LIBRARIAN SPOFFORD EXPLAINS.

Recent Payment Not Made to Make Good Deficit as Alleged.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Librarian Spofford, in view of the various conflicting statements regarding the sum of $29,400 paid by him into the treasury last week, was asked today what the amount really represented. He replied that it was approximately the amount due the treasury on the balance of the copyright and salary accounts, as he found it. An unfavorable and wholly wrong construction, he said, had been placed upon it as representing a large deficit, whereas it was actually the balance between the two accounts, the salary account due the librarian for several months' disbursements and the account due the government for several months' copyright fees. These accounts had remained unsettled, although constant payments had been made by him to the number of ten or twelve during 1894 and 1895 of copyright receipts amounting to over $55,000, besides the $22,000 now deposited.

He emphatically denies any allegation that the recent payment was made to make good any wrongful withholding of moneys due the government. On the contrary the whole matter involved the balancing of delayed accounts, which his accumulated labors, constantly growing, had too long postponed. All the copyright receipts have been entered daily with the dates, sources and amounts, whether small or large, duly noted and he (Spofford) held himself responsible for the same.

It has been definitely decided by the Indian bureau that no attention will be paid to the game laws of Wyoming where they come in conflict with the treaty of the United States with the Bannock and Shoshone Indians. The FOUR MURDERERS LYNCHED.

Taken from County Jail at Yreka, Cal., by Angry Mob and Strung Up.

GHASTLY CLIMAX TO REIGN OF LAWLESSNESS.

Citizens Fearing Law Would Not Be Carried Out Took Matters Into Their Own Hands.

WERE TRIED BY JUDGE LYNCH.

YREKA, Cal., Aug. 26.—Four murderers were taken from the county jail by a mob of about two hundred and fifty men at 1 o'clock this morning and lynched. A band of citizens, fearing they would escape punishment and angered over the atrocity of recent crimes, determined to settle the matter themselves. The lynching was a ghastly ending to the reign of lawlessness which had prevailed in Siskiyou county for some months past. One of the victims was Lawrence Johnson, who, on the evening of July 28, stabbed his wife to death in the town of Etna. Another was William Null, who shot Henry Hayter in the back with a rifle near Callahans April 21. Louis Moreno and Earlard Seemler, who were supposed to have killed George Sears and Casper Meirhano at Bailey Hill Aug. 5, were also hanged.

At 11 o'clock last night farmers from all the surrounding country began to drive into town and by midnight a mob was ready to march to the county jail. Before taking a step, however, every precaution was taken to prevent the plans of the lynchers from being frustrated by the officers of the law. The sheriff and one of his deputies were decoyed to another part of the town by two members of the mob who engaged them in a sham fight and the fire bell was muffled to prevent an alarm being given.

When the jail was reached a number of masked men awakened Under Sheriff Radford and demanded the keys from him. He refused to give them up. Finding Radford determined not to give them the keys the mob went across to the jail and got on the top of the stone wall which surrounds the jail. Deputy Sheriff Henry Brahtlacht, thinking some one was escaping from the jail, fired two shots out of the window to alarm City Marshal Parks and Deputy Sheriff Radford. He then opened the doors and was immediately held up by the mob, who took the keys from him and entered the jail.

Having no keys to the different cells they burst the locks with alderg hammers. Lawrence H. Johnson was the first to receive the mob's attention. A rope was placed around his neck and he was led out of the jail across the street to where an iron rail was laid between the forks of two trees. Johnson pleaded for mercy but the silent gathering gave no heed to his appeals and he was quickly strung up. William Null and Louis Moreno were then taken from their cells separately and were soon swinging with Johnson.

The last and worst of the four murderers to pay the penalty of his crime was Garland Seemler, aged about nineteen. A rope was placed around his neck and he was led from the jail in his bare feet. Seemler begged for mercy and his last words were, "Tell my dear old mother I am innocent of crime."

About this time Sheriff Hobbs, having been notified, arrived on the scene and on starting for the jail door was commanded to halt, the command being repeated by the display of several revolvers. He was told that the "job had been done." The mob then dispersed. The bodies were taken down by Coroner Shofield, who summoned a jury to hold an inquest.

SPRINGFIELD, Ky., Aug. 26.—A mob supposed to be colored this morning took Harrison Lewis, a negro, who murdered Joe Brooks, also colored, from jail and hanged him to a tree in the court yard.

