PURELY A FORMAL SESSION.

Those who expected some allusion to McKinley which would loosen the bottled-up enthusiasm for the little Napoleon which had no fight to uncork it, or those who imagined that perhaps some of the great leaders or orators of the party would be called to the platform to fire their imaginations and quicken their pulses, were disappointed. It was purely a formal session. The recognized heroes and; generals of the party entered the hall without demonstration. Platt, Lodge, Depew and Quay were applauded, but Hanna did not create a ripple when he entered, with a smilling and confident air.

St. Louis, June 16.—Auspiciously and serenely, beneath a sky across whose arched dome not a cloud floated, the chieftains of the Republican party met in council today and in the presence of about eight thousand spectators entered upon the work of selecting candidates and enunciating policies for the campaign of 1896. The first session of the convention was brief and formal. Chairman Carter dropped the gavel at 12:20, and fifty minutes later an adjournment was taken until tomorrow. Steel pipe came into general use six years ago, and it has taken that period of time to properly draw a comparison between it and iron. It is now decided that steel cor rodes and that rust decomposes it more quickly than in the case of wrought iron; that the extensive introduction of electricity has subjected steel pipe used in large buildings to a disastrous pressure; that it will break like pine, quick and clean, while iron tubing has a greater tensile strength and parts fibrous and re luctantly. The plant grows in a woolly bunch which when dried is easily separated from the stalk, and a light breeze sets the ball rolling over the ground to scatter its seed wherever it goes.

The seeds of many ferns and micro scopic plants are so constructed as to be readily lifted and carried away by the wind, while some of considerable size are provided with an elaborate arrangement for aerial transportation. The common maple is an example of the last kind, for projecting from its largehead is a membrane closely resembling in size, shape and general appearance the wing of the locust. When the seed is separated from the tree, even if the air be quite still, it does not fall directly to the earth, but by its peculiar construction acquires in falling a spiral motion that takes it several feet from beneath the starting point, and when a brisk breeze is blowing one of these winged seeds has been known to twire through the air for six miles before its journey came to an end and it sank to the ground, there to germinate and start a maple grove.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SELDOM EAT MEAT.

Many Nations That Refuse to Devour the

We never seem to realize that a large proportion of the inhabitants of this untry are practically vegeterians at the present moment. It is true that they are compulsorily so, but the fact remains. How much meat can an agricultural laborer's family have out of a wage of 15 shillings a week? If a small quantity of salt pork be occasionally eaten, it is of value chiefly as respiratory food. Yet our laborers, who have subsisted on this diet for generations, are strong. In other European countries the peasantry are still more evidently vegetarian for all practical purposes. Even in Russia, according to Prince Krapotkin, the peasant gets only corn, and not enough of that, sometimes. Yet the Russian peasant is not wanting in vigor. The evidence is the same as we glance at non-European races. The hardy Arab or Soudanese is satisfied with his dates, the Zulu with "mealies," the Hindu with grains and pulse. The Japanese have a similar diet, varied occasionally with fish. Stanley says of the Waganda: "With the banana plant he is happy, fat and thriving. Without it he is a famished, disconsolate, wee-begone wretch." The Jats of Rajpootana are described as "a very intelligent, fine race, while both men and women attain great age. As a rule, the lower classes do not eat meat." These instances, which might be multiplied, are quoted to show that vege-tarianism is the ordinary practice of numerous races which are not among the lowest, and which show no sign of race detetrioration. In face of these facts, the mere random assertion some times made that vegetarians are subect to "poorness of blood" must be taken for what it is worth. Errors, both of diet and hygiene, may be committed by vegetarians as well as by other people.—Westminster Review.

HANCOCK'S CELEBRATION.

General Committee Meets and Arranges the Preliminary Details.

The general committee appointed to day. arrange for the Fourth of July celebration at Hancock met Monday evening and arranged a program of events, which open with a grand calithumpian parade in the morning. Dr. J. E. Scallon was chosen president of the day, and the Quincy band was engaged to furnish music. The following committees were appointed: Finance—Messrs. Henry Drittler, Jr., Tom Coughlin, Matt Juntilla, E. J. Hocking and W. H. Mason; transportation—J. C. Shields and R. H. Brelsford; speakers, singers, sports and printing—A. J. which open with a grand calithumpian ers, singers, sports and printing—A. J. Scott, James Shields, Frank James and Scott, James Shields, Frank James and Angus Gillis. These committees will report at a meeting to be held next Monday evening. Funds to defray the expense incidental to the event are coming in at a lively rate, and all indications point to a celebration surpassing any of its kind ever given in Hancock.

