GREETED BY THOUSANDS.

Bryan Demonstration at Albany the Crowning Triumph of His New York Tour.

DINES WITH HILL AND OTHER PROMINENT LEADERS.

Understanding Said to Have Been Arrived at Assuring the Nominee of the Support of the State Democracy—His Speech.

MAMMOTH MEETINGS HELD.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The second day of Hon. Wm. J. Bryan's trip westward was an eventful one, crowded with a variety of incidents of travel, including receptions and a stirring speech to a crowd of workmen at Kingston, and culminating in a great meeting at Albany, where the candidate spoke to a crowd estimated at fifteen thousand people packed in the city hall square.

Before the demonstration here Mr. and Mrs. Bryan sat down to a dinner with Senator Hill and prominent Albany Democrats at the senator's magnificent home, "Wolfert's Roost," whither they were driven directly from the depot. Those who met Mr. Bryan and wife at Senator Hill's much discussed dinner were: Supreme Court Judge D. Cady Herrick and wife; Louis W. Pratt, collector of customs, and wife; Norton Chase, chairman of the city Democratic committee, which, with other local organizations, had the meeting in charge. For nearly three hours Mr. Bryan was the guest of the New York senator, and although every participant in the dinner averred it was purely a social affair, their descriptions were taken with a grain of salt, it being the general impression that an understanding had been reached which will insure to Bryan the support of the party organization in the state.

GREETED BY GREAT CHEERING.

The crowd began to gather at the city hall square several hours before the meeting and when Mr. Bryan faced them he was greeted by tremendous cheering. Senator Hill was not at the meeting. City Chairman Chase introduced the orator. Mr. Bryan spoke with more than his customary oratorical force and, considering the size of the crowd, he was listened to with the most flattering attention. At the close of his speech the eloquent Nebraskan shook hands with hundreds of people who climbed upon the platform. He was then driven to the station. Mr. Bryan said, in part:

I esteem it a privilege to be able to defend in your presence policies which I believe will bring prosperity and happiness to the American people. It is not to be expected a person will always find in any platform all he desires and nothing which he does not like. But when a citizen comes to vote he acts with that party and endorses that platform which gives to him the best assurance of securing the most important things which he desires. It is proper, ay, more, it is necessary, that a candidate who stands upon a platform should endorse the substance of his platform, and I stand before you to declare in your presence that I endorse every word and every syllable of the platform adopted at Chicago. But while I do so I expect in this campaign the support of many Democrats who are not willing to endorse all that that platform declares for.

THE PARAMOUNT QUESTION.

In a campaign there is always some overshadowing issue—one great paramount question which more than any other will determine the alliance of those who support the ticket. In this campaign the Democratic party began a war of extermination against the gold standard. We ask no quarter. We shall prosecute our warfare until there is not an American citizen that dares advocate a gold standard policy. I ask you not to take my word for the evils of a gold standard. I call as a witness a gentleman whose words have been heard in the councils of the Democratic party. I ask you if you are inclined to accuse us of using extravagant language. I ask you to read and reflect upon the language used by John G. Carlisle in 1878. In a speech made in congress he said: "According to my opinion the conspiracy which seems to have been formed here and in Europe to destroy by legislation an otherwise from three-sevenths to one-half of the metallic money of the world is the most gigantic crime of this or any other age. Its consummation would ultimately entail misery upon the human race than all the wars, pestilence and famines that ever occurred in the history of the world."

That is the language of John G. Carlisle. I believe he spoke the truth. Our opponents tell us the free coinage of silver would disturb business. I ask our opponents to write down the worst thing they can possibly think of as a possible consequence of the immediate restoration of the free coinage of silver, and when they have written their worst I would place against the most dismal prophecy they can utter the words of John G. Carlisle and tell them that I would take the worst thing they could think of sooner than to bring a misery greater than war, pestilence and famine [Applause].

MUST RESTORE Bimetallism ALONE.
Some of our opponents say they are afraid we cannot maintain bimetallism alone. We reply to them we have waited twenty years for other nations and if we are going to restore bimetallism we have got to restore it alone, because the others do not come to our assistance [Applause]. More than that, we believe the assertion of American independence will do more to bring about international bimetallism than dependence upon our enemies to bring it to us.

Our opponents say all we need is the restoration of confidence. Whenever a confidence man is abroad in the community the man who has the least confidence gets off with the most money [Laughter] and I am much afraid the confidence man is abroad in this campaign, preaching "Have confidence and all will be well."

My friends, confidence must rest upon a substantial basis. If you want to restore confidence you have got to restore prosperity to the great masses of the people, and talk as much about good property as they have been talking about good money. You may rest assured that in the long run any policy which brings prosperity to the great mass of the people will be shared by all the people. If you cannot see just what particular way any given measure is going to benefit you in your business, if you can satisfy yourself that the general public will be benefited by that measure, you can rest assured you will receive your proportionate share of it, but I challenge you to search in all the pages of history for a single instance where the mass of the people were ever benefited by legislation that increased the value of the dollar in which debts had to be paid.

The success of our opponents in this campaign simply means four years more of agitation and then a trial of the remedy which we ask you to give. We propose that this agitation which has lasted for twenty years shall culminate now in the restoration of the gold and silver coinage of the Constitution. That is all we ask; and my friends, there is no other way by which you can stop this agitation. You say you do not believe in the ratio of 16 to 1. I tell you that whether you believe in that ratio or not, if you believe in bimetallism you have got to cast your vote with the bimetallists and not with the monometallists. Now, my friends, my time is up. I must leave you and go to greet other people. I thank you for your attention.

DEMONSTRATION AT THE DEPOT.

The crowd which followed Mr. Bryan's escort to the depot rushed through the strong force of police which had been thrown about the building and yard and closed in upon the carriage, which had been driven into the building, so that the candidate and his wife had a hard struggle to get to the car. Then the car was invaded and dozens of blue coats were required to clear it. At 8:15 the train moved out toward Utica, where the party decided to spend the night instead of at Syracuse. Those who have traveled with the candidate since his nomination say that no demonstration in the campaign exceeded this one at Albany in intensity of enthusiasm and only those at Chicago and Pittsburg in point of numbers.

OVALATIONS TO BRYAN.

He is Greeted by Thousands Along His Route to Albany.

HUDSON, N. Y., Aug. 25.—One of the most interesting episodes of the New York tour of Hon. Wm. J. Bryan occurred at Kingston. From the special train the Bryan party was hurried in carriages to the place of meeting. Not less than three thousand people were packed upon the green, many of them workmen. Mr. Bryan was loudly applauded. He said, in part:

I am glad to see this recognition from workmen. When I want to speak to workmen I do not go to their employers and ask them to deliver the votes of those who work for them [Applause]. I have known of employers in the west who tried to force object lessons on their employees and have used Mexican dollars as an argument. The employer tries to tell you how to vote tell him that the Declaration of Independence says all men are created equal before the law and that you are his equal before the law and you cannot be bartered away [Great applause and cheering of "Hurray Hurray!"]

My friends, I have this proposition to make: Our seventy millions of people are able to have a financial policy of their own, and do not have to hire a syndicate of foreign or domestic capitalists to run our government. They tell us when we speak of the silver question that the free and unlimited coinage of silver is a dangerous thing. We tell them that we have suffered twenty years from their policy and it does not take a very good one to be better than theirs. More than that, we give them this evidence of sincerity. We tell them what we want and how we are going to get it, but they dare not tell the American people what they expect unless they are entrusted with power. Do they tell you that a gold standard is a good thing? No, because the seventy millions here and the struggling masses throughout the world would rise and denounce the statement that a gold standard ever helped anybody except the money owners and money changers.

I have not any more time to talk to you now, but I have time to give two questions which would ask you to ask your opponents. The first is: If a gold standard is a good thing why does the Republican party pledge itself to get rid of it? If bimetallism is a thing to be desired who shall say that the American people shall be denied its benefits until foreign nations shall confer those benefits on the American people? I thank you for your kind attention [Great applause and loud cheering].

After the speech the party made a dash to catch the Albany train and were ferried across the Hudson on a tug boat to Rhine Cliff station, landing just as the train pulled in. The Hudson depot was surrounded by over two thousand people. To them Mr. Bryan said:

I am just going west, my friends, and I am glad to be able to take back to my Nebraska home the news that the people of New York are getting interested in the money question as well as the people of the south and west [Great applause].

The party reached Albany at 4 o'clock and were driven to Senator Hill's house, with difficulty through the great crowd which surrounded the depot.

THE PLATFORM COLLAPSED.

Bryan's Eventful Day Ends in an Accident at Utica.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Mr. Bryan's eventful day ended with an accident which narrowly missed being a disaster. One half of the platform from which he was addressing a crowd of several thousand persons in the square in front of the Baggs Hotel in Utica at midnight fell to the ground. The presidential candidate escaped injury, but John T. Teller had a leg broken and several others were badly bruised and cut. No one was seriously injured, however. Overcrowding of the platform caused the accident.

