GREETED BY THOUSANDS.

Bryan Is Surprised at the Crowds Which Gather in McKinley's Own State.

TESTIFIES TO HIGH PERSONAL CHARACTER OF M'KINLEY.

His Hand Is Sore from the Cordial Grasps It Has Received—Carl Browne Promises Him the Populist Vote.

STILL TRAVELING EAST.

CANTON, O., Aug. 10.—Presidential Candidate Bryan left Chicago shortly before midnight last night. Soon after leaving the city limits Bryan and his wife retired. He was first routed out by a thousand people at 1:40 a. m. at Valparaiso, Ind. He appeared and shook hands with those in reach, but made no speech, in fact he excused himself at most points on the ground that it was necessary to save his voice for the grand effort at New York.

Twenty-five hundred people greeted him at Fort Wayne. Dixon was the first town reached in McKinley's state. It is a mere hamlet and only a dozen people awaited the train. Two thousand people were in waiting at Van Wert, which was reached at 7 a. m.; at Delphos 1,500 gathered.

At Lima Mrs. Bryan appeared to share the squeezes of brawny hands, for the candidate's hand is bruised and he is already cautioning his friends to go light on it. At Bucyrus he spoke briefly to two thousand.

OHIO CROWDS SURPRISE HIM.

At Crestline over three thousand people struggled round the train, and Bryan spoke expressing surprise at the large audiences which greeted him in Ohio, especially in view of the fact that this was his opponent's state. He continued:

"Unless I mistake the character of the people among whom we live you will never again be able to get them to support a candidate for the presidency who will continue the policy of mortgaging the American people to foreign syndicates, when seventy millions of people stand ready to protect the treasury of the United States."

The biggest crowd since leaving Chicago assembled to see him at Mansfield, the home of Senator John Sherman. Bryan said:

"I esteem it a privilege to stand in the home city of a senator who is more responsible for the present financial policy of this country than any other man living in it. We have people in our state, who believe Sherman's policy to be the wisest, but I believe the American people will decide that the United States is strong enough to legislate for its own people on the money question without asking the consent or aid of any other nation on earth."

VOTE FOR HIM ANYHOW.

At Orrville, O., Carl Browne presented Bryan with photographs of the flag carried to Washington by Coxey. Browne informed Bryan that the Populists of this district were ready to vote for him for president, irrespective of whether Sewall was removed from the tail of the ticket or not. Like Solomon's judgment in the case of the child, they thought it better to take this course than to cut the child in two. At Canton, the home of McKinley, Bryan said:

"I am glad to be in this city, the home of my distinguished opponent, to testify to his high character and personal worth. Tremendous cheering for McKinley. I shall be satisfied (speaker was here interrupted by renewed cheering for McKinley). I shall be satisfied, if as a private individual, I may be able to stand beside him in public esteem. But, my friends, this is not a contest between persons, but it does matter for what policies the president shall stand. In this campaign persons are lost sight of in the interest of the cause which those persons represent."

THEY SAW M'KINLEY.

CANTON, O., Aug. 10.—The Bryan reception committee from Pittsburg arrived here at noon. Finding it had nearly two hours before the Bryan train would arrive it decided to call on McKinley. The mayor said:

"We are, as American citizens, proud of our country and believe in common we have now and will continue to have the best government in the world."

SPEAKS AT ROCHESTER.

ROCHESTER, Pa., Aug. 10.—When Bryan's train arrived at Alliance, Ohio, between fifteen hundred and two thousand persons were at the depot to greet the Democratic nominee. In his speech Mr. Bryan said:

"You are the only ones to be consulted as to who should be chosen, and from that decision there is no appeal. You are sovereigns, and in no other country are sovereigns as free to choose as they are in this country. I am glad to live in a nation like this, and I appreciate the honor which has been conferred upon me by the late convention; I also appreciate the fact that this honor has been conferred at an earlier age than is usual. I beg to assure you I recognize the great responsibility of that high office, but the responsibilities do not rest on me alone; you have your responsibilities as well as I. These are times of great importance. Upon the decision of the United States upon the paramount issue of this time, the money question, may be the turning decision of the civilized world."

