THE FIRST TEST OF STRENGTH
IN THE CONVENTION.

Credentials Committee's Report, Ratifying Action of National Committee and Seating the Addicks Delaware Delegation, Is Adopted.

TWO ANIMATED SESSIONS.

St. Louis, June 17.—The Republican national convention cleared the decks for action today. Two sessions were held and a permanent organization effected. Permanent Chairman Thurston of Nebraska assumed the duties of presiding officer in a ringing speech at the morning session, and the reports of the committees on credentials and rules were received and adopted at the afternoon session. This leaves the battle royal over the platform and nomination of candidates for tomorrow. It is probable the platform would also have been disposed of tonight had it not been that a night session would have interfered with the mammoth McKinley parade the marching clubs had previously arranged for tonight.

Nothing could be more striking in contrast with the dull and featureless session of yesterday than the brilliant, animated, enthusiastic session of today.
The vast hall was packed to its utmost capacity by twelve thousand spectators.
The brief speech of Permanent Chairman Thurston found ready sympathy in the vast audience. As he recalled the fact he had presided over the convention of 1888, which nominated the last victorious ticket of the party and predicted he was presiding over the convention which would nominate the next president the vast audience enthusiastically cheered and yelled and shouted.

In the morning session there was a brief contest over the question of proceeding with the election of permanent officers before the report of the committee on credentials was acted upon.
Senator Wellington and Congressman
Mudd (Md.) and Delegate Littlefield (Me.) vainly protested it was irregular, and there was no convention until the credentials of the members had been passed upon; but their angry protests were swept aside like chaff before the wind. The convention, brimming over with enthusiasm, was in no danger of being delayed.

THE FIRST TEST OF STRENGTH.

At the afternoon session the first test of strength between the McKinley followers and those of Reed, Allison, Quay and Morton came, and although the issue presented was not as strong as McKinley, it demonstrated to the satisfaction of all that that candidate has a clear majority of over one hundred in the convention. The question was the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials, which ratified the action of the national committee in giving almost all the 158 contested seats to the McKinleyites and decided the Texas contest in favor of the Grant (McKinley) delegation and that in Delaware in favor of the Higgins delegation. The presentation of the report was met with a violent minority report denouncing the committee on credentials for presuming to accept unchallenged the findings of the national committee.

The presentation of the issue fanned into a flame all the bitter animosities in the convention. Fort (N. J.) and General Grosvenor (O.) were put forward to champion the report and Hepburn (Ia.) led the opposition. The lines were not drawn absolutely, as quite a number of delegates who were pledged to McKinley voted with the opposition, notably the Maryland delegation, but it was apparent from the cheers with which the opposition greeted the announcement every vote in their favor that they realized they could not overthrow the victorious hosts of Mc-Kinley, and they made no attempt by demanding the roll call on its final adoption.

The general belief is that the convention will adjourn tomorrow.

THE CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS.

Chairman Fairbanks called the convention to order at 10:40. Prayer was read by Dr. Williams of the Union M. E. church, St. Louis. Senator Lodge announced that the sub-committee had not completed the draft of the platform. The committee was given further time. The chairman called for the report of the committee on credentials; it was not ready. A motion to take a recess until 2 o'clock was voted down. The report of the committee on permanent organization was presented by Secretary McEwen of New Jersey.
The report was adopted. A committee was appointed to escort Permanent Chairman Thurston to the chair.

Besides Senator Thurston, permanent chairman, the other permanent officers elected are: Secretary, Chas. W. Johnson, Minnesota; assistant secretaries, W. E. Riley, Kentucky; H. H. Smith,
Michigan; A. B. Humphrey, New York;
A. W. Manlor, Maryland; official stenographer, Frances E. Burke, Pittsburg; sergeant-at-arms, Timothy E. Byrnes, Minnesota; reading clerks, J. H. Stone, Michigan; F. H. Wilson, Missouri; John R. Maller, Ohio; R. S. Hatch, Indiana; J. R. Bean, New Jersey; also one vice president from each state.

The convention cheered wildly as as Thurston took the platform and frequently cheered his address, which bristled with telling sections setting forth matters of public policy on which the party would rely for success, including "sound money," protective tariff, reciprocity, liberal pensions and a firm foreign policy. At the conclusion of Thurston's address a letter was read from Chairman Fort, of the committee on credentials, saying the committee would be unable to report at this session. Governor Bushnell of Ohio then moved to adjourn until 2 o'clock, which was carried.

Chairman Thurston rapped the afternoon session to order at 2:40, and called on Bishop Arnet (colored), president of Wilberforce college, Ohio, to pray. At the conclusion of the prayer Mr. Thurston recognized Delegate Madden of Illinois for a speech presenting the chairman with a gavel made of wood taken from a house once owned by Abraham Lincoln. The gavel, he said, should be presented to the chairman of the convention. Chairman Thurston accepted the gavel with a graceful little speech, expressing the hope that "the inspiration of the immortal Lincoln may inspire our work here and hereafter," and promised to deliver it after the convention to "the man who was to be president of the United States."

CREDENTIALS REPORT CALLED UP.

Denny of Kentucky mounted the platform to present, in behalf of the Young Men's Henry Clay club of Lexington, a gavel cut from a tree on the homestead of "the great commoner of the Ashland district," the father of protection. After remarks of acceptance by Temporary Chairman Fairbanks, predicting the future of Kentucky as a state permanently Republican, Delegate Torren of Minnesota presented the convention a table made by the school boys of Minneapolis for use at the national Republican convention held in that city four years ago. After accepting the table with a graceful speech, Chairman Thurston called for the report of the committee on credentials.

Delegate Fort of New Jersey, chairman of the committee, mounted the platform and read the report. It ratified the action of the national committee in all the contests except Delaware and Texas, in which the committee made no findings. In these two states the report recommended the seating of the Higgins delegates in opposition to the Addicks delegates in Delaware and the Grant delegates in opposition to the Coney delegates in Texas. The delegation recommended to be seated from Delaware was non-committal, but the Grant delegation from Texas was for McKinley.

The announcement of the findings of the committee was loudly applauded, but there was a wild roar when Hepburn of Iowa presented a minority report, protesting in most vigorous terms against the majority report. It was the first time the anti-McKinley shouters had been given an opportunity, and they made the most of it. Hepburn declared the convention should not accept the roll call as presented by the national committee. To accept unchallenged this roll, he insisted, was a most dangerous precedent. He reviewed briefly the disputed cases. His references to the contest in Louisiana and Missouri were most vigorously applauded. The mention of the Missouri contest brought the Filley shouters in the galleries to their feet and for two minutes there were loud shouts for "Filley." The famous Missourian arose in acknowledgement of this enthusiasm of his followers.

FIRST CONVENTION SKIRMISH.

The minority report recommended the seating of the Addicks and Coney delegations in Delaware and Texas, and the recommitment of all the other contests. The first shock of battle in the convention was at hand. No sooner had Hepburn completed the presentation of the minority report than Fort demanded the previous question on the adoption of the majority report. Hepburn moved to substitute the minority report. Chairman Thurston said a vote might be taken on each part of the report separately, if separation were demanded, and that under the rules of the convention twenty minutes would be given to debate. Mudd asked for a separate vote on Delaware. The motion for the previous question was carried with a slight vote.