The Utica crowd was nearly as large as that which heard Mr. Bryan at Albany and included several campaign clubs from Watertown, Herkimer and other places. Mr. Bryan's speech was quite lengthy and was exclusively an argument for the cause of the free coinage of silver.

Chosen by Acclamation.

AURORA, Ill., Aug. 25.—S. N. Hoover, assistant prosecuting attorney of Kane county and an ex-Republican, was nominated as a candidate to congress from the Eighth district by acclamation at the Democratic convention held in this city today.

ONTONAGON WIPED OUT.

Fire Sweeps Through the City and Not a House Is Left Standing.

TWO THOUSAND PEOPLE HOMELESS AND IN WANT.

Diamond Match Company's Big Plant and All Business Places and Residences in Ashes—The Loss in the Millions.

DESTROYED BY FIERCE FLAMES.

GREEN BAY, Wis., Aug. 25.—Ontonagon, Mich., was destroyed by fire this afternoon. The city had a population of about two thousand, and not a single house is left standing. Among the property destroyed is the extensive plant of the Diamond Match company and sixty million feet of lumber in the yards. A conservative estimate of the loss is a million and a half. No lives were lost at last reports. Communication was cut off at 5 p. m. and no further news can be obtained until morning.

Fire had been burning in "the woods southwest of the city for two weeks. It was nearly out when a southwest gale yesterday and today swept the flames upon the town. At noon it was seen that the city was doomed. A message was sent Superintendent Minturn of the St. Paul road at Green Bay, asking for a train to take the people away. The operator who sent the message was driven away from his instrument by the burning up of the building.

A train was ordered there from Pori, twenty-six miles south. The train reached Ontonagon and took a load of people to Rockland, ten miles away. It left for Ontonagon for another load and since then nothing has been heard. The latest news from the city was at 5 o'clock. The flames had then swept through the main part of the city, destroying all the business houses, many residences, the match company's mills, water works, electric light plant, court house, jail, etc. The flames then worked up the river to the windward of the city and destroyed all the rest of the residences.

The operator who left his instrument, which had been temporarily put up, said nothing could save the city from utter annihilation; that unless the wind went down by dark every house would be destroyed. And the wind did not subside.

GREEN BAY, Aug. 25.—At midnight the entire city of Ontonagon is practically in ashes and two thousand people are homeless and without clothing or shelter. Of this number 1,500 are in absolute want.

LOSS OF LIFE IS FEARED.

ROCKLAND, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.] A forest fire swept into Ontonagon from the west side this morning in spite of all efforts to control it. The Diamond Match company's west side mill and several million feet of lumber are burned and there is no prospect of saving the town. All wires are down and there is fire for three miles this side of the town.

ROCKLAND, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The fire reported on the west side of Ontonagon today swept across the river and burned nearly every house in the village limits. The Diamond Match company's entire plant and all its lumber is burned. Over two thousand people are homeless and in actual need of the necessities of life. Rockland, the nearest village, is doing all she can until help arrives from outside. Several train crews have been working all night to transport what people can be found south of the town to Rockland. Many people are on the lake shore and it is feared some are burned.

FOREST FIRES RAGING.

Much Property on Outskirts of Ironwood Has Been Damaged.

IRONWOOD, Mich., Aug. 25.—Forest fires are raging around Ironwood and Hurley all day and property on the outskirts of the city has been damaged to a considerable extent. The fire departments and volunteers from both towns are doing all in their power to check the conflagration, but with poor results as yet.

A MARRIAGE OF MILLIONS.

Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt and Harry P. Whitney Wedded at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25.—The wedding of Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, eldest daughter of Cornelius Vanderbilt, to Harry Payne Whitney, eldest son of W. C. Whitney, ex-secretary of the navy, occurred at noon. Owing to Mr. Vanderbilt's feeble health the ceremony was extremely quiet.

Wolverine Banker's Awful Crime.

LOWELL, Mich., Aug. 25.—Charles Church, junior member of the private banking house of C. J. Church & Co., shot and fatally wounded his wife this morning and then suicided. The bank was closed yesterday. The deed was done to avoid attachment by the sheriff. The elder church has disappeared.

Silver Organization Urged.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—An address by the American Bimetallic league has been issued urging the formation of silver clubs and leagues in every state, county, city, town and school district in the Union.

MARQUETTE, MICH., AUG. 26.

Entered as mailmatter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

This is the opening day of the Republican congressional convention at Ironwood. The prevailing belief in this part of the district is that Sam Stephenson will get the nomination, as he is the first choice the biggest barrel that will figure in the contest—his own. But all the candidates have well grounded hopes, and he will not be an easy winner this time.

A DISPATCH to one of the Detroit papers giving the result of the convention at Negaunee Saturday had it that action of the convention "knocked out the Marquette county candidate for congressman, leaving the struggle now between Stephenson of Menominee, Sheldon of Houghton, Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie, and Young of Ishpeming." The dispatch was dated at Negaunee, too. The correspondent evidently had an opinion as to how the defeat of Mr. Smith would affect this county's chance of getting the member.

A WASHINGTON paper states that President Cleveland will "make the effort of his life" in doing battle for the gold Democratic ticket to put up at Indianapolis. He has finally concluded that the gold Democrats can best aid McKinley by placing a ticket of their own in the field, though at first he was inclined to oppose having that done, believing that the surest way to prevent the election of the silver candidate would be to have all the gold men support the Republican nominee. The rapidity with which voters of the party who were expected to bolt were getting into line for the silver ticket caused him to change his mind, however, and he now is said to strongly favor having the gold Democrats nominate a ticket of their own.

ALL the counties in this congressional district have now chosen their delegations to the convention which meets today at Ironwood. The result of the conventions held yesterday places the strength of the four candidates whose names will be presented to the convention about as follows: Stephenson, 23; Osborn, 19; Sheldon, 17; Young, 12. From this it will be seen that if they can hold their delegations together Osborn and Sheldon have just the number required to nominate, 35, while even with Marquette county solid Stephenson would lack one vote of the requisite majority. It is claimed by Mr. Sheldon's friends that four or five of the Marquette delegates will go to Sheldon should Young drop out, but the supporters of Stephenson vehemently assert, on the other hand, that this county's delegation will go to him solid whenever it leaves Young. We have been informed by a close friend of the latter that his delegation will stick to him to the last, in the expectation that the deadlock between the other three candidates will prove one that cannot be broken, and that he will be finally nominated as a compromise candidate. Certain considerations will operate against the possibility of having Osborn get any of the copper country delegates, so his nomination may be safely regarded as extremely improbable. It is our belief that the nomination will fall either to Stephenson or Sheldon, with every likelihood that the peculiar tactics of the Menominee man will prevail in the convention and that he will eventually walk off with the prize.

LESSON OF THE MARKET COLUMN.

The Daily Financial News of New York of the 22nd states an important fact in explaining the reason why the movement for the free coinage of silver which is sweeping over the land has attained such momentum throughout the west and south, and in many parts of the east, in face of the fact that so large a majority of the big newspapers are supporting the gold standard in their editorial columns, as well as by letters from paid contributors and by coloring their reports of political meetings and discussions. It observes that a much more important column than the editorial or the news columns of these papers, the market column, is a daily argument for free coinage. This extract is right to the point:

The stubborn facts of depreciating commodities and appreciating gold have been shown, day by day, since 1873. The market column is the educational column. Men do not always read and those who do read often do not understand the editorial column, but they do read and do understand the market column. They do not understand the mysterious wisdom of politicians and political soothsayers, but they know what the figures mean in the price list, which shows the prices of commodities. When Mr. McKinley says, looking wise, "Better open your mills to labor than our mints to the world's silver," the market column, with its record of falling prices, shows that the only way to open the mills to labor is to open the mints to silver. There is but one way the press can effectively fight silver in the prairie fire spread it is now making over the land, and that is to suspend publication of market news. However boldly, brilliantly, bitterly or persuasively the editorial column may plead the cause of gold, the market column still more strongly pleads the cause of silver. The market column deals with facts and they are plainly understood. The editorial column deals with opinions. In these hard times hard facts have the right of way to the voters' attention, and this accounts for the landslide toward silver that is noticeable in all parts of the country.

GOING AFTER FOREIGN MARKETS.

Even dull times and low prices have their compensations, as is shown by the appended article from the Age of Steel, bearing on the gain the country has made in exports during the current year to date:

The present year promises to be remarkable one for the export trade of this country. Low prices and dull demand at home have compelled producers to seek foreign markets with more vigor and method than they have, perhaps, ever before shown. Manufacturers especially have awakened to the importance of the foreign trade as a feeder for their attenuated order books, and are canvassing every part of the world where there is the promise of business to be had. An excursion party of American manufacturers and merchants is now moving around somewhere near the southern end of South America, while in Europe there is an astonishingly large number of Americans this summer who are establishing agencies and making other efforts to introduce or extend the sale of their goods. Many vacations that are being spent abroad by the heads of prominent houses were prompted by business considerations rather than a desire for rest and recuperation. A formidable list of Cincinnati and eastern machine tool and wood working machinery builders who are now in Europe trying to open a larger market for their product could be given, if it were necessary to go into details.