"Upon the action of the state of Ohio may turn the action of the nation, and the action of a single individual in this state may determine the action of Ohio. I beg you, when you cast your votes, to take into account the tremendous results which may follow that action. It is a duty you owe yourselves, your families and your country, and your God, to make your ballot represent your conscience and your judgment." (Loud cheering.)

At the close of his remarks Bryan hastened back to the rear coach where he shook hands with all comers until the train moved on. At Salem only a few out of two thousand were able to grasp his hands and a generous round of cheering went up as Bryan was carried away.

At Leetonia about six hundred were at the depot to greet Bryan. At Columbus about the same number paid their respects to the silver candidate. At New Waterford, East Palatine and Enon, there was over a hundred at each place. Bryan was loudly cheered. At Garfield only fifty people were at the train, which stopped long enough to allow all to greet both Mr. and Mrs. Bryan. The towns of New Galilee and Homewood, Pa., showed a representation respectively of about two and three hundred. At Beaver Falls fully 1,500 people attested the popular curiosity to see the western candidate.

At New Brighton, five to six hundred were at the station and in all these places the Nebraska man was received with manifestations of sympathy apparently as sincere as were shown him in the west. When the train arrived at Rochester the crowd numbered between five hundred and one thousand at the depot, while gangs of workmen and their families vainly tried to win a glimpse of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan as they were borne away to the enemy's country.

RUMORS SET AT REST.

Sec. Walsh Explains Bryan's Attitude Toward Populist Endorsement.

OMAHA, Aug. 10.—A special to The Bee from Ottumwa says: Before leaving for New York to attend the meeting of the National Democratic committee, C. A. Walsh, temporary secretary, set at rest a great many rumors in regard to Bryan's action in reference to his acceptance or refusal of the Populist endorsement.

Bryan caused it to be given out on several occasions that he would not receive the endorsement of the Populists unless his running mate, Sewall, was also endorsed. This is true, but it is also true that Bryan will not refuse the endorsement. As the matter then stands, it is to be left with the individual Populists to do as they choose on casting their vote. In each state the national committee-men have his instructions. They will offer inducements to Populists to secure fusion on the electors, and they will secure this state this week by a complete fusion electoral vote. If this fusion is accomplished there will be no difficulty as regards the electors, for they will be for Bryan and Sewall. If the Populists demand electors for Bryan and Watson, the Democrats will withhold their fusion on the state and congressional tickets. By a liberal use of state and congressional offices, however, they hope to appease the Populists for the turning down of Watson, and the national Democratic committee hopes to make this fusion in every state on the electoral vote.

ONE RAY OF HOPE.

Dunwoody Says It May Be Cooler Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Major Dunwoody, chief weather forecaster, scanned the map tonight in vain for a prospect of relief from the torrid heat under which the country has been sweetering the past weeks.

It was slightly cooler in the Ohio valley, and the lower lake region has been given a slight breathing spell by thunderstorms. The temperature had also fallen slightly in the Mississippi valley, the mercury today registering but 92 degrees, as against 98 at St. Louis and Chicago yesterday. But out on the prairies of Nebraska and Kansas, and to the southward along the Gulf states humanity struggled to exist at 100 degrees. The Atlantic coast as far as Boston showed very high temperatures. At the latter place it was 96, which was also the maximum for Atlantic City. The same temperature existed at Albany. There is no prospect for relief in this territory tomorrow. Away up in the extreme northwest in the Rockies, however, May Dunwoody saw a ray of hope. The barometer had risen there today and fallen in the lower central valleys and lake region.

WOULD OUT NO ICE.

Sewall Says Gold Democrats Are a Small Figure in Politics.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Hon. Arthur S. Sewall, Democratic candidate for vice president, arrived in the city this afternoon in order to appear Wednesday at Madison Square Garden to receive official notification of his nomination.

"What do you think of the possibility of a third ticket being placed in the field and what would be the result of such a movement in case it should be done?" he was asked.

"Well, I am not enough of an expert in politics to tell what the result of such a movement would be, but I will say I do not regard the movement as one possessing any great strength. However, it will be time enough to talk about that when this meeting at Indianapolis takes place."

Sewall said he was hopeful of the results of the coming campaign, although it was a little too early to make predictions.

