SILVER MEN ARE STAYERS.

Will Not Drop Agitation Until White Metal Is Restored to Proper Place.

SENATOR VEST OF MISSOURI EXPRESSES VIEWS.

Prospect for International Monetary Conference Not Bright—Bond Issue an Outrage.

ARE IN IT TO THE LAST.

CARLSBAD, Aug. 13.—[Copyrighted by Associated Press.]—"The silver question will never be dropped in America until free coinage is passed," said Senator Vest of Missouri today, replying to questions put to him concerning the Missouri, Mississippi and Iowa conventions.

"The people in the east," he continued, "believe it will be dropped as business revives but the overwhelming sentiment in the west and south is in favor of free coinage. I believe it will surely be passed in time. What result its passage will be, I am unable to predict."

Senator Vest was then asked to explain the action in Kentucky and Iowa and if the feeling was universal. In reply he said: "I cannot express an opinion regarding Iowa until I know how the convention was constituted. If it was similar to that of Kentucky, composed of state officials and office holders, it is no criterion of public sentiment. They would naturally coincide with Cleveland and Carlisle."

In regard to the prospects of an international monetary conference the senator remarked: "It is generally conceded that the other powers are waiting the action of England. But from all accounts England will not alter the gold standard."

Referring to the outlook at home the senator stated: "The gold reserve is steadily decreasing and the treasury will likely be obliged to make another bargain with the syndicate. It is regarded as an outrage that the government should be obliged to pay a bonus of eleven millions to the syndicate in order to prevent gold shipments. The syndicate contract expires in October and there is nothing to prevent them from again forcing a sale of more bonds or let the obligations of the United States go to protest."

SANTIAGO IN A PANIC.

Gomez Drawing Near and Spaniards Afraid to Leave City.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—In an interview General De Quesada, secretary of the revolutionist party in the United States, says: "It will not be surprising if General Campos did carry out his oft-repeated threat of throwing up command in Cuba. Information received today tells of the success of General Gomez and the daily advance of his forces on Santiago. The city is in a panic and the Spanish troops are afraid to venture beyond its limits. From Madrid, I am informed, the reserves of 1891 are so disgusted at being ordered to Cuba that the government is afraid of mutiny. The reserves, Quesada said, declare they will join the revolutionary forces when they are disembarked in Cuba."

MADRID, Aug. 13.—The Gazette publishes an order calling twelve thousand men into active service in September to fill vacancies due to the Cuban war.

HUNDREDS WERE KILLED.

Bulgarians Attack Mohammedan Village and Slaughter Inhabitants.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—A dispatch to the Times from Sofia says: "According to news received from a Turkish official source about five hundred Bulgarians attacked the Mohammedan village of Dospat, across the Turkish frontier, before dawn on Saturday. The Bulgarians then fired the village and slaughtered the inhabitants indiscriminately as they rushed from the houses. It is stated that several hundred were killed."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 13.—A dispatch from Chisnevidi, Bulgaria, says that a band of about one hundred and fifty insurgents have attacked and burned villages in the Rhodope district east of Hevrokop. Fierce fighting is said to have taken place and many persons are reported killed on both sides.

IN HELPLESS CONFUSION.

Chinese Government Incapable of Exercising Effective Authority.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—A Times-Tien Tsin dispatch says: "The Chinese government is in a state of helpless confusion and is incapable of any decisive action or of exercising any effective authority. The results will probably prove serious unless the foreign powers take precautions."

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—A World's Foo Chow dispatch says that the diplomatic party to investigate the Ku Cheng massacre has started upon its mission. The World cable adds: "All foreigners in the inland provinces have been ordered to come to Foo Chow. Five participants in the Ku Cheng outrages have been arrested and will be tried forthwith."

CARLISLE NOT A CANDIDATE.

Has Said He Did Not Aspire to Presidency and Means It.

DULUTH, Aug. 13.—A local paper publishes a statement made to a reporter who called his attention to the statement by Justice Field that Secretary Carlisle could have the seat in the supreme bench caused by the death of Justice Jackson but that he would have to give up his presidential aspirations, in which the secretary said that it would be indelicate for him to discuss the vacancy, adding somewhat testily: "It seems to me that a man's word should go for something, but it does not seem to with some people. I have denied I have any presidential aspirations and it is scarcely necessary to deny it again."

UNDER THE HAMMER.

Whisky Trust Property Will Be Sold Today.

RAY VIEW, Mich., Aug. 13.—Judge Woods this afternoon refused to grant an appeal in the whisky trust case and so General John McNulta, receiver of the trust, will stand on the postoffice steps in Chicago tomorrow and dispose at public sale the seventeen distilleries and the company's office building at Ryeview. The upset price bid will be $9,800,000 for the lot and the reorganization committee will be the purchaser at that figure. Two day's exhaustive argument had been listened to by Judge Woods. The attorneys for Greenhut and Morris fought every inch of ground and used Olmstead's holdings of stock as the last vantage ground from which to possibly block the forthcoming sale.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Justice O'Brien of the supreme court has denied the motion for an injunction restraining the reorganization committee of the whisky trust from purchasing the property advertised to be sold tomorrow.

AN OLD FASHIONED WELL.

Was Cause of Collapse of New York Building.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The cause of the collapse of the Ireland building, in which fifteen lives were lost, came to light today when workmen engaged in clearing away the debris in the cellar uncovered an old fashioned well under the foundation. It was situated directly under the central pillar of the structure, the undermining of which precipitated the disaster. The coroner and several building experts examined the well, but would give no opinion on the matter. One of the building experts said, however, that neither the contractor nor the officers of the building department could have been unaware of the fact that the well was there, nor of the fact that its filling was too soft.

DEATH MARRIED PLEASURE.

Delegates to U. R. K. of P. Encampment Dies of Heart Disease.

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., Aug. 13.—The interstate encampment of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, centered today in the grand parade which occurred this afternoon and which was the finest civic demonstration in the history of Iowa Pythianism. Over a thousand knights were in line, mostly uniformed and the principal officers mounted. The band was in force and several knights were prostrated. A Mr. Brown, a visiting delegate, fell dead at the dinner table from heart disease. The grand lodge proper begins tomorrow morning and from one to two hundred delegates are expected. Competitive prize drills will be a feature in the afternoon.

PFEFFER DISCARDS SILVER.

Senator Now Advocating Currency Based on Land Values.

EMPORIA, Kan., Aug. 13.—Senator Peffer has written a letter to J. D. Holden of this city in which he comes out strongly in favor of a currency based upon land values alone. He has discarded silver and the sub-treasury plan and writes that he believes the chief trouble with the country is the interest. He calls attention to the fact that the average rate of interest is 7 per cent. and states that the net average savings of the people for the past forty years has not been over 3 per cent. He has declared against free coinage and is against the entire silver movement. He will take the stump against it this fall.

WILL USE STEAM.

Fox River Valley Manufacturers Putting in Plants.

APPLETON, Wis., Aug. 13.—Since the issue of the government order prohibiting the use of water from the Fox river for hydraulic power all the mills in the Fox river valley have been exerting all their resources to provide themselves with steam power. The result of these exertions begins to be apparent. A number of mills are now running wholly or in part by steam and others are installing plants. Within thirty days the mills of the valley will be able to turn out the full product regardless of the water power though the cost of production will be greatly increased.

FIRE INTO THE CROWD.

Negro Worsted in Scrap Later Uses Gun With Deadly Effect.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13.—A fight occurred Sunday at Cairo, Ill., between an unknown negro and Lou Davis, colored captain of the Watch. The negro got the worst of it. He boarded a train, came here, concealed himself on the levee and when the steamer arrived this morning opened fire as the passengers and members of the crew were coming down the gang plank. Lou Davis was fatally shot; Frank Bennett, a white roustabout, was seriously wounded and John Bell, steward, and William Thomas, a colored roustabout, slightly wounded. In the excitement the shooter escaped.

No Action on Silver.

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 13.—The Kansas Republicans will not hold a convention this year, as has been projected, to take action on the silver question. This decision was reached tonight at a meeting of the state central committee, which voted against this act.

Henry of Navarre Sold.

SARATOGA, Aug. 13.—August Belmont has purchased Henry of Navarre of Byron McClelland for $25,000 and Dorlan of J. W. Rogers for $7,500. He proposes to confine his racing operations to America, hoping to elevate the standard of the turf.

HANGING OVER A VOLCANO.

Omaha on the Verge of a Crisis as Result of the Police Row.

INDICATIONS POINT TO CONFLICT THIS MORNING.

Present Commission Has Replied to A. P. A. Board's Manifesto Denying Its Authority.

WHAT WILL TODAY BRING?

OMAHA, Aug. 13.—No demonstration was made today in the police trouble, but plans were matured for the A. P. A. board to try and exercise its authority at 10 o'clock tomorrow, in accordance with the notice served by it on the old board last night.

