NEW PARTY IS LAUNCHED.

Gold Democrats Send Their Frail Ship Down the Ways Into the Political Sea.

TWO SESSIONS ARE HELD BY THE CONVENTION.

But It Gets No Further Than Effecting Permanent Organization—Bragg Seems to Lead but Powerful Influences Are Against Him.

CALLED TO ORDER BY PALMER.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 2.—Forty-one states and three territories, represented by 824 delegates, met today in Tomlinson Hall as the climax of a six weeks campaign to repudiate the action of the Chicago convention and put forth a declaration of principles and name a presidential ticket. Senator Palmer, who called the body to order, termed it the first convention of the National Democratic party while others referred to it as the Democracy which held its last convention in 1893. A noticeable feature of the decorations of the hall was the prevalence of gilt, symbolical of the spirit of the convention. Gold wreaths were everywhere in the decorations and half the delegates wore sprays of golden rod in the laplets of their coats.

The delegates were an imposing body of men. Among them were many who have for years been prominent in national affairs and in the councils of the Democratic party. Not a few were delegates to the Chicago convention and several were chairmen of delegations who returned here in the same capacity, except that whereas they were hissed there for declining to participate in the proceedings their appearance here was the signal for outbursts of enthusiasm.

The big New York delegation of seventy-two members perhaps attracted the most attention. In it were such conspicuous men as ex-Governor Flower, ex-Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild, ex-Minister to Turkey Straus, General Tracy, Colonel John R. Fellows, Perry H. Belmont and others. From the old Bay state there were Dr. Everett, son of Edward Everett, and Godfrey Morse. Maine sent C. Vey Holman; Connecticut, ex-Congressman Perry; Pennsylvania, General Pickett, ex-Governor Cameron and Colonel Rives, the world's famous engineer; Kentucky, General Buckner and Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge; Ohio, ex-Congressman Outhwaite; Illinois, Senator Palmer; Controller Eckels and ex-Mayor Hopkins; Wisconsin, General Bragg and Senator Vilas; Iowa, Henry Volmar; Missouri, Judge Broadhead and F. W. Lehman. There was plenty of enthusiasm and the demonstrations were numerous. Every reference to President Cleveland was the signal for a scene during which men cheered and waved whatever they could get their hands on.

IT WAS ALL SMOOTH SAILING.

The convention held two sessions, but got no further than effecting a permanent organization. There was not a jar or hitch anywhere, and the temper of the delegates was displayed in the vigorous fashion with which denunciations of the Chicago platform and its candidates were received. When Temporary Chairman Flower referred to Mr. Bryan as "an ambitious, unsteady and unsafe man" and "a demagogue" and "a revolutionary word-juggler," with a "revolutionary horde behind him," the rafters rang with applause. Mr. Flower's speech went somewhat extensively into an argument to show that bimetalism as proposed by the Chicago platform was a dream and that a gold standard was responsible for high wages and low interest rates on money. Permanent Chairman Carey made a very effective speech in the nature of an appeal for the life of the "old Democracy."

Perhaps the most important action taken by the convention today was the adoption of a recommendation to make the organization permanent and to empower the national committee appointed to call future conventions. This indicates a contest four years from now over the regularity of the two organizations and may prove far-reaching in its effects. The platform will be adopted and the candidates nominated tomorrow. Tonight a great mass meeting is in progress, while one set of leaders is at work framing a platform and another trying to fix upon a candidate.

BRAGG'S FRIENDS DISAPPOINTED.

There seems to be an almost unanimous sentiment in favor of General Buckner of Kentucky for vice president, but the contest for president is still open. Although General Bragg has been seemingly in the lead all day powerful influences are at work to defeat him. His reception today by the convention was a disappointment to his friends. It was not as enthusiastic as they thought it should be. A strong effort is being made to bring out Senator Palmer or General Black of Illinois, and Secretary Morton of Nebraska and David Lawler of Minnesota are enjoying independent honors. Senator Palmer does not desire the nomination and there is said to be a letter here from Secretary Morton declining to permit the use of his name. Were General Bragg not in the way Senator Vilas might be named, but he has absolutely refused to consider the question as long as General Bragg is in the field. Watterson's boom does not grow.

Late tonight the cry appears to be anything but Bragg. But the opposition is having some difficulty in selecting a candidate. Vilas is out of the question as long as Bragg is in the field. The Illinois delegation tonight decided to support Senator Palmer if he could be induced to allow the presentation of his name.

Falling in that it seems likely that General John C. Black will be forwarded by the opposition to General Bragg. If the Bragg opposition can be concentrated he will probably be beaten.

THE FIRST DAY'S SESSIONS.

Proceedings of the Convention of Gold Standard Democrats.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 2.—The gold standard national Democratic convention was called to order at 12:30 today by Senator John M. Palmer of Illinois. When Mr. Palmer struck the table with his gavel most of the delegates sprang to their feet, ending the demonstration with three cheers. Senator Palmer said:

I have the honor for the moment to preside over the first National Democratic convention held in the year 1896. We are assembled here for lofty, noble and patriotic purposes. Our earnest desire is to serve our country.

Senator Palmer then introduced Bishop White, who read a prayer. Then ex-Congressman Outhwaite of Ohio came forward to read the call for the convention. He was greeted with a breezy burst of hand clapping, which also punctuated every telling point of the call during its reading. The mention of the name of Grover Cleveland in the call brought the delegates to their feet with a tribute of cheers, louder than any before.

A call of states to ascertain the representation followed. Idaho, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming were the only states whose names were passed unanswered. Arizona, Oklahoma and the Indian Territory were also unrepresented. Then Mr. Brennan of Wisconsin read the report of the national committee, recommending ex-Governor Flower of New York for temporary chairman. The mention of Mr. Flower's name was the signal for a burst of applause which swelled into a cry. Mr. Flower was conducted to the platform and delivered a long address.

HAS NO LOVE FOR BRAGG.

Mr. Flower declared at the outset that the gathering before him was "notice to the world that the Democrat party had not yet surrendered to Populism and anarchy. He affirmed the true Democracy of every man in the convention; declared the Chicago platform was dangerous in its tendencies and influence; referred to some of the silver leaders as radicals of the French revolution and declared that Bryan was "a fit representative of the revolutionary forces behind him—an ambitious, unsteady, unsafe and untried man—a demagogue and word-juggler." The speaker continued:

He (Bryan) well, perhaps, represents the restless mob from which he rose and with characteristic recklessness does not hesitate to appeal to base human passions in order to attract votes. That in this incendiary role, standing as he professes to stand on principles as un-Democratic as those of Herr Most, he should deserve by any conception of party loyalty the support of true Democrats is past comprehension.

