ALLUDING to the work of the Ohio Democratic convention, the Detroit News remarks that it nominated "a good candidate on a miserable platform." That was doing tolerably well for a political convention. It not infrequently happens that the candidate and platform are both abominably bad.

"The platform of the Ohio Democrats is a very weak and ramshackle affair," observes a Republican exchange. On the most important question with which it deals it is very much like the platform adopted by the Ohio Republicans. The two platforms differ on questions that the people care nothing about, but on the one issue that concerns the prosperity of the nation most they are enough alike to have been fashioned by the same hand.

THE Iron Age for Aug 15 says that the number of blast furnaces in operation on Aug. 1 was 200, with a weekly capacity of 180,525 gross tons of pig iron. On July 1 the active furnaces numbered 185, with a weekly capacity of 171,194 tons. Since the first of August a number of furnaces have been blown in, so that the weekly capacity is now considerably larger than it was at the beginning of the month. The stocks of pig iron on hand on Aug. 1, both "sold and unsold," and not including the quantity held by the "large steel companies," was 460,990 tons, as compared with 549,068 tons on July 1, 648,132 tons on June 1, and 780,729 tons on May 1, showing a decrease of 319,739 tons, or almost 41 per cent., in the three months from May 1 to August 1.

THE St. James Gazette, the organ of the British Tory party, fears that England may lose her commercial standing in the South and Central American countries if the United States proceeds to construct the Nicaragua canal without English participation in the great enterprise. The establishment of the supremacy of this country in the Central American states should be resisted by Great Britain, it declares, even to the abrogation of the Bulwer-Clayton treaty. If President Cleveland adheres to the position he took on this question in his message last December the British government will not be permitted to interfere with the construction of the canal. The Gazette admits that we are masters of the situation, and only the veriest folly and the surrender of a great commercial advantage can deprive us of it. Control of the commerce with the South American states naturally belongs to us, and our government should warn Great Britain that any attempt to seize the canal will be vigorously and courageously resisted. If the passage of the resolution in favor of the Monroe doctrine by the Ohio Democratic convention, and ex-Governor Cambell's strong speech on it, tends to stiffen the backbone of the administration the Ohio Democrats will deserve thanks for that much good done.

THE STRIKE SITUATION. The close of the sixth week of the miners' strike in this county finds the men and the managements of the mining companies as far apart as ever, apparently. All the mines in the county, with the exception of the Republic and a couple of small properties on the Cascade range, are idle, and several of the largest producers have had the fires drawn from under the boilers connected with their pumps and are slowly filling with water. The mine managers say that the shut-down will continue for a long interval, possibly till next spring, and they have certainly given good proof that they mean what they say by taking the step they did when they learned that the men had rejected the wage scale submitted to them. They still profess to believe that mines will not be allowed to fill with water, and that the action of the companies which have stopped the pumps in their underground workings is only a "bluff," but the fact that the water is being allowed to rise in the mines cannot be disputed, and it has a most discouraging significance to all but those who stubbornly resist the logical inference to be drawn from it. Many of the strikers have already left for other districts, and more are going every day. Meanwhile the trouble here is working to the very great advantage of the mines of the Gogebic, Vermilion and Mesaba ranges, as the ore that the mines of this range are debarred from supplying by the strike is being furnished by the mines of the competing ranges. This would not be the case were the mines here not prevented from shipping from their stockpiles, as well as from mining ore, as they have a sufficient quantity of ore stocked to enable them to keep on shipping until the close of navigation. It seems to THE MINING JOURNAL that the men are working against their own interests by preventing the mines from shipping ore already mined, for the more of this is held over the less there will be to be mined next season, every ton of ore that is held in stock having its place taken on the market by ore shipped from the mines of the other ranges. The leaders of the strike ought to be able to perceive this, but they either do not or are proceeding on the assumption that whatever they do that embarrasses the mining companies in any way betters their chance of ultimately forcing them to yield the full demands of the men.

The case appears to be one where arbitration might easily bring about a settlement, but the men are disinclined to accept the services of mediators, and the companies are equally independent. So the struggle which promises to yield a big harvest of misery next winter goes on.

NOT A LAUDABLE AMBITION.

Mr. Castle, the new Hawaiian minister, appointed to succeed Thurston, has arrived in this country. He is at present at Chicago, and in a talk with the representative of one of the newspapers of that city Thursday he stated that "the sole aim" of the Dole government is to secure annexation of Hawaii to the United States.

This is a singular admission for the representative of an independent Republic to make. The Dole crowd are responsible for the existence of the present government in Hawaii, where they managed to set up a so-called Republic. If the Hawaiian people are satisfied with the government now in operation it is not plain why those in charge of it should be so anxious for annexation to the United States. If they are not satisfied the new government is a failure. But in any case the people of the United States do not want to annex Hawaii just now. We have enough to do to assimilate what we have taken in during the past ten or fifteen years without adding to the load by absorbing the ignorant and superstitious population of that country. The ambition of the government there should, therefore, be not to secure annexation to the United States, but to raise the civilization of the people there to such a point that we should have no good cause to object to annexation, and when that is done the Hawaiians will not have so much cause to seek it.