OMAHA, Aug. 13.—Tonight it is evident that a serious conflict over the police squabble will occur at 10 o'clock tomorrow when the A. P. A. commission will attempt to take forcible possession of the city property. The police commission now in authority replied tonight to the A. P. A. manifesto and declared that while they deplored a possible conflict they were legally conducting the affairs of the police department of Omaha and if the A. P. A. commission disputes their authority they have recourse in the courts to get possession.

The fire and police force members all received letters today to visit the office of the A. P. A. board tomorrow and recognize their authority or be discharged. A few of the members of the forces will probably do so, but the majority will ignore the letters and act under the present commission. Chief of Police White has replied to the A. P. A. commission, refusing to recognize any authority but that established by the state law.

While everything on the surface seems quiet tonight there is a strong undercurrent of excitement and it is believed a crisis is at hand in the conflict between the contending factions. In the event of any disturbance the charter constitutes the mayor chief in control of the police, his authority over-riding that of the police commissioners. Both forces could therefore be under the mayor's control. Efforts are being made tonight by the best element of the city to bring about a peaceable termination of the quarrel.

ANOTHER ELECTRIC COMBINE.

It Will Fight the Westinghouse-Baldwin People.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The World tomorrow will say: A new and gigantic electric combine has just been formed to fight the new Westinghouse-Baldwin combination. It includes the Yerkes railroad people and the Siemens and Halske Electric companies. The combination means the entry into the American market of a big foreign electric supply manufacturing concern in affiliation with the Widener-Elkins syndicate of street car lines in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Windows in business houses and dwellings were broken by hail. The corn crop in that region was totally destroyed. Culverts and railroad right-of-way were washed out and trains cannot pass Belle Plaine.

MARQUETTE, MICH., AUGUST 14. Entered as mailmatter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

GULLY has been chosen speaker of the house of commons of the new British parliament. A man who can obtain political preferment despite the handicap of such a name must have something in him.

The treasury's gold reserve is sinking rapidly under the drain upon it of repeated withdrawals for export. This is what we have anticipated would happen when the Morgan-Belmont syndicate's contract to protect it neared its expiration. By the first of October it is more than likely that the reserve will be so low that another sale of bonds to replenish it will be necessary. How much "protection" of this kind do the people of this country want, at ten million dollars a protect?

The Iron Ore in its last number intimates that the mining companies at Ishpeming intend to soon undertake shipping ore from their stockpiles. It seems to THE MINING JOURNAL that the striking miners are about as much interested as the companies in having the stocked ore at the mines shipped. Every ton of ore that remains in stock after the season of navigation closes will take the place of a ton that might be mined for next season's shipment if the stocked ore should be sent to market this year. Besides, many of the mines have but a limited amount of space for stocking ore and unless the stocked ore is shipped they will not be able to do any work during the fall and winter. The striking miners should give these facts thoughtful consideration.

The Bulletin, issued by the American Iron and Steel association, thinks the next election should be fought on the tariff issue, and that the Republican party should stand for a restoration of the McKinley law in the main, but admits that "the reciprocity feature of the law was a bad blunder, and so was the repeal of the sugar duties and the substitution of a sugar bounty," against both of which features of the law that publication claims it protested at the time the bill was under consideration. "Reciprocity is free trade as far as it goes, and we do not believe in free trade," avers The Bulletin, "and a sugar bounty is offensive in its very spirit and essence because it is class legislation." The Bulletin is quite right in its position regarding reciprocity. It is modified free trade, pure and simple. As to a sugar bounty, The Bulletin stands where THE MINING JOURNAL has always stood. The sugar clause of the McKinley tariff was viciously bad, for by repealing the duty on raw sugar and leaving a duty on refined it made the sugar trust's opportunity, while the bounty of two cents a pound to domestic producers was brazen robbery of the treasury for the benefit of a few sugar raisers.

OUR FAMOUS SHERIFF.

When Britton came to Marquette after having been forcibly persuaded to leave Ishpeming by some of the striking miners who foolishly took that rash method of expressing their dissatisfaction with the reports of the strike which he sent to his paper, the Detroit News, he called on Sheriff Broad and demanded protection from that official. This was on the Saturday following his expulsion from Ishpeming. The sheriff promised to accompany him to Ishpeming on the following Monday and protect him.

On Sunday Mr. Britton, in company with the representatives of the Detroit Tribune and Free Press, again called on the sheriff to assure himself that the promised protection would be given him. He found that the sheriff's arden had cooled over night, and that doughty officer flatly refused to go with him to Ishpeming. Britton then showed Mr. Broad a copy of the dispatch he had received from Governor Rich, assuring him that the whole power of the state would be put forth to protect him in the discharge of his legitimate duties. The copy was not dated. Noticing this, the sheriff assumed to regard it as a "fake" dispatch. "What sort of a bluff is this you are making?" he inquired; "this ain't no telegram." Mr. Britton explained that it was a copy, and invited the sheriff to call up the Western Union office and verify it if he doubted its authenticity. But all attempts to persuade the sheriff to go with the correspondent to Ishpeming proved unavailing, and Britton went up alone the next morning.

He was not molested or interfered with in any way. Later in the day the sheriff followed him, and when he found everything quiet and peaceable his courage rose to the occasion. That evening he invited Britton to take a walk about town with him and the two paraded the streets together. But it is a mooted question whether the sheriff went along to protect the newspaper man or desired the latter's company as a protection for himself. At all events they were not interfered with, the men who had made the demonstration against Britton the preceding Saturday night hav-

CHASED BY AN ELEPHANT.

Miraculous Escape of a Hunter in the Indian Jungle.

The author of "Gun, Rifle and Hound" narrates an adventure which befell him and two companions, "Will" and "F—" in Ceylon. "One of the most miraculous escapes ever known in elephant-shooting," he calls it. F—, it should be said, was a famous killer of elephants, and had brought with him a native tracker well used to the business; "a little wizened-up creature, but absolutely fearless." They were in search of a notorious rogue elephant, which had killed so many men and done so much other mischief that the government had put a reward of fifty dollars upon his head.

We started early in the morning, and were soon on the fresh tracks of the brute. He was evidently moving pretty fast. The tracker followed the trail almost at a trot, and it was rather hot work keeping him in sight. At last it was obvious that we were close upon the elephant, which was heading more and more into the thickest jungle.

"Nasty, dangerous brute," whispered F—; "we shall hear him before we see him." A minute or two more and the tracker stopped and pointed to a branch which was still oscillating violently. The elephant could not be a minute ahead of us. We all stopped and looked intently among the thick trees. With a scream of rage the rogue crashed out at us. We all fired. I think the tracker ran toward Will, the elephant close after him. Will fired again, and turned to run. The tracker had slipped out of the way. F— and I ran after the elephant, reloading as we ran. He was gaining rapidly on our poor friend.

"Round a tree!" shouted F—, "round a tree!" Will made for the nearest one, the elephant not two lengths behind him, and we still forty yards behind.

To our horror we saw Will catch his foot in something and go down at full length. F— growled with despair, and dropping on my knee I fired two barrels uselessly into the brute's hind-quarters.

Then came the miracle. Whether the blood from half a dozen wounds had blinded the elephant, or Will's sudden disappearance into the long grass had deceived him, I cannot say, but half stopping, he turned and made off into the jungle, where we lost him, after following him for hours.

DWARFING DOGS.

Taken from Their Mothers in Infancy They Are Bred to Lilliputian Size.

Specialists and doctors who take an interest in the progress of alcoholism, its injurious action on generation and the part it plays in degeneracy will be glad to add another branch to their study in the shape of the falsification of dogs, says the New York World. For falsification of dogs exists in Paris and thrives, just as well as the imitations of Japan ware, old furniture and pictures of Corot, Teniers and Rubens. Ask for a bottle of Chartreuse in any grocery store of Paris and you will be served with a bottle of Chartreuse, and as to truffles, diamonds, champagne and coffee, imitations of these have obtained too lofty a station for them to care for criticism of their products.

It was generally supposed that the animal reign had not yet been tampered with, so that most persons will be surprised that the French have recently discovered a method of producing tiny dogs, which, when offered for sale on the boulevards or in the Bois de Boulogne, fetch good prices on account of their rarity. Like all other callings, competition is about to cut down the profits of the originators of the idea and next summer visitors are promised any number of lilliputian dogs at an insignificant price.

This is how the diminutive animal is produced: Snatched from its mother's breast when it is but a few hours old, it is put on an alcoholic diet instead of a lactical diet. When it reaches a certain age alcohol under different form constitutes almost the sole diet of the animal. The young dogs do not die, but what is far more important, they do not develop and appear to be wasting away continually. They soon cease to grow entirely. By coupling these products the lilliputian animal is obtained after two or three generations. What a terrible lesson for drunkards and absinthe consumers!

QUEER USE OF A CIGAR.

Story Which Shows a Sea Captain's Presence of Mind.

A good story is told of a sea captain who died not long ago and who was formerly in command of a ship in which passengers were carried from London to Lisbon. On one occasion, says The Bits, the ship caught fire and the passengers and crew were compelled to take hurriedly to the boats. The captain remained perfectly cool throughout all the confusion and fright of the debarkation, and at last everyone except himself was got safely into the boats.