The speaker argued exhaustively against silver. His mention of President Cleveland's name was given an ovation. The convention applauded his characterization of Mr. Bryan as "an ambitious, unsteady and unsafe man, a demagogue," and his statement that bimetalism was a genuine Democratic doctrine was received in silence. Then the states were called for members of the committees. It was announced the committees would meet immediately, and the convention adjourned until 4 p. m.

OVER EIGHT HUNDRED DELEGATES.

It was 4:15 when Chairman Flower appeared on the platform to call the afternoon session to order. Both he and Senator Palmer sat on the platform and were warmly greeted, and an enthusiastic Illinoisan called for three cheers for John M. Palmer, "the grand old man." They were given with effect. There were no demonstrations as other conspicuous men entered. The galleries were more crowded than at the first session. At 4:25 Chairman Flower rapped for order. The report of the committee on credentials was then presented by Mr. Brennan. The statement that there were present 824 delegates, representing forty-one states and three territories, was heartily applauded.

The report of the committee on permanent organization not being ready, Dr. Everett of Massachusetts was introduced and made a stirring speech. When Dr. Everett declared Massachusetts was opposed to sectionalism and again when he said the convention would uphold the bonds of President Cleveland for maintaining the credit of the nation, delegates jumped on their chairs and joined in a stormy demonstration. Fans, handkerchiefs, flags and everything that was movable were waved amid frantic cheering. His touching reference to the sad death of ex-Governor William E. Russell of Massachusetts, who, he said, had died of a broken heart because of the folly of his party at Chicago, was received with rousing cheers. Continuing, Mr. Everett said:

We are told that we might do well by accepting the candidates nominated at St. Louis. I mean the first St. Louis convention. We are told that for sound money's sake we have nothing to do but to go over into that camp. Mr. President, I respectfully decline to admit that all public virtue is concentrated in the Republican party. It is only for this year; if it were only for this campaign, I might think differently of what we are to do. But we are not here only for this campaign. We are here for the future. This is 1900. We are here for the future. This is to be a convention of the party of young America, to which the coming man is going to rally eight millions strong in a few years. We are fighting not merely for the ancient honor of a historic party; not merely against anarchy and Populism; not merely against protection and paternal government; but we are fighting that the United States may stand in the face of her sister nations undimmed in honor and unshaken in credit.

CAFFREY TAKES THE CHAIR.

There were loud calls for Bragg, Vilas, Buckner and others when Mr. Everett took his seat, but the committee

FUSION IN WISCONSIN.

Democrat, Populist and Silver Conventions at Milwaukee Come to an Agreement.

STATE OFFICES AND ELECTORS ARE DIVIDED.

W. C. Silverthorn of Wausau Is Nominated for Governor—Democrats Endorse Bryan and Sewall and Declare for Free Coinage.

BADGER SILVER FORCES UNITE.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 2.—A plan of fusion was agreed on by three state conventions—Democrat, Populist and National Silver—held here today. The Democrats take the offices of governor, attorney general, state treasurer, railroad commissioner and superintendent of public instruction. The Populists get secretary of state and insurance commissioner and the silver men lieutenant governor. The Populists also get three electors.

Tonight the Democrats nominated W. C. Silverthorn of Wausau for governor and adjourned until tomorrow to complete the ticket.

The Populists nominated Colonel C. M. Butt of Vernon county for secretary of state and Fred W. Thal of Milwaukee for insurance commissioner.

The National Silver party named Rublee Cole of Milwaukee for lieutenant governor and, claiming that the Populists had agreed to make Dr. Frank Powell of La Crosse the joint nominee for secretary of state, the convention named Powell for that office.

The Populist platform endorses the St. Louis platform and nominee and follows the line of the Omaha resolutions.

The National Silver platform is similar to the St. Louis platform.

The Democrats' resolutions endorse Bryan and Sewall; ignore the Cleveland administration; declare for the free coinage of silver; say nothing regarding the tariff, and roundly score Republican National Committeeman Henry C. Payne.

The Populist and Silver conventions adjourned sine die.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 2.—The Populist state convention met this morning. Colonel C. M. Butt, temporary chairman, made a brief speech and the convention then recessed. The first order of business at the afternoon session was a proposition for action looking to fusion with the Democrats. It brought out considerable opposition, but was carried. A recess was then taken.

The Democratic state convention met at noon. Ex-Governor George W. Peck, chairman of the state central committee, introduced F. W. Cotzhausen as temporary chairman. Committees were announced and a recess was taken.

The Silver state convention was called to order by Chairman R. A. Cole. A committee was appointed to confer with the Democrats and Populists with a view to fusion. It adjourned, with threats of bolting by anti-fusion delegates.

CHICAGO PLATFORM ENDORSED.

New Hampshire Democrats Pledge Support to Bryan—Gold Men Bolt.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 2.—The state Democratic convention met here today. It was expected that if the platform endorsed the Chicago convention the gold standard Democrats would leave the hall. The platform reported by the committee endorsed the platform of the Chicago convention and pledged earnest support to its nominees. The resolutions were received with great applause, and a motion to send the greetings of the convention to Bryan went through with enthusiasm. A resolution endorsing the administration of President Cleveland was lost. Then the entire platform was adopted. After a short debate Hon. Barry Higham announced the withdrawal of the gold men from the convention and they left the hall. Colonel Henry Kent of Lancaster was nominated for governor. An electoral ticket was also nominated.

POPULISTS WANT TO FUSE.

New York's Convention Sends Committee to Confer With Democrats.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 2.—The Populist state convention began today. A committee was appointed to go to the Democratic state convention to try and secure an endorsement by it of the Democratic and Populist national platforms, and the nomination of free silver candidates for state officers. The platform endorses the Omaha and St. Louis platforms and congratulates the action of the Democrats at Chicago.

SUPERIOR MINE IS BURNING.

Fire Breaks Out in a Valuable Property Near Hurley.

HURLEY, Wis., Sept. 2.—The Superior mine, a mile west of here, is burning. The fire is supposed to be near the fourth level and is spreading both ways. There is no way to fight it except to cover all the openings to another fire, which will take a month. The Superior mine ships the richest ore to be had here, and is a valuable property. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Heavy Real Estate Failure.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Sept. 2.—Rhomburg & Waldo, one of the oldest and heaviest real estate firms in Iowa, has failed. The liabilities are not stated, but the amount is large. The assets consist of mortgages. The failure will prove disastrous, as the firm had the money and securities of a large number of farmers and workmen, as well as wealthy people.

DAILY MINING JOURNAL, A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED).

THE readers of the Menominee Herald must be longing for the cruel election campaign to be over.

MEMORINEE will have to stub along without a government building for some time yet.

"WHAT are the wild waves saying?" was the subject of a clever cartoon in the Detroit Evening News.

It was a mighty lucky thing that the new lock at the "Soo" was finished before Sam Stephenson's congressional career came to an untimely end.

