HERE WE ARE ONCE MORE.

We still have the old fountain and are at the same old stand. The people realize that it is not the fountain, or even the mixer, they are about to drink, but what is drawn from the fountain. We always have and always will furnish the public with the best Soda Water, Mineral Water, Ginger Ale, etc., that can be mixed and if it is the wish of the people will endeavor in the future to turn a double somersault and present the glass of soda all drawn, with check and spoon in our hand. Our crushed fruits are manufactured every day from the finest of fresh fruits. Our motto is a little too much, rather than not enough. Seeing is believing. You are all invited.

FREE COINAGE DEMANDED.

North Carolina and Georgia Democrats Place Themselves on Record.

WANT THE IMMEDIATE RE-MONETIZATION OF SILVER.

Delegates to Chicago Are Bound by the Unit Rule to Advocate the White Metal's Cause—Cleveland's Name Hissed.

SILVER IS THEIR SLOGAN.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 25.—The Democratic state convention met at noon. Committees were appointed, and a recess was then taken. When the convention re-assembled this afternoon the platform committee made its report. The financial plank follows:

"The Constitution of the United States recognizes both gold and silver as the primary or redemption money of these states; and that in the words of the national Democratic platform of 1884, we believe in honest money—gold and silver coinage of the Constitution and a circulating medium convertible into such money without loss.

"We favor, independently of other nations, the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold, without discrimination against either, at the ratio of 16 to 1 and condemn a system which in a time of peace, with millions of silver bullion lying idle in the treasury, has forced the government within two years to issue $262,000,000 of bonds, entailing this enormous debt upon the people, in order to maintain our credit upon a single standard and gold basis."

The delegates to Chicago were instructed, both as to platform and candidates, to advocate and vote as a unit, unflinchingly, for the restoration of silver. After the committee had offered its report, Colonel Means precipitated a financial discussion by offering a straight gold amendment for the silver section. But when he mentioned President Cleveland as "my ideal man of all the world," there was a storm of hisses and yells of derision. The gold plank was lost.

Tonight Cyrus B. Watson of Forsyth was nominated for governor and Thos. W. Mason of Northampton for lieutenant governor.

GEORGIA DEMOCRATS.

They Meet in Convention and Adopt a Free Silver Declaration.

MACON, Ga., June 25.—The Democratic convention of Georgia met at noon and adjourned at 4 o'clock, having gone through all routine within four hours. The convention was called to order by Steve Clay, chairman of the state committee. The convention hall was crowded, but fortunately there was no excitement. Clarence Wilson was elected temporary chairman. After the appointment of a credentials committee Steve Clay was elected permanent chairman and the temporary organization made permanent. The committee on resolutions and platform was appointed and the state ticket taken up.

For governor, W. Y. Atkinson was nominated. Secretary of state, A. D. Chandler; treasurer, A. D. Speer; attorney general, J. W. Terrell; comptroller, W. A. Wright; commissioner of agriculture, R. T. Nesbit. All these were re-nominated, except the state treasurer, who retires voluntarily. The delegates-at-large are Evan Howell, Patrick Walsh, Pone Brown and H. T. Lewis.

THE FINANCIAL PLANK.

"Resolved, Congress has no power to discriminate at the mints against either gold or silver as metals for coinage as primary money or against gold or silver coin of the United States as their debt-paying functions; such discriminations deprive the citizens of the use of one kind of the standard money provided by the Constitution for the payment of debts, and we demand the repeal of all laws or parts of laws making such discriminations and the restoration of the standard silver dollar to the rank of primary money which it held prior to 1873 by opening our mints to the coinage of silver on perfect equality with gold at the ratio of 16 to 1."

The platform condemns the issue of bonds in a time of peace; condemns the policy seeking to retire treasury notes; demands the repeal of all laws "which clothe the secretary of the treasury with more than imperial power to issue bonds and increase the public debt at will without specific authority from congress"; favors the payment of the public debt as rapidly as practicable.

Resolutions were adopted condemning as un-American and un-Democratic any association, political or otherwise, guilty of illegal warfare and wanton persecution of citizens on account of religious faith.

The unit rule, which will prevail at Chicago, ensures a free silver delegation.

A FREE SILVER PLATFORM.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 25.—The Populist territorial convention elected delegates to the national convention and adopted a free silver platform.

PUDDLERS WANT MORE PAY.

A Conference Is Held at Youngstown to Discuss the Wage Scale.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 25.—A meeting of the committee appointed at the recent Amalgamated association convention at Detroit and the rolling mill operators of West Pittsburg was held today to discuss and if possible to agree on the wage question. The only change demanded in the present scale is that the puddlers want $4.50 per ton instead of $4. No agreement was reached. The conference meets again July 9th to discuss the scale. The mills all cease operations next Tuesday night on the expiration of the old scale.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Two branches of the Nail association were in conference here today—the wire and cut nail manufacturers. The representatives of the nail machine manufacturers were given assurances they would be taken care of by the nail trust, and threatened competition was averted. No action has yet been taken on the question of a change in rates. There will be a reduction in the output during the summer months, but no closing up of mills.

NO FOUNDATION IN FACT.

Report of Villard Control of the Northern Pacific Denied.

CHICAGO, June 25.—The Evening Post says that Henry Villard, backed by European and American capital, has about completed a deal for the purchase of the Northern Pacific, and then the Baltimore & Ohio, which is soon to be sold at receiver's sale, thus securing a through line from the Atlantic ocean to the Pacific.

THE REPORT IS DENIED.

NEW YORK, June 25.—A banker who is prominently identified with large European interests in American railroad securities and associated with the re-organization of the Northern Pacific says the Chicago report of impending Villard control of the Northern Pacific and the Baltimore & Ohio is absolutely without foundation in fact. He says:

"As the Northern Pacific re-organization committee has obtained a deposit of nearly all the company's bonds it, and not Villard, will with these bonds buy the road at the forthcoming sale. Villard's bonds have been deposited with the committee, but otherwise there is no connection between the parties. Furthermore, trustees have been appointed to control the property for five years and the president of the new company has been selected."

A. P. A. IS AFTER SAPP.

Kentucky's State President Violated the Boycott on McKinley.

LOUISVILLE, June 25.—Nearly one thousand members of the A. P. A., representing the twenty-two local councils, met at Music Hall last night and adopted resolutions carrying with them charges that may lead to the removal of State President C. E. Sapp. Judge J. H. D. Stevens, of the national advisory board, came over from St. Louis to attend the meeting and Supreme President Rehob of Atlanta was also present. The charge against Sapp is that as a delegate to the Republican national convention at St. Louis he violated the orders of the state and county advisory boards, who had instructed and still instructs all A. P. A. to oppose McKinley.

SERMON ON BICYCLES.

A Michigan Clergyman Who Will Hold Sunday Services Awheel.

ALBION, Mich., June 25.—Rev. F. E. Britten of the First Baptist church, an enthusiastic wheelman, has announced for next Sunday morning a sermon on bicycles. He will have a check room provided for wheels in the basement of the church, and intends to have the edifice appropriately decorated with the wheel and its belongings. In case this service fails to draw bicyclists he intends to ride out to Clarke's Lake along the cinder path frequented by bicyclists and hold services under a tree with his congregation a wheel.

AMERICANS ARE SAFE.

Missionary Reynolds Cables That Quiet Now Exists at Van.

BOSTON, June 25.—The American board today received a cable dispatch from Rev. George Reynolds, at Van, eastern Turkey, which says: "Ninth day of the disturbances; comparative quiet restored; Americans safe." Mr. Reynolds is now the only male missionary of the American board in Van. There are three American ladies in the city, including Grace Kimball.

THE CUSTER MASSACRE.

Six Thousand Sioux Indians Gather at the Scene to Celebrate.

OMAHA, June 25.—Six thousand Sioux, a remnant of the most powerful of the American Indians, are today celebrating a great event in their war history—the twentieth anniversary of the destruction of Custer's command on the Little Big Horn. They gathered at the scene of the terrible massacre, and though peaceable are indulging in fantastic dances and ceremonies.

DETROIT WILL CELEBRATE.

One Hundredth Anniversary of Evacuation by the British, July 11.

LANSING, June 25.—Governor Rich has issued a proclamation calling the attention of the people to the importance of the centennial celebration of the evacuation of Detroit by the British on July 11, not only to the people of Michigan, but to all the great middle and western states.

THEIR YACHT CAPSIZED.

Four Young People Are Drowned at a Minnesota Summer Resort.

ANNANDALE, Minn., June 25.—This morning while sailing, Anna Putnam, Bessie Newhall and John U. Putnam, all of Minneapolis, and a young man named Sherman of St. Paul were drowned. All were prominent. They had been camping here.

He's Found Not Guilty.

COLUMBUS, June 25.—Ex-Senator Ohl of Mahoning county was acquitted this evening on the charge of bribery. It was charged that in 1894 Ohl had offered Senator Avery a bribe to hold up in the finance committee of the senate a appropriation bill for the state university.

CORBETT PINES FOR GORE.

He Announces His Intention of Issuing a Challenge to All Comers.

MAY RESULT IN A MATCH WITH SHARKEY.

The Sailor Pugilist Thinks He Can Beat the Ex-Champion in Ten Rounds and Wants to Meet Him for $10,000 a Side.

JES' ACHING FOR A FIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Corbett has answered Sharkey's verbal challenge for a fight to a finish, made at the ringside after last night's contest by himself, announcing his intention to issue a challenge to all comers, Fitzsimmons preferred. If the latter does not accept within two weeks Corbett says he will make arrangements for a fight with Sharkey.