By the time he was ready to follow the passengers were almost wild with fear and excitement. Instead of hurrying down the ladder the captain called out to the sailors to hold on a minute, and taking a cigar from his pocket, coolly lighted it with a bit of burning rope which had fallen from the rigging at his feet. Then he descended with deliberation and gave the order to push off.

"How could you stop to light a cigar at such a moment?" he was asked afterward, when some of the passengers were talking over their escape. "Because," he answered, "I saw that if I did not do something to divert the minds of those in the boat there was likely to be a panic, and overcrowded as it was, there was danger of the boat being upset. The act took but a moment, but it attracted the attention of everybody. I was not nearly so unconcerned as I seemed to be, but was in reality in a fever of excitement. My little plan succeeded. You all forgot yourselves because you were thinking of my curious behavior, and we got off safely."

LET THE DOG LIVE.

It Helps the Doctor to Tell Whether You Kill the Dog or Let Him Live.

"If you are bitten by a dog, don't kill the dog, but take every precaution to let him live for a few days at least." Prof. Logan, chief of the Pasteur institute in Chicago, made this oracular statement to a reporter for the Tribune, and he is supposed to be an authority on "dogs that bite and what to do with them."

"It is a great mistake people make," he said, "to start in at once to kill a dog that has bitten them or have it killed for them. It has been proven scientifically and is admitted now by all physicians who are posted that hydrophobia is not a spontaneous disease and cannot be given to a person by a dog bite unless the dog is mad when it causes the wound. The dog's condition, if it be mad, will be manifested within two days, or two weeks at the latest. By permitting it to live, therefore, the physicians can tell definitely whether the person bitten is liable to have hydrophobia. If the dog goes mad within that time they know the person bitten may be inoculated with the same dread disease and may have the same fate. If the dog does not go mad then there is no fear of hydrophobia and the wound can be treated as any other wound would be.

By killing the dog you destroy the chance of certainty as to the fate of the person bitten and leave the imagination full run to fear the worst results when it might have been possible to know in advance that hydrophobia was impossible.

"Of course," continued the doctor, "there are exceptions to this rule that will suggest themselves to persons. When a dog is so vicious that to leave it alive is to endanger other people then the first duty would be to destroy it unless it could be kept carefully secluded where the possibility of harm would be removed. But even in such a case where the dog is killed it should be done by a physician, who should keep a portion of the brain, by which can be determined whether the dog had rabies or not."

AMBITIOUS WOMEN

MAKE HEROES OF MEN.

She Will Brave Anything for the Man She Loves.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

When an ambitious woman loves a man she will spur him to heroic efforts. She will dare with him the rigors of the frozen North, and encourage him in daring dangers almost unmountainable.

Women are by nature ambitious according to their physical and mental strength.

Hope and ambition come with perfect health, but vanish before sickness and despair.

American women are, unfortunately, particularly subject to those painful female diseases that are the cause of so much hopelessness and misery.

Could all women realize the undeniable fact that they suffer unnecessarily, how much brighter life would be!

Lydia E. Pinkham devoted her life to the study of female diseases and their cause; and she discovered in the Vegetable Compound an absolute remedy.

Women who rely more upon their own natural common-sense, rather than on the theories of their physicians, write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and are soon restored to health.

Here is a living example: "Four months ago I was unable to stand on my feet. I had falling of the womb, kidney trouble, and inflammation of the bladder; the backache and bearing-down pains were dreadful. My physician could give me no relief.

A friend said, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Well, I did. Oh, if every suffering woman would do the same, they would be cured, cured absolutely and entirely, as I am!" Mrs. Wm. M. MOREY, 20 Seymour St., Pittsfield, Mass.

ATLANTIC MINE STRIKE.

Men Demand Slight Increase Over Amount of Wages Under Recent Advance.

ALL WORK AT MINE AND MILL SUSPENDED.

Hancock Had the Circus After All. Duluth-Calumet Ball Game Today.

COPPER COUNTRY NEWS NOTES.

The strike now on at the Atlantic mine is an unfortunate thing for both the company and the employees, as it was thought best by the management to suspend all labor on surface and at the mills when it became impossible to get the rock out of the mine to keep the mills going.

No formal demand was made at the Atlantic, however, until about two weeks ago, when a trammer called upon Mining Captain Trethewey, stating that he had been appointed a committee of one to ask for a raise in pay.

The matter was immediately referred to the eastern office. Last week Mr. Stanton was again waited on by the committee and he was told that an answer was expected daily, and that as soon as it was received the men would be notified.

On Sunday there was a meeting of trammers and miners and on Monday morning the men repaired to the dry house but refused to go underground when the whistle blew.

About noon on Monday a notice was posted in the dry signed "trammers and laborers," formulating the demands of the underground laborers other than miners. These demands were two in number, the first being that all underground labor be paid $40 per month, and the second that the underground men not be compelled to work later than 5 o'clock on either shift.

Later in the afternoon a notice from the miners was furnished the agent. The miners, who went out with the trammers before making any demands, ask that instead of a raise of 10 per cent, they be given fifty cents per fathom increase in the price of stopping.

The men state that they want the increase asked in order to enable them to earn an average of $50 per month net. They are, however, already doing better than that. While some miners make but $40 a month, others earn $75.

Wages are higher than it has been generally understood were paid at the Atlantic, and are fully up to if not a dollar or two above the average paid in Houghton county.

WITHOUT HORSES.

Carriages That Are Propelled by Motor Power.

Road Tests in France for the Purpose of Bringing Out the Best Type of Machine for Vehicles.

One year ago there was so much interest in these horseless carriages that a race was arranged between them from Paris to Rouen, the first prize to be given to the carriage which should excel in speed, safety, manageability and economy.

The starters were of all shapes and sizes, from neat victorias to great coaches for eight and ten passengers.

The next four to finish were also propelled by the same motor. The prize was given to the first petroleum motor to finish, and this carriage had covered the distance, eighty miles, in five hours and forty minutes, including two stops of fifteen minutes each.

In these petroleum engines it must not be understood that petroleum is used as a fuel for the production of steam. The principle is quite different, as this Daimler motor is the utilization of gas explosions produced at regular intervals.

FROM NATION'S CAPITAL.

Gold Is Withdrawn for Shipment but Syndicate Makes the Loss Good.

A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE KU CHENG RIOTS.

Changes in Weather Bureau Service. No News at Japanese Legation of Reported Cabinet Crisis.

PROTECTING THE GOLD RESERVE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—A telegram was received at the treasury department today from New York stating that $900,000 in gold had been withdrawn for export to Europe. This was followed by another dispatch stating that the Morgan syndicate had deposited gold in exchange for legal tenders to the amount of $1,350,000, which left the gold reserve at the close of the day's business $101,933,715.

INTERESTS WILL BE PROTECTED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Advice has been received from Minister Denby that he is consulting with the British and China authorities for the appointment of a joint commission to make a full investigation of the riots at Ku Cheng. At the state department the opinion is expressed that United States interests will be fully protected on the commission and that Denby so far has done all possible to bring about redress. The commission will start in a few days from Foo Chow for Ku Cheng.

NO NEWS OF JAPANESE CRISIS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—No information has been received at the Japanese legation in confirmation or denial of the report that a cabinet crisis exists in Japan. The report of the expected dissolution was a surprise and aroused great interest. Members of the legation admit there has been dissatisfaction expressed among the opposition politicians concerning the recession from the terms of the original treaty, and it is surmised that if there are any cabinet changes they will be due to this criticism.

THE WEATHER BUREAU'S POLICY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Important changes in the weather bureau service throughout the United States were ordered today. They include several removals of observers, the suspension of Observer Stuller at Baker City, Ida., on charges of alleged partisanship and a dozen or more transfers between the various stations. The policy of the bureau as outlined today will be to exact inclusive service from its employees. It is officially stated here that hereafter all observers must represent the bureau solely, and prompt action will be taken in cases of alleged partisanship. Dismissals are ordered on grounds of unsatisfactory work.

SILVER MEN ARE ARRIVING.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—There were a number of arrivals on the afternoon and late night trains to the silver conference, which opens tomorrow, and it is expected by some of the most enthusiastic advocates of the white metal that upwards of a hundred delegates will be on hand. Illinois and Missouri are well represented. Those from the former state include W. H. Henrichsen, secretary of state and chairman of the Democratic state committee; George W. Fithian, John A. Barnes and George M. Lechner, members of the legislature; ex-representative McNeely and C. R. Tuttle of Chicago, and J. W. Yontis, secretary of the railroad and warehouse commission.

ANENT THE MORA CLAIM.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Nathaniel Patre, who is Mora's attorney, when shown a Madrid dispatch announcing that Spain has decided to pay the Mora claim in September without interest expressed gratification but said he did not believe the United States would agree to the settlement of the claim without interest. "To do that would," said he, "be to flatterly ignore the instructions of congress, which were to collect both the principal and interest."