THERE is a good deal of guessing going on throughout the district as to who the "leg pullers" are to whom Mr. Stephenson has on different occasions alluded since he was defeated for a re-nomination to congress.

THE Engineering and Mining Journal has this report on the state of the copper market:

Copper has eased off slightly further, owing to some of the holders having commenced to press somewhat on the market.

ENGLAND did not go to the gold standard through a desire to be excessively honest in the payment of debts.

A REPUBLICAN nominee for representative in congress in Ohio, C. B. Beach, who is running in the Twentieth district of that state, has been expressing himself so favorably toward silver coinage that the goldites of his party are insisting that he should withdraw from the ticket and be replaced by a man who stands squarely on the party platform.

It cannot be denied that the iron industry is in a most unsatisfactory condition at present, and that the outlook is exceedingly discouraging for both the operators of iron mines and their employees.

over-stimulated and we are now paying for the folly of having invested too much money in iron mining and the manufacture of iron and steel.

A HARD ALTERNATIVE. A gold standard organ approvingly quotes an article from the London, Eng., Statist discussing American politics which opens with this statement:

Putting aside the mere opening of the mints to the free coinage of silver as a much smaller matter than the public opinion considers it, we have the very serious probability that the next administration, being Democratic, would refuse to borrow gold and would pay out silver where it is allowed by the law to do so.

A WRITER in the Forum opines that the reference to England in the financial plank of the Chicago platform will catch the Irish vote.

Our Bay City contemporary seems to think that it doesn't make much difference on which side the distinctively American vote will range itself.

A CHICAGO banker informs the Record of that city that within a very short time $18,000,000 of gold will reach this country from Europe.

ENTERTAINED TOO WELL.

The Solitary Guest Couldn't Stand the Attention of the Whole Staff. Seated amidst the palms and shrubberies of the St. Charles hotel roof garden, with the soft vapor of after-dinner cigars forming a luminous haze about them, they were discussing the liberality and charm of American hospitality.

There were no other guests in the room, and the Englishman with more money than sagacity built a magnificent hotel at Cumberland Gap. There was nothing in particular to recommend the place; it was out of the line of traveling men, and possessed no attractions for tourists, but nothing daunted by these deficiencies, the Englishman made of it a veritable palace.

Then they started in on the guest. When he went into the billiard-room the band would play marches while he smoked and danced when he passed. When he came out they would follow him to the bar playing a march, and while the bartender poured out bumpers of wine for him they would discourse the drinking song from Tannhauser.

ITALIAN CHEESEMAKING.

Primitive Method of Handling the Ewes' Milk. Every morning, two hours before dawn in winter and one hour when the days lengthen to spring, it is the duty of the cheesemaker to call the shepherds by beating a drum.

There each flock enters its own pen, these smaller pens communicating with a larger one into which the flocks are admitted in turn; from this central enclosure there are ten or twenty narrow openings which lead into as many short passages. Near the end of each a man is seated on his stool with milking pail ready, and as ewe after ewe crowds down the narrow corridor the milker throws a two-pronged wooden fork over its neck, thus holding it until it is milked, and so on until the 2,000 or 3,000 ewes have given their tribute of milk.

In some dairies it is the custom to make the ewes pass twice through the milking shed, and it is said that this system has been known to give an increase of production of over 7,000 pounds of cheese. The flocks are then driven to the grazing ground allotted to each by the head man until the sun set and the evening milking time comes round again.

The cheesemaker's duty is now to divide this curd among the men, who manipulate and press it with their robust arms until it is dry, when it is formed into round, flat cheese, on which the name of the man who made it is stamped. The remaining whey is boiled a second time, and now it is the duty of a less dignified subordinate to divide large spoonfuls of the coagulated mass, now called "ricotta," to the men, not forgetting the absent shepherds.

THE pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the middle of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach.

CONVENTION IS NOW OVER.

Closing Session of the Fifth Annual Gathering Was Held Last Evening
OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN FOR THE NEW YEAR.
Changes in Constitution and By-Laws -Extend Thanks for Favors Received-Carriage Ride May be Taken Today.

CLOSED THEIR CONVENTION.

The fifth annual convention of the "Union of the French Canadian Societies of the United States," which began its sessions here Tuesday, closed its work with the open meeting held last evening in the city hall.

Business before pleasure was the motto of the delegates, and there was so much on hand that they had to forego the pleasure of a drive around the city yesterday, and devote their time exclusively to the work of the convention.

Notwithstanding the late hours incurred by the dance and reception the night before, every delegate was on hand promptly at nine in the morning, and with a short adjournment for dinner the convention remained in session till seven in the evening.

All the committees which had been appointed the day before made their reports which had to be acted upon by the convention. The report of the committee on amendments was of some length, and the discussion of the changes proposed in the constitution and by-laws occupied considerable time. The changes made were mostly regarding the management and government of the affairs of the order.

The election resulted for the most part in giving the officers of last year their old places on the official slate, though three of the societies which have lately entered the order were recognized and given places. The roster now stands:

President General-E. M. St. Jacques, Ecanaba.
Vice President General-Theo. Garriepy, Republic.
Secretary General-Leon Mainville, Alpena.
Treasurer General-Eusabe Bertrand, Marquette.
Directors General-G. O. Girardin, Lake Linden and F. X. Houle, Ironwood.

This list comprises all the officers except the medical examiner general, who is appointed by the board of directors. The directorate is comprised of all the officers enumerated in the foregoing list.

Before finishing its business the convention passed resolutions of thanks to those who had extended courtesies during the stay of the delegates. Those to whom indebtedness is acknowledged are, the St. John Baptist society, Mayor Jacobs, City of Marquette, and THE MINING JOURNAL.

It was late, nearly nine o'clock, when the evening session of the convention was called to order. This as had been announced was an open meeting. There were three addresses, the speakers being President General E. M. St. Jacques, Peter Primeau and Dr. Alfred Desjardins. Their remarks were on the advantages, and in exposition of the aims, of the order.

It is the intention to treat such of the delegates as remain over today to the carriage ride planned for yesterday.

Wrecking Master Sinclair telegraphs from Deer Park that the schooner P. S. Marsh is gone beyond doubt. The stern has broken off and the wreck lies nine feet under water. The cargo of building stone will not be worth the cost of recovery.

Port list:-Arrived; Schoolcraft, Bourke, Nester, J. H. Wade, Australasia, Tasmania, North West. Cleared:-Australasia, Schoolcraft, North West, J. H. Wade, Cleveland Tasmania, Bourke, Nester Cleveland.

That there has in the past been some money in sailing lake vessels, whatever might be said of the present, and that there are many sailors who have always an eye for the future, is shown by the long list of men who in this line of work have laid by enough to make for themselves a start toward a fortune or have acquired a competency that makes them practically independent of the slings and arrows of ordinary work-a-day life.