These efforts on the part of our people are not fruitless, the statistics for exports abundantly prove. July was a banner month in the export trade of American manufactures, according to the tables of the treasury department which we recently printed. Confirmatory evidence that the greater prosperity abroad is affording an increasing measure of relief to our dull and heavy-burdened markets is presented in the treasury department's figures for the movement of general merchandise between this and other countries. The figures follow:

Exports, 7 months, 1896, $12,326,722; 1895, $11,853,123. Imports, " " 443,626,754; 454,826,576. Here we have an excess of exports over imports for the seven months of this year, ending with July, of $9,734,609, as compared with an unfavorable trade balance for the corresponding period of 1895, amounting to $21,219,064, which, however, was recovered in the next five months, and a balance of over $23,000,000 for the twelve months together secured in our favor. Hence, it may be safely remarked that, with the splendid start already made—and at a time, too, when we are usually importing more merchandise than we are selling abroad—the prospects are uncommonly favorable for a great record for exports for the calendar year.

The contemporaneous movement of the precious metals is also interesting, though not in the same way. The excess of exports of gold coin and bullion over imports was $9,077,788 last month, or nearly three times greater than in July, 1895, and for the seven months the excess was fully equal to the total American gold production in that time, leaving nothing for either coinage or the domestic arts. But there was nothing remarkable in this circumstance, however, unfortunate for the country it has been, since for several years past the excess of gold exports over gold imports has considerably exceeded the entire output of our gold mines, thereby forcing a steady contraction in the volume of our primary money.

The exports of silver coin and bullion also increased substantially, the excess of the output for the seven months being $28,574,247, or about $5,250,000 greater than for the like time last year.

GOOD TIME AWAITS HIM.

Preparations Being Made to Receive Li Hung Chang.

Committee of New York Citizens Arrange to Entertain Magnificently the Chinese Ambassador Upon His Visit to America.

Present indications are that when Li Hung Chang arrives in this country a few weeks hence the ambassador will be entertained magnificently, not alone by the national and state authorities, but by a committee of distinguished citizens, who, because of their past residence in the orient or because of their estimate of the Chinese statesman, are desirous of paying him the profoundest respect.

The importance of this purely civic compliment will be fully appreciated by Li Hung Chang, because he is acquainted with every member of the committee as it is thus far composed. The committee consists of John E. Ward, minister to China in 1858-60; Mr. Seward, who was minister from 1873 until 1880; John Russell Young, who was minister from 1882 to 1886; John L. Cadwallar, who was assistant secretary of state with Mr. Fish, and who visited China thereafter, receiving personal attentions from the viceroy; Edward L. Burlingame, son of Hon. Anson Burlingame, who was minister to China from 1860 to 1867, and thereafter the minister of China to various western powers. Col. Fred D. Grant, who was in China with his father, will be asked to take part in the work of this committee, and several other members of the old mercantile community in China, if, upon inquiry of the viceroy, it is found that he can remain long enough in New York to take part in a dinner to be given in his honor.

The probabilities are that the viceroy will remain in that city but one or two days. His official character as the ambassador of China would necessitate his almost immediate departure for Washington when he lands. That he will observe this principle of diplomatic courtesy there can be little doubt, for the Chinese official is most punctilious. After visiting Washington he may revisit New York, however, and spend a little more time in responding to the desires of that part of the population which will seek to do him honor. On his way west, it is said, he will make a stop, in all likelihood, only in Chicago. He will be entertained in San Francisco before he departs for home.

NEW ELECTRIC CONDUIT SYSTEM

Exhibition of Plan Which Seems Feasible Given at Rookery.

A private exhibition of an entirely new electric conduit system was given the other day at the Rookery, at Chicago, at which a large number of steam and street railway officials were present. Several new features were shown, whereby this system is said to be more durable, cheaper and cleaner than steam, overhead trolley, third rail or any other appliance now in use, while the cost of construction is only one-quarter as much as any other underground system.

The exhibition was made on a track 70 feet long, whose surface was an exact representation of street paving. In the center of the track is a slot similar to the regulation cable slot, only the opening is smaller. The wires, both delivery, return and feed, are carried beneath and inside the rail, and protected from moisture and water by six inches of solid insulation. The current is delivered to the motor by a new chemical device called switch boxes. These boxes are of solid castings with holes bored through the center, wherein works a plunger with a wheel attached to the end, which extends into the slot conduit.

Every motor car carries a contact shoe, and there is no way by which the contact can be broken. One feature of the invention is that there is no loss of electricity, as in the third rail system. The system could be easily applied to steam roads, and railroad men are much interested in the exhibition.

BICYCLE BAGGAGE CARS.

The Pennsylvania Company Secures a Device to Hold Wheels.

E. B. Taylor, superintendent of transportation of the Pennsylvania lines, said the other day that he had prepared plans for an arrangement whereby bicycles can be easily carried in cars without inconveniencing the baggage-man or in any way exposing the wheels to injury from other baggage falling on them. A number of clamps are arranged at the top of the baggage car, so that the wheels can be hung up so as not to interfere in any way with other baggage. These clamps are made specially for this purpose and will prove a great aid to the already much-worked agent. Three cars will be fitted up at once by the Fort Wayne company and will be tried on some of their popular trains. If the trial proves a success all the baggage cars on the line will be provided in the same manner. Mr. Taylor has spent much time in trying to solve the problem of bicycle transportation, and now thinks that he has found the right method. At the rate the shipment of wheels as baggage is increasing, the railroads will soon be compelled to put on extra baggage cars. It is thought by some that a return to charging for transportation will soon be made on this account.

Saw a Meteor Cross the Moon.

Prof. William R. Brooks, director of the Smith observatory at Geneva, N. Y., while observing the moon the other night, saw a dark object pass across the moon in a horizontal direction. Prof. Brooks believes it to have been a meteor, too far removed from the earth's atmosphere to become ignited. The observation is entirely new in astronomical annals.

CLAYTON CASE OPENS TODAY.

Special Verdict of One Hundred Jurymen Ordered by the Court.
A special venire of 100 jurymen was ordered by Judge Hubbell yesterday afternoon for the Clayton murder case, which has been set for trial today. This case will no doubt occupy the court the rest of the week. THE MINING JOURNAL representative called on Clayton yesterday at the jail. According to Clayton's idea a more innocent man than he never occupied a cell and he is only too anxious to prove his assertions. Clayton states that his health of late is not good and he is afraid of becoming consumptive. Should he be acquitted he intends going to California to live. Mrs. Clayton called at the court house Monday, but did not ask to see the prisoner.

Court has been occupied the past three days in the case of Albert Beakley and Geo. Hall vs. Thomas Parks and Will Parks, a suit in trover, for the conversion of several hundred cords of wood cut by the Parks on land afterwards acquired by the plaintiffs. The evidence adduced thus far tends to show that Will Parks, and not Thomas, cut the wood, he claiming title through tax deeds running through a series of years. The case will be given to the jury today.
Today Judge Hubbell will listen to an application for bail in behalf of Redpath and Beverage, who are now held for murder in Ontonagon county. Assistant State Attorney Chase of Lansing is here in behalf of the state and will argue against admitting the prisoners to bail. This case will be either tried in Houghton county or before Judge Hubbell sitting for Judge Hare in Ontonagon county.

Mining Notes.
A stockholder of the Boston & Montana says the company will earn $19 a share this year and will no doubt disburse $11 a share to stockholders, as there is no question, unless something unforeseen happens, but what the next dividend will be $2 a share regular and $2 extra. Besides this he thinks that by Jan. 1, 1897, the surplus of the Boston & Montana will be $3,000,000. When the surplus reaches $3,750,000 it is expected the company will vote to pay all the earnings of the mine to its stockholders.
Information of a most encouraging nature comes from the underground workings of the Osceola. South of No. 4 shaft the ground is showing various grades of good copper, while the ground underneath No. 6 shaft shows healthy characteristics and indications now point to that vicinity contributing a yield of rock fully equal, if not better, than the average of the mine.
At present the lode of North Tamarack south of No. 3 shaft is reported as being very rich in copper.
Exports of copper from Baltimore Friday aggregated 800 tons.

McKinley Club Officers.
At a meeting of the McKinley club at the engine house, Hancock, Monday evening a permanent organization was perfected and the following officers elected: President, C. A. Wright; secretary, John J. Eicher; vice president, C. B. Dunstan; W. Wright, William Harry and S. B. Harris. The executive committee elected consists of W. H. Mason, Dr. W. H. Dodge, L. H. Richardson, August Pelto and O. W. Robinson. The club adjourned to meet Saturday evening, Sept. 5, when T. L. Chadbourne of Houghton is expected to read his paper on the money question.

Bound Over For Trial.
The case of John Funkey and John Miller of Baraga was brought before United States Commissioner Finn at Hancock yesterday. There are six separate charges against them for cutting and removing timber off government land in Baraga county. Funkey and Miller waived examination in each case and were bound over for trial at the next term of the United States court at Marquette. Hon. John Power, United States attorney, appeared in behalf of the United States while Dunstan and Hanchette appeared for the defendants.