Sharkey is the ideal of the sporting world today and the most extravagant predictions for his future are made. He received a challenge from Maher today for a contest for $5,000 a side. Sharkey says he will make no other plans until a meeting with Corbett has been arranged.

The only mark of punishment Sharkey received is a blackeye. In regard to an agreement with Corbett, he said: "Of course Corbett would fight differently in a fight to a finish. He would not do any in-fighting; neither would I. I would be sure when I went to hit. I believe I can put Corbett out in ten rounds. Anyway, I want him to fight me for $10,000."

Corbett claims he was not badly punished, saying his only marks were acquired when he fell on the floor after a clinch. "It was his wrestling that tired me," said he, "and in the fourth round I frankly confess I was quite exhausted. In throwing my science away and fighting Sharkey at his own game I weakened myself, thereby giving the impression he was the greater fighter, when he is ignorant of the rudiments of boxing."

Corbett says he does not believe Fitzsimmons will notice the challenge, so Sharkey will be first man served with a fight for championship honors.

ARRANGING FOR A FINISH FIGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—James Corbett and E. J. Lynch, Sharkey's backer, tonight negotiated for a finish fight for $10,000 and the largest purse offered. Sharkey was not present and the agreement was not signed today, but there will be another meeting tomorrow, when arrangements will be completed. One of the stipulations already agreed on is that the fight take place within six months.

CORNELL IS THE FAVORITE.

Hard-Fought Contest Schedules for Today's Varsity Boat Race.

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 25.—The outlook for pleasant weather for tomorrow's varsity boat race is rather dubious. The wind was from the southeast all day, accompanied by drizzling rains. It is the general understanding, however, the race will not be postponed unless the water is so bad the crews cannot row at all. The start is set for 5:30, provided the weather conditions tomorrow are like those of this evening. Columbia and Cornell, being the outside crews, will have the current's aid, while the inside crews, particularly Harvard, get no such advantage. After the first three miles of the course Cornell and Pennsylvania will like have the advantage.

The expectations are tonight that it will be a hard and stubbornly fought contest. The weights of the men vary a little from those of several days ago. Columbia, Pennsylvania and Harvard have trained down, while the Cornell crew increased its weight. The average weight of the crews is: Harvard, 167%; Pennsylvania, 166%; Cornell, 157%; Columbia, 174%. Harvard will row a cedar boat, the others paper shells.

The odds tonight are 1 to 3 on Columbia against the field; 1 to 2 on Harvard against the field; Cornell and Pennsylvania, no odds given, betting even. Cornell is plainly the favorite.

A LYNCHING WAS FEARED.

Two Murderers at Glencoe, Minn., Under Military Protection.

ARLINGTON, Minn., June 25.—The two tramps who murdered Sheriff Rogers last night were caught late this afternoon in a swamp near here. Two hundred and fifty men surrounded them. They were taken to Glencoe, where they were lodged in jail. There is talk of lynching tonight.

ST. PAUL, June 25.—At half past 10 o'clock tonight Captain Bean and Company D, Third regiment, Minnesota militia, went by a special train to Glencoe, where the murderers of Sheriff Rogers were captured this afternoon and threatened with lynching tonight.

Walling After a New Trial.

NEWPORT, Ky., June 25.—In the circuit court today Colonel Washington argued a motion for a new trial for Alonzo Walling, the convicted murderer of Pearl Bryan. The chief grounds are that two of the jurors had expressed opinions during the Scott Jackson trial that both the defendants were guilty and should hang.

THE DEAR DOLLAR.
One of the most rampant of the gold standard organs in the state is the Kalamazoo Telegraph, which is edited by a son of Congressman Dingley of Maine, the leader on the Republican side of the house. The Telegraph is an ably conducted paper and gives a great deal of attention to the currency question, on which it is continually propounding such propositions as this:

The highest function of a dollar, whatever of gold, silver or paper, is the power it possesses to satisfy human wants. Therefore dollars of the greatest purchasing power are the most desirable for farmers, mechanics and everybody else. All dollars in circulation today have a certain purchasing power; that is, they exchange for a certain amount of the necessities and commodities of life—food, clothing, fuel, etc. We are told by free silver advocates that the gold standard has lowered prices and that free silver, or a silver standard, will raise prices. In other words, the prices of the necessities and comforts of life will be increased and the dollars in circulation will possess much less purchasing power. Surely these are conditions the consuming masses do not care to confront. High prices, and dollars that will buy only one-half what the present dollars will buy, is the invitation extended the people of this country by the silver monometallists. Do the farmers and mechanics of Michigan want this? We think not.

Now we venture to say that a dollar of much less purchasing power than the dollar of today is precisely what the farmers and mechanics and day laborers of Michigan want, and we will attempt to show why they should want that kind of a dollar.

The Kalamazoo paper admits that if the purchasing power of the dollar is reduced the prices of commodities will increase, so that the person who gets more of the depreciated dollars in exchange for things he has to sell, or his labor, will be no better off than before. This might be true if all that the person who exchanges his labor, or the products of his labor, for money had to do with the money thus obtained were to exchange the money, in turn, for what he needs.

But there are other things that he must do with a portion of his earned dollar. In the first place he must pay his share toward discharging all the obligations of the government under terms imposed when the purchasing power of the dollar was much less than it is now. He must also pay his share of the expense of conducting the government, and this takes at present considerably over a million dollars a day. A portion of every dollar that he obtains is mortgaged in advance for these purposes, and under the scheme of taxation devised for raising revenue he pays some of this tax almost every time he makes a purchase of any kind. Now if he pays this tax out of dollars which have an increased purchasing power, taxation being at a fixed rate and no allowance being made for the appreciation of the dollar, he is paying more than it was intended he should when the rate of taxation was established, is he not? And if that is so the dollar with the increased purchasing power is robbing him for the benefit of somebody else, is it not?

But for whose benefit? Well, let us see. The president of the United States gets a salary of $50,000 per annum. With the dollars paid him on salary account having an increased purchasing power, he gets the appreciation in the value of $50,000 over and above what his salary was worth, measured by its power to purchase, when it was fixed. Who pays this difference? Mainly the toilers on the farm and in the mines and factories, for they are the creators of wealth, on whose broad and sturdy shoulders rests the heaviest part of the burden of sustaining the fabric of our civilization.

What is true of the president is true of every person holding a position under the government to which a fixed salary is attached—from a cabinet officer down to the humblest clerk in a country postoffice. They are all benefitted by the appreciation of the dollar, and at the expense of those who pay the taxes. The man who has contracted a debt is injured by the appreciation of the dollar, for the dollar of higher purchasing power is more difficult to obtain, and as it is with these dollars that his debt must be paid he is unjustly compelled to pay more value in liquidation of his obligation than he expected he would be obliged to when the debt was contracted.

But there are other objections to the dollar which is based on gold alone. It is not only a dishonest dollar in the unjust tax which it imposes on the producers of the country for the benefit of the salaried class, but it is too dear a dollar for the uses of business, and because of that fact we have trade congested and industry inactive and drooping, despite the existence of all the other conditions requisite to give us a high degree of commercial and industrial activity and prosperity. It is a dollar that is insidiously and incessantly taking from the toiler an undue share of the reward of his labor for the aggrandizement of the holders of accumulated wealth, and is enabling the few to pile up enormous fortunes with a rapidity unprecedented in the history of mankind while impoverishing the many who must earn their living.

With dollars of only half the purchasing power of the present dollar the same fraction of the dollar earned by the workingman would pay his share of the tax for the support of the government, and as he would get more dollars for his day's work he would have more left to spend on himself. Does the farmer want the cheaper dollar? Certainly, if he is wise enough to know what is good for him. The present dollar is too dear for him—so dear, in fact, that it is difficult for the Michigan farmer or mechanic to get it and so dear that he can't afford to hold it after he has got it.

MR. WHITNEY'S PLEA.
Mr. Whitney's address to the Democracy, and incidentally to the whole country, on the currency problem is an exceedingly adroit one, and well calculated to deceive the advocates of silver's restoration. He tells the silver coinage champions that Europe is ripe for a return to the double standard, but that the European nations are holding back in the hope that we will take the initiative in restoring it. If we will only hold back until Europe is convinced that we will not do a thing for silver without the co-operation of her great powers then Europe will sue us for co-operation and silver coinage will come as easily and naturally as the flowers come in the spring.

But Mr. Whitney's argument defeats itself. If his diagnosis of the European sentiment and situation is correct then it only needs prompt action by the United States, in the way of a declaration for free coinage, to bring into line the continental nations of Europe.

The truth is that while in several European countries a large portion of the people favor bimetalism and the ablest writers and thinkers favor it, yet the very strong, positive and constant work of great banking houses is sufficient to prevent action, and the only way the United States can ever hope to get any help from these countries is by helping herself, by acting independently of them, declaring for free coinage and starting upward the prices of commodities and products of all kinds. This will set in motion this way the current of idle money now piled up in Europe for investment somewhere where prices are rising and where, therefore, profits are possible. Then Europe will join the procession. The silver people are fully aware that that England controls bimetalism abroad at present and that she will continue to control it until the United States acts independently; that until such action no earthly power or influence can induce England to do anything save her utmost to block any and every movement favoring silver, and the fact that Mr. Whitney should think otherwise will only be to them a reason for discrediting the soundness of his judgment in the matter.

ARTIFICIAL FOOD.

Time Is Coming When We Shall Dine on Pink Tablets.

It is now prophesied that the time is coming when bread and beef and milk or their equivalents will be produced artificially in the laboratory of the chemist.

Prof. Berthelot, the distinguished French chemist, is the authority for this statement, and he declares that the first steps have already been taken and he is sure that the coming generation will have such artificial food. It will be the same food chemically, digestively and nutritively speaking, but will differ in form.

