TENDERED AN OVATION.

Bryan Is Enthusiastically Greeted by a Great Concourse at Richmond.

SPEAKS TO AUDIENCE WHICH PACKS THE AUDITORIUM.

At Goldsboro, N. C., in the Morning, He Addressed a Big Crowd—Denies That Sectional Issue Has Been Raised.

A DAY OF DEMONSTRATIONS.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 18.—A great crowd greeted Mr. Bryan on his arrival here this morning after his tour through North Carolina, and gave him an enthusiastic reception.

"I am the nominee of three conventions, but I do not appeal to the vote of any man on the ground I was nominated by his party. I have a higher claim to your suffrages than party ties can give me."

"But with all this claim of regularity, I do not ask a single Democrat to vote for my election if in his heart he believes my religion would injure his country."

"The Chicago ticket will drive the gold from this country. I want you to remember that the mere nomination of a candidate for president on a free silver platform has been bringing gold to this country for the past few weeks."

"They tell us that the election of the Chicago ticket will drive the gold from this country. I want you to remember that the mere nomination of a candidate for president on a free silver platform has been bringing gold to this country for the past few weeks."

"They tell us that the election of the Chicago ticket will drive the gold from this country. I want you to remember that the mere nomination of a candidate for president on a free silver platform has been bringing gold to this country for the past few weeks."

DEFENDS HIS PLATFORM.

Bryan Denies That Sectional Issues Have Been Raised.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Sept. 18.—Mr. Bryan's private car was side-tracked here last night and he slept in it during the night.

"Sometimes they accuse us of raising a sectional issue. One of the evidences that the platform adopted at Chicago does not raise a sectional issue is found in the language of the platform adopted yesterday in New York."

"There, within the shadow of Wall street, there against the combined opposition of those once leading Democrats of New York who have left the Democratic party and have either gone over entirely to the Republicans or stopped for a moment at the half-way house, the Democracy of New York declared the platform adopted at Chicago the most Democratic platform ever put before the country by a Democratic convention."

"In Connecticut they also endorsed our platform, likewise in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. In these and other eastern states the Democracy is beginning to realize that the Chicago platform presents to the American people those great issues around which the people must cluster if they are going to retain a government of, by and for the people."

"The Chicago platform contains a plank expressing a desire for an income tax, not saying we are going to ignore the decision of the supreme court, but that an income tax should be retained and enforced as far as the decision of the court would permit and that we would abide by the principle still if a future court, exercising the same right to reverse a decision recently given that the present court exercised in overthrowing the precedent of one hundred years, should go back to the doctrine we used to have and declare that under the Constitution it was possible to make those who have large incomes pay their share of the expenses of the government."

"In my judgment, an income tax is just. It is not war upon property, but it demands that those who have property and who demand the protection of that property by federal laws should be willing to support the government to which they look for that protection and not seek the use of instrumentalities of the government for their own benefit and then throw the burden of supporting that government on the backs of those who are not able to bear it."

BEGINNING AT THE BOTTOM.

"The Democratic party by beginning at the ground and working up, instead of commencing at the top and working down, by commencing with voters instead of commencing with bosses, secured a platform which breathes the spirit of the Declaration of Independence. It is not strange that tens and hundreds of thousands have deserted the Republican party. Not a day passes but I meet Republicans who tell me they voted for Abraham Lincoln and voted the Republican ticket ever since, but they find more Republicanism of the early days in the Democratic platform than they can find in the Republican platform this year."

"If anything is wrong with our laws we can correct them at the ballot, but if we transfer the legislative power from Washington to Lombard street our ballots cannot reach them, and we simply go upon our bended knees and beg for sympathy and compassion from those who have never known sympathy or compassion. Those who have dominated as money-changers have never in all the history of the human race listened to anything but force. There is no ground upon which the opposition is willing to fight this battle. They dare not declare in favor of a gold standard, because all history teaches that nothing but suffering has followed an experiment with a gold standard."

OVATIONS ALONG THE ROUTE.

RICHMOND, Sept. 18.—At Wilson, N. C., Mr. Bryan, after a few pleasant references to Senator Daniel, said:

"It is the purpose of the Democratic party in this campaign, if they succeed, to restore ancient landmarks which our fathers set up but which have been torn down by those who have forgotten the teachings of the great Democrats who made the party and while they defend the Democratic party as the defender of the rights of the people."

Upon Mr. Bryan's arrival at Rocky Mount he was escorted to the fair grounds, where he addressed a large crowd.

At Weldon Mr. Bryan made a three-minute speech from the car platform. He told of his gratification at the interest which the people of the state were taking in the campaign.

Virginia was visited by the Bryan party at Emporia, and there the nominee told the people he was to meet citizens of the state in which his father was born.

At Petersburg the public square was filled with an expectant and enthusiastic audience. Mr. Bryan spoke about five minutes.

At Manchester a short stop was made. Throngs of people had congregated at the depot. Mr. Bryan spoke a few moments, requesting the people to study the money question, and then the train pulled across the river to Richmond.

STAR POINTER'S GREAT VICTORY.

Wins from Robert J. and Asan and Breaks Pacing Records.

BEDFORD, Mass., Sept. 18.—In the free-for-all pace for a purse of $2,000 at Mystic Park this afternoon Star Pointer not only beat the two accredited fastest horses—Robert J. 2:01 1/2 and Frank Agan, 2:02 1/2—but paced the three fastest heats ever made in competition, the times being 2:02 3/4, 2:03 1/2 and 2:03 1/2, an average of 2:03 1/4. He also lowered the world's record for the fastest first heat ever paced, to 2:02 1/4, as well as the records for the fastest quarter and half, 29 1/2 and 59 1/2, respectively.

The race between the three pacers was phenomenal, for while in the first heat Robert J. was beaten by ten lengths in the next two he was close on the leaders, coming in second in the third heat. Frank Agan in the whole race was never a length behind and in the second heat was a nose to good. Star Pointer, however, managed to get under the wire first in every heat, and must have had something in reserve. For McCarthy never raised the whip in the three heats.

GREAT POLITICAL RALLY.

Canton Jammed With Visitors from Distant Cities and Near-by Towns.

THE FORMAL OPENING OF THE LOCAL CAMPAIGN.

A Big Parade and Addresses by McKinley, Senators Cullom and Thurston and Governors Bushnell and Hastings the Features.

THOUSANDS OF VISITORS THERE.

CANTON, O., Sept. 18.—The formal opening of the campaign in Canton today gives Ohio a new mark in political demonstrations. Comparisons will be made with Sept. 18, 1896, in Canton in the future. This is the consensus of opinion expressed here tonight, and opinions come from old-timers in political warfare; from men accustomed to big crowds and familiar with the history of campaign work.

The marchers were only a fraction of the crowd here. Railroad men claimed at noon they had hauled fifty thousand people into Canton. Seventy-five trainloads came. State Republican Chairman Kurtz tonight estimated the crowds present on the streets in the afternoon, in the parade and at the big tent meeting and about the McKinley home at 100,000. Sixty thousand may be considered a conservative estimate of the people who came by rail outside of Stark county. The enormous tent, large as it is, fell far short of the demands made upon it during the speaking.

The program in the afternoon included Governor Bushnell's introductory address and speeches by Senators Cullom and Thurston. This evening Governor Bushnell spoke briefly and Governor Hastings and Congressman McCleary of Minnesota made addresses.

CANTON, O., Sept. 18.—Citizens of Canton were up early in their best attire in honor of the formal opening of the campaign here. Early in the morning farmers from the surrounding country began to come singly and in squads. Later, special trains, of which over fifty were scheduled, began to arrive. The parade moved in four divisions and marched to a tent capable of accommodating 20,000 people, where the first meeting was held. The speakers were Senators Cullom of Illinois and Thurston of Nebraska.

SENATOR CULLOM'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Cullom, after a lengthy discussion of the tariff question, took up the money issue. He controverted the Democratic position, and declared the result of free silver would be to lower the wages of labor and that, he declared, was what the men who favor free trade and free coinage want. He said, in part: "The Republican party is for bimetallicism. It believes in the use of both gold and silver as money. It believes in the admission of both to the mints of the United States on equal terms as soon as it can be done with safety and honor. Our party is pledged to it in the St. Louis platform. We are neither for gold monometallicism nor silver monometallicism. We have both metals now in about equal proportions and we desire to keep them. We do not want to lose our gold in the twinkling of an eye as we would if Bryan and a congress in harmony with his views should be elected. "They tell us we need more money; that an inflation of the currency such as would follow the free coinage of silver would result in higher prices for all the products of the farm, etc. Such has always been the cry of men who desired to obtain something for nothing. "They tell the farmer he will get higher prices for his products with free coinage, and they tell the laborer at the same time that he will have more work and higher wages. All history shows that the price of labor is the first to go down and the last to go up. The Popocrats propose in some mysterious way to suspend the law of supply and demand. There is not the slightest doubt that the unlimited coinage of silver in this country would bring down wages. And that is what many of the men who favor free trade and free coinage want. "One of the dangers of this country is the reduction of wages. It will be a sad day when the wages of the laborer in the United States shall be reduced to the level of those of China, Japan and Mexico. When the time comes we might control the markets of the world but it would be at the expense of our republican government and of our civilization. When the wage earner is pauperized in this country the power and glory of our government will have departed. "Senator Thurston was introduced by Governor Bushnell of Ohio. He delivered an address, eulogizing Major McKinley—"the best living exponent of those American policies which ensure national and individual prosperity."