The meeting of the Business Men's association of Hancock at the fire hall Monday evening, called for the purpose of discussing the question of securing the Finnish Theological seminary and college, was largely attended. A committee representing the Finnish church was also in attendance. A committee consisting of C. A. Wright, Jacob Baer, E. L. Wright, William Condon, A. J. Scott and Simon McDonnell were ap-pointed to confer with the church com-mittee with a view of learning what inducements will be necessary toward se-caring these institutions for Hancock. This committee will report at another meeting to be held next Monday evening. Considerable enthusiasm is being manifested in the matter by the busi-ness men of Hancock, and it is likely a suitable site at West Hancock will be tendered the promoters of the college.

A Mennonite Country Custom.

A curious custom exists among the Mennonites who are settled in Mani-toba. When a young man and a young woman desire to become engaged the lover remains in the home of the father of the intended bride for a few weeks before the marriage takes place. The object is that each of the contracting parties may become more fully ac quainted with the character and disposition of the other while there is yet time to escape from what might prove no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts an uncongenial alliance. Among Canano whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions. COMMITTEE ENLARGED TO NINE. Burleigh of Washington moved to enlarge the committee on the ground that it should represent every section of the country. Foraker replied he had not considered geography in the make-up of the committee, but had appointed men to represent the different ideas on the currency question as nearly as possible. The motion to increase the committee was carried, and Burleigh and mittee was carried, and Burleigh and motion to increase the committee was carried, and burleigh and motion to increase the committee was carried, and endorses the Monroe docton that the United States and endorses the Monroe Lauterbach (New York) were added. THE FINANCIAL PLANK.

The Republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of a law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879; since then, every dollar has been as good as gold. We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are, therefore, opposed to the free coinage of silver, except by an international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote; and until such an agreement cau be obtained we believe that the existing gold standard must be preserved. All our silver and paper currency now in circulation must be maintained at a parity with gold; and we favor all measures designed to maintain inviolably the money of the United States, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, the standard of the most enlightened nations of the earth.

The changes made were not entirely of phraseology. The expression, "We recommend the following and several of the terthology of the transport of the tr The Republican party is unreservedly or sound money. It caused the enactment

AYER'S HAIR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."-Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT,

NEWS OF ELECTRICITY.

Running a Telephone Line in the Rocky Mountains.
A description by J. W. Dickerson of the running of a telephone line from Leadville to Aspen shows that telephone construction in the Rockies is notall plain sailing. It took two months to cover the entire length, 48 miles. In ordinary construction, the poles would be set 42 to the mile, but at certain points where sharp turns were necessary the number would some ment of the work, aims and pledges of the two purity societies, the White Shield and the White Cross organiza-had to be as expert as axmen as they had to be as expert as axmen as they were as linemen, for when timber was encountered a path of 200 feet on each side of the line had to be cleared in order that wires might not be broken when trees were blown over by the terrific blasts which at times prevail in that region. A great deal of the comparative slowness of the installation was owing to the inability of the workmen to labor in such a rarified atmosphere. At one point the wires were strung on an elevation of 12,000 feet above sea level. In such an altitude the lineman soon becomes completely tired; after he has climbed two or three poles he has to take a long rest to recuperate his energies. The prepara tion of the holes for the poles, which would have been tedious in similar ground, even in an ordinary atmos phere, was an especially slow and fatiguing operation. It was often necessary to blast a hole for the pole by the use of giant powder, and an ex-miner who had an extensive experience with explosives, was assigned to the job. The digging of one pole hole would sometimes occupy him for a whole day, working honestly. Over 300 pounds of powder were used on the line for this purpose. When the Continental Divide was reached, the poles had to be abandoned and the wires were placed in a submarine cable, which was bured in a two-foot trench for a distance of 7,600 feet. The advisability of abandoning aerial construction at this point was demonstrated by the experience of the company who maintain the Denver & Leadville line. At one point on that line, Mosquito pass, the poles were originally set 100 feet apart. As soon as the wires were covered with sleet but to refuse to patronize all publishers who issued Sunday editions. Incidental to this resolution some of the delegates made a wonderful display of what they didn't know about the newspaper business.