The Cattle Nuisance.
At a meeting of the Calumet township board Monday a petition, signed by J. N. Cox and seventy-three others, was read, praying that the necessary steps be taken as provided by law to rid the town of the nuisance caused by cattle roaming its streets. On motion the clerk was instructed to communicate with the other townships in the county and draw out a set of by-laws which will be submitted for the approval of the voters.

Off to the Convention.
A special car attached to the regular train will leave Houghton this morning for Ironwood. This car will contain the delegates from Houghton county to the congressional convention and they will be accompanied by enough friends of Sheldon to tax the capacity of the car, as Sheldon stock has seemed to appreciate materially within the past few days.
Chosen Major of the Fifth.
Captain William L. Winslow of the Ironwood company has been elected major of the Fifth regiment in place of Major Petermann, who resigned last winter. Captain Winslow was the senior officer of the regiment. He is said to be very popular with his company.

COPPERDOM BREVITIES.

The Japan and J. C. Foard passed up and the Geo. Farwell and Alaska passed up yesterday.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Hanley was held yesterday from St. Patrick's church.
It is expected that nearly one hundred copper country people will attend the G. A. R. encampment next week at St. Paul.

Dr. J. E. Scallon of Hancock will address a meeting of the Honest Money club of Houghton at Pfeiffer's Hall, Friday evening.
John Biscombe, agent of the Hancock & Calumet railway at Dollar Bay, accompanied by his sister, left Monday for a week's visit with friends at Duluth.

A largely attended meeting of the Monetary club of Calumet was held Monday evening in the public library. The discussions were interesting and received close attention. Future meetings of the club will be held at Olson's Hall.

Members of the Home Dramatic club of Hancock have commenced rehearsing for "The Two Orphans." Hal Newton Carlyle will assume the character of Widow Frochard, the old hag, while Mrs. Carlyle will take the part of Louise, the blind girl. The character of Henrietta has been assigned to Miss McGrath.

THE WORK OF HOUSEKEEPING.

It May Be Made More Easy by Economical Arrangement.
It is of no use pretending that housekeeping is easy; it isn't. It is hard work. However, there are ways of more or less alleviating the hardship, and some of them have been discovered by a family in the suburbs, where servants are generally unsatisfactory and uncertain of tenure. This particular household consists of a mother and two daughters. If they are left maidless—and that is no uncommon occurrence in village life—they perform the disagreeable feat known provincially as "doing one's own work," after a plan which they have evolved. One prepares the breakfast one morning, luncheon the next day, and dinner on the next. The other two clear away and wash the dishes. Thus each one is responsible for a different meal each day, and has no other concern except the mere menial labor. Whoever gets the breakfast does the upstairs work as well that day.
Another plan of this family, even when they have servants, is to divide the catering, seeing after the meals, etc., among themselves, so that it shall not prove so wearisome a task to anyone. They each take turns by the week in marketing, planning food and overseeing its cooking. This gives a much greater variety for the table, and is good practice for the daughters as well as relief to the mother. Likewise it is an economical arrangement. Each manager makes it a point of pride to see how well she can run the house on the least possible sum, as there is the comparison every Saturday night with the accounts of the other two to spur her on to her best endeavor.—Boston Budget.

Fashion's Latest Lore.
The newest evening coiffures are in 1830 style, with motives of jet, steel and Strass.
The link belts in enamel are much worn by those who possess pretty gold or silver trifles that can be hung from them by chains.
The newest sort of yoke is made of a close-set white cord, braided in an important pattern wide enough to cover the top of the bodice and entirely to the bust. It is either of this fashion or else quite narrow, merely a band across the upper portion of the neck attached to a rounded drapery drooping over the arm.

Chic-looking zouaves attract the eye on many of the most stylish dresses of the year. Sometimes they are all lace, sometimes fine muslin as a ground-work to the minutest white embroidery. Occasionally they are made of grass lawn, worked all over with pompadour flowers or jewels, and embroidered glasses are employed for them.—Chicago News.

SATURDAY EXCURSIONS TO LAKE MICHIGAMME.
Commencing Saturday, June 30, the D., S. S. & A. R. will sell excursion tickets to Lake Michigamme and return at the low fares enumerated below. Tickets will be on sale for the train leaving Marquette 9:10 a. m., Negaunee 9:50 a. m., Ishpeming 10:00 a. m. Passengers will be left at the boat landing about one mile east of Michigamme station, where the steamer "Lake Michigamme" and "Plover" will take excursionists for a trip on the lake, giving them an opportunity of spending the day on the water and the beautiful islands of Lake Michigamme, returning in time to connect at the boat landing with the train leaving Michigamme 4:58 p. m., arriving at Ishpeming 5:55 p. m., Negaunee 6:05 p. m. and Marquette 6:35 p. m. The excursion rate includes the boat ride.
This arrangement will be continued during the summer season as long as the patronage will warrant the special service that it entails. -13-tf

CLAIMS AGAINST SPAIN.

United States Pushing Them for an Immediate Settlement.

Spanish Government Replies to the Communication of the State Department and Objects Emphatically to Making Payment Demanded.

A New York Herald special from Washington says:
The state department has just received an adverse communication from the Madrid authorities in answer to the demand made upon them for an immediate settlement of the claims preferred against the Spanish government by Dr. Jose Delgado, an American citizen, who was outrageously treated by Spanish troops on his estate near Havana, Cuba. In its note containing the demand the department set forth evidence to prove the justice of the claim, laying particular stress upon the statement and action of Capt. Gen. Weyler after the outrage had been committed.

The reply which has been received from Spain goes into details respecting the visit of the Spanish troops to the Delgado plantation and to their subsequent actions while there. Immediately after the receipt of the demand from the United States the Madrid authorities ordered that an investigation be made into the occurrence, and the report of this investigation was forwarded upon completion to the Spanish capital. This report sustains the action of the Spanish forces, and attempts to explain the outrage committed on Dr. Delgado.

The claim that the department is pressing is that for personal injuries sustained by Dr. Delgado. The damage to his property has been assessed and forwarded to Spain as a separate claim. It will be considered, in conjunction with the many others which have been filed and submitted to the Madrid authorities, by a joint commission, which will be appointed by the two governments at the close of the Cuban rebellion.
Acting under instructions sent by the state department, Minister Taylor made a reply to the Spanish note, which was an answer to the original demand made by this government in the Delgado case. When the contents of the note were laid before the department the flimsy character of the evidence supporting the Spanish government's contention that Delgado's claim was not such as to warrant its payment was ascertained by the officials.
The necessary instructions were sent to Minister Taylor, and that official in a note to the Spanish minister for foreign affairs analyzed the evidence he had submitted, and further sustained the original note addressed to the Madrid authorities by the facts with which the department had in the meantime supplied him. The department will make no further movement in this case until the Spanish government makes answer to Minister Taylor's note. It is expected by the officials that the Spanish authorities will instruct Capt. Gen. Weyler to make further inquiry into the Delgado case.

FORTUNE IN AN ORGAN.
Miser's Old Melodeon Found Stuffed with Bonds.
Mrs. Charlotte Edison, who died at Northfield, Vt., a few days ago at the age of 70, had for many years lived the life of a recluse, in a little unpainted house, and seldom, if ever, was a neighbor permitted to enter its doors.
For her own wants she practiced an economy which was miserly, yet she contributed to the church of her preference liberally, and many poor families have been the recipients of the necessities of life from her hands, but were never aware whence these articles came.
Upon learning of her death, C. S. Emery and wife, of Chelsea, distant relatives, went to see that the funeral arrangements were properly conducted. In company with Undertaker Fletcher, Mr. Emery was at the house, and an old-fashioned melodeon attracted their attention. It was decided it could be made useful in furnishing music at the funeral.

The lid was found locked, and was finally forced open, when they were profoundly surprised to find that the old instrument had been used as a safe. When the lid was raised it revealed a package of government bonds, amounting to nearly $18,000. Of this sum $9,000 were coupon bonds and the balance registered bonds. Several hundred dollars in gold, silver and paper money were also found hidden about the house.

CAUSE OF MANY MARRIAGES.
Christian Endeavor Meetings Are a Boon to Youthful Lovers.
A Washington woman whose fad is finding out the reasons for things says she has discovered the secret of the immense popularity of the Christian Endeavor society, some 60,000 members of which are now doing Washington. She says it is because the society facilitates intercourse between young men and women and makes marriages, and she insinuates that one of these annual conventions makes more marriages than all the summer resorts in the country combined. Maybe she knows; I'm sure I don't, says the correspondent of the Memphis Herald. But I am prepared to testify that more young people wearing Christian Endeavor badges combined sight-seeing and lovemaking than were ever before seen at one time in Washington, and some of the girls were so sweet and pretty that the laziest man on earth would enjoy showing them the sights, if he might also make love to them.

MIDLAKE AND HARBOR GOSSIP.

Port list.—Arrived: M. M. Drake. Cleared:—Wawatam, Cleveland.