MANY CALLERS ON MCKINLEY.

Before the parade dozens of delegations, headed by bands, marched to Mr. McKinley's residence. Among those to whom he spoke were Columbian county people, the Pittsburg delegation and the Columbus Buckeye club, acting as an escort to Governor Bushnell and Supreme Judge Shauck. To the greetings of the building and trades delegations.

A KENTUCKY SENATOR.
Bottom Falls Out of a Boom—His Last Trade.
A drove of lean cattle were swinging easily over Black Mountain, and behind them came a big man with wild black hair and a bushy beard. Now and then he would gnaw at his mustache with his long yellow teeth, or would sit down to let his lean horse rest, and would flip meaninglessly at the bushes with a switch. Sometimes his bushy head would droop over his breast, and he would snap it up sharply and start painfully on. Robber, cattle thief, outlaw he might have been in another century; for he filled the figure of any robber hero in life or romance, and yet he was only the senator from Bell, as he was known in the little Kentucky capital; or, as he was known in his mountain home, just the senator, who had toiled and schemed and grown rich and poor; who had suffered long and was kind.

THE OPPOSING STANDARDS.
THE GREAT FIRST CAUSE OF OUR FINANCIAL TROUBLES.—It is often affirmed by the goldites that we now have more silver by far in circulation in the United States than we had prior to its dismissal from the freedom of the mints, and that it is legal tender for all debts and as good as gold money. What more can be asked? This seems very plausible and unanswerable and satisfies a large number of honest people who do not get back to first principles.

ENTERED AS MAIL MATTER OF THE SECOND CLASS IN THE POSTOFFICE AT MARQUETTE, MICH.
If we may believe what the Ne-gaunee Herald reports concerning the political situation in its city, the vote there will be almost unanimously Republican this year. The editor of the Herald knows a good deal about the politics of his city, but he doesn't always tell all he knows. Few successful politicians do, for that matter.

Only that Christmas he had gutted every store in town. "Give me everything you have, brother," he said, across each counter, and next day every man, woman and child in the mountain town had a present from the senator's hand. He looked like a brigand that day, as he looked now, but he called every man his brother, and his eye, while black and lustrous at night, was as brooding and just as kind.

It should always be remembered that there are two kinds of money, which fact must be taken into consideration and kept in mind in order to understand this question and avoid confusion of ideas, namely: primary and secondary money, or money of final redemption, is the money on which all the credits and all the other money of the world rests. Formerly this was gold and silver. Now it is gold alone.

JUDGE CATE of Stevens Point, Wis., who has just turned his seventy-third year, has consented to accept the silver nomination for congress in the Eighth district of that state, which was unanimously tendered him a week ago. He did not desire to make the run, but has consented to do so from a sense of duty to his party and the people of his district. The venerable judge is one of the most highly respected citizens of Wisconsin and has served in many positions of trust and honor during his long life. He would make a valuable member if elected.

When the boom went down, with it, and with everybody else, went the senator. Slowly he got dusty, ragged, long of hair. He looked tortured and ever-restless. You never saw him still. Always he swept by you, flapping his legs on his lean horse or his arms in his rickety buggy here, there, everywhere—turning, twisting, fighting his way back to freedom—and not a murmur. Still was every man his brother, and if some forgot his once open hand, he forgot it no more completely than did the senator. He went very far to pay his debts. He felt hounded, indeed, to ask his sister to give back the farm that he had given her, which, very properly, she declined to do. Nothing could kill hope in the senator's breast; he would hand back the farm in another year, he said; but the sister was firm, and without a word still the senator went other ways and schemed through the nights, and worked and rode and walked and traded through the days, until now, when the light was beginning to glimmer, his end was come.

Narrow and weaken the base or foundation and broaden the superstructure and you have a top-heavy and insecure structure.
Before silver was driven from the mints of our own country, this primary money of the world was represented by three billions of dollars of gold and a like amount of silver. It was a base six billions of dollars broad. On this rested the credits of the world. For hundreds of years gold and silver, side by side, on a ratio of from 15 to 16 to 1, had satisfactorily stood as protectors of credits and values, the base ever broadening as the superstructure of credits grew.

THE LUMBER industry is almost entirely prostrate all over the country, and lumber companies are going by the board every day. The cause of this is the inability of the people to build or make improvements of any kind, owing to the low prices for products and the scarcity of money. The farmers, especially, have almost entirely ceased to be consumers of lumber, for they are not able to realize enough for what they have to sell to enable them to make any improvements. There may be "plenty of money in the country," but it isn't the hands of those who make a demand for lumber or iron by building, or by improving their homesteads.

In 1816 England began the assault on this base; but with only little Portugal to help her she made no visible effect until 1873, when without the knowledge of our president who signed the bill, or any American statesman, save one, or any newspaper, the six billions was cut in halves, the first deadly thrust being made by our own congress, under the hygienic spirit of that financier, John Sherman, who was managed to convert a $5,000 salary into a luxurious living and lay by a million or more for a rainy day. The change seems a good one for this very clever financier. Thus gold has come to do what before it required both gold and silver in equal amounts to do. Three billions now doing the work of six billions. Not only is this narrow base supporting the credits of the world, but it is holding up its humiliated co-worker, silver, as well, which is now reduced to the ranks of second-class or credit money.

Does it seem strange that the superstructure trembles, that the credits of the world threaten to fall, and that chaotic ruin stares the financial world in the face? Is it strange that business confidence is wanting? The demand remaining the same and the work doubled, is it strange that gold has doubled in value?
Is it strange that silver, being denied its former honorable place side by side with gold in sustaining the credits of the world, should be less valuable than formerly, as measured by gold? Is it strange that when you go out to buy gold you have to give twice as much of wheat or horses or iron or silver for a given quantity of it as formerly?

THE DISCUSSION of "the opposing standards" now being conducted in this paper by champions of each is attracting great attention, and the number of those participating in it is increasing daily. In view of this, we must again request those who furnish articles to make them as brief and free from useless verbiage as possible. There is on the editor's desk now an accumulation of articles that will take days to find space for, and every mail adds to the pile. What is wanted is argument, not a string of vapid platitudes and unsupported assertions. We are glad to see so much interest taken in the discussion, and believe that it will aid in enlightening the public on the question debated, but our space is limited and must be used to the best advantage. It is useless to send us extremely long articles, for they will not be printed.

This was the senator's last trade, and in sight, down in a Kentucky valley, was home. Strangely enough, the senator did not care at all, and he had just enough sanity left to wonder why, and to be worried. It was the "walking typhoid" that had caught up with him, and he was listless, and he made strange gesture and did foolish things as he stumbled down the mountain. He was going over a little knoll now, and he could see the creek that ran around the house, but he was not touched. He would just as soon have lain down right where he was, or have turned around and gone back, except that it was not and he wanted to get to the water. He remembered that it was high Christmas; he saw the snow about him, and the oaks of ice in the creek. He knew that he ought not to be hot, and yet he was—so hot that he refused to reason with himself even a minute, and hurried on. It was odd that it should be so, but just about that time, over in Virginia, a cattle dealer, nearing home, stopped to tell a neighbor how he had tricked some black-whiskered fool up in the mountains. It may have been just when he was laughing aloud over there, that the senator, over here, tore his woolen shirt from his great hairy chest and rushed into the icy stream, clapping his arms to his burning sides and shouting in his frenzy.

When a great wrong has been committed, a great injury done to the toilers of the great world, and starvation, in a land filled with plenty, threatens the producer of all wealth, shall we fold our hands and say we are helpless to remedy the wrong that men of parties have proclaimed to the world as a wrong, because, forsooth, the accumulations of those who have fattened on this iniquity will be less valuable to them? Or because the owners of a few mines whose properties have been cut in halves shall have them restored to their former values? Away with such false reasoning! Let us at once begin the correction of this great wrong at the ballot boxes of our own America and complete it in the halls of congress, where to our everlasting shame this iniquitous crime first fastened its stealthy fangs on the world's prosperity. The enlightened honesty of the world will rally to our support as did the avaricious to the spreading of this awful crime, the evil effects of which have been honestly characterized by our own John G. Carlisle as "greater than that of wars, pestilence and famine."