Just what the form of the food will be is not hinted at, except that it will probably be served cold in the shape of tablets, and of any color or shape that may be desired. Prof. Berthelot says gourmets and epicures may mourn, but he feels assured when they have grown accustomed to the change they will eat nothing prepared in any other way.

In the future a burned beefsteak, chop or cutlet will be a thing unknown, and a steak well done may be ordered in a dim brown colored tablet, or a steak rare may be ordered in a tablet of light rose hue. The colors alone, the chemical prophet declares, will delight the epicurean senses and do much to overcome the prejudices that are bound to exist when the change is finally introduced. It has been demonstrated that even at present tea and coffee could be made artificially in the chemist's laboratory if the necessity or the commercial opportunity should arise.

Sugar is another commodity universally used that can now be made in the laboratory, and an invention has been patented by which, it is claimed, sugar can be made on a commercial scale from two gases at a price of little more than one cent a pound. In a long and interesting report on the possibilities of obtaining food products by artificial means Prof. Berthelot says: "The essential principle of both tea and coffee is the same. The difference of name between them and caffeine has arisen from the sources from which they were obtained. They are chemically identical in constitution, and their essence has often been made synthetically. The penultimate stage in the synthesis is theobromine, the essential principle of cocoa. Thus it may be seen that synthetic chemistry is ready to furnish from its laboratories the three great non-alcoholic beverages in general use. And what is true of food substances is equally applicable to all other organic substances."

There is little or no limit to the professor's predictions concerning the changes in the present existing condition of affairs on this mundane sphere. He says: "If one chooses to base dreams, prophetic fancies and so forth upon the parts of the present one may dream of alterations in the present conditions of the human life so great as to be beyond our contemporary conception. One can foresee the disappearance of the beasts from the fields, because horses will no longer be used for traction or cattle for food. The countless acres now given over to the growing of grain and producing vines will be agricultural antiquities which will have passed out of the memory of men. The equal distributions of natural food materials will have done away with protectionism, with custom houses, with national frontiers, kept wet with human blood. Men will have grown too wise for war, and war's necessity will have ceased to be. The air will be filled with aerial motors, flying by forces borrowed from chemistry. Distances will diminish and the distinction between fertile and non-fertile regions, from the causes named, will largely have passed away. It may even transpire that deserts now uninhabited may be made to blossom and be sought after as great seats of population in preference to the alluvial plains and rich valleys." The new food that it is predicted the coming generation will live upon—in fact, the great proportion of our staple foods which are now obtained by natural growth—will be manufactured direct through the advance of synthetic chemistry, from their constituent elements, carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and nitrogen. As an evidence of the possibility of the eventual disappearance of agriculture, Prof. Berthelot cited as an instance of laboratory products the dye stuff alizarine, the coloring principle of madder, which was formerly a great agricultural industry, but which is now almost wholly supplanted by the artificial product from coal tar. He also declares that chemists can now make indigo direct from its elements, and artificial indigo will soon become a great commercial product.

A century hence, if all that is predicted is true, people will be eating their soup, meat, fish and vegetables in tablets that will come in tin boxes labeled "keep in a cool place," and they may be eating a full course dinner while running for a train, or they can munch a comfortable breakfast unnoticed in an elevated train or a cable car while on their way to business, if such means of locomotion are not out of date in that progressive age.—N. Y. Journal.

Developing a Cathodograph.
In developing a cathodograph picture it is noticeable that the development goes on all through the film, back as well as front. This is not the case with ordinary camera exposures, which develop from the front toward the back of the plate. The behavior noted is with the cathodograph an indication of the fact that the sensitive film itself is largely transparent to the cathode rays, and therefore lets them through without fully utilizing them. If they could all be absorbed and made to do chemical work our time for making an impression would be much abbreviated.—Century.

—Arkansas, a great many years ago, was nicknamed the "Bear state," from the abundance of bears in the mountainous districts. For over 40 years Arkansas had almost a monopoly of the bear stories of this country.

NO SECRET
IN THIS WOMAN'S CASE.

Mrs. Campbell Wishes Her Letter Published so that the Truth May Be Known.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

Of the thousands of letters received from women all over the world by Mrs. Pinkham, not one is given to the public unless by the wish of the writer. Thus absolute confidence is established between Mrs. Pinkham and her army of patients; and she freely solicits a letter from any woman, rich or poor, who is in ill health or ailing.

In the case of Mary E. Campbell, of Albion, Noble Co., Ind., her suffering was so severe, her relief so suddenly realized, and her gratitude so great, that she wishes the circumstances published, in the hope that others may be benefited thereby. She says: "My physician told me I had dropsy and falling of the womb. My stomach and bowels were so bloated I could not get a full breath. My face and hands were bloated badly. I had that dreadful bearing-down pain, backache, palpitation of the heart, and nervousness. "One of my physicians told me I had something growing in my stomach; and the medicine that I took gave me relief only for a short time. I thought I must die. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it worked like a charm. After taking the first bottle I could walk across the street, now I am well. I advise all my friends to take it." —MARY E. CAMPBELL, Albion, Noble Co.

Letter from a Hancock Man.

HANCOCK, Mich., June 21, 1896.
Gem Treatment Co., Marquette:
GENTLEMEN—This is to certify that I, James Stephens, was troubled with piles for fifteen years and could not find any cure until I tried the Gem Treatment. After using three boxes I became a well man. I have no piles now. My age is fifty-two years. I work in the Quincy mine as a miner. Before I took the Gem Treatment I was not able to work one quarter of the time. I would like to have everyone who is troubled with piles to know what the Gem Treatment has done for me. It cost me three dollars and it did me more than five hundred dollars worth of good.
Yours Respectfully,
JAS. STEPHENS,
Hancock, Mich.

PICNIC AND CONCERT. COPPERDOME BREVITIES.

Two Pleading Features of the St. Jean Baptiste Celebration.

Hon. Daniel Bergevin of Chicago, who was advertised to deliver the oration at the St. Jean Baptiste celebration at Hancock, Wednesday, failed to put in an appearance, having suddenly been called to Boston on important business.

Dr. J. E. Scallon of Hancock spoke in his stead, and on Mr. Bergevin's subject, "The French Canadians of the United States and Their Duties as American Citizens."

Dr. Scallon delivered his address, which was without preparation, in the French tongue and his remarks were most enthusiastically received, and it is extremely doubtful if the Chicago speaker would have made a more favorable impression.

Addresses were also made by Rev. Father Deatin and J. G. Joyal of Lake Linden and Postmaster Dube of Houghton. The remainder of the afternoon was taken up with dancing and other amusements.

The concert in the evening at St. Patrick's Hall was a musical treat. The vocal duet, "Les Hirondelles," from the opera "Mignon," sung in French by Miss Laurentia Jacques and Mr. C. O. Olivier, was a most pleasing effort and was heartily encored. This was followed by a solo by Miss Mollie McGrath entitled, "Better Than Gold."

Miss McGrath has an excellent soprano voice, which she uses to good advantage. She repeated the last verse for an encore. The violin solo, "Old Folks at Home," by Professor Langier was the masterpiece of the evening. The professor was heartily encored, which he responded to by playing that most pleasing melody, "The Mocking Bird."

This was followed by a vocal solo, "Jeanne D'Arc au Bûcher," sung in French by Miss Laurentia Jacques. It was rendered in her usual captivating manner, and she responded to an enthusiastic encore. The baritone solo, "Sleep Well, Sweet Angel," by Mr. J. Stann was rendered in a beautifully impressive manner and happily received.

Following came a vocal duet, "Oh Tell Us Merry Birds of Spring," by the Misses St. Amour and McGrath. The young ladies created an excellent impression and bowed their thanks to deafening applause. The vocal solo, in French, "Oh, Canada, Mon Pays Mes Amours," by C. O. Olivier completed the program.

Mr. Olivier's clear tenor was heard to great advantage and the patriotic song stirred the enthusiasm of the audience to its depths. Following the musical program dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

The next annual meeting will be held at Calumet.

James H. Povey, son of Rev. Jesse Povey of Lake Linden, has returned from Ann Arbor for the summer. Mr. Povey is a student in the medical department of the University of Michigan.

Vessel Inspectors Gooding and York of Marquette arrived Wednesday and will remain until Saturday. They will inspect the yachts Gertrude, Louise, Ethel J. Pryor and the tug Valerie before returning.

Copper jumped 7 1/2 per ton Wednesday in London, bringing good marketable brands up to about 45 per ton.

E. F. Le Gendre, of the law firm of Larson & Le Gendre, left Wednesday for a two weeks visit at his home in Ludington, Mich.

The Lake Linden Congregational church Sunday school picnic yesterday to the canal was largely attended. It proved an enjoyable event.

James H. Povey, son of Rev. Jesse Povey of Lake Linden, has returned from Ann Arbor for the summer. Mr. Povey is a student in the medical department of the University of Michigan.

Vessel Inspectors Gooding and York of Marquette arrived Wednesday and will remain until Saturday. They will inspect the yachts Gertrude, Louise, Ethel J. Pryor and the tug Valerie before returning.

Science and Industry.

Dr. Richardson figures that the blood flows through the body at the rate of seven miles an hour.

It appears that the single state of Georgia now has more manufacturers than the whole south had in 1860. This is an illustration of the remarkable change that has been taking place in southern industries during the past 30 years.

To the list of things made from wood silk must be added. This fact is due to the experiment of a Frenchman named Chardonier. The process of manufacture differs little from the making of paper. The wood is first ground into a pulp, steamed and chemically prepared.

Horse power in steam engines is calculated as the power which would raise 33,000 pounds a foot high in a minute, or 90 pounds at the rate of four miles an hour. The effective force of a piston is taken at ten pounds per square inch, and is, of course, ten times the square inches in pounds.