Then came the first convention demonstration of the so-called combine.
From the Maine section rose a delegate to demand a roll call on the question and from Iowa came a voice seconding the demand. Thereupon the roll call was begun. "I make a point of order," shouted Hepburn. "Several state delegations are contested and have no right to vote on this question." Shouts of approval followed this point from the Iowa and Pennsylvania crowds.
"The chair overrules the point," responded Thurston, promptly, his voice ringing out like a pistol shot across the field of heads strained forward to catch the decision. Howls of disapproval from the contingent which had lost its point went up to the ceiling, charged with a buzz of hisses from the angry ones.

DELEGATES CHEER FOR PLATT.

The vote of Alabama was challenged and the names of the delegates were called by name. The combine brought every vote into line and the announcement of the vote was loudly cheered.
Colorado and Connecticut were solidly in line against the report. The vote of almost every divided delegation was challenged. In Georgia, Colonel Buck announced 23 votes for and 3 against. But when the names of the individual delegates were called it appeared there was only 20 votes for and 6 against. The roll call was followed with intense interest, as all realized it was the first of the convention.

In Illinois the vote was also challenged and the roll call changed the vote to 30 yeas and 18 nays. Iowa reached. General "Dave" Henderson cast the vote for the state. Michigan, Kansas, Minnesota and other states swung solidly in line for adoption of the report. When New York was called ex-Senator Platt arose, and his appearance was the signal for the first great demonstration of the convention.
The delegates all about him rose to their feet and the galleries cheered.
One man yelled "Three cheers for Platt," and they were given. The cheering was renewed when he announced 52 yeas to 19 yeas.

SILVER MEN WILL BOLT.

Colorado and Idaho Delegations Decide to Walk Out on Adoption of Platform.

OTHER WHITE METAL DELE-GATES TO FOLLOW SUIT.

Bolters Will Hold a Meeting of Their Own, at Which Teller Will Be Put Up for President on a Silver Platform.

WILL LEAVE IN A BODY

St. Louis, June 17.—The Colorado delegation held a meeting tonight and decided in positive terms to leave the convention in a body upon the adoption of the platform containing the declaration for a gold standard. It has been frequently announced they would pursue this course, but there has been really more or less doubt up to tonight that they would, one or two members of the delegation being in doubt as to the wisdom of this course. Senator Teller was present and told the other members of the delegation he appreciated the utmost gravity of the step, and that notwithstanding their instructions to be governed by his opinion, he felt that the occasion was one when every man should be guided largely by his own opinion. The decision to go out of the convention was unanimous.
The Idaho delegation as a body, a majority of the Utah and Nevada delegations and part of the Montana and North Carolina delegations will go out with the Colorado men.

When the silver delegates walk out of the convention tomorrow it is their purpose to hold a meeting of their own, at which they will probably place Teller in the field as a candidate for president on a free silver platform. A number of Populist leaders, including Chairman Tabeneck and Hon. T. M.
Patterson of Denver, are in the city and it is understood they will endorse the selection on behalf of that party, in a public address. The only obstacle standing in the way of this course is the fact that Teller has not yet given his assent.

DRAMATIC SCENES WITNESSED.

St. Louis, June 17.—While the Republican national convention was proceeding with its work a dramatic scene was being enacted in the committee on resolutions. The group of western silver men, headed by Teller, announced to their colleagues when the gold plank in the platform was agreed upon by a vote of 40 to 11 that they had reached the parting of the ways and that nothing remained for them but to withdraw from the convention.
It was thought there would be violent recriminations and wild words of de-recrimination when the final announcement of the break down came, but instead it was the parting of old friends in sorrow, not in anger. The silver men felt themselves swept on by fate and with protestations of regret they cast the die.

Speeches were made by Teller, who joined the Republican party at its inception, who was an ardent supporter of Lincoln, who for twenty years has represented his state in the United States senate as a Republican and who for two years was in the cabinet of President Arthur; by Dubois, the handsome and stalwart young senator from Idaho, whose father was nominated for secretary of state of Illinois by Abraham Lincoln; by Senator Cannon of Utah, whose father was president of the Mormon church, and by Representative Hartman, the young and vigorous congressman from Montana. Lemon of California; Mott of North Carolina, son of Dr. Mott, secretary of the silver party, and the delegates from New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma, who had voted with them in committee, also made speeches but did not announce their purpose to withdraw.

The scene was a most affecting one.
The gold men of the committee were filled with compassion and there was not a dry eye in the room while Teller spoke. Cannon and Mott broke down completely and wept like children.
Lodge, who replied, spoke words of tender sympathy, as if the occasion was one of great personal bereavement. He eulogized Teller and his colleagues but declared firmly that the representatives of the party could not falter on that account on the money question.

When the platform which is to be presented tomorrow (and which was sent out in these dispatches last night) to the convention there will be no disposition to cut off the bolters. They are honored and respected men whose services in the cause of the party have been long and faithful, and they will be given ample time to make their final protest before they take their departure from the party with which they have so long been allied. It is not probable there will be any reply to the silver men, at least no extended one.

TEN VOTES CAST FOR SILVER.

St. Louis, June 17.—In the committee on resolutions today Teller's silver amendment was defeated—41 to 10—and the gold standard plank adopted—40 to 11. There was a touching time in the committee when the silver men announced they would be forced to withdraw from the convention if the gold standard were adopted. Some of them wept freely. The ten states voting for the Teller amendment were as follows:
California, Lemon; Colorado, Teller;
Idaho, Dubois; Montana, Hartman;
Nevada, Cleveland; North Carolina,
Mott; Utah, Cannon; Wyoming, Fowler, and also the members from Arizona and New Mexico. Senator Teller spoke four times during the discussion, each time on different propositions, and all the silver men expressed

PIONEER RESIDENT GONE.

Death of Mrs. John Gundry of Osceola.—Other Obituary Notes.

Another pioneer resident—Mrs. John Gundry, mother of Superintendent John Gundry, of the Osceola mill—has passed away. The end came Monday evening at the home of Mr. Gundry. Mrs. Gundry was born in England eighty-four years ago. When at a tender age the family moved to Ireland, and from there she came to Portage lake in 1855. Her husband, who died many years ago, was captain of the old Cliff mine in 1869-70 and later held a similar position with the Franklin and other mines. The funeral will be held today, with interment at Forest Hill cemetery, Houghton.

Mrs. Thomas Morgan of Red Jacket, aged ninety-two, died Monday of that dreaded disease—consumption. She leaves a child four months of age. The funeral took place yesterday.

Mrs. McCarthy of Rambaultown, aged seventy years, died Sunday. Interment Tuesday at Red Jacket.

The eight-months-old son of Robert Chambers, Red Jacket, died Sunday. The funeral was held Tuesday.