The truth is, the present government is conscious of its weakness, and apprehensive of the future because of its knowledge that it obtained control by trickery and holds it by force. The men now at the head of affairs in Hawaii desire annexation in the belief that with the United States behind them they might be able to hold control there, and they fear that they may be ousted by a revolution any day while the government they have set up stands on its own merits and has to depend on its own resources.

NIGHT ON A CIRCUS CAR.

Making Reports for the Day—Songs Drivowed by Noise.

On a circus advertising car night shants out the flitting telegraph poles and the roar of the thundering trucks extinguishes every other exterior sound. Grandly decorated in white and gold outside and lettered from end to end, the car has but three little windows, and from these windows the glancing light flashes on farmhouse, field and fence. Within it illuminates a comfortable stateroom, containing a sofa bed, a closed berth above, a small desk and a diminutive safe. At this desk sits a short, stout, taciturn man, making up his reports for the day at the last town. Being at the end of a fast train the car bounds from side to side as if it would leave the rails at every second jump. But the man at the little desk is used to this and goes on writing and figuring, and consulting the railway guide, as if he were in a quiet office on Broadway.

The rest of the car is lined with cases of printing material and cuts, and shelved with berths and decorated with big paste cans and brushes. The two side doors are thrown open and fifteen or twenty men are singing "My Pearl is a Bowerly Girl," half of them joining in the Bowerly dance, while all roar out on the rattling chorus. There are bright young men there, and as a whole they are a companionable lot. Three or four sing snatches from comic opera, sheets of which are in hand, and there are those who can act comedian and leading business. The car rolls and pitches through the darkness, but the lads are sure of foot, and down the narrow gangway in quadrille of merry waltz they toe it in innocent merriment. And now and then the sudden crash and bang of a passing freight, or a way station reaching their own roaring wheels, puts a temporary blind on the human voice. And the express rushes on, with crash and roar and dizzy oscillation, like a huge serpent, winding among the hills, with this giddy rattle at the top of its tail.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Founded in Advance. "Sir," suddenly observed the horse with quivering lip, addressing the man who was belaboring him with an ax handle, "it is not at least indelicate for you to thus forcibly remind me of my unhappy destiny?" In this gentle rebuke reference was clearly had to the new beefsteak.—Detroit Tribune.

A CLOSE CALL.

The Landlord Was the Means of His Salvation. I was sitting on the side veranda of a hotel in a Kentucky town when five natives, all of whom seemed to be farmers, rode up, hitched their horses to a rack and all came up to the steps to where I sat and took chairs. As they sat down one of them explained:

"Stranger, we've got into a little dispute about how to spell a word, and want to ask you to help us out."

"Certainly, if I can. What's the word?"

"The doctor says my ole woman has got the newmony mighty bad. I fell in with these chaps as I came down town after medicine and we had a dispute about the word. I reckon you know how to spell newmony?"

"Yes, I do."

"Reckon he do, fur shore, and it'll be my way," said one of the others.

"Mebbe 'twill, but if so yo' kin hev my mewl. Now, then, will yo' all leave it to the stranger?"

"We will!" they all replied.

"Gentlemen, is there a wager on the spelling of this word?" I asked, noticing how anxious all of them appeared.

"Thar be!" replied the spokesman. It's my mewl agin Sam Tucker's that I'm dead right."

"How do you spell it?"

"N-e-w-m-o-n-y," of co'se. I never devoured a ton of skulebooks at a meal, but I know sunthin' 'bout spellin' 'jest the same."

"And how do you spell it?" I asked of the other.

"N-e-w-m-o-n-a," he promptly replied.

At this moment the landlord, who had stood in the door back of us and heard the conversation, called me inside and whispered:

"Stranger, the Lord is certainly on your side in this thing. You kin crawl out of it by sayin' that neither has it right."

"But suppose I don't crawl?"

"Then the mint you decide fur one the 'tother will begin shootin', and yo' bet yo' life he won't stop 'till he fills yo' so full of noomony that yo'll need a coffin and a gravedigger."

I went back and told them the word had been twisted considerably since I left school, and they'd better leave it to some one else. Five minutes after they left I heard shooting down the street, and had no doubt as to what occasioned it. Somebody had been foolish enough to give 'em 'pneumonia' straight.—M. Quad, in Detroit Free Press.

THE FRIENDSHIPS OF WOMEN.

An English Essayist Makes Terrible Statements About Them.

Take, again, the friendship of one woman for another when both stand upon the same moral and social level. It is in nine cases out of ten devoid of the obligations of loyalty and honor which are inherent in the friendship between one man and another. There is less reserve in it, and also less sincerity, for a woman will reveal her heart of hearts to a friend, and quarrel with her the next day because she has pirated her bonnet or alienated an admirer. Such relations never become stable or sacred between women, for they are apt to begin by chance, proceed with passion and die at a breath. Even at fever heat a woman never gives as much to another as she gives to her lightest lover, and at any moment she is ready to sacrifice her friend at the behest of any man in whom she is momentarily interested. For his entertainment she will betray any confidence without a scruple or a remorse, even if she refrains from denouncing her feminine friend to the first comer as soon as a shadow of misunderstanding has arisen between them.

