NAVAL BILL PASSES HOUSE.

Provides for the Construction of Four Battleships and Fifteen Torpedo Boats.

TO COST IN NEIGHBORHOOD OF THIRTY-FIVE MILLIONS.

A Still Larger Increase in the Navy Is Vigorously Supported but All Amendments Pertaining There to Are Defeated.

NEWS FROM NATION'S CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The naval appropriation bill passed the house today. It carries $31,611,034 and authorizes the construction of four battleships and fifteen torpedo boats, the total cost of which will be in the neighborhood of thirty-five millions.

In the house today Mr. Heatwole introduced a resolution providing for a non-partisan commission consisting of nine experts in political economy and banking for aiding congress in the deliberation of banking and currency matters. Several minor bills were then passed, and the house at once went into committee of the whole and resumed consideration of the naval appropriation bill.

Hanley (Pop. Ind.), a member of the naval committee who favored a larger increase in the navy than the majority committee, argued in favor of an amendment, which he gave notice he would offer, to increase the number of battleships from four to six. Although his people lived a thousand miles from tidewater, they were patriotic enough and proud enough to desire to see their country with a navy befitting her position as the greatest country on the globe. He thought it was time for the United States to enter upon a distinctively national policy.

Hulick (Rep. O.) endorsed all Hanley had said, but argued that in view of the condition of the treasury it was unwise to authorize more than four battleships in this bill. Johnson (Rep. Cal.) favored the Hanley amendment for six battleships instead of four. We needed a stronger navy. If we were to continue to parade ourselves among the nations of the earth with a chip on our shoulder we must be prepared to fight if that chip was knocked off. Robinson (Rep. Pa.) argued in support of the judgment of the committee. Cummings (Dem. N. Y.) followed with an eloquent speech in favor of a larger increase in the navy, and Boutelle closed general debate in favor of abiding by the judgment of the naval committee. This bill would be the largest authorization for ships in the history of the country and would tax our capacities to the utmost. A vote was then taken on the Hanley amendment, and on a rising vote it was defeated—32 to 134. Various other amendments were then offered but all were voted down and the bill was then passed.

Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, reported the sundry civil bill and gave notice he would call it up tomorrow.

APPROVES HIS SENTENCE.

President Will Not Interfere in Medical Inspector Kershner's Case.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The result of the general court martial in the case of Medical Inspector Edward Kershner, U. S. N., convicted of violation of a lawful regulation issued by the secretary of the navy and also of scandalous conduct tending to the destruction of good morals, was made public by the navy department today. The officer was dismissed from the naval service and in approving the sentence of the court martial, the president wrote as follows:

"I have examined all the proceedings in the case and everything bearing upon it with the utmost care, and would have been glad to find justification for the mitigation of the sentence imposed. I have not been able, however, to reach the conviction that Medical Inspector Kershner with unworthy intent and in an insubordinate spirit violated an important and salutary regulation of the navy department. "I am also fully convinced that to conceal the fault he deliberately and under oath gave evidence before the court of inquiry which, if it did not technically constitute perjury, amounted to a plain and intentional suggestion of falsehood and willful suppression of truth.

"These offenses of which the accused has been found guilty involve so much that is perilous to the high sense of honor that should characterize the personnel of our navy and so much that is dangerous to proper discipline in that branch of the service, that it seems to me the proper regard for public duty precludes my interference with the sentence which the court-martial imposed.

OPPOSITION IN THE SENATE.

Amendment Proposing Change from Fee System May Fail of Passage.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—In the senate today Mr. Morrill (Vt.) introduced a joint resolution appointing Bernard R. Green to succeed General Casey as engineer in charge of the construction of the congressional library. He explained that Green was the immediate assistant of General Casey in building the Washington monument and the war, state and navy buildings. A long discussion then ensued, Hill objecting on the ground it was proposed to legislate a man into office. Wolcott, Proctor, Allison, Call, Cockrell, Gorman and Chandler paid high tributes to Casey and approved the resolution, although Gorman thought it might establish a bad precedent. Hill withdrew and the Green resolution was adopted.

A joint resolution was adopted allowing ex-President Harrison to accept decorations from Brazil and Spain. A joint resolution was also passed providing for the appointment of a commissioner, under direction of the secretary of war, for a preliminary survey, with plans, specifications and approximate estimates of the cost thereof, for the construction of a ship canal of approved width and depth from the lower shore of Lake Michigan to the Wabash river, and for the further investigation of the practicability of the construction of such waterway.

The legislative appropriation bill was then taken up. Sherman moved to strike out all sections referring to a change in the system for paying district attorneys and marshals. He opposed the high salaries proposed by the bill. At a time when the revenues of the government were less than the expenditures high salaries should not be paid. Sherman asked why these federal officers should receive more than attorneys and other local and state officers.

Hoar, chairman of the judiciary committee, supported Sherman's motion, while the Populists held the balance of power to abandon the vicious power of adding general legislation to appropriation bills. Hill declared he would hazard the appropriation bill and risk an extra session rather than to have this change made by means of a rider to an appropriation bill. A vote will be taken on the motion tomorrow.

White reported favorably, from the committee on territories, the bill admitting Arizona to statehood.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

Current News of the Day at the Nation's Headquarters.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The conferees on the Cuban resolutions have agreed to accept the resolutions as passed by the senate. Under the arrangement reached the senate conferees will report the agreement to the senate and the question will be closed so far as concerns that body. The house conferees will report to the house with the recommendation that it accept the senate resolutions and the house will vote upon the ratification of the report. Chairman Hill expects to make the report tomorrow.

A special from Chicago says the general officers of the national W. C. T. U. have addressed a letter to Speaker Reed expressing gratitude for the speaker's action in enforcing the rule against smoking in the house of representatives. The letter expresses the hope that at no distant day the sale of liquor will also be banished from the national Capitol.

The resignation of John I. Hall as assistant attorney general for the interior department was presented to the president this afternoon to take effect July 1. Judge Hall resigns to accept the general consularship of the Georgia Southern & Florida Railway company. His successor as assistant attorney general will be W. H. Little of Columbia, Ga.

Dennis F. Murphy, who had been one of the reporters of the United States senate since 1848 and chief of the official reportorial corps since 1873, died here tonight, aged sixty-two. He was one of the best known stenographic reporters in the world and the accuracy and fidelity of his work was never questioned.

The sundry civil appropriation bill was completed today by the house committee on appropriations, and will be called up in the house tomorrow. The bill carries $29,408,874, which is $1,065,000 less than the estimates furnished the departments and $1,341,000 less than the appropriation for the current year.

A cablegram has been received at the state department confirming the rumor of the death of President Hippolyte of Hayti.

DELEGATES IN A RIOT.

The Texas Republican Convention Yesterday a Scene of the Wildest Disorder.

SEVERAL BELLIGERENTS ARE CONSIDERABLY BRUISED.

Reed-Allison Combines Succeeds in Running Things but the McKinley Men Later Held a Convention of Their Own.

A MEMORABLE MEETING OVER.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 26.—The Republican convention, which had been in session in this city since Tuesday, adjourned since die this afternoon after having enjoyed the distinction of narrowly avoiding a funeral and of having not the usual thing nowadays in Texas of a split convention. The situation looked threatening from the very start this morning. The McKinley men worked all night among the negroes and succeeded in bringing over quite a number of them, so that this morning when the hour for convening arrived it found the McKinley men armed with an organized force occupying the center of the hall with a determined look on their faces and an air of fight surrounding them.

Cuney, chairman of the convention, when he mounted the rostrum at 10 o'clock took in the situation at a glance, and seeing the McKinley men assuming formidable strength immediately sent his emissaries out for his forces and pending their return he did nothing in the matter of opening the convention, putting forth the excuse that the committee on credentials was not ready to report. He finally got his forces together about 1 o'clock, and the committee on credentials putting in an appearance about the same time the convention was called to order.

The first work of the convention was the receiving and adopting of the credentials committee's report. Its introduction immediately precipitated a row and while the McKinley faction made a determined fight the Reed and Allison men were in the majority and organized the convention. The convention adopted a platform along the regular lines, with a "sober money" plank. The convention then elected the following delegates to St. Louis: N. W. Cuney, Galveston, an Allison man; W. R. Malesman, Georgetown, a Reed man; E. H. Terrell, San Antonio, an Allison man; C. H. Ferguson, Richmond, a Reed man.

Hardly had the vote on the selection of electors been announced when the long anticipated row was in force. As the chair declared the men elected a wild whoop from the very center of the McKinley delegation proclaimed that the trouble had begun. One early negro came plowing through the ranks and pushing the men in front of him as if they were so much chaff and in his wake came a half hundred of excited followers, wild with excitement.

The spectators and the crowd on the stand made frantic efforts to get out of the way but all to no purpose. They were on the stand in an instant and there they were confronted by Cuney and his faithful followers, who received them with a hearty welcome far warmer than they anticipated. The Cuney men had no time to organize forces before the opposition crowd was on them. This mattered little, however, as each man instantly resolved himself into a John L. Sullivan and combated every inch of ground.

The first negro to reach the stage made a lunge at Cuney's head with his fist. While he was quick, one of Cuney's followers was quicker. As he struck at Cuney he found himself confronted by a big revolver in the hands of a negro, who, while not so large, demonstrated that he could hold his own against all comers. The two men eyed each other for ten seconds, possibly when they both went down before the howling crowd that was swaying around and about them.

In an instant the platform was the scene of wild chaos. Excited negroes swayed to and fro in battle for twenty minutes before the armed force of policemen could quell the riot. It was then discovered no one was dangerously hurt, although one or two white delegates, as well as a negro or two, were bruised considerably. As soon as order was obtained the convention, after disposing of a few minor matters, adjourned sine die without issuing any instructions to the delegates to St. Louis.