EX-PRESIDENT HARRISON is not exactly sulking, but he positively declines to take active part in the presidential campaign as one of the speakers at the disposal of the Republican campaign committee. The Indiana member of the national committee of the party has been trying to get him to consent to fill several dates in October for meetings in his own state and Illinois, but he failed completely. It is said that one reason for the disaffection of Mr. Harrison is the character of the management of the campaign in his state, the selection for chairman of the state committee being particularly distasteful to him. He is convinced that the campaign is being conducted with special reference to giving a few men in whom he has no confidence control of the party in the state and declines to endorse their work by speaking to bring it success. His refusal to speak is a great disappointment to the party leaders in Indiana and Illinois, who had counted on getting considerable help from him in the fight they are making to stem the silver tide in these states.

When a great wrong has been committed, a great injury done to the toilers of the great world, and starvation, in a land filled with plenty, threatens the producer of all wealth, shall we fold our hands and say we are helpless to remedy the wrong that men of parties have proclaimed to the world as a wrong, because, forsooth, the accumulations of those who have fattened on this iniquity will be less valuable to them? How FREE COINAGE WOULD HURT THE BANKERS.—Many free silver coinage advocates contend that free coinage of silver will relieve the debtor class by enabling them to pay off their debts with cheaper money. Has it ever occurred to these gentlemen that a large portion of the capital upon which our banks do business is derived from deposits which the bankers are permitted to use and loan temporarily? That as a matter of fact these deposits are largely in excess of the capital of the bank, and that the chartered banking institutions of New York alone owe the people of that state many millions of dollars more than the people owe them?
Referring to this fact, a writer upon that subject says: "Free silver would enable them to pay their debts just as much easier as it would (according to the silver spell binder) enable the farmers of the west to pay theirs. And yet the Popocrats howl about the selfish interest that every practical business man has in not wanting to smash public and private credit, destroy confidence and demoralize all kinds of business." It has been stated that the silver mine owners of the west are indebted to eastern capitalists more than $100,000,000, borrowed of them upon a gold basis, and used in the development of their mining properties. Upon what principle of equity can the payment of these loans in a depreciated currency be justified?

According to this, officeholders are subjects of the administration, instead of being citizens of the United States, enjoying certain rights and bound by certain obligations. It is not likely that much attention will be paid to the threat veiled in The Chronicle's warning to the officeholders. The "grip of gold" has not yet squeezed all the courage and manhood out of the American people, and no man who deserves an office would consent to hold it at the cost of a surrender of his right to vote in accordance with his convictions and advocate principles which he conceives to be sound and true.

THE RATIO IN HISTORY.—I will not be drawn into a long newspaper discussion with anonymous writers. I prefer having "Gay Bee" and "Investigator" come out over their own signatures and let those who differ with them know with whom they are contending.
Inasmuch, however, as they have not been heretofore called upon to do so I will take notice of "Investigators" figures relating to the ratios between gold and silver.
I find according to the figures given that from 1661 to 1875 the highest ratio was 16 to 1, and the lowest 14 and 7-10 to 1, showing a fluctuation of 1 and 3-10 in favor of silver. I also find from the same figures that from 1781 to 1875 silver never went above 15 and 1-10 to 1 nor below 16 to 1. I also find that during the entire period mentioned, from 1493 until after silver was demonetized, one grain of gold would not purchase as much silver as one grain of silver would purchase today. This covers a period of three hundred and eighty-two years. I also find that since 1875 gold has constantly gone up so that in 1894 one grain of gold would purchase 32 and 53-100 grains of silver. Will "Investigator" please point out at what time in the world's history prior to 1873 one grain of gold would purchase more than sixteen grains of silver? He may show us that silver was more valuable than gold at that ratio, but he is not a champion of the white metal. When he produces figures to prove that for 382 years silver never went above the amount mentioned, and that at no time before its demonetization was it the cheaper metal of the two at the last named ratio, we are justified in asking him what is "approximately the true ratio," and what justification existed for dishonoring silver in 1873.

THE DISCUSSION of "the opposing standards" now being conducted in this paper by champions of each is attracting great attention, and the number of those participating in it is increasing daily. In view of this, we must again request those who furnish articles to make them as brief and free from useless verbiage as possible. There is on the editor's desk now an accumulation of articles that will take days to find space for, and every mail adds to the pile. What is wanted is argument, not a string of vapid platitudes and unsupported assertions. We are glad to see so much interest taken in the discussion, and believe that it will aid in enlightening the public on the question debated, but our space is limited and must be used to the best advantage. It is useless to send us extremely long articles, for they will not be printed.

Scrofula
Infests the blood of humanity. It appears in varied forms, but is forced to yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and vitalizes the blood and cures all such diseases. Read this: "In September, 1894, I made a misstep and injured my ankle. Very soon afterwards,

A Sore
two inches across formed and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my foot on and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My

AT THE WOLVERINE. Encouraging Reports from This Promising Property—Copper Notes.

Reports from the Wolverine are of an exceptionally encouraging nature, and the feeling that its stock at the present price is one of the best investments that could be made is well founded. The stopes of the twelfth and thirteenth levels of No. 2 shaft are producing an excellent quality of rock and the same can be said of the stopes in the fifth, seventh, ninth and tenth levels south of No. 3. The tract of land on which No. 4 shaft was started a year ago was bought from the Sheldon estate. It comprises 120 acres, forty acres of which are traversed by the lode reached by No. 4 shaft, while the balance of the tract, with the exception of a few acres, is considered good mineral land. No. 4 shaft is situated 1,385 feet south of No. 3 and has been sunk almost to the fourth level. The second level north of No. 4 is now connected with the drift south of No. 3. At present there are three drilling machines doing service at No. 4 shaft and the work of sinking and opening this shaft will continue during the coming winter. Much depends on the future of this shaft as regards stamping facilities, as should its full expectations additional stamps must be secured. On account of the scarcity of water but one head can be worked at the Wolverine stamp mill; and while no decision has been arrived at it is likely the Alouez stamps will be secured when No. 4 shaft is brought into active commission. Wolverine stamped copper averages about 87 per cent. refined, which is a higher percentage than that of any mine in the country, which fact, among other things, speaks well for the manner in which the rock is treated. The product of the mine at present exceeds 100 tons monthly, and this with but two shafts—Nos. 2 and 3—in commission. THE COPPER SITUATION IN ENGLAND. James Lewis & Sons' report of the foreign copper market contains the following: "Our market has been entirely under the influence of the United States, where financial straits—interest up to 15 per cent.—being at one time paid for call money—have necessitated the shipment to Europe of all copper available. During the early part of the month shipments were hurried forward to secure the benefits of the high exchange and low freights then ruling, but the total shipment for the month, 8,432 tons, showed a marked falling off on previous months, the average of April to July being 10,462 tons. Stocks in the hands of American consumers are stated to be greatly reduced, and the present dearth of money and dullness of trade militate against their replenishment. When existing political and financial difficulties are tided over and trade revives an active demand for home consumption is expected to greatly diminish the quantity of copper available for export to Europe. Manufactured copper has been in much request. Electric lighting and traction is rapidly extending. The telegraph department of the postoffice has contracted for about seven hundred tons of high conductivity wire, and has laid two telegraph wires of copper between Glasgow and London for the more rapid transmission of messages. For India sheets, there has been some inquiry and for locomotive plates and tubes manufacturers are full of orders up to the end of the year. It is stated that one of the chief locomotive engineering firms in Scotland has orders booked which will fully occupy them for eighteen months.

