HARRITY IS DEPOSED.

The Pennsylvania Democratic Convention Turns Down the National Committeeman.

CHAIRMAN JONES WILL FILL THE VACANCY.

Chicago Platform Is Endorsed, Especially the Silver Plank, and It Is Decided to Fuse With Populists on State-Ticket.

WHITE METAL MEN CONTROLLED.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 10.—The Democratic state convention reassembled today to fill vacancies on the electoral ticket created by the withdrawal after the Chicago convention of part of the electors chosen at the Allentown convention in April. The silver men were in complete control. On the roll call of delegates not more than one-third of the original delegates to the Allentown convention answered to their names. The substitutions in nearly every instance were silver men.

The platform as reported endorsed Bryan and Sewall and pledged them "cordial, united and vigorous support." It also accepted the Chicago platform "as an expression of the opinion of a majority of the duly accredited representatives of the Democracy of the United States upon the issues involved in the present political canvass," and continued, "We heartily endorse the same, and particularly the plank in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1."

A PROTEST FROM GOLD MEN.

Before a vote was taken on the adoption of the platform Delegate James of North Hampton presented a protest, signed by a committee of gold Democrats, headed by State Chairman Wright. Mr. James had scarcely started his introductory speech before the delegates manifested impatience. The chairman urged that Mr. James be given fair play, saying he could not influence votes by his argument. The speaker called attention to the fact that three months ago the Allentown Democrat had in convention adopted a resolution declaring for a gold standard, and now the same delegates proposed to change about and endorse a free silver candidate on a free silver platform. He got no further; the uproar drowned his voice. James continued to speak, but not a word he uttered could be heard. James filed his protest with the secretary. The platform was then adopted. A resolution was offered to depose Harrity as national committeeman and authorize Chairman Jones to fill the vacancy. The motion prevailed amid great excitement—171 to 169. A motion to give the Populists four electors and fuse with them was carried. A congressman-at-large was named and the electoral ticket filed.

REED ON CURRENCY.

Big Crowd Hears the Speaker at Portland, Me.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 10.—Tonight Speaker Reed addressed his constituents for the last time before election. The rain fell in torrents, but the large auditorium was crowded. Mr. Reed said, in part:

"We have now, in a much milder form, the same kind of attack made on this government. But for a great nation we have governed ourselves wisely and well, and although gentlemen who have vivid imaginations and with a certain lack of fixity in principles have invited us many times into the flowery paths of dishonor we have never yet followed them. We had every one here large currency and we will go forward. The temptation was great to many of us, but we said, 'When the United States says this is a dollar, just that moment it ought to be a dollar and shall be,' and our reward was fourteen years of most magnificent prosperity. Now we are again threatened with disease in a greater form.

"Nothing stands a nation in stead like an honorable fulfillment of every obligation entered into. No method has ever been discovered of keeping a material that is one-half cheaper than another material equivalent to the better material, except by exchanging whenever the man who has the weaker material desires. Great as the nation is, we cannot make something out of nothing, except by the use of natural means, and we cannot by any possibility do more than to set the laws of nature at work. Let us recognize our limitations."

CONDITION OF THE CROPS.

Government Report Shows a Decline of Six Points in Corn.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The September report of the department of agriculture shows a decline in the condition of corn from the August statement of six points, or 96 per cent. in August to 90 in September. The averages in the principal corn growing states are: Kentucky, 93; Ohio, 104; Michigan, 104; Indiana, 106; Illinois, 100; Iowa, 103; Missouri, 85; Kansas, 89; Nebraska, 103. Although there has been a falling off in the condition of some states, particularly Kansas and Nebraska, the crop promises to be a large one. Nearly all the great central states report a high condition though there are many local reports of drought, flooding, rains or insects, or along the northern border, early frosts. Kentucky and Missouri report considerable injury by dry weather and this impairment is shown in all states to the south. The later crop has fared worse in most states. The general condition of wheat, considering both the winter and spring varieties when harvested, is 74.6 per cent., against 75.4 in 1895 and 83.7 in 1894. The conditions in the principal wheat states are: Ohio, 52; Michigan, 75; Indiana, 66; Illinois, 77; Wisconsin, 70; Minnesota, 80; Iowa, 84; Missouri, 75; Kansas, 70; Nebraska, 77; South Dakota, 76; North Dakota, 61; California, 100; Oregon, 80; Washington, 75. The European agent of the department reports a general reduction in the earlier estimates of the wheat crop owing to unfavorable weather, which was particularly bad in harvest time in central Europe, though fairly good westward. The quality is high. The condition of oats harvested was 74 per cent., against 77.3 in August; rye, 82; barley, 83.1; buckwheat, 93.2; tobacco, 81.5, a fall of five points since August; potatoes, 83.3, against 90.8 last year.

CIVIL SERVICE ENDORSED.

Letter Carriers Want Merit System Used Wherever Practicable.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 10.—At this morning's session of the letter carriers' convention, the Kiefer salary bill formed the topic for consideration and the bill was unanimously sanctioned by the convention. The result was contrary to earlier expectations, as the bill gives carriers of first class cities a raise of $200 and second class cities were expected to oppose. The result was a compromise. After the bill has been passed the first class men will join the others in getting a revision of the classification of cities.

The convention this afternoon adopted resolutions strongly endorsing the civil service rules, and asking that the merit system be used wherever practicable. The committee on nominations reported the following: For president, J. N. Parrons of New York, C. W. Worthington of Chicago and J. F. Quinn of Philadelphia; for secretary, J. F. Victory of Philadelphia; for treasurer, Alex. McDonald of Grand Rapids. The election of officers will be held tomorrow.

EQUALLED WORLD'S RECORD.

Gentry Wins a Great Race from Star Pointer.

GLEN FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—In the first of a series of three races between John E. Gentry and Star pointer for a purse of $5,000 today, Gentry equalled the world's record made by Robert J. going a mile and winning the heat by almost a full length in 2:01 1/4. The average time of the three heats of today's race was just a quarter second slower than the world's record, made at Fleetwood last week.

In the first heat Star Pointer had the pole and held the position from the wire to the half pole, with Gentry close beside him. As they sped into the home stretch the stallions were as if in one harness. Then with a furious drive Gentry pushed his nose ahead and won the heat in 2:03 1/4.

In the second heat quite a breeze was blowing, but a more magnificent race was never witnessed. They sped along as one to the five-eighths pole, when Star Pointer, who was on the outside and straining every muscle, managed to show his head to the front. In the stretch Gentry, by a wonderful burst of speed, flew past his rival, passing under the wire a full length in front, with the world's record to his credit of 2:01 1/4. The vast assemblage went wild.

The third heat was somewhat of a disappointment. After traveling the first half neck and neck Star Pointer went back to Gentry's wheel. He closed again in the stretch, when Andrews again made a drive and Gentry took the third heat in 2:05 1/4.

TEXAS REPUBLICANS MEET.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 10.—The Republican convention reconvened this morning. The committee on resolutions recommended the appointment of a committee with plenary power to confer with committees from the gold standard Democrats and Populists, looking to coalition. This has already been practically settled.

The Republican convention completed its labors this afternoon. The nomination of McKinley and Hobart was ratified and the St. Louis platform endorsed with great enthusiasm. No state ticket was nominated. The question of fusion was referred to the plenary committee. E. H. R. Green, son of the richest woman in America, Betty Green of New York, was elected chairman of the state executive committee. It was the largest Republican convention ever held in Texas.

WATSON IN KANSAS.

He Talks to an Audience of Two Thousand at Erie.

ERIE, Kas., Sept. 10.—About two thousand people, mostly farmers, greeted Hon. Thomas Watson, Populist nominee for vice president, when he began his speech here today. Referring to his nomination, Mr. Watson said, among other things: "I am not seeking to be taken on the Democratic ticket. I am not a political beggar, nor is my party. The Democrats and Populists ought to unite. Their ticket ought to be the St. Louis ticket—Bryan, a Democrat, and Watson, a Populist. Ain't that right? I say that's no surrender; it is a fair compromise. Turn me down, and you lose Texas, Tennessee and Kentucky. To elect Bryan, the People's party nominee for vice president must stay on the ticket; and I say Watson is going to stay."

Sultan's Throne Tottering.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Press association announces that a private dispatch from Constantinople, received this evening, confirms the rumor of the deposition of the sultan, being seriously debated by the powers, and that important developments are expected with the action of Sheikh Uth-Islam, whose fat is necessary for deposition.

CYCLONE VISITS PARIS.

The French Capital Swept by a Disastrous Storm Yesterday Afternoon.

DAMAGE TO PROPERTY WIDESPREAD AND SERIOUS.