Immediately after the regular convention adjourned the McKinley faction took charge of the hall, and organizing a convention in due form elected delegates to St. Louis. This convention did not consider a platform, but adopted resolutions endorsing McKinley and instructing the delegates to vote for him as long as his name was before the convention.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 26.—In an interview tonight with the Associated Press representative Chairman Grant, of the state executive committee, stated the McKinley men secured the only organization that had any right to be represented in the St. Louis convention and their fight there would be successful. He based this statement on the fact that Cuney refused entirely to allow a roll call, although the McKinley men demanded it repeatedly and on every issue. There was never a roll call in the convention presided over by Cuney, and when it was called in the McKinley convention it was found they had 696 uncontested votes out of a possible 790. This fact, coupled with Cuney's unprecedented rulings, will be the basis of McKinley's fight for recognition in the St. Louis convention as outlined by the chairmen.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 26.—The Republicans of the Third congressional district today elected delegates to St. Louis. The delegates favor McKinley.

MARQUETTE, MICH., MARCH 27.

Entered as mail-matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

AMBASSADOR BAYARD continues to let his mouth run away with him. He lacks the tact of a politician in talking, but shows the instinct of one plainly in the grim determination with which he hangs on to his job.

THERE has been no report published in either the Detroit News or Tribune of the organization of Pingree Republican clubs in this county, or elsewhere in the upper peninsula, though, several with a membership running up in the hundreds have been formed at a number of places up here where both papers have correspondents. So much space is devoted to lying about Pingree in both Mr. Scripps' papers that they have none to spare for giving truthful information to their readers concerning the movement to have him given the nomination for governor. Mr. Scripps must feel quite badly over having been invited to resign from the park board of Detroit by the mayor.

MARINETTE county, Wis., has a board of supervisors that is entitled to the ribbon for monumental asininity. At a recent meeting it adopted a regulation under which persons confined in the county jail will be denied newspapers and literature of any kind, save religious tracts and publications. This will tend to make the prisoners moral in the opinion of the solemn asses constituting the board of supervisors of that county. It is a pity that the members of the board in question cannot be restricted solely to the kind of mental pabulum that they propose to inflict on the inmates of the county prison. But it is undeniable that, as a local paper puts it, the new regulation for their county jail "will add materially to the punishment of the criminals and law breakers confined there."

SENATOR PETTIGREW of South Dakota will go to the St. Louis convention as one of the delegates from his state, but he was only chosen after he had consented to abjure his fealty to Allison and silver in the presence of the convention that chose him as a delegate to the national convention. Pettigrew left his post at Washington to attend the convention in the expectation that he would be chosen a delegate without terms, but when his constituents got hold of him they compelled him to go back on his candidate for the presidency and his convictions on the currency question before they would consent to let him go to St. Louis as a delegate. He paid dearly for the honor obtained. If the Republicans of South Dakota have proper respect for themselves they will let Pettigrew's present term in the United States senate terminate his public career. A man who stands willing to sacrifice honest convictions for a political honor or office is unfit to represent even a wild and woolly state like South Dakota in the senate of the United States, or to act for it in any official capacity.

THE Bay City Tribune asserts that "the re-enactment of the McKinley law, and its unhampered application, will give life to lifeless factories and fill the nation with the songs of industry." Its enactment in the first place did not have that effect. So far from it, that the Republican party went out of power soon after that law went into operation, and it has been charged by no less an authority than Chairman Babcock of the national Republican congressional campaign committee, who was recently re-elected to that position, as well as other influential Republicans, that the defeats which the party sustained in the nation, and in many states previously solidly Republican, following its enactment were directly attributable to the popular dissatisfaction with its workings. We wonder how many Republicans are in favor of a restoration of the clause of that law giving a bounty to sugar producers? The principle of protection is sound, but it is possible to have a bad application made of a good principle, and there are many Republicans who believe that this was done to reprehensible extent in the McKinley law. We predict that even if the Republican party is restored to power in every branch of the government it will not "re-enact the McKinley law." Not even though McKinley be elected president, as now seems more than probable.

SENATOR McMILLAN is opposed to having the method of electing United States senators changed. "I am not in favor of the proposition to amend the constitution of the United States so as to provide for the election of United States senators by the people," he informed a Washington correspondent who sought his views on the matter. He further stated that he doubted if there is any considerable demand for the proposed change. The senator would learn differently if he would get down among the people occasionally. When ex-Senator Ingalls lectured here the other evening on "the problems of our second century" he was more heartily applauded when he declared himself in favor of having United States senators elected by the people, and gave his reasons for favoring the proposition to have them elected in that manner, than he was for anything else said by him in the course of his very able discourse. There can be little doubt of the existence of the demand which Senator McMillan affects to disbelieve in, but one cannot be expected to learn much about the wishes and needs of the masses when he makes his campaign tours in a private car fitted up with palatial furnishings, and to which only the political managers at points which he visits are admitted, and these only as they are summoned for a consultation with its august occupant.

BUT WILL IT BE? Alluding to the circumstance that two Republican state conventions, held to select delegates to the St. Louis convention, which took place Tuesday, one of these New York and the other Minnesota, declared "in no uncertain tones" against any alliance between free coinage of silver and protection, the Minneapolis Journal takes the ground that the national convention of the party must and will set its face inexorably against having any concessions made to the silver element in the ranks. We give this extract from its article: Wisconsin has already sounded a true note and so the pace is set for the national convention at St. Louis, and during the next few weeks the Republican position will be set forth in all the great manufacturing states and it will undoubtedly proclaim sound money, maintenance of the public credit and protection, and in no case will the "free silver and protection" men get a word of encouragement. For it is perfectly understood that the cry is a device of men who care really nothing for protection and who threaten to destroy protection if they cannot thrust free silver upon the country. Men who make this threat are as bitter enemies of protection as are the free traders. They assume that the great Republican party thinks as lightly of protection as they do. The answer of the party is found in the tariff and finance planks of the conventions of yesterday.

The Republican party will not link "free coinage and protection." Because less than half a dozen members of the Philadelphia Manufacturers' club of 1,100 members have been intimidated by the Barker manifesto of "no free silver, no protection," the free silver men are declaring that they have thrown a big bomb shell into the Republican camp. They have heard from the Atlantic seaboard and the head of the lakes and the Mississippi river. They will hear more news of the same kind within a month and they will begin, perhaps, to doubt the assumed potentiality of their imperious threat which they seem to have thought would bring the great Republican party in humble submission to its knees before them. The St. Louis convention will come out with equal distinctness as was heard yesterday from two great Republican states, on money and protection, and there is no use for the Barker manifesto crowd to attempt to bully that convention. This whole free silver 16 to 1 folly should be overwhelmingly disposed of this year.

There will be more difficulty in getting a platform declaration on the currency issue similar to that adopted by the states named accepted by the St. Louis convention than the Minneapolis advocate of the gold standard appears to believe. There will be a silver element in that convention which will demand a hearing and will know how to make its demand in "no uncertain tones." It is not likely that the party is prepared to dispose of that element in its ranks in the summary fashion suggested, and if it should be done it might be worse for the party than for the cause of silver. This is not a country where the honest opinions of any large proportion of the voters in a party can be treated with contemptuous disregard, as the Republican leaders have good reason to know from experiences not at all remote in point of time, though the lessons they should have drawn from them seem to have been forgotten to a deplorable extent.

EAGER TO KNOW.

How the Negroes Learned About the Coming War. During the civil war many of the colored people of the south were of course very anxious to know what it meant and how it was coming out. Mrs. Botume describes a conversation to which she once listened, after the war was over, among some colored women. They were talking over the old times. One said:

"My father an' the other boys used to crawl under the house an' lie on the ground to hear massa read the newspaper to talk about the war."

"See that big oak tree there?" said another. "Our boys used to climb into that tree an' hide under the long moss while massa was at supper, so as to hear him and the company talk about the war when they come out on the piazza to smoke."

"I couldn't read, but my uncle could," said a third. "I was waiting-maid, an' used to help massa to dress in the morning. If massa wanted to tell her something he didn't want me to know, he used to spell it out. I could remember the letters, and so soon as I got away I ran to uncle an' spelled them over, an' he told me what they meant."

"That sounded to Mrs. Botume like a pretty large story. "Can you do that now?" she asked. "Try me!" exclaimed the colored woman; "try me an' see!"

Mrs. Botume spelled a long sentence as rapidly as possible, without pausing between the words, and the woman immediately repeated it after her, without missing a letter.

It is perhaps not surprising that this woman was disappointed at the slow progress, as she thought it, of her children when they were sent to school. One of them, to her profound disgust, could not read when he was three years old!

"Why, if I had his chance," she cried, rolling up her eyes and stretching out her hands, "do you think I wouldn't learn?"

It is pleasant to know that this same backward boy became a scholar and a leader among his own people.—Youth's Companion.

The real satisfaction which praise can afford is when what is repeated aloud agrees with the whispers of conscience.—Johnson.

Simon S. Hartman, of Tunnelton, West Va. has been subject to attacks of colic about once a year, and would like to call a doctor and then suffer for about twelve hours as much as some do when they die. He was taken recently just the same as at other times, and concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says: "I took one dose of it and it gave me relief in five minutes. That is more than any thing else has ever done for me." For sale by The H. H. Stafford Co.

The assessed valuation of Savannah is $33,238,983, and its debt is comparatively heavy, being, in all, $3,494,400.

