On the subject of pensions, the letter says: To empower national banks to issue circulating notes is to grant a valuable privilege to the favored class, surrender to private corporations control over the volume of paper money and build up a class which will claim a vested interest in the nation's financial policy.

MARQUETTE, MICH., SEPT. 10.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

GENERAL BLACK has declined to accept the nomination for governor on the gold ticket in Illinois. He was willing to take the presidential nomination, empty though it would be, but objects to leading a state contingent of gold bugs to certain defeat.

JOHN P. IRISH of California, who was a delegate to the Indianapolis convention, says the platform adopted by that convention was "the first true, real, genuine Democratic platform enunciated for years."

SOME of the big dailies lay great stress on the fact that there is no money behind the silver movement, and predict its collapse because the managers of the silver campaign are not well supplied with funds.

AMONG the political somersaults that have been turned this year by persons from whom such feats would not ordinarily be looked for about the most bewildering is that of Jesse R. Grant, of San Diego, Cal., a son of the late General Grant.

MAYOR GALLUP of Escanaba delivered the address at the workingmen's picnic in that city on Labor Day, and in the course of his remarks he alluded to the contest over the congressional nomination in this district, saying that he was pleased beyond measure with the defeat of Mr. Stephenson, not that he had any personal feeling against Mr. Stephenson, but because "the methods employed to carry Delta county for him were 'utterly reprehensible' and deserving of condemnation."

THE YUKON GOLD COUNTRY. Very conflicting reports reach us from the gold district on the Yukon river in the territory of Alaska. The Minneapolis Journal of the 8th prints an interview with the secretary and assistant manager of the North American Transportation & Trading company of Fort Cudahy, Alaska, which has an office in Chicago, in which he gives quite a glowing account of the district and tells of fortunes that are being won there.

amounts, ranging from $3,000 to $5,000 each. His company owns two boats of 500 tons each, which make four trips each between St. Michael's and Fortymile creek during the season of navigation, and it did a business of over half a million this year, transporting passengers and freight and dealing in supplies.

On the other hand, letters from men known to possess these qualities who have gone to the Yukon country represent it as being about the most trying place to live in that could be imagined. The warm season is very short and the cold intense during the long winter.

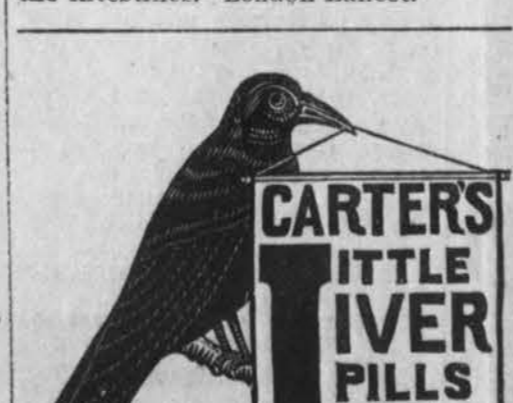

Mr. Hamilton's interview is well calculated to encourage adventurous persons to seek their fortunes in the Yukon region, but they would do well to not rely much on statements of that kind.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable.

HEARING REDUCED TO A NICETY. Newly-Invented Phonendoscope and Its Application.

The newly-invented phonendoscope is designed to be used by physicians and surgeons for detecting the presence of disease by sound. The instrument consists of a circular flat metal box or tympanum, having on its one surface two apertures for the attachment of the rubber ear tubes, while the other surface is formed by a thin disk, which is readily thrown into vibration.

The instrument would be particularly useful for the following purposes: First—The sound of the respiratory organs, of the circulation of the blood, and of the digestive organs in the healthy body as well as in the sick subject. Second—The sounds made by the muscles, joints and bones. Third—The sound of the capillary circulation. Fourth—The slightest sound produced in any diseased condition of the body; hence it is possible to draw on the body dimensions, the position or any alteration in the position of the various organs and of the fluids which have gathered in the most important cavities in the body.

THE OPPOSING STANDARDS.