SOUTH DAKOTA VS. TAYLOR.

Case Opened Yesterday—Unique Argument of Defense.

PIERRE, S. D., Aug. 26.—The case of South Dakota vs. W. W. Taylor was argued on habeas corpus before the state supreme court today. Attorneys for the state contended that the sentence was valid, and if the five years' sentence was not valid and the court exceeded its jurisdiction, then it was invalid only in so much as it exceeded the jurisdiction of the court. The defense contended that the state was a body politic and there was no law defining as a crime the taking of money from a body politic. The court adjourned until tomorrow. The general opinion is that the sentence of the lower court will be sustained.

CREATED A SENSATION.

Wealthy Kansas City Man Arrested for Smuggling.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 26.—A dispatch from New York city says: "Jacques F. Bolteus, assistant secretary of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Trust company with headquarters at Kansas City, was arrested today charged with smuggling $3,000 worth of goods from Europe." The news of the arrest created a decided sensation in Kansas City, where he is well known. His business associates tonight declare there must be some mistake. Besides holding a lucrative position Bolteus is wealthy in his own right and has wealthy parents in Amsterdam, Holland. He left Kansas City some weeks ago, supposedly on a vacation.

SALOONISTS RETALIATE.

Street Car Men Arrested for Violating Sunday Closing Law.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 26.—Warrants were issued today on some of those who violated the Sunday closing law. A street car conductor and motor-man were arrested to make a test case against the street railway. The League intends to prosecute until everything is closed tight Sunday or until saloons and all other places are allowed to open on Sunday.

IN POSSESSION OF THE HUB.

Cultured Boston in the Hands of an Army of Twenty-Five Thousand Knights Templar.

THE CITY DECKED IN ITS HOLIDAY ATTIRE

And All Preparations Made for Today's Grand Parade—Montrose Commandery on Ground.

ALL GREETED WITH CHEERS.

Boston, Aug. 26.—Boston has surrendered to an invading army and tonight is held by twenty-five thousand Sir Knights Templar. These, with the ladies accompanying them and the immense throng of visitors attracted to the city by the conclave and the low rates of the railroads, have swelled the city's population to such an extent as to cause one to wonder if all the inhabitants of "greater" Boston have been forced inside the city's limits. All day long commanderies have been arriving from the north, south east and west and as each delegation arrived it was greeted with cheers.

The city has donned her gayest dress and, on every hand flags and banners, gaily colored streamers and flashing lights greet the eye. Immense numbers of incandescent lights have been arranged to represent every known Masonic emblem. The Masonic Temple decorations are, of course, the most elaborate, the principal feature being a huge outline of a cross of colored lights, covering almost the entire front of the building. The Albion building is not far behind and all along Newspaper Row the occupants have extended welcome to the Sir Knights in a blaze of light.

The weather clerk says there is no cause for alarm and every one is expecting a glorious sight tomorrow when thousands of Knights parade. Many grand stands have been erected and today the building inspectors closely examined every structure and condemned many as unsafe. The different hotels where the large commanderies are making their headquarters have been jammed to the doors. Each commandery is keeping open house and a constant stream of humanity in black and gold regalia has been pouring in and out since morning.

The principal reception of the day was at the headquarters of Boston commandery in Horticultural Hall. Two tables stretched from one end of the long hall to the other loaded with catables, while attendants dispensed punch from enormous bowls. A general invitation has been extended to visiting Sir Knights to make themselves at home and there was no formality tonight, every one being well settled and the preparations for tomorrow's pageant having been completed.

A telegram was received at the headquarters of the triennial committee today that St. John commandery of Providence has reconsidered its determination not to parade tomorrow and that it would positively appear in line with full ranks. It states that the whole affair resulted from a misunderstanding.

Henry L. Palmer, sovereign grand commander of the Supreme Council, 33rd degree, A. A. Scottish, rite, for the Northern Masonic jurisdiction of the United States, arrived today and is making his headquarters with the Wisconsin delegation.

Among the arrivals tonight was Montrose commandery of Calumet, Michigan, forty Knights.

SEVERAL PROBABLY DROWNED.