The millers of Duluth and Superior have great expectations of their Commercial Transportation Co., which they have organized for the purpose of chartering wild tonnage and canal boats and hiring freight handlers, and thereby becoming independent of the lake and rail lines, which they claim have made them pay a tribute of almost $2 a ton for the carriage of their flour to the seaboard. They figure that on the present basis of rates they will be saved by this plan 9-3-4c on every 100 pounds.

Captain Davis of the revenue cutter Andy Johnson, who was in Chicago the other day, admits some changes are needed in the regulations of the navigation of the Soo river, but does not think they will be material. Captain Davis has many stories to tell how "foxy" captains attempt to fool the government officers. "That old trick of signalling to check down the speed of engines and then not checking at all," he said, "does not go with me. I have been 'onto it' for these many years."

CITY BREVITIES.

Weather forecast: Thursday, showers with cooler; winds shifting to northwesterly; frost Thursday night. Yesterday's temperature: 7 a. m., 60 degrees; 12 m., 65 degrees; 7 p. m., 50 degrees; maximum, 65 degrees; minimum, 55 degrees.

Hon. John Mulvey of Negaunee spent yesterday in town.

Mrs. J. W. Stone will leave for California this evening.

Mrs. P. V. Bryan of Elmira, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. G. Hager.

The members of the Superior orchestra expect to leave Friday by boat for Chicago.

Miss Isabel McLeod, who has been spending several weeks in the copper country has just returned.

Miss Anna Crawford and nephew left for the Saalt yesterday to spend a few days with friends.

Manager Douglas of the Houghton ball team returned to the copper country yesterday afternoon.

Howard, only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Longtime, of North Third street, died last night of cholera infantum.

Miss Florence Peterson left for Jamestown, N. Y., Monday, where she will spend a month visiting relatives.

J. M. Longyear, A. Kidder and a large party of resorters returned yesterday from an outing at Huron Mountain club house.

The final hop of the season to be given at Hotel Superior is announced for Thursday evening, one night earlier than the customary weekly dance.

Bids are coming in slowly for the little warehouse to be built on the Hose company lot. Controller Bay will continue to receive bids up to Saturday.

The Misses Nellie Reardon, Emma Deatcher and Layina Swift left Sunday night for a trip on the lakes. They will visit Detroit, Cleveland and Toledo.

Ploof and Quinn, the two ball players who were imported from Minneapolis, have left here and returned to their homes. Ploof was released and Quinn decided to go with him.

Since cooler weather has set in it has been necessary to run but one pump at the water works. Superintendent Kern says it is not likely that the second will be required again this season.

Miss Chandler will be in her office at nine o'clock this morning for the accommodation of those who have examinations to take before the beginning of school. She wishes all who are to be examined to come ready to work.

The baseball team has finally come to the decision that it will not go to Houghton and take part in the tournament. If it went it might not do itself justice, as there will have to be a number of changes in the arrangement and personnel of the nine.

The annual meeting of the Young Women's guild will be held Friday afternoon in Morgan Memorial chapel. There will be an election of officers, and the final arrangements will be made for the Living Whist entertainment to be given in the opera house the 25th and 26th of this month.

PARK AND CEMETERY COMMISSION.

(OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS.)
OFFICE OF THE
PARK AND CEMETERY COMMISSION,
MARQUETTE, Mich., Aug. 31, 1896.

Pursuant to the call of the president, the park and cemetery commission met at its office in the City Hall at 3 o'clock p. m. There were present John H. Jacobs, Leander C. Palmer and William Burt.

In the absence of the president, the meeting was called to order by the secretary.

On motion of Mr. Palmer, Mr. John H. Jacobs was duly elected president pro tem. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the clerk, and on motion of Mr. Palmer the same were approved.

Bills against the commission for the month of August, properly verified, were presented, viz:

Pay roll, labor park and cemetery, $680 50
Riley, Fryfogle, masonry cemetery, 223 80
Riley & McCormick, carpenter work cemetery, 145 00
Manhard-Jopling company, hardware, 10 02
Minutes of July meeting, 4 30
F. W. Reed & Co., lumber cemetery, 1 21
On motion of Mr. Palmer the same were approved, and the secretary was instructed to draw orders on the city treasurer in payment of the same.

The secretary reported having received notice from the city recorder of the further appropriation by the common council at a meeting held Aug. 7 of $1,000 for the use of this commission during the present season, and that the same had been placed to the credit of this commission.

The following resolutions were offered by Mr. Palmer and on his motion, supported by Mr. Burt, were unanimously adopted, to-wit:

Resolved, That hereafter the regular monthly meetings of the board for the payment of bills and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it, shall be held on the fifth day of each and every month, unless said day shall fall on Sunday or a legal holiday, in which case such meeting shall be held on the day following; and

Resolved, That the time of all laborers or employees of this commission and the wages to be paid to each, and all bills contracted for this board, shall hereafter be reported by the timekeeper, foreman or superintendent to the secretary of this board on the first day of each month for the month then just passed.

There being no further business before the board, on motion of Mr. Palmer the meeting adjourned.
WILLIAM BURT,
Secretary.

PITH AND POINT.

-Summer Conversation-"Were you ever seasick?" "Never in my life." "That's strange; how do you account for it?" "Principally because of the fact that I never went on the water." -Boston Transcript.

-The Tie That Binds.-Bandit-"Throw up yer hands and don't move unless you want to lose yer brains." Traveler-"But stay! You and I are riding the same kind of wheels." Bandit (after hasty examination)-"Pardner, forgive me. Take back yer pocket-book and depart in peace."-Cleveland Leader.

-The Coming Shakespeare.-Mrs. Chaffie-"I'm afraid there's something the matter with Johnnie." Mr. Chaffie-"What makes you think so?" Mrs. Chaffie-"He sits in a corner all day and doesn't say anything to anybody. Either he is going to be a great poet, or he is going to have the measles. I can't decide which it is."-Texas Sifter.

Methodical Literature-"This is a very good Fourth of July story," said the editor of the magazine, "but I don't quite see why you offer it now. Here it is several weeks after the Fourth. Matter that is supposed to be timely should be furnished in advance." "I know it," the contributor replied. "I was trying to carry out your idea. This story is for the next Fourth of July."-Washington Star.

-Sure Preventive.-"Professor," said the fair leader of the reform delegation to the reticent neighborhood philosopher who was supposed to know everything, "we're trying to make this world better, and have taken the liberty of seeking your advice. What is the surest way to prevent divorces in this country?" "Don't get married."-Detroit Free Press.

SUCCESSIVE TEA GROWTHS.

When One Variety Is Removed Other Kinds Spring Up.