Many Persons Were Injured and Several Fatalities Are Reported—Hurricane Succeeded by Torrents of Rain—Cellars Flooded.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—A violent cyclone swept over a portion of this city this afternoon. Omnibuses and cabs in the streets were overturned, trees blown down and barges sunk in the river. Many people were injured.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—This city is much excited over the cyclone today, which develops into a disaster of considerable proportions. There were a number of minor casualties and the number of injured persons is large, and further reports are constantly being received. Over fifty injured had been reported at one fire station alone, and five dead were brought in. A dozen persons were carried bodily into the Seine from bridges and were rescued with great difficulty. The damage to property was widespread and serious. The first tempest of wind, which did the most damage, was succeeded by torrents of rain and cellars all over Paris are flooded.

The prefecture of police issued a statement tonight that only one person had been killed in the cyclone. This understates the case. A large ward in the Hotel Dieu is full of victims; two of them died tonight and several there and in other hospitals are in precarious conditions.

The cyclone chiefly affected a small area lying around the Palais de Justice and the Hotel de Ville. It appeared to have been caused by two strong currents from the northwest and southeast. Clouds rushed together and whirled around and met just over the area. There was no thunder.

TRAIN CAUGHT AFIRE.

Valuable Expressage and Much Mail Matter Is Destroyed.

GOSHEN, Ind., Sept. 10.—The Lake Shore through express, carrying mails and expressage from New York to Chicago, caught fire near here tonight and thousands of dollars worth of goods, with much mail matter, were destroyed. When the flames were discovered the train slowed down and an effort was made to extinguish them. It proved unavailing, and a wild run with the blazing train was made for this city, six miles away. The fire department was called and the fire subdued, but not before much valuable expressage had been destroyed. The loss cannot be accurately estimated tonight. The origin of the flames is supposed to have been combustion.

ALMOST A BOLT.

Montana Republicans Fight Over Committee Reports.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 10.—The Republican state convention reassembled this morning, but adjourned until afternoon, as the committee on permanent organization was not ready to report. The afternoon session was a most stormy one. Trouble arose over the report of the committee on permanent organization. There was a majority report, signed by sixteen members of the committee, and two minority reports, one signed by five and the other by two members. The majority report was adopted after several hours of heated debate. On the adoption of this report the two factions came near splitting. A. B. Botkin was nominated for governor on the fifth ballot.

SOLID FRONT FOR BRYAN.

Colorado Republicans Pledge Support to the Chicago Ticket.

DENVER, Sept. 10.—The Republican state convention today named presidential electors and nominated a state ticket headed by Jared L. Brush for governor. The resolutions declare for bimetalism and protection, "as set forth in our national platforms previous to 1896 and adhered to by Abraham Lincoln and the founders of the Republican party." The party is pledged to support Bryan and Sewall, and the St. Louis bolters are endorsed. Senator Teller and Congressmen Shafroth and Bell are commended for their work in congress and endorsed for reelection.

THEIR ENCAMPMENT OVER.

Colonel Rake Elected Commander-in-Chief of Sons of Veterans.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 10.—The fifteenth national encampment of the Sons of Veterans adjourned at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The last business was the installation of the officers elected, as follows: J. L. Rake, Pennsylvania, commander-in-chief; L. P. Kennedy, Colorado, senior vice commander; R. M. Buckley, Louisville, junior vice commander. Indianapolis was selected as the next place of meeting.

Endorsed Democratic Ticket.

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 10.—The Populists met in state convention here today. The convention was a large one, containing nearly 300 delegates. The platform endorses the free silver of coinage at 16 to 1 and all other time-honored Populist doctrines. No ticket was nominated. The Democratic ticket nominated at Ottumwa, together with the Democratic electors, were endorsed in accordance with an agreement between the leaders of the two parties.

Mining Notes.

It is rumored the Calumet & Hecla is about to make another large sale of copper for export, and as the mining companies have very little copper on hand an export sale of a few million pounds would certainly strengthen the copper market.

Reports from the Osceola are really flattering; especially is this so of Nos. 3 and 4 shafts and the tributary ground. The lode is showing up nicely in mass, barrel and other grades of copper.

The men having charge of the construction of the new Red Jacket shaft house have arrived at Calumet. The structural iron, which has been delayed nearly a month, is expected in a few days and the work of erecting the shaft house will be begun immediately upon its arrival.

Considerable interest was manifested in the case of Michael Gwynan vs. Harry Warren, which was tried before a jury in Justice Curtis' court at Calumet Tuesday afternoon.

Fight Will Be a Hot One.

Since Mr. Richardson withdrew from the contest for the Republican nomination for sheriff and entered the one for judge of probate, rumors were circulated that Messrs. Crawford and Gray had withdrawn from the race for the latter office.

At the close of the monthly business meeting of the Hancock Y. M. C. A. tonight, Professor W. J. Cluin will deliver an address on "Phrenology and Vocation in Life." A musical program will also be rendered.

W. B. Hoar of Houghton met with an accident Wednesday evening that will lay him up for a short time. Mr. Hoar was engaged in decorating the armory for the Fraternity ball to be given tonight, and while standing on a ladder at a height of about twenty feet he slipped, precipitating him to the floor, spraining his hand and shaking him up generally.

A bicycle meet is being arranged to take place at Calumet in the near future. It is the intention of the park association to secure as an attraction W. J. Evans and William Boone two former residents of the copper country but at present residing in Montana.

The sentiment expressed at Calumet regarding the withdrawal of the Hancock team from the inter-association field day sports is in the nature of a complete indifference. They claim the towns of Osceola, Tamarack, Calumet, Lake Linden and Laurium furnished sufficient number of athletes to make all the events interesting, and that notwithstanding the withdrawal of Hancock's team they had the best day's sport ever held at the park.

COOPER UNION WAS CROWDED.

New York, Sept. 10.—A mass meeting was held in Cooper Union tonight under auspices of the campaign committee of the McKinley league.

Our chief competitor in the domain of manufacture is England, and he must be ignorant who will demand the abolition of tariff laws and not know that the gainer will be England.

The speaker compared the work possible with modern implements to that under the old methods, saying: "The farmer needs a market; he should have a market in which to sell at a fair and reasonable price, but unfortunately he has been taught he should buy in a cheap market and sell in a dear one."

The per capita circulation is greater than ever in the United States, but so long as it lies idle through lack of confidence, or so long as it is reduced each time a steamer lands a cargo of immigrants, the idle workman can have no share in it.

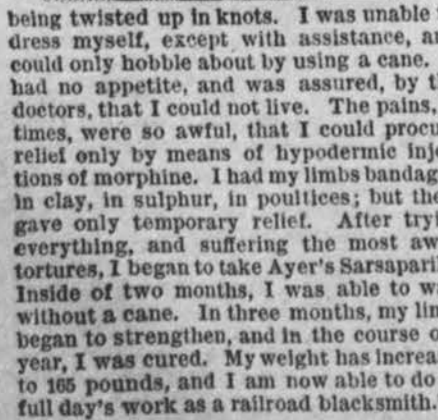

Referring to the Chicago strike, Mr. Powderly said: "I don't approve of a government by any other power than the will of the American people; but if we will have a government by truckling, time-serving officials, who fear to do their sworn duty, we invite government by injunction, which would never have been known had incompetency not preceded."

The speaker entered into a lengthy analysis of the free coinage of silver, declaring it would drive gold from the country and enhance the value of silver.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills, but could obtain only temporary relief."

being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphia. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

at the expense of the people. In his discourse, he said: "The proposition that a silver dollar is the poor man's dollar is pure gold. The poor man's dollar is the dollar which he earns, whether gold or silver. Workingmen are entitled to the best in the market, and instead of joining in the shout for the cheap dollar of free and unlimited coinage should inscribe on his banner: 'The best is none too good for me.'"

WARNER MILLER'S ADDRESS. Warner Miller, in his speech, took up the silver question, saying that free coinage means silver monometallism; that gold will disappear, and that we will have a cheap dollar.

"Never since coin has been resorted to by nations," said he, "has the power of any nation been able to change the commercial value of either gold or silver. Free coinage would depreciate our money, yet not advance wages proportionately, and the mine owner and holder of silver bullion would be the only ones benefited by such legislation."

Before adjournment resolutions were adopted declaring that the wage workers of New York, assembled under the auspices of the McKinley league, repudiate the Chicago platform, holding that its doctrine is injurious to the best interests of the nation and of the workingmen of the United States; that national honor and prosperity are involved and depend upon the election of the Republican candidates, and calling upon wage workers every where to support McKinley and Hobart.

On Their Way to Canton.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 10.—Governor Woodbury, Governor-elect Grout, Senator Proctor and one hundred other Vermont Republicans arrived in the city tonight at 6 o'clock. They were met at the depot by a delegation of citizens. An impromptu meeting was held, with speeches by the two Vermont governors and others. In the evening the visitors enjoyed the fireworks display of the celebration of the anniversary of Commodore Perry's victory on Lake Erie in 1813. Tomorrow they go to Canton to pay their respects to Major McKinley.