GIVEN SEPULTURE AT HOUGHTON

Mortal Remains of Archibald McNaughton Are Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Archibald McNaughton, Calumet, was held yesterday in the morning impressive services were conducted by the Rev. Daniel Stalker of the Presbyterian church. The ceremonies concluded, the remains were taken in charge by Montrose Commandary, Knights Templar, and proceeded to the depot, where it took the train for Houghton. The following named gentlemen were the active pallbearers: P. H. Payne, Colonel J. N. Cox, Thomas Saddy, James Ramsey, M. R. Hoar and W. H. Mills. The honorary pallbearers were J. H. Standey, James Mercer, John Dymock, W. A. Jan, R. M. Hoar and John Morrison. Arriving at Houghton, the procession re-formed and proceeded to Forest Hill cemetery, where all that was mortal of Mr. McNaughton was interred. The funeral was attended by the Calumet and John Duncan lodges, F. & A. M., also the Bannockburn camp, Sons of Scotland, of which the deceased was a member.

Celebration Committees Meet.

At a meeting of the Fourth of July celebration committee of Houghton, held Tuesday evening, the following selections were made: Grand marshal, Sheriff W. A. Dunn; speaker, Allan F. Rees; president, Hon. R. M. Hoar; reader of the Declaration of Independence, County Clerk R. H. Shields. Morgan's Red Jacket band was engaged to furnish music. The committee has contracted with the McGraw Balloon company of Jackson, Mich., for a lady and gentleman who will make a double balloon ascension and parachute race. Other important attractions are being negotiated for. The completed program will be ready for publication in a few days.

The general committee appointed at Red Jacket to arrange for the Fourth of July celebration met Tuesday evening and appointed sub-committees on fireworks, sports, music, calisthumpians, speakers, etc. A program was also drafted.

New Trial Denied.

The adjourned term of the circuit court convened yesterday morning, with Judge Hubbell on the bench. A motion for a new trial in the case of Augusta Schoepper vs. the Hancock Chemical company was overruled. The plaintiff was given until the first day of the next term of the court in which to file a bill of exceptions.

Prospects Bright at the Central.

Captain John Gattiss of Eagle River spent Tuesday afternoon at Red Jacket. From him THE MINING JOURNAL learns that the Central mine produced forty-two tons of copper during the month of May. The mine is now working over one hundred men. They have struck a good lode and the prospects are very bright. There is some talk of the Copper Falls and Archaic mines resuming operations should the present healthy copper market continue.

Letter Carriers Organize.

A branch of the Letter Carriers' association has been formed at Red Jacket and the following officers chosen: President, William J. Dolan; vice president, William J. Thomas; secretary, James McGinnis; treasurer, William Allen; trustees, T. R. Bitchie, Albert Engstrom and J. H. Paddock.

SOUTHERN "CRACKERS."

The Poor Whites Descend from the Early Colonists.

Old Lines Wiped Out by the Civil War—A Most Important Labor Element of the Industries of the South.

The notion that the poor white element of the Southern Appalachian region is identical with the poor people generally over the country is an error, and an error of enough importance to call for correction. The poor white of the south has some kinfolk in the Adirondack region of New York and the Blue and Alleghany mountains of Pennsylvania; but he has few relatives any place else about the Mason-Dixon line. The states of New York and Pennsylvania were slave states until the early part of this century.

This poor white mountaineer descends direct from those immigrants who came over in the early days of the colonies, from 1620 to about, or some time after, the revolutionary war period, as "sold passengers." They sold their services for a time sufficient to enable them to work out their passage money. They were sold, article to masters, in the colonies, for their bread and fixed wages, and thus they earned the cost of their migration.

The laws under which they were article were severe, as severe as apprentice laws in those days. The "sold passenger" virtually became the slave of the purchaser of his labor. He could be whipped, if he did not do the task set him, and woe to the unlucky wight if he ran away. He was sure to be caught and cruelly punished.

And though he was usually a descendant of the lowest grade of humanity on the British islands, he still had enough of the Anglo-Saxon spirit about him to make him an unsatisfactory chattel.

From 1620 forward—the year when the Dutch landed the first cargo of African slaves on the continent, the "sold passenger" was fast replaced by negroes, who took more naturally and amiably to the slave life.

The poor white naturally came to cherish a bitter hatred for the blacks that were preferred over him. He already hated his domineering white master. When he was free to go he put as many miles as his means and his safety from Indian murderers permitted between himself and those he hated and hoped he might never see again. In that early time the mountain region was not even surveyed, let alone owned by individual proprietors.

The English, Scottish, Irish and continental immigrants who had some means sat down on the rich valleys, river bottoms and rolling savannahs, and the poor white was made welcome to the foot hills and mountain plateaus.

These descendants of the British vellein of the feudal era grew and multiplied, became almost as distinct a people from the lords of the lowlands as the Scotch highlander was as related to his lowland neighbor in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

The stir of the period since the close of our civil war has made somewhat indistinct the line that separates the mountaineer from the plainsman of the south, especially in the foot hills and at points where the two have intermingled in traffic, in the schoolhouse and church, and especially where the poor whites have been employed at mining, iron making, etc.; but go into the mountain far enough and you find the type as clearcut as it was 100 years ago, with "its inimitable drawing speech and curious dialect; its sallow complexion, lanky frame, lazy habits, and immorality—all as distinctly marked as they were when hundreds of these people found Cherokee wives in Georgia and Tennessee, in the early part of the country and bleached most of the copper out of the skin of the Choctaw, as well as out of the Cherokee.

It is a pity that some competent anthropological historian has not traced the annals of this interesting and distinctive section of our population and made record of it in the interest of science, no less than in the interest of the proper education and elevation of the mountain people. It has become especially in the Piedmont section of the south, a most important labor element.

The cotton mill labor by thousands comes from the "cracker of the hills," and it is destined to become a great power, that labor population, social and political.

She Managed Well.

Propros of the facility with which women can adapt themselves to circumstances, a little woman boarded a street car with two babies in her care, one in her arms, the other by the hand. She also carried a satchel, a bunch of wild flowers she had evidently gathered that morning, her pocket book, and as there was only one seat for the trio, she took the other baby in her arms and held both during the ride. But the piece-de-resistance was her door-key, which she held, like some faithful Bruno, between her teeth. Nor did she relinquish it through the entire trip, but carried it with the air of one who had a place for everything, and everything in its place.—Detroit Free Press.

The Vital Question.

She—Tell me, hubby dear, what is that big aerolite everybody is talking about?

He—It is an enormous heavenly body, which, according to the statement of a Spanish scientist, is shortly to explode over the earth, and the fragments of which are to lay Spain, Portugal, France and Germany in ruins.

What do you think I should wear on the occasion?—Tit-Bits.

MORTON'S CHANCE GOOD.

Prevailing Opinion at St. Louis That He Will Get the Vice Presidential Nomination.

A LIVELY FIGHT, HOWEVER, IS PROMISED.

Anti-Platt Men Are Bitterly Fighting the Governor—Friends of Hobart and Evans Claiming Victory for Their Candidates.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL SITUATION.

St. Louis, June 17.—The vice presidential situation bids fair to take the convention out of the featureless rut which so far has marked the sessions. The prevailing opinion, however, continues to be that Governor Morton will be McKinley's running mate on the ticket, although the friends of Hobart and Evans still insist otherwise and the anti-Platt faction in New York is bitterly fighting his nomination.