THE WRITER, who is not one of these money changing criminals, dissents from Mr. Rood's idea of what a discussion should be and the spirit manifested by him at the outset, but heartily concurs in the sentiment of Mr. Bryan that "honest differences of opinion have always existed and ever will exist as to the legislation best calculated to promote the public weal."

If the gold standard oppresses labor and industry it cannot fail to affect those who derive their profits from the general prosperity of the country. If labor cannot find remunerative employment, banks must fail and property be devalued.

Mr. Rood truly says that prices of commodities in general have been falling at various rates almost constantly for many years.

It is not true that the gold standard has laid waste all business, except pawn-broking, money-lending and foreclosing mortgages.

It is not a fact that labor and its products in the United States are partially "demonetized" by reason of it?

In and about Negaunee.

MAY ENJOY THE COUNCIL. Negaunee Divided Against Itself on the Lighting Plant Question.

HEAVY TAXPAYERS DON'T WANT THE PLANT. While the Mayor and Council Propose to Have It if There is Any Way of Getting It.

A LIGHTING PLANT WAR. Some of the taxpayers of Negaunee are strongly opposed to having the city put in and operate its own electric lighting plant, but not until yesterday did they openly manifest their opposition to having the council proceed to purchase and install the plant.

It now looks as though there might be considerable annoyance, and some delay as well, before the plant is installed. While there has been more or less discussion of the steps successively taken by the council to provide the city with a lighting plant of its own it only became red-hot when the council ratified the action of the committee in charge of the work at a special meeting called Tuesday evening for the purpose. It was said that the committee's action in letting contracts for the electrical and steam plants would be opposed by a majority of the aldermen, but that did not prove to be the case.

Samuel Redfern appeared before the council and objected to its action in behalf of three companies which he represented here. Yesterday he called on City Attorney Bell, who is looking after Recorder Johnson's duties during his absence, and procured a correct and complete copy of the minutes of the meeting. He did not state for what purpose he desired the minutes, but intimated that he will have good use for them later. In order that all may know exactly what was done at the meeting the minutes as taken from the recorder's books are here given:

At an adjourned regular meeting of the common council of the city of Negaunee continued and held on the 8th day of Sept. 1896, Mayor Kirkwood presided. Meeting was called to order at 7:30 with Aldermen Matthews, Pascoe, Hogberg, Thomas, Kelan, Perkins and Gaffney, in their seats. Aldermen Anderson, Vincent and Wiggins were absent.

On motion, the regular order of business was suspended. The joint committee composed of the mayor and committee on electric light and gas submitted the following report: To the Common Council of the City of Negaunee:—Your committee, to whom was delegated the power to provide for the erection and completion of an electric lighting plant for the city of Negaunee, beg leave to report: First—that they advertised for bids according to law upon the plans and specifications of Mr. Frank Rae, as adopted by the council and opened by your committee on Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m., and the ones accepted were as follows:

The committee then authorized the mayor and recorder to close contracts with both of these corporations and affix their official signatures thereto. This resolution is signed by the entire committee. Sufficient bonds being executed in favor of the city for the faithful performance of the contracts, the contracts were then let to the above corporations, and it was specified that all labor should be performed by citizens of Negaunee, and all material used, such as brick, lime, etc., should be purchased in the city, and that the work be completed in sixty days from Sept. 5.

Your committee now ask that their action be ratified. E. B. KIRKWOOD, Mayor. L. H. KELAN, Recorder. JOHN E. HOGBERG, Alderman. Mr. Redfern asked permission to address the council. He stated that he appeared in behalf of the Iron Cliffs company, Pioneer Iron company and Cleveland Iron Mining company, and also in his own behalf. He protested against the ratification of the committee's report and against any further action being taken by the council toward putting in a municipal electric light plant without submitting the matter to a vote of the people and for other reasons stated.

