THE MARQUETTE SANATORIUM.

THE MARQUETTE SANATORIUM not only receives patients for treatment but others who need a quiet hygienic home for rest and recuperation.
Use is made of all forms of baths, massage, Swedish movements, the vibratory treatment, electricity, oxygen, super-heated air, cupping, special dieting, etc., etc.
It is well known that all cases of sickness, both medical and surgical, do better under sanatorium care and treatment than at home. All cases are helped and many seemingly hopeless cases of chronic invalidism are readily cured.
For rates and full particulars of our cottage plan, and most wonderful climatic advantage over all other points, address

BIG BLAZE AT MILWAUKEE.

Territory Along River Front from West Water Street to Sixth Burned Yesterday.

PROPERTY IS DAMAGED TO THE EXTENT OF $500,000.

Railroad and Steamboat Companies
Principal Sufferers—Boy Run Over
and Killed by Fire Engine.

CREAM CITY IS HOODOOED.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 22.—The warehouses on the Union Steamboat dock,
the warehouse of the Anchor line, freight sheds of the Wisconsin Central and a number of freight cars, the factory of the Delaney Oil & Grease company, the John Fritzlaff company's immense hardware house and a number of frame residences burned this afternoon. The burned territory extends from West Water street along the river front up to the Sixth street viaduct.

The fire from the Anchor Line company's warehouses jumped across the barns and warehouses of the John Fritzlaff Hardware company and found lodgment in a frame building near the southeast corner of Second and Fowler streets. Inside of a few seconds a hot blaze was raging among the rookeries in this vicinity and swept westward as far as Third street, where it seized upon the tower of the old engine house now used as an oil warehouse. The tower to this establishment was all that was burned. From the brick building occupied by the Rundle-Spence Manufacturing company, on Second street,
the fire burned southward, destroying two dwelling houses, Doyn's plumb-ing establishment and H. Trinkner's carriage works. On Fowler street, from Second west to Third street a row of twelve dwelling houses were more or less damaged.

The principal buildings burned, not including the frame dwellings, were destroyed on Fowler and Second streets and were as follows: Union Steamboat company's warehouse, Anchor line warehouse, Pennsylvania railroad freight house, Wisconsin Central freight house (owned by the St. Paul company), part of the Fritzlaff warehouse, Delaney oil warehouse (damaged) and E. T. Doyn's plumbing shop.

The steamer New York of the Erie line had a narrow escape from destruction. Fortunately it had steam up and quickly pulled out of harm's way.
About five hundred freight cars, which were directly in the path of the flames and which at first were supposed by the officials to have been destroyed, were hurriedly removed to a place of safety by the yard engines, leaving but fifty cars actually destroyed or damaged.

Freight Agent Boyle states that he will be in excellent shape tomorrow to handle the business the same as before the fire and thought the freight house of the company was but slightly damaged.
So quickly were the flames taken to the freight house of the Wisconsin Central company that the office employees were unable to close the safes or rescue the valuable records, and all these were destroyed with the building. The company also had two loaded freight trains in the yards, of between twenty and twenty-five cars each, which could not be hauled out of the way and were destroyed.

While the fire was in progress Joseph McManus, a son of Detective William McManus of the city police force, was run over by engine No. 6 and instantly killed.

The five freight warehouses burned
were owned by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company, as were the docks, comprising seventy-seven thousand square feet. The railway officials claim there was little freight in the warehouses, but shippers and bookers are preparing claims for thousands of barrels of flour, sugar, oil and general merchandise, which will probably aggregate over $250,000. The total loss by the fire will be nearly $500,000.

The loss of the Wisconsin Central Railway company on freight house No. 7 and contents and about eighteen freight cars is estimated at $50,000, covered by insurance. The loss to the St.
Paul company on brokers' warehouse
No. 1 is estimated at $20,000. The contents of the steamboat companies' warehouses were covered by a blanket insurance policy. This makes the steamboat companies responsible for the goods for which they had given receipts. The Union line loss cannot be ascertained until it is known how much freight the downbound steamer New York carried away before the fire. The loss of the Anchor line is about $80,000 and the loss on the building $15,000.

JOE PATCHEN THE VICTOR.

Defeated Gentry in Three Straight Heats Yesterday.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Joe Patchen today won a great match race against John R. Gentry in three straight heats.
The race took place at the Washington Park track, but as the wind amounted almost to a gale all afternoon a sensational time performance was out of the question. The three heats were covered in 2:05 1/4, 2:07 1/4 and 2:07 1/4.
Nevertheless the contest is regarded as one of the most important that has taken place on a trotting or pacing turf. Patchen's victory was decisive and seems to put his claim to first place among the harness racers beyond dispute.

Twelve thousand people saw the race and the fact that betting was prohibited did not deter the crowd from showing a degree of enthusiasm that is seldom excelled at a horse race.
Gentry was undoubtedly a slight favorite in the public's well wishes but Patchen was cheered just the same. In what little betting there was outside the track Gentry also ruled the favorite at about ten to nine.

While appearances do not count for a great deal in race horses Patchen's looks were so decidedly better than they caused misgivings in the minds of Gentry's supporters. Patchen appeared full of life and spirit. Gentry looked tired and when they scored for the first time Patchen clearly showed more speed. At the end of the second heat the old-time horsemen were pronouncing it the greatest race in history.

In these two miles Gentry was a close contestant and so, considering what was at stake, the contest was regarded as unprecedented. But the third heat went to the big black so easily that the veterans were disposed to qualify their opinion as to the pre-eminence of the race.

The fastest quarter was thirty seconds flat.

Transcript of Waller Court-Martial
Evidence on Way to Paris.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Acting Secretary of State Adee authorizes the statement that information has been received from Ambassador Eastis at Paris that the record of the proceedings and evidence in the court martial of ex-Consul Waller is expected to reach Paris at the end of this month, and that access to Waller has been accorded Ambassador Eastis after reported and urged requests.

Adee adds that this result, reached
after repeated telegraphic instructions, shows the constant activity of the department of state in Waller's case, and hoped the production of the evidence before the court-martial will enable the department to form a judgment touching on the conviction of Waller. The international right of this government to demand the evidence upon which the conviction was reached, in order that it may determine its action in the case, is unquestionable and is fortified by abundant precedent.

The department has no later information of the movements of Mrs. Waller and her children since the dispatch from Consul Campbell of Port Louis, Mauritius, announcing that, under the department's cabled instructions to provide them with passage home, they were to sail from that place for France on the 20th of this month on their way to the United States. Ambassador Eastis has been instructed to take care of Mrs. Waller and her children on their arrival in France and to furnish them with passage to the United States.

CAN NEVER CONQUER.

Spain Must Make Concessions or Lose
Foothold on Cuba.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The Havana Times correspondent writing of the gravity of the Cuban situation urges the necessity of large concessions in the direction of autonomy, or even the loyal Cubans will drift into disloyalty. The only alternative is a costly campaign in men and money, followed by the occupation of the island by 60,000 men for a decade. In an editorial on the foregoing The Times says:

"General Campos tried to treat with the rebels and failed; he tried to suppress them and has failed; he tried to patch up a reconciliation and equally failed, and the rebels have quickly profited by his mistakes. A three years' campaign will cost Spain thirty million dollars sterling, which she cannot afford. Giving autonomy will be a bitter pill but unless it is swallowed the em-broyo movement for annexation to America may gather strength until it becomes irresistible."

CUBAN EXPEDITION ORGANIZING.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 22.—A local paper says: Headquarters were opened in this city this afternoon looking toward the success of an expedition, already partially organized, in behalf of the freedom of Cuba. The nucleus of the expedition consists of a hundred picked men, who are ready to go at any time.
Oreville Shelby, son of "Fighting" General Joe Shelby, is said to be at the head of the movement.

BANK NOTE BOYCOTT.

Knights of Labor Director Martin Says
It's No Bluff.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 22.—H. B. Martin, of the executive board of the Knights of Labor, who has just returned from the east, declares the Knights are in earnest as to the boycott of national bank notes urged by General Master Workman Sovereign, and that the boycott will be put into effect after Labor Day, Sept. 2. "After that date," says he, "all the Knights, their friends, the farmer organizations, the Populists and money reformers generally are requested to refuse to take bank notes for any obligations due them. We expect active support from the silver men, who recognize in the banks the bitterest enemies of the white metal.
Many labor organizations have already given notice to their employers that they desired to be paid off in legal tender money and not in bank notes, and many employers will co-operate with us. It must be remembered that bank notes are not legal tender and no man can be forced to take them. By the time congress is in session next December we expect the boycott will be in full swing and have a good effect on legislation."