Iron Steamer Crashes Into Yacht Near New York City.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The sloop yacht Adelaide, owned by Robert W. Inman, Jr., a cotton broker, while cruising off Norton's point tonight was run into by the iron steamer Perseus. Those aboard were Inman, who is a well known yachtsman and a club man with residences in this city and Cold Spring Harbor; Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Evans of West Forty-ninth street; Miss Norton, whom Mrs. Evans was chaperoning, and Herbert Dorne, mate, whose home is in Springfield, Mass. There were also a captain and two others in the crew, but Dorne does not know their names.

The Adelaide keeled over and at least three persons are known to have gone overboard. Mrs. Evans and Mate Dorne were hauled aboard the Perseus. The Adelaide righted and an eye witness states that as she moved off in the dark the forms of three men could be distinguished on her. Life boats were lowered from the Perseus to rescue those who had gone overboard. They returned and reported that an inbound schooner had picked up a woman and two men from the water. If this is so, probably no lives were lost, but the case remains that up to midnight the relatives and friends of those known to have gone overboard had received no tidings from them, as would have been the case had they been picked up and landed safely.

Inman, Mr. Evans and Miss Norton are among those not accounted for. The Adelaide was seen an hour after the accident going into Teboos basin, Brooklyn, by Captain Ferguson of the tug Alfred J. Murray. Captain Ferguson said she was evidently disabled and he was much surprised when, instead of making a landing, she turned and started for the Narrows.

AN INSURGENT VICTORY.

Large Spanish Convoy Defeated by Small Cuban Force.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Secretary Quesada, of the Cuban revolutionary committee, received a letter today from Camaguey Bay, containing information of a battle which had just been fought between a body of Spanish troops and a small force under General Gomez. The Spaniards numbered fifteen hundred and were commanded by General Mella. They were acting as a convoy for a large wagon train loaded with provisions and munitions of war on the way to a Spanish camp in the interior. Nine hundred Cubans attacked the Spaniards and captured three wagons. The Spaniards had 170 killed in the fight while the loss was only thirty three. One of the captured wagons was found to be loaded with rifles.

HAVANA, Aug. 26.—It is officially announced that in a fight between troops and insurgents near Manzanillo the insurgents lost fifty killed and wounded.

MADRID, Aug. 26.—The reinforcements of troops for Cuba embarked today.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

Six Des Moines Firemen Narrowly Escape Death.

DES MOINES, Aug. 26.—Six firemen were overcome by heat, smoke and gases while fighting flames in the basement of Hansen's drug store tonight. They were rescued with great difficulty. It took two hours to resuscitate Patrick Morgan and E. Capron. All the men were unconscious when taken out. The origin of the fire is not explained, but it is thought to have resulted from an explosion. The flames communicated to the stock of chemicals, developing poisonous gases. The loss from the fire was not large.

ANOTHER NEW RAILROAD.

Work to Be Commenced Soon on Line from Ashland to Minneapolis.

ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 26.—Work will be commenced within a week on the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Ashland railway. The counties along the line have voted the aid asked. The road will not go to Hayward, as first surveyed, but six miles to the south to strike a heavy belt of pine. A new town will be located on the lakes and will be made the county seat of Sawyer county, as the log supply at Hayward is about exhausted. It is expected to have through trains running from Ashland to the twin cities early next year.

A FAILURE FINANCIALLY.

Bull Fighting at Cripple Creek Did Not Draw Well.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Aug. 26.—Not to exceed two hundred people went to Gillette to see the bull fight today and on account of the slim attendance no killing was done. The so-called fiesta is at an end. Financially the show proved a flat failure. Those connected with the management of the affair have been arrested three times since Saturday charged with cruelty to animals, but all settled by the payment of comparatively small fines.

Killed by Explosion.

ELDORA, Ills., Aug. 26.—By the explosion of the boiler of a threshing machine at Owassa this afternoon Monroe Babcock and Anna Hoffman were killed. Several others were injured. It is feared fatally.

HOW IT AFFECTS MEXICO.

Some time ago Passenger Agent Hibbard of the South Shore road wrote to a gentleman of his acquaintance who is now in Mexico, (where he holds a position of large responsibility on a railroad there), asking him to give in his next letter the result of his observations as to the effect on that country of its use of the single silver standard.

I want to say something about silver, of which you asked my opinion in your previous letter. But that something will be very little for I must confess that the more I read about it and think over the silver question the less it seems to me I know about it.

In short, my view of the whole question is just this: England today controls the finances of the world and the world's supply of gold, which she insists shall be the standard, saying to the other nations, "What are you going to do about it?"