They Called on Bryan.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 10.—A delegation of members of the National Post-office Clerks' association, enroute to the national convention at Denver, shook hands with Mr. Bryan today. In response to their greeting, Mr. Bryan said: "I am glad to greet you as representatives of an occupation which requires so high an order of intelligence and large degree of fidelity. I meet you in an entirely unpartisan manner and accept the kind words in the spirit in which they are tendered."

Poisoned by Ice Cream.

DES MOINES, Sept. 10.—At a wedding at Bondquiant, a small town near Des Moines, twenty-five persons were poisoned today from eating ice cream, which was purchased in this city. None of the cases have so far proved fatal, although several are seriously ill.

A Fatal Family Quarrel.

RICHMOND, Mo., Sept. 10.—Charles Matiment split his wife's skull open with a hatchet this afternoon, fatally injuring her. When arrested a short time afterward he blew out his own brains. The tragedy was the result of a family quarrel.

Forecast of the Weather.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The weather bureau reports the following as its forecast for the next twenty-four hours: For upper Michigan: Showers, followed by fair, fresh westerly winds.

New Orleans Bank Fails.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 10.—The Mutual National bank suspended this morning. The deposits are small. It is said it will pay in full.

POLITICAL ODDS AND ENDS.

Indianapolis.—The Democratic state central committee has received and accepted the resignation of S. R. Holt, its chairman, a gold standard man.

Topeka, Kas.—The middle-of-the-road Populists this evening issued a call for a state convention to nominate Bryan and Watson electors for Kansas.

Concord, N. H.—The gold standard Democratic convention met here today. The Indianapolis convention and President Cleveland's administration were endorsed and an electoral ticket named.

Washington.—Secretary of the Interior Francis has sent a telegram to Hon. W. D. Bynum, chairman of the gold standard national Democratic committee at Indianapolis, strongly endorsing the candidacy of Palmer and Buckner.

Carson, Nev.—The Republican state convention today selected electors; nominated Dr. Davis for congress; Colonel Moore for lieutenant governor, and the balance of the state ticket by acclamation. The platform asks the free coinage of the American product of silver, or free coinage by international agreement.

Raleigh, N. C.—The Republican and Populist committees have accepted fusion on all state officers, except governor, lieutenant governor and auditor. These will be arranged later. They also fused on congressional nominations, giving the Republicans four districts and the Populists five. No action was taken on an electoral ticket.

THEIR JAWS IN MOTION.

Fitzsimmons and Corbett Enter Into a Wordy Contest of Unlimited Rounds.

THE FORMER ISSUES A $10,000 CHALLENGE.

It is Characterized as a Bluff by the ex-Champion but is Promptly Accepted—To Come Off After the Sharkey Contest.

MAY MEET IN THE RING.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Robert Fitzsimmons and Martin Julian gave a dinner this evening, at which James J. Corbett was challenged by Fitzsimmons. Dave Holland was made temporary stakeholder, and a $5,000 forfeit placed in his hands. It is to remain up thirty days. Fitzsimmons proposes the fight to be a finish for $5,000 or $10,000 and the largest purse offered. He proposes it take place before or after the Corbett-Sharkey fight, or in the same ring, or at any place within a reasonable time after that fight.

Corbett was notified tonight at Asbury Park of the challenge. He simply laughed, and said: "Fitzsimmons is bluffing again. I chased him nearly two years to get him to fight. Now that I am to fight Sharkey he issues a challenge. I am going to accept; I do accept. I will fight him twenty minutes after Sharkey leaves the ring. He has refused so many propositions from me that it shows he does not want to fight me, and is only bluffing. The bluff is called."

SENATOR HILL DECLINES.

WON'T BE DELEGATE TO STATE CONVENTION UNDER BRYAN INSTRUCTIONS. ALBANY, Sept. 10.—Senator Hill has declined to be a delegate to the state convention under instructions to vote for the endorsement of the Chicago platform and candidates.

NOT FOR A MOMENT.

JUNIUS COULD NOT FORGET HIS DEAR LITTLE WIFE.

"Good by, dearie," said Mrs. Junius, as she hung about her husband's neck and bothered him in putting on his overcoat. "I shall be busy here at home all day with the affairs of the house and I am sure that with you busy at the office we shall be a very busy couple. You won't forget, will you, to call in at Price & Bargain's and get me two spoons of silk to match the sample I put in your pocket? Have you got it in your pocket? Yes, here it is. Well, go to the silk counter and the young girls that wear glasses; anyway, I know she is near-sighted, for I saw a young man bow to her on the street and she didn't return it—and show her this sample and tell her who it is for; she will know just what you want, and now I do hope you will be careful and not slip, for the sidewalks are just awful, and, think of it! If you should fall and break your leg, and you know your accident policy has run out, and I do hope you will not have a hard day at the office. Now, for pity sake, put on your gloves before you start out and you see the grocery man tell him to change my order to chops, but not the long, stringy kind that he brought last time, which I had to give to the cat, for somehow we've got to keep our market bills down this year or else what will become of us? And you know the gas bothers us terribly, so if you see the man don't forget to speak to him, will you? There, good-by, darling. I shall be thinking of you all the minutes of the day while I am about my work; not for an instant will you be out of my thoughts. Kiss me, dearie, and tell your little wife that you will be thinking of her all day, too."

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Wheat, moderate trade, within a 1/2c range, closing at the bottom and 1/2c lower than yesterday. The decline was due to liberal northwestern receipts, the New Orleans bank troubles and a general lack of demand. Corn, better trade, within a 1/2c range, closing at medium figures and 1/2c higher than yesterday. The advance was on lighter receipts than were expected, firm outside markets, last night's frosts with more predicted for tonight and the expected bullish government crop report. Oats, active, within a range of 1/2c, closing at the top and unchanged from yesterday.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Stocks today were reactionary, on a decreased volume of business. At the outset a chill was sustained by the announcement that the Bank of England had advanced its minimum rate of discount 1/2 per cent., to 2 1/2%. The advance, strangely enough, appeared to have been more of a surprise in London than it was in Wall Street, but the best information is that the movement of the yellow metal to this country, being entirely natural, cannot be impeded except by extraordinary action. This contention was sustained by the withdrawal of about $2,250,000 in gold from the Bank of England today for shipment to New York.

Today additional arrivals of gold and orders for future delivery announced brought the grand total of engagements to about $25,520,000. Of the $2,250,000 that arrived today about two millions were deposited at the sub-treasury in exchange for greenbacks. A sub-treasury officer estimates that the deposits in the past three days, when figured in the treasury reserve, will bring the net gold holdings up to about $110,000,000. The market closed weak at a decline of 1/2 cent. in the active list.

ABOUT THE "SLOPPER."

His Researches in the Garbage Receptacles and His Find.

"That man is a slopper," remarked a police officer to a Washington Star writer a few mornings since, "and he and his class give us any amount of trouble. If he stole we could reach him by law, but as he only finds we cannot easily reach him." In further explanation he said: "A slopper is a man who searches through the garbage cans in the alleys in the rear of hotels, boarding houses and private houses. Some search for spoons, knives and forks that are thrown into the garbage receptacles by careless servants, for it is a fact that there are more silver spoons and knives and forks thrown away with the garbage than are stolen by servants, though the contrary is generally believed. The slopper is generally an hour or so ahead of the garbage collector and he is often more regular and careful in his finds than the garbage man."

"By industry we thrive," as the line in the copy-books used to contain, and by industry on a good west end route, especially one which takes in a number of boarding houses of hotels, a slopper can find enough tableware to pay the expenses of his tour. Often he makes a rich find. Very frequently he has permission to 'slop' the can from the owners of the house themselves, for he tells them he is on the lookout for stray pieces of meat, etc., which he sells to those who have dogs to feed. Some sloppers are honest enough to return any silverware they may find for the dog-meat privilege, but it is a terrible temptation to many and one they cannot or do not at times withstand."

Elliott's Indian Bible.

Miss Frances H. Tribou, daughter of Chaplain Tribou, takes exception to the oft-repeated statement that no man now living can read Elliott's Indian Bible. She writes Zion's Herald that at the Mohonk Indian conference of 1894, she heard Bishop Whipple say that it is a mistake to say it cannot be read, because the Ojibways of Minnesota can read it. As the bishop's remarks are published in the proceedings of the conference, and as he is an authority on such matters, Miss Tribou's exception seems to be well taken.

LI HUNG CHANG.

Liberality of the Views of the Chinese Statesman.