In the lives of most men there are only one or two friendship bonds, riveted by years of intercourse, which nothing but undreamed-of treachery can sever. Women, on the other hand, make and discard friends with equal facility. If they are seldom true to men, their fidelity to their own sex is rarer far, for there are no Davids and Johnathans among women, no friendships founded on mutual faith and held in honor. Until woman learns to conduct her relations with her own sex on the same principals as that on which men act, the sisterhood of woman will never come within measurable distance of the possible. She has learned so much from man in this decade that it is not unreasonable to hope she may yet learn the true character of friendship, as well as the policy of combination. When woman stands shoulder to shoulder with her sister in public and in private life, she will stand at the very gates of her kingdom abreast of that "brave vibration, each way free."—Saturday Review.

Queer Alaskan Custom.

A fact remarkable to our civilized women is the one that Alaska squaws make their ages public. They wear a piece of wood or bone in the lower lip, the size of the ornament indicating the age of the owner. When a girl marries her lower lip is pierced and a peg of wood or a piece of bone the size of a pea is inserted. As she grows older this is increased in size until it is almost as wide as her chin and one-fourth of an inch high. The result is naturally most unsightly. There is an interesting family at Fort Wrangel which illustrates perfectly this peculiar custom. It includes four generations. A young girl may be seen sitting at one side of the one-roomed square frame house, while her mother, grandmother and great-grandmother are squatted on the earthen floor near the door, offering mats and baskets to the ship's passengers who come on shore. There is no disfiguring ornament on the girl's chin, but there is a big one on the lip of the great-grandmother.—Philadelphia Times.

WEEKLY TRADE RESUME.

General Business Condition Feeling Effect of Unusual Heavy July Transactions.

SHRINKAGE IN SOME LINES VERY MARKED.

But Strength of Iron Market Shows No Signs of Weakening and Prices Again Advance.

AS REPORTED BY DUN & CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The volume of business shrinks, as natural in August, and the shrinkage seems rather larger than usual because business in July was somewhat inflated for that month. Some industries are doing more than ever before in August, and prospects for fall trade are good in others, although much depends on the crops, and the outlook is less clear than speculation on either side are disposed to admit. Industrial troubles have not entirely ceased but during the past week have become much less threatening. The price of wheat has fallen 3/4 cents during the week, recovering a fraction Thursday in spite of all efforts to hold back supplies from farms and to encourage buying. Wheat ought to go abroad freely at present prices, but Atlantic exports, flour included, have been only 1,353,000 bushels for the week, against 2,596,000 last year. Impressive stories of short crops abroad have little weight in the presence of such a record and the absence of foreign purchases proves more effective than the withholding of wheat by western farmers. Naturally, the 57-cent wheat of the Pacific coast still goes forward freely in place of Atlantic supplies. Corn also declined 1/4 cents, while pork and lard, with accustomed inconsistency, rises a shade as corn declines. Cotton advances a fraction without any definite change in crop prospects. It is a relief to the great industry, in which the enormous orders placed some weeks or months ago cause a phenomenal activity for the season. In iron, notwithstanding some uneasiness because the output is greatly increased, heavy purchases by two leading companies have advanced the price of Bessemer fifty cents and a new combination has raised galvanized bar wire to $1.50, while combinations are being formed in wire rods and common wire and an advance in price is expected. Other prices are unchanged and new orders for iron and steel products are not at present large. In cotton goods the demand is rather more active as the price of raw material advances, but otherwise business is not materially changed and quotations for print cloths are a shade lower this week. Sales of wool are again smaller than in 1892. But speculative buyers still hold prices stiffly and are supported by the strength in the foreign markets. No marked change appears in the demand for woolen goods, but there is an increasing apprehension shown by agents regarding extensive sales of foreign woolsens. The failures in the United States the past week were 232 against 234 for the same week last year.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW OF TRADE. NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The volume of general trade throughout the east, south, southwest and on the Pacific coast is no larger in volume. In fact, at several southern and eastern centers rather more of a quiet is reported than a week ago. At western and central western points, with some exceptions, signs are conspicuous of a favorable influence on business of the prospectively enormous Indian corn crop and a very large harvest of spring wheat. At the east the stimulating influences are found in the continued activity in leading industrial lines, notably iron and steel and the recent marked advances in the prices of which metal at the various centers are being echoed from Chicago and St. Louis. At the south grocery, hardware and dry goods jobbers are relatively the most active. The statement compiled by Bradstreet shows the total bank clearings of the principal cities of the United States the past week to have been $900,518,419, an increase of 10.7 per cent, as compared with the corresponding week of last year.