LIONIZED AT PITTSBURG.

Iron City People Turn Out by Thousands to Do the Candidate Homage.

PACKED AND ENTHUSIASTIC MEETINGS IN TWO THEATERS.

Money Question the One Great Issue of This Campaign—American System of Finances for the American People.

CAPSHEAF OF TRUMPH.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 10.—The meeting in this city has proven a fitting capsheaf to the day's triumphs. It excited the amazement of the people of Pittsburg, and joy that it afforded Bryan and the redoubtable "Silver Dick" manifested itself in their beaming features since they struck the city limits. The train arrived at the Pittsburg depot at 6:50 p. m. It was immediately surrounded by tremendous crowds who cheered Bryan when he emerged from the car.

When the party entered its carriages to be driven to the Central Hotel relentless throngs crowded around them and seemed to bear them along at its will. Through the various streets traversed no available space could be discerned. Every foot of ground was occupied by enthusiasts. The meeting had been announced to occur at 8 o'clock in the Grand Opera House and the Avenue theatre, a kindred hall side by side and owned by the same parties.

Each hall seats nearly three thousand, and meetings were to be held in each. Long before the hour for opening the doors the street in front of these structures was packed. After the doors were opened and structures were full there were still large crowds clamoring for admission.

At the first meeting Bryan was introduced by James Mills, editor of the Pittsburg Post. Bryan spoke in part as follows:

"I am not expected to enter into a discussion of the issues of this campaign because it is not considered to discuss a campaign, at least not for a candidate to do so, until he has been formally notified of his nomination. When I left home I thought I was coming upon a campaign in what was now considered the enemy's country but which we hoped would be our country before the campaign closed (cries of "right! right!" and applause). Therefore I have been more than gratified to find that it was not necessary to open the campaign in the east. It has already been opened here."

"We are prepared to defend our platform. It presents, as we believe, these policies which are for the best interests of all people, and we are not terrified because our enemies seek to apply to us epithets and hard names when they find it impossible to oppose the positions which we have taken."

"They shall not be permitted to put us in the attitude of opponents to the government, but we shall show them that there is a difference between defending the government and defending the vicious legislation inaugurated by a government for private ends."

"My friends, in this campaign there is only one great issue. That one question must be settled first before any other questions can be settled. The nation that is not able to adopt its own financial policy is too impotent to legislate on any question where the people are concerned. [Cheers.] We do not say our opponents are insincere; we do not say they are less honest than we; but we do say when they attempt to say to the American people that we must be dependent upon the legislative act of some other government, we say it matters not how honest they may be we dare not entrust legislation in their hands. [Loud cheering.]

"There are people today who believe this nation is not strong enough to legislate for our own people, and there are people who honestly believe that an attempt to do so would bring distress and many evils upon us. We may respect their honesty, but must we let that interfere with a life and death struggle with them because we assert here that financial domination by foreign powers is as dangerous to the liberties of people as political domination? [Cheers.] But I must not talk. [Cries of "Go on!"]

I desire to thank you for the interest you have shown in the very beginning of this campaign and I have no fear that your interest will be allowed to die, not a bit. I believe the foreign masses in this country, those who have achieved and who must achieve its greatness, are willing to risk their all in this republic and rise and fall with it and that to them, can appeal in this campaign, with the confident assurance that when the vote is counted, an enormous majority of the republican people will declare in favor of an American system of finances for the American people, administered by Americans."

At the meeting in the Avenue theatre Bryan was introduced to the audience by Joseph Holley, chairman of the Democratic county central committee, as the next president of the United States. Bryan was received with great applause.

BRYAN'S SECOND SPEECH.

In his second speech Bryan went into the money question at great length. Addressees were also delivered at both meetings by Silver Dick Bland and J. Gilmore Johnson, Kansas member of the national committee.

Upon leaving the opera house, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were driven to the Randall club, and an official of the club presented each with one of the club's handsome badges. Mrs. Bryan was made an honorary member with her husband. When Bryan returned to his hotel a large crowd followed and insisted on another speech to which he

"GROSSLY INCOMPETENT"
That is President Scott's Verdict on the Tournament Judges and Timekeepers.