FOREIGN COPPER STATISTICS. The total visible supply of copper in England and France and afloat there up to Sept. 15 was 36,269 long tons, an increase of 895 tons compared with Sept. 1. Supplies for the fortnight were 9,058 tons, of which 1,500 were Chili and 5,533 American. Deliveries for fortnight were 8,163 tons. THE COPPER FALLS MAY RESUME. Rumor has it that the Copper Falls mine will resume operations in the near future. A STRONG TICKET CHOSEN. Houghton County Republicans Make Their Nominations. The Republican county convention was held yesterday afternoon at Germania Hall, Hancock, and the following ticket placed in nomination: Sheriff—Frederick Lean, Calumet. Treasurer—I. W. Robinson, Chassell. Member of legislature, First district—Charles Smith, South Lake Linden. Member of legislature, Second district—G. W. Rulison, Hancock. New Students at Mining School. The Michigan Mining school opens Monday with the following new scholars: H. W. Ashwell, W. H. Charlton, G. W. Corey, F. G. Lasser and H. G. Latham, Detroit; A. E. Brown and H. A. Folsom, Philadelphia; Guy C. Burnham and C. G. Fisher, Hancock; E. S. Dickinson, Commonwealth, Wis.; R. W. Fairbanks, Litchfield, Mich.; Mr. Hayes, Richmond Centre; J. A. Houle and A. E. A business man is not the most patient creature in the world. He cannot stop work every minute to bother with an irritating skin disease, or a hacking cough that insists on breaking into his bargaining-making. Neither will he wait to hear any long-drawn-out story of the cause of his ailment. He doesn't care two straws about a fine spun theory of how he should treat himself. He may be predisposed to scrofula, or consumption. "That," he will tell you, "has nothing to do with the case." He wants to be well. If he can be cured, write out a prescription and send in your bill. So, here's the first part of the proposition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine that permeates the whole body as water goes through a sponge. It is a microbe hunter and a microbe killer. It is a well-known fact that many persons of scrofulous blood, encourage the breaking out of unsightly sores, to prevent the disease going to the lungs. There is no need of living in this state of dread and discomfort. Purify the blood. It can be done. The "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure 98 per cent of all consumptive cases, also of all other lingering, bronchial, throat and lung diseases. Don't allow a druggist to persuade you into taking something that he says is "just as good." Maybe it's better for him—better for his profits. Take the "Golden Medical Discovery"—the greatest discovery of the age. In addition, in order to know yourself better, send to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and get in return, Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is a book of 1008 pages, illustrated, and is full of common sense talk that any one who can read will understand.

And here is the testimony of Mrs. E. E. Ender, of Carey, Ohio, in regard to the "Golden Medical Discovery": "I had a troublesome skin disease. I suffered much from surface sores. Nothing helped me until I tried the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' A year or two later I was again troubled. Again the 'Discovery' cured me."

(Mrs.) E. E. Ender

CAPTURED SOLDIERS ARE BEST. Modern Warfare Is Easiest Learned By Them. The old saying of the recruiting sergeants that "the best soldiers come from the plow-tail" is hardly correct when looked at in the light of modern military experience. It is quite true that in the past regiments recruited from the country districts have again and again made themselves conspicuous for gallantry and endurance, but the changed conditions of modern warfare appear to have enabled the town-bred soldier to rather more than catch up with his country-bred comrade. Statistics show that he is more rapidly promoted, that he is more fertile in resource, more adaptable to circumstances and quicker in learning the details of his business, while the improved conditions of town life seem to have placed him nearly on a par with regard to stamina. In France there are no two opinions on the subject—the best soldiers come from Paris; and when it is remembered that after the practical destruction of the regular French army at Metz and Sedan the victorious veterans of Germany were held at bay for five months by the raw levies mostly drawn from the French towns, there seems but little doubt that the French opinion is correct.

NO DISTINCT IMPROVEMENT.

Enormous Business Is Held Back Until the Future Is More Clear.

HEAVY SPECULATIVE BUYING, HOWEVER, CONTINUES

And Confidence Rises Slowly—Iron and Steel Manufacture Still Waits, With Nearly Half of Its Producing Capacity Idle.

DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Trade Review this week says: There is still no distinct improvement in business, although the conditions favor it. Confidence slowly rises, speculative buying of materials for future use continues, imports of gold do not cease and the Bank of England has not tried to check them by a further advance in rates, as the weight of the demand now falls upon France. But enormous business is held back until the future is more clear. Maine's great majority had no such influence as many anticipated from a verdict less emphatic. To many minds, nothing an eastern state can do in a contest represented as sectional gives sufficient assurance how the western and southern states may decide.

In cotton, hides, wool and pig iron buying, openly speculative in character, marks the current business. The resumption of work by a good part of the Fall River cotton mills and advances in some kinds of cotton goods have helped to raise the price of middling uplands to 8 1/2 cents again, although realizing sent it down to 8 1/4. One industry showing an increase in working force is cotton manufacture, the restriction of output having secured a more healthy demand for some goods.

Prices of staple goods have advanced so generally that the average of representative quotations is 6.7 per cent. higher than the first week in August. No such improvement is seen in woollens, but speculative buying of wool, nearly all at Boston, raised sales to 17,750,000 pounds the past three weeks, against 17,133,000 last year. The maturity of large wool notes is said to be the cause of selling, and prices do not rise, though quotations are more nearly maintained. This has been a fair week in dress goods and a better demand for coatings, but the heavy failure of a Philadelphia firm tends to restrict operations.

Iron and steel manufacture is still waiting for business, with nearly half of its producing capacity idle, but hopefulness and speculative buying of pig iron sustain prices.

The failures in the United States the past week were 317, against 233 for the same week of last year.

THE BANK CLEARINGS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A statement compiled by Bradstreet's shows the total bank clearings of the principal cities of the United States for the week were $906,295,528, a decrease of 16.5 per cent compared with the corresponding week of last year.

THREE MORE BATTLESHIPS.

Navy Department Makes Awards to the Successful Bidders.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Acting Secretary McAdoo this afternoon received a cablegram from Secretary Herbert, who is in Brest, France, in answer to his message respecting the bids for building three battleships, which were opened Tuesday. The secretary authorized Mr. McAdoo to proceed and make the awards, and the boats will go, one to Cramp & Sons of Philadelphia at $2,650,000, one to the Newport News Shipbuilding & Drydock company of Virginia at $2,595,000 and one to the Union Iron Works of San Francisco at $2,674,950, as recommended by the board of bureau chiefs.

Bids for building a number of torpedo boats authorized by the last session of congress were opened at the navy department today. The act made provision for three thirty-knot boats, and as many smaller boats, not to exceed ten, as could be obtained for the sum of $500,000. In all, eleven firms submitted proposals, but notwithstanding the fact that congress has specially provided for the favorable consideration of bids from the gulf coast and the Mississippi and Missouri valleys not a single proposal came from either section of the country. The bidding was very complicated, owing to the fact that many of the bids made combination proposals for from one to three boats.

For these reasons it will require much consideration by department experts to pick out the lowest and most desirable bids.

LOOKS LIKE BUSINESS NOW.

Flying Squadron Off for the Levant—Gears Backing the Sultan.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—A Rome special says: The flying squadron leaves for the Levant at the earliest possible moment.

VIENNA, Sept. 18.—The Neue Freie Presse says the inspection of the forts at Dardanelles by a Russian general is the sultan's reply to England's efforts to force him to abdicate, and that is, also the response of Russia, which has taken the sultan under its protection.

KILLED HIS DIVORCED WIFE.

Strong Talk at Belvidere, Ill., of Lynching Edward Shannon.

BELVIDERE, Ill., Sept. 18.—Edward Shannon, an old resident, shot and killed his wife in a railway coach today as she was about to leave for Toledo. She was going there to see a daughter, who was dying. The last few years the couple had had considerable trouble and had separated. She applied for a divorce, which was granted Wednesday. Shannon fought the case, and since the adverse decision had been hanging about the place where his wife was stopping. Shannon says he killed his wife because he loved her. There is strong talk of lynching.

KILLED WIFE AND SELF.

St. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 18.—F. J. G. Fowler of Stillwell, Okla., found his runaway wife in this city today. He shot her dead and then killed himself.

CLAIMS IT WAS ACCIDENTAL.

St. LOUIS, Sept. 19.—Mrs. Zora Crawe, a widow, was shot and killed today by a boarder named Charles Weisler. Weisler, who was arrested, declares the shooting was accidental.

ROBERT HUGHES, fireman.

THE INJURED ARE:

PAYMASTER JANSEN.
ASSISTANT PAYMASTER SCALLON.
Several other railway officials and employes were also injured.

MICHAEL SMASHES RECORDS.

Welsh Cyclist Rolls Up Twenty-Eight Miles in an Hour.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—James Michael, the Welsh wonder, smashed all American records for one hour's competition on a cycle at the Manhattan Beach. Twenty-seven miles and 1,690 yards stands to the credit of the foreigner for the hour, but Frank Starbuck of Philadelphia was only thirty yards behind him at the finish and only for some bad blundering on the part of his makers shortly after the fifth mile of the race did Michael give him a lead of his life.

Two Private Banks Fail.

VINTON, Ia., Sept. 18.—The banking house of S. H. Watson & Sons, established forty years ago, assigned this afternoon for the benefit of its creditors. The liabilities are $250,000 and the assets $350,000. All depositors and creditors will be paid in full. The assignment caused considerable excitement but will not effect the other banks in town.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 18.—The private bank of Gardner, Morrow & Co., the oldest in central Pennsylvania, has suspended owing to the business depression. It will pay depositors in full.