SEVENTY-ONE STARTERS. Great Futurity Race at the Sheepshead Track Today. NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Should the present favorable weather continue the greatest of all Futurity contests will be decided at the Sheepshead Bay track tomorrow. It will be a battle between all the noted two-year-old colts and fillies in this country. While turfmen consider it a great honor to own a horse that won a Futurity the $70,000 that goes with it is a more substantial and desirable possession. Contrary to precedent, no one horse is looked upon by experts as having an overshadowing chance of capturing the rich prize. Each week of the racing

FOUNDED BY A MOB

Two Chicago Detectives Roughly Handled by Strikers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—A wagon load of police was required this afternoon to disperse a mob that had assaulted and surrounded Detectives Ross and McCarthy. The officers had been sent to a clothing house where a strike is in progress to conduct two members of rival labor organizations to a place of safety. A large crowd was in front of the establishment and as the officers attempted to leave with their charges they were set upon and pounded unmercifully. The officers drew their revolvers, but the weapons seemed to have no other effect on the mob than to increase its wrath. A man named Fitzpatrick grappled with Detective McCarthy and as Ross attempted to go to the assistance of his partner he was struck over the eye with a stone in the hands of August Johnson. Ross fell to the ground and the mob closed in about him. He was kicked and would probably have been killed had not the sound of the approaching patrol wagon which responded to the riot call frightened the mob away. Fitzpatrick and Johnson were arrested.

GIBBONS HAS RETURNED

Cardinal Explains Visit to Rome—The Pope's Health.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—After an absence of fifteen weeks Cardinal Gibbons returned from Europe today on the Campania. In an interview he said his visit to Rome had no special significance, as it was customary for cardinals to visit the pope every eight or ten years. The holy father, although a little more stooped, looked better and stronger than when he saw him eight years ago. His faculties are unimpaired and he is wonderfully bright. Gibbons said the pope takes great interest in America and frequently expressed admiration for our political institutions. The pope recommended summer schools and commended the Catholic University of America.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE

AMERICANS LIKE MAY.

If They Don't, Why Do They Eat It When They Get a Chance? "Hello!" said the policeman to the reporter on East Main street the other day. The reporter stopped, and the policeman drew him into a doorway. "Do you see that loaf of hay?" said he, as he pointed to a big wagon standing near the curbstone. "Well, if you want to see something funny just watch it for a few minutes."

The two stood there, says the Rochester Post-Express, and soon a well-dressed man came along, evidently in deep thought. He got opposite the hay wagon, looked up, stopped, and then took a piece of hay and went on in deep thought. Pretty soon a well-dressed business man happened along, saw the wagon, stepped up to it, and took three pieces of hay. He began to chew one meditatively and carried the others off with him. A middle-aged woman came near, and she, too, pulled out a piece and carried it with her. Then a pretty girl with a blue striped shirt waist and a straw sailor hat with a blue band came along, and had nearly passed when she saw the wagon, and after looking around to see that there was no one whom she knew watching, stole over and carefully selected a long, slender bit, which she carried with much care. After that everybody, from a dirty-faced urchin with a baseball bat to a nurse girl with a baby carriage, stopped and selected a piece of hay and departed happy. The policeman and the reporter stood in the doorway for twenty minutes and watched the procession.

"Strange, isn't it?" said the policeman. "I've been on this beat for three months, and I've never seen a man or a woman or a child pass without taking a piece of hay. It is not so with straw. Why, a load of straw could stay there for a whole day and not see a person in line would think of taking a piece. I think that the reason so many people take hay is on account of the sweet taste it has, for a piece of hay, when it is in good condition and not too dry, is really a very nice thing to chew on. People who would rather die than chew a toothpick on the street think nothing of going down the street with a long piece of hay in their mouths as unconcerned as three schoolgirls walking about. Funny, isn't it?"

The reporter agreed that it was, and then left. As he passed the hay he involuntarily reached out his hand, and before he was aware of it he had a long piece of hay in his mouth. He heard a queer noise behind him, and looking around he saw the policeman, pointing his stick at the wagon and then at him, and laughing. But when the reporter returned in about half an hour he saw a blue-dial figure strolling down the street with something sticking out in front of his shoulder. It was the policeman, and the reporter smiled as he passed him. He had a big wisp of hay, and was chewing it like the rest.

D. 1—that is to say, 1894 years ago—the message would only just have reached some of them, and would still be on the way to others, going at the rate of 186,000 miles a second.

Deer are so plentiful in some parts of Montana that the ranchmen and fruit growers complain of them as they do of the coyotes, cutworms and other pests. The fruit growers complain that the deer come down from the mountains at night and browse on the tender shoots of the trees, and in this and other ways do great damage to the orchards. The animals keep out of sight in the daytime, and as it is hard to shoot them at night, and they decline to be frightened away from the ranchers have a hard time.

MULEY HASSAN'S TREASURE. A German Physician's Account of the Hoard of the Sultan of Morocco.

A French journalist has brought up again the ancient story of the enormous treasure held by the sultan of Morocco. The French ambassador to Morocco brought back to Louis XIV. in 1685 the story that the sultan of that day, Muley-Ismael, kept at Mequinez, the favorite residence of the sultans, a treasure valued at $30,000,000, says an exchange. Chénier, another French ambassador, 100 years later, returned with rumors of the treasure, but it had shrunk in a century to about $3,000,000, which is supposed by some authorities to be about the ordinary annual revenue of the sultan.