CIGARETTE TRUST WEAKENS.

Make Overtures to Outside Tobacco
Men but They're Not Accepted.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 22.—Rumor has it that the cigarette trust made a proposition to the tobacco manufacturers who met here yesterday and decided to begin the making of cigarettes in opposition to that concern. In substance the proposition was to divide up the territory with the St. Louis factories provided none of the others would engage in the manufacture of cigarettes.
The proposition, it is said, was not entertained.

White Metal Meeting of Nebraska
Democracy Held Convention
Yesterday.

NOMINATED STATE OFFICERS AND ADOPTED PLATFORM.

Immediate Restoration of Free Coinage of Gold and Silver Demanded and A. P. A. Denounced.

WILL FIGHT FOR BIMETALLISM.

OMAHA, Aug. 22.—If an effort was made to conciliate any warring elements in the ranks of the Nebraska Democrats it was not in evidence at the Democratic convention today. Prior to the session there was some talk about the silver and gold wings combining,
but if the plan was seriously contemplated it was early abandoned. From 2 o'clock, when Chairman Smith convened the body, until 11 o'clock tonight, when the curtain went down in the hall, silver was the only apparent financial problem before the convention.
The other wing of the party will convene at Lincoln Sept. 5.

Edgar Howard was made permanent chairman without opposition and the following nominations were made by acclamation: Supreme court judge, E.
J. Phelps; regents of the state university, Dr. H. S. Blackburn and J. J.
Kettie. After speeches of minor importance, bubbling over with silver sentiment and opposition to the A. P. A., the committee reported the following resolutions:

The Democrats of Nebraska reaffirm the principles written in the Declaration of American Independence and emphasized by Jefferson and Jackson; we believe the restoration of the money of the Constitution is now the paramount issue before the people and insist that all parties shall plainly state their respective positions
upon the question in order that the voters may intelligently express their preference; we favor the immediate restoration of free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, as such coinage existed prior to 1873, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, such gold and silver coin to be full legal tender for all debts, public and private; we send greeting to the Democratic brethren throughout the Union, who are making such a gallant fight for the restoration of bimetalism, and congratulate them upon the progress made.

We denounce as un-American and subservient to the principles of free government any attempt to control the action or policy of political parties of this country by secret cabals or organizations of any character, and warn the people against the danger to our institutions which lurks under any such secret organization, whether on religious, political or other differences of opinion; we favor the free common school system in this state and that the management of the same be non-sectarian and non-partisan.

The platform concludes as follows:
The Democracy of Nebraska approves and recommends the declaration of President Cleveland in condemning pernicious incumbents of federal offices under the government in attempting to control the policy and nominations of their parties and we hereby recommend the renewal of the policy of his first administration in that regard.

A delegate attempted to place the following before the convention as the minority report:
We commend the administration of President Cleveland as being able, patriotic and honest and reaffirm the platform adopted by the Democratic national convention at Chicago in 1892.

Scarcely had the first word been uttered when the convention was in an uproar. There was such a roar that order could not be established for ten minutes, when the offending resolution was tabled without comment. Tonight
Hon. W. J. Bryan and other Nebraska Democrats addressed the convention on financial issues.

ANOTHER CHINESE OUTRAGE.

American Mission Near Foo Chow Attacked by Armed Mob.

HONG KONG, Aug. 22.—Another outrage has been committed on the missionaries near Foo Chow. The American mission was attacked by a large mob armed with various weapons. The chapel and school house were wrecked and four native scholars wounded. The foreign teachers escaped injury.

A strong anti-foreign feeling prevails at Foo Chow. It is spreading among the populace, who parade the thoroughfares crying, "Drive out the foreign devils."

CHINESE SOLDIERS REVOLT.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22.—It is reported that the Chinese soldiers at Tien Tsin have revolted and assembled outside the gate of Li Hung Chang's residence, clamoring for arrears in pay. They latter attacked the shops in the city and killed over a hundred persons.

INDIANS ARE DESPERATE.

Two Companies Ordered to the Fort Hall Reservation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—General Conpinger has informed the war department that he has ordered two companies of the Eighth infantry to go into camp at the Fort Hall Indian reservation. This action is taken in response to representations by the interior department that the Indians are very desertate since their return to the reservation after the Jackson's Hole affair and have been represented as disposed to make trouble unless steps are immediately taken to punish the white men who killed some of their number.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Aug. 22.—Rev.
W. J. Cleveland has left South Dakota
for the scene of the recent Indian trouble at Jackson's Hole, Wyo., to investigate the causes leading up to the difficulty, at the request of the Indian Rights association of Philadelphia.

The outside dimes which have correspondents here furnishing them with news regarding the strike and its developments are printing much that is purely sensational regarding the actions and purposes of the strikers.

The nomination of James E. Campbell for governor by the Democrats of Ohio indicates that they are going to make a sturdy fight to capture that state in the coming election.

Those millionaire senators are a power in the land, despite the occasional outbreaks of the voters who oppose their rule in the parties to which they belong.

"JUDGE" STEVENS ON SENATOR HOAR.

We find this in the Boston Transcript of Tuesday: At a picnic of the "patriotic orders" yesterday at Bowen's Landing, Hon. John H. D. Stevens of Ironwood, Mich., judge of the court of common pleas, thanked God that "Senator Hoar is not the moustache of the Republican party."

It is not very long ago since this rampant apostle of Apianism was prostrated against a complaint of the city marshal of Ironwood for failing to take over to the county, at the time and in the manner prescribed by law, fines imposed and collected by him as justice of the peace.

In one respect he is showing commendable wisdom: He is not attempting to do much missionary work where he is known.

This fellow Stevens is unfit to look an honest man or a pure woman in the face. The Apiaists may have use for such sealwags, but if they have the fact sufficiently indicates the character of their odorous odor.

PLAYING TENNIS BY PROXY. How Languid Men May Escape the Fatigues Incident to the Game.

"What's wanted," said the summer man, as he shifted himself slightly in the hammock, "is some way to lighten the arduous work of outdoor sports. See what we have done with baseball—hired men to play it for us, and changed it from a disagreeable and fatiguing labor to a delightful pastime, the exertion of cheering for the home team and applying abusive and opprobrious epithets to the umpire giving the muscles just the proper play and bringing a healthy glow to the skin.

"Well," replied the other summer man, according to the New York Tribune, "we can easily hire men to play that, too, no doubt."

"Tut, tut; that won't do," said the other, earnestly. "We must not lose the amateur element in tennis. Professional tennis cannot be thought of. But science and mechanical invention may be called in. Next season I shall introduce the A B C automatic tennis apparatus. At the proper distance each side of the net and parallel with it I shall place several slender metal rods a few inches from the ground. On these I shall string rackets by holes through the ends of their handles, so that they will lie flat on the ground, something like the scales on a fish, only not quite so thickly. The thing will be operated by electricity. I'll have a key and up lies a racket. Ball knocked back and forth four times a minute. Play you a game year from to-day—you in that hammock, I in this. Beautiful, simple, quick and easy. Everybody will be playing tennis with the automatic apparatus inside of three months after I put it on the market."

A HOUSEHOLD TREASURE. D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in his house, and his family has always found the very best results follow its use.

AN AGE OF FADS. A Sharp-Pointed Criticism on the Methods and Ideas of the Time.

It is a serious question whether we are in a spirit of decadence. The whole world appears to be in a condition of intellectual inactivity, or at least without those great mental struggles which characterized the recent past.

Of late, however, there is a widespread feeling that we have nothing to do; and the people, like idlers, are devising specious tasks for themselves, mostly means of recreation.

It is all this evidence of decadence, or is it inseparable from a long career of peace? When the great questions are settled must the people turn to the small? If anything important interested us we might go to war, whereas peace is maintained now by having nothing to fight for.

By correcting and beautifying the more vigorous productions of other periods, it does its characteristic work. Life is not as serious as it was thirty years ago, when men lived for something.

"In this country," said the optimist patriot, "the vote of the millionaire has no more weight than that of the poor laborer."