He Hasn't Got It Yet.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 18.—Mr. Bryan, when asked as to whether he had received Chairman Allen's letter notifying him of his nomination by the People's party, said he had read the letter as published but had not received the formal one written by Senator Allen. Mr. Bryan said he probably would send his acceptance early next week.

For a Corbett-Fitzsimmons Match.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The Bolingbroke club offers a purse of $8,000, and $1,000 for the expenses of each man, for a Corbett-Fitzsimmons match to be fought in London.

Are Absolutely Invalid.

ROME, Sept. 18.—The pope, in an apostolic letter, declares the Anglican ordinations are absolutely invalid and invites the Anglicans to return to Catholic unity.

GREAT POLITICAL RALLY.

tion from Columbus, Major McKinley said:

"Your spokesman has well said that there are two questions of supreme moment to the American people—and I work and the other is pay. We have lost a good deal of work in the last four years, and we want to get it back, and then when we get it back we propose that that work shall be paid in the best dollars known to the commercial world. We do not propose to vote in favor of a money the value of which we have got to ascertain every morning by consulting the market columns in the newspapers. We have had no such money as that in the past, and we do not propose to enter upon such an experiment just now. And we propose, no matter what may be our vocations in life, to indignantly repel the idea of classes in the United States. The man or party that would seek to array labor against capital and capital against labor is the enemy of both."

The delegation from Columbus county was addressed by the major as follows:

"We are battling this year for the same cause that we have battled for during the past twenty years. We have the same principles to contend for now as we had then. The Republican party stands this year as it has always stood, for the country and the country's honor. It is opposed to national dishonor and repudiation in whatever form it may come, and from whatever quarter it may come. It believes in good, sound, honest dollars—dollars that you know just what they are worth every day of the week and every week of the year; dollars that are not only good in our own country, but good wherever our trade goes. The Republican party also stands for a policy that gives to workingmen the widest and broadest opportunity to work at American wages and to the farmers of the United States the best home market that can be found anywhere in the world."

PENNSYLVANIA'S GOVERNOR SPEAKS.

In his address tonight, Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania said:

"The people of this country who are voters and are responsible for its future welfare have now come to the forks of the road; the sign boards are up. There is no turning back the way. One points to Bryan and free silver and the other to McKinley and sound money. A change from the present money standard to free silver involves business revolution, disaster and ruin. The trouble in the country now, in my judgment, is free trade and the threat of free silver."

"Mr. Bryan argued for free trade and promised for free trade quite as much and argued quite as lustily as he is now arguing and promising for free silver. Free trade and free silver are both the people every time opportunity has presented itself since the passage of the Wilson bill. In the general wreck and ruin entailed by the advent of an approach to free trade scarcely an industry or interest in the land has remained unimpaired.

"The people have learned their lesson in free trade. The farmers and artisans of Maine and Vermont have told him that a trial of his free trade medicine which he offered four years ago has sickened them; that they are tired of political quack doctors and that silver is worse than free trade and they will have neither.

"There is little difference between the conditions of the farmer and artisan in the west from those in the east. Their products find the same general market, but the boundless fields of the west yield to the labor of the husbandman more readily than the rock-ribbed hills and valleys of the east, yet the farmer and artisan of the far east have sent their greeting to their brethren in the far west that free trade and free silver are not for their best interests, and they have emphasized their judgment by 50,000 majority.

Congressman McCleary of Minnesota followed Mr. Hastings. He addressed himself particularly to farmers, but dealt with the campaign issues as they concern all classes. He spoke on the campaign of abandonment; they had practically abandoned their pet theory of free trade. The Populists by declaring in their platform that the currency question is the only one of importance practically admit that the twenty other planks of their Omaha platform are abandoned. He closed with a discussion of the tariff question and an earnest appeal for the support of the Republican ticket.

As the great parade passed the McKinley home tonight, Major and Mrs. McKinley and Senator Thurston occupied an improvised reviewing stand in the front yard. Ten thousand people crowded about, and when the long line of marchers had passed, the crowd cried "McKinley." The major replied by introducing Senator Thurston, who spoke a few minutes.

Used Bottled Breath.

Mountain climbers will be interested to learn of the successful experiments of Dr. Berson, of Stassfurt, who by means of "bottled breath" has been enabled to ascend to great heights, both on land and in a balloon. The doctor, when endeavoring to get further above the level of the sea than anyone else has ever climbed or flown, carries along a cylinder of compressed oxygen, fitted with a tube for breathing. Whenever he experiences discomfort on account of the rarity of the atmosphere a few whiffs from the cylinder suffices to restore him.

Dr. Berson, by means of this device, recently ascended to an altitude of 31,300 feet, which is 2,000 feet higher than the summit of Mount Everest.

MRS. SENATOR WARREN

Why Paine's Celery Compound Is Famed in Washington Families.

Many persons out of health have found an excuse in hot weather for doing nothing toward getting well.

"I will wait until fall," they have promised themselves.

It is now time, if ever, in thousands of cases, to keep that promise.

Nothing should now interfere with building up the weakened nerves.

Now is the time of year when rheumatism and neuralgia must be cured, when debility and nervousness must be checked, when bad health must be mended—if one hopes to get well.

The natural, unchecked course of disease is from bad to worse as the fall and winter wear on.

It is not that rheumatism, neuralgia, insomnia and kidney troubles are hard to cure—Paine's celery compound has made a host of sufferers well—but people make themselves chronic invalids by neglecting the first symptoms of disease.

Thousands of lives that are now fast wearing out would be prolonged if Paine's celery compound were in each instance used to stop those ominous pains over the kidneys, to build up the rundown nervous strength, and cure permanently those more and more frequently recurring attacks of headache and indigestion.

There is absolute relief from nervous prostration, sleeplessness, poor appetite, growing thinness and loss of vigor and strength, in Paine's celery compound.

This most remarkable of all known remedies has won the sincere approval of the most progressive part of the community. Here is a testimonial recently received from the wife of U. S. Senator E. F. Warren of Wyoming, whose distinguished services for the country's best farming interests are so well known:

"I was persuaded to try your Paine's celery compound in the early spring when in a very run down condition. The duties devolving upon the wife of an official in public life are naturally very exhausting and I was tired out and nervous when I commenced using the remedy. I take pleasure in testifying to the great benefit I received from its use, and can truthfully say that I am in almost perfect health again. If I ever find myself running down again I shall certainly give it another trial and will in the meantime recommend it to every one needing it."

It is a fact verified by the practice of the best physicians, and by thousands of personal testimonials, that Paine's celery compound makes new, pure blood, builds up the nervous system, and cures disease where all other remedies have failed.

Its absolute reliability is shown by its steady employment by trained physicians and in homes made happy by its unquestioned power of making people well.

It pleases us when our competitors inadvertently advertise our business. We have never paid a physician a percentage on his prescriptions-no reputable physician or druggist would be a party to any such arrangement. If physicians have a preference as to where their prescriptions are prepared you may be sure there is a good reason for it. It does not interest our customers as to how large or small our expenses may be. The only important question to them is, can they get what they ask for at a reasonable price and be treated with civility. Our constantly increasing business goes to show that our customers are satisfied. And we are in better shape than ever to cater to the wants, at

CITY DADS WERE SPEEDY.

Less Than an Hour Consumed by the Council in Special Session.

DIDN'T WANT TO GO TO THE SALVATION ARMY.

Contract Awarded for Bluff Street Improvement-Faving Before Sewers-Two Sidewalks Ordered Built at Owners Expense.

SHORT SESSION SUFFICED.

Three quarters of an hour was enough to transact all the business that came before the "honorable common council" at the special meeting last night. Mayor Jacobs being absent President Sherman was in the chair, and there were but few vacancies at the desks of the aldermen.

Communications to the council were first taken up. There were but two. One was from Alderman Robertson. He wanted permission to connect his property at 823 Bluff street with the Washington street sewer. The request was granted at a later stage of the proceedings.

The second communication was an invitation. It was signed by Captain W. A. Turner, and requested the presence of the aldermen at the special meeting of the Salvation Army to be held next Friday evening in the Baptist church. Apparently the city solons were well up on the Booth social scheme as it is to be presented by Commissioner Higgins, for a resolution to table the invitation met with general approval.

Bids were opened at the meeting for the contract of grading and macadamizing Bluff street from Park to Lincoln. James Latterell bid $1.04 per linear foot, and being the lowest of three got the contract. The other two were William Vannier, $1.21, and LaRochele & Largeness, $1.10.

Apropos of these bids Alderman Desjardins secured the floor and informed the council that he had it from several residents of Bluff street that they would like to have a sewer put in before the street was improved, so as to avoid tearing it up. The alderman suggested that the work be held off to give them time to put in a petition.