The legend of the treasure was still in sound health 50 years later, for Graeber di Hemsso, a traveler, affirmed about 1834 that the sultan's hoard, called Bit-el-Mell, was kept at Mequinez, under the guard of 2,000 negroes. It was believed to consist of 200,000 pieces of money, besides ingots of gold and silver and precious stones. The treasure house, according to this traveler, was an inclosure of massive walls, which were exactly repeated within. In order to reach the treasure it was necessary to open five iron gates, secured with secret locks, of which the keys were always in the hands of the sultan or his favorite. It was the custom in earlier times to kill the guards that accompanied the new treasure, lest the secrets of the treasure house be divulged.

Other travelers have kept the story alive, and from the manner in which taxes are levied and public affairs administered in Morocco, it is generally believed that the sultan has great wealth laid up. The latest story of the treasure comes from Dr. Rohlf, a German, at one time physician to the harem of the present sultan, Muley Hassan. Dr. Rohlf declares that the treasure of the sultan is greater than ever. Some have represented that, for safety, the imperial wealth is kept in several places, part of it at Fez, part in the oasis of Taflet and part at other points in the empire. Dr. Rohlf declares that the sultan's 10,000,000 German thalers, or about $7,000,000, are at Mequinez, in a somber edifice, which the light of day never penetrates. The custom of killing the treasure bearers is not kept up, and the guard is not 2,000, but 300, negroes, who keep watch in a living tomb. Dr. Rohlf has seen some of the sacks inclosing part of the treasure.

A Silver Tree. Those who are fond of novelties will enjoy watching the growth of a "silver tree," which is very curious and beautiful. Fill a clear glass jar with clean water in which is dissolved enough sugar-of-lead to make a strong solution. The one end of a short piece of strong twine to a piece of zinc about as large as a hen's egg, and the other to a stick long enough to lay across the mouth of the jar (thus suspending the zinc just within, about an inch below the surface of the water) and place it where it will not be disturbed. In two or three days delicate feathery branches will start out all over the zinc. They grow very rapidly and in a few days more the jar will be full of the beautiful sparkling silver mass. If not shaken it will last a long time.

A SCHEMING SCOUNDREL.

BY W. J. LAMPTON.

The fact that I was fifty years old never occurred to me at all. Or if it did it was merely to make me proud of myself that I had run the gamut of half a century and didn't show a scratch. At least, I didn't see any, though a friend of mine—one of those fellows who go about among their acquaintances doing everything they can to make truth odious—had a habit of telling me every day or two that a man of fifty was scarcely as "chipper" as a man of thirty, whatever he might think about it himself.

In addition to my fifty years I was (which was not counted against me by those persons best able to analyze the graces of character) rich. Not a millionaire, perhaps, but enough to make a bachelor very comfortable, not to say luxurious. My business was easy, and I had no help to bother after, except a clerk or private secretary, as it sounded more elaborate to call him, and a young woman who manipulated the typewriter in my office. Concerning these two persons I have considerably to say.

My private secretary, whose name was Jeremy Kilton, was without any exception the most modest and likeable young man I ever met. He had like young men of the service highly recommended by friends of mine in the country, and though he had been with me for seven years in town, he never came into the office of a morning that I was not reminded of the green fields and the running brooks and that sort of thing, indigenous to all traditions of the rural neighborhood. He was only about ten years younger than I was, and I have many times sat watching him plodding away at his desk, silent and unobtrusive, and I used to wonder why it was that he should be as he was, and I as I was. I with the money, and he with the numberless good qualities that would be an ornament to wealth, even though he lacked in that polish which wealth seemed to demand.

But I paid him a good salary, for I could afford to, and his twenty-five hundred a year appeared to be almost as satisfactory to him as my twenty-five thousand was to me.

Yet he wasn't half the man I was in youth and love of life, and I used to try and get him to go and call on the ladies with me. By all that is lovely, you should have seen him the first time I asked him to go with me to call on a particularly bright and interesting young woman I knew, and whom he had met on one occasion when she had come to my office with her mother to see about a piece of property the mother wanted to buy. The girl had flashed her brilliant eyes on Jeremy, out of pure mischief, because I had told her of his diffidence, and she wanted to make him feel as uncomfortable as she could, and for a minute or two I was fearful that I would lose a valued servant, so evident was his desire to incontinentally run away. He blushed two or three colors, and stammered so when he tried to talk to her that I thought he would get his tongue twisted around his teeth, and in a moment of confusion would bite it off. When she had gone, I asked him how he would like to go up and call on some evening, and he showed signs at once of hysteria. Then I told him if he would not do that, I would send him up to the house next day with the papers for the mother and daughter to examine and sign, and though he said no word and bowed in humble submission to my will, I felt so sorry for him that I took them up myself.