Last season's salmon pack in British Columbia was 566,395 cases. It is expected the pack on the Columbia river this season will be enormous if the run is good. Many canning establishments have been removed to the American side of the river, because Canadian canners are only permitted to use nets, while American canners may use any device to catch the fish.

President Harris, of the Reading railroad, estimates the original contents of the Pennsylvania anthracite fields at 14,500,000,000 tons, of which about 15 per cent. have been taken out. This would leave nearly 12,000,000,000 tons, at an annual rate of production of 45,000,000 tons, would last 265 years, but probably only about one-half of the amount unmined would be actually available.

Lord Kelvin has been making experiments to discover what the effect of a canonade of quick-firing guns would be on board the vessel firing and the ship subject to the fire. He finds that after 15 minutes' firing the survivors of the crews of both vessels would be reduced to a state of mental, if not physical, incapacity, owing to the concussion of the projectiles on the sides of the vessel and the noise of the guns.

Strongest Rope.

Given an equal number of strands to make up the rope, and each of the same circumference, it may be readily shown that wire, twisted into rope form, will make a rope so strong as to admit of no comparison even with the best white hemp rope. Twisted hempen cords will sustain 8,746 pounds, if the rope be one inch thick; but one-eighth of an inch in diameter of iron will sustain more than one inch in circumference of hemp rope. No rope, whatever its material, could bear comparison with an inch rope made of piano steel wire, such a rope being able to bear not less than 268,000 pounds, or nearly 120 tons, before it could be torn by a dead weight.

Annual Picnic Tomorrow.

The Swedish Benevolent society of Calumet will hold its sixth annual picnic at the Section 16 picnic grounds Saturday, June 27. The procession will form at Odd Fellows Hall and parade the principal streets of Calumet, headed by the Red Jacket Cornet band. At the park an excellent program—speeches, music, athletic sports, etc.—will be rendered.

AGE OF INVALIDISM. HOTELS.

Ill-Health Never So Popular a Topic as It is Now.

In an age when new triumphs of medical and sanitary science are being proclaimed almost daily we fret and worry about our health in a way that would have excited the contempt of our unscientific ancestors. Go where one will, people are found discussing ailments, comparing symptoms, recommending remedies and exchanging the addresses of specialists. We seem to go about feeling each other's pulses, looking at each other's tongues and reveling in the mutual diagnosis of functional "troubles."

The old-fashioned notion that it was undesirable to refer in public to one's internal economy has long since been exploded. Indeed, the liver has become not merely a standing topic of conversation, but a dominant factor of modern social life, a fetish to which all ages and all conditions pay exaggerated worship. A complaint once supposed to be the specialty of sun-dried Anglo-Indians is now claimed by apparently robust and healthy young persons of both sexes, and is made the excuse for every kind of weird dietary eccentricity. It has a recognized "brigade" of valetudinarian cavaliers named in its honor, who treat their morning canter as a solemn act of homage to their dreadful idol, and a still larger phalanx who now seek to avert its terrors by the aid of the proprietary "cycle." There is something positively grotesque in the intensity of self-oddling which prevails in these times. The eagerness with which people fly at a new specific and hail a new mineral water is only surpassed by the meek complaisance with which they troop across the channel to be annually steeped in hot mud, suffocated with mephitic vapors and "cured" with the indescribably nasty products of regulation quells.

No health scare, even of the most far-fetched description, is too extravagant to secure ready and alarmed attention. Even with the protection of their rasks and milk puddings, their minced chicken and plain outlets, their all-wool vesture and their 25-mile "spins," our modern sanitarians are never thoroughly at rest. They are forever forswearing this, warning their friends against that, discovering outrages to the liver god and invitations to chronic dyspepsia in the other, until one begins to doubt whether a fatal illness would not be, all things considered, a welcome alternative to a life conducted on the latest sanitary principles.

A vast proportion of this health-fanaticism is, of course, nothing but the expression of a particularly unlovely form of modern egotism. It is akin to that other variety of self-pity which prompts so many moderately busy people to pose as martyrs to overwork. As a matter of fact, there is not the least reason why, with all its enormous advantages, the existing generation should not be sounder in health and digestion than the men and women of a time when sanitary science was unknown, when medicine was in its infancy and when cooking had not yet taken its place among the fine arts.

Our "trude forefathers," who could eat anything and knew nothing of diet tables, did not waste time in fussing about their livers, and were probably unaware, for the most part, that they possessed such incumbrances. It would be by no means a bad thing if a similar wholesome ignorance prevailed in our day, when a smattering of medicine and anatomical knowledge combines with a good deal of morbid self-consciousness in procuring recruits for the "liver brigade." As it is, we might do worse than revive the abrogated law of the social code which held it a breach of good taste and good manners to draw attention to one's personal ailments and afflictions. Those who are unlucky enough to be relegated, or to relegate themselves, to an invalid diet are out of place at the tables of their friends. Until their recovery, it would be far better for the doors to be locked upon them, that they might play the valetudinarian nowhere but in their own houses.—London World.

"Unlucky" Opals. It is not "fashionable to be superstitious about wearing opals. Ten years ago the woman who wore an opal was a brave woman indeed. To-day, experts admit, more opals are bought than any other precious stones except diamonds. It was Sir Walter Scott who helped, in 'Anne, of Geierstein,' to arouse the fears of the superstitious concerning the wearing of that beautiful stone, and it was a German dealer in gems who fostered that fear very successfully, for other ends than those of romance. He came to England years ago, we are told by a lady jeweler, to fill an order from one of the royal families in Germany—a wedding order, if I remember rightly. Opals were then high. He had printed the story that opals were unlucky, and spread the report diligently. In a short time the price went down, and he was enabled to fill his order and make a handsome profit.—Westminster Gazette.

Sparrows and Bicycles. A curious thing about the English sparrow has often been noticed by wheelmen. When the cyclist first took to the streets a few years ago the birds used to hop up in the air and skip away before the wheel was within 15 feet of them. The rapidity of their motion seemed to startle them out of their wits. But now even with the increased speed of pneumatic tires and high gears the birds show little or no fear of the wheels, waiting till the last moment before flying. The wheel is often less than two feet from them before they take to flight. One sparrow over on Clinton street, Brooklyn, hopped to one side a few inches and allowed the wheel to pass at about 20 inches.—N. Y. Sun.

TELLER IN THE FIELD.

Colorado Silver Men Present Him to the Nation as a Presidential Candidate.

THEIR STATE CONVENTION IS HELD AT DENVER.

Delegates to St. Louis Are Chosen and Strong 16 to 1 Resolutions Adopted—Tillman Opens the Silver Movement in New York.

ANOTHER BOOM IS FLOATED.

DENVER, June 25.—The silver state convention met at noon. Ex-Senator Tabor was temporary chairman. Committees were selected and a recess taken. At the afternoon session Hon. Platt Wicks of Pueblo was chosen as permanent chairman. The feature of the afternoon was the address of ex-Congressman Lafe Pence, who paid a tribute to Senator Teller and his western followers who booted the national Republican convention. Delegates to the national silver convention at St. Louis were then chosen.

The platform of the convention declares for a distinctly American system of finance, unalterably opposed to the single gold standard and for the immediate return to unrestricted coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. The platform continues: "Recognizing in Senator Teller the most eminent qualities and fitness for any public station in the gift of the people, we present him to the state and nation as a candidate for the presidency to lead the great bimetallic host in the present emergency."

The convention further declares that should "some advocate and steadfast friend of the free and unlimited coinage of silver other than Senator Teller be nominated for president, we heartily pledge our hearty and unanimous support to that candidate."

In any event, it was declared to retain Mr. Teller in the senate should he not be nominated for or elected president.

TILLMAN IN NEW YORK.

Speaks at Cooper Union in Interest of Silver Movement. NEW YORK, June 25.—The free silver movement was organized in this city at Cooper Union tonight by a meeting under auspices of the American silver organization, which had for its sponsors the "Young Democracy," better known as ex-Sheriff O'Brien and followers. Senator Tillman was the chief speaker. He made a bitter attack on the press of New York.

He compared the wealth of the east with the west and south, adding: "The south and west cultivates corn and wheat; the eastern man is chiefly a cultivator of bonds. The eastern wealth gatherer sits on a velvet cushion waiting for the dividends to ripen which he gathers from trusts and combines."

Some one in the audience shouted: "We have hustled for it," to which Tillman replied: "I say that if you claim you are more economical, have any more sense or are more industrious you are liars. How many of you here have got wealth? If any such has wandered in here he ought to go out and hang himself before morning, for he knows he has stolen it. Millions of your coffers have been stolen from the bank and file of the toilers here, as well as in South Carolina and Illinois."

A man in the audience demanded if the gold bug had gobbled up all the money and the people were paupers, if the silver bug did not do the same thing.

"We have not," replied Tillman, "had a silver bug in the United States since 1873, but they are coming as Father Abraham, three hundred million strong. We expect to select a president, house and senate without men like you." At the conclusion, a free silver resolutions were adopted and William St. John delegated to go to the Democratic and Populist conventions to press them upon the delegates.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The "original" McKinley men ratified the action of the St. Louis convention tonight in a largely attended meeting at Carnegie Hall. The speakers were John Clarke, Mayor Strong, Congressman Boutelle of Maine, General Porter and Elihu Root.

WON THE LATONIA DERBY.

Ben Brush Lands a $10,000 Purse for Dwyer, His Owner.