This suggestion didn't strike his colleagues a bit, and at least half of the aldermen, among whom were the two from the fifth, got up and vehemently voiced contrary sentiments. The bluff street improvements have been hanging fire for three or four years, and they considered that a delay at this season would throw the work over into next year. As the alderman's suggestion was not in the form of a motion it passed off without action.

Controller Bay read the assessment roll for the Division street improvement. It was approved by the council and the next regular meeting, the 5th of October, set for the residents of the assessment district to come in with their objections. If there are no objections the roll will receive its final confirmation at that time. Resolutions passed the council ordering sidewalks to be built on Fourth street opposite the bishop's residence, and on the south side of Prospect street between Third street and Dr. York's.

Lake excursion business is practically closed for Chicago. The only excursion boats left are the Graham & Morton steamers plying between Chicago and St. Joe. Agents and passenger line men generally are gratified at the increase in business that has fallen to nearly all the excursion boats during the last season, which has never been excelled with the exception, possibly, of the World's fair year.

The steamer W. L. Wetmore and Schooner Brunette arrived at Cleveland from Toledo Wednesday and will not go out again this season. They are anchored under the west arm of the breakwater and are being stripped for the winter. The steamer Ed Smith No. 2 and consorts C. J. Fillmore, S. C. Marvin and R. L. The recorder and receiver of the local land office yesterday rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff in the contest case of William M. Lowe vs. Eddie Dishneau. The evidence in the case was taken July 30. The decision gives Lowe the title to 400 acres of land in Ontonagon county.

The interest shown by the different members of the Living Whist insures its success and Miss Harris is pleased with Marquette dancers. Newspaper notices wherever the entertainment has been produced are most complimentary to Miss Harris' ability. The next general drill will be Monday evening at half past seven.

Rev. G. L. Hannawalt has been returned to his Marquette pastorate by the conference which has been in session at Flint. This action was anticipated by his church here, as his first year was very successful. A former pastor of the church, Rev. Joseph Frazer, late of Monroe, has been made presiding elder of the district.

James Mooney, mate of the Castalia, held a similar rank on the Choctaw six weeks ago. When the latter boat was in port he had a quarrel with Haos Olson, an iceman, who was delivering ice on the boat and struck the iceman with a cleaver, cutting his hand. The boat got away before Mooney could be identified and arrested. He effected a settlement of the difficulty yesterday by paying the iceman $15.

TWO MEN-ONE GIRL.

The Love Story of Two New York Law-Makers.

Many years ago there lived in Orleans county two boys named Ford and Armstrong. Ford's home was in Medina, and his folks called him John. Armstrong, who was known to his people as Billy, lived at Albion. These two places are only a few miles apart.

Both boys were lusty chaps, each with a head full of brains, and each with a soul filled with an ambition to get along in the world.

There comes a time in the life of every country boy when, after polishing his face with the kitchen towel, he finds it necessary to look long in the glass and note the growth of the hair down upon his cheeks and chin. It was about this period in the careers of John and Billy that they did what all other boys do. They fell in love with the prettiest girl in the neighborhood.

The trouble with our two boys was that they loved the same girl. She was a lovely little woman with pink cheeks, big eyes and a wealth of brown hair, in which the sun found glints of gold.

Now this charming country girl had all the arts of her sex. The fact that her home was in Orleans county must not be scored up against her. A girl in that rural district is no less a girl than her sister in New York. She thought a great deal of John, but when John was away and Billy sat by her side watching the glowing coals in the parlor stove she felt that, after all, he was the one she loved.

Billy made his calls on Wednesday evenings, John on Fridays. She encouraged both of them, hoping that in time she could make up her mind which one she wanted for steady company.

It did not take John long to learn that he had a rival, although the girl never said a word about it. Billy heard of John's attentions, and many an evening he walked home wondering why fate would not bring him face to face with John in order that he might soak the Orleans county turnpike with the gore of his hated rival.

Although these boys lived within ten miles of each other and for months courted the same girl, they never met. John won a scholarship at Cornell, and went to Ithaca to lay the foundation of his future greatness. Thrown upon his own resources when barely 16 years old, Billy was compelled to hustle for himself. Eventually, he brought up in Rochester, where, as a lawyer, he made money and reputation.

In the hurry of this transition period the boys neglected the girl. Truth to tell, they forgot all about her, and they forgot all about each other, too.

One night last winter Assemblyman William Armstrong, of Rochester, the father of the bicycle carrying bill, and Senator John Ford, of New York, sat on a sofa in the reading-room of the Kenmore, of Albany, discussing the Raines bill. It was a rather tiresome topic, and they soon dropped it and puffed away lazily at their cigars.

"I say, senator," asked Armstrong, "were you born in New York?"

"No; I was born in Orleans county." "Where?"

"In Medina." "Well," said Armstrong, "I passed my boyhood days in Albion."

"Armstrong, Billy Armstrong, Billy," mused the senator.

"Ford, John, John Ford," whispered the assemblyman.

"Are you the fellow who was courted that girl?" asked Armstrong.

"Yes; are you the other fellow, the hated rival?"

"I am."

The two legislators snuggled up closer on the sofa, clasped their knees with their hands and talked of the old days and of the old girl with the pink cheeks, the big eyes and the wealth of brown hair, in which the sun found glints of gold.

"Billy, I wonder whom she married?" "Blessed if I know, John."

"Perhaps it's another case of Sweet Alice, the old churchyard and the slab of granite so gray."

"No. She had too healthy an appetite. I'll wager that she weighs 200 and has a son who wears his father's cast-off clothes and keeps his trousers tucked in his boots."

Then the senator and the assemblyman linked arms and went out into the night.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

HAD SEEN HIS WIFE.

And the Charge of Drunkenness Wouldnt Stand. The judge leaned forward to get a better view of the prisoner's face.

"Well," he said, "drunk and disorderly, were you? What have you got to say for yourself?"

"It's not true, y'r honor," the prisoner answered. "I ain't sayin' that I hadn't had nothin' to drink, but I wasn't drunk, yer honor, not by a lot I wasn't."

The prisoner was not a large man, and his countenance, naturally woebegone, was rendered almost pitiful by his anxiety. The judge betrayed the least bit of interest. Usually he betrayed none at all.

"They tell me that you were found fighting with your wife."

"I wasn't, y'r honor. We was through fightin'. I had her licked an' was just poundin' her with a chair leg so's she'd remember it."

"What's your name?" asked the judge. "O'Rourke, y'r honor."

The judge showed even more interest. "Where do you live? Out on Twelfth street?"

"Yes, y'r honor."

"Why, I know who you are, I remember you now. You say that you and your wife whipped?"

There was no Feeling in the Flesh and the Patient Could not Feel a Pin Inserted

THE PATIENT THE GENERAL MANAGER OF A PROMINENT BUSINESS HOUSE.
Another Case of Peculiar Interest Cited.

Perhaps there is no better known man in the State of New York than Mr. B. B. Hardwick, general manager for Pyle's Pearlina, New York City, an institution with which he has been associated of the firm of which he is general manager. A man of extraordinary abilities, faithful and true to his employers, he has done much to develop the business and bring it into the healthful state in which it is found to-day.

To a correspondent Mr. Hardwick said: "Yes, I can scarcely find words to tell of the terrible suffering I endured since the beginning of last December up to within four or five weeks ago. You see," he said, "I was taken with a severe attack of sciatic and muscular rheumatism about the first of last December, and no person knows what torture I underwent except those who have been similarly afflicted. I lost my appetite, began to fall away in flesh and my nights were sleepless. Day and night I suffered alike owing to excruciating pains in my legs, hips and arms. At last one side from the hip down ceased to trouble me, it had become palsied, and you might have stuck a pin in its whole length for all the feeling. I now fully made up my mind that there was no cure for me and that I would be a helpless invalid for life. I consulted the best physicians to be found, but their medicine did me no good. I rubbed myself with different liniments, swathed my limbs in flannels and tried almost everything in the calendar both externally and internally, but all to no use. I continued to grow worse and worse.

"One day my wife said to me, 'why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I have read of several testimonies where sciatica and rheumatism have been cured through their use.' All newspaper and advertising bosh, I exclaimed. Again, a day or two after, my wife reiterated her statement and advice, and as a drowning man will catch at a straw, I told her I would try them and she sent out and procured a box. I began using them according to directions and before the box was finished I felt better. My appetite returned, my sleep became more sound, I felt much clearer and brighter and the pains were far less intense. I then sent and procured four boxes more, and now," said Mr. Hardwick, "taking a box from his pocket, 'this is the last pill in that box and I am free from ache or pain and feel like a new man, in fact I never felt better in my life. Whatever ingredients there is in those little pellets, there is one thing—they have saved me from becoming a chronic invalid."