Almost universally the notion prevails that when the pines are gone they are gone forever, and that the soil where they grew is worn out, unfit to reproduce good timber qualities. This notion, so damaging to forest preservation, also discourages improved forestry on the prairie, where temporary trees are often planted only for the present convenience of the proprietor.

Alterations of trees are as various as the species within the territory where they occur. In the southern states especially, and sometimes in the northern, oaks take the place of the departing pines, and so the reverse. But the succeeding oaks stand up show compared with the poplars, aspens, especially, and the canoe birches. The latter grow on moist or dry places, and fires cannot eradicate them. Both wait on wings of down their millions upon millions of almost infinitesimal seeds, that alight everywhere. Burned districts or any cleared land are their paradise. Hence, all along the northern tier of lumber states and the Canadas, even to the arctic circle, these trees take possession of the denuded lands. Fortunately they are short-lived, and often pave the way for the return of the pine.

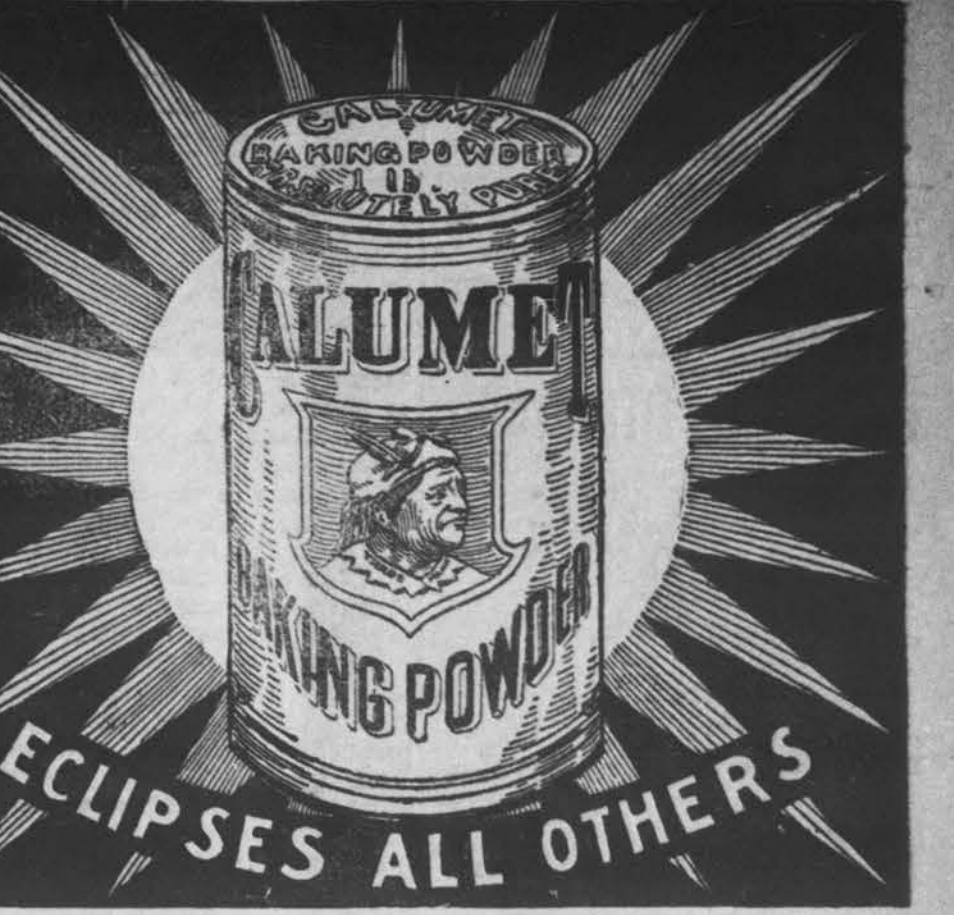

Oaks get a foothold, too, interspersed with other hard woods, for their seeds and roots, long buried under the leaves and soil, get sunlight enough to sprout. These facts demonstrate that with proper management we can have the most valuable trees if we only plant and preserve them and keep out fires and browsing stock.

So far from the forests having a worn-out soil, it is the best in the world. The decay of the fallen leaves and limbs, the carbon dioxide thus evolved for plant growth again, the purifying agencies of the network of roots, form the rich humus of the future farms. Neutralize this fertilizing art of nature by injudicious cutting or burning the leaf mold, and not only is the soil thus impoverished and droughts provoked, but sorrowful alternations of trees inevitably ensue.

H. B. Ayres, a forest expert of Minnesota and close observer, avers that burnt land could not be put in condition as promising as an adjoining unburnt tract for less than $20 an acre. On an unburnt acre, cut the same winter—three years before his investigations—he counted 1,267 little white pine seedlings, two years old, growing under the shade of immature pine saplings, poplar, maple and hazel brush. Every woodsman has noticed like results wherever fires in the pine regions are excluded.

The English oaks grow to-day in places where William the Conqueror found them when he invaded Britain. For centuries the pines of Maine have repeated themselves on their native heath. Given the conditions, and the fittest remain while human generations come and go.—Hardwood.

Could Not Write in Winter.
"Cold weather," writes Mrs. Stowe, "really seems to torify my brain. I write with a heavy numbness. I have not yet had a good spell of writing, though I have had all through the story abundant clairvoyance, and see just how it must be written; but for writing some points I want warm weather, and not to be in the state of a 'frozen and thawed apple.' I hope to get a clear, bright month in Florida. I did want to read some of my story to you before I went. I have read it to my husband, and though one may think a husband a partial judge, he likes it. All I want now to go on is a good frame, as father used to say about his preaching. I want calm, soft, even dreamy, enjoyable weather, sunshine and flowers."-Atlantic.

A queer strike is threatened in England. The government inspectors of factories, being dissatisfied with the way they are treated, have formulated their complaints and declare that unless they are heeded "a public protest will be made and a cessation of their duties will follow."

ETIQUETTE IN SPAIN.

There the People Are Always Punctiliously Polite.

Spaniards have some rules of etiquette that would prove surprising to the average easy-going American. Take, for instance, the rules governing visits. When the first call is made by a lady, she is expected to arrive in a carriage, that being considered a mark of high respect.

Another noticeable custom is that when walking with a Spaniard, in Spain, it is considered the height of ill-manners to walk on the inside. This is the place of honor and should always be given to the native.

These are some of the most noted peculiarities of the rigorous rules governing Spaniards of polite breeding; they are punctilious almost to the point of absurdity in most things, but their politeness is of a kind that wears well.