"No," said the pessimist anarchist, "it hasn't. But the millionaire doesn't have to vote. He just buys a legislature."

MANY WOMEN SUFFER FROM LACK OF INFORMATION. Doctors Are Too Reserved. A Woman Should Be Dealt With Openly.

Women are often allowed by their physicians to suffer much from lack of information and anxiety.

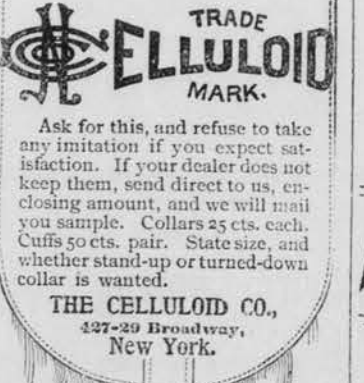

Women afflicted with female diseases are wise in communicating promptly with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass.

Can evidence be stronger than this? "I deem it my duty to announce the fact to all my fellow-sufferers of all female complaints that your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me of all the pains and suffering I was enduring when I wrote you last May."

Houghton National Bank Has Put in a New Safe.

It is of Latest Design and Absolutely Fire-Proof-Other Interesting Notes.

[All communications intended for this department should be addressed to Horace J. Stevens, Houghton, Mich. Telephone connection.]

HOUGHTON. E. E. Grip & Co., the Ishpeming contractors, are working on five jobs in Houghton...

The National bank of Houghton has just placed in its big vault a safe of the very latest style, absolutely fire proof, and built in a manner said to baffle the oldest burglars.

The dancing party given at the Armory on Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Goodell of Houghton and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright of Hancock was another of the very enjoyable social affairs for which Houghton is noted.

A camping party left for Lac la Belle on Wednesday about midnight and will remain out in the woods and near the waters for a week or more.

The new insane asylum at Newberry will soon be ready for occupancy, and all that could have been desired.

Bert Dunn went fishing this week and was having good luck. One big black bear came along.

The old house standing at the head of the Peabody incline blew over one night this week, and the skyline seems scarcely natural to the people of Houghton.

W. P. Seager returned Wednesday morning from a business trip to Duluth.

The Quincy Mining company is building four new houses at the mill for the use of employees.

Dan Harrington, bookkeeper at the Superior bank, has returned from a visit to Detroit.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Henry L. Baer of Hancock and Miss Clara Schroeder of Chicago.

Albert Roux of Ewen, contractor and builder, has decided to locate in Hancock, thinking copper preferable to sawdust as the foundation of a city.

The woolly rumor which credited J. C. Tipton with the intention of starting a daily paper here for the purpose of getting even with alleged enemies has apparently gone to the limbo of journalistic lies.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Goodsole are taking a hard-earned vacation and are enjoying the lake breezes as far east as Buffalo.

Edward F. Newcome, engineer of the E. P. Allis Reliance works at Milwaukee, which has built so much heavy machinery of late for the Houghton county mines, is in Calumet on business.

Will H. Thielman returned Wednesday from Detroit, feeling quite tired by the journey but in fair condition otherwise.

Montrose commandery, Knights Templar, will leave today for Boston. Some of the members will be home within ten days, while others will be gone six weeks.

Richard Massman, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has returned from his six weeks' outing at Lake Geneva. Now that he is home the project of putting up a handsome new building, for which the lot has already been donated, will doubtless be taken up and vigorously pushed.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen sent a strong delegation to the upper peninsula reunion at L'Anse yesterday.

In case the Ishpeming baseball club should fail to arrive here Saturday afternoon, as promised, the Hancock club will come out in the afternoon to play a friendly game with the Calumet nine.

Division No. 2, A. O. H., will picnic at Section 16 tomorrow.

HE WHISTLED FOR DR. POTTS.

Results Were Not Altogether What He Had Expected.

The other morning as a belated member of the Owl club was steering home he passed the house of a well-known physician.

The vestibule of this residence was open, and on its side was an acoustic tube, underneath which was the inscription: "Whistle for Dr. Potts."

Not wishing to be disobliged about so small a matter, the Owl stumbled up the steps, and, steadying himself against the wall, blew into the pipe with all the strength of his lungs.

The physician, who was awakened by the resultant shrill whistle near his head, arose, and, after wondering at the singular odor of whisky in the room, groped his way to the tube and shouted: "Well?"

"Glad to know you are well," was the reply, "but being a doctor, I suppose you can keep well at cost price, can't you?"

"What did you want?" said the man of pills, not caring to joke in the airy nothing of his nightgown.

"Well," said the Owl after a few minutes' meditation, "oh, by the way, are you young Potts or old Potts?"

"I am Dr. Potts. There is no young Potts."

"Not dead, I hope."

"There never was any. I have no son."

"Then you are young Potts and old Potts, too. Dear, dear, how singular."

"What do you want?" snapped the doctor.

"You know old Mrs. Pevine, who lives in the next block?"

"Yes. Is she sick? What's the matter?"

"Do you know her nephew, too—Bill Briggs?"

"Yes. Well?"

"Well, he went up to Bridgeport shooting this morning, and—"

"And he had an accident? Hold up a minute. I'll be right down."

"No, he's all right; but he got sixty-two ducks—eighteen of 'em mallards. I thought you might like to hear it."

"I say," came down from the exasperated M. D., "that's a jolly good joke, my friend. Won't you take something?"

"What?" said the surprised humorist, pausing for breath.

"Why, take something. Take this." And before the disgruntled funny man could withdraw his mouth a hastily compounded mixture of ink, ipecac and assafetida squirted from the pipe and deluged him from head to foot, about a pint monopolizing his shirt front and collar.

And while he danced frantically around sponging himself off with his handkerchief, and swearing like a pirate in the last act, he could hear an angel voice from above sweetly murmur:

"Have some more? No? Well, good-night. Come again soon, you funny dog, you. By-by."—Louisville Medical News.

FIGHTING WITH THE SWORD.

Historic Changes in the Weapon and in the Art of Using It.

In our time the word "fence" is applied technically to exercise with the sword or with the foil, which was only recently invented. In the Cirque d'Éte spectacle, the word was extended to all weapons, offensive and defensive, used in battle—shield, sword, rapier, two-handed sword, cutlass, saber and bayonet.

It is interesting to follow the various transformations wherein, little by little, skill replaced brutal force, at first treacherously, and, later, more loyally, as manners became more civilized, attaining at last the modern art of fencing, which, pure art or serious battle on the field, exacts absolute equality in weapons and in material condition of battle.

The Gaul was armed with the so-called Gallic sword, the blade of which was in the form of a leaf, widened in the middle, thin at the guard, and oval at the point. He was defended with the shield, which was long and with the helmet, ornamented with large wings and a mane. The soldier wore a coat of leather and cloth trousers. The Roman legionary wore a supple cuirass, made of bands of steel, which was articulated so as to give freedom to all the motions of the body. He wore a short, round helmet. He carried a long shield and a sword, which was wider, longer and flatter than is generally believed. Both Gaul and Roman had offensive and defensive arms. The same arm was not used to attack and defend, as is used to-day with the sword or the foil. This is to be observed because the interest of the spectacle was in the gradual development of the attacking weapon as a defensive weapon. In the remotest epoch, when one of two adversaries had lost his shield, he was at the mercy of his enemy.

The second phase of the spectacle leaped to the time of Francis I. Then the defensive armor had been so developed that the knight became a mass of iron, an ironclad. A battle was only a question of solidity in armor. The longer one could strike the armor without breaking it, the more chances had the one who wore it to win the battle. Then appeared the "bombarde" and canon, which iron could not resist. Heavy armor became useless, and soldiers defended themselves with their offensive weapons, the sword and the dagger. This was the origin of the real art of fencing. The lansquenets wore no cuirass, and did not carry a shield. They had enormous two-handed swords, solid enough to break what remained of the ancient armor. A battle between two men using this sword must have been terrible. Nobody knows when it first appeared. The only certain fact about it is that the art of fencing with it was as complete as the weapon itself, which was learnedly devised. The handle was not a simple cross; it protected the hands and could be used effectively at close quarters.