The Ford and Japan were in going up late Monday night. The former had an unusually heavy load of freight, and the passenger list of the Japan was anything but light.

Since mention was made in THE MINING JOURNAL of the violators of the regulations of St. Mary's river, there have been fifteen boats fined and confiscated, the fines amounting to $3400. As usual appeals were taken in each and every case.

The entire lake shipbuilding industry including engine, boiler and machine works, comprises over thirty firms, with an aggregate capital of about $20,000,000, apart from builders of small craft not in the registered tonnage. The principal shipyards for iron and steel shipbuilding are at Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo and South Chicago.

The average size of the vessels of the lake marine is twice as great as that of the ocean merchant marine. The tonnage of the lakes is nearly 40 per cent of the total of the merchant marine of the United States, excluding that of western rivers. About 50,000 men are employed upon the vessels of the lake marine.

Thirty-five years ago it cost 15 cents a bushel to carry grain by water from Chicago to Buffalo, and even in 1870 about half as much, whereas, shortly after 1890, the freight got as low as 2 1/2 cents a bushel. The average freight rate on ore from Escanaba to Lake Erie ports in 1870 was $2.50 a ton, but in 1891 it had fallen to 84 cents, while coal was carried from Cleveland to Duluth, nearly 1,000 miles, for 40 cents a ton, or about the cost of delivering a ton from a local yard to a city consumer.

NOT THE DOG'S FAULT.

She Blamed Fido for All of the Excitement.

A well-dressed woman, leading a frisky Skye terrier by a chain, walked into the ladies' cabin of a Gloucester ferryboat the other day. As soon as she had seated herself the Skye terrier with blinking eyes crawled under the seat and proceeded to go to sleep.

A well-dressed Gloucesterite, carrying a small market basket, entered the ladies' cabin and deposited his 180 pounds of avoiditopsis in the next seat to the woman with the Skye terrier. He shoved his basket under the seat, and, without drawing a newspaper from his pocket, settled himself to read.

The boat was moving from the slip, when suddenly the woman began to wriggle. "She toyed impatiently with her skirts, and, in a stage whisper audible to those nearest her, said: "Don't be rude, Fido," and gave the dog chain a little jerk. A moment later she turned pale, and, giving the chain a hard jerk, said, screechingly: "Lie down, Fido; behave yourself, sir!"

The passengers smiled, and the woman gasped. She jumped up with a shriek that would have done credit to a Sioux Indian, and began to strike her skirts and dance about as if executing a Comanche war dance. As she and the dog swung round the cabin the animal resembled a rag pin wheel just set off.

The other passengers had by this time become intensely interested in the performance and stared at the woman in open-eyed wonder. An idea suddenly struck the well-dressed Gloucesterite. He reached under the seat and calmly withdrew his basket, and as he raised the lid a look of wisdom overspread his rosy features. To him, at least, the mystery of the woman's actions was made plain.

"Madam," he said, without moving an eyelash, "when you are through with my lobster will you kindly return it to me?"

There was a last wild despairing shriek as the woman collapsed into a dead faint. Then the Gloucesterite wrenched open the jaws of his lobster and replaced the crustacean in his basket. Some among the crowd continued to roar, while others set about restoring the unfortunate woman to consciousness.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Decorations and Orders.

"What is the difference," asked a correspondent, apropos of Li Hung Chang's journey to Europe, "between a yellow jacket, a button, or a peacock's feather, on the one hand, and a thistle, a bath, or a garter, on the other? Why do we lavish so much ridicule on the importance attached to the first set of emblems by the Chinese when we ourselves set just as much store by the second set?"

There is much force in these questions, and I commend them to the attention of the wags in the press who are always poking fun at Li Hung Chang's yellow jacket and peacock's feathers. Looking at the matter impartially, it seems to me that a yellow jacket, or a glass button, or a peacock's feather is more suitable for decorative purposes than either a bath or a garter—I do not say a thistle, because no doubt that is an object highly appropriate to many of those on whom it has been conferred.—London Truth.

Ishpeming and Vicinity.

IT WENT TO IRONWOOD.

Rowett of That Place Wins the Championship in the Wrestling Tournament.

The Greatest Series of Matches Ever Witnessed at Ishpeming Closed Yesterday.

John Rowett of Ironwood was yesterday declared the champion Cornish wrestler of the upper peninsula and as a result of his work in the tournament here, which came to a close at 11:30 o'clock, he now possesses the finest gold medal ever worn by any upper peninsula champion in any branch of athletic exercise. In addition to the medal Rowett also received $60 in gold. "Sonny" Dwyer of Hancock took second prize, $40 in gold; Thomas Stevens of Osceola, third, $30 in gold, and Ed Brockington of Iron Mountain fourth, $10 in gold.

The contest between the four prize winners began at 9:30 o'clock, with over 1,000 spectators on the seats. The judges announced that the two heaviest men would come together for the first and third prizes and the two lightest for the second and fourth. According to the weights of the contestants taken the previous day this would bring Rowett and Dwyer together, as there was but two pounds difference in their weights, the former tipping the scales at 163 pounds and the latter at 160.

Assuming that he was to meet Rowett in the first round, Dwyer addressed the assemblage, saying that inasmuch as the two heaviest men were to meet first he thought it no more than right that all should be weighed over again. This met the approval of the judges and the four contestants again stepped on the scales. Rowett balanced up at 160 pounds; Dwyer 155; Stevens 166; Brockington 122. This put Rowett and Stevens together for first and third prizes and Dwyer and Brockington for second and fourth.

The two latter were the first to wrestle. They gave a very pretty exhibition, having eight bouts, when Dwyer won the fall. Brockington is doubtless the best wrestler of his weight ever seen here. He threw some good men in wrestling for standards and was a prime favorite with the spectators. All were pleased to see him get a prize, as he certainly deserved it. As Rowett and Stevens stepped into the ring they were enthusiastically cheered by the spectators. After four very clever bouts, lasting about forty minutes, Rowett gave his opponent a beautiful fall.

Brockington gave Stevens his back, so that the latter took the third prize without throwing his plucky little opponent. After a few minutes intermission Rowett and Dwyer stepped into the ring. The spectators then cheered for fully a minute. Time was called. It took but one short hitch to settle the championship. Both men rushed wickedly at each other and they had hardly time to get a good hold before Rowett gave Dwyer the crook and landed him squarely on his back. The latter did not wait for the sticklers to make their decision, but immediately pulled off his jacket and retired. The vast crowd cheered louder than ever while Rowett was carried out of the ring on the shoulders of his admirers.

A consolation match between four lightweights—William Lucas, Thomas Atwell, Ed Johns and Thomas Pascoe, all of Ishpeming—who did great work in the contest but were thrown when they met the heavier men, was announced. A special purse of $15 was raised. This was divided into two prizes of $10 and $5. Atwell and Pascoe were first to wrestle. After nine or ten hitches Atwell won the fall. Johns and Lucas had four or five lively bouts, the latter winning. Atwell and Lucas then came together and the former won. He caught Lucas off his guard and gave him one of the prettiest falls of either contest.

The spectators were then requested to keep their seats, as the prizes were to be distributed from the ring. The six winners were called into the circle and Professor Hardy was selected to make the presentation speech. He complimented each contestant on his work and also spoke of the success of the tournament. At the conclusion of Mr. Hardy's remarks Smith, one of the wrestlers who made such a good showing in the ring Monday, stepped to the front and challenged John Rowett to wrestle Tony Harris of Lake Linden, formerly of Ashland, for $50 or $100 a side. Joe Pope of this city rushed out of the crowd and produced a roll of bills, requesting Smith to back his man with the cash. Smith replied that the money was forthcoming before the day was over.

Rowett then stepped to the front and said that he would wrestle any man of his weight—160 pounds—in the United States for $50 or $1,000 a side, and that the money could be obtained to back his proposal within a few minutes. This ended the proceedings in the wrestling ring. Rowett was then carried through the streets of the city on the shoulders of his friends and admirers. The greater number of the crowd followed the procession. In justice to Dwyer it is only fair to state that he made the best showing of any man in this, the greatest of all Cornish wrestling contests ever held in the upper peninsula. He did more work than any three men taking part, and no ordinary man could have stood half the punishment he received from some of the wrestlers. His tagging and pulling for five hours with Bert Williams, the big 230-pound wrestler from Ironwood, was enough to wear out the best man that ever put on a jacket. He stood it all, however, and was always on time when called. After his bout with Rowett Monday afternoon many left the ring, displeased because he was not given the fall. He gave Rowett two very pretty turns. When he threw Rowett over his head the sticklers claim that he threw himself as he fell on his shoulders and bridged with his feet. Dwyer is an all-around athlete and is said to be a very clever boxer as well as an expert wrestler. He authorizes THE MINING JOURNAL reporter to state that he will wrestle any man in the world, of 158 pounds or less, for $50 a side, either catch-as-catch-can or Graeco-Roman.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Robert McCourt of Escanaba spent yesterday in Ishpeming. Harry Work was here yesterday in the interest of Woodard & Stone. J. W. Fridmold, treasurer of Houghton county, was in the yesterday the guest of Jels Majhannu.