It has been computed by geographers that if the sea were emptied of its water and all the rivers of the earth were to pour their present floods into the vast space, allowing nothing for evaporation, 40,000 years would be required to bring the water of the ocean up to its present level.

Some 20 tons of silk spinning and weaving machinery was shipped from Stonington, Conn., to Moscow, Russia, recently. Sixty tons more is ordered for the same place and parties. The machinery is for use in a big silk mill recently built in the old capital of Russia.

Brass plates bearing appropriate inscriptions now mark the sites of the pews in old Christ church, Philadelphia, once occupied by Betsy Ross, maker of the first American flag; Francis Hopkinson and his son, Joseph Hopkinson, author of the national hymn, "Hail Columbia;" the Penn family, Benjamin Franklin and George and Martha Washington.

At the head waters of the Orinoco the Spanish traditions located the land of El Dorado, "The Gilded Man," a potentate whose country was so rich in gold dust that he had his body anointed with oil and sprinkled with gold every morning, so that he shone in the sun as though gilded. It is a curious fact that the country in which tradition located this marvelous being has never been explored by a white man.

Of the 229,370 alien steerage passengers who arrived at the port of New York last year, 42,942 above 14 years of age could not read and write. About 149,500 of the steerage arrivals were over 14 years of age, and only 29,287 of these brought with them $30 and over. No less than 182,000 of the whole number of steerage immigrants had some point in the north Atlantic states for a destination, while only 2,451 were bound for the south central states.

HOW CORPSES ARE SHIPPED.

Some Facts Relating to the Transportation of Dead Bodies. Every corpse that is shipped on the railroad is charged for as a first-class passenger. The full fare is charged whether the body be that of an infant or a full grown man. During 1895 there were 448 corpses sent east from Denver and all were handled at the Union depot baggage-rooms. Of this number 337 were bodies of persons who died in Denver and 111 of persons who had died in other parts of the state.

In addition to the bodies forwarded there were several hundred received for burial in Denver. This means that the baggage men have a cadaver for company daily and sometimes several a day. In August there were 42 forwarded, besides what were received. The shipment of corpses represents no inconsiderable item in the receipts of the railroads, for in every case some relative or friend of the dead person must go along to take care of it. Such person, of course, also pays a full first-class fare.

The railroads have adopted certain rules governing the transportation of corpses, one of which reads as follows: "One full regular first-class ticket, limited or unlimited, will be honored for the transportation of the corpse of a person of any age in baggage cars, when accompanied by a passenger in charge on the same train, the word 'corpse' to be plainly written on the face of the ticket and of each coupon thereof."

One of the local ticket agents the other day picked up the stubs of a "corpse" ticket he had just sold, and called attention to the word, which in that case was printed with a rubber stamp in purple ink.

"That seems brutal," he said. "It doesn't look so cold blooded when 'corpse' is written across the ticket, but it strikes one as being peculiarly offensive to stamp it on."

If that were the only requirement shipping corpses would be a simple matter. The friend of the deceased presents a physician's or coroner's certificate giving the name of the deceased, age, date of death, cause of death, place of death, and, if the deceased was a minor, the parents' names must also be certified to.

There must also be a certificate from the undertaker stating that the body had been prepared by him for transportation, and that it has been incased in a casket, or in an antiseptic interment sack, hermetically sealed, and that it has been placed in an air-tight casket, or in a tight wooden box. If the corpse is that of a person who has died of smallpox, cholera, leprosy, yellow fever or typhus fever the railroad cannot accept it.

The laws of California, Colorado, District of Columbia, Florida, Iowa, Kentucky, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin and province of Quebec do not allow the passage of bodies dead of diphtheria through or into the state. Such bodies should be refused if destined to points to or through above states.

The certificates mentioned must be made out in duplicate, one copy to be retained by the party in charge of the body and the other copy is taken up by the baggage agent and forwarded to the general baggage office, with a daily report.

The train baggage man must way-bill the corpse and ticket it as baggage, giving name and destination as marked on the box.

The personal effects of the deceased, not exceeding 150 pounds, may be checked free upon the corpse ticket.

The majority of those who died in Colorado originally came from the central and eastern states, and the fares paid, for corpse and caretaker, usually amounted to $50 to $100 for each shipment.—Denver Times.

FOR THE BOALANEN MURDER.

Three Men Are Held as a Result of the Coroner's Inquest.

The inquest over the killing of Boalanen, the Finn, at Eagle River, continued over yesterday. One result of the examination, however, was to effect the release of the two Finns who had been held under suspicion and the retention of the two Swedes—August Lind and Andrew Gaberson—besides the arrest of a third party named Grant Doyle.

The testimony adduced at yesterday's proceedings is briefly as follows: During the progress of the dance, which was being held at Lind's house, Gaberson was continually taunting Boalanen, occasionally varying his jesting by the administering of a kick or two at the Finlander.

This is thus far the most damaging evidence against the Swedes, but it is somewhat offset by the testimony of Katie Moberg, a hired girl in Lind's employ. Her testimony tends to show that it was Grant Doyle who committed the murder, for soon after the trouble occurred she declared that she saw Doyle with his hands and trousers covered with blood.

Democrats Choose Candidates.

The Democratic township caucus held Wednesday night at Hancock brought out an unusually large crowd of voters and the following strong ticket was put up:

Brelsford; commissioner highways, William Richards; overseer of highways, Charles Wilman; constables, Joe Malberbe, Ed. Lee, John Shaback, Camille Beauchamp.

Michael Finn acted as chairman of the meeting and C. O. Oliver as secretary.

TO WASH THE FACE.

In Order to Be Clean It Must Be Scrubbed.

If you wish to have a clean, wholesome skin proceed as follows: Select a good, pure soap, and recollect that you cannot get such a soap composed of vegetable oils for less than 25 cents a cake.

Immerse the brush in a bowl of water as hot as you can bear it upon your face; rub the soap back and forth upon the brush until you have a good lather; scrub your face thoroughly, particularly about the nose and around the eyes and chin, places where blackheads are apt to come.

HOW TURKISH WOMEN DRESS.

Wearing Neither Corset Nor Stockings, They Have Curious Articles of Attire.

In not a single respect is a Turkish lady's attire similar to that worn by the women of the occident. Amazingly little is known, in fact, about the wardrobe of the women of the harem, and the average American woman has little idea regarding it, save that all Turkish women wear trousers and a veil.

The two most interesting and important points are that the Turkish woman wears no corsets and no stockings. She has nothing whatever in the place of corsets, but instead of stockings knitted woolen socks. Often these are open-worked very skillfully, and have a mixture of silk threads. Some are elaborately embroidered in colors and in gold.

The very first garment the woman of the orient puts on is a long-sleeved chemise of Brussels crepe gauze. This is made exactly like the seamless holy coat of Treves, and its neck is cut out and hemmed in a close roll.

The trousers are made most often of chintz or cretonne, and are vivid and startling in color. They are put on immediately after the chemise, and are about four inches longer than the leg. They are fastened by a drawing-string at the waist, tied in front, and they hang down over the ankles.

The entarri, a garment taking the place of the trained skirts of the west, comes next. It is of cotton, wool, silk or satin, perhaps of rich brocade, perhaps of a brilliant tint, but of whatever material it may be made it is bright and gay. It consists of four breadths.

Next in order come the sash and the jacket, the latter being worn only in warm weather. It is shaped like what we call an Eton jacket, and buttoned to the waist line with small jewels or gold buttons. The sleeves are sometimes elbow sleeves, always loose and often left flowing below the elbow.

The curious thing about this jacket is that while it is well fitted in the back, all the portion that should cover the breast is cut away, leaving the entire bust exposed.

While the other portions of the costume worn by Turkish women are wonderfully picturesque, the most pride of all is taken in this jacket. Velvet, silk or satin are the materials used for it. The wives of the richest Mohammedans have it embroidered with seed pearls, turquoise or coral, and always with gold and silver threads.

Exceedingly important, too, really the most important article in this attire, is the yashmak, or Turkish veil. The Turkish woman wears no hat, but she nevertheless is not debarred from the usual feminine prerogative, for it is invariably in order for her to query whether her yashmak is on straight.

In fact, a woman shows whether she has style or not by the way she wears this veil. It is a law of the prophet that Mohammedan women shall never be without it when outside of their homes; and this law is rigidly adhered to.

One valuable use the veil has. It externalizes by its folds the entire face, a very necessary thing when the feminine custom of painting the whole countenance is taken into consideration. Without her veil the Turkish woman looks rather ghastly when she is in full regalia. Her eyebrows are blackened with kohl, her lips are crimsoned, her cheeks are dyed carmine and the rest of her face is whitened with arsenic paste or some similar compound.—N. Y. World.

EXPLAIN THE FIGURES.

Facts That Illustrate the Value in Gold of Quantities Frequently Mentioned.

The total amount of the bids received at the United States treasury for the last government bond issue was $568,000,000. This amount of money would make a block 10 feet square by 14 1-3 feet high.

The total imports of the United States for 1895 were valued at $731,969,965, which would make a gold block 10 feet square by 18 1/2 feet high.

The total exports of the United States for 1895 were valued at $793,392,599, which would make a block of gold 10 feet square by 19 2-3 feet high.

The production of wheat in the United States for 1894 was 460,267,415 bushels, the value of which, at 60 cents per bushel, would make a gold block 10 feet square by 7 feet high.

The assessed valuation of all the taxable property in Chicago, real and personal, for 1895 was $244,476,825, which would make a gold block 10 feet square by 6 feet high.

The assessed valuation in 1890 of all property, real and personal, in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah and Nevada was, in round numbers, $568,000,000, the amount of the bond bid.