The ambuscade in which Bussy d'Amboise fell, in the time of Henry III, influenced the definite abandonment of the shield. The Mignons carried the attacking sword with the right hand, and held a dagger with the left hand. The dagger had the advantage over the shield of serving as an offensive weapon in case of need. Bussy defended himself valiantly against his adversaries. He defeated two of them. The third made his sword fall from his hand, and, as his dagger was too short against his adversary's long sword, Bussy used his cloak and killed his enemy as a torador does a bull. This was the finest epoch of dueling. Manuals of fencing began to appear, but duels were then often compounded felony. Then appeared the tall red figure of Cardinal Richelieu.

In 1627 occurred the famous duel between Montmorency-Boutteville and Count Beuvron. The former had fought twenty-two duels. Richelieu issued an edict prohibiting duelling under pain of the scaffold. Montmorency took refuge in Brussels, and there asked permission to return to France to fight one more duel. The permission was refused. Then he swore that he would return to France in spite of everybody, and fight in Paris, in daylight, in a central square. He did it. But Richelieu had him and one of his seconds arrested, and both were executed in Place de Greve. The meeting had been a loyal one.

Duels diminished in number, but did not vanish, and the science of fencing was improved. Fencers began to defend themselves with the sword, and to lunge. The Italian art of fencing lost its importance in 1628, when Thibaut published his compact folio volume on "L'Academie de l'Epee." According to its rules, the fencer lunged with both legs, whereas the fencer of the present time lunges with the right leg only. Mlle. de Maupin fought in accordance with Thibaut's rule. Her greatest pleasure was to dress like a man. Imprisoned in a convent she set fire to her cell and went on the stage. One night she met one of her comrades in a deserted street, and stole his purse. The next day he related that he had been attacked by a numerous band. "You are boasting," she said, "the numerous band was myself alone. Here is your purse." Her adventures were innumerable. She quarreled in a play house with three gentlemen, and fought with and killed each one successively.

The assault of the Chevalier d'Eon against the Chevalier de Saint Georges was not, properly speaking, an assault, but a series of plastic poses. This Chevalier d'Eon of classic memory was not a woman, but a man who, the very reverse of Mlle. de Maupin, wore feminine dress. He was an ambassador in England and in Russia. The saber was introduced at the time of the first empire, probably from the Orient. Then came the bayonet, about which some writers pretend it was invented at Bayonne in 1671. What is certain is that the first bayonet was a dagger, stuck in the barrel of a gun. There are several authentic proofs of this in the Artillery museum.—L'Illustration.

SHOT DOWN BY BANDITS.

Detective Powers of Grand Rapids Fatally Wounded in Discharge of Duty.

HE HAD LOCATED THE MICHIGAN TRAIN ROBBERS.

But While Attempting to Arrest Them Received Bullet in Head. Outlaws Escaped.

ADDED MURDER TO CRIMES.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 22.—Two men, answering the description of the Fenwick train robbers, boarded a Lake Shore train at Dor, eighteen miles south of this city, this evening and rode as far as Eagle Mills, three miles out. The trainmen notified the police and officers were sent out to hunt them up. They were not found until they had walked into the city and boarded a Grand Rapids & Indiana train for the north at 11:30 tonight.

Detective George W. Powers, of the local police force, boarded the train before it was outside the city limits and attempted to place the men under arrest. Both drew revolvers and fired at the detective. One bullet hit him in forehead and lodged in his brain. The men then jumped from the train and made their escape.

The entire police force and all the deputy sheriffs are after them and it is thought they will surely be taken before morning. Powers was taken to a hospital. He will die.

FENSVILLE, Mich., Aug. 22.—Four express officials are here tracing the Chicago & West Michigan robbery. They now admit there were four money packages in the express car safe, but will not state the amount lost. The robbers now have a good start and have left no clues, but the officers are confident of tracing them.

THE SUGAR BOUNTY.

Whole Question May Be Referred to Secretary Carlisle.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Ex-Senator Manderson today telegraphed Controller of the Treasury Bowles that he had forwarded a motion to refer the whole question of the payment of the sugar bounty appropriation to the secretary of the treasury on account of the peculiar language of the appropriation which, he claims, takes the matter out of the hands of the regular accounting officers of the government. If Manderson's motion prevails it will take the question of the bounty payment entirely out of Bowles' hands. While the language of the act seems to give color for the claim that the secretary of the treasury should issue the warrants directly on the certificates of the commissioner of the internal revenue, it is pointed out that the language of the appropriation is identical with the original McKinley bounty, which was not directed either by the last or the present administration as taking those disbursements out of the hands of the regular accounting officers of the government.

NEW JERSEY SENSATION.

Trenton Millionaire Charged with Breaking Up Happy Home.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 22.—Frank A. Magouan, until recently rated as a millionaire and frequently mentioned in connection with the Republican gubernatorial nomination this year, was arrested today on capias, charged with the seduction of Helen Edith Barnes and the alienation of her affections from her husband, John Albert Barnes. The latter is superintendent of the Eastern Rubber company, one of the Magouan concerns, which a fortnight ago passed into the hands of a receiver; and it is he who prefers the charges against Magouan. Magouan was taken at once to the Mercer county jail and detained under $25,000 bail. The heavy bail was fixed on account of the belief that Magouan was arranging to leave for Mexico. The complaint covers thirty typewritten pages and is a succinct description of Magouan's alleged methods and doings in running Barnes' home. Captain Farrel and Senator Kirm this afternoon furnished bail for Magouan. The case will come up for trial at the November term of the supreme court.

According to his complaint Barnes and his wife have been married seven years. They have one child, a daughter aged five. In May 1894, Barnes came to Trenton as superintendent of the Eastern Rubber company. In March last, Barnes says, he made the discovery that his wife was infatuated with Magouan and the latter was on such terms of intimacy with her that his peace of mind was destroyed. Barnes alleged that after that Magouan consorted with his wife at different PERIODS AT HOTELS IN NEW YORK, PITTSBURGH, TORONTO AND OTHER CITIES.

His wife, Barnes owns, seems completely under Magouan's control and both, he says, are now living at the Hotel Windsor, New York. Magouan has made Mrs. Barnes believe that he intends to marry her when he is divorced from his own wife. Mrs. Barnes refuses to return to Trenton, her husband says in the complaint, and in response to entreaties to do so she repeatedly declared she that loves the ground Magouan walks on and she will not give him up.

BARNES CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

TRENTON, Aug. 22.—After his release on bail Magouan had a consultation with his attorneys, which resulted in his applying for a warrant for Barnes' arrest upon the charge of perjury. Barnes heard of the warrant and surrendered himself. He waived examination and was held in $5,000 bail, which he secured at midnight.

Bolivia and Peru Will Submit Differences to Arbitration.

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 22.—[Copyrighted by Associated Press.]—The question at issue between Peru and Bolivia has been settled as the result of a conference held today. It was agreed that the question of the salute of the Bolivian flag by Peru, which was demanded by the Bolivian government, shall be submitted to arbitration by another American republic.

FORGER LEWIS LOCATED.

Is Living in Lonely Cabin in Wilds of Ohio.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 22.—A West Union (O.) special says: Z. T. Lewis, the absconding forger from Urbana, O., who did such a heavy business in forged municipal bonds, has been seen in disguise near Old Home, Adams county. He is said to live in a lonely cabin among friends, who would be hostile to any one seeking to molest him. The country is very wild and difficult of access.

FIERCE FOREST FIRES.

They Are Raging Again in Portions of Idaho and Washington.

NARROW ESCAPES FROM DEATH REPORTED.

Many Settlers Compelled to Leave Everything Behind and Fly for Their Lives.

MUCH PROPERTY IN DANGER.

SPOKANE FALLS, Wash., Aug. 22.—Forest fires have broken out afresh in both this state and Idaho. Many campers and prospectors who have been out in the forests are arriving here daily and tell stories of being overtaken by the fierce rush of flames and compelled to flee for safety.

Immense trees which stood for centuries succumbed to the destroyer. Those who witnessed the present fires say the sight of these huge blazing trees as they topple over with a noise of thunder presents a scene both grand and terrible. Animals of every kind can be seen fleeing before the flames.

Price Lake, in northern Idaho, is now surrounded by fires and the settlers were forced to leave in haste and escape in boats by way of the lake.

NEW WHISKY TRUST.