The car dumplng machine on the they promptly snapped, and the line was useless. Double the number of handling twenty cars an hour. About 5,000 tons were loaded on the steamers centurion and Weed in twenty-four was then reduced to 15 feet, but as here. soon as the sleet came the line was swept down flat. Eventually an underground cable was laid for 21/4 miles. and there has been no trouble since.

CHARM OF COLOR IN AFRICA. A Warmth and Richness of Tone One Can Find Nowhere Else.

Though I must admit that South Africa, taken as a whole, offers far less to attract the lover of natural beauty than does southern or western Europe or the Pacific states of North America there are two kinds of charm which it possesses in a high degree. One is that Cigar Makers. Try our "Hematite" and "Defender" brands. of color. Monotonous as the landscape often are, there is a warmth and rich mess of tone about them which fills and delights the eve. One sees comparatively little of that pale gray limeston which so often gives a hard and chilling aspect to the scenery of the lower ridges of the Alps and of large parts of the coasts of the Mediterranean. In Africa even the gray granite has a deeper tone than these limestones, and it is frequently covered by red and yellow lichens of wonderful beauty.

The dark basalts and porphyies which occur in so many places, the rich red tint which the surface of the sandstone rocks so often takes under the scorching sun, give great depth of tone to the landscape; and though the flood of midday sunshine is almost over powering, the lights of morning and evening, touching the mountains with every shade of rose and crimson Dr. J. H. Andrus has returned from a violet, are indescribably beautiful. It is in these morning and evening hours that the charm of the pure, dry air is L. A. Proulx and M. B. Toutloff have specially felt. Mountains 50 or 60 miles away stand out clearly enough to enable all the wealth of their color and all the delicacy of their outlines to be perceived; and the eye realizes, by the exquisitely fine change of color tinge between the nearer and the more dis tant ranges, the immensity and the harmony of the landscape.

Europeans may think that the contiruous profusion of sunlight during most of the year may become weari ome. I was not long enough in the T. country to find it so, and I notice that those who have lived for a few years in South Africa declare they prefer that continuous profusion to the murky skies of Britain or Holland or north Germany. But even if the fine weather which prevails for eight months in the year be somewhat mono onous, there is compensation in the extraordinary brilliancy of the atmospheric effects throughout the rainy eason, and especially in its first weeks.

SPLINTS FOR SURGEONS.

Novel Factory in the Desert Wastes of Southern California.

Down below the Santa Fe house, near the railroad tracks, is a factory unlike any other in the United States, or, for that matter, anywhere else. It makes splints for the use of surgeons in bandaging broken limbs from a peculiar fibrous material that possesses especial adaptability for the purpose. MINER MEETS DEATH

A Fatality at an East Range Mine Yes-terday Afternoon.

Matt Linna, a miner employed at the old Queen shaft of the Queen Mining company, was instantly killed yester-dey afternoon about 2 o'clock. He was standing on a set of timbers while engaged in barring down ore from above. A larger quantity of the ore than he expected to fall came down and broke Nellie the timbers on which he was standing. Linna was knocked into a chute near by and fell to the bottom, a distance of twenty-five feet. From there he fell

The Negaunee admirers of the athletic team do not agree with The Mining Journal reporter as to the distance between Johnson and McAuliff in crossing the line at the finish of the 120-yard hurdle race. They claim that Johnson did not lead McAuliff more than between one and three feet. The reporter does not care to take issue with them, but others who claimed to have watched the contest closely assert that Johnson crossed the line from have become exterminated. seven to ten feet ahead of McAuliff.
The reporter had no object in giving the distance incorrectly, if such was the case, and gave it on his best judgment with strict impartiality. Mcment with strict impartiality. Me-Auliff made an excellent run. In fact he led Johnson until the last hurdle was reached, when they both jumped it at the same time, but Johnson beat him out in the spurt.

Matrimonial Events.

Theodore S. Thoren, one of Negaunee's popular young business men, and Miss Hilma E. Johnson, an estimable young lady who has resided here for a number of years, were united in marriage Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the groom's parents. Rev. J. Truedson, pastor of the local Swedish Lutheran congregation, performed the ceremony. A number of invited friends were present and all sat down to a feast at the conclusion of the marriage. TENNESSEE'S CENTENNIAL.