The amount of the bond bid, coined into $20 pieces, would make a pile of gold containing, approximately, 1,500 cubic feet. The amount of cash on deposit in the country's savings banks alone, in 1895, was $1,810,597,023, or a fraction over three times the amount of the bond bid.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

Modern Englishwoman. An Englishwoman, by name Mrs. Bygrave, made a flying visit to Washington last week. She appeared at the patent office clad in an improved garment, comprising bifurcations and skirts. Just what it was technically called isn't told yet.

Mrs. Bygrave had made a number of improvements, on which her attorneys here filed applications for patents. Mrs. Bygrave gave an exhibition to the authorities of the working of the patent bifurcations, then announced that her business was done, and she would return to England on the following day. It then came out that she had only arrived from England a day before, and had come over here simply to patent her dress reform improvements and rush back. There's a sample of the modern woman.—Chicago News.

TO STOP GOLD EXPORTS.

Treasury Department Increases the Premium on Bars from 1-16 to 3-16 of 1 Per Cent.

A CHECKMATE FOR THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

Government's Action Will Raise Price at Which the Yellow Metal Can Be Exported Profitably and Cause a Decrease in Shipments.

MOVE WITH A TRIPLE PURPOSE.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The treasury department has instructed the New York sub-treasury to raise the premium on gold bars from 1-16 to 3-16 of 1 per cent.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The Evening Post supplements the foregoing dispatch with the following: "At the price at which bars could be taken up today there was a small profit possible in shipping at the present rate of sterling exchange and the increase in the price offered in London for American gold bars."

The present condition of affairs in sterling exchange is due to the fact that the large amount of European gold that was borrowed for sixty days for the purpose of paying for new government bonds has to be repaid.

The decreasing demand, however, for "call" money having brought about a decline in the rate at which money can be employed, there is no inducement for European capitalists to allow their money to remain here and so it has to be returned to Europe.

VIOLATED THE FLAG LAW

Governor Altgeld and University Trustees Indicted by Grand Jury CHAMPAIGN, Ills., March 26.—Governor John P. Altgeld and the entire board of trustees for the University of Illinois were indicted by the Champaign county grand jury today for the alleged neglect or refusal to comply with the law requiring the American flag to be displayed over the University buildings.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., March 26.—Governor Altgeld received his information about the indictments by the Champaign county grand jury from the Associated Press representative. The governor said: "Of the board of trustees, nine are elected by the people, other three being the governor, superintendent of public instruction and president of the state board of agriculture."

Narrowly Escaped Lynching.

FRESNO, Cal., March 26.—An attempt was made tonight to lynch Johnston, the minister who a few nights ago charged from the pulpit that two-thirds of the girls of Fresno were ruined before they arrived at the age of fourteen. Officers rescued him from an angry mob and he is now under the protection of the sheriff. Johnston came here a few days ago and had been conducting revival meetings.

400 Thrown Out of Work.

WASHINGTON, Ind., March 26.—The Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern shops here closed down indefinitely today, throwing over four hundred men out of employment. No reason is assigned for the sudden action.

ANOTHER CHICAGO MYSTERY.

Body of a Man Found in a Trunk Purchased at an Auction.

CHICAGO, March 26.—The badly decomposed body of an unknown man was found today in a trunk bought at an auction in Waken & McLaughlin's warehouse, at 504 North Water street.

The trunk contained the badly decomposed body of a man, without any clue to identification. As soon as the discovery was made the men commenced a search for something that would indicate where the box had come from or by whom it had been owned.

The police have taken up the matter, but there seems to be little chance of there doing anything with the case. The undertaker who took charge of the body said that some material intended to hasten decomposition had been thrown upon the body when it was placed in the box, and it had done its work well.

A MEDICAL STUDENT'S JOKE? The care with which the body was packed practically precludes the idea that it was a corpse sent out from some medical college. When the box was broken open a cheap, medium sized trunk of green canvas was displayed.

At the address given on the box a Mrs. McMullen resides at the present time. She said tonight she knew nothing of the box or of G. M. Morgan, to whom it was addressed. She said that some day in the early part of the present week an expressman came to the house, asking for Morgan. He had a large box in the wagon and said he had been hunting for Morgan all day but had been unable to find him.

WHY THEY WERE DISMISSED.

Ballington and Mrs. Booth Had Become too Much Americanized. PITTSBURGH, March 26.—Mrs. Ballington Booth lectured tonight to a large audience. After the lecture Mrs. Booth broke the silence as to the cause of herself and the commander breaking away from the old organization. She practically admitted they had become too much Americanized to suit the ideas of the powers in London.

SHERBOGAN, Wis., March 26.

A secret meeting of officers of the Salvation Army from all over eastern Wisconsin was held today and it was unanimously decided to stand by the flag. This result was not reached, however, until after a long and animated discussion on the question.

IN ARMS AGAINST ENGLAND.

The Transvaal Wants Its Independence Guaranteed in Connection With Other Powers.

BOERS ARMING TO ENFORCE THEIR DEMANDS.

New Offensive and Defensive Alliance Is Concluded With the Orange Free State and Support of the Bund Is Offered.

THE SITUATION IS SERIOUS.

LONDON, March 26.—The Times correspondent cables: "The situation is serious. President Kruger has concluded a new offensive and defensive alliance with the Orange Free State. The Transvaal wants its independence guaranteed by England in connection with other powers."

The Times, commenting upon the foregoing, says: "If the reports are true, it indicates a powerful coalition against England. The arming of the Boers can have but one aim. England, however, will do nothing by the way of guarantees or otherwise to give any other power a right to interfere with the South African republic."

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION.

New York Bar Association Sub-Committee Presents Its Plan. NEW YORK, March 26.—The committee on international arbitration of the New York State bar association held a meeting today.

President Whitaker said the plan submitted by the sub-committee had presented its plan for international arbitration, but it would not be adopted until all details were fully considered. Before the formal adoption of the plan it will be submitted to President Cleveland in a memorial.

President Whitaker said the plan submitted by the sub-committee provided for the organization of a permanent international tribunal. The bar associations throughout this country and Great Britain are in sympathy with the movement.

FAVORS THE INCOME TAX.

Chamber of Deputies Turns Down Details of Government's Scheme. PARIS, March 26.—The chamber of deputies by a vote of 286 to 270 tonight voted for the government proposal on the principle of income tax but had referred the details of the scheme to committee.

A TON OF PIG IRON.

What Labor Can Produce from That Amount of Metal. At the recent meeting of the South Staffordshire Institute of Iron and Steel Works Managers Thomas Morris presented some interesting facts about the remarkable achievements that have been reached in the manufacture of fine wire.

On the days in the smaller towns and villages which can't support a bull fight, a favorite sport is to hang a sleek fat duck by the feet from a wire or rope stretched between two trees or posts on the village plaza. The head of the duck hangs just out of reach of a man on horseback, and the "sport" consists in riding under the poor duck at full speed, grabbing it by the neck and pulling its head off.

CURIOUS SPORT IN CUBA.

Cruel and Barbarous Amusements with Ducks, Chickens and Bulls. Cubans of the middle and lower classes indulge their sporting blood in pastimes which would not be tolerated in a country having a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

The game may also be played on the water, in which case the line on which the duck hangs is stretched between the masts of two anchored boats, and rowboats are substituted for horses. In another country game a chicken is buried alive in the ground to the neck, its head alone being visible.

Publicly Whipped by Women.

BETHLEHEM, Neb., March 26.—H. H. Willey, ex-justice of the peace and a prominent citizen, was publicly whipped by a mob of enraged women in the streets of this city today. He was accused of making an indecent proposal to a young girl. He was ordered to leave town.

A Desperate Free-for-All.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., March 26.—As a result of a free-for-all fight across the line in Franklin county last night, in which knives and pistols were used, nearly a dozen men were wounded. Henry Wilson and Samuel Templeton were rivals for the same girl and this led to a fight when the men met at a dance. Charles Bolster and Henry Wilson may die.

Farmer Stagg Disappears.

IOWA CITY, Ia., March 26.—Financial embarrassment caused Samuel Stagg, a well known farmer living near Iowa City, to leave home and his present whereabouts are not known. He left letters stating he would never return. He is about forty-five years old and leaves a wife and four children.

Forecast of the Weather.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—10 p. m. The weather bureau reports the following as its forecast for the next twenty-four hours: For upper Michigan: fair and warmer; light variable winds becoming southerly.

BOLD IN THEIR DEPREDATIONS.

South African Lions Are Noted for Their Aggressive Forays.

South African lions are, beyond question, the boldest of all predatory animals, and those of Mashonaland are perhaps the boldest of all. During the night, their natural hunting time, they attack draught animals, or even men, within a few yards of the camp fires, and are a constant and serious danger to travelers in districts remote from the main tracks of traders.

This odd scene continued for some moments, the actors being four or five black men, two white men, a pony, seven live donkeys and a dead one, and the lion standing over the latter, with a fire party lighting up the figures, until a couple more donkeys broke loose.

The lion chased the third donkey round the camp, killed and ate it, and next day shot by an ingenious trap, made by tying a rifle to posts and fastening a string to the trigger, which the lion struck when revisiting its "kill."—London Spectator.

WIRE-DRAWING TRADE.

The Forest of Dean was long the seat of the wire-drawing trade. In 1663 the first mechanical wire mill proper was erected at Sheen, near Richmond. Birmingham appeared to have taken up the manufacture of wire in the 18th century with characteristic energy.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

—The youngest sea captain in New England, and, perhaps, in the country, is Capt. John A. York, of the schooner Charles J. Willard of Portland, Me. He is just turned 18 years of age and has had command of the vessel, with a crew of six men, for a year. His boat plies between Maine ports and New York.