Alderman Perkins called for the opinion of the city attorney. The latter stated briefly the statutes on the subject, and that in his opinion, the council might be enjoined from going ahead with the work until a majority of the electors had voted in favor of it. The matter was then discussed by several members of the council, which Alderman Kelan offered the following resolution and moved its adoption: Whereas, On reading and filing the report of your committee, composed of the mayor and committee on electric light and gas, showing that such joint committee had canvassed the bids for putting in a complete municipal electric lighting plant in this city; has awarded the contracts to the lowest bidder, and that contracts have been signed with such bidders for installing the complete plant for the sum of $9,974.00, he it

A WORLD'S WONDER.

The Marvelous Accomplishments of Blind and Deaf Helen Keller. Under Her Many Disadvantages She Masters Speech and Becomes Eloquent—Her Touching Talk in Public.

Finished oratory could not have claimed closer attention from an audience than did the half-blurred, yet happy words which fell from the lips of Helen Keller, the famous deaf and blind girl at Mount Airy a few days ago. Her speech was the crowning event of the proceedings of the American Association to Promote the Teaching of Speech to the Deaf, now holding its summer meeting in the building of the Pennsylvania institution. Clad in a girlish costume, with dark ringlets falling to her shoulders and a bright smile illuminating her face, she took the platform to talk on "The Value of Speech to the Deaf."

The fame of her accomplishments had attracted many people, both scientific and curious, all anxious to hear the afflicted girl, who is declared by her teachers to be the brightest of any of her age, not excepting those in possession of the full five senses. She was introduced by Miss Sara Fuller, principal of the Horace Mann school, Boston, where she received the greater part of her education. Without a trace of embarrassment she began her little speech. To many of her hearers the articulation was somewhat indistinct, and for the benefit of those familiar with the signs of the deaf and dumb Dr. Alexander Graham Bell translated her words by the manual alphabet. She said:

"If you knew all the joy I feel in being able to speak to you to-day I think you would have some idea of the value of speech to the deaf, and you would understand why I want every deaf child in all this great world to have an opportunity to learn to speak. I know that much has been said and written on the subject, and that there is a wide difference of opinion among teachers of the deaf in regard to oral instruction. It seems very strange to me that there should be this difference of opinion; I cannot understand how anyone interested in our education can fail to appreciate the satisfaction we feel in being able to express our thoughts in living words. Why, I use speech constantly, and I cannot begin to tell you how much pleasure it gives me."

"Of course I know that it is not always easy for strangers to understand me, but it will be by and by; and in the mean time I have the unspeakable happiness of knowing that my family and friends rejoice in my ability to speak. My little sister and baby brother love to have me tell them stories in the long summer evenings when I am at home, and my mother and teacher often ask me to read to them from my favorite books. I also discuss the political situation with my dear father, and we decide the most perplexing questions quite as satisfactorily to ourselves as if I could see and hear. So you see what a blessing speech is to me. It brings me into closer and tenderer relationship with those I love, and makes it possible for me to enjoy the sweet companionship of a great many persons from whom I should be entirely cut off if I could not talk."

"I can remember the time before I learned to speak, and how I used to struggle to express my thoughts by means of the manual alphabet—how my thoughts used to beat against my finger tips like the little birds striving to gain their freedom, until one day Miss Fuller opened wide the prison door and let them escape. I wonder if she remembers how eagerly and gladly they spread their wings and flew away. Of course it was not easy at first to fly. The speech wings were weak and broken and had lost all the grace and beauty that had been theirs; indeed, nothing was left save the impulse to fly, but that was something.

"One can never consent to creep when one feels an impulse to soar. But, nevertheless, it seemed to me sometimes that I could never use my speech wings as God intended I should use them; there were so many difficulties in the way, so many discouragements; but I kept on trying, knowing that patience and perseverance would win in the end. And while I worked I built the most beautiful air castles and dreamed dreams, the pleasantest of which was of the time when I should talk like other people; and the thought of the pleasure it would give my mother to hear my voice once more sweetened every effort and made every failure an incentive to try harder next time."