It is claimed that notwithstanding Li Hung Chang has shown some liberality of views toward modern improvements and education, he is at heart a hater of foreigners, and has an abiding faith in Chinese institutions and methods of government. He is, it is true, a great admirer of Confucian philosophy, and remembering the enduring history of his people we can hardly wonder at his devotion to the institutions which have made that history possible. When we call to mind the experience China has had with certain western nations, it might not be considered strange if his attachment to foreigners was not very ardent; but in all his public life, says John W. Foster in Century, his conduct shows that he feels the need of foreign aid, and is disposed to give it proper welcome, and of all Chinese statesmen he is the most liberal-minded and free from prejudice. He is far from claiming that the present system of government is perfect. He has, in fact, urged upon the authorities at Peking two important changes which look to a reform of the most serious defects in the system; to wit, the withdrawal from the viceroys of provinces of powers which should be exercised only by the imperial government, and such a change in the method of admission to the public service as will liberalize the examinations, and make fitness rather than scholarship the test. There are other changes which he would gladly bring about if he had the power; but, as he confessed to Marquis Ito, "China is hampered by antiquated customs which prevent desirable reforms."

DOLLY MADISON'S TACT.

How She Managed to Win Everybody's Heart.

It was the tact and genuine kindness of Dolly Madison that made her one of the most prominent of American women. Several episodes mentioned in Mrs. Goodwin's "Life of Dolly Madison" are significant of this. At one of her levees, her attention was drawn to a rustic visitor, a youth who was evidently suffering all the torments of embarrassment. He had at last ventured to help himself to a cup of coffee, when Mrs. Madison walked up and addressed him. In the surprise of the moment, the lad dropped the saucer and strove to crowd the cup into his pocket. His tactful hostess took no notice of the accident, except to observe that in such a crowd no one could avoid being jostled, and straightway turned the conversation to the boy's family, and ended by sending her regards to his excellent mother, and bidding the servant bring another cup of coffee. On another occasion two old ladies from the country arrived at the white-house while the family were still at breakfast. To the surprise of the rural visitors, the woman they had come to meet appeared in a stuff dress of dark gray, protected by a large housewife's white apron, and with a linen kerchief pinned about her neck. Her simplicity of manner and attire completely swept away their awe, and before departing one of them found courage to ask: "Perhaps you wouldn't mind if I kissed you—just to tell the folks about!"

THE CUPEY.

A West Indian Tree That Grows from Tree Tops.

The cupey, or, as it is sarcastically called in the English possessions, "the attorney," is one of the most curious as it is certainly the most picturesque of the denizens of the virgin forests of the West Indian island, says London Tidbits. It belongs to the parasitical family of trees or plants, but, terrible to relate, it invariably with the bases of ingratiate destroys all life in the unfortunate tree that cherishes it in its early growth. The seeds are borne on the wings of the wind, and deposited on the branches of other trees, when they burst into roots, which are dropped toward the ground all around the "nurse" tree. In time these roots reach the ground and strike into the soil.

From this moment the roots grow stronger and stronger until they resemble a lot of rope ladders thrown over the tree. Next the parasite sends down a great cord, which twines round the trunk of the supporting tree, at first as though in loving embrace, but it grows tighter and tighter, eventually strangling its benefactor out of existence. The "nurse" tree thus killed roots to decay, and from the immense fibrous roots of the destroyer now springs a great trunk, which rises high into the air. When the cupey is full grown it presents a magnificent spectacle, for the cord-like roots rise often to 50 or 60 feet, and support in midair the vast tree itself.

Voracious Birds of Prey.

The voracity of the eagle and similar birds of prey is well known, but the contents of a nest which was recently discovered in the Alps by a Swiss hunter shows the following remarkable variety in the daily menu: A hare, 27 chamois feet, four pigeons' feet, 30 pheasants' feet, 11 heads of fowls, 18 heads of grouse and the remains of a number of rabbits, marmots and squirrels.

Ceremony at Marlborough.

At Marlborough house there is more ceremony, socially speaking, than at Sandringham. A number of servants and heralds usually attend, and there are usually two servants standing outside four room door when you are staying in the house, and a man behind the chair of every guest at meal time.

The English Language.

English is spoken by 45,000,000 persons in the British Isles, by probably 77,000,000 or 80,000,000 inhabitants of the United States, by 4,000,000 persons in Canada, by 3,000,000 in Australia, by 2,000,000 in India, and by 1,000,000 in the Indian and other British colonies, making the total of the English speaking race to over 100,000,000.

CUT WITH WIRE ROPE.

How Stone Is to Be Taken Out of an Eastern Quarry.

Those who have indulged in deep sea fishing know how the fish line cuts deeply into the hard wood of the gunwale as it is hauled in white taut. Fren an iron protection, after a time, shows the wear of the rope, which is comparatively soft. This, says the Detroit Free Press, gives a clew to the invention of an Albany quarryman for cutting stone. Instead, however, of hemp, he proposes to use wire rope, and with this he will carve the marble and stone right out of its native bed. The wire is wound in strands, and has a very rough surface, powerful machinery gives a strong and steady strain, and the stone, yielding to the constant wear, parts, with smooth edges. It would be easy enough to cut the blocks after they are removed from the quarry, but where the cleverness of the inventor comes in is devising mechanism that can be applied to the stone while in the quarry. This is effected by sinking two parallel channels in the quarry to a depth of little greater than that of the lowest level of the stone to be cut. The channels may be from 2 to 100 feet, or more, apart. At the bottom of each is made a small hole to receive the foot ends of the shafts of the machine. This is the only preparation of the quarry that is necessary. The ropes, which are coiled on huge drums, are then passed around the channels, and as the drums revolve the cutting proceeds. Suitable brakes are provided for the regulation of the speed and pressure. The ordinary speed of the strand is 500 feet a minute, so that a mile length of it passes in six minutes. While the strand is moving, crushed stone or chilled shot and water can be introduced to increase the attrition. Far better, however, than either of these is a composition obtained from the tailings of a magnetic iron separator, which costs about one-tenth as much as the chilled shot. It does not leave the lines caused by the shot, and it can be used over and over again.

WELCOMING A RIVER.

A Joyful Occasion to the People of a Portion of Peru.

In the long coastal desert of Peru, which is some 2,000 miles in length, but only 120 miles broad at its widest part, the rivers, Maj. A. F. Sears says, disappear in the dry season and begin to flow again in February or March when rain falls in the Cordilleras. One of the most important of these rivers is the Piura, the return of whose waters is welcomed with great rejoicings by the inhabitants of its banks. About the time when "the coming of the river" is expected, says the Youth's Companion, eager inquiries as to the progress of the water are put to all persons who chance to come from the head of the valley, and when the water approaches the town of Piura processions go out to meet it, and escort its first trickling stream down the dry river-bed with music and fireworks. At the outskirts of the city thousands of people greet its arrival. The valley of the Piura is said by Maj. Sears to produce excellent cotton, although its possibilities in this respect are not well developed for lack of systematic irrigation. Once in a period of from five to seven years rain falls upon the coastal plain, whereupon, with magic quickness, grass and flowers cover it, and cattle browse in its pastures, but in a few weeks everything withers, and desolation reigns once more upon the barren sands.

LONGS TO BE A SLAVE.

A Southern Negro Who Wants to Go Into Bondage Again.

Some of the letters that Mayor Thacher gets are curiosities in their way. People from out of town who wish to find out anything in the city of Albany invariably write letters to the mayor. It doesn't make any difference what the information desired relates to, the mayor, they think, ought to know, says the Albany Argus.

A letter was received from a negro away down south, who, Mr. Monahan says, has been dead for 30 years—not literally a corpse, but deceased as far as his grip on hustling, progressive nineteenth century life was concerned. This man believes that slavery is still an institution in this great land, and is ignorant of the glorious fact that the master's whip hasn't cracked for 30 years. He never heard of the president's proclamation, never knew that the north had whipped the south, and that 1,000,000 lives had been sacrificed to free the slave. In his letter to the mayor this colored man asked to be brought north and sold back into slavery. There is no question that he found it impossible to live in the south, and joned again for the irresponsibility from self-support of slavery days which he thought still flourished in the south.

BEAU BRUMMELL.

At the Grave of a Famous Dandy and Wit.

English visitors to Tilly-sur-Seulles, having satisfied their curiosity, turn to Caen, where lie the bones of an Englishman who has left behind an immortal reputation as a dandy and wit. Beau Brummell, after having been the friend of the prince regent, died in poverty, a friendless imbecile. Born in 1778, George Bryan Brummell was educated at Eton, where he made a name for social splendor, readiness of repartee and fastidious neatness in dress. He went to the Oriel college, Oxford, for a year, he was presented with a coronation by the prince of Wales in the Tenth Hussars, and for some years enjoyed the friendship of the prince, who was afterwards George IV. At last they quarreled, but "Beau" Brummell held his own in society until gambling losses made him flee the country. In 1830 he was appointed British consul at Caen. His creditors closed round him, and in May, 1835, he was cast into prison. His spirit seemed to have been broken, and in 1837 he showed signs of imbecility and died at the Asylum of the Bon Sauveur, Caen, in March, 1840.