GENERAL COPPINGER WILL RETURN.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—General Coppinger, who is at Jackson's Hole with four troops of cavalry, today notified headquarters that he would return eastward, leaving two troops at Jackson's Hole under the command of Major Chase. His proposed route will carry him through the Shoshone Indian country to Fort Washakie, and it is presumed he desires to satisfy himself that all is quiet there before returning to his headquarters at Omaha.

RANSOM "NEVER SAID A WORD."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The following telegram was received by Captain Barnes today from Minister Ransom in reply to one calling Ransom's attention to the report that he had given offense to Mexico by an interview criticizing the conduct of Mexican officials in extradition matters between Mexico and the United States.

"Weldon, N. C.—All a mistake. There is not one word of truth in any statement reflecting on Mexico officially. (Signed) M. W. Ransom."

IRISH LEGISLATORS MEET.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—At a meeting of the Irish parliamentary party today Justin McCarthy was unanimously re-elected chairman. The whips of the party—Eamond, Tanner, Donnellan and Tuohy—were also re-elected. Contrary to expectations the meeting was fairly harmonious, the subjects on which conflicts were expected being postponed.

Two Iowa Men Forcibly Resist an Attempt by Sheriff to Evict Them.

DISCHARGED SHOT GUN AT OFFICER'S HEAD.

Load Missed Him but Landed in Crowd of Children—Several of Them Will Die.

NARROWLY ESCAPED LYNCHING.

IOWA CITY, Aug. 13.—John Smith and his brother, Dr. George Smith, attempted to prevent Sheriff Jones from evicting the latter at Frank Pierce's, near here. John Smith discharged a shot gun full at the sheriff's head. The officers face was scorched but the load struck five children playing across the street. The injured are: BESSIE CUPP, aged five. ELSIE CUPP, aged twelve. CHARLES PETER, aged fifteen. ERICK YAGER, aged thirteen. HERBERT YAGER, aged eleven.

Bald Establishes State Competitive Record for Mile Open. MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 13.—The feature of the day at the national circuit bicycle races this afternoon was the winning of class B, one mile open, by E. C. FRUSTRATED THE PLOT.

Attempt to Wreck Prince Ferdinand's Train Unsuccessful. LONDON, Aug. 13.—The Times correspondent at Vienna says that a telegram received from Buda Pest states an attempt was made to wreck Prince Ferdinand's train. The police heard of the plot and occupied Steinbruck and Fraustadt stations and caused the train to make a detour to avoid the Buda Pest station.

COURTESY TOWARD WOMEN.

London Far Beyond New York in Recognition of Her Efforts. The international convention, recently held in London, of women interested in the temperance work, was a notable demonstration of the deepening interest which women are taking in all reformatory movements. Probably, says Leslie's Weekly, there has never been assembled in Great Britain a gathering so truly representative of the Christian and philanthropic sentiment of the enlightened women of the world as this, in which one hundred and fifty American delegates actively participated.

Coming Down in the World.

History furnishes but very few instances of persons of exalted station who have freely renounced their titles and their fortunes to do the garb of a simple workman. The duke of Gauleira, lately deceased, is a case in point. At the death of his father, he firmly refused to assume his title, but dressed himself as a workman and took the simple name of Ferrar. His mother tried her utmost to make him listen to reason; all her arguments proved unavailing. Persuaded that it would be foolish to bequeath the large family inheritance to such an eccentric character, she left the greater part of it to charitable institutions.

A VALUABLE PEBBLE.

The Accidental Good Fortune of a Hunter in India. Precious stones are still numerous in certain districts of India, and occasionally a fine gem is found by a sportsman or traveler. A young English officer, returning from an unsuccessful hunt on the estate of a petty chief, picked up a stone which lay in his path, and idly threw it against a rock. It broke in a dozen pieces and out fell a brilliant pebble. The Englishman picked it up, looked at it, and was about to throw it away, but changed his mind. "I'll keep it," said he, "as a memento of a day's hunt when I didn't shoot so much as a rat." Some days later, in Bombay, while having his watch repaired, he showed the stone to the jeweler, and asked its worth. "I'll give you twenty pounds for it," said the jeweler, after a careful examination. Had he offered a shilling he might have been told to take the stone and keep the shilling, but the offer of twenty pounds aroused the officer's suspicions, so he responded, with a laugh: "I dare say you would give me that and a trifle more, but I'm going to take it to England." He did so, and sold his "pebble" in London for $15,000.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

DINNER WAS ALL READY, OF GENERAL INTEREST.

But Sad to Say Neither Appetite Nor Guests Were Forthcoming. "I see you've forgotten that door mat again," observed young Mr. Lambkin, as his wife opened the door for him; "it seems that nobody around here does remember things but myself. Why, what are you all dressed up for?"

"The dinner party, near of course. The dinner will be ready in half an hour and oh, it will just be lovely! I'm sure your friends will be surprised to find what a nice little house-keeper you have married. Will they soon be here?"

"A dinner party; who?" "Yes, indeed, am I not a nice little wife to suggest a dinner party exclusively for your men friends, when so many wives object to a single guest?"

"I—that is—Oh, yes, yes!" "I hope they will all be in full dress; I shall have the front window shades all drawn up so those horrid people across the way who have never called can see the whole thing. Why, how tired and queer you look!"

"Do feel queer; perhaps I'm going to be ill." "Oh, no, dear; you remember the breakfast you ate. You had better go and dress now. Oh, dear, I'm so tired; I've had such a time with the dinner." Mr. Lambkin's eyes gleamed. "I'll run over and telephone for 'em not to come," he volunteered.

"Indeed you will not; it would break my heart to have no guest when I have such a lovely dinner ready. You—you will not think anything of the bills, will you, dear? And what we don't eat to-night will last several days, you know."

"Yes—yes, very nice. I'm sure I—I like warmed over salad and—" "Don't be silly, Algy. Oh, dear, I hope your friends will like me; I've made a list of things I must and must not talk of at the table. Let me see, where is it? Oh, yes, during the soup course the silver question; very suitable, you see, since the tureen is silver—no, that is what I'm not to talk about. Goodness, I'm all mixed up; when the roast comes on, mention Browning and quote—did you speak, dear?"

"No—no, it's no matter at all." "Isn't it a clever idea? But, oh, Algy, the cook says she used all my cream, by mistake, to feed the cat, and I can't get any more. I forgot to put my vinegar in the salad dressing, too—do you think anyone will miss it? And I was so busy making a frosting for my cake that I let the cake burn; the cook made more cake, but by that time the frosting was too hard to use. Mamma happened in awhile ago, though, and she's taken charge of the kitchen now."

"Is your mother here?" There was a queer sinking in his voice. "Yes, indeed, and she says it was so good of me to get up a dinner for your friends and she hopes you will appreciate it and you must expect it to cost a little money. Did you speak?"

But her husband was looking wildly out of the window and did not seem to hear. "Don't you think they are a little late, dear?" she asked anxiously. "No, not at all. They—they might not be able, you know; business men often—"

"Oh, they will be only too glad to come. To poor old bachelors, living in hotels and restaurants, this peaceful glimpse of home life will seem like paradise. Oh, Algy, what if the cook gets mad as she did the other time we gave a dinner and breaks the dishes and refuses to send up the dessert? If she does, she and mamma will have a lively time. Do go and dress now, or you will keep dinner waiting."

Fifteen minutes later, his wife, finding his door locked, called through the keyhole: "When are they coming, dear? Mamma and the cook are both scolding!"

The reply seemed to come from behind a barricade: "They—they are not coming at all. Fact is, I forgot to invite a man of 'em, and I haven't a bit of an appetite myself!"—Chicago Times-Herald.

WEALTH LEFT IN TRUST. How Far Has the State the Right to Interfere with Wills? How far the state has a right to interfere with the last will and testament of an individual is open to a good deal of doubt; but the discussion of it is apt to become more and more animated as time goes on. The general legal theory is that a man's possessions at the time of his death revert to the commonwealth, and he has within certain limitations the right to indicate in what directions his property shall be divided. On the strength of this, says Current Literature, the creation of trusts to carry on great fortunes is likely to be first attacked. A great many of the very wealthy nowadays are apt to leave their fortunes in trust, the larger share being left to one child in preference to the rest. Such a trust is in process of formation in the case of the James G. Fair estate in California, as it has been formed in the cases of such men as Jay Gould, William H. Vanderbilt and others in recent years. The tendencies of these trusts are to keep large fortunes intact; but the social changes of the day see in such accumulations dangers which the state will be urged to recognize and, if possible, to remedy.

The danger in such vast accumulations lies in the fact that these resources, which would otherwise be divided up and be of general benefit to the community, are thus kept intact, and in danger of an increase by idleness, and by compounding which is reaching annually a more alarming sum. The assessors have recently told us that the Gould estate has been valued at no less than eighty million dollars. The Rothschild family in Europe are computed to be worth, taken together, no less than two thousand million dollars, the French branch of the noted family being alone estimated to be worth two hundred million dollars. At the beginning of the century the grandfather of the present Rothschilds was a poor man. Fifty years ago, indeed, the multi-millionaire was not known in America. Today there are over four thousand of them. One cannot help wondering where such vast accumulations will end.