American Spirits Manufacturing Company Files Articles of Incorporation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The reorganization of the whisky trust was consummated today in the incorporation at the office of the secretary of state at Albany of the American Spirits Manufacturing company, with a capital stock of $35,000. The principal office will be located in New York city. At a meeting of the directors the details of the organization were perfected and officers elected. Upon the order confirming the sale of the properties of the old Distilling & Cattle Feeding company it is understood the properties will be turned over to the new company, which will issue its security in payment therefor, according to the reorganization plan.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RECEIVERSHIP.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 22.—The hearing on the application of Brayton Ives for the removal of the receivers of the Northern Pacific railroad began today before United States Judges Gilbert and Hanford.

SLASHING THE FARES.

Knights Templar Rates Down to $10 at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Knights Templar rates went to pieces here today. Tickets were sold on the street freely from $10 to $12 over different roads by which the regular agreed fare is $19. There seems to be a regular scramble among the roads for business and they appear willing to carry it for whatever is offered them. No explanation can be given for the demoralization. Some of the roads explain the sales at the low rate by saying that the brokers have formed a combination to break rates or have got hold of a limited number of tickets at very low rates from parties who, after purchasing them, found that it would be impossible for them to make the trip to Boston and did not know that they could have the tickets redeemed by the railroad. The fact remains, however, that tickets can be had on the street at the prices named and that the people are being pressed to purchase them at these figures.

ANOTHER OEBBOT LESSON.

Agricultural Department Men May Be Paid in Mexican Silver Coin.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The recent payment of salaries at the agricultural department in silver dollars has called attention to the fact that on two previous occasions those employed were paid in gold. The department books show that in August, 1893, $19,000 in gold was paid to employees and $800 in gold was paid to certain employees Aug. 15, 1894. On this statement this afternoon Secretary Morton said that while under the recent payments there had been strenuous objection on the part of those paid in silver coin the previous disbursement of gold had met with no protests whatever. He added he would, if necessary, put into actual practice the proposition to pay two Mexican silver half dollars for every United States dollar when the present value of fifty-three cents was lowered to make the plan consistent.

FATAL SHOOTING IN OHIO.

Three Men Sought Amusement—One Killed and Others Wounded.

TOLEDO, Aug. 22.—A shooting affray occurred at Rattle Snake corners, six miles west of here, this evening, in which one man lost his life and two others were fatally wounded. Three men had left the city for the corners to have a night's amusement and at once went to a saloon owned by Fred Behrendt. They became noisy and the saloon keeper ordered them from the place. They walked to the sidewalk and again attempted to enter the saloon, when they were met with a charge of buck shot fired full at their heads by the saloon keeper. Mike Welsh, a bartender, was killed and Nelson Seymour and Henry Winters were fatally hurt. Behrendt is held on a charge of murder.

WILD STEER ON RAMPAGE.

Broke Loose from Stock Yards and Terrorized Indianapolis People.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 22.—A wild steer got away from the stock yards today and for three hours the people on the South side were in a state of terror. The steer took possession of the Union station and after driving all the passengers out attempted to demolish the lunch stands. The steer also charged on the guests of the Spencer and Sherman hotels and those in front were forced to flee for their lives. Simon Gest was tossed ten feet by the animal and seriously injured. The steer was finally lassoed.

IT WOULD BE USELESS.

Balfour's Opinion of an International Monetary Conference.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—In commons today the first lord of the treasury, the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, replying to Sir John Leng, Liberal, who asked whether he would advise the government to invite an international monetary conference, said: "I have always been in favor of an international agreement; but, I have not the right to pledge my colleagues and I do not believe an international agreement would result from an international conference."

COLORED K. OF P. TROUBLE.

Officers Decide to Pay Disputed Claim and End Wrangle.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—The colored Knights of Pythias legal wrangle is about to be amicably settled. Today in the presence of Judge Chetlain the officers of the lodge who were attached for contempt promised that for the sake of the honor of the society they would satisfy the Dolly Proctor claim, which has caused all the trouble. The contempt proceedings, however, are still pending, being continued until tomorrow.

ARRANGING NEW SCALE.

Representatives of Green Glass Workers and Manufacturers in Conference.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 22.—The Green Glass Blowers' league and the Green Glass Manufacturers' association wage committees met here this afternoon to arrange a scale for the ensuing year. The workmen demand a restoration to the scale of 1893, which is an advance of 14 per cent. over the present wages. The manufacturers, of course, are opposed to granting the increase, but both sides are hopeful of a settlement.

CHOLERA IN JAPAN.

It Has Already Caused Over Sixteen Thousand Deaths.

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 22.—Since the outbreak of cholera in Japan there have been twenty-five thousand cases and over sixteen thousand deaths.

Knights Templar Got Wet.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—The steamer Terrebonne, from Kingston for Montreal, with several commanderies, Knights Templar, on board struck a reef at the foot of Cascade Rapids and sank immediately after. As far as reported no lives were lost.

Arrested for Wearing Bloomers.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 22.—Miss Noya, the first female cyclist to appear on the streets in bloomers, was arrested by the police today on an ordinance prohibiting "indecent apparel."

Took His Own Life.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 22.—Dr. Charles Lenge, aged sixty, who founded the Kansas City Daily Herald in 1870, committed suicide tonight. He became insane over spiritualism.

The First Trial Race.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—America's cup committee has selected Sept. 7 next as the day on which the first series of races between Valyrie III and the Defender shall be held.

Distress After Eating

Sufferers from dyspepsia and indigestion are among the most miserable people on earth.

"I was a great sufferer from indigestion. I got so bad I could scarcely walk. Everything I ate hurt me and I could retain very little on my stomach. I tried prescriptions, but my trouble only grew worse. My wife was taking Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier, and induced me to try it. I took a few doses from her bottle, and was greatly relieved. I then took three more bottles, and am entirely cured. I am able to eat heartily without any distress. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." H. W. NICKERSON, Pikes Peak, Indiana.

Next A. O. U. W. Reunion Here.

Marquette captured the annual reunion for 1895 of the Ancient Order of United Workmen of the upper peninsula by eight votes to two for Bessemer and one for Escanaba at the convention of lodges at L'Anse yesterday. The annual celebration at L'Anse yesterday proved a very pleasant affair. Despite the threatening skies of the morning the weather turned out unexceptionable and the pretty little capital of Baraga county entertained about one thousand visitors. The village of Baraga of course came in mass and there were nearly five hundred people from the copper country, but small delegations from the iron districts. The strike and hard times in general and the threatening weather in particular cut down the attendance from this county less than one hundred. Upon arrival of the special trains bearing the great mass of visitors from outside the county the parade was held and the lodges made a good showing. In the afternoon there were addresses by Hon. F. C. Chamberlain, Grand Recorder W. Warne Wilson and others. An Indian war dance was held for the amusement of visitors who had never seen that strange performance and there were some athletic events. Only two competitors appeared in the band contest, the Ishpeming City and Quincy aggregations, the former of which took the prize. In the evening there was a grand ball at Firemen's Hall to wind up the festivities. The special train with the Marquette county delegation did not leave until 11:30, but Engineer Bice hustled along at such a lively pace that Marquette was reached at 1:50 this morning. A few of the visitors from this end stayed over and will return today.

Will Continue This Evening.

The ladies of the Swedish Lutheran church gave a supper and musical entertainment last evening which was so well attended that it will be continued tonight. A good supper will be served at a reasonable price, and there will be an informal program of music and recitations. The public is invited to attend. The proceeds are for the benefit of the school which the parish conducts during the summer months.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY.

J. J. Patek, the Ironwood attorney, was in the city last night. The street commissioner is making haste slowly with the widening of Fisher and Champion streets.

It is said that among the people who squeal the loudest when goods in their line are bought out of the city are some of the worst offenders in that direction.

The owner of a girl's grey woolen jacket can recover it by calling at Farnham's drugstore. It was picked up on the road to the branch prison Sunday.

F. W. Reed's picnic party at Lake Michigan announced for yesterday had to be postponed on account of the wind, but will be given today, weather permitting.

The wind, which blew a gale yesterday, had gone down entirely last night but the hot and heavy air promised another outbreak of the elements of some kind before many hours.

The steamer City of Marquette will make two trips to Partridge Island Sunday, one at 11 a. m. and the second at 2 p. m. This makes a pleasant little trip of two hours on the lake.

The reserved seat chart for "Millie, the Quadroon" will be opened at Bigelow's this morning. This play will bring out the full strength of the Tuxedo club and will be well worth seeing.

The second of the regular semi-weekly dancing parties will be given at the Hotel Superior pavilion this evening. With the guests of the hotel and those who attend from the city the occasion should be a pleasant one.