MIDLAKE AND HARBOR GOSSIP. The Delaware is in port taking on 600,000 feet. Rough weather caused a steamer with two tows to lay in behind the breaker-water yesterday. It was also accountable for the delayed arrival of a number of ore carriers due during the day.

On the last trip of the season Wednesday the whaleback Christopher Columbus came down to Chicago from Milwaukee in the remarkable time of four hours and two minutes, with some intermediate point records broken.

The steamer Bessemer of the Rockefeller fleet broke all Lake Superior records Wednesday at Duluth for big cargoes by loading 4,172 gross and 4,673 net tons of iron ore on a draft of 14 feet 10 1/2 inches aft and 14 feet 5 1/2 inches forward.

Captain Cavers, master of the steamer City of Bazonor, of the Eddy-Shaw fleet, has denied the report that his steamer was aground. He says she lay at anchor above Dark Hole in Little Mud lake, waiting for a chance to run over the Encampment, when the water raised.

The steamer Montague, ashore on Charity island shoal, Lake Ontario, was released by the tug Reginald Wednesday evening, and brought into Kingston, Ont. It has not been decided yet when the boat will be docked. Her damages, in spite of the heavy weather she was subject to, are reported slight.

Port List: Arrived.—E. J. Hackett, H. H. Brown, Samuel Mitchell. Cleared.—R. J. Hackett, H. H. Brown, Samuel Mitchell, Cleveland. In for shelter.—M. Sicken and the barge, Philetus Sawyer.

L. S. & I. dock: Arrived—Pontiac, Frontenac and Business. Cleared—Business, Ashtabula; Pontiac, Cleveland.

Though forced to run on very narrow margins, and figuring ever dollar of expenses of the least calculation, yet there are a few boats on the lakes, which though for private reasons, their owners desire their names withheld, that have made small margins, bad as the times are. A gentleman interested financially in one of the great fleets said recently: "If there were any way of equalizing earning power, no one would more readily agree to it, or more heartily indorse it, than myself. But take a boat of 3,000 tons, and compare her running expenses with those of a vessel of 2,500 or 3,000 tons, and you find them nearly equal. Now if the 3,000 ton boat is just paying expenses, the added 1,000 tons will margin for the larger boat. The matter of due regulation of earning and insurance valuations, once solved, will go far towards bringing to pass a vessel combination on the lakes.

HE REFUTED THE LIE.

Turned Over Only Five Times After He Jumped.

Bill Haw was an awkward, ungainly young man, whose life was spent on a Kansas farm, says the New York World. He lived near the little station of Hackney and on one occasion came from a near-by town on the train. It dashed up toward the platform at a high rate of speed. The engineer tried to apply the air-brakes to stop the train, but they refused to work. He whistled for the hand brakes and the brakemen and the conductor began twisting them as if their lives depended upon stopping the train.

Bill saw that something was the matter and concluded that he was the cause of it. The train was past the station, and he feared he would be taken past his home. Standing on the lower platform he gave a wild leap off the train.

In describing Bill's descent afterward the postmaster at Hackney, who had seen Bill's flight through the air, said: "I thought some one had thrown a saddle off the train. Bill rolled off all in a bunch. When the dust settled down Bill emerged from the confusion with his clothes nearly torn off him, his face and hands skinned and an appearance of terror on his face. He actually turned over eight times after he jumped before he stopped."

"That is a lie!" exclaimed Bill, who had listened to the narration. "I never turned over eight times. I turned over five times. I reckon I ought to know. I counted 'em."

THE LATEST FAD.

Autograph Hats Now the Rage with College Students and Summer Girls.

One of the new fads that started with the Cornell university boys is the fashion of wearing autograph hats. One sees them everywhere, for college men in other colleges have taken it up, and have scattered themselves here and there among the summer girls. The hats are made of white canvas, with striped brims. Names can be written in ink anywhere on the surface. One of these had several names of well-known men written upon it, among them the man who pulled stroke for the Cornell eight that won such a glorious victory over Pennsylvania, Harvard and Columbia in that memorable boat race at Poughkeepsie.

Sentimental young men collect the names of their sweethearts, though this has its drawbacks, because there is always the chance that the last girl will want to know all about the other girls whose names she finds written on the hat before hers. The words are usually printed, though script makes a prettier hat and looks less like an advertising device. To see stalwart young college men strolling along with these hats on gives one the impression of one of those impecunious individuals who march up and down upon the business streets with a printed placard on their backs to the effect that "a regular dinner can be had at the Blank dairy lunch for 20 cents."

However, the fad is growing, and by fall the white hats will be black.

POKER AN INDEX OF INSANITY.

Forgetting to Ante Urged as Ground for Breaking a Will.

During the contest over the will of John B. Haskin, who was known in politics as "Tuscarora" Haskin, one of the witnesses gave testimony to show that failure to properly play the game of poker is an evidence of insanity. A New York dispatch in the Providence Journal. Mr. Haskin left an estate valued at over $1,000,000, most of which he bequeathed to his son. His daughter and grandchild contested the will. Benjamin F. Cohn said Mr. Haskin was very fond of poker and was a very careful player until the spring of 1895, when he became careless, often holding his cards so that the other players could see them.

"Did he ever forget to ante?" "Oh, frequently; and others did it for him."

"Well, that is hardly proof of insanity," said counsel for the son. "To forget to ante is not unusual in a game between American gentlemen. Did Mr. Haskin forget to play his hand when the other players had their ante up?"

"No."

"Did he forget to take his winnings?" "Oh, no."

Mr. Cohn also thought that the old man's habit of letting his teeth fall out of his mouth without noticing it was another evidence of feeble-mindedness.

A Boy's Letter.

The Fortnightly vouches for the genuineness of the following extract from "A Boy's Letter to His Mother":

"I am glad I have a new sister, but wish she had been a boy. Seems to me if the Lord couldn't have sent a boy He might at least sent a pony."

"Can't I have a pig? You always used to let me. There are lots of pigs here. There are mice in the house and rats in the barn, and chipmunks in the woods. I am going to bring home one."

"Is a boy a pig if he is helped three times? I mean if they are small helpings and they insist?"

German authority estimates that almost a third of humanity speak the Chinese language, that the Hindoo language is spoken by more than 100,000,000, the Russian by 89,000,000 and the German is spoken by 57,000,000 tongues and the Spanish by 48,000,000.

The races inhabiting the world communicate with each other in 3,004 different tongues, and confess to about 1,000 religions. The number of men and women is very nearly equal, the average longevity of both sexes being only 33 years, about one-third of the population dying before the age of 17.

A Hillsboro (Ore.) man owes more to his bicycle than he ever thought he would. He missed the train that was to take him to be married and was sore put to it, when he bethought him of his wheel, which he mounted, and scorching to such effect that he arrived just in time to cheer the drooping spirits of a willing bride.

Gouverneur Morris, of New York, in 1872, proposed to the Continental congress a decimal currency system. He suggested that ten units equal one penny; ten pennies, one bill; ten bills, one dollar; ten dollars, one crown. In 1784, Jefferson proposed the system as now in use; congress, in July, 1785, resolved that the coinage should conform to the decimal system.

Generally, taking the entire world, married people live longer than single, and those who have to work hard for their living longer than those who do not, while also the average rate of longevity is higher among civilized than uncivilized races. Further, people of large physique live longer than those of small, but those of middle size beat both.

The boblink builds her nest in a little depression in a meadow, and as bird, eggs and house are all of the same mottled brown, and well hidden by the grass, she is not often molested. Some birds excavate a cup-shaped hole and line it. The night hawk and the whip-poorwill deposit their eggs on the bare ground, where they are only protected by their inconspicuous coloring.

The boundary line between Canada and the United States is marked with posts at mile intervals for a great part of its length. Cairns, earth mounds and timber posts are also used, and through the forests and swamps a line a rod wide, clear of trees and underwood, has been cut. Across the lake artificial islands have been put to support the cairns, which rise about eight feet above the high water mark.

Many insects can fly faster than birds. The common house fly can ordinarily fly 25 feet a second. But when it is alarmed it has been found that it can increase its rate of speed to over 160 feet per second. If it could continue such rapid flight for a mile in a straight line it would cover that distance in exactly 33 seconds.

Friedrich August Kekule, professor of chemistry at the University of Bonn, who has just died at the age of 77 years, by the discovery of the fouratomic character of carbon established the basis for the modern theory of chemical combinations. The paper describing this discovery and Kekule's later paper on the theory of benzole are the most important speculative works in chemistry of this generation.

