman introduced a resolution, which was passed, for the appointment of a committee of three, with the mayor as chairman, to confer with the water board and devise means for obviating the winter difficulties with the water supply. The mayor appointed such committee Aldermen Sherman, Holley and Schoel. A motion for adjournment to Monday Feb. 11, was then made but before it was put Captain C. D. Blanchard rose from his place in the gallery, asked the privilege of a few words and said:

"Whatever may be said of the old soldier, gentlemen of the council, it cannot be said that he is ungrateful. In the unavoidable absence of the commander of Albert Jackson post I desire to thank you, Mr. Mayor, for the words of praise which you have given to the veterans of the greatest war in history, and you, gentlemen of the council, for your permission to us to use this beautiful building for our annual ball this evening. We old soldiers are growing older and fewer day by day but our hearts are not insensible to kindly words and honorable recognition. In the name of Albert Jackson post and the Grand Army of the Republic of the state of Michigan, I thank you most gratefully and sincerely."

Ringling cheers greeted the conclusion of Captain Blanchard's little speech, which was entirely unexpected by all present. Then the council adjourned and after inspecting the room at their leisure the assembly company moved upstairs to the ball room. Assembly Hall had been beautifully decorated with flags and bunting and pictures of distinguished soldiers of the civil war. Hughes' Ideal orchestra occupied the stage between stacks of muskets and played a very pleasing program of concert music and patriotic airs for the first half hour. Four numbers of dance music preceded the grand march, which was formed at 10 o'clock and went through a maze of pretty figures under the skillful leadership of James T. Gray of Morse Hose company with Lieutenant A. D. Jacobs of the Marquette Rifles as second in command. The ball room was a beautiful and animated picture. The gallery was crowded with spectators and there were more people on the floor than could find room to dance. The dance program contained twenty-one numbers altogether and lasted until long after midnight. A large squad of the Marquette Rifles and another of Morse Hose company, all in full uniform, added color to the scene. It seemed as if all Marquette was there and bound to have a good time.

The health officer's and mayor's offices were used as cloak rooms for ladies and gentlemen respectively. Mrs. T. M. Donovan served a very nice supper to all who desired it, the tables being spread in the big police court room on the ground floor. First and last there were all of six hundred people in the building last night. The door sale of tickets for the ball showed the presence of nearly two hundred couples there.

The new City Hall is now open and in use. It is certainly a credit to the city and the progressive spirit of its people and will remain as a lasting monument to the administration of Mayor Nathan M. Kaufman and of the live and energetic members of the council who have backed him in the undertaking.

MOTHERS and those about to become mothers, should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription robs childbirth of its torture, terrors and dangers to both mother and child, by aiding Nature in preparing the system for parturition. Thereby "labor" and also the period of confinement are greatly shortened. It also promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child. During pregnancy, it prevents "morning sickness" and those distressing nervous symptoms from which so many suffer.

Tanks, Cattle Co., Texas. Dr. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—I took your "Favorite Prescription" previous to confinement and never did so well in my life. It is only two weeks since my confinement and I am able to do my work. I feel stronger than I ever did in six weeks before.

A MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE. South Bend, Pacific Co., Wash. Dr. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—I began taking your "Favorite Prescription" the first month of pregnancy and have continued taking it since confinement. I was only in labor a short time, and the physician said I got along unusually well.

We think it saved me a great deal of suffering. I was troubled a great deal with leucorrhoea also, and it has done a world of good for me. Yours truly, Mrs. W. C. BAKER