CINCINNATI, June 25.—The summer meeting of the Latonia Jockey club opened today with a slow track and an immense attendance. The Latonia derby (mile and a half) was the feature of the day. Five came to the post—Dwyer's pair, Ben Brush and Ben Eder; Semper Ego, Loki and Howard Mann. The jockeys were, respectively, Simms, Thorpe, Perkins, Ray and R. Williams. The betting was 1 to 4 on Dwyer's pair; 6 to 1 on Semper Ego, 10 to 1 on Loki and 50 to 1 on Howard Mann.

They were sent away with Loki in front, Semper Ego second, Ben Eder third and Ben Brush fourth. Ben Eder was sent out to make the pace, and as they swung around into the upper turn the positions were: Ben Eder, Loki, Howard Mann, Semper Ego and Ben Brush. Howard Mann dropped back to last, and from then on to the wire the positions were unchanged save that Ben Brush moved up in the turn and went to the front in the stretch. There was a brief brush between the two Bens and Loki. Brush went on, winning handily; Ben Eder, second; Loki, third, pulling up four lengths in front of Semper Ego. Time 2:40 3/4.

The race, while pretty, was not sensational. The derby was worth $12,500 to first; $1,000 to second $500 to third.

A FAMILY CURSE.

It Seems to Have Held On for More Than a Century.

For more than 100 years, it was said, a fatal spell hung over the Goldsmids. Toward the close of the 18th century there died in London the Rabbi de Falk, who enjoyed a high reputation as a seer. He left to Aaron Goldsmid, a great-grandfather of the late member for St. Pancras, a sealed packet, with injunctions that it was to be carefully preserved, but never opened. The old Dutch merchant who founded the branch of the Goldsmid family in this country was warned that as long as his order was obeyed, so long would the Goldsmids flourish like a young bay tree. If it were disregarded, ill-fortune would for all time dog the footsteps of the race. Aaron Goldsmid left the packet inviolate for some years. One day, curiosity becoming ungovernable, he opened it. When his servant came to call him he was found dead.

Aaron Goldsmid left a large portion of his fortune to two sons, Benjamin and Abraham. These went into business on the London stock exchange, and vastly increased their patrimony. Benjamin founded a naval college and performed many acts of less known generosity. He lived long, but the curse of the cabalist overtook him. Enormously rich, the delusion that he would die a pauper fastened upon him, and to avoid such conclusion of the matter, he, on April 5, 1808, being in his 55th year, died by his own hand. Two years later his brother Abraham, being concerned in a ministerial loan of £14,000,000, lost his nerve, blundered and bungled, sank into condition of helpless despondency, and on September 28, 1810, a day on which a sum of £2,000,000 was due from him, he was found dead in his room.

The fortunes of the family were restored by Isaac Goldsmid, nephew of the hapless brothers and grandson of the founder of the English house. Like all the Goldsmids, Isaac was a man of generous nature and philanthropic tendencies. With him it seemed that the curse of the cabalist had run its course. It is true that before he died he lapsed into a state of childishness. But he had at the time passed the limit of age of fourscore years, after which as one of the kings of his race wrote centuries back, man's days are but labor and sorrow. Isaac Goldsmid succeeded in his fortune and his baronetcy by his son Francis, on whom the curse of the cabalist seemed to fall when he was fatally mangled between the engines and the rails at Waterloo station.—H. W. Lucy, in "From Behind the Speaker's Chair."

Curious Herbarium.

The oldest and most curious herbarium in the world is in the Egyptian museum at Cairo. It consists of crowns, garlands, wreaths and bouquets of flowers, all taken from the ancient tombs of Egypt, most of the examples being in excellent condition, and nearly all of the flowers have been identified. They cannot be less than 3,000 years old.—Chicago News.

FOR HARRISON'S RELEASE.

Uncle Sam May Exercise His Good Offices With the Venezuelan Government.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR CALLS ON SECRETARY OLNEY.

His Request for Intervention in Behalf of the Surveyor Is Believed to Have Been Accepted—Quiet at Georgetown.

GOVERNMENT'S AID ASKED.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The British ambassador today called on Secretary Olney and asked that the good offices of the United States be exercised with Venezuela to secure the release of the British surveyor, Harrison, arrested on the Guiana-Venezuela boundary. It is believed Mr. Olney acceded to the request.

LONDON, June 25.—The latest advices from Georgetown, British Guiana, are of a more reassuring nature. Although no serious trouble is anticipated, it is safe to say the British government will not allow the arrest of Harrison to pass without notice and it is possible that a remonstrance of a most emphatic nature will be made to the government of Venezuela. The opinion is expressed that, in spite of the serious aspect which the dispute had once more assumed, it was not likely that measures partaking of the nature of war would be necessary, as it was the opinion of those best qualified to judge that the arrest of the crown surveyor was not a direct act of the government of Venezuela but due to the hasty and probably irresponsible act of some local agent, and that when proper representations are made to the government at Caracas the latter will apologize.

At the foreign and colonial offices and those of the British Guiana and Venezuelan representatives the closest secrecy was maintained regarding the latest developments of the controversy between the colony and the republic. The matter, however, is not looked upon as very serious, although it is probable that both sides have sent small police forces to the frontier.

Special Session Probable.

MILWAUKEE, June 25.—A special session of the legislature is liable to be called because of the decision of the supreme court which invalidates the incorporation acts of villages created since 1858. In consequence, the securities of many cities and villages may be depreciated. The curative act, attorneys say, will go a great way, but cannot entirely remedy the situation.

LAYING THE TABLECLOTH.

How the Trick Was Done Several Centuries Ago.

Most American girls and many of their brothers have had to "set the table" when they would have better enjoyed doing something else, but the task offered no serious difficulties. If they had had to follow the French fashion of several centuries ago they might well have felt some dismay. Probably no little French girls of the period from the 12th to the 17th centuries could have arranged a fashionable tablecloth without considerable assistance.

In the 12th century the table-cloths were very large, and were always laid on the table double; for a long time they were called "doubliers" for that reason. The cloth was first placed so as to touch the floor on the side of the table at which the guests sat; then all the cloth that remained was folded so that it just covered the table.

Charles V. had 67 table-cloths, which were from 15 to 20 yards long and two yards wide. He had one cloth which was 22 yards long, and had the arms of France embroidered on it in silk. All of these were fringed.

In the 16th century "doubliers" or double cloths, were replaced by two table-cloths, one of which was small and was laid just as we lay ours today.

The other, which was put on over it, was large and of beautifully-figured linen. It was skillfully folded in such a way that, as a book of that time says: "It resembled a winding river, gently ruffled by a little breeze, for among very many little folds were here and there great bubbles."

TOGETHER IN THE GRAVE.

Mary Stuart and Elizabeth Tudor—Not Loving in Life.

Perhaps the queen who has the most company with her in the grave is Mary Stuart; for the vault which received her body when it was removed from Peterborough cathedral to Westminster abbey afterward served for the interment of her descendants and was reported full when last inspected.

Of sovereign groups, Elizabeth Tudor and her sister Mary rest together with in a very limited space. Though it cannot be truthfully said that they were loving and pleasant in their lives, yet dead they are not divided. In another compartment beneath the abbey floor repose Charles II., William III. and Mary II., Queen Anne and Prince George of Denmark—uncle, nieces and nephews-in-law.

Probably the oddest combination is one which must have been planned by James I. before his death, so that people who might seek him afterward should not find him too easily. Instead of being properly entombed with his queen, Anne of Denmark, he preferred to be stowed away with Henry VII. and Elizabeth of York, and this arrangement must have been carried out privately and the record withheld from the abbey annals.

On the whole, English sovereigns have been fairly indifferent to family tombs and memorials, neither troubling about their own nor those of their predecessors or relatives.

Henry VII. began building a fine chapel as a mausoleum and James I. had a sentimental taste for erecting monuments over his kindred, which tends to redeem his general character from utter odiousness, but neither monarch can be named in the same breath with Queen Victoria as a customer for obituary sculpture and masonry.—N. Y. Mercury.

More Bulls.

One day occasion Sir George Campbell had been calling attention in the house of commons to some abuse in Indian administration, and proceeded to observe that he had further revelations to make concerning other scandals, in comparison with which this one was a "mere flea bite in the ocean." Another time, when speaking about military affairs in India, he declared that "the pale face of the British soldier was the backbone of our Indian army." I heard John Mill tell this to amuse my brothers some 70 years ago. The defendant's counsel (Irish?), pointing to the plaintiff, said: "There he sits walking up and down like a motionless statue with the cloak of hypocrisy in his mouth trying to withdraw three oak trees out of my client's pocket."—London Spectator.

A Look Into the Future.

"Jane Weggens hasn't the spirit of a mouse," said the lady with the big cigar and the paste diamond. "No?" said the fat lady with the double chin and the veined nose. "Not a bit of spirit; not a bit. That red-headed husband of hers keeps a boarding-house, you know, and she actually has to peel the potatoes for the boarders' meals." "Oh, well, I don't know but what that serves her right. I would get out and shovel mud in the street before I would let my husband keep boarders. A man is meant to adorn the home, not to be a slave."—Cincinnati Inquirer.

HORSES MALE OVER.

Some of the Tricks of Dealers to Restore Brief Youth to Aged Equines.

The bolstering of ancient horses has become almost an art. An expert in this practice can take the most decrepit street car wreck, and in a short time so alter his appearance that the careless buyer would consider him a bargain at a fairly good figure.

The tricks employed to gain the ends of the owner of the time-worn horse are as numerous as they are cruel. One of the most recent and ingenious inventions of the unscrupulous is a treatment for filling out the eyes, which, as a rule, are sunk far back in the head. This operation consists in cutting an opening in each optic, in which the nozzle of a small air bellows is inserted. Wind is then gently pumped into and around the organ, puffing it out and giving it the appearance of a horse in perfect condition. Of course, like all other "fake" remedies, the apparently beneficial results last for a limited time only, after which the normal conditions return.