The national exports for last month showed an encouraging gain over those of a year ago, and the increase was due less to a larger quantity than to higher prices for many of the more important articles.

This is exceedingly encouraging. The producing industries are gladdened by the prospect of an enhanced demand at higher prices; the new tariff is not hurting any interest enough to excite apprehension, in which respect it is giving the lie to the alarmists who predicted that it would be ruinous to the country, and our commerce feels the vitalizing influence of returning confidence.

For the moment, though called upon for unimportant exports of gold, and which are more persistent than sanguine persons has predicted, yet so far the syndicate has compensated the treasury for the loss. This relief has sustained the hope of the hopeful and they persist in hoping on; but we cannot afford to ignore the fact that it is wholly artificial, that in a certain sense it is purely gratuitous, that it may be discontinued at any moment, and that it certainly must sooner or later come to an end.

It appears from this that the use of silver as the basis of its monetary system has not injured Mexico. The gold standard people have claimed that it has so unsettled values and disturbed business there as to impoverish the Mexican people. Evidently they are misinformed, or are engaged in the free coinage of lies about the demoralization of business wrought in that country by use of the silver standard.

From the testimony of this gentleman, who is in a position to judge of the situation intelligently, it even appears that Mexico is prospering now as she never did before, and that the period of her greatest development has covered the very years when we were experiencing our greatest depression.

In domestic transactions there has been no disturbance of values, he says, a Mexican silver dollar buying as much as it did five years ago. But for the purposes of exchange it is worth only half its value. The same is true of our silver dollar. We keep it on a parity with gold at home by making it a legal

SEEKING TOMANOWOS. BY ALVIN H. SYDENHAM.

In the land of the Shoshones, in the rugged valley east of the Teton range, at the most silent hour of a night of unearthly blackness, White Bull, the medicine man, sat by the smoldering embers of his fire, considering the question of selecting from the young warriors of his tribe a new war chief who would be friendly to his personal interests.

Red Eagle, the old war chief, who had three days before succumbed to the displeasure of the Bad God by dying of a fever, and was even now being mourned among the pines on the hillside, as the plaintive shrieks of lamenting relatives borne on the night wind indicated, had to be replaced; and to replace a warrior who has led his people from victory to victory for thirty summers is an act requiring the most mature deliberation.

As White Bull was peering through the folds of his blanket into the drying embers, a hand stole through the flap of the teepee, which was presently followed by the body of a young warrior, gliding serpentine in from the darkness.

BAD FOOD AND TREATMENT. In These Lie the Cause of the Disappearance of American Sailors.

For years the gradual disappearance of the American sailor and the substitution for him on American vessels, both naval and mercantile, and in both cabin and fore-cabin, so far as the latter is concerned, of foreigners inferior to him in every way have been sorrowfully noted by every writer who has had any knowledge of the subject.

Among the Turks bath money forms an item in every marriage contract, the husband engaging to allow his wife a certain sum for bathing purposes. If it be withheld she has only to go before the cad and turn her slippers upside down.

An Ear for Music.

Say! snarled Alkali Ike, coming down stairs twenty minutes after retiring to his room in the second story of an Oklahoma hotel. "Who in sizzlin' torment is that thar cuss in the next room to mine?"

"It's the cook," replied the landlord. "The poor feller fell into a kettle of hot lard this afternoon. I s'pose his grooms annoy you a good deal, but—"

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity.

"Good, my son; but it is not enough. White Bull, wisest of the Shoshones, alone knows the secret of the tomanowos. He can take the young warriors to the spot, but they have not the courage to follow. When they go to wrench the secret from the bowels of the earth, their blood becomes like water. Hast thou a nerve of iron? Wilt thou follow the White Bull into the country of the fire arrows—into the land of the Fire Spirit?"

"To any spot thou namest." "Then meet the White Bull at the foot of the thunder-rock at sunrise. He will lead thee into the land of the Fire Spirit and show thee the secret of the tomanowos."

An hour later Whirlwind, lying secreted at the feet of the dead war chief, became aware that White Bull was beckoning him apart for a conference. By sunrise he knew that the medicine man had set out for the land of the Fire Spirit with Washakie, his rival, in search of the secret tomanowos, and that upon the skill with which he followed upon their trail, without being seen, depended his accession to the dignity of war chief.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

Hallam thought that his "Literature of Europe" was one of the most exhaustive treatises ever written.