Waste of Gold and Silver. Statistics from the Royal mint show that the average cost of refining the silver coinage averages $31,000. This represents six tons of silver, which are spread over the United Kingdom yearly. In other words, the daily unavoidable waste from the silver coinage is nearly $86. Gold is not so much used as silver, but its waste in this way is sufficiently lamentable. The mint issues, on an average, 1,645,521 sovereigns, and twice that number of half sovereigns yearly. The weight lost by fair wear and tear in the first is .0396 grains per annum, and in the second .051 grains. Should anyone care to work out the sum, he will find that this wear if it could be collected and coined, would give sufficient gold to make 10 sovereigns every day! Is it wonderful, therefore, that mud, taken from a part of London which has for centuries been the resort of moneyed men of business, should contain a certain quantity of the precious metals?—Chambers Journal.

LAUNDERING SILK VESTS.

A Suggestion for Renovating Delicate Handkerchiefs and Silk Parasols. The very popular blazer suits waist not worn with a regular shirt waist often have only wash or china silk fronts as a finish, particularly if the suits themselves are of cotton or linen duck, or grass linen, and as these soil quite quickly they need frequent laundering in order to preserve the desired faintness of appearance. Too often, however, they are ruined by careless washing and ironing, and are useless thereafter.

A very simple and pretty front is made of wash silk, curved out of the throat lines and basted on a stiff collar, about which a ribbon is tied, finishing in a bow at the back. The silk is long enough to hang a little full at the waist, a thread is run about two inches from the bottom, drawing the fullness into the front, and this is tucked under the band of the skirt and held firmly in place by the belt of leather or ribbon. To launder this all that is necessary is to rip it off the collar, let out the drawing thread, wash it thoroughly in warm soap suds, rinse in cold water, and while still very wet pin it, stretched tightly, on a lapboard or any smooth surface. When dry it will be as free from wrinkles as if ironed and as soft as new silk. It is a great mistake ever to iron thin silk, as, if done when damp, it becomes as crackly as paper, while if allowed to partly dry first it is almost impossible to entirely remove the rough dry appearance unless a very hot iron is used, in which case there is danger of scorching. Hot irons are not always convenient things to obtain when not in one's own home, and a knowledge of how to obtain satisfactory results without them is not to be ignored.

Delicate handkerchiefs, if carefully washed, and while very wet spread on a mirror or window pane and left there till perfectly dry, will look as though beautifully ironed. Chamois gloves should be washed on the hands, all the seams pushed into their right places, and the gloves partly dried with a soft towel before being gently removed, stretched as when new, and left to complete the process in the fresh air. Before wearing they should be rubbed slightly to take away the stiffness, which is characteristic of chamois after being wet.

A good scheme for freshening the appearance of white silk parasols, or any silk that will stand water, is to wet them thoroughly all over, open them and let them remain so until dry. All wrinkles are done away with and instead of a mussy, half-worn-looking article one has an apparently new parasol, with all the beauty of its pristine whiteness restored.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

DUSTY CARPETS.

How They May Be Cleaned in a Convenient Manner.

To those who know the true inwardness of things the sight of a household brushing a dusty carpet is suggestive, a medical contemporary says, of many evils. The death of Pasteur has reminded the world of what is constantly present in the minds of medical men, namely, that while micro-organisms are the great producers of disease, dust is the great carrier of micro-organisms. Now that we know these things, now that we understand that in the quiet hours of the night the germ-laden dust settles down upon the floor, it is distressing to find how little our knowledge is put to practical use, and to see old customs still unchanged, old habits, which we know to be destructive, carried on, and to find the housemaid on her knees, with her brush and dustpan, stirring up the dust to the detriment of every one, and breathing germ-laden particles to her own possible destruction.

It needs but a small amount of common sense to see that, if the carpets must continue—a thing greatly to be deprecated—they should be rubbed with a damp cloth rather than brushed; and that, if, in deference to prejudice, they must be brushed, this should be done by a covered American sweeper, with plenty of damp tea leaves. Of all ways of removing dirt from a carpet, the worst is by the use of the ordinary short brush, which involves the housemaid kneeling down in the midst of the dust, which she so needlessly creates, and drawing it into her lungs with every breath. For ordinary household use something like linoleum—something which can be washed with a wet cloth every morning—would seem to be the best covering for floors. But, if carpets must be, and if it is impossible to teach the present generation the evils of seeking present comfort at the expense of future risks, at least let us remember that carpets may be washed even where they lie—that, till the day of washing comes, a closed sweeper is far better than a brush, and that the worst form of brush is one with a short handle.—N. Y. Ledger.

A Cream Soup.

Which has for its foundation a good stock and boiled or scalded milk is easy to digest. Even simply thickened milk makes an excellent spring soup, because it is stimulating and soothing, without in the least burdening the digestive powers. This preparation in France often takes the place of a soup. It should be a perfect cream, dipped thick enough to coat the spoon just thick. Mix two tablespoonfuls of the best pastry flour with a pint of milk, beating the milk slowly to prevent lumps. Stir in another pint of milk. Pour the whole into a Russian boiler, and when the water boils in the outer kettle stir the thickened milk for ten minutes. Season it with salt. Some cooks also add a dessertspoonful of sugar. This soup may be made heavier by adding a "halison" of two eggs beaten with half a cup of milk and stirred into the thickened milk by the spoon. Do not let the soup cook any longer, but add a tablespoonful of butter, well and pour it all once into the soup, and a cupful of little squares of toasted bread.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HIS FAMILY WAS THERE.

In Their Graves Which He Had Come a Long Way to See.

Just across the way from the depot was the town graveyard and sitting on a baggage truck on the platform was a ragged, lonesome-looking man, whom anyone would have spotted at once for a tramp. There were a dozen of us walking up and down as we waited for the train, but for a quarter of an hour the tramp sat with his head in his hands and had nothing to say to anyone. Then a passenger, who was evidently on good terms with himself, walked up to the man and said:

"Dead broke, of course, old man?"

"Yes, dead broke," replied the man on the truck, as he looked up.

"Haven't had anything to eat in two or three days, eh?"

"Not since yesterday morning."

"Willing to work, but your health won't permit, I take it, as is the case with all the rest of 'em?"

"My health ain't overly good," replied the tramp after a bit.

"No, of course not," laughed the man. "Perhaps you are also worrying about your family? Don't you want to raise a dollar to get home in time to see your wife die?"

"Come along, you come along, gepts," said the tramp as he rose up and climbed back to the graveyard fence.

Half a dozen of us followed him and as we reached the fence and looked over he pointed to three graves which were so new that the grass had not yet taken root, and said:

"There's the family—wife and two children! A week ago I was 100 miles away, but I got to thinking about these graves and I couldn't stay away. This morning I finished my walk and I was waiting for the train to go before I came up here. Yes, I'm dead broke and hungry and in poor health and a tramp, and there's the reason of it. When they died I broke me up."

One by one we went back to the platform. The tramp came last of all and he was going away without looking at us when the man who had chatted him put the money he had raised in his hand, added a five dollar bill from his own pocket and kindly said:

"Take it, old man, and better luck go with you. I'm sorry I spoke as I did."—Chicago News.

MUSCLE VS. MACHINERY.

Facts Showing the Man Power a Modern Prime Mover Represents.

What a puny thing is muscular power, whether animal or human, which compared with the vast efforts exerted nowadays by machinery, was well illustrated some time ago by an English scientist, Sir Frederick Bramwell. Contrasting a galley, for example—a vessel propelled by oars—with a modern Atlantic liner, and assuming that prime movers were not-existent, and that this vessel was to be propelled after galley fashion, he proceeded thus: Take the length of the vessel as 600 feet, and assume that place could be round for as many as 400 oars on each side, each oar worked by three men, or 2,400 men, and allow that six men under these conditions could develop work equal to one horse-power. We should then have 400 horse-power. Double the number of men and we should have 800 horse-power, with 4,800 men at work, and at least the same number in reserve if the journey is to be carried out continuously.

Contrast the puny result thus obtained with 19,500 horse-power given forth by a large prime mover of the present day, such a power requiring on the above mode of calculation 117,000 men at work and 117,000 in reserve, and these to be carried in a vessel less than 600 feet in length. Even if it were possible to carry this number of men in such a vessel, by no conceivable means could their power be utilized so as to impart to it a speed of 20 knots an hour. This illustrates how a prime mover may not only be a mere substitute for muscular work, but may afford the means of attaining an end that could not by any possibility be attained by muscular exertion, no matter what money was expended or what galley-slave suffering was inflicted.

Take, again, the case of a railway locomotive, in which from 400 to 600 horse-power is developed in an implement which, even including its tender, does not occupy an area of more than 50 square yards, and that can attain a speed of more than 60 miles an hour. Here again the prime mover succeeds in doing that which no expenditure of money or of life could draw from muscular effort.—N. Y. Journal.

