ANOTHER EMERGENCY PLAN HAS BEEN SUGGESTED

Feb. 11.—The La Gascogne, the long overdue French steamship, limped into port tonight with three red lights hanging from her mizzen mast as a signal that she was disabled. The passengers were all on deck, some of them singing and most of them cheering as persons are wont to do when their minds are suddenly relieved from a heavy strain. For thirteen days of a voyage lasting sixteen days the ship has been disabled, one of the main piston rods having broken on the third day out from Harve. For sixteen hours on that fatal third day the vessel hove to while the break was being repaired. When the break was repaired the steamer proceeded on her way, under greatly reduced speed. When near the banks of Newfoundland the La Gascogne ran into a gale that increased to hurricane force.

While off Sable Island Feb. 5 the machinery broke down again and the steamer hove to again, this time for tomorrow without definite action. The Republicans say their course cannot be decided upon until the Democrats present a definite measure. They had been standing around with pale faces expecting any moment to hear the worst. When word came that the ship was safe for a moment a stillness reigned which was almost painful in its intensity, followed by a demonstration of the wildest joy. SWEET CONTENT.

Name to Gloriana.

Her real name was Gloriana Weston but everyone who knew her well sure he was going to say something to called her Sweet Content. It was to her father that she owed both the actual and the pet name. When she was born, he was in the middle of writing his monumental commentary on the "Facrie Queen," and wanted to name his daughter Britomart, but compromised matters with his horrified by consenting to the scarcely less remarkable title of Gloriana. And again, when she was about seven, and the ludicrous appropriateness of the stately name for the rosy, chubby child became every day more manifest, he came out into the garden one afternoon, fresh from his critical survey of seventeenth century poetry, and humming the refrain of a song which haunted his memory. "O sweet content! O sweet content!" he sang over and over again, and then laughed as his eye fell upon the little girl sitting soberly on the grass at her mother's feet, making daisy chains.

"Why, here is a name for the little one!" he cried. "Wife, you must never scold me again for calling her Then they rode forward steadily and Gloriana. From henceforth she is Sweet Content."

Charter Amendments Further Amended -They Want New Uniforms. Mixed on a Date

FAILED TO RECOVER

James H. Dobb of Iron Mountain came to Negaunee last week and entered legal proceedings against the local lodge, Ancient Order of Foresters, of which he was a member. He had a claim of $109 for sick benefits which the lodge refused to pay, and in order to recover the amount Mr. Dobb sued the society. The case, however, was decided against him on Saturday on the ground that the grievance should be settled by a board of arbitration appointed from among the members of the lodge.

It appears that last June the lodge adopted a resolution to the effect that all sick benefits should be declared off for a certain time owing to the depleted state of the treasury. All members of the lodge who were not present at the meeting were given notice of the adoption of the resolution, and it was supposed that all understood it. Mr. Dobb was taken sick after the resolution was passed and the society refused to pay

NOT SO HARD AS IT SEEMS.

The idea of being able to invent something strikes most people an being very difficult; this delusion the Company will dispel. It desires to get into the head of the public the fact that the things which seem so absurdly trivial that the average citizen would feel ashamed to bring them to the attention of the Patent Office are the most valuable. It is the simple things and small inventions that make the greatest money, and the complex ones are seldom profitable. Almost everybody at some time or another conceives an idea which if patented would be worth a fortune. Unfortunately such ideas are usually dismissed without thought. The simple inventions fike the car-window which could be easily slid up and down without breaking it e passenger's onck, the sauce-pan, collar-button, nut-lock, bottle-stopper, suspender-button, hook, buckle, and snow-shovel are things that every one sees some way of improving upon, and it is such simple inventions that bring the greatest returns to the author.

The prize we offer will be paid whether the application has been acted upon by the Patent Office or not. Every competitor must apply for a patent on his invention; through us, and whether he secures the prize or not, the inventor will have a valuable patent. Seni for circulars. No blow-off cock for cleaning the boilers; no check valve; no equalizing pipe between the boilers; bridge walls in furnaces too low and too thin; no automatic dampers on furnaces; no drip cups on radiators. It was especially recommended that automatic dampers be put on and the bridge walls put in proper shape. Without automatic dampers the boilers could not be safely left alone with fires going for any length of time. Proper bridge walls would effect a great saving of fuel. Mr. Sink was asked to state the cost of the improvements and did so in a general way. In response to a question by Alderman Hennessy he said that it was certainly usual to put on automatic dampers and that he should do so whether they were specified or not.

This brought up the question as to whether the sub-contractors for the heating plant had done their work according to specifications and an inquiry as to that document. Controller Royee stated that all the correspondence relating to the heating plant was carried on by Lovejoy & Demar and that he had not been able to get a copy of the specifications for this, or any other sub-contract, though he had repeatedly asked for them. It was clicited that the contractors for the carting plant admitted their liability as to certain of the omitted attachments and the controller was authorized to have the deficiencies supplied, getting as much as he could out of the contractors.