"I am now fifty years of age and am a resident of Annapolis, N. S., but have been so long engaged in New York City with the above firm, that I may be considered a resident there as well. Any person wishing further information as regards the veracity of this testimonial, if they will address me at New York, care of James Pyle & Sons, or at Annapolis, N. S., will be courteously and cheerfully answered, as I am so thankful for what those wonderful pills have done for me that I will only be too glad to aid any poor doubter as to the genuineness of the above testimony."

Mr. John Ryan, who resides at 106 Housick Street, Troy, N. Y., is a young man, well known in this section of the city. Although Mr. Ryan is a laboring man and few of the more especially young men, have time to be ill, a plain statement may possibly be looked upon with some degree of doubt, but if there are any such who may be suffering as he did, by simply writing him at the above address they will be courteously answered.

To a reporter Mr. Ryan said: "I am twenty-one years of age. About six months ago I was taken ill with a very lame back and pain in my left side. For over three months my back gave me great trouble and kept getting worse and worse, the pain in my side also increased until I suffered constantly day and night. I could not sleep and my appetite was about gone. I began to fear that I would become a chronic invalid. "During those days and weeks and months I tried several highly recommended and advertised remedies but the longer I took them the worse I got. I had made up my mind that there was no use taking any more medicines as they did me no good, but seemed rather to aggravate my disease. "One day a friend said, 'Jack, why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, they are said to be good for almost any disease flesh is heir to, and they may possibly cure you.' "I said, oh, they are no better than the others and I have no faith in anything. "A few days after this I sent and got a box, believing possibly that if they did me no good they would do no harm. I began their use according to directions. Before the box was finished, much to my surprise, I began to feel once again like my old self and the pain both in my back and side gradually decreased. I then sent and got another box more and continued their use and by the time the last box was used I found my back was as well and strong again as when a boy. The pain had also left my side entirely and although two months have passed since I took my last pill, and I have been working hard every day, there has never been a recurrence of my trouble. I never felt better in my life, in fact, the pills have made a new man of me. I feel healthier and in more buoyant spirits than for several years prior to my illness. "Yes, I am confident that Pink Pills cured me, and that, too, when no other medicine could. I heartily recommend them to all suffering as I did and am perfectly willing that this testimonial be published for no other reason than that it may be the means of benefiting some other poor sufferer similarly afflicted."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In cases where they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

THEY MEAN TO WIN.
Ishpeming's High School Football Team
Will Visit Marquette Today With That Purpose.

The Ishpeming high school will be represented by a strong team in the football contest with the Marquette school team at the latter place this afternoon. The boys have been training for the past two weeks and will go down to the Queen City prepared to put up a strong game. The line-up of the Ishpeming team will be: Dundon, center; B. Goodman, right guard; Wright, left guard; A. Andrews, right tackle; W. Andrews, left tackle; McCarty, right end; Friedlund, left end; Ed Johnson, quarter back; Schilling, left half back; Harrington, right half back and Barber, full back. The substitutes are Roberts, Gibbs, F. Goodman, O'Malley, Perrault and Eyer. The game will begin at 3:30.

The team will be accompanied by forty or fifty friends, among whom will be a number of teachers. They will go to the town train leaving here at 12:40 and will return at 6:15. The fare for the round trip for all who desire to go down will be fifty cents.

It is not yet certain that the Houghton Mining school team will play here a week from today. In case this game cannot be arranged one of the Marquette county school teams will be here. It is possible that a return contest with the Queen City eleven will be played.

A NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT.
Ladies of the Century Club Provide It for Their Friends.

The members of the Country club were very pleasantly entertained at their headquarters Thursday evening. The program was a novel one and was prepared by the ladies. The scene represented a gypsy camp-fire, which was quite attractively arranged. The mesdames Kean, Hardy, Tonneson and Miss Rebecca Swift and Messrs. A. K. Sedgwick and E. C. Cooley represented gypsies. Songs were sung, fortunes told, and games were played. Appropriate refreshments were prepared and served in the style peculiar to the gypsies.

The entertainment was a surprise to the majority of the members, so that it proved more pleasing than if all had known what was on the program. The ladies were highly complimented on their program and all voted it the finest entertainment given at the club house since its creation.

At the conclusion of the gypsy program a luncheon was served and a few hours were spent in other diversions. The attendance was quite large. The meeting broke up about midnight.

NOT BILLED FOR ISHPEMING.
Senator Burrows Not Slated for a Speech Here.

The Republicans of Ishpeming were in hopes Senator Burrows would visit this city to address the voters during the campaign, but they were yesterday advised that he would deliver but four speeches in the upper peninsula and that Ishpeming was not included in the list. His dates as at present arranged are Menominee, Sept. 28; Iron Mountain, Sept. 29; Ironwood, Sept. 30, and Marquette, Oct. 1. An effort will be made to induce Mr. Burrows to speak here during the afternoon of the day he speaks at Marquette.

So far as at present known, Mr. Burrows is the only Republican speaker who has been booked for speeches in this section. It is expected, however, that a number of speakers will be sent here after the first week of next month. Arrangements to that end are pending.

They Want to Work.
The men employed at the Lake
Angeline who have been notified by Superintendent Walters that the mine will suspend operations for an indefinite time a week from today are very anxious to continue work. As the stringency in money matters is the reason assigned for closing down, the men are now talking of submitting a proposition to the company which they hope will be accepted. It is to the effect that they will continue work for a reasonable period on the due bill system.

Some of the leading merchants of the city have offered to accept the due bills in exchange for goods and hold them until such time as the company can cash them. What action would be taken on such a proposition, in case it is submitted, can only be conjectured.

Goos to Montana.
James McDowell, who has held the position of foreman in the Cleveland-Cliffs company's machine shop for a number of years past, has given up his job and will leave tonight for Anaconda, Mont., where his son-in-law, who holds a responsible position with one of the companies there, has secured a good job for him. Mr. Mc-Dowell is an old resident of Ishpeming and his friends here will be pleased to see him do well in the west. He will be accompanied by his son Joseph, who has also been promised work at a mine there. Mrs. McDowell and other members of the family went to Anaconda some time ago on a visit and they liked the place so well that they have decided to remain there permanently.

The Act of a Brute.
A man named Isaac Snernal, who works on the night shift at one of the mines here, was disturbed while sleeping in his house last evening by the noise made by a group of small boys who were playing on the street in the vicinity. The brute became enraged at having his rest broken, and rushed out among the boys, attacking them savagely.
He caught hold of one of them, a little son of James Pascoe, aged seven years, and after maltreating the little fellow threw him to the ground with such force as to inflict injuries that may cause his death. Snernal was arrested at once and is lying in jail to

SHINING FOR DEER.

With Good Light a Deer's Eyes May Be Seen a Long Distance.

For a consideration your guide, if he is a "good fellow," and you are sportively inclined, will attend to all the preliminaries of an evening's amusement in the way of "shining" deer. An air of stealth surrounds the entire performance. It is just as well that the departure of the party on the evening's errand be unnoticed, for even in the Michigan woods people will talk, and it is best to leave no loop-holes through which a piece of information to the value of $25 to the informant might find its way, for should a game warden unexpectedly catch you with a carcass of venison on hand it might cost you fifty dollars in the event you could not prove the deer attacked you in the dark and you shot in self-defense, and half of this sum would go to the conscienceless wretch who "gave away" the snap.

The boat in which you embark is a double-ender, clinker-built. The guide places you in the bow, facing forward. Should there be a seat built in the boat, of course you use it; otherwise an inverted chair or any old thing must serve the purpose. On your head the guide straps an ordinary bicycle reflector lamp. This is arranged in such a manner that the light will shine out over the left eye instead of directly ahead, the object being that should it be necessary to use the rifle, which the guide has thoughtfully stowed away in the bow of the boat, the light on the left of the head will throw a reflection directly along the gun barrel and permit a more correct sight than could otherwise be taken.

The guide is in the stern of the boat, paddling, instead of rowing. Before starting out he will probably enjoin absolute silence, for in a deer the faculties of hearing, smell and sight are developed to an abnormal extent. The guide himself may be depended on to make no noise. He will propel the boat without the slightest suspicion of a sound, feathering his blade on the forward stroke and never taking it from the water.

With no wind southing through the tree tops deer, in the event the guide's suggestions were correct, and he has caught them feeding, may be heard anywhere from 25 to 50 rods ahead, particularly if the mosquitoes or flies are troublesome and the deer, not having their box of "lollapopp" with them, are stamping in the water to get rid of the troublesome insects.