She Was Above a Bicycle. The Boston girl drew herself up proudly, her glasses all a-tremble. "I wouldn't stoop to ride a bicycle!" she said severely. But that style of riding being no longer in good form the agent explained that she didn't have to.—N. Y. Recorder. —Niagara is from the Seneca word, neagars, "across the neck." The Indians called the falls "Datacoro Kozaza, "the thunder of waters." Sixteen different spellings are given to the name of the river. —Johnnie—Mother, Adam and Eve lived in Paradise. What was it like there? Mother—Like what it is here, dear, when you five children are all at school.

A FALSE DIAGNOSIS. La Grippe is confounded by many people with a severe attack of catarrh, which in some respects resembles the former. These individuals suffer severely with pain about the forehead, eyes and ears, with soreness in throat and stoppage of the nasal passages, and in fact, are incapacitated for work of any kind for days at a time. These are catarrhal sufferers. Ely's Cream Balm has been used with the best results in such cases. The remedy will give instant relief.

CHICAGO'S DEAF MUTES. They Are Educated, Industrious and Fairly Prosperous. There are between six hundred and one thousand deaf mutes scattered through the city of Chicago, and they are all industrious and fairly prosperous, earning their living honestly and uncomplainingly. They can do anything in which hearing is not absolutely necessary, and one would be surprised to know how many callings this includes. There are deaf-mute printers, cabinet-makers—and some good ones, too—shoemakers, wood-carvers, barbers, who never pester the subject in the chair with remarks about the weather or the races, bookkeepers, cigarmakers, molders, machinists and electricians. Four deaf mutes are employed in the post office, where they do their work quite as efficiently as their companions. One is a lawyer, and another is a chemist. Among the women there are dress-makers, milliners, printers, bookbinders, paper-box makers and seamstresses. Most of these, says the Record, have husbands of their own in which both husband and wife are mutes. In about one case in twenty-five the mute has a husband or wife who speaks. It is exceedingly rare that the children of such marriages are deaf, and as the father and mother grow old they have ties which connect them always more closely with the speaking world. Every provision is made in Chicago for the proper education of deaf children. There are four regular day schools conducted by the city board of education, one Catholic boarding-school, and McCowan's private school at Englewood. A child who graduates from any of these schools and wishes to obtain a higher education may go to the college for the deaf at Washington, D. C. If the pupil is poor but worthy, he is not compelled to pay tuition; otherwise it will cost him about two hundred and fifty dollars a year. This college is the only one of its kind in the world. Most Chicago deaf mutes receive their education at the state school in Jacksonville, Ill. A great part of the foreign element was educated abroad and usually associate according to nationality. The deaf mutes of Chicago do not neglect the social side of their life. They have organized a society which goes by the significant name of the Pas-a-Pas club. It has a nicely furnished hall, where frequent literary and social entertainments are held. The members also meet from time to time in one another's homes, and they have quite a happy time, if it is not so noisy, as a corresponding number of people who can hear and speak.

CHICAGO'S WOMAN BOOTBLACK. She Runs a Big Place and Makes a Lot of Money—Her Way of Doing It. The new woman, with her varied propensities for engaging in all sorts of business which has heretofore belonged to men, is ever before the public, and she of Chicago exceeds all others in searching new fields for a fresh exhibition of energy. Nothing phases her fearless courage to grapple with anything she sees fit to undertake, and the more masculine the employment the more consistent it seems to be with her advanced ideas of womanly ways and methods. The fact that the number of occupations open to women have increased from seventy to more than five hundred in less than forty years, must be exceedingly interesting to the feminine public of Chicago since it has done so much to ward increasing the number. And now this city of hustling women boasts with great pride of the "only one on earth" who has ever embarked in the shoe-dressing business. This is indeed a boon to the ladies of Chicago, who find it impossible to walk three blocks without the need of a polish.

The woman in question has been established in this enterprise five months. One removal to more roomy quarters has been necessary during that time, and both men and women patronize her clean parlor. The condition of her own shoes after a brief tramp through the streets of Chicago suggested the growing possibilities of this unique business for women, and her present success more than justifies her judgment. A place where women can go to have their shoes cleaned and polished is certainly a necessity in Chicago, and Miss Edison, the sole proprietor and manager of the business, has a fortune in prospect. The room is fitted up with nice, comfortable chairs. Capable, gentlemanly boys are hired to do the work, and they receive a salary which is more than they can earn alone. Being situated in Dearborn street, in the center of large office buildings, she has the best class of custom. A little stand where good cigars and chewing gum are sold adds to her revenue, and young women who work in the various offices leave their bicycles with her for storage for twenty-five cents a week.

Miss Edison is described by the Chicago Tribune as a young woman with a business manner, who knows, in a western sort of a way, how to take care of herself and make her customers observe the proprieties of her place. Saturday is her busiest day, and often as many as a dozen women are in the chairs at one time. Safer Than Lightning Rods. Each day adds some new virtues to the long list of those already credited to the pneumatic. The latest of these is that the wheels of a bicycle being encircled by a band of India rubber and dry air—which is a perfect insulator—the rider is completely insulated from the earth, and, consequently, is impervious to the attacks of the electric fluid. Thus, day by day it becomes more and more a fact that life without a pneumatic tire is neither safe nor worth having. As the chances of a man on a bicycle being struck by lightning have been carefully calculated to be about one in a billion, says the Wheel, there will, of course, be some pessimists who will deny that this newly discovered virtue of the pneumatic as a lightning insulator amounts to very much.

BABIES IN AUGUST. Anxious Mothers Dread the Hot Summer Days. Everything Depends Upon the Diet On Which They Are Fed. Lactated Food Best Supplies the Materials for Healthy Growth. Not only the physicians, but thousands of modest parents who have seen their children safely through the trying years of babyhood and youth, now know that there is no rational excuse for cholera infantum entering any intelligent home in the land. Every case of diarrhoea that terminates disastrously must be set down to culpable inattention to baby's great need of pure, nourishing food. Mothers' milk, when healthy and sufficient, is the ideal infant food. But when in the first year of the baby's life recourse must be had to another food, or when the time comes for weaning the child, lactated food by all manner of means should promptly be given in preference to anything else. It has saved the lives of thousands of babies. Mothers and nurses who have used lactated food all agree that it best supplies the materials for baby's rapid growth and development. Lactated food is prepared with a regard to purity, cleanliness and freedom from possibility of contagion that merits all the praise that has been so lavishly bestowed upon it by physicians. The nutritious parts of barley, wheat and oats are so prepared as to be easily assimilated. To these are added sugar of milk and the salts which are the basis of mothers' milk. These constituents are thoroughly cooked at high steam heat and make a pre-digested, palatable, nutritious food, a perfect substitute for mother's milk, fit for meeting every demand of the rapidly growing child. Lactated food has aided thousands of babies through the sickly hot days. It should be in the hands of every parent. Mrs. Edward Hillands of Franklin, Pa., whose beautiful baby is shown above, says: "Our baby was very delicate, but now is one of the healthiest children in the state. If it had not been for lactated food I know she would not be alive today, for before she commenced its use she was skin and bones. I tried —'s food and I don't know how many others, and they seemed to do more harm than good. She is two years old now and is still living on lactated food, and will be for two years to come, for it keeps her in perfect health and that is what I want."

THE PAINFUL QUESTION THAT WILL SOON BE WRINGING PARENTS' HEARTS—"WILL BABY GET THROUGH THE SUMMER?"—MUST BE SQUARELY FACED. The fearful number of infant deaths every summer from cholera infantum is due to the ignorance of well-meaning mothers. Improper food is now known to be the cause of nine-tenths of all the frightful infant mortality of August. Mothers' milk, when healthy and sufficient, is the ideal infant food. But when in the first year of the baby's life recourse must be had to another food, or when the time comes for weaning the child, lactated food by all manner of means should promptly be given in preference to anything else. It has saved the lives of thousands of babies. Mothers and nurses who have used lactated food all agree that it best supplies the materials for baby's rapid growth and development. If it had not been for lactated food I know she would not be alive today, for before she commenced its use she was skin and bones. I tried —'s food and I don't know how many others, and they seemed to do more harm than good. She is two years old now and is still living on lactated food, and will be for two years to come, for it keeps her in perfect health and that is what I want."