"So I want to say to those who are trying to learn to speak, and those who are teaching them: 'Be of good cheer.' Do not think of to-day's failures, but of the success that may come to-morrow. You have set yourselves a difficult task, but you will succeed if you persevere, and you will find a joy in overcoming obstacles—a delight in climbing rugged paths which you would perhaps never know if you did not sometimes slip backward; if the road was always smooth and pleasant. Remember, no effort that we make to attain something beautiful is ever lost. Some time, somewhere, somehow, we shall find that which we seek. We shall speak, yes, and sing, too, as God intended we should speak and sing."

At the conclusion of her speech Miss Keller conversed for a short time with her teacher, Miss Sullivan, to show the audience her method of reading the motion of the lips simply by resting a forefinger vertically upon them. She is so expert in telegraphy of this kind that she can understand everything Miss Sullivan says when talking at the rate of 200 words a minute.—Philadelphia Record.

WEDDED BY THE BISHOP.

Smith-Ball Nuptials an Imposing Event in the New Social Season.

MAGNIFICENT RECEPTION GIVEN BY THE BRIDE'S PARENTS.

President Kelsey Appoints His Standing Committees—Men Who Will Sit on the Jury—Related Her Texan Experiences.

WEDDING IN SWELL SOCIETY.

The first wedding of the new social season was that celebrated at St. Paul's cathedral last evening. The contracting parties were Clarence M. Smith of Denver and Miss Emily M. Ball, one of the charming young belles of Marquette society. The wedding was an exceedingly fashionable event, and was followed by a magnificent reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Ball. To this upwards of 200 guests were invited.

At the cathedral the scene was a beautiful one, and it is doubtful if the church has ever been more handsomely decorated than for the ceremony last evening. The chancel was a veritable bower of beauty. The bridal procession formed in the vestibule of the church, and marched up the aisle with the full vested choir leading, singing the Lohengrin wedding march. Following the choir were the ushers, Messrs Sheldon Q. Kerruish of Cleveland, Lucius C. Boltwood of Grand Rapids, Ernest Wetmore, George E. Ball, A. E. Miller and Will Murray of Marquette. They preceded Miss Helen Grace Ball, maid of honor, who wore white organdie over green silk and carried a bouquet of American Beauties. Following came the beautiful bride leaning on the arm of her father. She was handsomely gowned in a dress of white satin, with Dutchesse lace and mousselle de soie. She wore a bridal veil and carried white roses.

The choir filed up into the chancel and remained standing in the stalls, while the bride and groom were met at the chancel steps by the groom and his best man, Edmund P. Cottle of Buffalo. Bishop G. Mott Williams officiated, using the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Episcopalian church. The first part of the ceremony, the betrothal, was said at the foot of the steps. The party then advanced into the chancel, and the bride was given away by her father. Advancing again and kneeling at the altar rail bride and groom received the benediction of the bishop. The recessional was to the beautiful strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march.

The spacious residence of the bride's parents was ablaze with light as the wedding party and guests came from the church to the reception. The decorations of the house were in excellent taste, rich and beautiful. The scheme of the front parlor, in which the bride and groom stood to receive their friends, was white and green. Ropes of smilax ran from the chandelier to the bay window forming a canopy under which the pair stood as they received. The mantle was covered with a veil of smilax and banked with white sweet peas. The music room was similarly trimmed with the exception that the mantle was banked with sweet peas in colors. In the sitting room variety was again secured by banking the mantle with mountain ash berries. Every door throughout the house was draped with ground pine. In the dining room the table was set for the wedding supper. The table was beautifully decorated with La France roses and smilax, while the mantle was banked with pink and white sweet peas.

Friends of the bridal couple bestowed their esteem with many rich and elegant presents. These were displayed advantageously on tables set in the library.

In addition to the best man and ushers the guests from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Smith of New York, brother and sister-in-law of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Harrison of Salisbury, Conn., and W. B. Hill of East Liverpool, Ohio. Bride and groom left on the 11:30 train for Duluth, going thence west on their wedding trip. The future home of Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be in Denver.