Manager John M. Egan of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming railway line was in Ishpeming yesterday. Several members of the Sons of St. George lodge, accompanied by the Ishpeming City band, serenaded Hon. John Jones at his home on First street Monday evening.

The wrestlers and their friends from the copper country departed for home yesterday afternoon on the 4 o'clock train. "Sonny" Dwyer expects to leave for Buffalo within the next ten days.

The members of the local Odd Fellows lodge will be accompanied to Champion next Saturday by the Ishpeming City band. A number of outsiders from here will take in the excursion.

The decorations were yesterday torn from the arches put up for the Sons of St. George celebration. The high wind which prevailed all day blew the bunting, flags, etc., down from a number of the business places.

Despite the high wind which prevailed yesterday the Ishpeming people who attended a picnic at Michigamme report having had a pleasant outing. A number of Negaunee people and a few from Marquette were in the party.

POLITICS IN THE OLDEN TIME.

Getting a Thousand Dollars' Damages for Being Called a Federalist.

It is sometimes thought that political rancor is carried to an extreme point in our times, but it is nothing compared with what it was in the early days of the Republic. The intensity to which rancor of this kind was formerly carried is well illustrated by a libel suit which was once tried in Indiana. The alleged libel was that the defendant had called the plaintiff "an old federalist," by the publication of which "false, scandalous and defamatory libel," so the declaration alleged, "the plaintiff has been brought into public disgrace, and his neighbors have since refused to have any intercourse with him." The counsel for the defendant filed a general demurrer to the declaration, insisting that it was not actionable to call a man a federalist, and that therefore the declaration did not set forth a libel if proved. The court, however, submitted the whole matter to the jury, the members of which were to be the judges of the law as well as of the fact. The jury was impaneled with great difficulty, some scores of talesmen having been set aside upon their affirmative answer to the question: "Have you formed or expressed an opinion whether it is slander to call a man a federalist?" The first witness for the plaintiff was an old man named Herndon, reared in the woods of Kentucky, who had moved from the latter state to Indiana. Mr. Herndon testified as follows: "Mr. Herndon, do you consider it libelous and slanderous to call a man a federalist?" "I do."

"Which would you rather a man would call you—a federalist or a horse-thief?" "I would choose him if he called me one or the other."

"You have not answered the question."

"I would rather be called anything under the heavens than a federalist."

"What damage would you say that the defendant should pay for this libel in calling the plaintiff a federalist?" "I would say $1,000 at least."

The counsel for the defendant then cross-examined Mr. Herndon as follows: "Mr. Herndon, what do you understand by a federalist?" "My understanding is that it means a Tory—an enemy to his country."

"Is that the common acceptance of the term?" "Yes; I have never heard any other from the first settlements in Kentucky up to the present time."

On the redirect examination Mr. Herndon was asked only a single question: "Mr. Herndon, would you feel safe with a federalist by your side, to meet the Indians in a bush-fight?" "I would not; I would just as soon have one of the hostile Indians, with his rifle and tomahawk, by my side."

The counsel for the plaintiff said that he had 29 other witnesses whom he was ready to examine; but, to save time, it was agreed by the counsel on both sides that each of the 29 would swear to the same effect as Mr. Herndon, and that the publication of the libel was admitted. After lengthy and able arguments, the case was given to the jury, which soon brought in the following verdict: "We find that to charge a man with being a federalist is libelous, and we assess the damages of the plaintiff at $1,000;" whereupon the judge observed: "The court are well satisfied with your verdict, gentlemen."—Boston Transcript.

Imprisoned Him More. "How did Buffalo scenery affect you?" asked the newspaper native of his visitor, who had just come in from a trolley ride on the avenues. "I was very much impressed," was the reply. "I thought you'd be," said the guest, promptly. "What impressed you the most?" "That fat woman who was standing only too close to the way down."—Buffalo Times.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month. So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at E. Farnham's Drug Store.

Society Girl Runs a Locomotive While Her Cavalier Fires. Natalie McNeal Beats Her Millionaire Escort in a Bicycle Race and Makes Him Do Two Hours' Hard Work as a Penalty.

Society people of Burlington, N. J., are in no end of tongue wagging over the escapade of Miss Natalie McNeal, who manned a locomotive of the Pennsylvania railroad and made her cavalier do the work of a fireman while she presided over the throttle. Miss McNeal is the 19-year-old daughter of Andrew H. McNeal, the millionaire who conducts the largest foundry in the state. She is probably the most popular woman living on the New Jersey side of the Delaware river. She is the head of the exclusive set of Burlington society and can ride a horse or propel a wheel with equal grace.

Among the visitors at the McNeal residence is Edward Burd Grubb, Jr., son of Millionaire Harry B. Grubb, a retired broker and ex-member of the New York Yacht club. He is a nephew of Edward B. Grubb, Sr., of Edgewater, N. J., who was minister to Spain during Garfield's administration. Young Grubb is about 23 years old, good-looking, and is said to be the possessor of a snug little fortune of $1,000,000. It was one Monday afternoon that Miss McNeal, while on her wheel, met young Grubb near the post office.

"I'll place you to the foundry," said Miss McNeal. "What shall we race for?" he asked.

"Well, if you lose, you must do two hours' work," she replied. The one-sided wager was made.

Miss McNeal easily won the race. An hour later she mounted a yard engine chartered by Mr. McNeal to shunt cars in the foundry yard and ordered Grubb to enter the cab of the engine.

"Now, you'll have to do the firing," she said to Grubb, "and you must keep on a good head of steam, for we are going to make some quick runs."

Then she pulled the throttle wide open and the locomotive sprang forward. The young millionaire took off his coat and started to leave in coal. He was clumsy at first and handled the larger pieces with his hands. Then he wiped his hands on his white handkerchief and a moment or two later whipped his brow with it.

The tracks run through the main street of the town, and the racket of the bell and whistle attracted widespread attention. There were roars of laughter at the picture young Grubb presented. His white duck trousers were just sufficiently white to show that he was not a regular stoker. The perspiration poured down his face, but he kept manfully at work. It was all great fun for the millionaire's daughter, but Grubb didn't enjoy it a bit. Grubb was kept at work exactly an hour and a half. Miss McNeal then reloaded and ran the locomotive back to the foundry yard.

THE FINANCIAL QUESTIONS. Government Issues a Pamphlet Explaining Many Points.

In view of the great number of requests for information on financial questions, the treasury department has prepared a pamphlet of 54 pages, answering as nearly as can be foreseen the questions asked and expected to be asked. The book gives a history of United States bonds from the time of the earliest issues and how they are disposed of; coinage of all sorts and treasury issues of paper money of every description now in circulation.

The various kinds of notes—ten in number—are described, and amounts issued and in circulation. Fractional currency also has a paragraph, and the system of redemption of United States notes is explained.

Statistics are very elaborately gone into, covering the world's production of gold and silver; America's production from 1792 to 1895; monetary systems and approximate stocks of money in the principal countries of the world, and a summary of monetary events since 1786 arranged chronologically; the value, weight and fineness of all American coins and the changes and dates of each issue.

The purpose of the department is to send a copy of this book to every person applying for information with the page and paragraph marked which contains the answer to the query propounded.

STEER JUMPS INTO A BUGGY. Occupant of the Vehicle Leaps in Time to Escape the Angered Animal.

Arthur Meeker, employed in Armour's packing house, was driving into the stock yards at Chicago the other day when he encountered a drove of long-horned cattle being driven from the yards. Meeker halted until the cattle had about gone by when a huge steer stopped in front of his horse. Meeker was in a hurry, and shook his whip at the steer in a threatening manner.

The steer took the move as a challenge, and lowering its head started for the carriage. As he did so Meeker jumped from the buggy just in time, for the steer, jumping in the air, landed squarely in the place vacated a moment before by Meeker. The buggy was wrecked, and the steer, getting out of the debris, followed its companions down the street.

It Was Too Rich. A Lewiston (Me.) man thought his precocious baby was getting food that was not sufficiently rich for him, so he asked the milk inspector to analyze some of it, when it was discovered that it was too rich. The baby now thrives on a diluted diet, and the milkman had a large increase in his list of customers.

Becky Claims. It is stated that the claims against the Chartered company arising out of the Matabele revolt amount to $1,000,000.

In and About Negaunee.

A FRATERNAL DISPUTE.

Two Young Men of Negaunee Adopt a Novel Way of Settling a Family Row.

Two young men, brothers, who reside on Cherry street adopted a novel method of settling a dispute Monday evening. One of them recently arrived here from the old country. It appears that the other, who has been in Negaunee some time, was not contributing his share to the support of the family across the water. Ever since the latest importation reached here he has been complaining about his brother's treatment of the old folks in not sending more of his earnings home. Finally they agreed to settle the dispute by fighting it out.