MARQUETTE HILANDS. The painful question that will soon be wringing parents' hearts—"Will baby get through the summer?"—must be squarely faced. The fearful number of infant deaths every summer from cholera infantum is due to the ignorance of well-meaning mothers. Improper food is now known to be the cause of nine-tenths of all the frightful infant mortality of August. Mothers' milk, when healthy and sufficient, is the ideal infant food. But when in the first year of the baby's life recourse must be had to another food, or when the time comes for weaning the child, lactated food by all manner of means should promptly be given in preference to anything else. It has saved the lives of thousands of babies. Mothers and nurses who have used lactated food all agree that it best supplies the materials for baby's rapid growth and development. Lactated food is prepared with a regard to purity, cleanliness and freedom from possibility of contagion that merits all the praise that has been so lavishly bestowed upon it by physicians. The nutritious parts of barley, wheat and oats are so prepared as to be easily assimilated. To these are added sugar of milk and the salts which are the basis of mothers' milk. These constituents are thoroughly cooked at high steam heat and make a pre-digested, palatable, nutritious food, a perfect substitute for mother's milk, fit for meeting every demand of the rapidly growing child. Lactated food has aided thousands of babies through the sickly hot days. It should be in the hands of every parent. Mrs. Edward Hillands of Franklin, Pa., whose beautiful baby is shown above, says: "Our baby was very delicate, but now is one of the healthiest children in the state. If it had not been for lactated food I know she would not be alive today, for before she commenced its use she was skin and bones. I tried —'s food and I don't know how many others, and they seemed to do more harm than good. She is two years old now and is still living on lactated food, and will be for two years to come, for it keeps her in perfect health and that is what I want."

THEIR MISSION FRUITLESS.

Ishpeming Miners Visited the Mines in Vain Yesterday.

THE COMPANIES WILL NOT RECOGNIZE THE UNION.

Will Treat With Their Employes Separately, but in No Other Way.

WON'T RECOGNIZE THE UNION.

About two thousand of the Ishpeming strikers met at the usual place near the Co-operative block yesterday morning shortly before 9 o'clock preparatory to calling at the several mines for the purpose of ascertaining from the mine agents the propositions which the mining companies are willing to submit. Before forming in line Chairman Coad announced that the first mine visited would be the Cleveland and that Braastad's office in the city would be next visited. Then the Lake Superior would be called on, after which the men would visit the Lake Angeline. The men were requested to remain in line until the propositions of the companies were received, as a meeting would be held immediately afterward at the park.

Not since the trouble began has a parade of the strikers been watched with such interest by the business men and citizens generally as was this. The bystanders seemed to feel as deep an interest in the mission of the men and its outcome as did the men themselves. Many expressions of hope and good cheer were heard from among the vast crowd of spectators assembled along the line of march. A strong hope that the men would meet with encouragement from the mine officials inspired all, but within a very short time the news came that the companies would not recognize the union as a whole and hope was succeeded by despondency.

At the Cleveland office a committee of four, consisting of Chairman Coad and Secretary Wasley and two others, called at the office. They asked for Mr. Mills, who quickly responded to the call. One of the men stated that they had called to receive the proposition of the company with reference to the new scale of wages. Mr. Mills asked each member of the committee if he had worked for the Cleveland company prior to the walkout. They answered that they had not. "Then," said he, "send in your names to the office and I will tell them what we propose doing for them. The matter of submitting the propositions of the Lake and Salisbury mines has been left in the hands of the men in charge of the workings and the men employed at those places can learn all particulars by calling there." "Then you will not give us a statement of the wages you propose to pay?" asked one of the committee. "No," replied Mr. Mills. "That settles it, then," responded Messrs. Coad and Wasley, and the representatives of the strikers turned and left the office.

The men were then directed to march along Sixth street to Cleveland avenue, thence to Mr. Braastad's office. Mr. Braastad was not in his office when the committee arrived, consequently the procession hardly halted. At the Lake Superior office Agent Hall's reply was promptly submitted. He informed the committee that if the men formerly in the company's employ would call on the bosses of the different departments the company's proposed new schedule of wages would be made known.

The committee simply heard Mr. Hall's report and immediately left the office and commanded the procession to move on to the Lake Angeline. This, it seems, was in accordance with the instructions of the union.

At the Lake Angeline Superintendent Walters greeted the committee. The spokesman asked for the company's proposition that it might be submitted to the men at the park. Mr. Walters replied that he was under instructions to submit a proposition to the company's former employes only and that he could not recognize any other men. The committee had nothing more to say and immediately joined the ranks of their fellow-workers and ordered the men to march to the park.

At the meeting of the union held immediately following the visit to the mines the situation was thoroughly discussed, but so far as THE MINING JOURNAL can learn the men did not decide to call on the bosses in the manner proposed by the mine officials.

Won't Start the Shovels. The report generally circulated to the effect that the Lake Angeline company proposes starting its steam shovels this week is unfounded. Superintendent Walters yesterday stated to THE MINING JOURNAL that he had not received any orders to that effect. He says, however, that he is under instructions from the officials in the east to inform them a few days in advance when the men are liable to return to work so that they can notify vessel owners to be ready to take their ore in case the mines start up. Mr. Walters says the company has not decided to start the shovels contrary to the wishes of the men, and judging from the way he spoke no attempt in that direction will be made, for the present at least.

To South Africa. James Curnow, John Reed, John Webster and William Blackmore, all experienced miners of Ishpeming, will leave here tomorrow for South Africa, where they will take positions under Richard A. Parker of Marquette, who goes to that country to take charge of a gold property. Captain Knight, late of the Norrie mine, will look after the mining work for Mr. Parker. The four Ishpeming men whom Mr. Parker has secured are fine workmen and have a thorough knowledge of their business. Fourteen years ago Mr. Curnow spent a couple of years in South Africa. He was there during the war between England and the natives. He remembers quite distinctly the particulars concerning the killing of the young Prince Imperial of France during an encounter with the natives. He says South Africa is not such a bad place to live in. It is a little warm there at times but he says he did not dislike the place at all. The natives are civilized and they are quite agreeable to the white settlers. He says he often desired to return to that country but never had a fair opportunity until now. Mr. Curnow assures his companions that they will not regret going there. It will take the party about sixty days after leaving Ishpeming to reach their destination.

Sharpness of a Woman's Tongue. A newly-married couple on the train near Gainesville, Ga., the other day, attracted a good deal of attention by their peculiar behavior. A lady got on the train at a station, and took a seat in front of them. Scarcely was she seated before they commenced making remarks in loud whispers about her wearing last season's hat and dress. She was severely criticised by them for some moments. Presently the lady turned around. She noticed at a glance that the bride was older than the groom and, without the least resentment in her countenance, she said: "Madam, will you please have your son close the window behind you?" The son closed his mouth instead, and the bride did not giggle again for an hour.

The Bedbug in English Law. Whereas the presence of bedbugs is regarded by the English courts as constituting an adequate ground for the breaking of the lease of a dwelling-house, the French tribunals have hitherto declined to admit any such plea. In deference, however, to the recommendation of the leading medical authorities, indorsed by the council of state, any house by which they are infested will be regarded by law as insanitary, recent experiments having furnished convincing proof that these insects, which polite Englishmen describe as "B flats," are frequently a vehicle of contagion for tuberculosis and kindred maladies.

THE DISCOVERY SAVED HIS LIFE. Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for several days, but of no avail all was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at E. Farnham's Drug Store.

A WONDERFUL AUTOMATON.

It Took Its Inventor Twenty-Seven Years to Build It.

In the year 1770 the most wonderful automaton that has ever been constructed was exhibited at Exeter exchange, London. This automatic wonder represented a country gentleman's house, and was of such intricate and elaborate construction that no one disputed the claim of the exhibitor when he declared that he had worked twenty-seven years in perfecting it. It showed the regulation English country house, with parks, gardens, cascades, temples, bridges, etc., besides over one hundred appropriately clad human figures in the gardens, on the bridges, chopping wood, and at various building operations. In the park were several deer moving naturally and four horses and a coach following the meandering road. Besides the above the figures of boys were seen fishing from the bridges, while a boat load of ladies and gentlemen regularly moved across an enlargement in the brook, much to the consternation of the natural-looking figures of geese and ducks which were paddling about in the water. The whole of these animate and inanimate figures were inclosed in a space only four and a half feet square.

Old-Time Football.

Football has never been a very genteel game, to judge from what Master Stubbs says about it in his "Anatomic of Abuses," published in 1583. For as concerning football playing, I protest unto you it may rather be called a friendly kind of fight than a play or recreation; a bloody and murdering practice than a sport or pastime. For doth not every one lye in wait for his adversarie, seeking to overthrow him and to picke him on his nose, though it be on hard stones, so that by this means, sometimes their necks are broken, sometimes their backs, sometimes their legs, sometimes their arms; sometimes one part thrust out of joint, sometimes another; sometimes the noses gush out with blood, sometimes their eyes start out.

The Cayuse as a Pest.

The Indian cayuse is the worst pest that inflicts this country. The Indian horses spread all over the range, and are not confined within the reservation limits. It is estimated that fifteen thousand worthless wild ponies range unrestrained over the hills of this country and devour the good bunch grass. These cayuses each eat enough good fodder to fatten a four-year-old steer, and one steer is worth more than ten glass-eyed broncos. If we could enact a law to declare every pony of an assessed value of less than one dollar a public nuisance, it would add materially to the prosperity of this country.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.
Recognition of the Union Proves a Stumbling Block at Negaunee.
Buffalo Mine Submits the Proposed Schedule but the Others Stand Out.