But tonight it is as pretty a three-cornered fight as has been seen in a long while, and although the Platt adherents, with a courage obtained from a leader who never seems to lack it, claim that if Morton wants it he can have it, it is nevertheless patent that they feel that Reed would be the candidate if his consent to make the race was obtained. The New Jersey delegation, with their candidate, Hobart, are campaigning actively for him and have obtained the support of the Miller element; nor is this element dismayed at the Platt faction's claim of victory for their candidate.

HANNA MAINTAINS SILENCE.

The confidence of the Platt men tonight is, however, a trifle discouraging to the more incipient booms, because it is thoroughly well known that Platt will never stand a second beating and will not put Morton in the race for vice president unless he is positive he has enough votes to elect him. Mark Hanna, McKinley's manager, still retains silence as to which side of the New York state controversy he will endorse, claiming that until his candidate receives the nomination it would be both unwise and unpolitic for him to do so.

The New York McKinley league created somewhat of a sensation today by distributing about the hotels and streets handbills attacking the Morton vice presidential boom. It states the attempt to force Morton on the ticket as the candidate for vice president is to the discredit of the candidacy of McKinley and will weaken it before the people; that it drags into the presidential politics the party tyranny which has disgusted the people of New York.

It concludes by asking all the true friends of McKinley in the convention to oppose the nomination of Morton or any other man from the state of New York for vice president.

MORTON OPPONENTS HOPEFUL. The McKinley New York state crowd worked hard tonight, and in Cornelius Bliss' room the leaders of at least two-thirds of the state were brought in and argued with. At a late hour tonight the Miller adherents said: "Morton cannot be nominated for vice president. He is beaten now and Platt will not succeed in his plans. We have secured tonight twenty-nine out of the thirty votes of Indiana and nearly all of Illinois." We will not give out the figures but we have the Platt men beaten.

At the Platt headquarters it was learned enough votes were claimed as absolutely pledged for Morton for vice president if he is beaten in the race for president. They figure out a total of 427 for Morton. There was a ballot shown around at the McKinley headquarters tonight on vice president as follows: Hobart, 355; Morton, 320; Evans, 200, the rest being divided between Buckley (Conn.) and Brown (R. I.). It was claimed the Evans vote would go to Hobart or the Hobart vote would go to Evans in the event of Morton's exceeding that of Hobart.

RHINE CLIFF, N. Y., June 17.—Not one word has fallen from Governor Morton as to his position on the nomination of vice presidency should it be tendered him. His friends at St. Louis, according to himself, have not received his sanction to use their efforts to securing his nomination. If they see fit to do it, it is done of their own accord. Even if the convention should decide to nominate him as the running mate of the successful nominee he has not made up his mind to accept. Convincing as are the dispatches received from St. Louis that he will be the choice for the office he intimated that his name would go before the convention for presidential honors alone.

CONVENTION TO CLOSE TODAY.

St. Louis, June 17.—The convention will be brought to a close tomorrow if the plans of the leaders are carried out. The program which was arranged today contemplates reports from the various committees in the morning session, and then a recess will be taken until two. The report from the committee on resolutions, which includes the financial plank, will be acted upon, then the nomination for president will be proceeded with and after that the president.

It is possible this will result in a late night session. BIG MCKINLEY DEMONSTRATION. St. Louis, June 17.—Wednesday night of the convention week was some time ago marked on the program by the McKinley boomers for a torch light parade to demonstrate the popularity of the Ohio candidate. Unfortunately, a driving rain fell throughout the evening, making marching disagreeable. Nevertheless the program was carried out, although the line was greatly reduced in numbers. Despite the drawbacks the display was interesting and unique. Barrels of red fire were burned and the sky rockets were profuse. Hundreds of McKinley portraits of all sizes blossomed over the marchers. It is estimated four or five thousand participated.

WANT BLAND PRESIDENT.

Arkansas Democratic Convention Declares for the Silver Champion. LITTLE ROCK, June 18.—The Democratic state convention met here today and nominated the following ticket: Governor, John W. Jones; chief justice, H. G. Bunn; attorney general, E. B. Kinsworthy; treasurer, Randall Culley; land commissioner, J. F. Ritchie. PORTLAND, Me., June 17.—The Democratic state convention today elected the following delegates at-large to the national convention: Seth C. Gordon, John Scott, Fred W. Plaisier and Chas. L. Snow. The platform declared in favor of a gold standard, against the free coinage of silver and in favor of the resubmission of state prohibition. It highly endorsed President Cleveland.

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 17.—The Republican convention today nominated Major Josiah Grout of Derby for governor. The platform denounces the free coinage of silver.

PENSACOLA, Fla., June 17.—The Democratic state convention today selected delegates to the Chicago convention. The delegation is evenly divided on the money question.

HAS MANY VOTES TO SPARE.

Governor Bushnell was cheered when he announced the vote of Ohio, and another governor, the tall soldierly Hastings of Pennsylvania, announced the vote of his state. Texas was challenged. The roll call resulted 16 ayes and 8 nays. When the call of Virginia was responded the adoption of the report was assured, and the doubt which had been gathering on Mark Hanna's forehead disappeared. When the roll of states was completed there was a minute of anxiety while the clerks footed up the totals. When the chairman announced the result the McKinleyites howled themselves hoarse.

HOW THE CONVENTION VOTED.

Following is the vote in detail on the demand for the previous question on the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials:

Table with 3 columns: State, YEA, NAY. Lists states from Alabama to Alaska with their respective votes.

FORT CHAMPIONS MAJORITY REPORT.

Governor Burleigh of Wilmington announced at this point the committee on resolutions had completed its work and would submit its report to the convention tonight. The rules of the majority report of his committee, which govern the proceedings of the convention pending the report of the committee on rules, permit twenty minutes on a side for debate after the previous question has been ordered, and Chairman Fort of the committee on credentials nominated the platform and spoke for five minutes in defense of the majority report of his committee. He spoke with great enthusiasm and earnestness of the faith with which the roll of the convention had been made up by the national committee after a most exhaustive hearing of contests.

Fort went somewhat into the details of the Texas contest. In the Delaware contest he denounced the Addicks Republicans for their methods in defeating the election of a Republican as senator from Delaware and characterized him and his associates as "political highwaymen on the broad road to fortune." Delegates and spectators joined in a tumultuous demonstration of approval of this bitter denunciation of the Addicks rule in Delaware.

The Delaware case was further explained by Yerkes of Kentucky, who spoke of Addicks as "the only Republican, so-called, who ever defeated the election of a Republican senator from Delaware."

HEPBURN CHARGES UNFAIRNESS.

Hepburn of Iowa then mounted the platform and with the same forceful manner that has always gained for him a hearing in the house of representatives declared that unfairness had dictated the hearing in all of the 190 contests. Hepburn deprecated the attack upon the character of Addicks, and asserted no proof had been brought to sustain them.