The Counsel for Defense. "We propose to show, gentlemen of the jury," said counsel for the defense, "that it is impossible for the defendant to have committed this crime. In the first place we will prove that the defendant was nowhere near the scene of the crime at the time the murder was committed. Next we will offer the indisputable testimony of persons who saw the defendant on the spot and who did not see the defendant commit the crime. We will show that no poison was found in the body of the deceased. Not only that, but we will prove that he was put there by the prosecution in this case. We will furthermore show that the deceased committed suicide. And last, but not least, we will prove, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that the deceased is not dead. In view of all which, corroborative facts, gentlemen of the jury, we respectfully ask for an acquittal."—N. Y. Journal.

WRESTLERS TRAINING.

Several Local Celebrities Preparing for Next Monday's Contest.

The Cornish wrestlers here are displaying great interest in the contest to take place next Monday afternoon under auspices of the Ishpeming branch of the Mine Workers' union. Four of them, William Lucas, James Olds, Edward Johns and Richard King, spent a portion of yesterday forenoon in the ring near Myers' store training for the event. A few of their friends were admitted as spectators, and it is said the contestants had some very lively bouts.

The posters advertising the wrestling, also including other information concerning the Labor Day festivities, were issued yesterday. The wrestling will begin at 1 o'clock, instead of 2, as was first intended, and the parade will form at 9:30 a. m. The committee in charge of the wrestling is composed of W. Y. Rogers, W. H. Champion and Thomas Johns. All entries must be handed in to Mr. Rogers before Monday afternoon.

OMENS AND CORONATIONS.

The Great Russian Disaster Regarded Only as a Sad Accident.

In relation to the terrible accident at the coronation of the czar of Russia, we see that the remark: "What an ominous accident," is very widely repeated, and undoubtedly there are very few even of the cultivated who can keep that thought out of their minds or who do not half believe that the chance that this reign beginning so brightly may end in blood and disaster, as the coronation ceremony has ended, has been by the accident in some way imperceptibly infused. The belief in itself must be uttered. There is no particle of evidence that kings or nations or individuals are ever warned in this way of a future which in all other ways is so rigidly concealed from them, while the injustice of inflicting a calamity on the innocent, as a warning to the possible guilty of that which, nevertheless, cannot be averted, is too palpable for discussion. Still, the belief in omens is nearly universal among the ignorant, and if the Russians took this accident to be one it might have important political effects.

Far and wide as the news flies the Russians would be impressed with the notion that this reign will be unlucky, and probably nothing could so sap the personal authority, and even the popularity, of the occupant of the throne. We doubt, however, whether the accident will be considered an omen, whether the Russians connect it with the czar or his destiny at all, whether their view of it will not in fact precisely resemble their view of a famine, a flood or an epidemic, that it has been ordered by a Will which it is useless to discuss and impious to challenge or abuse. It is very difficult for western observers to discern accurately in what the religiousness of Russian peasants consists, but that they are religious in a way is the testimony of all observers, and the accident, by reason of its very greatness and awfulness, will appeal to this side of them, and be regarded as too serious for an omen. Had the czar stumbled as he entered the Cathedral of the Assumption, or dropped his crown as he lifted it on his head, or fainting during the endless tedium of the coronation ceremonial, there would have been an omen indeed, but this will be accepted as only a sad event.—London Spectator.

Strike Still On.

William O'Matia, who has been at Leadville, Colo., the past few months on a visit to his parents, got back to Ishpeming yesterday. He reports that the disagreement between the miners and the mining companies there has not yet been adjusted. He says that town is as quiet as a cemetery and everybody there is badly affected with the "blues" on account of the strike. He thinks the men in this section would make a very serious mistake if they should go to Leadville while the labor trouble is on, as they would not be allowed to work even if they had a chance.

A Fine Party.

The leap year dancing party given last night at the A. O. U. W. hall by a number of the young ladies of Ishpeming was a success in every way. There were nearly one hundred couples present. Many of these were from Negaunee and Marquette, and a few were up from Escanaba. The ladies provided a very dainty lunch, and the music furnished by the Twin City orchestra was all that could be desired. The ladies who managed the affair received many compliments from the guests on account of its complete success. The dance broke up at 3 o'clock.

ENGLISH HOME LIFE.

Restful and Interesting—Free from the Plague of Hurry.

The English home life is ideal in many respects, and it would be a good thing if a bridal trip could be spent within its charmed circle by some of our young couples. Certainly the English understand home life better than we Americans do, and their principles in this line could be well adopted among us, and life would yield a richer harvest of love and association. Our days are crowded with the restless preparation for the coming to-morrows, while the English method is to get all the comfort and pleasure out of each day as it comes along. The day has its own life, and he is the wisest man who gets the most out of its short span. There is no blind hurry and there is a certain contented leisure in which to enjoy the present. I have observed it all through England. It is a lesson for the American to learn "to rest and be thankful."

The home is the center of love, social pleasure and comfort. It is not a mere place to eat and sleep and carry on the train of business followed all day in the office. There is a glow from the family hearth that has a spark that is akin to divine fire, which binds the whole family to the home for generations; and when once the doors have been opened to the guest every hospitality and kindness is shown him, combined with a genuine home feeling.

At morning prayers, master, mistress, children and servants are at least for once in the day all united. Breakfast all over England is at nine o'clock. It is set upon the table, the joints of cold meat on the sideboard, the bell is rung, the servant or housemaid goes about her duties and the breakfasters help one another. The maids of England are a delight after our independent, impudent, crude Irish servants. There is a mutual respect maintained between mistress and maid, and decidedly more consideration is paid in England to the servants than here. The slightest demand is always accompanied by a pleasant "If you please" and "Thank you." It is not considered well-bred to omit this little form. More servants are employed in the household, as the Englishman rarely does for himself what he can get anyone else to do for him. The master supervises the servants, the mistress the household. Cabs at cheap rates are always at hand, porters pick up your traps and bundle you into railway carriages. A cultivated English woman thinks her time too valuable to devote it all to housekeeping. She economizes in other ways and gets a housekeeper or excellent upper maid. Her own time is devoted to her children, her guests, her reading and her correspondence. If she entertains much she must keep abreast of all the topics of the day. Conversation must embrace all topics, if a dinner table is to be a success. The dinner hour is from seven to eight p. m., and even later. This gives the full benefit for the enjoyment of the long twilights in summer, when put-out-door life means so much. It seems as if the people wished to get all the sunshine they could as an offset to the dreary months of fog.

The important epoch of the day is dinner. It is more or less a meal of ceremony, even in the humbler households. The Englishman does everything seriously, and his meals are never hurried over or slighted. At a hotel he prefers table d'hote to the American plan of ordering a la carte. Here again one sees the time for everything and everything in its own due time. But I must say the long-drawn-out table d'hote is a weariness to the spirits. Between four and five o'clock all the tea and luncheons in London are thronged, for "the cup that cheers," etc., is indispensable to the men, women and children. I think more tea must be consumed than in any other city of the world. Business is set aside and time taken for a rest and refreshment. Among the poorer classes this custom is also observed.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

DIFFICULTIES OF BURNT WORK.