THE COMPANY'S PROPOSITIONS
In accordance with the decision reached at the meeting of the Miners' union Monday with reference to calling at the mines to obtain the propositions of the mine officials, the Negaunee strikers assembled at the city square yesterday morning at 9 o'clock and marched in a body to the Buffalo mines. General Manager Cole was out of the city, therefore the men were met by Captain Jeffrey. The strikers marched within a short distance of the office and a committee, composed of President Chester and two others of the union, called at the office. Very few words were spoken by the captain or any member of the committee. Captain Jeffrey had the proposed new scale of wages prepared for the men and handed it to one of the members of the committee as they entered the office. He also told them the contents of the proposition. It was to the effect that the company had concluded to give their men an advance of from 10 to 20 per cent.

After leaving the Buffalo the men were directed to proceed to the city office of the Cambria and Lillie mines, where it was expected the agent, Mr. Maitland, would be found. Mr. Maitland, however, was not there, he having gone to the mine office expecting the men to call there to receive the company's propositions. The men did not go out to the mines to see Mr. Maitland but marched to the office of the Jackson Iron company. The response they received there was to the effect that the company would not treat with the organization as a whole, but would talk to its own men and make known the scale if they would come around. After leaving the Jackson the men marched to the park where a general discussion of the situation was had. The men finally decided to remain out and continue the fight as long as they can. This is indeed discouraging news for the business men of both cities. It was generally hoped the companies and their men would come to some agreement yesterday. As the matter now stands it seems as though a settlement may not be reached for some time. It has now developed into a fight between the companies and the men. The Buffalo company was the only one which made known its proposed increase in wages. Some of the mine officials were seen by THE MINING JOURNAL yesterday regarding the proposed new wage rate but none of them feel disposed to make known the new scale. Under the circumstances it is generally regretted that the men from each mine did not call on their respective employes and ascertain what the companies are prepared to do.

Material Arriving.
The cables and switch boards and also a few dozen more telephone instruments for the Marquette County Telephone company, have arrived from the manufacturers within the past two or three days. The linemen began putting up the cables yesterday and the switch boards are also being put in place. Certain parts of the switch boards had not arrived yesterday but they are expected on every train, they having already been shipped from Chicago.
Will Go Camping.
Julius Jacobson, R. G. Quinn, Joseph Winter, Professor Krogman and others will leave today for a camping expedition near Swaney. They will be joined next week by Ed Cummings, Mr. Winters' brother-in-law, of Chicago. The boys were busy yesterday getting their camping outfit together and preparing their catables, etc. They will doubtless have a big time.

FOURTH COUSINS.
BY CHARLES D. WILLARD.

Something had happened! There was such a rosy flush on her cheek, so bright a gleam in her eye, and on his face such an utter abandon of joy, that anyone—even a man—could have guessed the truth. Fortunately they had chosen the hill road, the least traveled of all the ways that lead down from the Montecito valley into Santa Barbara, and for the first half-hour after the event they met no one.

It was what the inhabitants of the Channel City call a "genuine Santa Barbara day." The sun shone warm and bright, and a soft perfumed breeze came out of the west. There was June in the air, although the calendar was set for midwinter. The birds sang in the trees above them, the squirrels chirped from the hillside, and their horses, wandering at times from the road, sank to the knees in a waving sea of flowers.
"First of all," she said, breaking the silence of a whole minute, "you must tell my father."
"Certainly," said the young man.
"Who's father?"
"You have never seen papa do the role of the cruel parent," said the girl; "he can be quite a dragon. As you are a kinsman, however—"
"A fifth cousin," cried the young man, with a laugh.
"Well, fifth cousins are better than nothing, aren't they?"
"Truly; how else should we be here to-day?" Then the young man added with peculiar and significant emphasis: "I am inclined to pride myself on that little scheme."

The girl brought her horse to a sudden stop and turned her clear brown eyes, half opened under their long lashes, upon her companion.
"That little scheme," she repeated, slowly. "I don't understand."
The young man laughed uneasily. "Who, Catherine," said he, "you don't mean that you have believed in the entertaining fiction about our great-great-grandfather?"
"Old Ebenezer Strong!" exclaimed the girl. "How dare you call him fictitious, when I saw his portrait at my own grandfather's?"
"As your ancestor, my dear one, he is an undoubted reality—but as mine, I regret to say, he is merely a figment of your worthy father's imagination. In short—I would fain break it to you as gently as possible—we are not fifth cousins at all, but just plain ordinary—"

"No fifth cousins!"
"No, darling; and if you are going to faint please fall on this side, with your head right here on my shoulder."
"I won't! Wretched boy, how could you deceive poor papa?"
"I didn't deceive him. He deceived himself. From the very beginning of our acquaintance he seemed determined to locate me somewhere on the Weston family tree, and you aided and abetted him in the attempt."
"Richard Strong, how can you!"
"I have a sweet and gentle disposition, and when he asked me if I was not descended from Ebenezer Strong, of West Brighton Center, and you looked at me so appealingly—"
"I didn't say such things!"
"Why shouldn't I assent? I have doubtless had several hundred ancestors named Strong, and I took the chances that some one of them rejoiced in the pronomen of Ebenezer. It is just the sort of a name that my forbears were given to putting upon themselves, as an effective and continuous mortification of the flesh. A horsehair shirt, now, would be nothing to it."
"You may laugh, if it pleases you," said the girl, severely, "but if papa had known you were not a relative we should not be riding alone together. He generally disapproves of the eastern people who spend the winter at the hotel."
"If you really feel that I have been guilty of false pretenses," said the young man, drawing his horse a little nearer, "suppose we begin all over again."
"Keep your distance, sir!" exclaimed the girl, steering to the opposite side of the road. "If we are to start afresh, let it be from the very beginning, three weeks ago."

"Now, as to your father," resumed the young man, "I think I understand him pretty well, because my one and only parent, the governor himself, is constructed on much the same plan. Wherever he goes he is continually in search of the lost tribes of the Strong genealogy. The last letter I had from him in Colorado, where he is spending the winter, contained the announcement that he had unearthed four or five new cousins—choice specimens, I doubt not, that he will expect me to meet and embrace on my way home."
"Perhaps it was wrong," he continued, after a moment of reflection, "to play upon that little peculiarity of your father's, to get into his good graces, but you must consider the extraordinary provocation, dear. It seemed like my only chance—are you sorry I took it?"
She looked her answer, but did not speak it, and then, avoiding the hand extended to seize her own, she struck her horse a light blow and dashed down the road ahead.

A long, even center in silence followed, and they were again well into town before the conversation began again. Then, fearful of observation, they spoke in commonplaces.
They turned into State street, and stopped at the post office, the morning's mail having constituted the chief cause for the trip to town. Richard Strong dismounted and presently appeared with a letter in his hand.
"None for you," he said. "This is for me, from the governor. I'll wager it has something in it about cousins."
"Let me see," said the girl, holding out her hand. He tore the letter open and gave it to her. Then he swung himself into the saddle, and they started slowly down the street.
Suddenly the girl gave a faint cry.

"Papa has been writing to him!" she exclaimed.
"Writing to him? What for?"
"He has asked him to pay us a visit on the score of relationship, and your father—"
"Well!" said the young man, excitedly.
"He says he will start immediately—the very next day."
"Let me see the date of the letter. Ye gods, it has been delayed! He must have got here this morning."
"The train has been in two hours," she said, glancing at her watch.
"I must see him immediately," said her companion, nervously turning his horse first one way and then another. "Who would have dreamed that both the old boys would take that cousinship so seriously!"
"I did, sir. I knew from the very beginning that it would make trouble some time."
"From the very beginning?" repeated the young man pausing in his excitement long enough to note the force of this chance admission. "So you acknowledge, do you?"
"There's the hotel 'bus," cried the girl, hastily changing the subject. "Perhaps the driver can tell us something."
A long, empty vehicle was passing them on its way up the street. Strong called to the driver and he stopped.
"Did you bring up a tall gentleman this morning, with a white mustache and goatee and gold eyeglasses?"
"Yes, sir. Your father, don't you mean?"
The young people exchanged startled glances.

"How did you know?"
"He was inquiring for you, sir, as soon as ever he got to the hotel; and when he found you had gone, he went and hired a buggy."
"A buggy—what for?"
"He asked the way to Judge Weston's place in the Montecito. He said the judge was a near relative of his."
The omnibus proceeded on its way.
"We must hurry," said the young man, spurring his horse to a canter. "The less time they have together before explanations are made the better."
"What do you think they will do?"
"I don't dare to think. You see, on everything except this family tree business our respective parents are as far apart as civilized humans can be. Your father, now, is an elder in the church, while mine has lost all the respectability of the old general; and if he should ever had the habit of using swear words acquired during years of service in the regular army."
"Heavens! Let us ride faster. Papa will have slain him before we get there."
"Really, Catherine," said the young man, when they had slackened their pace to climb the hills, "it would not surprise me if they positively refused to enter into partnership as fathers-in-law."