Hepburn consumed most of the time allotted to the minority and while he held the attention of the delegates, the galleries, whose occupants hunger habitually for sensational incidents, began to grow restless under the discussion of technicalities, and the spectators devoted themselves to conversation, which swelled to an annoying volume. When twenty minutes had passed cries of "time" came from the delegates, but Thurston calmly remarked, "The chair will care for the question of time," and explained he had allowed each side six additional minutes to cover interruptions and applause. The minority delegates gave Hepburn a round of cheers when he finished.

Then the chairman announced General Grosvenor of Ohio, and the white-haired white-bearded apostle of McKinley made his appearance on the stage for the first time. General Grosvenor announced he was willing to submit the question of decent elections to the men of the country, speaking of the Texas contest. Referring to the Delaware contest General Grosvenor congratulated Hepburn "that with honeyed words about fair play, he had come here as the representative of the biggest scoundrel on record."

COMMITTEE FINDINGS ACCEPTED.

On the question of adopting the minority report regarding Delaware and Texas and the judgments of the national committee on the remaining contests the "nays" prevailed by a great volume of sound, and the minority report was rejected in sections and as a whole. On the question of adopting the majority report, the "ayes" were clearly the loudest, and no demand was made for a roll call, every one having been satisfied by the test vote on the previous question. General Bingham of Pennsylvania then presented the report of the committee on rules, which was unanimously adopted, and at 5:10 p. m. General Grosvenor's motion to adjourn until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning was carried.

Experiment with Marked Salmon.

Last year 25 salmon, caught after a freshet at a boom in the Weser river, near Oeynhausen, were marked by introducing a numbered clamp of the kind used to fasten papers together in the large fin on the back. Circulars were then sent by the German fish commissioners to all people interested along the river that these 25 salmon had been returned to the river, and in the interest of pisciculture it would be desirable to know when, where and at what weight the fish were caught again. Until recently but two of these fish had been caught, one of which had ascended the river fully 75 miles, while the other was caught at a considerable distance below the point where they were first taken and returned to the wet element. Both of them had increased in weight and size, the respective data having been given to the fish commissioners. Two weeks ago three of the fish were caught together by one fisherman at the mouth of the Weser river, where at this season salmon will ascend the stream in schools. Considering that it is nearly a year and a half since these fish were returned to the river it is certainly very strange that three of them should be found together.

Charcoal from Leather.

The manufacture of charcoal of an important commercial value, from common leather waste or scrap, that is, as charcoal produced from leather has been found to be of such peculiar value in certain processes of tempering, a plan has been brought forward for utilizing the waste leather which accumulates in shoe shops, etc., by converting it into charcoal. The plant for manufacturing this kind of charcoal consists essentially of a metal retort, something like those for the production of illuminating gas, and the cost of such an equipment is calculated not to much exceed $200, while one man unaided can easily operate the whole. The shrinkage of the leather scrap is in this becoming charcoal is said to be not more than 50 per cent.—Chicago Chronicle.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

themselves. Senator Teller first spoke on his 16 1/2 proposition, and then on the proposition for the free coinage of the American product and the other proposition which differed only in wording. There were no dilatory measures resorted to—no motions to lay on the table—and all the amendments offered were voted down—41 to 10. The only change in the vote was when Oklahoma voted in the negative on the adoption of the majority report because it was too strongly worded for a single gold standard, making 40 to 11.

TELLER DEFINES HIS POSITION.

Teller having presented the committee a proposition for the free coinage of silver as a substitute for the financial plank proposed by the sub-committee to the whole committee, spoke in part as follows: I have given the financial question the most careful attention that any man could give it. I have given it the greatest study and best thought of my mature years. In my judgment this question is the greatest question that has been presented the American people in a hundred years. The greatest teacher in New England, a man who commands more respect than any other teacher in this country or in Europe and the only American whose text books have become the text books of European colleges has declared that the question of international bimetallicism is the question of civilization. Mr. Chairman, I believe this, and believing this as I do I say that it is not the prosperity of tomorrow that depends upon it, but this is a question which concerns civilization and morality that concerns not the people of the United States alone but the people of the entire world, and on the rightful solution of which their prosperity and happiness depends.

Having thus formed my conclusions after many years of public service and investigation, can I look any man in the face and tell him I believe this, and then give my vote for a candidate who stands on a platform pledged to the support of a gold standard? Would you expect me to do it? Would you not despise me if I did? And what is more, should I not despise myself? If I am wrong—and, of course, I may be—the truth will some day be known. If I am right, you are entering upon a course that will some day, and that, too, speedily, bring to this country great disaster. If a partial acceptance of this has brought this country to the condition that it is now, what shall be its condition when you have crystallized in the laws this declaration that you are putting in this platform, that gold and silver shall be the standard money of this land?

I do not intend to debate this question. I am speaking now in explanation of my conduct when I shall declare publicly, as I think you are entitled to know, that I can take no further part in this convention and can no longer act with the Republican party. Mr. Chairman, I shall break from the party of my youth, and the party of my grave, and the party of my service, and the party that has given me honors as few men have been given honors with a heart feeling as though I were going to my grave, as though I was burying my best friend, and nothing but the supreme conviction of danger of the maintenance of this gold standard could induce me to make such a sacrifice, but the conviction is upon me that it is a duty, not to my people alone, not to the people of Colorado alone, but a duty which I owe to you and to the whole world as well that I will take this step. I am going to fight for this principle; but I can no longer fight for it in the Republican ranks with hopes of success.

A MATTER OF PRINCIPLE. Congressman Hartman (Mont.) said he wanted it understood there was nothing personal in his action against the nominee or McKinley's friends, but it was a matter of principle alone with him. He stated he regarded McKinley as an honest man, who would faithfully carry out any platform on which he ran. The Republicans of his state, he said, cannot support a presidential candidate on a single gold platform. They do not want it understood they declare themselves out of party. They simply are unable to support the present Republican national ticket on account of its platform and will be Republicans in every other sense, on state, district and local tickets. Hartman said the Republicans of 1892 declared for gold and silver, and now they declare for gold only. They had repudiated the silver standard.

Dubois dwelt especially upon the service the west had been to the Republican party, showing that section had never in its hour of need been untrue to the party's call, but it had on the contrary responded with a ready, willing and zealous heart whenever called upon, when other states that were now being repudiated and casting them out had faltered and failed. He dwelt especially upon the strength of the west in the senate, and showed that to the votes of that section in the senate the Republican party had owed the maintenance of its protective tariff policy and all other party policies, oftentimes when their own sectional interests were in no wise involved.

The oratory did not cease with the taking of the vote on the Teller substitute, but continued on the main proposition to adopt a gold standard plank. Among those speaking at this time were Fessenden (Conn.) and Brewer (Mich.). Both expressed regrets that the silver men should find it necessary to take the course which they had decided upon. Fessenden said that for himself, he could not see there was any such provocation as the silver men claimed, and he expressed the opinion they should act the part of loyal Republicans and accept the will of the majority and go back to their people and tell them that the proper course to pursue was to support the ticket which would soon be nominated by the party at St. Louis.

SYMPATHIZES WITH SILVER MEN.