And here, I may say that a little thing like a woman never had the least effect on me. At least, in respect of giving me the panicky feeling that overtook Jeremy every time a woman came in sight. He was a bachelor, of course, for how could a man of his sheeplike courage be anything else? He couldn't, and Jeremy was a living example of it. Even the young woman who manipulated the typewriter was a source of discomfort to Jeremy.

She had been with me for three years, and was a most exemplary person, not to say a very intelligent and good-looking one. Being a woman, she did not get as much salary as the man, but she was quite well satisfied with the nine hundred dollars a year I paid her, and I must say my official family was very agreeable in its relations to me and to itself. I felt this particularly, because, for some time past, Miss Higgins—that was the young woman's name—had been occupying a good deal of my attention, and I was pretty sure that if Jeremy had been a dashing young fellow or a dashing old one, he would have made me have more or less palpitations of the heart and other disagreeable sensations which are experienced even by the best of men under some circumstances.

But Jeremy! I wasn't afraid of Jeremy, and the more he tried to fight shy of Miss Higgins the more I twitted her on the growing fondness for her I had detected and was daily detecting in my faithful secretary. Not that I was in any way laugh at these small pleasures of mine and would give me her very sweetest smile, partly, I presume, in recognition of various services I rendered her, which were not called for in the contract when she came into my employ.

Why shouldn't I be agreeable to her? An excellent young woman of excellent family, with nothing in the whole wide world against her except that she was poor. Of course, that was an objectionable feature to some, but it was not to me, for I had money enough for me, and I could afford to be entirely disinterested when it came to a question of the disposition of my real sentiments. I had real sentiments, too, and they were all for Miss Higgins. I knew plenty of girls, old and young, grave and gay, pretty and not so pretty, rich and less rich, but I didn't see any of them every day, in sunshine or rain, and I had not the opportunity of judging of them as I had in the case of Miss Higgins.

But I didn't. I reserved that until a later period.

The point I had reached when I left her at her modest, unpretentious home was a firm resolve that on the next day I would have business for Jeremy outside of the office for an hour, and that there I began to talk to her about it. Then it dawned on me all at once, and if it had not been for the superior judgment and tact of Miss Higgins, I firmly believe I would have made an egregious ass of myself.

An Ishpeming Mine Manager Offers to Pay Miners $2 Per Day.

EDT WILL MAKE NO ADVANCE ON BALANCE OF SCALE.

The Men Who Were Employed at His Mine Disposed to Resume Work.

BRAASTAD'S PROPOSITION.

The report current on the streets yesterday and Thursday to the effect that F. Braastad of the Winthrop mine had deeded the full scale of wages demanded by the strikers is partly untrue. The facts in the matter were obtained yesterday from Captain James Reed, who had charge of the mining work in the open pit at the Winthrop prior to the walkout. He says that just before Mr. Braastad took the train for South Dakota Tuesday evening he told him that he might pay the miners $2 a day in case they would go back to work but that he could not offer any further concessions so far as the new union scale is concerned. Mr. Braastad's wage proposition is a little better in some respects than any offered by the other companies.

Captain Reed made known what Mr. Braastad had told him to some of the men and the report went from one to another until it became generally believed that Mr. Braastad had concluded to give the men the full scale demanded. Some of the officers of the union called on Captain Reed to ascertain the facts. They asked him if he would present Mr. Braastad's proposal to the union in writing. The captain said that he had no authority to do that but if the men desired to take his word for it and would accept the proposition he had given it to them they could resume work.

This was not satisfactory to the strike leaders who called on the captain, and they requested that the proposition be placed before the men at their meeting by either Mr. Braastad or the captain. It is thought that if the proposition to pay miners $2 a day, with the remainder of the scale left as it was first presented to the men by Mr. Braastad, is submitted to the union in the manner proposed it will be accepted.

The Winthrop men generally were satisfied with the wages they were getting before the walkout. Many of them were not in favor of the strike and would not have gone out had they not been persuaded to do so. Mr. Braastad had given his men a raise in pay a few days before the strike and had concluded to give them another advance on the first of August. The Winthrop men were doing fairly well and many of them are anxious to get back to work.

They Joined the Union.

The management of the Excelsior furnace started ten men doing some repair work about the plant yesterday morning. The news spread very rapidly and when the strikers assembled at the grounds near the Co-operative store at 9 o'clock, preparatory to marching to the park, the matter was brought up for consideration. A committee, consisting of William Coad, Joseph Todd and two others, was appointed to go to the furnace and see the men. Manager Nelson was first called on. He was asked what wages he was paying the men and replied that $1.50 was the lowest pay any of the men were receiving. The men were then consulted. It was found that some of them were union men while others were not. The men were told that inasmuch as the management was paying the scale demanded by the union they would be permitted to work, provided those who were not members of the union would join it at once. The non-union men consented and the committee went away without further interference with the men.

Good Men Leaving.