A. J. Scott of Hancock, president of the Upper Peninsula Firemen's association, returned home Saturday evening. Speaking about the contests at the "Soo," Mr. Scott says THE MINING JOURNAL was entirely correct in stating that the timekeepers and judges were grossly incompetent. He says the comparison would be about as if a band contest were judged by persons who had never even heard band music. Mr. Scott concedes their honesty, but is satisfied that the teams representing Hancock, Calumet and Ishpeming suffered as a result of their incompetency. Regarding the injury to Meads of the Hancock team, Mr. Scott says Meads was on the pole in the novelty hose race and tripped and fell when about a hundred feet from the goal. The wheel of the hose cart ran over his face, cutting his lip in two places, also a deep gash over the left eye, and scraping the skin off his left cheek. His head was cut in four places. His fingers and knee were also cut. He was picked up and taken to the hotel, where a surgeon dressed his injuries. Meads arrived home Saturday evening and is under the care of Dr. A. M. Wheeler. It will be at least a month before he will have fully recovered from his injuries. Meads is a member of the Houghton ball team. The Sault Ste. Marie News of the 6th contained an excellent cut of President A. J. Scott, and also commented on the copper country teams as follows:

The Houghton fire laddies looked as brave as they are in reality with navy blue blouses and trousers. The blouses had white trimmings in front, and across the bosom in white letters appeared "Houghton." The men wore red belts and regulation caps.

The Lake Linden firemen were attired in navy blue uniforms with gold buttons and gold trimmings. On the shoulders of each coat were the initials of the department, "J. L. F. D."

The Hancock firemen were most decidedly the dandies of the parade. They were neatly attired in navy blue cutaways tastefully trimmed with diminutive red silk cord, with buttons of gold. White vests and black Fedora hats were worn, and each man had on a pair of brown kid gloves. They marched close together and were prime favorites.

The Calumet and Red Jacket boys wore white sweaters, upon which appeared the name of the department in black letters. Their pants were of navy blue. They had grey Fedoras hats and carried white bamboo canes.

DWYER TOOK THE POT.

The Hancock Man Busted His Wisconsin Adversary.

J. Dwyer, the Hancock athlete and wrestler, won a decisive victory over Dave Lloyd of Wisconsin Saturday evening at St. Patrick's hall, Hancock, in the cleanest and prettiest match ever wrestled in Hancock. The match was contested hotly from start to finish and the audience went fairly wild when, in the third bout, Dwyer won the match by forcing Lloyd to the pad in forty-eight minutes. Dwyer and Lloyd are evenly matched. They do honest work. Dwyer's victory over his Wisconsin rival places him in a position where he will be recognized as one of the best men in his class in the country.

It was just 9:30 when the two athletes appeared. Mr. Foley of Dollar Bay refereed the first bout. Mr. Bradford of Ann Arbor the second, and Jim Smith of Lake Linden the third. The first bout was won by Dwyer, who picked his antagonist up bodily off the pad, and threw him in the air, giving him a flying fall and landing him on both shoulders. Time thirty-four minutes. A rest of thirty minutes was taken, when the men appeared for the second bout, which Lloyd won with a hammer lock and half Nelson. Time twenty-three minutes.

Interest was at fever heat when both men shook hands for the final bout. In this bout there was an attempt by each to use his knuckles on the stomach of the other and they also elbowed each other, which they were cautioned to stop doing by the referee. After forty-eight minutes of hard struggling Dwyer secured his famous hold, called the "scissors lock," by lifting Lloyd on his head, holding him in that position for two minutes and gradually forcing him down with both shoulders touching, winning the match and $300.

After the match Lloyd stated from the stage that he was fairly beaten, and he challenged Dwyer to a mixed match, Greco-Roman and catch-as-catch-can, for $100 a side. Dwyer stated his willingness to give him another match and the men will probably come together again at a near date.

Shaft House Burned.

The Osceola shaft house of the Frank in Jr. mine was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The fire was probably caused by the carelessness of some one of the day shift coming up, who dropped an ignited candle. A new shaft house will be built and hoisting resumed within a week. The shaft was saved by water supply by a pump 125 feet below the surface. The pipes supplying the same remained intact throughout the fire. Had the pump ceased to work all the timbering in the shaft would have burned out and a bad cave-in would have resulted. The openings at this mine, both in the Osceola and Pewabic lodes, are looking well.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

—It is estimated that the average life insurance in Cape Colony is about $125 per head, a very remarkable showing, and indicative of activity among insurance men.