COMMON COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

OFFICIAL. A special meeting of the common council of the city of Marquette was held in the council chamber on Wednesday, the 21st day of August, A. D. 1895, at 8 o'clock p. m. President Sherman presiding.

There were present Aldermen Brown, Carney, Hoag, Rossetter, Robertson, Sherman, Shea, Tobin and Vandenberg.

The recorder read the call for the special meeting of the council at this time stating its object and presented an affidavit showing due and timely service of notice of said meeting on all of the aldermen of the city, which notice and affidavit were duly filed.

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

The contract and bond of James M. Wilkinson, of $75,000, as custodian of the public moneys, signed by Ferdinand Bendig, Balthasar Neidhart, Frank Pendell, C. H. Call, L. C. Palmer, Peter White and E. H. Towar as sureties were presented, and on motion of Alderman Tobin, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted.

Whereas, the contract with James M. Wilkinson for the safekeeping of the public moneys, together with a bond in the same of seventy-five thousand dollars, with seven sureties, has been presented for the approval of the common council.

Resolved, That said contract be and the same is hereby approved and the number and sufficiency of said sureties is also hereby approved; and

Resolved, That the city treasurer be and he is hereby authorized and directed to deposit the city moneys and funds with James M. Wilkinson in accordance with said contract.

Ayes—Aldermen Brown, Carney, Hoag, Rossetter, Robertson, Sherman, Shea, Tobin and Vandenberg; nays—none.

Petition of 173 citizens and taxpayers protesting against the purchase, of outside parties, of rock crusher and road roller was presented and laid over till next meeting.

The council then on motion adjourned.

THOMAS MEADS, Recorder.

A NEW WOMAN ON BABIES.

Views of a Mother Who is a Progressive Woman. If motherhood means anything, it should include the duties of a relationship dating from the conception of the child to the close of the life of either mother or child.

Yet the average mother concerns herself, if not wholly, then chiefly, with ministrations to the merely physical needs of her offspring.

From the time the child leaves her arms the bond of relationship ceases to develop, and with the growing years the child is more and more isolated from mental or spiritual association with the mother.

The inability of the mother to realize her grown-up son as anything but her "baby," her "little boy," has its sentimental and poetic side, and it is put to frequent literary use. But that mothers do actually fail so completely to keep in touch and in intelligent and adequate maternal relationship to the child, as it develops from babyhood into manhood, is a fact to be deplored, not applauded.

Ever during babyhood, the period met with some degree of efficiency by the average mother, the standard of good motherhood seems based totally upon a consideration of the physical needs only of the child.

A consuming passion of maternal tenderness, an inordinate vanity, and a profound ignorance or disregard of hygienic principles is the equipment of the usual mother in her attempt to direct the beginning of her child's life.

A never failing flow of affection, and a jealous watchfulness, a hysterical anxiety and a generally unbalanced emotional condition create the mental atmosphere in which the child's nature develops.

Baby mustn't be allowed to cry a minute if any conceivable gymnastics can stop him. That is accepted as a canon of nursery government from the beginning. The rule classically providing that if gymnastics fail food may accomplish the soothing effect, or when the happy infant has attained a month or so of discretion, allowing him his own way, whatever it is, must be resorted to, the high and mighty mandate being that "the darlin' musn't cry, no indeed."

All this is wrong. An outrage to the child's physical and mental and moral well being, and a fearful reflection upon the intelligence of the parents.

From the time the child is out of the doctor's and the "monthly nurse's" hands let it alone as much as possible.

Wrap it loosely in light flannel. Don't let it perspire and don't let it get chilled, and don't overfeed it. It should do little more than eat and sleep for at least ten days. It shouldn't be dandled, or cooched, or pulled about, or chucked or made to "milk for its granny." It should be let alone. Handle it as little as possible. It really isn't thoroughly alive yet, and no matter what gasping wailments the combined assaults of all its relatives may induce, it does not "know its papa," and it doesn't want to.

If he cries something is the matter with him. To swoop upon him and yell in his ears that he wants 'er mudder-ruver so 'e did, and to skirt dance him around the chandelier and yell at him will only make more the matter with him.

Of course he may stop crying, but it will be because he is scared to death, or is so confused he forgets which end he ought to cry with, but the original cause of his discomfort is probably not removed, but only fearfully augmented.

The well ordered baby, who is being let alone and not overfed, cries for some perfectly simple reason. Maybe he wants turning over; perhaps his clothes have grown tight while his last meal digests; maybe he is thirsty and wants a little water; possibly it's a pin. Probably his di-de-lumpies—call them what you like, if you only attend to them—want changing. If he is a properly treated baby ten to one it is one of these troubles that produces the cry; it isn't colic, because he hasn't been overfed, or banged about after eating; it isn't because "he wanted to dit up and hawver ittle 'womp vint mudder," because he didn't. It isn't because he "fought he mudder had done often leff 'im," because he doesn't care a bit whether she has or not. It probably isn't because he is "juss as mad as he could be," though it is likely enough to be that after you have waved him about in the air for awhile and screamed gibberish at him.

It may be nice and pretty to sit for hours with the child in your arms, watching it while it sleeps. But it isn't good for the child. Or for you either. He will sleep blunder more wholesomely on a nice blanket covered hard bed. And while you may make a charming "mother and child" picture hanging over him, you will be asphyxiating him at the same time by breathing in his face.

And that is what is happening when all the relatives on both sides of the house hang over his poor little puckerated face and say: "Wazzer bessid ittle lammie; didder lover rantie, so he diddle." So he dottle, poor thing. The only wonder is you don't kill him before he is a pair of weeks old. And I have no doubt he often wishes you would and put him out of his misery.—N. Y. Advertiser.

Kind Offer.

Impoliteness may sometimes, perhaps, be answered properly with impertinence. A struggling author went to an editor with a manuscript. "Oh," exclaimed the editor, "don't bother me now, I've other fish to fry!" "Well, I'll fry your fish for you," said the author, "while you read my manuscript!" So the editor had to read it.—Youth's Companion.

Communication for Every Parent in Marquette.

Sterilized Milk and Other Foods Did Not Avail.

The following communication to the manufacturers of lactated food is published for the benefit of the parents in Marquette. No further comment is necessary.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 30, 1894. Wells, Richardson & Co.—

DEAR SIR:—As my baby is a lactated food baby I enclose you her photograph. When she was born she weighed three pounds and was just fifteen inches long!

Having arrived six or eight weeks earlier than she was expected, she has been an exceptionally hard baby to raise. She was not strong enough to nurse at the breast and for one week was fed from a spoon, upon sterilized milk. My husband, Dr. S. A. Clark, is a graduate from Harvard Medical school. At the end of the first week we put little Millicent upon the bottle, and as sterilized milk in various strengths didn't agree with her, we tried a milk until she was one month old. Then she refused to take any more of this food and her weight had not increased at all, so we changed food again. We tried cows' milk, condensed milk, and four or five food preparations, but nothing agreed with her as lactated food, and we went back to that after each new trial. At two months old she had doubled her weight upon lactated food. Being an eight months baby she has always been very delicate, and she is still feeding upon your food and thrives upon it. Millicent was born Aug. 25, 1893, and now is nearly fifteen months old and weighs about twenty pounds and is very plump. The photograph I enclose is the latest we have. We have gotten most of the food at Coburn & Graves' pharmacy of Northampton, Mass., they being my husband's druggists. Very truly yours,

ESTHER AVERY CLARK.

HOSEA LURVEY. "That man with the walking stick? Why, that's Hosea Lurvey, of Brodick, Esq. Looks like he owned the hull town and part of the next, don't he?"

"I don't wonder you're surprised, if you recollect how Mrs. Lurvey used to run things up at the Ridge. Hod had no more to say than that yaller cat down by the wall. But there's many a change in these fifteen years you've been gone."

"I should have thought it would have taken twice fifteen years to make such a piece of pomposity out of Hod Lurvey. He was the worst hepecked man I ever saw," replied Jasper Burroughs, tipping his chair back against the wall, preparatory to a long talk with his old-time friend and neighbor.

"I told you about the saddle they bought, just before I sold out, didn't I? No? Then I must. They came into the store, and Mrs. Lurvey asked to look at saddles. Of course I thought it was for herself, so I brought out a woman's saddle. She shook her head.