A rumor reached the tribe that the trio had gone far to the north to evade their claims to preferment. When the medicine man entered the Fire-Hole basin of the Yellowstone, the full moon from mid-heaven was flooding the cindered waste with a wondrous radiance.

Before a dark opening that broke the surface and seemed to pierce downward to the very bowels of the earth, the medicine man stopped. Seizing Washakie by the wrist, he bent forward and pointed into the heart of the crater.

"There, Washakie!" he cried, "there is the heart of the Fire Spirit! White Bull will lead thee down by his pony's hair rope until thy feet touch the ledge of rock. Then put thy hands out and walk straight forward until they touch a substance that is warm and smells like powder. That is the heart of the Fire Spirit. Then draw the arrows from thy quiver and thrust them in one by one until they are all gone. The blood will run forth, soft and warm. Gather it in thy hands and fill the quiver. The hot breath of the spirit will fill thy nostrils, but fear it not. When all is done, pull on the rope, and White Bull will draw thee up and lead thee back over the mountains to be war chief of the Shoshones.

This deed has never yet been done by man. Thou shalt be known as the bravest warrior that ever led thy people in battle. The young man hesitated, looking at the flickering jets of steam leaping from the broken surface of the basin beyond; then he fell upon his face and peered earnestly into the darkness of the hole. Superstition, dread of the mysterious Fire Spirit that no man had ever yet conquered, filled him with uncertainty. But he believed the words of the medicine chief of his tribe, who had shown so many others the secret of bravery; and the glory of leading his tribe in war was worth an earnestness dumb to fear. He had tried the forest many miles to find his tomanowos; his strong heart would not fail him now. In another moment he was gliding over the edge of the crater with the noose of the hair rope bound around him.

Whirlwind, arrayed in paint and war bonnet, had crept through the forest and over the mountain as closely as safety permitted. At night his thrice-repeated cry of a cougar had warned the medicine man of his presence. Reaching the edge of the fire basin, and screening himself behind a rock, he saw the medicine man standing alone amid the floating wreaths of steam. He saw him turn and lift a heavy rock, struggle under its weight a short distance, and leave it apparently to the earth.

Then there was a rumbling as if a hundred thunders had broken loose at once. The medicine man retreated hastily as a dense white cloud burst from the earth as his feet and tumbled to the very sky. The earth shook, and there came out of the cloud a prolonged, wailing cry, that was swallowed in an explosion as if the bowels of the earth were rent in sunder. The white cloud was transformed into water, that shot upward in one mighty stream toward the moon, piling volume on volume, and easting itself in steam and spray a hundred feet on every side, like a giant fountain of silver.

When the great geyser had ceased to play, Whirlwind stood beside the medicine man. "Where is Washakie?" he asked. "Where is the world-war chief?" "There," answered the medicine man, pointing to an object lying near the mouth of the crater. "He has found the tomanowos; but he pierced the heart of the Fire Spirit with arrows, and the Fire Spirit has slain him. The water had subsided and fallen back into the earth. Washakie lay upon his face, crushed and smothered, as far from the crater as the length of the lariat to which he was bound permitted the water to throw him. In his right hand he still clutched the quiver, half filled with red, ochreous earth. The medicine man had taken care that the body should not be lost. "Here is the secret," he said, taking up the quiver. "It is the blood of the heart of the Fire Spirit. Whirlwind shall be war chief of the Shoshones. He shall wear the tomanowos in his war-bonnet."

Casting the body of Washakie into the crater, they turned their backs upon the Fire-Hole basin and crossed the mountains into the land of the Shoshones. White Bull at the council fire told of a fight between the two rivals and the Fire Spirit, in which Washakie had been slain, but Whirlwind had come away victorious. Then the crafty deed of the medicine man was rewarded by the election of Whirlwind as war chief.

That summer, when he led his people against the neighboring tribes, Whirlwind placed the tomanowos in the beak of the eagle which crowned his war-bonnet. Though foremost among the falling braves, he received no wound. Bullets struck away the feathers of his war-bonnet, his pony was killed, the wings of the eagle were torn away, but Whirlwind was not touched. And until the Bad Spirit swept the valleys of Idaho with a plague twenty years later, Whirlwind remained the invincible war chief of the Shoshones; for his people believed the tale which White Bull had told of the power of his tomanowos.—Lippincott's Magazine get out av me soight, or it's not tellin' ye I'll be, and then she dived into the water. The Englishman turned a little pale, but he kept on playing the fish, took another drink with one hand, and cursed Pat's father that he did not bring the net quick enough, and just then his feet slipped on the wall, and in he went, down, down, down, into that deep hole. They dragged the water with rakes and hooks, but they never found the body. The lady shut up the house, went away, and all the property went to rack, ruin and tangled scrub.