—A city ordinance in New York limits the number of hand organs to 1,500. The result has been to crowd Brooklyn full of perambulating music boxes, to the great annoyance of the people.

—It is understood that the government of New Zealand will introduce a measure for the exclusion of consumptive persons on the same lines as that dealing with smallpox, making masters of ships liable.

—The four burglars who recently robbed the savings bank at Whitinsville, Mass., had such a high regard for the rules of fashion that they committed the crime after they had arrayed themselves in dress suits.

—Some of the bronze tablets put up in Albany, N. Y., at the time of the city's bi-centennial celebration ten years ago have disappeared. The tablets had been placed on many of the historic spots throughout the city.

—One of the greatest hunting feats of the season was that of George E. Farnham, of Canaan, Me., who, a few days ago, entirely alone and while standing in the wagon holding his frantic horse with one hand, shot two very handsome deer.

—Eighteen gold watches were found quilted in the clothing worn by a baby, a passenger on the steamer Saale, from Bremen, on her arrival at Hoboken. The baby's parents were arrested, and on the father 12 other watches were found. The 30 watches are worth $7,000.

—St. Louis has suffered from three very serious fires. The first came in 1849, when the loss exceeded $3,000,000; the second was in 1851, when 2,500 buildings were destroyed, the loss exceeding $11,000,000; the third occurred in the same year, when over 500 buildings were destroyed, the value being estimated to exceed $3,000,000.

—The paper for printing Bank of England notes is dampened with water in the exhausted receiver of an air pump. The ink used in the plate printing is made of Frankfort black, which is composed of the charcoal of the tendrils and larks of the German grape ground with linseed oil. The ink has a peculiar and deep shade of black, common black inks being tinted either with blue or brown.

JAPANESE INFANT PRODIGY.

Work of Ghosts That Make the Compound Ancestral Soul.

I have no intention to try the reader's patience with a description of pictures. I mention my visit to the display only because of something I saw there more interesting than any picture. Near the main entrance was a specimen of handwriting intended to be mounted as a kankemono later on, and temporarily fixed upon a board about three feet long by eighteen inches wide—a Japanese poem. It was a wonderful calligrapher marks his masterpieces. I saw the red imprint of a tiny, red hand—a living hand, which had been smeared with crimson printing ink and deftly pressed upon the paper. I could distinguish all the little finger marks of which Mr. Galton has taught us the characteristic importance.

That writing had been done in the presence of his imperial majesty by a child of six years, or five, according to our western method of computing age from date of birth. The prime minister, Marquis Ito, saw the miracle and adopted the little boy, whose present name is, therefore, Ito Meidzui.

Even Japanese observers could scarcely believe the testimony of their own eyes. Few adult calligraphers could surpass that writing, certainly no occidental artist, even after years of study, could repeat the feat performed by the brush of that child before the emperor. Of course, such a child can be born but once in a thousand years—to realize, or almost realize, the ancient Chinese legends of divine inspired writers.

Still, it is not the beauty of the thing in itself which impressed me, but the weird, extraordinary, indubitable proof it afforded of an inherent memory so vivid as to be almost equal to the recollection of former births. Generations of dead calligraphers revived in the fingers of that tiny hand. The thing was never the work of an individual child five years old, but beyond all question the work of ghosts—the countless ghosts that make the compound ancestral soul. It was proof visible and tangible of psychological and physiological wonders, justifying both the Shinto doctrine of ancestral worship and the Buddhist doctrine of preexistence.—Atlantic.

Country Girl—"Don't you find the constant noise, and hurry, and confusion, and bustle of a great city very wearing when you are at home?"

City Girl—"Why, no, indeed! I live in Philadelphia, you know."—Somerville Journal.

—Not Worth Mentioning.—"A capital invention—these horseless carriages!" "Don't talk rubbish. We have had for a long time things quite as remarkable in their way as horseless carriages, and nobody takes the slightest notice of them." "Indeed! What, for instance?" "Covless milk."—Dorfbardier.