A third brother, with whom the two young men board, was selected to referee the fight. It was agreed that the will should take place in a field situated a short distance from his home. A few intimate friends of the contestants were invited to witness the fight. In order to not arouse any suspicion the men repaired to the field very quietly. The conditions of the fight were agreed on and the two brothers went at it. It is said that five or six very hot rounds were fought, when both decided that they had all the fight they wanted. A dance was given returning home that nothing more should be said by either concerning the matter over which they had quarrelled.

Were Married Here.

Henry Argott and Miss Martha Varny, both of Ishpeming, were married yesterday morning at St. Paul's church in this city. Rev. Father Langner, the pastor, officiating. After spending a few hours with friends here the happy couple returned to Ishpeming. A dance was given last night at the home of the bride's parents in honor of the event.

A Victim of Consumption.

Matt Salany, a native of Finland, who has resided in Negaunee for some time past, died Sunday at his boarding place on Tobin street of consumption. He was twenty-seven years of age and unmarried. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon with religious services conducted by Rev. Tolonen of Ishpeming.

'Twas a Mistake.

The Nesbitt brothers who were called to Bessemer on account of the death of their aunt, Mrs. Frank McMinn, as they supposed, from the way the telegram read, got home yesterday. After arriving at Bessemer they learned that it was Mr. McMinn who had died, instead of his wife.

Sunday School Picnic.

The teachers and pupils of the Sunday school society of St. John's Episcopal church will hold a picnic tomorrow at the old Iron Mountain mine, around the Cliff. The rigs will leave the church at 9 o'clock so that all who intend going should be around on time.

Boiling River

It is sure enough. It is not as large as the Mississippi, indeed it is quite small, but a mighty interesting stream for all that. It issues from the sides of a mountain in a thousand tiny rills, more or less, and of almost as many colors. These gather themselves into pools and lakelets on the mountain's side, covering an area of about 200 acres. Overflowing their boundaries they slowly trickle down the sides of the mountain forming small cliffs, the most wonderful in the world. From a distance one can hardly believe what the eyesight reveals—white, black, orange, lemon, terra cotta, green, blue, red, pink, separate and in manifold combinations stand out before him. It is a hill of painted cliffs on the side of the mountain that rises high above. And the odd part of it is that each of these exquisite colors represents a different temperature. Does that startle your credulity? Even so it is true.

When through with this beautiful painting process the waters again come together and then, as if full of mischief, like a pack of small boys trying to play hide and seek, dive down and remain under the ground for a space of two miles and then flow out from the mouth of a canyon as one of the clearest, most beautiful streams in the world. Where these waters emerge from the mountain into the little lakes they are hot, boiling hot. During their dark underground journey they fall several hundred feet and also many degrees in hotness, so that when they again see daylight they are much cooler. This then is Boiling river, an underground mountain stream of hot water.

But you ask, where is it! Where can I see it! It is in Yellowstone Park at Mammoth Hot Springs. It is one of the lesser, mind you the lesser—wonders of this land of wonders. Go there and see it by all means. First send to Chas. E. Fee, General Passenger Agent, Northern Pacific Railroad, St. Paul, Minn., six cents for Wonderful '96, that tells all about this renowned region. (7-24)

Miss Jennie Brooks of Republic is visiting in the city, the guest of Miss Emma Muck.

Miss Minnie Tourville has been ill and unable to be at her post in M. C. Quinn's store since Saturday last.

Joe Richards, the plumber, has finished connecting the sewer and doing other work at the Jackson school house.

Henry Verran of Republic spent the past few days here with his brother, William Verran. He went home yesterday.

Mrs. J. E. Williams and her three children left here Monday for the west, to join Mr. Williams, who left Negaunee some time ago.

The Negaunee & Ishpeming street Railway & Electric Light company is giving the line a thorough ballasting. The material used is being taken from the bank opposite the Union Park.

John Murphy, of Tower, Minn., who resided in Negaunee a number of years prior to thirteen years ago, has been here visiting friends the past few days. He has done well since leaving here. He is conducting a business on his own account and is now one of the solid men of Tower.

A majority of the Negaunee men who took in the wrestling contest at Ishpeming Monday and yesterday would have been pleased to see "Sonny" Dwyer walk off with first prize. They were in sympathy with him on account of the way he had to work in comparison with the other contestants and they also admired him for the fine work he did.

CHINESE MAKE SLOW PROGRESS

Though Ingenious, They Have Made Few Inventions in Recent Years.

In these times, when we can put a circle around the world in 70 days, this globe of ours seems a small enough place. But who conceives its real extent? Who can compass in his mind such a realm as China?

Denis Kearney used to tell us the Chinese were "moon-eyed lepers." My dear friend Bret Harte dubbed them heathens. Our enlightened government proscribes them as things accursed. Yet in that marvelous nation has gone on for immemorial years a civilization and an industry which were brilliant when Europe was a fen peopled by savages and America an undreamed of wilderness.

They had a literature before the Egyptians, and a wise one, too. They had printing when the European world was a chaos. They had art when it was an unknown thing, except, perhaps, to the Egyptians, and to them only in a primitive way. They were the inventors of glass, and centuries upon centuries before a European ship penetrated the Indian ocean their junks traded glassware to the ports of the Persian gulf. The Arabs, with cutting tools procured from the Chinese, engraved and so stole the claim to invention.

When the Chinese commenced to make pottery is unknown. From pottery to porcelain, from porcelain to glazed porcelain the process went on. They cut jewels with miserable tools, which now almost baffle the mechanical ingenuity of Amsterdam. They made coral a jewel when Italy was unknown. They carved jade, an apparently worthless mineral, intractable and brittle, into the most ingenious of artistic forms. Their silks were the silks of the world, for there were no others. And through all these aeons, with all their capricious changes of dynasty, they have remained the same people, perpetuating the feudal system of Europe, a nation of lords and serfs. But of late years, the vassals having been ground down so fine, the conditions having changed so much since the new world has grown up about them, the lords reluctantly part with their treasured heirlooms under the pressure of necessity.—The Collector.

WED IN BIKE COSTUMES.

Impromptu Way in Which a Young Couple Tied Up in Buffalo.

The Groom Obtains the Consent of the Bride's Parents Over the Phone While the Minister Waits—Prominent Society Young People.

Ellicott Evans, brother of James Cary Evans, agent at Chicago for the Anchor line and son of E. T. Evans, of Buffalo, a wealthy shipowner, and Miss Katherine Hamlin, granddaughter of Cicero J. Hamlin, were married at Buffalo the other night by Rev. Walter North.

They wore bicycle costumes, for the marriage was evidently the result of a hasty determination. Dr. North knew the young people well and is acquainted with the families of both. He was surprised when they appeared at his study and asked to be married.

Miss Hamlin is 20 years old and Evans is 26. Dr. North said he would have to require the consent of the girl's parents. Evans went to the telephone next door and called up Mr. William Hamlin at his residence. He said:

"Kate and I are here at Dr. North's. We have decided to get married and Dr. North wants to know if you consent. Do you?"

"Of course."

Evans alone heard the answer. He hung up the receiver, and, returning to Dr. North's house, told him that Mr. Hamlin, while greatly surprised, was content.

"Do you give me your word of honor that he said so?" asked Dr. North. "I do," said Evans, and the doctor performed the ceremony. The young people rode away on their wheels, and later departed for New York. The Hamlin and Evans families refuse to discuss the matter.

Evans lived at Chicago until this summer, being associated with his brother in the Anchor line office. Both played polo in the Chicago polo team last summer.

Miss Hamlin's father is the eldest son of the owner of Village farm, who controls the glucose works in New York state, and Miss Hamlin's home was one of the finest in Buffalo. Mrs. Hamlin objected to Evans, who has no property of his own and has been working here as a clerk. Evans is a Yale graduate and a member of the best clubs here.

"LET SLIP THE DOGS OF WAR."

German Soldiers Required to Train Canine Assistants for Military Service.

From a report just issued by the war department it appears that there are really such things as "dogs of war," and that it is a part of the functions of the German soldier to train carefully certain breeds of dogs to aid him in both hostile and defensive operations. The dogs are not intended to actually fight, but by training them they are made of value in watching camps, in picket duty, in carrying dispatches, and in looking for missing men.

The military information division of the war department has just issued the ninth number of the series of valuable educational publications, the present being devoted principally to a description in great detail of the large military schools of Europe.

Other pages in the volume treat of the difficulty experienced in the European military countries in securing the enlistment of non-commissioned officers, of the various devices used in European armies as range finders, with illustrations of the most successful appliances of that kind; the influence of smokeless powder on tactics, and a most interesting statement of the changes that the use of this new military aid will cause in old methods of fighting; a topical paper by Lord Wolsey discussing the possibility of a hostile invasion of the British isles, and a curious publication of the regulations for the use of war dogs in the German army.

GHOST SCARES FARMERS.

Searching Party Armed with Shotguns Organized for Its Capture.

Farmers of Benton township, Elkhart county, Ind., are greatly excited over the appearance of an apparition at an old church and graveyard.