Another and favorite method of improvement is the injection of a large dose of whisky into the animal, a hypodermic syringe being employed to pump the invigorator into the beast to be disposed of. Several secret compounds are also employed by various unscrupulous traders. In fact, there are many injections compounded which contain a limited amount of the fire of youth. Then the broken-down animal is often fed on alcoholic essence of oats, while well-moistened hay will fill out an emaciated frame in short order. Add to these careful grooming and clipping and judicious exercise, and it doesn't take long to bring about a complete metamorphosis. There are tricks in all trades, undoubtedly, but in none are there more than in that of horse dealing.

Dave B. Herrington, of Fleetwood fame, said to a Journal reporter: "One of the greatest difficulties I have to contend with is circumventing the efforts of the sharps who try to palm off on me apparently sound animals to train. As a matter of fact, these animals are 'bolstered' for the time being, and I am supposed to receive them in first-class condition. Then, when the effects of their stimulants have worn off, the owners propose to come to me and charge me with not properly caring for their animals, and thereby ruining their constitutions."—N. Y. Journal.

Chain Lightning.

An extraordinary lightning story is told by a correspondent. He says that during the evening of September 9 last, while a violent thunder storm was raging, he saw eight strange lightning flashes, having "a chain formation with large elliptical links and of a golden-yellow color." These "flashes" were astonishingly slow, as "one of them took slightly over a minute to pour from the clouds to the edge of the valley opposite me." This singular account becomes more interesting since a later correspondent of the same journal has testified to his substantial accuracy from his own observations of similar streams of lightning. He adds, however, that he has never seen the "chain" form, but has witnessed the spectacle of a thick stream pouring slowly down "in the sort of curve which liquid takes from a kettle."—Nature.

MORE EDISON WONDERS.

The Great Inventor Still Adding to His Scientific Achievements.

By the Aid of His Latest Invention He Looks Through Two and a Half Feet of Solid Wood—An In-Defatigable Worker.

With his fluoroscope Thomas A. Edison can now look through 2 1/2 feet of solid wood. Nothing better illustrates the tremendous progress he has made in his X-ray experiments.

When the announcement was first made that Mr. Edison had perfected an apparatus that enabled him to look through eight inches of wood the whole world marveled. Many persons doubted the possibility of it. Now eight inches of wood offer only a slight impediment to the eye under the X ray and there have been times, when the conditions were peculiarly favorable, that Mr. Edison has penetrated a sheet of steel one-sixteenth of an inch in thickness.

Porous substances, like cork, for example, practically offer no obstacle at all to the fluoroscope. Through three feet of cork objects may be seen as distinctly as though there was no obstruction at all, and there is reason to believe that a cork wall of a sufficient thickness to obscure the vision could not be set up.

"As matters are moving now," declared one enthusiast, who was watching Mr. Edison at work recently, "he will soon be able to look clear through the earth into China." And this idea must occur to everyone who sees the wonders that are being perfected at the wizard's laboratory in Orange. As for Mr. Edison himself, he says that he only wants to perfect his vacuum tubes, so that they will stand "32 lamps"—that is, the power used in 32 incandescent lights—and then one may see through anything except the earth.

Mr. Edison's enthusiasm and energy continue unimpaired. The things he has already accomplished, marvelous as they are, have only whetted his appetite for more. He sticks at his experiments day and night. He does not seem to know what fatigue is. For 48 hours at a stretch he keeps going at times and then he stops only long enough to snatch four or five hours' sleep, when he is up and at it again.

He never leaves the laboratory now. Mrs. Edison has gone on a visit to out-of-town friends, and this gives him perfect freedom to do as he likes. While his wife was in Orange she compelled him at times to come home, going to the laboratory after him and refusing to stir until he consented to go with her to their house, across in Llewellyn park. But he grudging the few hours he had to spend away from his experimenting-room, and though he is a most affectionate husband it is doubtful if he did not hail his wife's trip with enthusiasm.

Not the least remarkable thing about the wonder-worker is the manner in which he manages to infuse his own enthusiasm into the people all around him. His assistants are as earnestly interested in the work on hand as he is himself, and remain with him constantly. "Quitting time" has been entirely abolished at the big laboratory. From the meanest laborer in the place to the chief assistant, all hands stay with the chief far into the night.

The reporter left the place at midnight, and there were then no more signs of rest than there had been at midday. Mr. Edison himself was as lively as a cricket. Between times at the "lamp," as he calls his vacuum tube, he skipped and danced about the place, cracking jokes, telling funny stories and acting as frisky as a boy just out of school. Yet he had not closed an eye in 24 hours.

"Fired?" he said, in a surprised tone. "Certainly not. This isn't work. This is fun, and lots of it. What do we want to get tired for? We'll keep at it until six or seven o'clock in the morning and then we'll go to sleep for a little while." —N. Y. Journal.

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN OTTERS

Otter Hunting a Sport Very Much Enjoyed by Englishmen. The otter is a great fish eater and that is why the fishermen feel themselves compelled to kill it. Some angling clubs and societies offer rewards for otter kills, and that makes the hunters angry.

Otter hunting is done with dogs and men. They go whooping up stream on the otter's trail, the hired men keeping in the water in a line to prevent the animal's turning down stream, as the beast cannot be trailed while going down. The dogs come up with and tear the otter to death, if the hunt is successful, but often the otter will whip any dog in the water.

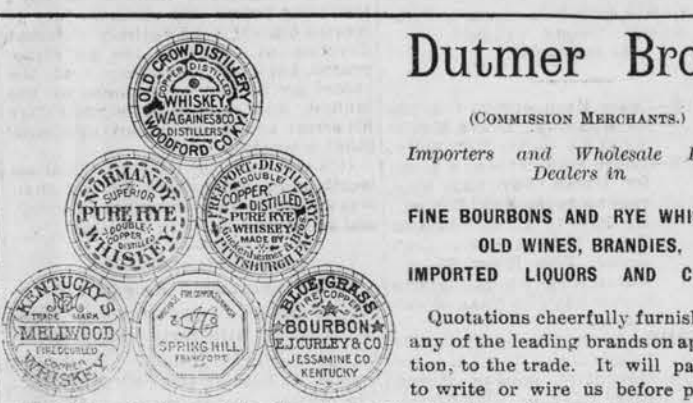

An English otter of over 30 pounds' weight is a big one, and few reach that weight. The biggest one remembered weighed 37 pounds, and was killed at Bowthorpe, near Warwick. A 35-pounder was caught in Skegges water, Westmoreland. Some Englishmen used to eat the hearts of the animals, considering them to be fine.

The American otter is a sly animal, which is not often killed by a gunshot and as seldom taken with traps, since nothing but the utmost care in setting and baiting the trap will deceive it. Once in awhile trout fishermen see otters along an Adirondack stream, and other trails are common on the snow-covered ice back in the woods, or on streams opposite clearings. Sometimes the animals are seen on the ice by rabbit hunters, and are shot at, but few of the wounded or even killed creatures are recovered, since they are usually on the ice near air-holes, and if merely wounded go under the water and drown rather than let a man get them. Their last kick is an endeavor to get out of reach. —N. Y. Sun.

THE WENDELL TRIAL.

Evidence for the Prosecution Was All Got in Yesterday.

Some of It Strongly Against Young Wendell.

MENOMINEE, Mich., June 25.—The examination of witnesses for the prosecution in the Wendell murder case was concluded this forenoon and the first direct incriminating evidence connecting Wendell with the crime of taking the life of Eva Lafriere was given.

It is very strong circumstantial evidence and if Charles Wendell cannot show his whereabouts on the evening of June 24, '95 between the hours of 8 and 11 p. m., he is likely to be found guilty, despite the efforts of the eminent counsel who are stubbornly contesting every foot of ground gone over.

The examination of witnesses for the defence was begun about 3 p. m. Defence will endeavor to prove an alibi. A little sister of the accused swore that she went across Lake Hancock the day of Eva's disappearance to get eggs with which to make cream for the Voelker wedding, and that one of the boys in the Sodergren barn called out, "Lottie, here's your brother," and another one said, "Charley, there's your sister."

It is understood that in the boy's testimony before the coroner's jury he located himself in an entirely different direction at the time the girl disappeared, but it is not likely that the record can be used in evidence as the inquest was not concluded until after his arrest, so that he did not sign with other witnesses.

It is also said that Detective Charlesworth knows more about the boy than was adduced at his examination today, and he may be called in rebuttal.

The Knights of Security.

Ishpeming council, Knights and Ladies of Security, was organized Tuesday evening with forty charter members by Deputy National President Geo. W. R. Peaslee and George Tucker. The officers elected were as follows: President, James Trebilcock; vice president, A. C. Parks; second vice president, Geo. M. Baker; prelate, Rev. M. M. Allen; financial secretary, Hugh Sparks; corresponding secretary, E. A. Doty; treasurer, Joseph Richards; conductor, Richard T. Smith; guard, Albert Gascott; sentinel, Hart Gregg; trustees, John H. Brown, three years; R. P. Bronson, two years; Richard Vinco, one year.

The Knights and Ladies of Security is a fraternal beneficiary order and its object is to give permanent protection to those who have none and those desiring additional protection. Its future is bright with promise, the strong feature being the security guaranteed by virtue of the reserve fund, which is practical and thoroughly equitable and already commands the attention of the public and the respect of all interested in fraternal protection.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

SATURDAY EXCURSIONS TO LAKE MICHIGAMME.