"Never mind, Richard," said the girl, smilingly. "Father has never yet refused me anything, when my happiness was at stake—as it is now."
Strong shrugged his shoulders. "Mine has," he answered. "He is made of stout, the old general; and if he should take it into his head to say no, it would be awkward in ways I don't like to mention."
"Never mind," said the girl, smiling again and lifting her veil to the rim of the jaunty sailor hat.
And a moment later the young man felt much encouraged, and the gallop was resumed.

On a slight knoll surrounded by a grove of live-oaks and faced with an avenue of old palms, there stood the ample residence of Judge Weston. As the young people came through the gate and entered upon the gravelled roadway, they observed two elderly gentlemen emerge from a small forest of rose bushes and start briskly down the path toward them. Presently the shorter of the two took his companion's arm and they walked along in evident peace and amity.
"They haven't found it out yet," the young man whispered.
Judge Weston assisted his daughter to alight. "Catherine," said he, "this is Gen. Strong, the father of our young friend."
The general bent low, in an old-fashioned obeisance, and Miss Catherine instinctively made him a courtesy out of the minutest.
"Father!"
"Dick, my dear boy!"
"See here," exclaimed the judge, suddenly. "You were mistaken, Richard, in what you told me about old Ebenezer Strong."
The young man braced himself for a struggle.

"And to think, Dick," cried the general, reproachfully, "that you never once mentioned to the judge that you great-great-grandfather, Hezekiah Strong, married a Weston."
"And that brings us even nearer than we had supposed," added the judge. "Fourth cousins instead of fifth."
"It was stupid of me to forget that," said the young man, huskily.
"And now that I have seen Miss Catherine," said the general, taking her hand and passing his arm about her waist, "my only regret is that the relationship is not several degrees nearer yet."
Then Catherine looked at Richard, and he told what had happened on the way to town. Straightway there was a great amount of handshaking and a good deal of kissing done in broad daylight under the palms.—The Land of Sunshine.

SEVEN YEARS OF SUCCESS.

Marquette Building & Loan Association Holds Seventh Annual Meeting.

ALL THE OLD DIRECTORS ARE RETAINED.

Rankin-Burtscher Wedding Was Very Pretty but Takes from Marquette Another of Her Daughters.

BUILDING & LOAN'S ANNUAL.

The seventh annual meeting of the Marquette Building & Loan association was held last evening at its office in the Wilkinson Bank block. That the conduct of the affairs of the association has been most satisfactory to its shareholders was shown by the small attendance at the meeting, for it is on such occasions that the disgruntled shareholder, if any there be, is apt to put himself in evidence. But only about a dozen members came in person, though about one thousand shares were represented. All the old directors were reelected without opposition except from one of themselves, who thought that after six years continuous service he ought to be released. But the other shareholders did not look at it that way and voted him back on the board.

The election of directors resulted in the choice of Messrs. Peter White, E. B. Palmer, W. W. Osband, V. B. Cochran and James Wallace to succeed themselves for two years and of W. S. Hill to succeed himself for the unexpired term of one year. At the subsequent meeting of the directors the following officers were elected for one year: President and attorney, Dan H. Ball; first vice-president, Dr. R. C. Markham; second vice-president, W. S. Hill; secretary, W. W. Osband; treasurer, J. M. Wilkinson. All these were reelected except one of the vice-presidents. Mr. Ball has been president of the association since its organization and two-thirds of the other directors have held their posts for four to seven years.

The association has helped to build scores of homes in the city and has never lost a dollar to its members. It has been compelled to foreclose mortgages on but very few of its loans and now owns less than $10,000 worth of real estate out of total assets of nearly $123,000. Of this total of assets $3,894.78 has been passed to a contingent fund to cover possible losses which may result on account of the depreciation of property during the recent financial depression, but there is every prospect that with the return of prosperity these possible losses will be avoided. This contingent fund has been created out of an abundance of caution and in that conservative spirit which has always marked the dealings of the association.

The association during the past year has paid dividends of 4 per cent. semi-annually to investors while their loans have cost borrowers considerably less than 8 per cent. per annum simple interest. There are no fees for membership and the man working on a salary or in a small way of business who does not put his savings into the association is missing the safest and most profitable investment he can make of them.

Rankin-Burtscher Nuptials.

The name of the steam yacht Jennie R. lost its significance yesterday when Miss Jennie Rankin became Mrs. Frank Burtscher. A more perfect wedding day never dawned and the bride was worthy of the day, her native city having reason to be proud of her beauty as, robed in the purest white, she took the vows which marked the termination of her old life and the sundering of home ties. The ceremony, which was performed at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Agnew, at No. 400 West Washington street, was a very pretty and simple morning wedding only the immediate relatives and most intimate friends of the bride being present. The two pretty little maids of honor were the bride's sister, Florence, and her little cousin, Jessie McIntosh. The parlors were beautifully trimmed with flowers and ferns and promptly at 11 o'clock the bride and groom took their places before Rev. D. B. Spencer, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and spoke the vows which made them one.

After the ceremony an elaborate wedding dinner was served and then the bride retired to don her traveling dress, a blue serge costume with a pretty hat to match. Miss Lena Neidhart being the fortunate captor of the bridal bouquet. Amid a shower of rice and good wishes Mr. and Mrs. Burtscher drove to the station, accompanied by a number of the bride's girl friends, to take the 1:30 train eastward. They will remain at Mackinac Island a week and will then resume their trip toward Fostoria, Ohio, where they will be at home early in September, the groom being a prominent young business man of that city and a member of the firm of Burtscher Bros. & Co., wholesale grocers and commission merchants.

In losing yesterday's bride Marquette gives to Fostoria one of her most popular as well as her prettiest daughters, as was well attested by the beautiful array of wedding gifts yesterday, and though regretting that her choice has taken her away from her old home, her large circle of friends here will wish her every happiness in her new life, and if affection and warm good will are of avail only success and prosperity will attend both bride and groom.

Attracted Many Spectators.

The United States land office has received a new three ton safe, its records having overflowed the vaults provided in the building. As usual in such cases it was found that the wise architects down at Washington who planned the building had gone on the supposition that nothing of bulk and weight would ever need to be put into it and had so arranged the stairs and entrances that the only way the big steel box can be got in is by hoisting it through window. So J. E. Beau was called in to erect a derrick and the operation of course attracted many spectators and a great deal of advice was volunteered. Some of the volunteers with advice were requested to give muscular assistance and did so. The spar of the derrick was got into place at a corner of the building and today the safe will be hoisted through a window. It is certainly remarkable that so many buildings are put up in such a manner that it is impossible to get safes and other heavy things into them by the usual ways. It might be supposed that builders would learn something by experience in such matters, but apparently they never do.

The Masonic Excursion.

Tickets for the Masonic excursion up the lake and to Partridge island tomorrow may be procured at Gooding & Ormsbee's and are fifty cents for each person. The committee in charge will provide black coffee in abundance for all present at the picnic supper, so that families or parties in packing their lunch baskets need not trouble themselves to bring pots and will not have to bother with fires. The boat will leave at 2:30 with those who wish to take the ride up the lake and on the return will stop at Partridge island for supper. While this first party is getting supper the steamer will come to the city for such as are not able to get away in the afternoon and will leave again at 7:30 o'clock. In the evening there will be dancing in the pavilion to the music of the Hotel Superior orchestra. It is expected to get back to the city about midnight, or earlier if those present desire. If the weather is unfavorable the trip will be postponed.

For the Boys' Brigade.

Dr. Minor C. Baldwin, organist, assisted by some of the best musical talent of the city, will give a recital and concert at the Presbyterian church Monday evening for the benefit of the Boys' Brigade, the new organization which Mr. Spencer has instituted here. The Boys' Brigade, like the Young Men's Sunday Evening club connected with this church, is entirely non-sectarian in its membership. Its purpose is to train boys in habits of discipline and order and to help them to grow into better citizens.

Dr. Baldwin is a master of the pipe organ and his playing is most highly commended by the press of a score of states from Maine to California. The musical critic of the Detroit Free Press calls him "an artist of exceptional gift and culture" and there is no doubt that the performance Monday night will be well worth attending.

Going to San Francisco.

Harry D. Christopher, the genial dispenser of the Hotel Marquette buffet, will leave tomorrow with his wife for Chicago by boat. They will spend about two weeks there and proceed to San Francisco, where Mr. Christopher will have the management of the noted Cliff House. He has made many friends here who will be sorry to hear of his leaving and who wish him every success in his future undertakings.

When a person is losing flesh and wasting away their is cause for alarm. Nothing so worries a physician. Consumptives would never die if they could regain their usual weight. In fact their weight can be no consumption if their were no wasting of the system. The cause of this loss of flesh is a failure to properly digest the food eaten. Nine-tenths of all our diseases date back to some derangement of the stomach. The Shaker Digestive Cordial will stop this wasting of the body. It aids in digesting the food we eat to be digested so as to do good, for undigested food does more harm than good. The Cordial contains food already digested and a digester of foods as well.