—The oldest man in Kansas is George W. Walshe, of St. Paul, Neosho county. He was born in Scotia, near Schenectady, this state, in 1791. He is in good health, and his memory is unclouded. He voted for Madison for president. He was engaged in active work as a master mechanic in railroad construction as late as nine years ago.

—A well-known rifle shot says: "It is not generally known that an orange hit in the exact center by a rifle ball will vanish at once from sight. Such, however, is the fact, and that is my way of making an orange disappear—shooting it through the center, which scatters it into such infinitesimal pieces that it is at once lost sight of."

—It is reported that the Germans, who have recently made heavy purchases of American apples, intend to use this fruit in the manufacture of champagne by an entirely new and secret process. Whether this is true or not, the American apple is gaining a firm foothold in European markets in spite of the enormous quantities of French and Dutch fruit.

—A San Francisco woman is suing her sister for $250,000 for "services rendered" in promoting the successful carriage of the latter. In her bill of particulars the plaintiff specifies that she "interviewed" the prospective bridegroom in respect to the engagement between him and her sister, and "solicited him to keep, fulfill and perform said contract," and that in the interview was had at her sister's request.

—In Switzerland and other mountainous countries the goat leads long strings of animals daily to and from the mountains, but in South Africa that it is regularly kept and employed as a leader of flocks of sheep. Should a blinding storm or rain or hail drive the silly sheep before it, or cause them to huddle together in a corner, so as to suffocate each other, the trained goat will wake them up, and by a method best known to himself will induce them to follow him to a place of safety.

On a Sad Mission.

Mr. A. E. Miller, who is connected with the law department of the South Shore road, was called to Detroit a few days ago to attend the funeral of his father, Mr. Albert Miller, a highly respected pioneer resident of that city, who died Friday of last week from an attack of pneumonia. The funeral took place Monday. Noting the death of Mr. Miller, The Detroit Free Press of Saturday paid high tribute to his worth as a citizen and the influence for good that he had been in the city which had been his home for so large a portion of his life. The paper gives this brief sketch of his career:

Mr. Miller was born October 24, 1831, at Geschwende, province of Thuringia, Germany. He received a thorough classical education at the gymnasium of Sandershausen, and at the University of Jena, where he was a member of the Thuringian corps. He came to Detroit in 1847 and resided here until 1854. During this period he organized and conducted the Detroit Lyric society, the first successful musical organization of the city. From 1854 to 1856 he was professor of German at the State Normal school at Ypsilanti. After brief residences in Saginaw and Virginia he returned in 1857 to Detroit, where he has since lived. For the next ten years he devoted himself to teaching both vocal and instrumental music. He was successively organist at St. John's church and the Scotch Presbyterian church, and leader of the Detroit Chorus union.

In 1882 he was appointed instructor in German in the Detroit high school and served continuously in that capacity until his death. Until within three years, the entire German work of the school has been in his hands. During this period a large proportion of the graduates of the school have been under his instruction. His gentle refinement of nature and his love for all that was best in the literature of his native land have deeply influenced the character of many of the youth of Detroit. As had been the wish of his life he "died in the harness."

Mr. Miller was from his earliest years fond of athletics. His natural love for outdoor sports made his face a familiar one on the grounds of the Detroit Athletic club.

Mr. Miller was married September 15, 1856, to Olive Coit Tyler, daughter of Elisha Tyler of Detroit, who survives him. He also leaves a daughter Clara, and three sons, Albert E. Miller, attorney of the D. S. S. & A. R. Y., of Marquette, Mich.; Charles T. Miller of Detroit, and Wilhelm Miller, a graduate student at Cornell university.

A 50-foot granite shaft, the longest piece of granite ever taken out of a quarry in Vermont, was quarried at Larre a few days ago.

Cats can smell even during sleep. When a piece of meat is placed immediately in front of a sleeping cat's nose the nostrils begin to work as the scent is received, and an instant later the cat will wake up.

"Instead of colds coming from atmospheric changes, as people generally suppose," says a noted physician, "they generally originate, in my opinion, by breathing impure air. Ninety-nine per cent. of what are termed colds are nothing more nor less than the poisoning of the mucous membranes by bad air."

Orange growing in Arizona is declared to have passed the experimental stage, and will become an important industry in the territory. This year's crop in the Salt river valley, where most of the experimental groves are situated, is large and of excellent quality. The Arizona oranges ripen somewhat earlier than those in southern California.

Seventy thousand tons of the stern and rock-bound coast of Maine were shipped from two quarries alone last year. The total amount of granite shipped away yearly reaches an astounding figure, and the geography of the Maine coast is being considerably changed by the cutting out and shipping away of islands of granite and not a little of the mainland.

Last year 25,115,903 fewer cigars were made in the United States than in 1894, and 8,358,389 more pounds of smoking tobacco was manufactured. During the year there were manufactured in the country 4,150,915,293 cigars, 3,768,911,677 cigarettes, 256,160,205 pounds of tobacco and 11,705,414 pounds of snuff. There was an increase in the output of cigarettes by 455,767,077 over 1894, and a decrease of 477,120 pounds in the amount of snuff manufactured.

Mixtures of air with less than 7.7 per cent. of acetylene burn completely to water and carbon dioxide, according to M. Le Choteller's experiments, reported to the Academic des Sciences; with between 7.7 and 17.4 per cent. of acetylene the products consist of water, carbon monoxide and dioxide, and hydrogen. With a larger percentage of acetylene, free carbon and unburnt acetylene are found. With oxygen mixtures containing between 2.8 and 9.3 per cent. of acetylene will catch fire with air; the limits are 2.8 and 65 per cent. In tubes these limits are narrowed down, till in tubes of one-half millimeter or less it is impossible to propagate a flame.

FAMILY ARITHMETIC.

A Connecticut Mathematician and His Queer Freak.

The strange names bestowed upon helpless children by their parents have formed the subject of many amusing series. In a Connecticut town, some years ago, there lived a peculiar couple who selected the names of their children apparently with a view of educational exercises. There were 14 children in the family, and they were named for the numerals in regular order, beginning with "One."

The father was locally famous as a mathematician and during the early years of his children they had a daily tuition which seemed extraordinary to their playmates, who were provided with everyday names.

"Three and Four go out to the wood-box and get your mother some kindlings," the mathematical father would say, appearing before a group of his numerical offspring.

Three and Four would keep on playing ball, or whatever game happened to be engrossing their attention, but a diminutive person who commonly answered to the name of "Seven" was sure to drop his play, and start for the woodbox.

One member of this family, who rejoiced in the cognomen "Two," lived to attain considerable distinction, and the record of some of his achievements and successes is preserved in the town history, together with a short account of the various sums in addition, subtraction, multiplication and division which his father devised from the material afforded by his children, and in which the youthful "Two" played an important part.

The Near-Sighted Woman.

What a curious manifestation of vanity it is which prevents a near-sighted woman from wearing glasses. One such woman was a member of a party that took a trip over the Rockies. She heard the others exclaiming over the beauties of the landscape through which they were passing. Not wishing to be behindhand: "Look! look there!" she presently exclaimed, "isn't that exquisite? What a picturesque ruin!" The "picturesque ruin" turned out to be a stable or a barn painted with "Use Pain's Painless Plaster, etc."

Undeterred by one such error she raved in ecstasy over the loveliness of some "stunning woman," until a kind-hearted companion checked her by pointing out that the fair one was an antique guy with a wig.—N. Y. Herald.

An Elizabethan Tomb.

A superbly rich Elizabethan tomb is left to us in Boreham church, Essex. This was erected to the memory of Thomas Radcliffe, earl of Sussex, lord chamberlain, and known as the stern opponent of Leicester. Three knights in martial costumes lie on the tomb slab, one of which is his son and the other his grandson. Walpole incidentally states that the earl bequeathed £1,500 to be expended on this tomb, and that his executors agreed with a Dutch sculptor, Richard Stevens, to execute his part of the work for £292 12s 8d. The earl and his son were first buried in the Church of St. Laurence Poulney, in the metropolis, and then removed to Boreham at the instance of the grandson.—Cornhill Magazine.

Time Has Come

To cleanse your blood and prepare for the warm season that is near at hand. A wise person will always prefer an ounce of prevention to a pound of cure. This prevention of diseases, which are likely to appear in those whose stomach, bowels and liver are not in good condition, is best secured by taking those preparations which will correct that condition and assure a healthy action of those organs during the summer months. Chief among the agents used to secure that end is Sarsaparilla, and chief among the Sarsaparilla Compounds is our own, "The Best Sarsaparilla Compound," which we manufacture ourselves and the purity and efficacy of which we can absolutely guarantee. "The Best Sarsaparilla" accompanied by "The Best Liver Pill" is undoubtedly the most reliable preparation extant and will give the best satisfaction.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

It is certain that the Labor Party will put up Full Ticket. The situation in Ishpeming, with reference to the charter election, is decidedly interesting. Thus far the old-time politicians have done but little work, while the leaders of the Labor party are working diligently with a view to securing the best possible candidates for the several offices to be filled. The committees working in the interest of the Labor party have about made up their slate. Candidates for a few of the ward offices, however, have not been decided on. These will be selected prior to the time set for holding the caucuses next Tuesday evening, so that there will be no conflict at the Labor party caucuses. The city convention of that party promises to be fully as harmonious as the caucuses, as the candidates for the different city offices have been selected and these have practically met the approval of the voters of that party, or at least the leaders, in whose hands the selection of candidates has been placed.