THE PHANTOM TROUT.

By A. Livingstone. "The first of April has for untold ages been the Day of Fools! Why, no one in particular seems to know. There are patron saints for everyone from the prelate to the thief, but who is the saint of All-Fools?" Thus spoke Tom Marks, one of a merry trio of trout fishers who had journeyed up into Sullivan county, New York state, to fish on the 1st of April, only to find that the waters of their chosen district could not lawfully be fished until the 16th of the month, and that they must journey many a weary mile across country before they reached a district where the open season began on All-Fool's day.

WILL DEVELOP THE POWER.

Council Authorizes the Electric Light Commission to Go Ahead.

EARNINGS OF PLANT TO GO TO ENLARGING IT.

New Dam at the Gorge and Flume to Bring Down Water With Over Eighty Feet Head.

CAPACITY TO BE TRIPLED.

The council last evening by the unanimous vote of the fourteen members present authorized the electric light commission to expend the accumulated earnings of the plant and the net earnings of this year in improving the water power so as to be able to furnish more light and meet the demand in that direction.

The plans outlined contemplate the building of another dam above what is known as the Horseshoe bend, the construction of a closed flume 3,250 feet in length to a point opposite the present power house, the erection of another water wheel at that place and the rope transmission of the power so obtained to the present power house.

Only Aldermen Kreig and Carney were absent and Mayor Jacobs presided. Commissioners Adams, Mack, Pendill and Powell were in attendance and Mr. Pendill presented the estimates of the board on the proposed improvement.

A Disagreeable Day. In point of sticky and disagreeable heat yesterday was one of the unpleasant days of the season. The thermometer started from 69 at 6 a. m. and rose steadily to 85 by 10 o'clock.

The board had considered the question of purchasing the Forestville falls but the owners were so convinced of the ultimate value of that power that the least that would touch it was $30,000.

With the power developed as proposed the idle dynamo could be set at work, the one now in use relieved of its dangerous load and the service much improved.

Alderman Sherman introduced a resolution that the light commission be authorized to expend the accumulated earnings of the plant and the net earnings for the current year in the improvements outlined, and also another resolution that the commission be authorized in its discretion to purchase a flowage right up the stream for not more than $3,000.

The effect of last night's action of the council will be that the power on the city's lands above the Valley Milling company's dam will be developed to its full capacity and that the electric lighting plant will be put in a position to use all its possible resources profitably.

It would therefore appear that the electric light fund has with its accumulated earnings and net income for the current year the money in sight to do all that is proposed without putting another dollar on the tax roll or borrowing, except possibly for the purchase of the flowage right mentioned.

Three Games With Duluth. The Duluth baseball team will play here again on Saturday, Sunday and Monday afternoons.

Hotel Superior Hops. The demand for Vandenberg's fresh milk and Jersey creamery butter is excellent only by the excellent quality of the goods which are being so highly praised by all the best housekeepers in the city.

that its efforts for the amusement of the public will be rewarded with the usual liberal patronage. The Duluth team is one of the best in the Northwest outside of the great cities and will present substantially the same players as on its former visit.

Miss Gaffney's Concert.

One of the prettiest musical entertainments given here in a long time was the farewell concert by Miss Josephine Gaffney at the Presbyterian church last evening. Though Miss Gaffney was far from well she sang with all her usual sweetness but was compelled to ask the indulgence of the audience and omit her last number.

The head of 73 feet could be obtained on the city's own property, but if a flowage right were purchased up to the foot of the Forestville dam this head could be increased to 83 feet, a flowage created that would supply the wheels for fourteen hours continuously without drawing upon the stream at all, and consequently the power developed increased so much.

The Play Postponed. Owing to the death yesterday of Mrs. Colville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoar and sister of Fred and Joseph Hoar, the production of "Millie, the Quadroon" will be postponed from Wednesday of this week to Monday of next.

Vandenboom's green corn, which is noted for its delicious flavor, was heartily relished by hundreds of people yesterday. The corn will be delivered from the mill cart daily.