Brewer replied especially to Dubois, saying the silver senators had practically severed their connection with the Republican party when they had refused to vote for the Dingley tariff bill and had announced no tariff bill could pass the senate so long as they held the balance of power, unless coupled with a declaration for the free coinage of silver. If there was any one thing which is demanded, he continued, it is that the country should have sufficient revenue with which to conduct its business. He closed by the declaration that he sympathized much with the silver people, and he had proposed to strike the word gold from the platform, but since they had announced their intention to bolt it would be useless, apparently, to try to pacify them and he would abstain from presenting an amendment.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Governor Warmouth (La.) and R. M. La Follette (Wis.), while favoring a more conservative plank than the single gold standard one reported, gave their reasons for standing by the majority report. Both had amendments so as to prevent the retirement of paper money, but waived their objections and supported the majority report. La Follette had also wanted a change in the wording of the tariff plank and Warmouth in the sugar plank, but both supported the planks as reported and the platform as a whole.

La Follette's speech was brought out by a remark made by Teller to the effect that two gentlemen in the room—Gear (Ia.) and La Follette, who had been members of the committee on ways and means in the house when McKinley was chairman—had done more towards the preparation of the tariff bill which bore McKinley's name than had McKinley himself. La Follette took immediate occasion to disavow this credit, he said McKinley had labored untiringly upon the preparation of the bill, and its shaping was largely due to his energy and complete mastery of the subject in hand.

ADOPTED WITHOUT DIVISION.

A vote was then taken on the financial plank, but not until it had been amended by striking out the words, "now in circulation" in the last paragraph of the plank, making it read, "All our silver and paper currency must be maintained at a parity with gold," etc. Otherwise the plank was adopted as telegraphed yesterday. There was no division of the vote on the sections following the money plank, although differences of opinion were expressed. When it came to a vote on the adoption of the majority report in the committee as a whole there was no division, because the silver men had dropped out and were conferring together in the corridor as to their action in the convention. Chairman Forsaker on a viva voce vote therefore declared the report on the platform as a whole adopted.

THE CURFEW IDEA.

How the Movement Is Received Throughout the West. Regarded as a Good Instrument for the Regulation of the Morals of the Rising Generation-Interesting Particulars.

The curfew ordinance, designed to keep children off the streets at night, with which the children of this state are now threatened, and against which they are organizing a protest, has come to be accepted as a matter of course in the smaller cities and towns of almost every state west of the Mississippi river.

The curfew ordinance, designed to keep children off the streets at night, with which the children of this state are now threatened, and against which they are organizing a protest, has come to be accepted as a matter of course in the smaller cities and towns of almost every state west of the Mississippi river.

The general principle of the curfew ordinance is the same wherever they have been adopted, but the ordinances differ in details. The idea is to provide that children under a certain age, varying in different towns from 13 down to 15 years, shall not be on the streets of the town after a stated time, ranging from 7:30 p. m. to nine p. m., unless accompanied by a lawful guardian.

WINGED SEEDS.

Nature's Plan of Distributing Plants Without the Aid of Man. The terrible eruption of Krakatoa, in the Sunda strait, in 1883, furnished the opportunity for illustrating the ease with which nature can replant with vegetable life a district that has become completely isolated.

There are many seeds which seem, by their formation, to be specially designed for transmission through the air, and of these several are quite as good illustrations as the thistle. The seed of the common dandelion, a plant to be seen on every common, has wings which will carry it away on the slightest breath of air.

The seeds of many ferns and microscopic plants are so constructed as to be readily lifted and carried away by the wind, while some of considerable size are provided with an elaborate arrangement for aerial transportation.

What Troubled Him.

The habit potentiales have of traveling incog, frequently causes suffering where it is least expected. It is said of the emperor of Austria that once, traveling in this manner, he put up at an inn. After eating a few slices of ham and biscuit he went to bed. In the morning he paid his bill and departed. A few hours after several of his suite arrived, and hearing the rank of his guest, the landlord appeared much troubled. "Fshaw, man!" said one, "Franz Joseph is accustomed to such adventures and will think nothing of it." "But I shall," said mine host, "and never forgive myself for having an emperor in my house and letting him off for three-and-six-pence!"-London Answers.

Serve hot for breakfast or luncheon.-N. Y. Ledger.

Money Up for a Big Celebration Here on the Fourth.

About $1,000 in the Fund, More Comings, and the Arrangement Committees Hard at Work.

Ishpeming will celebrate the Fourth, and in a becoming manner. The committee appointed last Friday evening to solicit funds for the celebration sprung a surprise on those who attended the meeting Tuesday evening at the council chamber, when it announced that it had collected nearly $1,000 during the two days it was out. In submitting the report Alderman Haslam, one of the seven members of the committee, said: "I herewith hand your treasurer $175, which I collected this afternoon. I have not yet got rightly started in my collections and I will send in as much more within the next few days." Mr. Haslam stated that the representatives of the mining companies, as well as several of the leading business men, had not yet been asked to contribute to the fund.

P. H. Donahoe, treasurer of the celebration fund, reported that the different members of the committee had made their returns to him, and that all the money subscribed, with the exception of $15, had been collected.

Every person present at the meeting, whether a member of the committee or not, manifested great interest in the celebration as soon as the cash and checks were handed over to the treasurer.

Joseph Schilling, chairman of the committee, called for reports from Secretary Charles Roberts. The latter read bids from the City and Lake Superior bands, offering their services on the Fourth. The communications were laid on the table and disposed of later. George A. Newett was appointed chairman of the committee of arrangements with power to select seven others to constitute the committee with him. Mr. Newett was present and accepted. He selected as his associates Mayor Andrews, Joseph Schilling, Richard Hardy, John Lacey, Herman Jaedecke, George Haslam and Frederick Braastad. Mr. Newett's selections were unanimously approved.

The committee then got together and accepted the bids from the City and Lake Superior bands. The secretary of the City band was at once notified of the acceptance of the organization's bid, as the band had two or three other engagements pending for that day. The leader and secretary of the Union band were present and they also offered a very liberal sum for their band on the Fourth. The committee promised to give the committee a definite reply today, as the band had another engagement in sight, which it had partially promised to accept.

Richard Hardy was chosen chairman of the committee on sports and calisthenic parade. He selected as his associates John Lacey, Charles T. Fairbain, Ed P. Diegler, Ed J. Butler and Joseph M. Hayden. This committee has already begun the work assigned it. Mr. Hardy is making out a list of the sports to take place and also a list of the main features of the parade, and says he will leave nothing undone to make the parade a success.

The following are the principal committees already selected. Bands—P. H. Donahoe, Thomas Pearce, Ed Girz; fireworks—T. H. Dawson, Henry Harwood, F. P. Tilson, O. A. Sinclair and D. McViechie; advertising—George A. Newett, John D. West, Ed J. Butler and Andrew Sandberg; oration—Mayor Andrews, W. T. Potter, Thomas Dundon, H. O. Young and W. H. Johnson; invitations—T. W. Durham, James Mallins, Fred J. Eggan, James Trebilcock, Nelson J. Robbins and John Arnsen; decoration—H. F. Hepp, J. A. Voelker, P. H. Donahoe and Joseph Schilling.

In addition to these there will also be a number of sub-committees, such as a committee on wrestling, tug-of-war, bicycle races, etc.