Some twenty or more of Ishpeming's best miners and mechanics left for the Mesaba and Gogebic ranges on the 11:35 train Thursday night. Among these were some of the old-timers here, men who have made Ishpeming their home and have worked in the mines here ever since they came to the country. Some of the men have jobs in view, and those who have not secured places think they will have little trouble finding work. Captain Wallace, formerly of the Cleveland Hematite mine, who has charge of a mine on the Mesaba, sent for some of the men who left Thursday evening while others have been promised jobs at the Franklin.

Men are leaving Ishpeming for various parts of the country on every train. It is estimated that almost five hundred men have left the range since the strike began. Four or five railroad men who were thrown out of employment by the strike also left Thursday night.

Didn't Make a Hit.

Robert Schilling, the Populist orator from Milwaukee, addressed a gathering in Ishpeming at the grounds near the Co-operative store Thursday evening. When he began his discourse the crowd was quite large, but it kept gradually growing smaller. The men expected to hear something of special interest bearing on the labor trouble here, but instead they were given an overdose of political talk. The speaker roared the Iron Ore of this city and The Pioneer Press of St. Paul, denouncing them as enemies of the laboring classes.

Death of Mrs. Letcher.

Mrs. Ruth Letcher, a pioneer resident of Ishpeming, died Thursday at her home, 327 West Division street. She had been an invalid for years, but the immediate cause of her death was gangrene of the foot. She was sixty-eight years of age and survived by a husband and several adult children.

UNDER THE NEW SYSTEM.

School Election This Year Will Be Held in Civilized Style.

POLLS OPEN AT CITY HALL FROM 9 A. M. TO 8 P. M.

Women Who Are Taxpayers Can Vote and Men Who Are Not Taxpayers Cannot.

NO CANDIDATES AS YET.

Notices were posted yesterday for the annual election and meeting of school district No. 1, which embraces the whole city of Marquette. This will be the first school election held under the new provisions of the charter abrogating the old mass meeting style and introducing modern methods. The election will be held on Monday, Sept. 2, and the polls will be opened at the police court room in the City Hall at 9 a. m. and remain open continuously until 8 p. m. One trustee will be chosen to succeed Varnum B. Cochran, whose term expires, and will hold office for five years. The annual school meeting will succeed the election and will be opened at the same place at 8:15 p. m. This meeting will vote the necessary funds for the maintenance of the schools for the next year and direct their disposition.

Only persons whose names are on the tax roll are qualified voters at a school election. Women of legal age who are taxpayers are entitled to vote and will find the new method much more to their convenience than the old caucus in a crowded room generally reeking with the fumes of tobacco. The Australian or secret ballot will be used and in general the election will be conducted in just the same manner as the spring election of city officers, except that there is only one office to be filled and that the number of electors is limited by the fact that they must be taxpayers. This requirement that persons voting in school elections must be on the tax roll has always existed, but under the old helter-skelter caucus system has not always been strictly enforced. The school board are judges of the election and the poll list is a copy of the tax roll for the current year provided by the city treasurer.

There is no department of the city government which costs more money or in which taxpayers generally are more interested than the schools. While the Marquette schools have perhaps been up to the average in efficiency they can certainly be improved. Some recent developments have indicated that the instruction in the very important branch of English might be very considerably improved. There has been no great amount of talk about candidates for trustee, as yet but some will doubtless be heard before long. Those who are not satisfied with the conduct of the schools should remember that the first Monday in September is the time to make their objections felt and should turn out and vote. For some man who represents their ideas and get their friends to do the same. Votes on Monday week are much better and more effective than growls and kicks later.

Promises Good Racing.

The Gogebic range horsemen have organized a circuit and will hold harness race meetings at Ironwood, Ashland and Iron River on Sept. 4-6, 10-12 and 17-19 respectively. The purses offered aggregate $3,500 for the three meetings and records made at the earlier ones of the series will be no bar at the later. Entries close at Ironwood at 6 p. m. of Aug. 31 and at the other two meetings at noon of the day preceding the opening. All events are trot and pace and those at Ironwood with the purses in each are as follows: Green horses, $150; 2:50, 2:40, 2:35 and 2:30 classes, $200 each; free-for-all, $350. At Ashland and Iron River there will be 2:50, 2:35, 2:30 and free-for-all events and the purses will be $250, $250, $300 and $400, $250, $200, $250 and $350 in the order named and respectively. The secretaries of the several meetings, to whom entries must be made and who will forward programs or other information on application, are J. R. Moore at Ironwood, R. F. Spencer at Ashland and Byron Ripley at Iron River. Meetings at West Superior and Duluth follow that at Iron River, so that horsemen will find the series quite a convenient one to attend.

Sunday Services.

Union services in the interest of the work of the American Bible society in general and of the Marquette county branch in particular will be held at the Baptist church tomorrow evening, the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist congregations suspending their usual services for that occasion. The principal address will be made by the Rev. Dr. Mead of Appleton, Wis., and there will be special music.

Mr. Spencer's subject at the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning will be "Man's Memorial Before God." Except the Y. P. S. E. meeting in the evening there will be no further services at this church on account of the union meeting noticed above.

"The Age Program" will be Mr. Fee-man's subject at the Baptist church tomorrow morning and in the evening the edifice will be used for the Bible society union service.