Drawings Made by Hot Iron on a Surface of Wood.

Many years ago the manual labor of the artist in color was reduced to a minimum; he no longer grinds his colors, or makes his canvas and brushes. But up to the present day the artist in burnt wood has toiled on with his rude forge and burning-irons, with the devotion of an old-time alchemist. Singularly enough, relief from the discomforts of this crude mode of work has at last come through the avenue which brings relief from all physical ailments—that of medicine. The thermocautery, a surgical instrument invented for cauterizing, has been adapted to the use of the artist, so that he can work with comparative freedom. Formerly the fire-etcher employed copper tools, not unlike soldering-irons, set into wooden or other non-conducting handles. These tools cooled rapidly, and had to be constantly shifted, while the oxidation of the copper necessitated constant cleaning. What with feeding his fire and blowing it up with hand bellows, it is a wonder that the woodburner produced anything at all artistic. Today the hollow burning point is of platinum, a metal which does not oxidize. Once heated, a never-falling current of naphtha gas, burning within, enables the artist to work for hours, wholly independent of the forge, the bellows, and other paraphernalia. The electrode, another surgical cautery, is likewise used in burnt-wood work, and electricity will in time supersede all other means of heating the burning point. With these facilities at hand, the fire-etcher must still encounter difficulties not found in practicing the kindred arts. Clouds of smoke constantly rise in his face, while the incessant flashing of the fiery point is always trying to the eye. He must have a deep-rooted love of his art, and the patience of Job.—J. William Fosdick, in Century.

ESKIMOS OF THE FAR NORTH.

Primitive and Interesting Race a Reminder of the Stone Age.

The characteristics of the northernmost Eskimos have provided Henry G. Bryant with material for a strikingly interesting lecture, which was delivered before the Archaeological Society in the University museum. The Eskimos, Mr. Bryant said, have attracted more attention from scientific men than any other similar race in the world. He visited them three times in 1891, when he went to the Grand falls of Labrador, and in 1892 and 1894, in North and South Greenland, when on the Peary expeditions. The Labrador Eskimos he regarded as a somewhat degenerate race. They have been in contact with the Danish missionaries for 170 years, and afford evidence of the admixture of European blood. The women alone retain their dress. This Mr. Bryant illustrated by a native doll, which showed, among other peculiarities, the method of wearing the hair. The color of the hair ribbon distinguishes the condition of the woman, whether maid, wife or widow.

"The use of tea and coffee and the changed mode of life," he observed, "have unfitted the men for the fatigues of seal hunting, and pulmonary diseases are frequent. Dr. Nansen, who is now cruising somewhere near the pole, has given a most favorable account of the Eskimos of the west coast of Greenland. While great injustice has been done to the Eskimos in the past, their racial peculiarities cannot be preserved through any intervention of civilized people. The northernmost Eskimos were first encountered in 1818, when the members of Sir John Ross' expedition spent several days in the neighborhood of Cape York. They are a primitive tribe, just emerging from the stone age. As the vessel approached Cape York the explorers saw crowds of skin-clad men and women, with hair streaming down their backs. They showed no signs of alien blood or physical decay. The men average five feet five inches, and the women conform more nearly to the popular idea of Eskimo stature.

"The northernmost Eskimos meet the Eskimo inhabitants of the west coast of Baffin's Bay, whom they call the 'tattooed men,' and fierce fights occur between them. Few living members of the tribe had seen a white man up to the time of Lieut. Peary's visit in 1891. In 1818 Sir John Ross noted that they were not yet familiar with bows and arrows, nor did they know the kayak. Lieut. Peary found bows and arrows and the kayak in use among them, and it would appear that they had acquired a knowledge of these objects since they were first visited.

"They are reticent about their religious beliefs. They have notions of a future state and a spirit of good and an evil spirit of ice and water. There are no rulers or chiefs among them, and no formal government. Family life is very happy, and they are distinguished by their regard for children and their care for the weak and sickly. The barbarous custom of strangling infants when the father dies still survives. Polygamy and divorce are not popular, but the custom of exchanging wives is quite common and often effected by force. The exchange lasts from two months to a year."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

ADEPTS IN TAKING EGGS.

Greenland Boys Undertake the Hazardous Work Without Fear.

Greenland boys are great egg collectors. As soon as the gulls and other birds that nest in the far north appear in the spring the work begins. No boy who has not practiced a great deal at climbing the rough mountain sides and creeping over the glaciers is allowed to venture on the perilous task. But at 15, and even before, a Greenland boy is as strong of limb, as fearless of height and as cool of head as any steeple climber.

Early some morning he takes a bag made of seal skin and with a bunch of dried fish or blubber he starts out for a day in the mountains. Up, up he climbs along the dizzy edge of some deep inlet of the sea until he comes to the rocky ridges where the gulls make their homes. An ordinary American boy—and some of them are pretty good climbers, too—would not dream that the steep mountain sides could possibly be crossed, but the Greenland boy knows just where to step, just how to hold his stout staff, and he will walk quite coolly along a jagged ridge hundreds of feet above the water, yet one little misstep, a loose stone or a bit of crumbling ice would hurl him down to his death. But it is only on these wild ledges that he can find the nests he seeks. Here every crevice is filled with eggs, laid almost without protection on the rocks. As he approaches the gulls go chattering about and circling round his head. He must not look at them, lest he become dizzy. When he reaches a nest he places the big blue and white eggs in his bag, and thus he proceeds until he has a load. Happy is he if he sees a falcon rising on the air among the gulls, for a falcon's eggs are very valuable. But its nest is hard to find, and often a whole day is expended by the brave hunter before he reaches the spot where the eggs are laid. And if his bag is already filled with eggs he slips his new find into his roo-my sleeves.—Brooklyn Eagle.

They All Do It.

He was deep in his paper and didn't want to be interrupted, but, of course, she didn't care anything about that. "Did you read about that young couple that went through the marriage ceremony just for a joke?" he asked.

"No," he replied. "What do you mean?" "Why, after it was all over they discovered that it wasn't a joke and they wanted to get a divorce." "Oh, everyone who takes the marriage question finds that out."

He wasn't interrupted again for a full hour.—Chicago Post.

MUST NOT TAKE WATER.

Hogging the Precious Fluid in Dead River Won't Go Any More.

CITY'S RIGHTS TO THE STREAM WILL BE ENFORCED.

Many Merchants Agree to Close Their Stores Labor Day—Deny Themselves to Give Aid to Ontonagon Sufferers.

MAY GET AFTER THE MILL.

Sombody connected with the Dead River Mill company is responsible, either directly or indirectly, for the stoppage of water in Dead river and so for the interference with the running of the electric light plant.