Commencing Saturday, June 30, the D. S. S. & A. Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Lake Michigan and return at the low fares enumerated below. Tickets will be on sale for the train leaving Marquette 9:10 a. m., Negaunee 9:50 a. m., Ishpeming 10:00 a. m. Passengers will be left at the boat landing about one mile east of Michigan station, where the steamer "Lake Michigan" and "Picnic Barge" will take excursionists for a trip on the lake, giving them an opportunity of spending the day on the water and the beautiful islands of Lake Michigan, returning in time to connect at the boat landing with the train leaving Michigan 4:58 p. m., arriving at Ishpeming 5:55 p. m., Negaunee 6:05 p. m., and Marquette 6:35 p. m. The excursion rate includes the boat ride.

Marquette to Lake Michigan and return, $1.00. Negaunee to Lake Michigan and return, seventy-five cents. Ishpeming to Lake Michigan and return, seventy-five cents.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

They Brought Out Large Gatherings Both Evenings.

Alumni Reception and Ball This Evening Will Be a Very Pleasant Affair.

The spacious auditorium of the new high school was far from being roomy enough to accommodate all who desired to attend the commencement exercises Wednesday evening and also last evening. Those who came late Wednesday evening and were compelled to attend got around early enough to secure seats last night.

All who attended the exercises were delighted. The essays and orations of the several graduates were well written and were very creditably delivered. The graduates were presented with many beautiful bouquets by their friends. The platform was handsomely decorated.

The program for the second part of the exercises, which took place last evening, was as follows: Music, "University Grand March".....Baker Elizabeth Trebilcock. High School Orchestra. Chorus, "The Choral Army of Peace".....G. A. Veazie, Jr. High School. Essay, "German Folk-Lore".....Elizabeth Trebilcock. Essay, "A Picture of Fairy Land".....Anna May Home. Solo, "The Vikings".....S. Adams Oliver Rye. Oration, "The Mystery of the North Pole".....John Graham. Essay, "The Three Volumes".....Nellie Wilhelmina Kellgren. Chorus, "Song of the Sea".....G. A. Veazie, Jr. High School. Essay, "The Great Historic Sea".....Florence Fausia Midden. Oration, "The Storming of the Bastille".....Leslie Douglass Anderson. Solo, "Answer".....Edith Gylling. Essay, "The Legend of the Four-Leaved Clover".....Catherine May Fitzpatrick. Essay, "The Golden Pheasant".....Mary Matilda Sisco. Chorus, "Annie Laurie".....Buck High School Glee Club. Presentation of Class.....Supt. O. R. Hardy. Presentation of Diplomas.....Mr. E. F. Bradt. Class Song, "Au Revoir".....J. A. Schonacker Doxology.

The reception and ball to be tendered the graduates this evening at the A. O. U. W. hall promises to be a delightful social event. The members of the Alumni association will decorate the hall in an attractive way, and the dining room adjoining, where the refreshments will be served, will also be handsomely trimmed. The music for reception and dance will be furnished by the Marquette Ideal orchestra.

NEWS OF L'ANSE.

George Bovin spent Sunday at his home in Marquette. Mrs. G. F. Beehler went to Calumet this week for a month's visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Guck.

W. H. O'Brien of Chicago, manager of the L'Anse Brownstone quarry, is in town this week, looking after the interests of the quarry.

Dan W. Kaufman of Marquette was in town Saturday last, settling some insurance claims that were held under consideration since the time of his last visit.

W. J. Dawson, of life insurance fame, of Detroit, was in town yesterday shaking hands with his friends and telling them stories—but not about life insurance.

Edward Johnston has arranged to move to Houghton, where he will carry on the dairy business in a few days. It is not definitely settled yet who will continue his dairy here.

Miss Kittie Curry has been appointed county school examiner to fill the vacancy caused by the removal from the county of Professor C. E. Tuck. The appointment is a deserving one.

Miss Rose Blankenhorn, one of last week's graduates of the high school here, has a record hard to beat for attendance. She has not been tardy nor absent once in the past six years.

The Thomas Hotel opened its doors to the traveling public this week. Although the house is not in readiness throughout Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are in shape to take care of their former guests.

Charles Kelsey held the lucky number that drew a very nice full bedroom suite offered by Mrs. Latondress at Pequaing Tuesday, and from present indications Charley will have use for it before very long.

The Sentinel office is again doing business at the old stand, and the paper will be printed here this week for the first time since the fire. Editor Jackman has a complete new outfit from cellar to garret, except the "devil," whom he could not afford to change.

Yesterday was distributing day for the Chippewa Indians of this section, and Dr. Turner, Indian agent, had his hands full passing around red wagons and Jersey cows. It was a very small Indian that was satisfied with a pair of blankets. Judging from the number around town there could not have been many left home to keep camp.

Electric Bitters. Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at E. Farnham's Drug store.

TWO BICYCLES GIVEN AWAY.

L. W. Atkins & Co. will give away two more majestic bicycles, one on July 1st and the other Aug. 15. The chances on the wheel will be given out under the same conditions as the one given away recently and the drawing will be conducted in a similar manner. The bicycles are strictly high-grade and will be a credit to any wheelman. (5-20-14f)

In and About Negaunee.

ON THE NEW ROAD.

Contractors Closing Up the Grading at This End of the Line.

Woods Bros., who have been doing the grading on this end of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming railway, will finish their contract, with the exception of the Ishpeming end, within the next few days. The grading near Morgan will be completed today or tomorrow. The only work they have to do in the vicinity of Negaunee is the grading through the Pendill property. They have forty men at work there and expect to finish up Saturday or Monday.

It may be some time before the grading through the Lake Superior location at Ishpeming will be started. The exact route to be taken there has not yet been definitely settled on. There are several houses to be removed from Johnson street and this work has not yet been started, an agreement with all the parties interested not yet having been made. The grading from this end of the line has only been finished a short distance beyond the Standard Oil company's tanks.

Woods Bros. will not pull up stakes here until they have finished their work at Ishpeming. They will transfer some of their men to a town in Iowa where they recently secured a grading contract. They will keep a few men on their payroll here, but will hire as many as they need when they begin the grading at Ishpeming.

T. A. Kearns & Co., who had the contract for building Woods Bros.' bridges, will finish work on it next week. They will then go to Marquette, where they have some work to do on the docks. The bridge west of the Jackson diorite bluff is more than half built.

Wheeling Under Difficulties.

An Ishpeming wheelman gave an exhibition of bicycle riding in Negaunee Wednesday afternoon that will be remembered for some time by those who witnessed it. While visiting friends here he took on board more liquid refreshments than he could transport with safety on a bike. He made several desperate attempts to mount the wheel on Iron street, but invariably failed. He took some very bad tumbles, but did not appear the least bit discouraged on account of his not being able to ride. He finally steered the wheel up near Sharon's livery and then attempted to mount it on the incline. His exhibition there was more laughable than on Iron street, as every time he fell he rolled part way down the hill.

The sport came to an abrupt ending when Marshal Rough appeared on the scene. He led the inebriate and his bike to the top of the hill beyond the grocery. The officer assisted the fellow to mount and started him for Ishpeming. His jaglets arrived in Ishpeming nearly two hours later. He and his bike looked as though they had been dragged through a sand bank. The chain of the wheel was missing and other parts of it were bent and broken.

For the Cyclone Sufferers.

Mayor Kirkwood yesterday received a letter from C. Raven of Ontonagon, in which he enclosed $1 for the Oakland county cyclone sufferers. Mr. Raven stated in his letter that he had read an account in THE MINING JOURNAL of the subscription being taken up here for the people who were left destitute as a result of the cyclone. He apologized for sending such a small amount but he contributed as much as he could afford.

John Gribble's Funeral.

The funeral of the late John Gribble, who was killed Wednesday at the Negaunee mine, will be held this afternoon under the direction of Iron Mountain lodge, I. O. O. F. The members of the local Golden Eagle society and also the Negaunee branch of the Mine Workers' union will attend in a body. Religious services will be conducted at the Methodist church by Rev. Isaac Wilcox, the pastor.

A Word or Two to those suffering from catarrh or the thousands subject to severe attacks of cold in the head, will not be unless they remedy can be offered. Ely's Cream Balm has become a favorite in all sections of the United States because of its effectiveness. Your cold in the head will be quickly relieved by it, and the severest attack of catarrh will yield to, and be perfectly relieved by a thorough treatment. Catarrh is not a blood disease, but an inflammation of the passages of the nose and throat, due to climatic changes.

FOR SALE.

LOCAL LAOCONICS.

John A. Kruse is expected back from Chicago today.

Harry F. Pearce was ill and confined to his room yesterday.

The shipment of ore from the Primrose Valley mine, Cascade range, was started yesterday.

A few Negaunee people will attend the Alumni reception and ball to be given tonight at Ishpeming.

Miss Alice Merrill left yesterday for Gladstone, where she will spend the next two weeks or more with friends.

William Sealon, Jr., left yesterday for Park City, Idaho, where he expects to find work and remain permanently.

Louis Miller yesterday brought some rye stalks up from his farm which were seven feet in height. The rye growth this year is unusually fine.

The Negaunee fire department has not yet decided to take a band to Sault Ste. Marie on the occasion of the tournament. The expense is a little more than the boys care to stand.

A large number of tickets have been sold for the lecture to be given tomorrow evening at St. Paul's church for the benefit of the sisters of the parochial school. The city band will render some selections.

MOUNTAINS OF MANICALAND.

A Part of South Africa That May Be Compared with Switzerland.

Two hundred miles north-northeast of Basutoland the Great Kathlambo range rises in very bold slopes from the coast levels behind Delagoa bay, and the scenery of the valleys and passes is said to be extremely grand. Knowing it, however, only by report, I will not venture to describe it. Nearly 500 miles still further to the north, in the district called Manicaland already referred to, is a third mountain region, less lofty than Basutoland, but deriving a singular charm from the dignity and variety of its mountain forms.