—The Alternative.—"Can't you make the front entrance wider?" asked one of the trustees, inspecting the plan of the proposed new church a little closer. "Not unless you build on a wider lot," answered the architect, decidedly. "If the ladies are afraid of musing their sleeves in a six-foot doorway, they will have to go through edgewise."—Chicago Tribune.

Same Old Woman.

"I am glad," he said, pleasantly, when she first appeared in her bloomers, "that you have taken up this 'new woman' idea."

"Really," she said, doubtfully. "I was afraid you wouldn't like it, but it does seem as if a woman should take a more important part in the affairs of life."

"Yes, indeed," he replied. "It will take her mind off her clothes, and that will be a great stride forward. She will care less for appearances and more for the realities of life. The trivial things that have heretofore claimed her attention will be ignored."

"Of course," she said, proudly. "With our enlarged sphere of usefulness we naturally take a broader view of things and become more self-reliant. Trifles cease to annoy us, and we are ready to grapple with the great problems of life."

"Exactly," he returned. "Now, if you were not a 'new woman' you would be dreadfully mortified to think that your hat is not on straight, but being a—"

"Good gracious!" she cried, excitedly. "I must look like a fright."—Chicago Post.

TRAVERSE JURORS DRAWN.

Preparations Being Made for the Next Meeting of the U. S. Circuit Court.

THERE WILL BE NO GRAND JURY WORK THIS TERM.

Should a New Firemen's Association Be Started?—Carl Sheldon, Congressional Possibility, Strikes Town—First Labor Troubles.

COURT COMES SOON.

Judge Severens and the rest of the United States circuit court officials will again be on duty in Marquette the first day of September, when will convene the new term of court. This term coming so soon after the adjourned May term there will be little business to be transacted, and the court will sit only a few days.

The list of traverse jurors for the term were drawn yesterday. There are thirty. There will be no sitting of the grand jury.

U. S. District Attorney Powers was in the city yesterday looking over papers in cases to come before the court at the approaching term.

CONFIRMED THE FINDING.

Judge Clifton yesterday confirmed the finding of the jury in the Pendill heirs—L. S. & I. condemnation case, which occupied the time of his court all last week and which finally allowed the railroad to cross the disputed property upon payment of $500 damages. An appeal is the only course open to the Pendills if they wish to fight the case further.

FINED FOR BATHING.

The four small boys who were arrested Sunday afternoon for going in swimming off Spear's dock, put in their appearance before Squire Meads yesterday morning, and were fined $3 each.

The parents of three of the lads promptly put up the collateral, but one poor little fellow was consigned to the lockup again, as his father stubbornly asserted that he would not pay the fine, and that there was no law which could shut the boy up in jail for swimming either with, or without a bathing suit.

Felix Perro and Alex Arso, the two Superior street scrappers who were arrested Saturday night, had a hearing yesterday before a justice. Each was assessed a fine and costs amounting to $5. One of the men paid up promptly, but the other would not agree to the liquidate until his commitment had been made out. He was much disgusted to find that by the delay he had added another fifty cents to the cost.

He Views It With Favor.

The suggestion emanating from the copper country that Marquette county and the copper country draw off from the present Upper Peninsula Firemen's association is one that will at least cause discussion in every department in the two parts of the peninsula affected.

The present association originated with Chief Crary of Marquette, and for several years it has been conducted with marked harmony and success, doing much for the advancement of volunteer fire interests in the peninsula, but now since the conduct of the Sault tourney has engendered in many departments a feeling that they were ill used, a split in the association is among the possibilities.

"What do you think of the suggestion to have a Marquette and copper country association?" Chief Crary was asked.

"I think it would be a good scheme," he replied. "In the two counties we have about ten companies. That's enough for a good tournament. There were only fourteen or fifteen companies at the Sault."

"Are you thinking of being the one to start the new association?"

"No, I think it will be best to wait a little and see how things turn. I don't very well see how the copper country can draw out this year. They've got the presidency, and they can't very well go back on their own man."

"I doubt whether the Ironwood tournament will be much of a success though. Men from many of the companies came to me and told me they wouldn't go."