"I want a man's saddle. It's for my husband."

"So I took them out into the back shop where there was a lot hanging up. She looked them over, asked the price of this, and found fault with that, and, finally, picked out the poorest and cheapest of the lot. It was a shame, too, for the Lurvey was well-to-do folks, and it's cheapest in the long run to buy good lather. 'Mayhap your husband might like to see the saddle, before you pay for it,' I said, pitying the shamefaced little man.

"Why, don't you know Mr. Lurvey? He always depends on my judgment. This is my husband," drawing him forward, as if he had been a bashful boy. "Make a bow, Mr. Lurvey."

"He didn't come into the shop again while I owned it, he was that ashamed, or else that shrew of his wouldn't let him come to the village alone. I don't suppose he ever had a cent to call his own. And now you tell me that pompous old gentleman was Hod Lurvey. Why, it would be nothing short of a miracle."

"It's quite a story, Jasper; but if you don't mind listening, I'll tell you how it came about," replied Hiram Tucker, moving his chair so that he could watch the growing interest in his friend's face.

"Things got to such a pass betwixt the Lurvey's after you went off that I just couldn't stand it so one day, when Hod was cutting bushes out in the further corner of the pasture, well out of sight of the house, I went over to him, and sez I:

"Hod, why don't you assert your independence, and take your lawful place as head of your family?"

"You orter seen him start and turn white. If a cannon ball had taken his head clean off he couldn't have been more surprised.

"I mean it," sez I. "You're a full-grown man, and orter take your place in the world as a man, not a mouse, to be scart by a woman. The Scripser says a man shall be the head of the household. There's no earthly reason why you shouldn't be of yours."

"Do you think so?" he asked, turning white as a sheet. The idea had struck him all at once, and had come high being too much for him. It showed plainer than words could have done how it galled him to have things go the way they had. "Mrs. Lurvey says I'm not to be trusted," he added, hopelessly.

"We'll trust you any time," sez I. "Come out to the village and get what you want at airy one of the stores; they'll trust you till harvesting if you'll come out like a man and do your own business."

"Do you know, you've come jest in the nick of time?" asked Hod, looking me full in the face. "Mrs. Lurvey has bargained the farm away, this old farm that father cleared, and she says I have got to sign the deed to night. I'd ruther sign away my right hand, and if you'll stand by me I won't do it."

"Well, the outcome o' it was that the farm wasn't sold, but Mrs. Lurvey packed her trunk in a hurry and went down country to her folks, and left Hod with everything to see to, and hayin' jest comin' on. There was ten cows, and seven calves, and five cosset lambs, and hens, and chickens, and ducks, and geese, and turkeys, and the three children. The youngest hadn't more'n ten year old. She thought if Hod was conceited enough to think he could run his own business, he might tend to her as well. But it was the best thing that ever happened to Hod.

"He come over and wanted my Jane Maria go and keep house for him. Now, Jane was as capable a girl as one often sees at fifteen, and there was Susan to take her place at home, so I sez: "Go." Then he told Ben—the boy was growing up as lazy and sassy as I had need be—that he'd pay him every week if he'd tend to the poultry right up prime. That kept him and the turks both out'n mischief.

"'Twas surprising how self-reliant Hod grew from day to day. He didn't ask advice from nobody, but went right ahead. It seemed as if he grewed taller. He sartly did hold his head higher. He got a new suit of clothes, his first bughten suit, and a tall hat and a buggy, and sold two old cows that had been more plague than profit to him, and a lot of things that he had been hankering to do.

"The neighbors begun to hope that Mrs. Lurvey had gone off for good, Hod was getting on so much better without her, when the stage stopped at their door one night, and out she got. Jane had just come to the door with the baby in her arms. Hod was bringing in the milk.

"What are you here for?" demanded Mrs. Lurvey, looking cross enough to snap the girl's head off. "Put on your things and go home."

"You won't do any such thing, Jane," commanded Hod, firmly. "I hired you to work here, and here you'll stay till after harvesting."

he looked his wife full in the face, like one who meant to be master. "They had it back and forth for a week, Jane told me, before Mrs. Lurvey would give him a mite of peace, but Hod was as firm as a rock. She might go or stay, as she chose, but he was going to be master in his own house. But such a life as she led him! "We was afraid Hod couldn't stand the pressure, and if he yielded an inch he was lost. If only he could get out from that everlasting nagging until he got more self-assertion.

"Why not send him to the legislature?" asked my wife. "Why, he don't know the first thing about politics," sez I. "We want somebody to do credit to the town. Hod hasn't been out to town meetin' since he took the freeman's oath, twenty odd year ago."

"But wife said things couldn't go so badly to rack and ruin at the state house as they was going at Tick Ridge, even if he did vote the wrong way, and the only thing that would really help Hod was to show Mrs. Lurvey that some folks respected his opinions, if she didn't."

"It would be more credit to Brodick to save Hod Lurvey than to send the smartest man in town," sez she, and we couldn't disagree with her.

"Well, we talked it up one side and down the other at the caucus. Rafe Willey, who had been representative for five years, and of course expected to be again, said he 'muff sight ruther' to be again, and would work for him. There wasn't no danger but we could carry the town easy enough. There wasn't a man, far nor near, but would give all his old hats to get even with Mrs. Lurvey."

"Hod did not know what was up, but I made him promise to go down and vote. He said he would come over, cross lots, and go down with me. When I went out to the barn that morning who should I see but Hod coming up the hill with his old clothes on, and looking as meaching as a whipped dog."

"She suspected I was going to the village to-day and got tearing mad," sez he. "She locked my store clothes up and put the key in her pocket and told me to be lively about the chores, for we was going to pick geese to-day. I fed around, then made tracks for here. I guess I might as well give up just as last. I will have to come. I don't believe that man lives who could stand up against her when she gets in a rage."

"You're tired and hungry," sez I; "come in to breakfast, then we'll talk things over."

"I don't suppose I was as sympathetic as I might have been, for there's anything under the sun that riles me it is to have a man under a woman's thumb."

"It took some arguing to screw his courage up to the pint of buying a second suit of clothes, but he done it; and there wasn't a spruicer looking man at town meeting that day than Hosea Lurvey. We had agreed to stop calling him Hod and to call him Hosea or Mr. Lurvey, to see if that wouldn't prop up his self-respect a little.

"He voted the straight ticket through till they come to town representative; then his name was proposed and was greeted with such a cheer that the moderator said it was a waste of time to ballot and we'd elect him by acclamation. Then we escorted him home in the style."

"Mrs. Lurvey come to the door all primed and loaded to give him a Scotch blessing, and was some took back to see so many of us. Col. Hooker stopped forward and sez, sez he: "Allow me, madam, to introduce to ye our new representative, Hosea Lurvey, of Brodick, Esq."

"You've hit it right for once," she answered. "If there's an Esq. anywhere it ain't Hod Lurvey that deserves the title, and I ain't overly sure that Brodick does, either, if it's made such a fool of itself. Waal, Mr. Lurvey, of Brodick, Esq.," making him a mocking bow, 'ye better bid your friends good night and come in. I've got a little account to settle with ye."

"Thank ye kindly, but I promised to go down to the colonel's to supper," sez he. "We only come up to tell ye the news." Then how we cheered for our new representative.

"That night the hull town turned out to serenade him, and on one pretext or another he wasn't alone much for the next few days.

"He hired Nathan Simpson to run the farm whilst he was gone, and told him what to do and how to do it. Mrs. Lurvey might as well have tried to drive a mule as to make Nate go agin' Hosea's orders. There was different works at Tick Ridge from that time.

"You never see how Hosea improved when once he had a chance. He took right hold of politics as though he had been brought up to 'em all his life and it wasn't long before he had the reputation of being about as shrewd as they make 'em."

"We knowed, when we met him at the post office, on his way home the first time, that our experiment had succeeded, and he was going home to rule the roost. Mrs. Lurvey sez it, too, and give up trying to hold her own agin' him. He has been to the legislature every other term since. We send Rafe Willey other times. This year he is first selectman and overseer of the poor."

"He has got one of the finest stock farms in the state, and has things in a different style from any Brodick has ever had before. He's makin' money faster'n any other man at Tick Ridge and spends more, too. That is where his independence shows itself most, for Mrs. Lurvey is tighter than the bark to a tree, and keeps saying they will be on the town yet. Well, if they be, we'll help 'em out with a deal better grace than if Hod had never proved himself a man. The boys have grown up fine, steady young men, and the gal is one to be proud of."