To find who this somebody is and to see that he is made to regard the rights of the city, and to let enough water run through the bed of the stream to run the electric light plant, is a duty that was assigned to the city attorney yesterday. This was done after a consideration of the matter at the board meeting the night before.

The city has been seriously inconvenienced this summer by the Dead River Mill company, or its contractors, who in order to float their logs, have hoarded up great quantities of the water behind their dams at the hoist or at Silver Lake, and have left the electric plant in the dire straits for the necessary power to run the machinery that is to light the city. On a number of nights all the arc circuits have been cut off, and it was only by the greatest effort that enough electricity could be generated to run the incandescents. The electric light board has made up its mind that this performance must stop.

Mayor Jacobs in speaking of the abuse said: "They have been saving the water up behind their dams until they get enough to float their logs with, and haven't seemed to care whether we got any or not. When they got done with the water they have let it all out at once and it has come over the dam boiling like a spring freshet. There has either been no water at all or there has been a flood. That's what made that dam give way this spring."

City Attorney Brown was seen and asked what he intended to do, and if there was law whereby he could punish whoever was guilty for holding back the water.

"I hope we won't have to resort to any legal proceedings and I don't think we will. I'll find out who is responsible for the water being held back the way it is, and see them about it and I think they will agree to save up their water gradually so we will not be inconvenienced at the plant. There was trouble of this kind three years ago, and when the contractor's attention was called to the matter he agreed to see that the city's rights were respected, and while he held the contract kept his agreement.

"There is a very plain law, however, whereby we can stop the trouble if necessary. Nobody has the right to interfere with the enjoyment of a stream by another party lower down. A simple injunction will do it. It is all right if they can save up water gradually so as not to lessen perceptibly with the bulk of water coming down the channel but no one has the right to take so much water that it will hurt the stream for the uses of another party below him."

Tradesmen Will Shut Up Shop.

Clerks, as well as other members of the working classes will be given an opportunity to enjoy their freedom Labor Day. That there might be a general observance of the day the Trimmers, having in hand the plans for the celebration, sent out a committee yesterday to canvass the merchants, and get them to agree to close their places. They were met for the most part, with willing acquiescence, as is shown by the long list of names appended to their petition. The committee is confident that if all who have agreed to close will live up to their agreement there is nothing to stand in the way of a first class celebration of the workingman's holiday. The agreement to close, and the names of the signers follows:

THESE WILL OBSERVE THE DAY.
The undersigned business men of the city of Marquette, in order to suspend as far as possible all work and trade upon Labor Day, and to promote the general observance of this holiday specially set apart for laboring men, hereby agree to close and keep closed our places of business on Labor Day, Sept. 7, 1896, from and after the hour of 9 o'clock a. m.

Give Up Their Ball.
Dancing for charity's sake is nothing new, but to give up a ball for the sake of charity is an instance of rare generosity. This is just what the Dead River Mill employees have done.

It has been their custom to give an annual ball, but this year the festivity has been abandoned, and the money that would have been spent on it will be contributed to the relief of the Ontonagon fire sufferers. The amount so raised will be about $125 and will be sent direct to F. W. Sawyer, chairman of the relief committee.

This course of action was decided upon at a meeting of the employees held yesterday. They feel that while those who have been in the habit of attending their dance may be for the moment disappointed they will be willing to forego the customary pleasure that the sufferers may receive needed aid.

Court Nearly Done.
As was expected this session of the United States court is to be a short one. In all probability today will wind it up as there is but one case and the jury has been selected in that. It is an action begun by the Monmouth Mining and Manufacturing company against the aldermen of the city of Menominee for failure to take a bond from a contractor and so protect them from loss.

Louis Kiefer of this city was sentenced to spend three months in the county jail, for sending a letter of improper character to his sister. It is alleged that he sent money to her in Milwaukee to bring her here to live with him, and that after getting the money she decided to stay where she was and refused to send back the coin. This incensed her brother and he wrote her a letter telling what he thought of her. The results were disastrous to Louis, as the sister reported the missive to the postal authorities.

There was a case carried over from last term against Frank and William Green, brothers, employees of the Manistique Lumber company, who were alleged to have cut timber from a light-house reserve near Seney. The case against the first brother wasolle pressed, but a jury found William guilty of the offense alleged, and fined him $2,146.29, three times the value of the timber he took. In addition to this he was placed in the nominal custody of the marshal for thirty days.

Charles Rambaud, also guilty of appropriating government timber, was fined $1,140. The twelve cases brought by the Keweenaw association against alleged squatters were continued over term at the instance of the plaintiff. Henry Stone, an obstreperous vessel captain who assaulted a sailor, was arraigned by his counsel and pleaded guilty to the charge of assaulting a sailor. This little lapse of temper cost the captain $60, of which the last ten was costs.

Pottles' Baby.
In "Little Miss Worth," the piece presented last night by the Eunice Goodrich company the star part was taken by that cute little mite of humanity, Pottles' Baby. The baby is but five years old, still she is a real little actress, and carried her part with all the assurance of a veteran, and won salvos of applause from a delighted audience.

The piece itself is too well-known to require comment. It was well staged and admirably handled. Miss Goodrich took the part of Dan, while DeWitt Clinton did the heroics in the lines of O'Grady.
Tonight a beautiful English drama, "That Girl" will be presented. Miss Goodrich will delight her audience again with the fire and serpentine dances. The baby will also be seen in several specialties.

Should Hasten Up.
The Electric Light and Power commission is made up of the mayor's own appointees and he doesn't like to criticize the board, still he thinks it is slow in its actions. In the work it has on hand at the Dead River dam site time is money.

Speaking of the delays of the commission he said yesterday: "The board is going too slow. There is lots to be done and the summer is going. That work ought to be done now, not wait, as last year, and have a lot of building to do in the fall, when the weather will be bad and everything costs double. Do it now!"

Idolatry.

If it be sin to love thee, then my soul is deeply dyed.
For darling, thou art more to me than all the world beside.
And I feel (may heaven forgive me) I could ever everything resign,
All that I am, or hope for, to be thine, forever thine.

Frozen hearts like polar icebergs, which no ray can reach to melt,
Vainly boast their power to conquer a love they never felt,
But I covet not their glory mid the rapture that is mine,
When you lovingly can tell me you are mine, forever mine.
—Frank E. May.

The most popular drink is without a doubt Ice Cream Soda Water. In our drug store the most popular drink is Bicycle Belle.
It's Fruit, Cream, Ice Cream, Etc.—in other words, it is the richest drink that can be served from a soda fountain.
We are often asked the question, "Who makes your Ice Cream?" and after being told, we make it ourselves, they say: "Well, it's the finest I have ever had—give us another glass."