The whole country is so elevated that summits of 7,000 or even 8,000 feet do not produce any greater effect upon the eye than does Ben Lomond as seen from Loch Lomond, or Mount Washington from Glen House. But there is a boldness of line about these granite peaks comparable to those of the west coast of Norway or of the finest parts of the Swiss Alps. Some of them rise in smooth shafts of apparently inaccessible rock; others form long ridges of pinnacles of every kind of shape, specially striking when they stand out against the brilliantly clear morning or evening sky. The valleys are well wooded, the lower slopes covered with herbage, so the effect of these wild peaks is heightened by the softness of the surroundings which they dominate, while at the same time the whole landscape becomes more complex and more noble by the mingling of such diverse elements.

No scenery better deserves the name of romantic. And even in the tamer parts, where instead of mountains there are only low hills, or "kopjes" (as they are called in South Africa), the comparatively friable rock of these hills decomposes under the influence of the weather into curiously picturesque and fantastic forms, with crags riven to their base, and detached pillars supporting loose blocks and tabular masses, among or upon which the timid Manabos have built their huts in the hope of escaping the raids of their warlike enemies, the Matabele.—Prof. James Bryce, M. P., in Century.

The Yukon Miners.

The United States does not recognize, protect or control these mining communities in any way. No geological explorations or surveys have been undertaken, and there are no official reports upon the location, formation, development or yield of this rich placer region. There are no military posts and not a territorial or federal officer in Yukon, Alaska, save one customs inspector and postmaster. There is no law, save as the miners maintain their own unwritten code. Church missionary societies have provided for the few peaceful Indian tribes, but even spiritual comfort is withheld from the miners. "Heaven is high, and the czar is far off," despairing Russian colonists used to say long ago. Since the military occupation of Alaska ceased, in 1877, frequent appeals have been made for the establishment of a garrison at Chitkat and the construction of a military road over the pass traversed by Yukon miners for the last 16 years. Gen. Miles once considered the matter to the extent of detailing an officer to make a reconnaissance.—Eliza R. Scidmore, in Century.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamond Lake, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last for hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at E. Farnham's Drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

CLASS OF '96 GRADUATES.

Annual Commencement Exercises of the Marquette High School Held Last Night.

ADDRESS OF THE EVENING BY BISHOP WILLIAMS.

Frank Moore Was Not In—Marquette Man Cuts Government Timber—Struck With a Saw—Silver Club Forming.

RECEIVED THEIR DIPLOMAS.

The class of 1896 stands among the high school alumni. It has graduated, and its members must now be bound to one another by other ties than those of class organization. A new class, that of '97, stands on the verge of seniority.

Last night at the opera house occurred the commencement exercises of the Marquette high school. That the class to be graduated was the largest in the history of the school was perhaps an additional attraction, at any rate the capacity of the theater was taxed to accommodate the throng who sought admission to the exercises.

The sight displayed when the curtain rose was charming. Before the footlights and at each forward corner of the stage were banks of foliage plants and flowers. Suspended from behind the center of the curtain were the characters "C 96" arranged as a monogram. In a double row at the front of the stage sat the twenty graduates; behind them were the teachers, the speaker of the evening, and members of the school board. Still back of these in rising rows were the pupils of the high school, the girls massed in the center and the boys seated at the ends. Every girl on the stage wore white. No musicians were in the orchestra stalls, but a piano almost out of sight in the flies, with a flute, furnished the accompaniments.

After a well rendered vocal selection by the high school, led by Miss Davis, F. O. Clark stepped to the front of the stage and very briefly and felicitously introduced the speaker of the evening, Bishop G. Mott Williams, of the diocese of Marquette.

BISHOP WILLIAMS' ADDRESS.

It was as a graduate of a high school a quarter of a century back that the bishop first called the attention of the audience to himself. This gave him an opportunity to speak of the growth of the public school system, and by a little digression of its inception. From this he passed to comparisons of the schools of then and now, and while there have been great changes in the methods of education, he says, there are still confronting the educators some of the same problems that faced their predecessors twenty-five years ago. He made the statement that the high schools of the present day are about one year ahead of the high schools of his time.

It is, he says, with a feeling of great satisfaction that any unbiased educator looks on the public school system, and while it has faults its virtues are such, and it has become so firmly established, that it will never be supplanted with a system of parochial schools, and any ecclesiastic who seeks to aid the public school must do so in a spirit of friendliness to its aims.

The criticisms he intended to make, he announced, were given in this spirit. The first of these, and one to which he gave considerable attention was the lack in the public school system of that something which should hold the boys to what is called higher education. He condemned mildly the practice of teaching boys and girls the same studies at the same ages when there was such a marked difference in the development of their brains and consciences, and when their ultimate designs in life were so widely separated. The disadvantages of co-education, he admits, are equal for the girls as well as the boys, and he expressed himself as believing elective studies might do much to overcome these disadvantages. The next trouble with the public schools, he averred, was that all the teachers are women, and that they have not taken up the work as a profession, but are merely so occupying their time while waiting to take their ultimate positions as wives and mothers.

For the advocate of the "three R's" there was a shot awaiting. The bishop does not agree with those who say there is too much fancy training done in the school, but holds were it not for the lighter and less fundamental studies, many pupils, especially boys, would leave school sooner than they do, and with no better education than they now have.

SIXTEEN TO FOUR.

Instead of sixteen girls and four boys, as sat in the class on the stage, he holds the sexes should be equally represented, and took occasion to warn the coming young man that unless he embraced all his educational opportunities, his wife would be the intellectual, educational, and every other kind of head of the family except muscular.

Having spoken to such length on the needs of the boys he turned his attention to the girls and said that they ought to have a woman's chance. By this he meant that they should be fitted for matrimony. An amplification of the present school system, he holds, might easily bring about the things needful for the fitting, among which he numbers cooking and housewifery.

The bishop closed his remarks by addressing a few words of commendation and adjuration to the graduates and teachers on the stage.

A song intervened between the address and the valedictory by Miss Ethel York. This last was a clever recital of the history of the class, a last will and testimony bequeathing the traditions and class properties to the juniors, and an affectionate farewell to her classmates and teachers.

After another musical number F. B. Spear, for the school board, brought forward the diplomas, and presented them after a few short fitting remarks.

The last number on the program was Pierce's cantata, "The Old Clock on the Stairs," given by the Glee club and high school. The solo parts were taken by Misses Byrne and Spencer, and George Hodgkins. The Misses Hanawalt rendered the duet. In addition to the full choruses there was a selection by a double quartette. The presentation of the cantata was excellent and won merited applause from the audience.

Moore Was Out.

Frank Moore is a Shriner, and being most high something or other in the temple has had his hands full day and night all this week. Wednesday night his exertions reached their culmination in the reception and dance at Hotel Superior, and nobody could think of blaming him for keeping short hours Thursday. Some anonymous wag who came to the office on legal business and was unable to get in and attend to it composed the following, which during the several hours it was attached to the door was seldom without interested readers:

Scene—Heaven. Dramatis personae—Allah, Ishmael, Scribe of Ahmed temple and other servants. Allah seated on the throne sends Talmuth with a message for Frater Francis Moore. Messenger calls loudly at the outer door of the house of brother Moore, but no response. Messenger returns to Allah with a sore heart. Allah sends for Ishmael and covenants him to tell all he knows of the whereabouts of said Moore.

Ishmael says, "Oh, Allah! Great and mighty ruler of the universe, giver of all good and perfect gifts, etc., long have I served thee and faithfully, and it is with a sore heart that I narrate the downfall of my brother.

"For many moons has my brother served you faithfully, and on the seventh day before the entry into the second semester of the present year, even on Midsummer day, called by the Christian dogs, St. John the Baptist's day, while my brother and I were serving with others at your shrine in Ahmed temple initiating a few of our brethren in the mysteries of the shrine, and after a number of passages across the hot sands of the desert, lo, the camel gave out, and our brother Moore had to assist in saving our sacred beast and carrying him to an oasis.

"Then was my brother weary and sick at heart, and in an unguarded moment was tempted and yielded to the entreaties of some of his brethren and went with them to recoup their strength and did worship at the heathen temple, Hotel Superior, at the shrines of the false gods, Terpsichore and Bacchus, and verily this morning my brother Moore is not to be found, but on the outer door of his office I saw an inscription which reads as follows: 'Out late last night. Still out.'"

Cut Government Timber.

George McBurney of Marquette, it is alleged, was unable to tell government timber from open, and as a result he is in the toils of the United States authorities. McBurney was arrested Tuesday and taken before United States Commissioner Frank Moore for a hearing. He was bound over to the next term of the circuit court. His depredations are alleged to have been committed in the vicinity of Pori.

PETTY OFFENDERS.

On complaint of Thomas Brown, employed at the new railroad docks, Ed Carment, another employee, was arrested and taken before Judge Cray to answer to the charge of assault and battery. The two men became engaged in a quarrel early yesterday morning, and Carment struck Brown with a cross cut saw, making a gash in his arm. Carment took a fine and costs, amounting to $17 without fighting the case.

Two vags were taken before Justice Meads yesterday. Sentence was suspended in the case of Ed Morris, upon his promise to reform if given a chance. Tom Higgins, a strange hobo, was given hours to leave town.

Organize for Silver.

Sixteen to one men in Marquette are about to form a silver club, and a meeting for this purpose has been called for Saturday night in the Armory Hall on Front street. Friends of the white metal are numerous in Marquette, and they have decided to get together and see what they can do in the campaign if a fair chance offers. The club will be an interpartisan affair, and is for all who favor the unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1. Local speakers will make short addresses.