The arrangements committee has already decided on the prizes for the Cornish wrestling and the tug-of-war. The best wrestler will be given $50, the second best $25 and the third $15. There will be two prizes for the tug-of-war, $20 for first and $10 second. Four teams of ten men each will be organized from among the men employed by the four mining companies—the Lake Superior, Lake Angeline, Cleveland-Cliffs and the Winthrop location. This will be quite a novel feature. Other teams will also be allowed to enter.

In the evening between 7 and 8 o'clock there will be a bicycle parade. Prizes will be given for the four best decorated wheels. The fireworks display will occur after 8:30 o'clock.

A Successful Sale. William Malmberg, who sold his live stock, wagons, etc., on his Greenwood farm at auction Tuesday and yesterday, had no difficulty in disposing of his fine Jersey stock. His sale panned out much better than he expected. There were buyers from Ishpeming, Republic, Champion and Michigan present.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

Possibility That It Will Not Be Held on July 8th After All.

A number of the leading Republicans of this district, including members of the congressional committee, met at the Nelson House Tuesday afternoon to discuss and definitely settle on the time and place for holding the congressional convention. It was decided that the convention shall be held at Ironwood, but the date has not yet been agreed on. Chase S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie and Richard Hoar of Houghton favored July 8 as the time for holding the convention, but this date was opposed by Gad Smith and others present. It was finally agreed that the date shall be named later. It is customary to not hold the congressional convention until after the state convention. If this custom should be adhered to the convention will not be held until the latter part of August or early in September.

OLD HICKORY.

A Glimpse of the Home Life of Andrew Jackson.

After the War He Settled Down and Became Very Pious—His Relations and Neighbors.

I have been requested by a friend to write my recollections of Gen. Jackson and his family. Andrew Jackson was a young lawyer when he came here from North Carolina with Judge McNairy. He boarded with Col. John Donaldson, at Clover Bottom, on Stone river. While he was boarding there he fell in love with and married Mr. Donaldson's daughter, Rachel. Her father gave them the farm, which is now the Hermitage, and he built a house and went there to live. At first he built a hewed loghouse, in which they lived for many years, and then built the brick house which is now standing there. When a young man he was very fond of horse racing, card playing and sport of every kind. He fought a duel with Mr. Dickson and killed him.

When the Indian war broke out he raised a regiment and went out as a general. After the Indian war he took part in the war of 1812 with the British. He was the leading man, the hero of the south, from the beginning until the close of the war.

After he came home from the war he settled down, became a very pious man and joined the First Presbyterian church here. He built a church at the Hermitage, which is still standing. He was afterward elected president of the United States, and was president for eight years. His wife died soon after he was elected president, and his nephew, Andrew Donaldson, with his wife, went to Washington and kept house for him.

Gen. Jackson had no children, but he and his wife adopted her brother's son and named him Andrew Jackson. While he was president his adopted son married a beautiful young lady from New York. They had a beautiful daughter, whom they named Rachel, for Mrs. Gen. Jackson. She married Dr. John Lawrence, who is still living on a farm near the Hermitage. Gen. Jackson was a very hospitable man. All the distinguished men who visited Nashville were entertained at his house. He always had the house full of his wife's relatives. He was also a very kind man, and especially so to his slaves.

Col. Ward was a very prominent man, and his farm was next to Gen. Jackson's. He came here from Virginia, and his wife was Miss Nancy Ward. They were both wealthy, aristocratic Virginians. They had no children of their own, but raised several of their nieces and nephews. Her brother and his wife died, leaving three sons and one daughter. Mrs. Ward sent to Virginia for them, and they came here to live with her. Col. Ward had a fine farm, and over 100 negro slaves. His wife's sister, Miss Sallie Jones, married his nephew, William Ward, who also had a large farm in this neighborhood, and a great many negroes. Col. Ward's wife died and Mr. William Ward died.

Col. Ward became engaged to Mrs. William Ward, and his nephews, named Jones, who lived with him, said he should not marry her. When they were to be married his nephews went to the house and got into a fight with Mrs. William Ward's son, and when Col. Ward came out to stop them, they shot and killed him. Mrs. William Ward was the only one who saw it, and she traveled for several years to keep from appearing against them in court. She died, a broken-hearted woman, away from her home. She was a most excellent Christian woman. Her daughter married, and is now living in Arkansas.

Col. Winston lived just between Davidson county and Wilson county, and near Col. Ward. He came from Virginia, and belonged to a distinguished family. His oldest son, William, married Polly Cooper, and his second son, Isaac, moved to Alabama, and was made governor of the state. His next son, Dr. Edwin Winston, lived in Clarksville. All of his children became useful, distinguished men, and made excellent citizens. When the Indian war broke out Maj. Exum organized a company of cavalry, and Isaac Winston joined it. Isaac Winston was going to school to Maj. Exum when the war began. After the war Maj. Exum reopened his school here, and all the prominent boys went to him.—Miss Jane Thomas, in Nashville American.

Oldest Marriage Proposal. The oldest marriage proposal of which there is any definite record is 3,425 years old. This remarkable ancient record, which is in the oriental department of the British museum, is a small clay tablet measuring eight inches by four inches, and contains about 98 lines of very fine cuneiform writing. It is made of Nile mud, and bears upon it the marriage proposal of a Pharaoh for the hand of the daughter of the king of Babylon. It is a duplicate copy of a letter written about B. C. 1530.—Detroit Free Press.

Left-Handed Animals. It is well known that left-handedness has often been observed in animals. According to Vierordt, parrots seize objects with the left claw by preference, or exclusively. The lion strikes with the left paw, and Livingstone stated as his opinion that all animals are left-handed. Prof. Jordan has recently verified the statement with regard to parrots. He found that this bird makes a readier use of the left claw for climbing than the right.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Never Sees the Papers. Silk ribbons are used in the court of Victoria to hold newspaper clippings designed for the royal perusal. She never sees the papers in their original state. They are carefully perused by an official, who cuts out what he thinks will please her, pins the clippings on the ribbons, and lays them on the table.—St. Louis Republic.

ALLEGED LUMBER THIEVES.

Employees of the Manistique Lumber Company Placed Under Heavy Bonds.

EX-GOV. ALGER'S CORPORATION GETS INTO TROUBLE.

Railroad Must Condemn Pendill's Land. City Council Contributes to the Fourth of July Fund—Delegates Leave Marquette.

LUMBERMEN IN TROUBLE.

The Manistique Lumber company, of which ex-Governor Alger is president, has got itself into a peck of trouble, and two of its employees face the possibility of doing time in the penitentiary.

All this was brought about by a hearing which was had before United States Commissioner Frank Moore yesterday. William Green, manager of the Seney & Grand Marais railroad, and Frank Green, his brother, camp boss for the company, were bound over to the next term of the United States circuit court in the sum of $3,000 each. Their offense is cutting timber off of a lighthouse reserve three miles from Grand Marais.