Standing Committees Named.

A meeting of the Hobart and McKinley club was held last evening in the rink. The chief purpose of the gathering was to enable President Kelsey to announce his standing committees that the club machinery might be set in motion and the work of the campaign begun at once.

After the meeting had been opened and the minutes read the president made the following appointments which were confirmed without dissent from the club:

Executive committee—Gad Smith, C. R. Brown, O. G. Youngquist, J. B. Wilson, L. H. Stafford and John Icardon.

Finance committee—Edgar H. Towar, James M. Wilkinson, George Barnes, J. H. Jacobs, John R. Van Evera, George Wagner, E. C. Williams and Louis Grabower.

Membership committee—S. M. Billings, George Williams, George Drolet, Sam Bennett, Lester Clark, Clark W. Youngs, A. D. Jacobs, C. E. L'Hullier, A. F. Agnew, John Temple, H. C. Kemp, Walter F. Ward, Charles Lawrence, C. C. Van Iderstine and W. A. Brown.

Committee on parade and displays—B. S. Kaufman, Captain Kruger and W. A. Jellison.

Library and printing committee—W. A. Ross, A. E. Bowwell and George Shaw.

Music committee—L. C. Needham, W. D. Mauney and E. C. Wilkinson.

There was some discussion as to how soon the campaign could be opened and as to who it would be best to secure. A gentleman on the floor said that he had it personally from Judge Chadbourne that he would be willing to deliver in Marquette the speech that he made before the Honest Money club of Houghton, and the secretary was accordingly instructed to invite the judge to make an address to the club. The date, which was left to the executive committee, will probably be set early next week. As soon as arrangements can be made it is planned to have a grand ratification meeting with Dunstan and Sheldon down from the copper country and a speaker of note from below.

In conclusion of the meeting Judge Brown spoke from the floor for ten minutes. He dwelt chiefly upon the changes of the Democrat's position in this from last campaign.

Respect for Hanscom.

At a meeting of the Gogebic county bar association held in open court the following resolutions were adopted and by an order of the circuit judge, Norman W. Haire, ordered spread upon the record:

The court having heretofore appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. Button, Chamberlain and Petek for the purpose of drafting proper resolutions and presenting them to the court upon the death of Irving D. Hanscom, an attorney at law and a practitioner of this bar, on motion of Messrs. Button, Chamberlain and Petek, the following was by the court ordered spread upon the minutes of the court, and a copy thereof duly certified by the clerk of this court, sent to the widow of the said Irving D. Hanscom:

The court and bar of Gogebic county, in the removal of Brother Irving D. Hanscom by death from the scene of his earthly labors, bow in sorrow to the will of the divine ruler of the universe. Brother Hanscom was an honored practitioner at this bar, ever courteous, and always standing for the right as he understood it, and in his death this bar has lost an ornament and society has lost a friend. We condole with the afflicted members of his household. He is dead, but will he not live again?

Mr. Button in presenting the resolutions made some very feeling remarks in behalf of the committee and the whole bar, and the remarks of Judge Haire were very touching and tender in receiving the report. The court made an order that the resolutions be spread upon the minutes and record of the court and that the clerk of the court send to the widow of the deceased a certified copy.

She Opened Texas.

Ensign Narrowway, one of the four pioneer officers who opened Texas to the Salvation army, appeared at the local barracks last evening and told her experience as a Salvationist in the Lone Star state. The ensign has spent seven years there beginning with Austin and opening successively one town after another. At Austin, the capitol, she says the meetings were attended nightly by members of the legislature, as well as by the motley throng usual to find in a Texan city. In San Antonio she and a lieutenant accompanying her experienced the vicissitudes of both fire and flood, narrowly escaping with their lives in the second case. She held the interested attention of her audience for nearly an hour.

16 to 1 Club.

By a strange coincidence apparently unnoticed by the members of the club at the time of appointments the hated ratio of 16 to 1 appears in the official roster of the new McKinley and Hobart club. There is one president and sixteen vice presidents.
