Letter Carriers, Conductors and Other Classes Who Do Without Them. "Man is a clothes-wearing animal," says Carlyle in his "Sartor Resartus," but his description of these garments would have been curtailed had a certain class of men, who never wear overcoats, come within the limits of his observation.

Since the introduction of the new uniforms in the street cleaning department the absence of overcoats on street sweepers is much noticed. Prior to this change these men presented a motley sight during the winter months. On cold days they wrapped themselves in all sorts of ragged and tattered coats, and even tied bagging about their feet in order to keep warm.

Another great class of workers seldom seen wearing overcoats are the messenger boys. No overcoat is included in their uniform either, but there are no rules prohibiting them from wearing these garments if they desire. At times one may see a messenger with a coat over his uniform, but he is usually a new boy or a delicate chap who cannot stand the cold, for the majority of the messengers do not care to wear coats.

Elevated railroad guards, as a class, do not wear overcoats, although one is included in the uniform. They usually bundle up snugly underneath their short jacket, and, as they are allowed to pass their time between stations inside the cars, they do not find an overcoat at all necessary to their comfort. Few of them resort to an overcoat excepting in very stormy weather.

Salvadors never wear overcoats, and, more than that, they never bundle up around their necks. It is rare to see a sailor with the collar of his pea-jacket turned up around his neck. As a rule they walk along in the fiercest breeze with nearly one-fourth of their chests bared, and, as a class, they are free from colds and diseases of the lungs.

Many health experts have argued about the use of overcoats, and the consensus of opinion is that people wrap up too much in winter time. Many men can afford overcoats who do not wear them except during zero weather. They claim that overcoat wearing is a habit, and not only unnecessary, but detrimental to health. A writer in this city has not worn an overcoat in five years, and he has not had a cold during that period.—N. Y. World.

MEN WHO WEAR NO OVERCOATS.

Prominent among them are the letter carriers. They do not wear overcoats because it is against the rules of the post office department. A uniform of gray was designed for them, and they have to wear it the year round.

It would be a little more comfortable just for to-day," he said, "but this weather won't last, and so I'll get through all right without one. The first winter I was in the department it was terrible for me, and I thought I would freeze, but I've got used to being without one now, and don't mind the cold weather at all."

BREAKING UP THE STONE.

Municipal Rock Crusher Has Been in Successful Operation for Two Days.

BREAKS A CUBIC YARD EVERY FIVE MINUTES.

Northern Pacific Receivers' Final Discharge—Delegates Arrive for the Convention—Figures of the May Customs Report.

ROCK CRUSHER AT WORK.

Marquette's municipal rock crusher is now hard at work making broken stone to put on the streets.

It was first put in operation two days ago, but yesterday was the first day it was really working for business, and it ground along pretty steadily all day long. The crusher is located off Hewitt avenue just east of the big rock which blocks up Ohio street, the evident intention of the council being to provide the crusher with plenty of stone to work upon, and eventually clear the obstruction in the way of opening Ohio street.

Aldermen Pendill and Tobin of the street committee has put in considerable of their time superintending the machine since it has been started, but they will soon give way to a paid superintendent. W. E. Derkes, who superintended the setting of the machinery of the Aultman company of Canton, Ohio, left the city last night, after witnessing the very successful operation of the machinery during two days trial.

The plant consists of an engine house, a platform and a crib to store the broken stone in. The engine is for thirty-five horse power, almost double the capacity really needed to do the work. Power is communicated from this to two buffers in a circular steel box. The box revolves, and as the stone is broken up allows the small pieces to drop beneath it and be caught in a series of baskets traveling on a belt and carried to the top of the crib, where the stone is dumped in a revolving sieve and cleaned of its dust, then dropped down into the boxes of the crib.

When the wind is favorable most of the dust finds its way to the adjacent courts of the tennis club, and envelopes the players in a mineral fog, while the crunching sound of the breaking stone almost drowns the voice of the scorer as he calls through "love! love all!" and all the rest of it. Light gray tennis suits will soon become of necessity popular.

But as a stone crusher the machine is a success, and the way it eats up rock predicts great things for the good streets the town ought to have. When tested yesterday morning it was found capable of crushing up a cubic yard of rock every five minutes, or nearly half a wagon load.

To feed its ravenous maw ten men are getting stone out of the little quarry close at hand, and two others are wheeling the rock to the crusher. In addition to this force it takes an engineer, an attendant for the crusher, and a superintendent. Most of the help is cheap and the plant can be very economically operated. The most apparent drawback to its perfection is the slowness of loading, but Mr. Pendill says this will be remedied in a few days, and that wagons can then take on a load in two minutes time. What stone was taken out yesterday was hauled to Lake street, where a much needed top dressing is being put on preparatory to having the street rolled down with the steam roller.

The engine house is not quite completed, and a gang of roofers are hard at work shingling it. It is the intention to operate the plant quite regularly all season.

Loss a Soft Snap.

