After the Convention. Tuesday the first meeting since the convention of the state W. C. T. U. was held by the local organization at 341 West Bluff street. Despite the fact that many of the ladies were still tired from the exertion of attending the sessions of the convention and entertaining the delegates there was a good attendance. The recent gathering furnished the chief theme of the meeting. To show that they appreciated the courtesy of the many who in anyway helped to make the convention a success, the ladies gave a rising vote of thanks to the citizens of Marquette, to the Baptist and Methodist churches which were thrown open for their sessions, to the various pastors, to those who opened their homes for the entertainment of delegates, to the various temperance societies for taking part in the demonstration, to the Marquette band, the pastors and the mayor.

THE BABIES FIRST.

Their Diet Just Now the Most Vital Question.

Those Not Eating Well Are in Danger of Diarrhea. Delicate Babies Take Lactated Food With Zest and Appetite. The tiny heir just born to the czar of all the Russias is not a whit more precious in its parents' eyes than thousands of little ones who must some day make their own way in the world. Babyhood the world over has but one proud distinction-health. The only rivalry among babies is in who can eat the heartiest, sleep the soundest and grow the most.

OWES HIS LIFE TO LACTATED FOOD. Physicians and nurses who have had large experience in the care of young children in cities as well as in towns emphasize the fact that babies brought up on lactated food escape wasting diseases, cholera infantum and diarrhea in a most unmistakable manner. Every child, however luckily born, must run the gauntlet of these summer disorders. The fearful infant mortality during hot weather has compelled medical men to make extraordinary efforts to find the reason. It is today an absolutely ascertained fact that none of these intestinal disorders can be explained by hot weather alone. High temperature simply weakens the infant digestion, and makes it easy for improper feeding to bring on cholera infantum, convulsions and colic. Above is a picture of the happy baby boy of Mrs. Leigh Putney of Appleton, Wis., who writes: 'I closed you will find a picture of our baby, Truman, who owes his perfect health, if not his life, to lactated food. We fed him on milk until he was about five months old. At that time he suffered a severe attack of cholera infantum. He did not seem to rally from this, but grew thinner and weaker until he was nearly ten months old. There were days at a time when he could retain nothing on his stomach, nothing more than a little hot water or arrow-root tea, and even a teaspoonful of milk would bring on his bowel trouble. We tried everything in the line of foods that was suggested, but nothing seemed to be right, and he grew so weak and emaciated that it was difficult to dress or handle him. At last on my own responsibility, I determined to try lactated food. He began at once to improve. He has never been sick since then, and we can almost see him grow fat. He has just accomplished the feat of cutting eight teeth all at once, and has not been sick or kept us awake a single night.'

Lactated food has saved the lives of thousands of infants during the hot, dangerous months of summer. Lactated food is the best diet for June. Cholera infantum often terminates inside a few hours, and no household with little children in it should feel safe during these summer days and nights unless using lactated food. Lactated food pleases the infant taste and induces the child to eat heartily. Try it.

THE HIGH SCHOOL. Few people are aware that only 4 per cent of the pupils attending the public schools will ever reach the high school, and that only 2 per cent of those reaching the high school will get the advantages of a college education. This has been proven by the past and will likely hold good for some time to come. When parents come to realize these facts they will see how important it is for their children to have everything possible to help them in their studies. The American Encyclopaedic dictionary offered by the St. Paul Dispatch is recommended by presidents of colleges and superintendents of schools and professional people of all lines of business as the most complete dictionary and encyclopaedia ever published. Call and see it at 128 Washington street.

WILL NOT LAST LONG. The opportunity that is now being offered to our readers to procure a set of the American Encyclopaedic Dictionary will be of short duration. It will not take long to place 100 sets of this great work among such a literary class of people as we have in Marquette. An opportunity of this kind does not happen more than once in a life-time, so all who are forming life libraries should take advantage of it before it is too late. Do not fail to call at The Dispatch headquarters, 128 Washington street, and examine the work or give your order to our representative when he calls. (6-22-1f)

REGULAR MEETING. A regular meeting of the B. of R. E. T. L. L. Hood lodge, will be held in their rooms on Sunday afternoon, June 28, at 9 o'clock. All members are requested to attend as business relative to Fourth of July matters will be brought up. (6-24-2d) GEORGE VARDEN, FINANCIER.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.
Tuesday afternoon at the high school building were held the opening exercises of the graduating class of 1896.

The room was prettily decorated, and besides the graduates and under students, the friends of the former were present in complimentary numbers. The literary program to be given by the individual members of the class had been divided into two sections, one to be given on Tuesday and the other the afternoon following because of the unusual length of the entire program. The girls of the class were simply gowned in "graduation white."

Tuesday's program commenced with a song by the high school, "The Banner of the Free," under the direction of Miss Davis. Francis L. Busch, the first of the class to speak, had selected as the title of his oration, "England's Aggressiveness." The grasping disposition of the Islanders furnished him with an interesting and important theme for discussion. Miss Clara Bernier followed him on the program, the title of her essay being, "Gordian Knots." An essay on Eugene Field was delivered by Miss Florence Fitzgerald. The recent death of the poet gave Miss Fitzgerald's essay an especial timeliness. The essay and its delivery were of more than average merit.

Mr. Wilkinson sang a pleasing selection.