As Marquette Tells It.

"Smith was not knocked out of the box by the Baragas Sunday or any other time," said Manager Shea last night. "They haven't any license to do it."

"We supposed Smith was all right, and he supposed himself that he had his arm, and we put him in to pitch. He only threw ten balls, and his arm gave out, and Martin and Ploof went in to pitch."

"We didn't know then that Healy was on the grounds, but we found him sitting in the crowd and got him to pitch for us. If we'd had Healy we'd have put him in the box right after Smith and won that game. They only got four runs off of us after Healy went in, and they would have been shut out altogether but for an error in the outfield."

The team plays next with Ashland.

"No Politics in It."

The evening train from the copper country brought in a trio of politicians who stand ace high in the little peninsula. Carl Sheldon, who wants to do the Cinderella act with Sam Stephenson's shoes, is the principal one of the group. The other two are J. C. Shields, superintendent of the Mineral Range railroad, and James P. Edwards.

They are here on business, so Shields says. What business other than politics would bring the trio to Marquette denials would not divulge. The candidate for the congressional nomination has left home for a week, and before he returns home may get as far down the road as Newberry. Mr. Edwards is going on business to the Sault. As for Mr. Shields, he has come down as far as Marquette with the other two gentlemen, and will probably return home today.

Politics in the copper country is something the congressional possibility has heard lamentably little about, if his word is to be taken for it, but Mr. Shields, who acts as mouth-piece, says it is modestly which prevents Mr. Sheldon from discussing the subject.

Mr. Shields vouchsafed the information upon question that the action of Mr. Sheldon's Soc rival in banishing the copper country out of the next fireman's tournament, was making a very small ripple in the political pot.

"We have heard very little about it at home," he said. "We have heard more about it down this way. You see," he continued, "Mr. Sheldon is one of the most popular men in the copper country. It is perfectly solid for him, and nothing that Chase Osborn can do will effect him there."

Right after supper the party spent some little time in viewing the new coal dock and appeared duly impressed with the size of the plant.

Books at Auction.

Mr. D. Devitt, who is now holding an auction sale of books in the Nester block, is a genial good natured man, one void of those tricks that so often characterize the traveling auctioneer. He has nothing but standard works, and no book is found on his shelves that we would not find a welcome place in the most select library. He has been selling books in Marquette for a week now, and has satisfied everybody that his wares are what he represents them to be. A Natick, Mass., paper, in which town he had a large sale, says:

As a rule it is the policy of the citizens to frown upon and discourage the itinerant vendor of merchandise who visits our good town with some stereotyped "bankrupt" or "damaged by fire" lie, and succeeds in deluding some of our townsmen to purchase their wares to their own detriment as well as our local dealers. But the case of Mr. McDevitt, who is now holding a book auction in Tash's block on Summer street is a most noticeable exception to the above general rule. He bears the impress of an honorable gentleman, and he certainly is a boon to our book-loving people whose shelves he has loaded with standard books at prices which makes us wonder who gave them to him. We take great pleasure in giving our unqualified approval to this man who is adding to the pleasure of our Natick homes at such a small expense.

First Labor Troubles.

Munising experienced her first labor disturbance Friday. It was among the workmen on Ferguson Bros.' block. Some of the men had attempted to dictate the wages that should be paid to men working on the building, but the Ferguson's wouldn't agree to the union scale, and succeeded in hiring men who were willing to work at the wages offered. A couple of the men got a third workman down in the cellar and accused him of being the cause of their failure to secure the submission of the Ferguson's, and were going to thrash him on the spot. Instead, the accused pitched in and broke the leg of one of his assailants and mashed the face of a second. He is still employed on the job, and there are no more amateur walking delegates or labor agitators to be found around Munising.

Sick Benefit Scheme.

In connection with the local lodge of the Macabees a sick and accident benefit association has been formed. This is not made part and parcel of the lodge benefits, but only those belonging to Superior tent, No. 23 can belong. At the organization meeting last night the following officers were elected:

President, Thomas McKee.
Vice president, Duncan Cameron.
Secretary, George A. Ferris.
Treasurer, F. L. Herlich.

The association will pay a sick or accident benefit of $5 a week.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at E. Farnham's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.