The specter was first seen by John W. French and his wife while they were returning from a visit in the neighborhood. The ghost is said to be about eight feet high and to resemble an old man with long, white beard, dressed in white and carrying a club. While it appears in the form of a man, however, it is transparent and makes a noise resembling thunder. It advances rapidly upon travelers until about ten feet from them, when it suddenly disappears.

The ghost frightened William M. Moon one night recently so that he has been under the care of a physician ever since. A searching party went out the other night armed with shotguns looking for the specter, and it was seen several times at a distance, and each time was greeted with a volley from the shotguns of the pursuers, but each time it disappeared only to immediately reappear in a different locality.

Another posse went out the next night, which was divided into groups of two and three persons, stationed 100 yards apart. Quite a number in the neighborhood refused to go on these expeditions, fearing dire results. Some of the neighbors say that the specter resembles an old man who was murdered some years ago in that locality, save in height.

DASHED FOR FREEDOM.

Five Convicts Escape Into the Swamp, but Are Shortly Rounded Up.

ALL CAPTURED WITHIN THREE-QUARTERS OF AN HOUR.

Tennesseans Want a Michigan Exhibit—Left for His Wedding—Hard Up for Power to Run the Electric Plant.

CONVICTS MAKE A BREAK.

The usual humdrum monotony of life at the branch prison was broken yesterday morning by an attempted escape.

There were five in the group who made the dash for freedom, three of them belonging in the lot that was sent up from Jackson some months ago because they were too incorrigible to be handled in the lower prison.

At present the only work for the convicts to do is shoveling sand on a big bank a short distance from the prison. This work fifty-four of them were engaged in yesterday forenoon under guard of four deputies. The high wind was blowing the sand about, and it was difficult to see the prisoners at all times.

Suddenly, as if by a preconcerted signal, five of them jumped from the bank, ran across the road and toward the swamp. The first idea of the guards was that the bank was falling down, and that the men were running to get out of the way of the earth, but as soon as the runners jumped off over the side of the road down into the swamp they saw the game and began to pop away with their guns. Bullets flew thick and fast, but the jail birds never stopped running until in the cover of the underbrush.

The balance of the convicts who were working on the bank were hurried into the prison, and as many of the guards as could be spared, eight in number, proceeded to surround the swamp and hunt the fugitives down. As the circle narrowed in the "birds" began to be caught, and each man, as soon as he saw he was trapped, made an abject surrender, some of them throwing up both hands and waving their handkerchiefs above their heads so the guards would not shoot them. The last man was captured within three-quarters of an hour from the time of the break, which considering the few men to do the work and the condition of the land through which the convicts sought to make their escape, is a remarkably short time for the round-up.

When they were brought back it was found that one of them, John Rourke, had two slight wounds, having been shot in the finger and the ear. Both of the wounds were mere scratches. Another of the five had a bullet hole in his hat. The men who attempted to make their escape and for that matter all of the men in the gang at work on the bank, with one or two exceptions, were short time men.

Probably the worst one of the lot is John Rourke. He is one of the incorrigibles sent up from Jackson, and is the fellow who attempted to blow up the institution there with dynamite about a year ago. Rourke was sent up from Detroit to serve five years. The other four would-be-escapes are Pat Horan, sent up from Wayne county by way of Jackson for five years; John Williams of Ontonagon, three years; John Vrooman, sent from Wayne county by way of Jackson, five years; James Kelly, sent direct from Genesee county three years. With one exception they all had the better part of three years yet to serve.

Will Michigan Exhibit?

An effort is being made to have Michigan interests represented at the Tennessee Centennial and International Exposition to be held in Nashville, opening May 1, 1897. This exposition it is said, will be second to none save the great world's fair. The wonderful exhibit that the upper peninsula made at the Columbian show, thanks to the untiring labors of Peter White, has made all subsequent exposition managers desirous to have a similar exhibit, and the gentleman who has charge of the United States exhibit at the Tennessee exposition has written to Mr. White to know if a similar one can be gotten up for the Tennesseans.

More lately Mr. White received a letter from Secretary Campbell, of the Detroit Manufacturers club, apprising him of the anxiety of George H. Barbour, appointed by Governor Rich, Michigan commissioner to the exposition, to have the state manufacturing and other interests well represented.

Among other things told about the exposition Mr. Campbell says: The space for exhibits is absolutely free and applications for same should be made at once, as already a large number have been received by the commissioners. There are fifteen millions of people within a small radius, and it will be the aim of the authorities to have the great majority of them attend frequently.

It will be a splendid medium for advertising purposes, because not too large, like the World's Fair. The city of Nashville, itself worthy of a visit, opens its arms with enthusiasm and bids everybody welcome.

Every exhibitor is required to put up a cash guaranty that he will have his exhibit in place and ready on the 1st day of May, as it is the intention to avoid all the confusion and delay of previous affairs of this kind at the opening day.

Diagrams of buildings and blank applications for space can now be had by calling on the secretary of the club or addressing E. C. Lewis, director general.

The first wedding of the new social season will be a very pretty affair, but in no respects an elaborate one. It will take place on Wednesday evening, Sept. 2.

The happy pair on this occasion will be

Miss Una Libby, only child of the late C. P. Libby of No. 3388 Michigan boulevard, where Mrs. Libby still resides, and Samuel Robert Kaufman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kaufman of Marquette, Mich. The ceremony will be performed at 7 o'clock by Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus in the presence of none but relatives of the contracting parties and a very few intimate friends.

It will be a green and white wedding, these colors having been used when the beautiful bride to be made her debut on Dec. 28, 1894, but the wedding will be extremely simple and void of all ostentation, because of the death some months ago of the bride's father, a man well known and generally liked in the community.

The bride, who is an exceptionally handsome young girl, a tall and commanding brunette, will be attended by her cousin, Miss Jennie Pearl Burnham, as maid of honor, and by the following bridesmaids: Misses Bertha Wilson of Portland, Me.; Sarah Kaufman of Marquette, Mich.; Miriam Kaufman of Marquette, Mich., and Gladys Kaufman of Marquette, Mich.

A niece of the groom little Juliet Breitung, of Marquette, Mich., and but two years of age, will be a flower girl.

The best man will be the groom's brother, D. W. Kaufman of Marquette, Mich., and the ushers will be Messrs. L. G. Kaufman and Harry Kaufman of Marquette, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman will reside in Marquette, Mich., where they will be at home after Nov. 1.

Stevens and His Bass.

The party of campers who spent last week at Beaver lake have returned. They brought back among other things the story of a wonderful seven pound two ounce bass caught by "Billy" Stevens. The story is true because they brought back the bass.

It had been the idea of the proud and happy fisherman to display the beauty in a show window, but this will not be done. Mr. Stevens is sorry for the public, but it is unavoidable. When the party got ready to break camp one of the members who had a copious basket took the big bass in his care, and brought it to Marquette. Thoughtlessly or otherwise he took the fish home with him. That it might not spoil he put it in the ice chest over night for safe keeping.

In the morning the cook discovered it, and supposing it was to eat, fried it an appetizing brown and served it on the breakfast table. That is why it isn't on exhibition before gapping crowds in a Front street show window.

Ablaze With Light.

Presque Isle dock, observed from the foot of Third street, is a beautiful sight. The last of the twenty-five arc lights has just been set, and when the entire series is lighted up the dock presents a fine appearance from a distance. Twenty-four of the lights are white, but the one on the end is red. All of the lights are of 3,000 candle power. On the dock itself it is literally like day, the lights being so close together that hardly a shadow is cast. As a matter of contrast, there are only thirteen or fourteen lights on all the downtown docks against twenty-five on the Presque Isle dock alone.

Held Back the Water.

Owing the Dead River Mill company holding back water at the hoist Superintendent Wilson has had hard work to keep all the electrical lights going. Tuesday morning he had to cut off the arcs at 2 o'clock and it was with difficulty that the incandescents were kept running. It was feared that there would be trouble getting through last night, but up to midnight the lights were all kept on. At that time the arcs were cut out. Sunday when the water was let go at the hoist the flood that came down was almost equal to that of the spring freshet.

Sunday School Picnics.

If the weather is good there will be two picnics at Presque Isle today. One will be made up of the young folks of the Marquette Presbyterian church and Sunday school. The other picnic comes from Negaunee, and is from the Methodist church and Sunday school there. In addition to picnicing the latter crowd of young people will be taken to view the branch prison.

Lots of Nickels Taken In.

The wisdom of reducing the street car fare to five cents has been demonstrated almost daily this summer by the large crowds which have used the trolley getting to and from Presque Isle and other parts of the city. Sunday the cash fare record was broken, over four thousand nickels being taken in.

Boomers for Osborn.

A telephone message was received from the Sault last night that fifty Chase Osborn boomers left there for Ironwood on the sleeper Strathroy. The lobby delegation is headed by City Editor Heichold, of the Sault Ste. Marie News, Mr. Osborn's paper.

Under a Misapprehension.

EDITOR THE MINING JOURNAL:—Will you kindly allow me to state that my signature to the letter which appeared in this morning's issue was given under a misapprehension of what was intended, and was not for publication.