"The World's a Stage," was the topic of Miss Anna Dolf's essay, and "Answers," that of the next by Miss Annie Murphy. Joseph Reau selected a practical theme, "The Advantages of Machinery," and enumerated some of the changes that have come in the industrial world by the great inventions of the century. A duet, "Till We Meet Again," was effectively sung by Miss Davis and Mrs. Peterson. "Romance in History" furnished a wide field which was well covered by the essay of Miss Josephine Splan. Miss Ellen Reardon chose as here theme to tell of that high minded, true hearted Irish patriot, Robert Emmet, and to point the lessons naturally drawn from his life and death. In recognition of the wonderful importance and power of "the fourth estate" Miss Helen Noctor delivered an essay on "The Power of the Press." Miss Noctor handled her subject most excellently and showed a considerable knowledge and appreciation of the potency of print. It was generally conceded that her essay, in composition, matter and delivery, was a little in the lead of any of her fellows who spoke yesterday afternoon.

Yesterday's program but half completes the literary exercises by the class. The remaining students will deliver their essays and orations this afternoon in the high school building, and Thursday evening the final commencement exercises with the presentation of the diplomas will be held in the opera house.

ELY SCHOOL EXERCISES.
The pupils of the Ely school have their graduation exercises tonight in the school building. After an evening of speaking and singing the certificates will be presented, and the happy eighth graders will be raised to a dignity all but equal to that of the high school graduates. To defray expenses an admission of ten cents will be charged. The following program has been prepared under the direction of Professor Warner:

Closing exercises in the seventh grade will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Fisher street school. A special mother's day program has been prepared, and the mothers are especially invited to attend the exercises.

Manitou Makes Port.
With more than a hundred excursionists on board the magnificent steamer Manitou came into Marquette harbor yesterday morning. She was made fast to the dock when the earliest risers were just getting out of bed, and stayed here till the early afternoon train came back from Ishpeming and Negaunee and brought those of the passengers who had taken the detour to the iron mines. Before the train went up in the morning many of the tourists embraced the opportunity to take a look around the town, and those who did not elect to go to the mines had time for more extensive explorations.

Quite a number of townspeople look advantage of the opportunity to inspect the boat as she lay at the dock. All were captivated with her interior arrangements and finishings, and the general verdict was that she was second only to the Northwest. People who are posted on the cost of the boats added the additional remark that it was hard to see where the $350,000 difference came in. There were none from here who look in the excursion offered from Marquette to Duluth and return, but coming back the management expects to run a big excursion from Houghton to Marquette and return by rail. The local vessel inspectors examined the boat yesterday and granted her a permit to carry 500 additional excursionists. The round trip rate for this excursion will be made less than one fare. The biggest number the boat carried was from Chicago to Macinac where she had a list of 200.

Baseball Bloomer Girls.
There will be some new faces at the ball ground Tuesday, "faces that you don't see every day." Nine of them will be on the diamond, but the grandstand and bleachers will accommodate a good many faces with bald heads that are not counted among the regular rooters.

The occasion of this commotion will be the Boston Bloomers, a female baseball aggregation, which Manager Shea has secured to play against the local invincibles June 30. Every girl in the team is reputed to be a "good looker," and the ability of each to throw a ball across the diamond is absolutely guaranteed. The costume of the players is that invented by the late lamented Amelia Bloomer and made famous by years of cartooning in the funny papers.

As ball players the girls are said to be firstclass. They ask a fair field and no favors, and the press notices of the team tell of numerous victories over teams quite as good but not so gallant as the Marquettes. Flirtation on bases means sure defeat.

The following are the members of the team who travel about the country in their own $12,000 palace car looking for opportunities to cover themselves with dust and glory. Misses Jennie Gorman, captain, Florence Clark, Mand Carrey, Emma Harman, Eunice White, Mable Nelson, Clara Jennings, Gustie Habeck, Marie Labeau, and Alice Hall. The Misses White and Hall are the battery.

It is probable an arrangement will be made for the Marquettes to go to Ishpeming and play the girls Monday.

Caught the Forger.
The slick swindler who caught the Manhard-Jopling company here last winter on a $50 forged check was taken up at Troy, N. Y., while trying to operate a similar game. When taken up he was found to have a number of these checks upon him, and everything tended to show that he was doing some extensive work in his line.

Since being in Marquette he has changed his name, and instead of Theodore Barrett is now known as Walter Morton. John R. Condon, chief of detectives at Troy, has written to Manager Moy sending a newspaper clipping and a cut of the scoundrel. Mr. Moy replied and positively identified the man from the picture. He wrote the chief that if there was not a clear case against him in Troy to write again, and he would make arrangements to have Mr. Barrett, alias Morton, brought back to Marquette, where there was evidence he would find some trouble in dodging.

Monday evening the Albert Jackson pott, G. A. R., was presented with a gavel. It was a gift to the post from Matthew H. Maynard, who delegated Captain C. D. Blanchard to present it. This the captain did very appropriately, taking occasion to tell how Mr. Maynard had secured it in his southern trip. It was made from the limb of a tree on Lookout mountain, and in the head of the mallet as a sure attest of its genuineness, is a rebel bullet. The post received the gift with appreciative thanks.

Tesla and Edison.
The lecture by Professor Stickney deserves more than a passing comment, for it is overflowing with facts and figures and the lecturer waxes eloquent on the personal qualities and brains of his heroes—Tesla and Edison. The style of the lecture was chaste and poetic, and any one can discover in the lecturer the electionist's training. It is misleading to suppose that the dry recital of scientific figures is all that the lecture contains, for it contains, for it bristles with frequent truths moral and religious, and is rich in quotations from master minds. If science is to be popularized it is such lectures as this that must do it.