It is generally conceded that William Andrews will be given the nomination for mayor on the Labor party's ticket. Mr. J. Griffin's name has been quite prominently mentioned for the office, but Mr. Griffin said yesterday that he is "not in it." He is not seeking the office. Mr. Griffin is of the opinion that Mr. Andrews will have no opposition for the nomination. There is no opposition to Patrick F. Small, at least so far as THE MINING JOURNAL can learn, for the nomination for recorder on the Labor ticket. It is also said that C. Aho will receive the nomination for treasurer without opposition. Charles Roberts is a candidate for justice of the peace on that ticket. In the event of the election of Mr. Andrews as mayor it is understood that a Scandinavian will be appointed chief of police. John Blumgren, president of the local branch of the Mine Workers' union, is mentioned as being slated for that office, although there are a few others who aspire to it.

It is probable that the Republicans of the city will not place a ticket in the field this spring. The ticket placed in nomination in opposition to the Labor ticket will likely be called the "Citizens' ticket." No plans for the selection of candidates on the latter ticket have been made. The names of a couple of the business men have been mentioned for the mayoralty, but THE MINING JOURNAL understands that neither of these will accept the nomination. Mayor Johnston does not seek a reelection, although many of his friends would be pleased to have him run again. The ward caucuses and city convention of the Citizens' party have not yet been called, but they will likely be held next Thursday evening.

Death of G. Gertsen. The Minneapolis Journal of Wednesday contained the following account of the death of Mr. Gerhard Gertsen, who resided in Ishpeming a number of years, and who is quite well known here, as well as at other places in the upper peninsula:

Gerhard Gertsen, a well known and at one time very prominent Scandinavian American citizen of Minneapolis, died this morning at Fairmont, Minn. The deceased was a younger brother of Rev. M. Falk Gertsen, and was born in Amla, Norway, about 42 years ago. He was educated for the Lutheran ministry and entered that calling, but for reasons that have never been fully explained resigned some twelve years since. He was a loyal republican, and a good citizen, good service as a campaign speaker. He sought to be rewarded for his service by an appointment as United States consul to Calcutta, during Harrison's first administration, but was unsuccessful. Since leaving the ministry he has been an insurance solicitor and campaign speaker. His late years were spent in the United States and in the West, and he was a devoted husband and father, and leaves a wife and child, though he was not living with them at the time of his death. His wife was a sister of Dr. Tord Nelson of this city.

While a resident of Ishpeming Mr. Gertsen was pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church. He resigned the ministry shortly after leaving here, twelve or thirteen years ago. Mr. Gertsen was in this section four years ago next fall, when he delivered campaign speeches in the interest of the Republican party.

Death of Mrs. Nolan. After three weeks of intense suffering Mrs. Nolan, wife of Deputy Marshal John Nolan, passed from earth yesterday afternoon, shortly before 2 o'clock. Although Mrs. Nolan had been very ill hopes of her recovery were entertained by her relatives and friends even up to a few hours before death claimed her. The bereaved husband and other relatives of the deceased have the sympathy of their many Ishpeming friends.

Mrs. Nolan was a model woman. She was of a kind and loving disposition and possessed many other qualities which endeared her to her friends and acquaintances. She was twenty-three years of age and had been married about three years. One child—a bright little boy—is left with her husband to mourn an irreparable loss. Mrs. Nolan was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maher, who have resided in Ishpeming for the past twenty-five years. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

New Millinery Store. Mrs. Iver Lallerstadt will soon engage in the millinery business in the Jones block—Mrs. Canfield's old stand—where she will be prepared to supply the trade with the latest novelties in that line. She has just returned from Chicago with a complete new stock. A Miss Kingman, an experienced trimmer from Chicago, will have charge of the trimming department. Mrs. Lallerstadt expects to have her goods opened and in place early next week, when she will be ready to receive the trade.

Mrs. Patrick Lyons, wife of Patrick Lyons, the blacksmith, died Thursday, shortly before noon. Her home is in North Ishpeming, near Dear Lake. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shannon, who resided in Negaunee several years ago. Her age was thirty-nine years, and she leaves no children. She was highly respected by all who knew her. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 9:30 from St. John's church.

Anyone desiring to rent five nice rooms can procure them by calling at F. W. Read & Co.'s Ishpeming office. (3-27-17k)

The Talk of Cats.

Cats differ as much as human beings in the quality of their voices and in their talkativeness, and, as far as my observation goes, the finest bred have the least to say. Princess and her immediate descendants were talkers; they always mewled for what they wanted, and in response to a greeting or question; and they asked many questions, the drift of which we could not always catch, with unmistakable interrogation in the tone. She and "Miss," who was a chatterbox after her kind, both had a habit of making little conversational sounds in the throat, as many dogs have, especially when so much petted; they would keep up this sotto voce communication for ten or fifteen minutes, much to our perplexity, though it sometimes evidently expressed affection or a wish for sympathy. They had great variety of inflections in talking to their kittens, and many of them were tender and even musical, like the chirp of a bird. "Miss" had a cheerful mew, particularly in bidding one good morning, but some cats have always a tone of complaint. Most of mine acknowledge any little service, such as bringing food or opening a door, by a mew of gratitude. —Temple Bar.

Among the Animals.

In an omnibus an ill-bred male passenger made a grimace when a very stout old lady got in. "Hippopotamus!" he exclaimed under his breath, but so loudly that the lady heard him. "Sir," she said, "you know an omnibus is like Noah's ark; it takes in all the animals, even donkeys." —

Is your breath unpleasantly affected and accompanied with bad taste? Is your hearing less acute? If so you have catarrh and should at once procure a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, the best known remedy. The Balm will give instant relief.

AN OPEN LETTER

Addressed to the Citizens of Ishpeming by Rev. T. Cory-Thomas.

FRIENDS AND FELLOW CITIZENS—No one who listened to Mr. Ingalls' splendid address last Tuesday evening could be but much impressed with what the honorable gentleman said. From his fertile brain and eloquent lips we learn anew that the greatest gift of God is indeed the national life. And it becomes us all today to realize that the truest national life is something more than a conglomeration of different persons of various conditions, living and struggling together. No people can become a true nation until in the wise government of God, he gives them oneness of organized existence. We are, today, the proud participants of that true confederation in one organized body.

The question of self-government has been the theme dwelt upon by the most illustrious and thoughtful of the world's statesmen in many ages and in every clime, but it seems to me that it was the privilege of our great western nation to attempt the form of truest national government. When we think of the struggles of the civil war of the '60s, we candidly believe that it was a means of giving to the world palpable proof that a government by the people and for the people was actually possible, and an awakening world looked on in wonder and amazement while we learnt the lesson that it was a grand thing to form a nation but a still grander thing to save a nation from disruption and dishonor.

The horizon today is not by any means clear; there are clouds hovering in the west. The world's fairest and best country has yet to consider far greater subjects than the past has brought within its range. Our children's children will hardly believe the fact that in our day heeded not the importance of a clear and harmonious understanding between labor and capital—an understanding which must be one of the corner stones of our glorious republic.

The question of municipal government is uppermost in our minds today, and as intensely true-hearted Americans we should be vitally interested. It is not enough, in my judgment, that we cast our vote on election day, we should let our influence for good, honest, candid government be shown before the candidates are nominated for office. Let us see to it that those who represent our city in the common council be truly representative men—capable of proving themselves fit by education in true Americanism, moral integrity and parliamentary tactics.

We cannot be too deeply impressed at this time of the great importance of thorough care and discretion in these matters. I would make a plea for men of local standing, men who have made their way by honest work and will—men who have taken advantage, as Mr. Ingalls puts it—of the opportunities to pull themselves up, which God has given to them; I would plead for men who are a credit to our civilization, men of character and individuality, men who will do honor to the offices they are elected to. Let it be considered an honor to be a representative of the people, meeting in common council. If it be thought an honor to represent the people in congress, or at some foreign court, amid the trammels of gold and lace, why not at home in a more limited sphere?

I would appeal to the men of this community—men of every class and type and birth—men whose veins are filled with honest blood, whose hearts beat with noble purposes. I appeal to my fellow citizens to believe me when I say, that, looking at local issues today from a standpoint that is unique as it is impartial, I believe if care is taken, and reason guides us, that our future as a municipality will in every way be bright and happier than the past. We must not let disappointed men lead us against our will. Let reason be our captain. Let our ideals be the best and the highest. An honest cause, honestly conducted, always wins in the end. Let our Anglo-Saxon manhood, which tends to control the world, make its appeal for what is right—and the response will be ours. Let us make haste slowly.

Today, on the eve of the anniversary of the death of the Nazarene Reformer, we ask ourselves, do we all and every one feel the responsibility of our citizenship? Tell me, what mean those million graves that contain the mortal remains of men who gave their lives for the Republic?—In a few more weeks those graves—whether in the colder north or in the sunny south—will be decorated with choice flowers and the choicest of all national emblems. Why all this? Because America was loved by those men and their lives are to us the price of liberty! That country is our country. That liberty is our liberty. Let their patriotism be our patriotism. T. CORY-THOMAS, Rector of Grace church, Ishpeming, March 26th, 1896.

NOT TO BE TRIFLED WITH.

(From Cincinnati Gazette.)

Will people never learn that a "cold" is an accident to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied? There is no knowing where the trouble may end; and while complete recovery is the rule, the exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illnesses occur every year ushered in by a little injudicious exposure and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this, there are today countless invalids who can trace their complaints to "colds," which at the time of occurrence gave no concern, and were therefore neglected.—When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is prompt and effectual. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by The H. H. Stafford Co.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

Business Relating to the Schools Taken Up and Disposed Of.
At the regular monthly meeting of the Negaunee school board, held Wednesday evening, all bills against the district were, on recommendation of the finance committee, allowed and ordered paid.