At St. Paul's church there will be the usual early service at 7:30 o'clock, matins and sermon by Rev. Frank J. Mallett at 10:30 and evensong and sermon at 7:30 p. m. At St. Margaret's chapel there will be Sunday school at 3 p. m.

Baseball Tomorrow.

The Marquette and Ishpeming teams will play a game of baseball at the Fair grounds tomorrow afternoon. Lynn and Navin will be the battery for the visitors and Smith and Rivers for the home team. Admission will be 25 cents, children 10 cents and ladies free. There has been considerable trouble with small boys filling up the grand stands at former games when seats therein were free and this will not be permitted hereafter. A charge of 5 and 10 cents will be made for seats in the grand stands as the best way of preventing the annoyance mentioned. The Ishpeming team has not been seen here since the opening of the season but has been playing pretty good ball with Barga and other clubs and the game tomorrow will no doubt be an interesting one.

Fine Program Prepared.

The program for Miss Gaffney's farewell concert, to be given at the Presbyterian church Monday night under the auspices of the Young Men's Sunday Evening club, has been practically completed and shows that the entertainment will be a fine one. There will be vocal solos by Miss Gaffney, Miss Harlow, Mrs. Palmer and Mr. F. M. Beney of Negaunee, a duet by Miss Gaffney and Mr. Beney, a quartette composed of Miss Gaffney, Miss Greene, Miss Beanston and Miss Ropes of Ishpeming, an organ number by Mrs. Brown, a flute solo by Mr. Hoelscher and the Hotel Superior orchestra will play two selections and accompany some of the singers. It is not often that a concert has brought out a better representation of the musical talent of this county and the audience should and doubtless will be large. Tickets are thirty-five cents and may be obtained of any member of the social committee of the club or at The Bookstore.

New High School Principal.

The school board has chosen Mr. Foster H. Starkey of Mansfield, Pa., to be principal of the city high school in place of F. W. Epley, resigned. Mr. Starkey is a graduate of the State Normal school of Pennsylvania and holds the degree of bachelor of arts from Bucknell college and also from Harvard. He has had several years experience as a teacher and for the last three years has been an instructor at the Peck Institute of New Jersey. Mr. Epley is now at Woodhill, Mass., but whether he will remain there is not known to his friends here.

Firemen Not Satisfied.

The railroad firemen challenge the trainmen to a game of baseball this afternoon. T. D. Mills is manager for the firemen and will make arrangements with the representative of the trainmen. The last time the Coal Shovelers and the Brake Twisters met they put up a lively and interesting game and if they get together today will no doubt repeat the performance.

The Boston Pilgrimage.

Montrose commandery, Knights Templar, of Calumet left Houghton by special train at 10:30 o'clock last night on its way to the grand encampment of the order at Boston. The knights and their ladies filled two sleepers and the Fifth Infantry band had another. Several Templars from this city joined the party here.

Club Run This Evening.

All members of the Kitchimikana Cycling club are requested to meet in front of Conklin's store at 4:45 this afternoon for a run to Presque Isle or any other place the members present may determine upon. The wheeling season is growing short and it is hoped that the turnout today will be a large one.

We would like to see into the pleasant face of some one who has never had any derangement of the digestive organs.

We see the drawn and unhappy faces of dyspeptics in every walk of life. It is our national disease, and nearly all complain of it. It is the source of many of the stomach ailments and the work is done. Dyspeptics and pale thin people are literally starving, because they don't digest their food. Consumption never develops in people of robust and normal digestion. Correct the wasting and loss of flesh and we cure the disease. Do this with food. The Shaker Digestive Cordial contains already digested food and is a digester of food at the same time. Its effects are felt at once. Get a pamphlet of your druggist and learn about it.

Polls will be open at the above named place from 9 o'clock a. m. until 5 o'clock p. m. for the election of such trustee. A HARD-WORKING WOMAN —sooner or later suffers from backache, nervous, worn-out feelings, or a sense of weight in the abdomen, dragging down sensations and dizziness. It will all come to an end with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for it's woman's special tonic and nerve; it restores her strength, regulates and promotes all the natural functions and makes a new woman of her. Uterine debility, irregularity and inflammation are most often the cause of the extreme nervousness and irritability of some women—the medicine to cure it is the "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce. All the aches, pains and weaknesses of womanhood vanish where it is faithfully employed. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is therefore just the medicine for young girls just entering womanhood and for women at the critical "change of life."

CURES THE WORST CASES.

Mrs. CLARK.

Mr. HOMER CLARK, of No. 208 West 3d Street, Sioux City, Ia., writes: "My wife was troubled with female weakness, nervousness, and the uterus. She had been doctoring with every doctor of any good reputation, and had spent lots of money in hospitals, but to no purpose. She was getting worse. She was greatly prejudiced against patent medicines, but as a last resort we tried a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. We had seen some of your advertisements, and Mr. Cummings, a west-side druggist, advised us to try a bottle. We tried it with the following results: The first bottle did her so much good that we bought another, and have continued until she has been cured."