Preparations for the Big Show of Next

Tennessee's centennial exposition, which will open May 1, 1897, and continue six months, promises to be not only a credit to the state, but one of the most complete expositions ever held in the south. It is being built with money given directly by the people of Tennes-sce, and the officers and directors in charge serve without any salary whatever. There will be more trees and flourishing grass and exquisite flowers about the building than any exposition has presented. The exposition building will be erected in a 200-acre blue grass park. A bulletin has been issued are turned over and over, or twisted showing the progress made on six of the exposition buildings up to March crosswise on the track, or stood up on end, as a baggageman loves to stand a 15. feet.

A seventh building to be erected is the Agricultural building, 300 by 200 feet, which will be one of the most beautiful structures of the exposition. The History building will be unique, with one of the most complete displays of colonial, early Tennessee, and civil war relics ever made. The children's building, where will be only such things as will amuse and instruct children, with its well-filled deer park, will attract much attention, particularly in that it will be built entirely with money raised by children. When the centennial inaugural ceremonies take place, on June 1, 1896, the Auditorium building will have been finished, and the elaborate programme arranged for celebrating the centennial of Tennessee's admission into the union by the proclamation of George Washington will occur within its walls.-Baltimore Sun.

Parker Strikes the States.

Richard A. Parkter, Marquette's representative in the Transvaal uprising, has arrived in New York safe and sound. The first news of his arrival which reached his old home city was by a telegram which he sent to his friend W. S. Hill yesterday. This reads:

April 23rd, and to do so must have left Johannesburg about the first of the month. This was the time when the victorious Boers were making it hot for those who had engaged in the Uitlander uprising. Taking this together with a statement in one of his wife's letters it is surmised that he found it necessary to leave very abruptly, if not actually between two days, to avoid being taken off to England with John Hayes Hammond and land with John Hayes Hammond and the other leaders with whom he was associated.

Tramps Must Have Set It.

Unless the tramp theory is accepted. there seems to be no reason for the burning of the Burtis mill. Fire Chief T. U. Crary still holds to this opinion. He says that it caught just about the time tramps who have bunked in for the night get up for their early morning prowling, and that the blaze probably resulted from some careless hobo throwing a match down or emptying his pipe.

J. C. Kerns kept some of the water works men employed till nearly noon yesterday playing on the ruins with a hose, before he thought the fire was safe to leave. All the sheet iron which had been used in sheating the sides of the mill had to be pulled out of the pile so that the stream could get at the parts which were burning. He says it is one of the hottest fires he ever saw, and in proof of this assertion cites the fact that the iron frame work of one of the little tram cars which was standing beside the mill was melted down.

Among the many who have a little say about the blaze the weather man is numbered. He says that if the blaze had come an hour sooner the lumber piles would have been goners, as at one o'clock the wind was blowing toward them.

Admirer of Tesla.

Prof. W. B. Stickney, of Ann Arbor, now in the city is an enthusiastic ad mirer of Nikola Tesla, the young Servian who is astonishing the scientific world with his great discoveries in electricity.

"He is the second wizard;" declares the professor. "He and Edison are working along different lines for the accomplishment of the same purpose, the making of a better light than we now have. They are trying to get a sunlight effect on entirely new princi-pals. You might say that they are hav ing a race to see who makes the inven-tion first.

"Electricity is a wonderful science. I could talk for hours about it, and the wonders that are to come are more marvelous than those we have already witnessed. Tesla is striving for a new force of which the general world knows nothing at all. I think the next five years will show more wonders in electrical discoveries and invention than have been witnessed in the last twenty. The subject is inexhaustible. I could talk for hours about it."

Professor Stickney will talk, but not literally for hours, Monday night in the Prestyterian church for the benefit of the Young Men's club. He has been a teacher for years and has given a lifetime of study to scientific topics. On his subject he is one of the best posted men in the state. men in the state.

Metropolitan Style.

A handsome ony soda water founate has done much to increase the congregations and the revenues of the church. The fact that he found it impossible to continue on harmonious terms with the vestry and certain families in the church who have sought to hold the same position in the church that they held in society seems to show that the newer and more progressive element in the congregation has been temporarilly defeated.

Mr. Mallett's departure from Marquette will bring sincere regret to the many friends he has made single his residence here. It is not too much to say that with the bulk of his congregation he has been well liked. It is his unwillingness to take dict, ation from the few that has made his last step necessary. Mr. Mallett's resignation taking effect on the same date he handed it in the church's charlicel in the capacity of priest.