A petition signed by the parents of about hundred children, who desire to send their little ones to the kindergarten departments of the schools after Easter, was presented. In order to make room for these children it will be necessary to adopt the half-day session plan in the kindergartens. This will likely be done. The schools have been crowded ever since the commencement of the present school year in September. Knowing that the attendance will be considerably increased, to say nothing of the one hundred additional children for the kindergartens, next term, the school authorities will devise the best means possible for the accommodations of all who desire to attend. The four additional rooms which have been fitted up in the basement of the high school building were all completely filled this term. There are no more rooms available in any of the school buildings, so that it may be necessary to fit up one or more rooms outside to take care of all who wish to attend the schools.

The school board has granted the teachers and children a vacation next week. The schools will reopen on Easter Monday.

Reference books for the school library to the amount of about $160 were ordered by Superintendent Davis and the members of the board Wednesday evening. About $40 worth of books were received a short time ago and these are now being used at the high school. The additional collection will be ordered without delay.

CITIZENS' PARTY CAUCUSES.

They Will Take Place Next Tuesday Evening in the Several Wards.

The Citizens' party of Negaunee will hold caucuses next Tuesday evening for the nomination of candidates for alderman and supervisor in each ward, also for the selection of delegates to attend the city convention for the nomination of a full city ticket. The caucuses in the different wards will be held at the following places: First ward—Jackson Iron company's office; Second ward—Hose house No. 1; Third ward—E. C. Anthony's office on West Iron street; Fourth ward—James F. Foley, residence; Fifth ward—house No. 2. Five delegates will be selected in each ward. The caucuses will be called at 7 o'clock sharp, and the convention will be held an hour later at the city building.

"Dime Social."

The ladies of the Methodist church society are preparing for their "dime social," which will be given today from 3 till 7 o'clock p. m. at the parsonage. A fine lunch has been prepared and all those who call on the ladies will surely be well repaid for their visit. The affair will conclude with an entertainment, consisting of vocal and instrumental selections, recitations, etc., at the church. All will be made welcome.

May Locate Here.

Two representatives of a well-known Green Bay grocery firm, which obtains quite a large mail order trade from this section, were in Negaunee this week looking over the town with a view to opening a branch store here. In case they locate here, this will be their distributing point for the iron and copper districts. They are negotiating for the rental of one of the largest business blocks in the city.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven, however, that it is a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Condensed Testimony.

Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturer's Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a cough remedy. J. D. Brown, Prop. St. James Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a Cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Baldwinville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail and would rather have than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 222 E. 25th St., Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of Croup, because it instantly relieves. Free Trial Bottles at E. Farnham's Drug Store.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Sam Karger was down from Houghton yesterday.

Henry Ruff of Ohiopewewa Falls was a Negaunee visitor yesterday.

Captain Samuel Mitchell has been ill and confined to his room the past three or four days.

Mrs. Reiner Hoch entertained a number of her lady friends at her home Wednesday afternoon.

Frank Muck has returned from the Mesaba range. He closed up his business affairs before leaving there.

E. E. Brudette, operator at the South Shore depot here, has been on the sick list the past couple of days.

Tickets for the "Old Folks" concert, to be given April 9 by the ladies of the Presbyterian church, Ishpeming, can be procured in Negaunee at Perkins' drug store.

John Moll came up from Mansfield Wednesday and returned yesterday. He says the Negaunee men who recently went to that place to work for J. B. Maus are quite contented there.

Claude Mackenzie has received a sample of the Waverly bicycle, for which he has the local agency. The wheel can be seen at Boulsom & Peterson's tailoring establishment.

The railroad contractors are now working on the roadbed of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming line between the sand and diorite hills near the Jackson mine. There is considerable rock to be removed there.

Thomas Bates may open a bicycle repair shop in Negaunee within the next few weeks. He is a good mechanic and would doubtless do well in that line, as there are quite a number of bicycle riders here now.

Miss Simonds of Oshkosh, who has been in the city visiting Miss M. Williamson for the past few weeks, was tendered a farewell party at the latter's home Wednesday evening. Miss Simonds left for home yesterday.

BOY SOLDIERS OF GERMANY.

Their Patriotism After the First Napoleon Captured Berlin.

About the same time that Steffens was stirring the war passions of the Breslau students, the father of the German gymnastic clubs, the "Turnvater, Jahn," was kindling in Berlin a patriotic fire that was soon to singe the French garrison with its flames. All through the winter he had been drilling the schoolboys of the capital in many exercises, addressing them in stirring language on the duty of patriots, and teaching them rousing war songs, which they sang on the march to and from the field of exercises. Like Steffens, he could name the common enemy without saying Frenchman; and one of the most stirring of war-calls was an imaginary speech which he placed in the mouth of the German champion Arminius (Hermann), who with it is presumed to inflame his followers against the Caesar in Rome. He delivered learned lectures on German national life, which drew crowded audiences, for Jahn spoke straight to the German heart. One day he marched with a band of schoolboys under the Brandenburg gate, the triumphal arch from which Napoleon had carried away the bronze chariot of victory which had formerly stood on top. He stopped the lads and said to one boy: "Do you see that our Victory has been taken away? What do you think of that?" The boy answered, indifferently, that he thought nothing about it. Jahn was too good a teacher to waste such a chance. He boxed the boy's ears, and then said: "Now you have got something to remind you of this, that you must lend a hand in getting this Victory back from Paris, and put it up again on top of the Brandenburg gate." The story was known all over Berlin; and Berliners who passed the gate from that time on thought of Jahn's reminder.

As soon as the king's call for volunteers reached Berlin, Jahn was on his way to Breslau. Hardenburg had followed the king on January 24, but before leaving he had talked with Jahn about the impending war, and had encouraged the idea of forming an independent corps made up of volunteers from all parts of the Fatherland—what Germans called Freikorps, or free corps. Jahn eagerly seized upon this idea; called his patriot friends together; told them he was going to Breslau to prepare the ground, and would give them the signal when the right time should have arrived.

On February 7 Berlin first heard of the king's call for volunteers, four days after publication in Breslau. The university at once enrolled 258 of its students as "warriors;" one grammar school sent 113 boys; another, 134. The French government sought to arrest those who tried to make their way to Breslau, but with no effect. The youngsters started in different directions, and united when well beyond the city walls. They traveled at their own expense, and cheerfully ran the risk of their lives for a king whom they imagined a hero in temporary distress.—Harper's Magazine.

FEMINE FINERY.

Some New Notes on the Materials That Are to Be Worn.

It is always a good plan to have a reserve bodice in the shape of one of black satin; this is to be brought forth and used when in doubt as to "what to wear." This is best made close-fitting and plain as a sort of foundation for fanciful additions. It may be made quite high in the neck or otherwise cut out square, while one or two semi-transparent guimpes—black and white severally—might be provided; also one of black satin like the bodice which would be found useful for daytime uses; also, if greater variety is desired, a guimpe of fancy dotted or flowered silk, striped satin or plaited chiffon; and a pretty finish would be to add plaited wrist frills matching each small chemisette, which is to be put on and securely fastened to the underwaist before the satin bodice is donned.

Ladies' cloth and lustrous ribbed silk will be used in combination on spring dresses for church wear, dinners, calling, etc. New weaves and colorings in repped wools, Vicuna cloths, roughly woven English serges, hop-sacking effects in silk-and-wool mixtures, mohairs, and French cashmeres in fancy designs or in rich monochromes are all in the hands of fashionable modistes who are already making quaint, quiet and elegant costumes for the Lenten season, and also planning novel and exceedingly smart gowns for Easter time.

Among the new things for spring will appear coats of various shapes and lengths, most of them happy mediums between the over-long skirted styles of a year ago and the bobbed-off shapes of this winter; also round waists with stylish elegant belts and buckles, French redingotes and trimmed princess dresses, gowns with peplum overskirts, tunics and slight paniers; yoke-top skirted skirts, gored skirts, slightly reefered in circumference, and those slashed and paneled, will all be seen, and for furniture will appear elaborate braidings in Greek key or vine devices, arabesques and purely conventional patterns, spangled gimps and passementeries, leather bands, ribbons in tows or points and jet and fine gold galloons in Vandyke designs.

The indications are that the skirt and coat style will continue in favor for ordinary walking, shopping and traveling costumes, and that mohairs, chevots, English tweeds and serges will be the fabrics used for these. The materials are so finished in themselves that they require but very little trimming, thus enabling one to put all the expense in the handsome fabric. Suede red vests are again used both on Paris and London costumes, and one of these waistcoats overlaid with handsome gimp, whose color repeats that of the dress material, is certainly a great addition to the bodice of a tailor-made gown. Leather trimmings decorated with colored appliques profusely studded with sequins and colored spangles are likewise used to form or to simulate a broad or narrow vest.—N. Y. Post.

OUR KIN ACROSS THE SEA.

Members of the Two Races Are Always Drawing Comparisons.

The American is always instituting comparison between himself and his English cousin. The Englishman is ever contrasting his American kinsman with himself. Personal comparisons are proverbially ungracious. The accentuation of supposed contrasts is peculiarly so. Moreover, since men generally find what they seek faithfully, both comparison and contrast tend toward a factitious result. Thus it comes to pass that in most American newspapers offices there is a lay figure, clothed on with insularity, armed to the teeth in view of a possible opportunity for aggression, his face aglow with bitter and ill-concealed hatred of all things American. This is the "property" Briton, and his services are invaluable in those not infrequent seasons when the chariot wheels of the editorial imagination drive heavily.