Primitive Beer.

Downra, or doro, is the primitive beer brewed in many parts of Africa—in Nubia and Abyssinia, in Mashonaland and among the Kafirs. The method of brewing is much the same in all countries, and is thus described by Mr. Dent: "Corn is soaked in water and left until it sprouts a little; then it is spread in the sun to dry and mixed with unsprouted grains; and then the women pound it in wooden mortars, and the malt obtained from this is boiled and left to stand for two days, and over night a little malt that has been kept for the purpose is thrown over the liquid to excite fermentation." In Mashonaland the women are the chief brewers; in fact, to be a good wife one must also be a good brewer. The beer is always made in the fields, and is often very intoxicating. It must be drunk as soon as it is brewed, otherwise it quickly becomes disagreeable and worthless. A similar "berry beer" was used by the old Egyptians both as a beverage and in libations to their gods. Xenophon speaks of "bowl of barley beer in which the grains were floating."—Chamber's Journal.

RAISKY-BROAD NUPTIALS.

A Couple of Ishpeming's Young Society People Join Hearts and Hands.

The disagreeable weather yesterday did not mar the happiness and beauty of the wedding of Mr. Frederick Hugh Raisky and Miss Jessie Sara Broad, two of Ishpeming's society young people, which took place at high noon at the Presbyterian church. The church was completely filled with relatives and friends of the young couple. The wedding was a fashionable one and all the leading society people of the city were present. The preliminaries were admirably arranged and carried out and the nuptial ceremony was plain, simple and impressive. Rev. M. M. Allen, pastor of the church, performed the rite that made the twain one.

The bride was attended by her sisters, the Misses Jennie and Minnie Broad, while William Northmore of Milwaukee and Frank U. Nelson of Ishpeming supported the groom. The ushers were A. K. Sedgwick, F. E. Vickers, Harry Johnson and George and Edward Haslam. The church was tastefully decorated in green and pink. The decorations were arranged by the ladies of the congregation, under the supervision of Mrs. Fred P. Tillson, and were as pretty as any ever seen here. The church was darkened and the electric lights, with globes trimmed in pink, furnished the illumination. The effect was charming.

On entering the church the bridal party was met by the ushers and a committee of ladies. The groom was escorted to a seat near the altar by the best man. A procession of sixteen of the handsomest young ladies in the congregation then led the way to the altar. They were followed by the maids of honor and ushers. Following the latter came a little girl, a Miss Erickson of Escanaba, carrying a tray containing the ring imbedded in flowers. The bride brought up the rear. She was dressed in white satin with veil and roses. As the procession moved toward the altar a trio composed of Mrs. C. T. Hampton and the Misses A. Girzi and Maud Nelson, sang the bridal chorus from the opera Lohengrin, with Mrs. G. Bennett as accompanist. At the conclusion of the ceremony Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Barnett and Miss Girzi.

From 1:30 until 4:30 o'clock a reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Raisky at the home of the groom's mother, 831 North Pine street. The parlors were beautifully decorated for the occasion. At 5:55 the happy couple boarded the train for Marquette, where they took a boat for Buffalo and other points in the east. They will be absent two weeks or more and on their return will take up their residence on Pine street.

Mr. and Mrs. Raisky were the recipients of a number of beautiful tokens from their relatives and friends.

WORK OF THE COUNCIL.

Proceedings at the Regular Monthly Session Held Wednesday Evening.

A regular monthly session of the city council was held Wednesday evening, with Mayor Andrews in the chair. A full board of aldermen, with the exception of Aldermen Kinsman and Noah, was present.

The minutes of the several meetings held last month were read and approved.

A petition from the pastor and trustees of the Swedish Baptist church, corner of Division and First streets, asking that an arc lamp be placed near the church, was read and was referred to the committee on street lighting.

A petition signed by several taxpayers of North Pine street, asking that the sewer near these places be put in condition so that they can use it, was read. It was referred to the committee on sewerage.

A petition from Mrs. John Gleason, asking that she be exempted from payment of general taxes, was read. The council having no right to grant such exemption, the petition was tabled.

Several Badger Hill residents petitioned the council for the extension of the water main through Badger street. The petition was referred to the committee on water works and the board of public works, with power to act.

A communication from the board of public works was read. The board recommended that the re-assessing of the water rates be deferred until next June; that the additional twenty-five cents per day ordered for team work be denied; and that the collection of the water taxes remain in the office of the board, instead of being placed with the recorder. The mayor announced that it took a two-thirds vote to adopt the recommendations of the board. The yeas and nays were called for. Eleven voted in favor of the recommendations and six, including the mayor voted against it. Two of the aldermen did not vote either way.

The mayor declared the motion not carried. Alderman Robbins then appealed from the decision of the chair. The vote on this question was ten for and six against, so that the mayor's decision remained unchanged.

A number of bills asking the city were read and were referred to the proper committee.

The August reports of the chief of police, police magistrate and the poundmaster were read and were also referred.

Alderman Hawes, from the committee on claims and accounts, reported favorably on bills amounting to $114.13. The report was adopted.

Alderman Hendrickson, from the committee to which was referred the petition asking for the removal of the gas house, asked for and was granted further time in which to submit a report.

On motion of Alderman Bowden, H. Williams of North Fifth street was exempted from payment of water tax. The council appointed Thomas Simmons, supervisor of the Tenth ward in John Tregembo, who has removed from the city.

Nels Thompson was granted permission to address the council. He stated that his lot at the corner of First and Vine streets is being used for street purposes and asked that he be exempted from payment of taxes on it for that reason. The matter was referred to the city attorney.

The council adjourned until Friday evening, Sept. 25, when the finance committee will recommend the annual appropriation.

CHANGED THE DATE AGAIN.

Mr. Enander Will Speak Here Tomorrow Night.

The date for John Enander's political discourse in Ishpeming has been changed again. He will talk here tomorrow night instead of next Tuesday evening. Mr. Enander was in the city yesterday. He left on the afternoon train for Escanaba, where he spoke last night. He will be unable to give more than five speeches in the upper peninsula, so canceled his Bessemer date. He will be at Ironwood tonight, Iron Mountain Monday night and Menominee Tuesday night. Mr. Enander said yesterday that there would positively be no more changes in his dates in this section.

C. A. Swanson, a noted professor in the Bethany college at Lincolnton, Kas., will speak for the Republican party in Ishpeming some time during the campaign. He will speak in English. The Republican state central committee has advised the local committee that Mr. Swanson will come this way, but his dates have not yet been arranged.

Firemen's Annual Ball.

The Ishpeming fire department will give its annual ball Thanksgiving evening, Nov. 25, at the A. O. U. hall. The firemen intend to make this year's ball a hummer. Last year they paid little or no attention to the dance on account of the tournament, which took place a short time before, but they will all get on their hustling clothes this year and bring out a big crowd. Arrangements for the ball are now under way. The several committees necessary to carry out all arrangements will be appointed at a near date.

Dr. Deadman, D. V. S., late of the firm of Deadman Bros., for seven years proprietors of the Au Sabie and Alpena Horse hospitals, has decided to locate in Ishpeming. The doctor comes recommended by the lumbering firms of that locality, who speak in glowing terms of his ability in the veterinary art.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure known to the world. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address: F. J. A VALUABLE CAT.

It Was Only a Dummy But It Was Full of Gold Coins.

In Paris, years ago, a young girl named Cosette lived in a shabby attic with her old uncle, a rag picker. He gave her every evidence of being very poor, and the two had many hardships to endure, and often experienced cold and hunger. Cosette at length went out to service in the household of a tradesman in another part of the city. She still retained a warm affection for her old uncle, and every week would bring him a part of her wages. The rest she carefully saved, and, before many years, she had a sum laid by, though it was small. She became engaged to be married to a baker and was very happy.

But while she was planning what wedding clothes she should buy with the money she had saved work came to her uncle, the ragpicker, had died suddenly, alone in his garret.

Cosette hastened to the place, and finding there none to care for the body or give it burial, she had it done at her own cost, expending in this way nearly all of her little hoard.

When her lover, the baker, heard what she had done, he was furious at the loss of her dowry and refused to marry her. Her employer also was displeased and discharged her.

Sadly, Cosette found her way again to the desolate attic, where she wept bitter tears. But she soon took heart again, and determined to seek another situation.

She took a survey of the room to see if her uncle had left anything of use, but there was nothing, save a large stuffed cat, of which they had been very fond.

Cosette reached up and lifted this carefully down from its dusty shelf. It seemed very heavy. As she was moving it part of the hide broke away and a shower of gold pieces fell to the floor.

Her uncle had been a miser, and for years had secretly hidden his earnings in this strange receptacle, where he knew they would be safe, as no one would ever think of treasure being concealed there.