"You must go over to Tick Ridge, but I warn you that Mrs. Lurvey will introduce him to ye as the colonel did that night, Hosea Lurvey, of Brodick, Esq."—N. Y. Herald.

A. F. Liebermann, Manager of the Postal Telegraph Office, Has Absconded.

QUITE A NUMBER OF CREDITORS LEFT TO MOURN.

Drink and Vicious Courses Led to His Downfall and to Swindling, Theft and Forgery.

FLED FROM HIS CRIMES.

A. F. Liebermann, for the last three or four months manager of the Postal Telegraph company here, is a fugitive from charges of embezzlement and forgery. It is one of the same old kind of cases where a man of good abilities and with good position and prospects lets drink and vice get away with him. In addition to forging vouchers for payments never made Liebermann left numerous bills unpaid, both the company's and his own personal obligations. He is also believed to have traded on the acquaintance of certain people here with his family in Sheboygan, Wis., to borrow money without having any prospect of repaying it. His shortage to the Postal company will not exceed, it is said, $200 and of course the company will pay any just debts that he incurred on its account. The amount of his personal debts is not known but one attorney has a claim of $50 for board and lodging due the Hotel Janzen and there are undoubtedly miscellaneous bills of all kinds, not to speak of at least $50 borrowed from one man by representations that he was authorized to use the company's credit and on the strength of the lender's acquaintance with his family.

THE MINING JOURNAL was informed last Monday evening that Liebermann had jumped the town and left an empty cash box and numerous debts behind him. His friends, however, while they admitted the debts and also that Liebermann was short in his accounts, said that he had represented to them that he was going home to get some money to straighten up things and would be back Tuesday or Wednesday. This view of the matter was strengthened by the fact during the day he had communicated with the office here from a station down the Northwestern road and seemed to be making no effort to conceal his whereabouts. As this paper had no desire to kick a man when he was down and trying to get up again the affair was let pass for the time on that basis. It now appears that Liebermann reached Sheboygan late Monday night and after an interview with his father left that place for parts unknown at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning. It is now said that he was in similar trouble once before when in the service of the Western Union and that his father, who is a man of considerable means, squared up the matter. It would appear that his father must have refused to do anything more and that Liebermann preferred flight to the penalties.

Mr. E. J. Nally, general manager of the Western division of the Postal Telegraph company, was here yesterday checking up the office. He said that when he checked up Liebermann about a month ago there was an apparent shortage of about $35. But as this was not uncommon where a manager paid his own salary and otherwise disbursed as well as received money, and as Liebermann promised that the amount should be made good at once, nothing was done about it. About ten days ago, however, Mr. Nally received a reminder from the superintendent of the Western Express company, saying that the Postal was badly in arrears for the rent of its office here and asking an early adjustment. Among the vouchers shown by Liebermann at the last audit here were receipts for rent ostensibly from the agent of the Western, W. E. Harris. Mr. Nally wrote to Liebermann giving him until last Monday to straighten up the matter and received a reply by telegraph promising that it would be done. Some time Sunday night Liebermann gathered up the loose cash in the office and drove to Neenah, whence he caught the day train south on the Northwestern.

Subsequent investigation has proved that on the rent receipts which Liebermann presented Mr. Harris' name was forged and that the money was never paid. Mr. Harris of course reported the arrears of rent to his headquarters in due course and when these kept accumulating the Western Express people drew the attention of the Postal headquarters to them, which resulted in the discovery of the forgeries. It also appears that Liebermann concealed part of his shortage the last time his office was checked up by not paying Mrs. Turner, the operator in the office, and the messenger boys and inducing them to say nothing about it. Of course they will lose nothing but have been inconvenienced by not getting their pay when it was due.

Liebermann is a good electrician and operator and if he had been content to let whisky alone and attend to business would have undoubtedly risen in the telegraph service. The Postal company only took over the line between this place and Milwaukee on Jan. 1, at that time buying out the Milwaukee & Lake Superior company. This concern was promoted by the noted Marus Pollasky and the principal owners were Milwaukee capitalists. The Milwaukee & Lake Superior company as soon as it began to build northward formed an alliance with the Postal and its offices were known by that name, though as a matter of fact the Postal company did not own the line. Finally the Postal company bought in the line and at once began to improve it. Liebermann had been in the Western Union service, was known to be a good operator and electrician and his brother being the Postal manager at Sheboygan got him the appointment here. His family are highly respectable people and old residents of Sheboygan.

F. J. Spickler, manager of the Postal office at Marinette, has been transferred to this city and will arrive here today.

The Postal company will undoubtedly make every effort to trace and punish Liebermann.

"In Old Madrid". One of the prettiest and wittiest little comedies that has been seen here for a long time is "In Old Madrid", produced at the opera house last evening by that clever singing comedian Francis Jones, most ably assisted by Gerald Griffin, Frank Wesson, Lottie Walters-Wesson and Bertha Boutwell. The scene is laid in seventeenth century Spain, the Spain of Gil Blas, out of whose veracious memoirs the story might well have been taken had Le Sage happened to think to put it there. An outline of the plot has already been given in these columns but it is also to be said that the author, Mr. Edward Owings Towne, has framed the story in witty and brilliant language, that the single setting, the interior of an old Spanish house, is very fine, the costumes extremely rich and that the actors are quite competent as a rule to make the piece go with a snap from start to finish.

The play has a rather curious history. The author first constructed it as a modern American piece. It was produced under the title "By Wits Outwitted" and is still being played under that name in the south. Then someone saw its possibilities as a costume play and the result is the Spanish version which delighted the large audience at the opera house last evening. Now the author has expanded it by writing in an underplot with three more characters and the scene laid on the Chicago Board of Trade and at the residence of Hutchinson Hopper (Don Jose). This new version is called "Other People's Money" and after a successful trial trip on the road last spring will be elaborately produced at New York next week by a company headed by Charles Dickson.

The great part of "In Old Madrid" is that of Don Jose, most admirably handled by Gerald Griffin. The character of the shrewd old speculator, whose unbroken success has led him to forget that other people may be as sharp as himself, and that the keenest hand meets one still keener at last, was beautifully portrayed. "There is nothing so good as money," says Don Jose, "and no money so good as other people's," forgetting that others may play the same game to get his as he played to win Donna Clementina's. "He who has not wealth by patrimony must get it by matrimony," he tells Valentine, and the young man puts the aphorism into practice by eloping with his wealthy uncle's daughter.

The part of Valentine, the poor lover who profits so well by his old uncle's unscrupulous teaching, is well handled by Francis Jones, who in addition to his other qualifications has a good singing voice. Frank Wesson as Don Cosme was effective and amusing and Lottie Walters-Wesson played the shrewish wife of Don Jose excellently. Miss Bertha Boutwell delivered her lines well but seems to lack experience and at times was somewhat stiff.

It is a mistake to try to make Valentine the star part, as seems to be the intention of the management. With a first class actor Don Jose is bound to be the leading figure, and without a first class Don Jose the play would be a failure. Valentine is what Don Jose in his self-overreaching shrewdness makes him, and Mr. Jones commits an artistic error when by his advertising he tries to make people think his own is the leading part of the play. Mr. Jones is a clever young actor but the author did not write the star part for Valentine and all the window lithographs and capital letters cannot make it what it is not. This is not said in disparagement of the play or players but simply to call attention to the facts.

A few anachronisms have escaped the pen of the reviser when the play was transferred to the Spanish scene. Shot guns do not fit with the costumes worn in language or in fact. The duet between Don Jose and Donna Clementina in the third act, though well enough of itself, is a misfit at the place where it is put. To switch Don Jose out of his ravings over his own self-deception into a burlesque duet with his scolding wife is unnatural. With this exception the music, which is all pretty or amusing, came in very well.

These are only some minor blemishes which the high character of the play as a whole and the excellent work of the actors in general makes it a highly desirable to have removed, and for this reason attention is called to them. The play is now in the hands of the present company and these small defects in a fine performance will no doubt be cured as soon as possible. "In Old Madrid" may be recommended to all who love a bright play brightly acted, and should be a great success wherever produced. That it pleased the audience here was shown by the continuous laughter and applause and the curtain calls after the first and second acts.