We are assured, upon the other hand, that well-ordered English households commonly harbor a corresponding American boy. He is a fellow of infinite variety, who, when admitted to the drawing-room, slaps strangers on the back, consumes unlimited tobacco, and interlards his speech with barbaric slang. He serves the British matron as the wine-bibbing Helot served his Spartan master. He is even brought into requisition by the British author when that worthy invents an American tale. He is of inestimable worth to Mr. Justin McCarthy, and it is to be feared that in moments of weakness even Mr. Andrew Lang has taken counsel of him.—Edward M. Chapman, in Century.

A New Use for a Church.

News comes to us that a village in the vicinity of Cincinnati has up to a very recent date been so extremely good that it had no town hall or jail, neither any use for them, but all at once somebody has been very bad, and "durance vile" was a necessity.

There is in this locality an old building called the Free Church, so named because for many years it had been occupied by ten denominations. It had, however, been tenantless for some time, and possibly in the hope that good influences might descend upon the cult, a cell was partitioned off in one corner of the building, and the man was confined therein. Following his example, other men committed crimes, and additional cells were prepared, until now the entire building has been converted into a jail.—N. Y. Ledger.

A Deep Lake.

Wastewater is in many ways the most interesting of the English lakes, and is by far the deepest. Half its area is more than 150 feet deep, and 217 acres of its bed are more than 200 feet deep, a point particularly noteworthy, in view of the fact that the surface level when the soundings were taken was 200 feet above the sea.—N. Y. World.

TREASURER MACHTS BEATEN

W. A. Ross Is Nominated for Treasurer at the Citizens' Convention Last Night.

MAYOR AND RECORDER NOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION.

Another Man Killed on the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway—The Concert of the Musical Association Takes Place.

AN HARMONIOUS CONVENTION.

The city convention last night was conducted in a most harmonious manner, the only surprise being the defeat of Treasurer Machts and the nomination of William A. Ross for that position. All other city officers received renominations. It was about 8:30 when E. E. Homeier, chairman of the city committee, called the convention to order. B. O. Pearl was made temporary chairman and C. H. Kelsey, temporary secretary, both being chosen by acclamation and without any dissenting voices. John Reardon, John Connors and A. Hornstein were, on motion, appointed a committee on credentials. They reported the following delegates entitled to seats: First ward—James Flannigan, John Connors, E. W. Vandenberg, Timothy Maney, R. W. Mullaly. Second ward—Matt Clane, B. I. Waldo, Isaac Constance, George A. Gennell. Third ward—Frowbridge Johns, James Wallace, B. O. Pearl, C. H. Kelsey, O. D. Johns. Fourth ward—Dr. A. Desjardins, John Helmer, D. S. Donovan, William Coles. Fifth ward—E. E. Homeier, Charles Beaudry, Frank Ralph, Albert Foubert, Richard Sparling. Sixth ward—John Reardon, James Jamerson, Nels Flodin, William C. Brown. Seventh ward—L. H. Stafford, Emil Gustafson, Walter T. Ward, George W. Freeman proxy for J. E. Lawrence. Eighth ward—E. E. Wentz, A. Hornstein. The report of the committee was adopted and the convention proceeded to business by making the temporary organization permanent. The chairman and secretary were then sworn, the call read and nominations became the order. E. E. Homeier nominated Mayor J. H. Jacobs for another term. He said that Mr. Jacobs had made a good executive, painstaking and devoted to the interests of the municipality, and the city could do no better than to continue him in his present office another year. C. H. Kelsey seconded the nomination for the Third ward. Mr. Jacobs was then renominated by acclamation, the announcement of the vote being received with applause. Thomas Meads was renominated for city recorder, also by acclamation on motion of C. H. Kelsey. As soon as the nomination for recorder was made, Dr. Desjardins was on his feet to move that a ballot be taken for the treasurer, the suggestion being adopted without objection. J. J. Mallaly and Frowbridge Johns were appointed tellers. Only one ballot was necessary, W. A. Ross receiving the nomination by a vote of 25 to 8 for August Macht. The result was a surprise to the friends of Mr. Macht as they had not anticipated opposition, or at least had not expected that it would control the convention. For justice of the peace Samuel E. Byrne and Thomas Meads were renominated without opposition for four and three year terms respectively. Jacob Dolf was nominated for constable by acclamation, but in the selection of his colleague a lively contest developed which required two ballots to determine in favor of Berg. The first ballot resulted as follows: Berg, 15; Peter Doetsch, 14; George Harris, 4. Harris then dropped out, his strength dividing equally between the other contestants and nominating Berg—17 to 16. E. E. Homeier was reelected chairman of the city committee, the other members of which will be as follows: First ward, John Connors; Second, B. I. Waldo; Third, B. O. Pearl; Fourth, Dr. A. Desjardins; Fifth, Fred Ralph; Sixth, John Reardon; Seventh, L. H. Stafford; Eighth, A. Hornstein. The convention then adjourned sine die.

The nominees for alderman and supervisor in each ward are: First ward—E. W. Vandenberg. Second ward—2 yrs.—John E. Tobin. 1 yr.—F. O. Clark. Third ward—James E. Sherman. Fourth ward—Albert J. Jacobs. Fifth ward—John Robertson. Sixth ward—Julius Bertrand. Seventh ward—Walter T. Ward. Eighth ward—2 yrs.—W. A. Brown. 1 yr.—J. E. Trethewey.

First ward—Martin Gorman.
Second ward—Joe Fay.
Third ward—S. M. Billings.
Fourth ward—Joseph P. Neidhart.
Fifth ward—W. A. Ross.
Sixth ward—J. L. Johnson.
Seventh ward—Francis Finlay.
Eighth ward—Edwin J. Slink.

Mayor Jacobs desires THE MINING JOURNAL to express his thanks to the voters of the city for the flattering evidence of their appreciation manifested in the convention last evening. He feels that his re-nomination without opposition is proof that his efforts to so administer his office during his first term as mayor as to satisfy his friends and placate those who opposed him a year ago have been noted and appreciated by the people of Marquette, and he feels both grateful for the compliment paid him and inspired to continue to labor for the welfare of the community that has so handsomely honored him. His nomination by acclamation was, certainly, a compliment, and as such the mayor regards it.

Killed at Rainy Creek.
Another fatal accident occurred on the line of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming railway at 7:30 yesterday morning, Albert Swanson losing his life in precisely the same manner as did Ole Oleson two weeks ago. Swanson was employed by A. Londine, one of the subcontractors, and was undermining an embankment near Rainy Creek at the time the accident occurred. He was underneath it when suddenly it fell upon him, the mass of frozen earth at once crushing out any semblance of life out from his body. It is not known whether or not Swanson has any relatives. He comes from southern Minnesota and word will be sent to his home to learn whether or not his friends wish his body shipped there. At present it is at Hager Bros' morgue.

The two fatal accidents which have occurred along the right of way of the new railway are claimed to have been due in both cases to the carelessness of the men themselves and not the contractors by whom they are employed. If proper caution in going under the banks has been shown, it is believed that two lives would have been saved. However this question may be looked at, the railway company itself is not directly concerned, as all of the work is being done by contractors.

Last Night's Concert.

The concert of the Musical association at the opera house last night did not have as large an attendance as it deserved, but did have an audience of cultivated and music loving people. The music rendered by chorus and solos was exceedingly good considering the short time spent in preparing for this occasion, and it reflects great credit on the ability of Professor Muhlbaue. Most of the time of the association has been spent in the preparation of the cantata, so that the concert did not receive much attention. The singing of the Sopranos quartet, in its first appearance before a Marquette audience, was a very acceptable number, the four voices blending beautifully and promising much for the future. Mr. A. Hoelscher's flute solo was played in his usual masterly manner and received a warm encore. The singing of "The Young Lovers" by the male quartet, consisting of Messrs. Tucker, Wilkinson, Allen and Simmons, was one of the best numbers of the program and was enthusiastically encored. The second half of the program contained seven selections from the opera "Rob Roy," mostly solos and duets, all of which were rendered in a pleasing manner. Mrs. Watson made the hit of the evening with the catchy solo "The Merry Miller." Mrs. Patrick and Mr. Tucker sang "Thou Dear Heart" in pleasing style. Mrs. Patrick having a voice peculiarly suited for ballads. They were encored but did not respond. Mrs. Patrick then sang the romanza "Heart of My Heart," showing the remarkable compass of her voice. Mr. F. L. Simmons, who is a bass soloist, has a rich bass voice, and is a welcome acquisition to Marquette musical circles. He sang "The Song of the Turnkey." The entertainment closed with the tenor solo "Lay of the Cavalier" by George Tucker, one of the best tenor singers in the upper peninsula. The success of the concert is due in great part to Professor Muhlbaue who has worked indefatigably to that end the past few weeks.

Bought a New Tug.

Win Williams, Samuel Gibson, Charles McCabe and John Helmer, the gentlemen comprising the new tug company, have purchased the tug Calumet from the Vessel Owners' association of Chicago for use in Marquette harbor for towing purposes during the approaching season of navigation. Her dimensions are 80 feet in length with 17 feet beam. The engine is 23 feet square and is allowed to carry 100 pounds of steam. The tug will be fitted out immediately and as soon as the weather permits taken to Marquette, where she will be painted. This is thought to be the largest tug ever stationed permanently in Marquette harbor and will prove very convenient for large vessels, enabling them to be towed to the docks with safety. Win Williams will have charge of the business affairs of the company owning the tug, the organization not yet being decided upon.

Notice of Caucus.

A People's caucus for the first ward of the city of Marquette to put in nomination a candidate for the office of alderman of said ward, will be held at Ryan's building at the southwest corner of Genessee and Division streets, on Wednesday, April 1, 1896, at 7 p. m.