Cosette could scarcely believe her good fortune. When the gold was counted there were a full thousand louis d'or, equal to about $4,000, and this made her wholly independent. She had no longer need of a situation. It was not long before she married—not the faithless baker, now, but his employer. And she found through life abundant reason to be glad that her devotion to her old uncle had been so richly rewarded.—Boston Herald.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE

That You Can Walk 85,253 Miles in One Hour?

Have you ever thought of the distance you travel while you are out on an hour's stroll? Possibly you walk three miles within the hour, but that does not by any means represent the distance you travel. The earth turns on its axis every 24 hours. For the sake of round figures we will call the earth's circumference 24,000 miles, and so you must have traveled during the hour's stroll 1,000 miles in the axial turn of the earth.

But this is not all. The earth makes a journey around the sun every year, and a long but rapid trip it is. The distance of our planet from the sun we will put at 92,000,000 miles. This is the radius of the earth's orbit—half the diameter of the circle, as we call it. The whole diameter is therefore 184,000,000 miles, and the circumference being the diameter multiplied by 3.1416, is about 578,000,000.

This amazing distance the earth travels in its yearly journey, and dividing it by 365 we find the daily speed about 1,586,000. Then, to get the distance you round the sun during your hour's walk, divide again by 24, and the result is about 66,000 miles. But this is not the end of your hour's trip. The sun, with its entire brood of planets, is moving in space at the rate of a little more than 438,000 miles a day, or 18,250 miles an hour.

So, adding your three miles of leg travel to the hour's axial movement of the earth, this to the earth's orbital journey, and that, again, to the earth's excursion with the sun, and you find you have traveled, in the hour, 85,253 miles.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mice and Rats in Japan.

There are small "deer" on the island that arouse no poetry or gracious sentiments. The mice, those pests of Japanese tea houses, raced through the doll houses at will by dark, the ornamental traraciers and designs pierced in the pretty wood panels above the screens getting them free range of every room. They ran over my face, scratched my pillow, nibbled my fingers and kept me awake night after night with their rustling and gnawing. On the third night of the mouse carnival I called the servants and had lights brought. The landlord heard the sounds and bustled across the court to see what the matter was. "I think there is a mouse in this house," I said. "Oh, certainly, certainly, honorable lady," he said, bowing low and proudly; "yes, indeed; I have many, plenty of rats at the Momiji." And he could not at all understand why we should make such a trouble about so natural a thing and object to these sure evidences of abundant prosperity, these companions of Daikoku, the god of plenty.—Eliza Ruhamah Scidmore, in Century.

WERE PUT IN GOOD ORDER.

Small Repairs and Improvements Made in School Buildings Before Term Began.

SEATS AND BLACKBOARDS PUT IN GOOD CONDITION.

Expense Was Small, but General Appearance Greatly Improved—Knew Father Marquette Personally—Board's First Meeting.

SCHOOLS WELL FITTED UP.

Few people are aware of the work that has to be done on the schools during vacation, and especially the last few weeks, to get the various buildings ready for the occupancy of the scholars when the new term begins in the fall. Every year there are certain things that get to a stage where they cannot profitably be used any longer without fixing up. Fortunately for the purses of the taxpayers, there were no large improvements made on the schools this year. It is said they will not be so lucky at the end of another twelve months.

Though no great amount of money has been spent on the schools preparing them for the year just opened, yet a number of things have been done to freshen up the rooms, and to make them better and more pleasant for school purposes. Ex-Director Frank Moore, who has been in special charge of this work, took great pride in preparing the schools for the reception of the scholars, and that his task was well accomplished is attested by the universal satisfaction of pupils and teachers.

Most of the work has been done in the way of freshening up the appearance of the rooms. Woodwork has been cleaned, seats have been varnished, blackboards have been renewed, and in a few instances new floors have been laid in rooms that especially needed them. Heretofore many of the blackboards have been finished in a dead, dull black, and figures chalked upon them can be readily seen in any part of the room. The appearance of the boards has been further improved by putting small moldings at top and bottom.

WORK IN VARIOUS BUILDINGS.
In the Ridge street school 117 individual seats were varnished and nine recitation seats, besides five desks and the superintendent's room and office. The teachers desks and all the chairs in the building were oiled. 170 individual seats and desks were both dressed and varnished. 200 yards of the black boarding was renewed.

At the Hampton street school 100 yards of blackboarding was renewed and bordered, making a decided difference in the looks and much for the better. Fourteen double seats were dressed and varnished, and 118 double seats were varnished. Besides painting the wainscoting in all the rooms there were other improvements.

Fisher street school had sixty-one double and forty-three individual seats dressed and varnished, while thirty double seats received varnish alone. Eighty yards of blackboard was renewed.

Next addition school had forty-one yards of blackboard fixed up in good shape, its stores were repaired and a number of minor improvements made. In the Ely school 312 individual seats were varnished, besides all of the recitation seats and the teachers desks. The furnace was fixed up and dampers put in the pipes so the heat might be better controlled.

In the Dead River school eighteen double seats were varnished and the blackboards replaced by new ones.

Many Will Go.
Weather permitting the Christopher Columbus will make a run out of Marquette to Pictured Rocks next Saturday that will be one of the finest opportunities for a short outing ever offered to the people of the city and vicinity. When the boat was in here in the early summer she carried out about 1,600 people on the night trip and all were delighted with the sail on the lake. That trip lacked one thing, however, an objective point. On the coming excursion this lack has been supplied, and the point is the Rocks. Pictured Rocks is possibly the grandest natural curiosity on the chain of lakes, and one which tourists come hundreds of miles to see. It seems strange that people living so near it should have to be urged to embrace an opportunity such as the one offered next Saturday.

An Old Settler.
Stories of old black mummies who nursed George Washington are not infrequent to read, but till very recently those who have had the pleasure of an acquaintance with the early Jesuit fathers have kept themselves in the background.

One of these fortunate individuals has now come to the front. The tale of his acquaintance is not one of hearsay. He puts himself on record, and the fact in black and white by writing a letter to a resident of this city. Unfortunately he omits to write any details, such as would be sure to be interesting as well as highly prized by the community, considering that this city is named after the one who is perhaps the greatest of the early Jesuit missionary explorers, but he recites the fact that he knew Father Marquette. The writer says he knew him intimately, and as the general public will without doubt be willing to grant, was a very estimable man. The gentleman, who claims in his letter to have experienced this rather remarkable pleasure of a profitable acquaintance with Father Marquette, lives in an up-the-road town. He wrote the letter to accompany a check which he sent to be added to the fund being raised to purchase the replica of the statue designed by Trentonova. The solicitor to whom it was sent was naturally considerably surprised and amused by the communication. The gentleman sending it is past middle life still he does not admit or show age that would warrant the statement that he has seen Father Marquette in the flesh. After some thought the recipient of the letter concluded not to lay the statement to temporary aberration, but to mistaken identity. He thinks that his correspondent meant Father Martell, a Jesuit priest once located here.

They Were Labeled.
When the 6:30 train rolled into the station last evening it carried a young man and woman who were bride and groom. This new relationship was not hard to discern. Aside from their loving glances and the significant smiles of their accompanying friends, there were other signs of recent matrimony. One of the most conspicuous of these was a large banner hung across the platform, at the end of the last car, the one which they occupied. In staring black letters it bore the legend, "Bridal Couple." This had been affixed to the car by their merry friends when Mr. Raisky and his new wife boarded the train at Ishpeming. When first put on it was on the side, but as it threatened to whip to pieces there it was taken in and tied onto the rear platform.

But this was not all their thoughtful friends did to make their trip to Marquette an enjoyable one. Some ladies boarded the train when it stopped at the crossing just west of Ishpeming, and selected two seats which they proceeded to transform into a bower of roses, and when the happy pair got on the train at the station they were escorted to the divan of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Raisky took the demonstration in good part and made the best of the situation. At Negaunee other friends who boarded the train assisted to demolish the bower and carried off the flowers as trophies.

Session No. 1.
The new school board will hold its first session this afternoon at half-past four. There is considerable speculation rife as to what it will do, and some rumors of wingclipping. The controlling faction in the new board is discreetly silent. It has been the custom before to hold the meetings of the board in the office of F. O. Clark, but it is likely hereafter a room will be assigned the board in the city hall and its sessions held there. The hall is central and convenient, and there are a number of vacant rooms which might be available.

Interesting Operation.
On Saturday last Dr. Deadman removed a stick four and one-half inches long from the breast of one of Rickels Bros.' horses which had been there about one year; also a large fibrous tumor from a valuable horse belonging to H. J. Koepf, teacher at the prison. On account of its proximity to the jugular vein the operation was a very delicate one, but was successfully carried out.