Day before yesterday Deputy Marshal Manning arrested the Greens in Grand Marais. They were brought to this city late that night. At the time the timber was cut William Green was walking boss, having charge of the company's operations in that vicinity. The brothers claim that the company ordered them to go onto the lighthouse reserve and cut off the timber, because there was a special kind which was wanted and could not be procured anywhere else in the vicinity. William Green admitted to Mr. Manning that he knew he was cutting on government land, but as he had direct orders to enter the land supposed that Governor Alger either had or would fix the matter up with the authorities. He expressed great surprise at the arrest of himself and brother. Mr. Manning and one other witness swore to this on the stand. Green himself gave no testimony.

The amount of timber alleged to have been cut off the reserve is 800,000 feet, and its actual value about $4,000, but in case the court's decision, as now appears very evident, should go against the corporation it will have to pay three times the value of the timber cut, or $12,000.

The prominence of the company, and especially of its president, will be apt to give the case considerable note throughout the state. The evidence will come before Judge Severens when court convenes the middle of July.

MUST BE CONDEMNED.

The injunction case of the Pendill heirs vs the Ishpeming & Lake Superior railroad was argued in the circuit court yesterday. Judge Stone's ruling is practically a verdict for the Pendills.

He ordered the railroad before proceeding further with work on the complainant's land to begin condemnation proceedings and file a bond of $4,000. The bond will be filed, and work will be continued, but it is possible a settlement may be still agreed upon out of court. The land in question is located at Negaunee.

There was an agreement between the railroad and the Pendills by which the latter were willing to sell the land for a certain sum of money. The dispute is not a question of price, but of reservations to be made in the deed. The owners of the land want Silver street left open, also a cross right of way reserved for the D. S. S. & A. and the Northwestern. There has been a track over the property belonging to the former road for nearly twenty years, but at the time of the panic it was taken up. This the defense claimed was permanent abandonment, but the South Shore people insisted they had no intention of doing so, and that the rails had merely been taken up temporarily.

Notwithstanding that there had been no agreement on the reservations the railroad company put its men to work making cuts and grades on the property. A temporary injunction was secured. This injunction was made permanent till the filing of the bond and the commencement of the condemnation proceedings.

THE OTHER COURTS.

James Cameron of Sande township was taken before Judge Cray yesterday forenoon on the charge of house-breaking. There has been a warrant out for Cameron since last September, but he had not been located until a few days ago. It was charged that he broke into John Kocissig's house while the latter was at work in the woods. Before the owner returned, which was several weeks, Cameron had skipped the country. He was discovered a short time ago working on a farm near the brewery. The evidence being plainly against him he was given ninety days in the county jail. It is thought that some of the stealing which was done last winter in the vicinity of the brewery might be laid at Cameron's door, but there is no evidence against him.

There was a contest case before the commissioners in the land office yesterday. The parties concerned are John Prince and John McNeil, and the dispute is over 160 acres of land in Houghton county. The case had to be continued as one of the witnesses, Dr. Scallon, was not present. He has been sent for, and if he arrives the balance of the testimony will be taken today. The decision will not be rendered before the end of the week.

City Dads Couch Up.

Marquette's council boosted the Fourth of July celebration fund $300 at its meeting last night. The vote was eight to five. After this appropriation was passed an appropriation of $35 was granted for decorating the city hall, and the mayor and the controller appointed a committee to do the work. The street commissioner was ordered to put Washington street in good condition for the races. In addition to this the mayor was authorized to grant all necessary permits for the use of streets during the celebration.

While last night's meeting was a special one the call was so made as to admit a wide variety of business. Some of the property holders on Bluff street between Park and Clinton, chief among whom are Peter White and the Ross heirs, had made known their objections to paying interest on the assessment for the improvement of that street inasmuch as the assessment had been made last October and no work done to date. They said that unless the interest was remitted they would force the city to make the collection by law. The aldermen seemed to think it was no more than justice to remit the interest as no work had been done upon the street. On the understanding that the principal of the tax was to be paid at once they so voted.

Hazel J. Payne, having a second time declined to serve on the electric light and power commission, the mayor appointed in his place James E. Sherman, who was confirmed without debate by his fellow councilmen.

The difference between the requisition of the school trustees of the year 1895 and the actual amount collected was ordered paid out of the city treasury. This means that the school board gets the full amount of its requisition. The salary committee had left out of its estimates on budget night the pound-masters' salaries. These on motion were made as has been customary, $25 a month for six months, and fees for the balance of the year.

The petition for a sidewalk of certain property owners on the south side of Prospect street, which had been referred to the streets and sewers committee, was reported upon adversely. The council upheld the report.

Manning's new council wants to buy the old council desks which were used in the Spring street building, and had communicated with the controller to that effect. The council instructed the mayor and the controller to make the best bargain possible and let the desks go.

Delegates All Leave.

Marquette has lost most of the guests who shared her generous hospitality during the W. C. T. U. convention. Many of them left on early morning trains yesterday, and the afternoon trains carried out practically all the balance. The 1:35 train to the Soo carried a coach for the special accommodation of the ladies, but it was nowhere near sufficient for them.

The members of the executive committee held a meeting in the forenoon in the Sunday school room of the Baptist church, and closed up as far as they could the affairs of the gathering. The time, however, was too short for them to complete their business in, and they had to adjourn with the resolutions unadopted and the place of holding the next convention undecided. It was the intention to hold another meeting in the afternoon, while on the ferry crossing the straits, and endeavor to rush through the most important matters of business.

Among the pleasant and novel features of the convention might be mentioned the consecration of the white ribbon baby at the Sunday service. It was very pretty and impressive. Little Willard Charles McCormick was the one who was thus consecrated to the temperance cause. The little fellow standing between his friends, including Dr. and Mrs. Law as sponsors, had the white ribbon tied to his arm by Dr. Mary Wood-Allen, national superintendent of Purity work. After prayer the doctor charged the guardian and sponsors as to the way they should bring up the child.

In the report of the Tuesday evening meeting the Young Crusaders should have been credited with a song in place of the Knights of Temperance.

Burned Three Barns.

Another fire of mysterious origin broke out at 1:30 this morning in a barn belonging to Mrs. Michael Splan on Rock street. Like the Burtis mill fire it was thoroughly ablaze before the department had time to reach it. The fire was discovered by Officer Clendenning as he was walking down on Lake street, a number of blocks away. He ran and turned in an alarm.

Every board of Mrs. Splan's barn was afire before the first stream of water could be turned on, and the adjacent barns were beginning to burn. All three of them burned like tinder boxes, and despite the efforts of the department became total losses within a half an hour. Fortunately there was no stock in any of them.

Mrs. Splan is the heaviest loser of the three. In addition to her barn she had all her furniture stored there, as she expected soon to go to her son in the west, and had given up her house to another family with whom she was boarding.

John Mack, on the west of her, lost a barn about equal in size to Mrs. Splan's, and Miss Eliza Boswell owned the smaller barn to the east which burned. The loss on all three will be covered with $600. None of them were insured.

Marshals Appointed.

Marshals for the Fourth of July celebration were selected by the sub-committee which met last night at the city hall. Those who will keep the line of march and perform the other functions are: Col. B. S. Kaufman, chief marshal; Messrs. Youngquist, Hathway, Homeier, Wheeler, Kruger and Jacobs, aides. The committee will have one meeting and probably two before the Fourth.