Under a date of June 9, at Marquette, Judge Severens of the United States district court has issued an order confirming an order of the Seventh judicial district court for the discharge of the receivers of the Northern Pacific railway.

The receivers are discharged at their own request and at the request of the counsel of P. B. Winston, and the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., of New York, the complainants against the railroad. They were really relieved from active services sometime last April, but their accounts had not been approved, and their bonds had not been canceled till Judge Severens concurred in the ruling of the other court. The lines which the Northern Pacific leaves from the Wisconsin Central have been returned to the original company because of the failure of the Northern Pacific to pay rent until the receiving trinity took hold. Edward McHenry, and Frank C. Bigelow are now the receivers of the road.

Considerable unpleasant comment was caused in the press at the time Receivers Oakes, Payne and Rouse rendered their accounts for the very liberal salaries they allowed themselves as managers of a bankrupt road. It is alleged that the actual time they spent in conducting the affairs of the road was charged for at the rate of $20 an hour, and this work was the onerous duty of attending directors' meetings and approving bills.

Delegates Already Here.

Delegates for the W. C. T. U. convention, which holds its first session here this afternoon, are already arriving. Nearly a hundred arrived yesterday by boat and train, and were quartered by the entertainment committee among the families who have agreed to entertain delegates. At many conventions it has not been customary to find quarters for all of the delegates, but as an offset to the distance to be traveled the ladies in getting the convention offered free entertainment. Some of the best houses in the town have been generously thrown open to the visitors.

All sessions of the convention are to be held in the Baptist church. As this is the opening day there will be only two sessions, a short one in the afternoon and the demonstration meeting in the evening. The program is:

Friday 3 p. m.—A preparatory service, Bible reading, by Mrs. Townsley, followed by memorial service, led by the state president.

Friday evening—A grand rally and demonstration evening. March; songs by the twelve districts; banners, flags; joined by Marquette Y. M. C. A., Boys' Brigade, Junior League, Young Crusaders, Knights of Temperance, etc.; after which welcomes will be given—in behalf of the union by Mrs. Hanawalt; in behalf of the city, Mayor Jacobs; in behalf of the churches, Rev. Frank J. Mallett. Response to all of these, in behalf of the state, Mrs. C. H. Johnson, recording secretary.

He Was No Milker.

Jail had no terrors for him, but a gentle black and white cow had! A few weeks ago a husky Swede laborer around town was picked up on a petty offense and taken to jail in default of payment of a six dollars fine. The man was a strapping big fellow, but he entertained a foolish fear of cows, and as he was taken past the black and white cow the sheriff's pastures in the court house yard his fright was so manifest as to attract the attention of the officer.

"You'll have to milk that cow if you go to jail," said the officer in a jest. "I tell you I won't milk the cow," replied the prisoner in dead earnest, "I'll hang myself first."

"We'll see."

"I won't milk the cow, I tell you!" The deputies at the jail saw how the land lay and took up the fun too. They also insisted that he'd have to milk the cow.

This foolish story so prayed upon the poor wretch's mind that after an hour's incarceration he sent for his employer and made arrangements to have his fine paid.

As he was being taken down to the justice's office he remarked, "I wouldn't have milked that cow if I had stayed in there. I would have died first!"

Business College Picnic.

By all odds the most successful picnic of the season was that given by the students, and ex-students of the business college yesterday afternoon and evening at Presque Isle.

More than seventy young men and women boarded the cars and went out to the park in the early afternoon. The time before supper was spent in sports and games, the girls participating in the former as well as the boys. One young woman came very near winning the championship prize at putting the shot, and easily retired most of her male competitors.

At 4:30 Mr. Werner, the photographer arranged the party where they would show to good advantage, taking special care to display Professors Loudy and McCuller in prominent positions, and snap-shotted the whole group. The lunch, which was set at six was a most elaborate affair. After it the party repaired to a pavillion and passed the time in dancing till nine o'clock. Dancing at an end all the picnickers piled into two cars which had been reserved for them and rolled back into town singing familiar college songs.

Jubilee Dance.

Fifty or sixty couples of Maccabees and their lady friends repaired to Fraternity hall last evening for a social dance in honor of the 11th anniversary of the founding of the order in this state. The crowd was small enough so there was plenty of room on the floor, which made it more pleasant for those who attended. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Ideal orchestra, with Joe Hogan as caller in the place of the familiar form of Joe Mack. The stage was transformed into a supper room and Mrs. Kate Donovan served a toothsome supper to the dancers.

May Customs Report.

The report of the custom house officers for the district of Superior in the month of May are as follows: Domestic exports, $543,535. Imports amounted to $53,662. Goods to the value of $29,547 came into the district under consular seals. Twenty thousand dollars worth of goods came into the district for immediate transportation without appraisal. The number of American vessels arriving at ports in the district was 1,171, and the number clearing was 1,156. Foreign entries numbered 149 and clearances 152.