When one is out "shining" a deer may be heard before he is seen, or vice versa. The sound made by one of these animals when feeding is rarely mistaken by an old woodsman. It resembles nothing but a deer feeding, and, locating his approximate position by the sound, the boatman paddles softly in that direction. Nothing is said to the man in the bow. No instructions are necessary. He knows by the movement of the boat he is expected to keep a careful watch for two bright balls of red fire about the size of a silver quarter, on a parallel line about six inches apart. These glowing red spots which are the deer's eyes, between which, when at a safe distance, the man in the bow is expected to discharge the trusty rifle, which up to this time he has been carrying across his knees, full cocked.

It is a singular circumstance that in the reflection of a properly constructed lamp for "shining" a deer's eyes may be seen at a much further distance than the body of the animal itself. They may not hear the boat on its approach and certainly cannot see the occupants, who are behind the lamp, but the light appears to fascinate them and they will frequently stand for several minutes motionless and with head thrown up gazing intently at the strange object.

Unless attacked with "buck fever," this is where the man in the bow of the boat gets in his deadly work in the line of self-defense. Provided he does not lose his nerve he takes aim at a point midway between the two balls of fire, and an inch or two below, and fires. If the aim has been true the deer falls in his tracks. It is then hauled to dry land, disemboweled, and the carcass loaded aboard the boat, after which it finds its way to camp or a convenient ice house.—Chicago Tribune.

One Fish Satisfies Him.
The business men at the South end whose families are summering at Monument, Onset and other resorts, vie with each other in telling tales of their skill in angling after the wary creatures of the briny deep. One well-known gentleman discards fishing for cod and mackerel. They are not large enough prey for him. He wants sharks or nothing.
This is the way he catches them:

He has a hook made of steel about 15 inches long, rows out where the water is 40 or 50 feet deep, baits the hook with a piece of pork weighing ten pounds, ties one end of the line to the stern of the dory and sinks his bait. Then he sits and smokes till the sharks gather, and he watches them as they play with the bait. Soon one big fellow is sure to grab it. Then the patient fisherman takes his oars and rows in, towing his prey. When he reaches shore he draws in the fish, to the wonder and astonishment of all onlookers. He frequently on opening the fish finds tin cans, kettles, buckles, etc., when the shark has swallowed.—Brooklyn Times.

Some of Her Letters.
The young woman of Nashua, Ia., who started the Boies star-pede in the Chicago convention tells a Chicago paper about her post-convention fame. It seems that the people of Nashua haven't made much of her, because they are "goldbugs." But she gets a heavy mail, many of the letters containing offers of marriage. One clergyman in Canada, "with dark brown hair and dark, slumbering eyes," wrote her that he was willing to crawl 20 miles "on his hands and knees" to see her. She tells many other similar incidents, and is evidently proud of the part she is playing on the world's stage.

SUSANNA MORTON.

If there was one thing in all her experience that Susanna Morton was heartily tired of it was the evident and continuous purpose of mankind to permit her to remain a spinster.

True she had been one so long it would seem that she should have become accustomed to it; but by some strange fatality women—that is, the majority of women—never accept their lot in this Christian spirit which has won for them the endearing title of the gentler sex.

And Susanna Morton had put up with it just as long as she was going to.

Four leap years had passed her by, and she had submitted gracefully, but each year less gracefully than she had done the year previously, and there were moments in the last of the four when she became almost desperate.

Now that a fifth had come her mind was made up. She would take the reins of Cupid in her own hands and drive that harum-scarum little rascal in a manner to suit herself. She knew her good points, one of which was that she was thirty-five years old or thereabouts, and possessed a poise and balance no man was looking for a real sensible woman as a wife could afford to disregard.

It was this fortune that had been the real stumbling block in the matrimonial path of Susanna, and not any lack of attractive qualities in her possession, for she was not homely, nor was she anything but charming. The fortune, however, which was hers from her sixteenth birthday, had developed in her a fear that men sought her for her money and not for herself, and never having fallen in love with any of her courtiers she did not find it difficult to resist advances, believing, as she did, that men were mercenary as a rule, and that some day the one man in all the world for her would appear and claim her as his own.

However, he did not appear, and he continued not to appear, until Susanna had reached an age and a firmness of character, to put it mildly, where her fortune would have to be at least doubled to make her as attractive as she was at twenty.

This knowledge had come to her gradually, but was none the less forceful on that account, and she was determined not to let this leap year pass without results of a lasting character.

Of the men in her train there were perhaps half a dozen who were eligible, and any one of whom would have made a husband any woman could be proud of. But they were merely friends; not a man-jack of them had ever suggested such a thing as matrimony to her, and possibly this was why she liked them.

Among the half dozen was one who showed the greatest favor in Susanna's eyes, the others taking their positions after him in regular gradation, and this one Susanna selected as her victim for leap year, resolved to try all the others in case of failure in the first instance.

Truly, Susanna was a desperate spinner. And no less spry, for in the course of his first call in the new year she began her operations. But it was a dreadful task, and the evening passed without a single step taken forward.

The effort had been made, however, and courage always comes with effort. When he came again she was so wrought up over the work before her that her eyes sparkled and her cheeks glowed in rosy color.

He was ten years older than she, and always assumed that bless-my-soul style affected by elderly men. She despised the flattery of men so far had meant to her no dissolution of the continuity of her spinsterhood.

She was good-natured about it, however, and let Mr. Culver go on with whatever he had to say, for if there was any man who could make flattery any more palatable to her than any other man that man was Mr. Culver.

At all events, that's the way it presented itself to Susanna, and she felt the spirit of desperation slowly creeping over her. She took a long breath for encouragement, and tentatively turned the subject of conversation upon the most recent wedding which had occurred in their circle.

"What a pair of fools they were and are," said Mr. Culver, sentimentally, "to marry on nothing but his salary, and that not big enough for two."

"But they are happy," argued Susanna. "I suppose so," Mr. Culver unwillingly admitted; "it takes fools to be happy; wise people know too much."

"Are you wise?" questioned Susanna, nervously, for she felt that she was launching herself at this point upon an unknown sea. "I'm old enough to be," Mr. Culver frankly responded, for Mr. Culver's age was too well known to be denied, and too great to be hid under a bushel.

In and About Negaunee.

SHOULD HAVE MORE ROOM.

Negaunee High School Building Is Over-Crowded.

There are one hundred and fifty more pupils in the Negaunee high school building than there is room for. The inconvenience of trying to have them all attend regularly is averted by holding half-day sessions in three of the departments—two primaries and a kindergarten. The total enrollment at all of the schools up to yesterday was 1,300. This is an increase of less than 100 over last year.

Mr. Davis expressed regret at being compelled to hold half-day sessions in the primary departments, as he says the children attending these should be in school all day. There are pupils enough attending the big school to completely fill three more rooms.

Mr. Davis says that in case another building of six rooms should be provided every room in it could be fitted before the first of the ensuing year.

There are eighty pupils in the high school department. This is an increase of ten over last year. Thirty more who are preparing to enter the high school will be added to the list the first of the coming year.

Mr. Davis asserts that many object to having their children attend the kindergarten as a primary on account of the poor condition of the basement rooms. "These are no more fit for school purposes than my cellar," he says. "They are poorly lighted and poorly ventilated and are very damp as well. A number of the children attending these departments are not in school half of the time as they complain of being sick."

Mr. Davis says he wishes the parents would come to the school and look over these rooms. When they were fitted up they were intended to be used only for a few months, but now they have been in use over two years. The bare stone walls are visible and the damp and leaky steam pipes pass through them. The only redeeming feature about the rooms is that they are provided with hardwood floors. Aside from this they are no better for the use made of them than any ordinary basement.

Educational Rally. A meeting of the school superintendents of Marquette county has been called for this afternoon at the Nelson House, Ishpeming, to arrange for the annual educational rally to be held somewhere in the county next month.

Owing to the fact that there is a football game on today at Marquette which the superintendents are desirous of witnessing, the meeting will be held at Marquette instead of Ishpeming.

It is Negaunee's turn to have the rally this year and it is quite likely we will get it. Last year Marquette had the meeting and Ishpeming got it the previous year. The rally will continue three days. The dates will be decided on at the meeting today.

Some of the leading educators of the country will be invited to attend the rally and address the teachers. Superintendent Pittingill will be among the attendants. In case Negaunee is given the meeting one or two rallies will be held in the opera house. The other meeting will take place in the High school.

Moved to Munising. J. C. Dougherty has been here the past few days packing up his household goods preparatory to moving them to Munising, where he will reside with his family in the future. He has sold his residence property to Thomas M. Wells. The place adjoins Mr. Wells' home and is of more value to him than it would be to anyone else. Mr. Dougherty's goods will be forwarded from here today.

Wonderful are the cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and yet they are simple and natural. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes PURE BLOOD.

Boiling River it is sure enough. It is not as large as the Mississippi, indeed it is quite small, but a mighty interesting stream for all that. It issues from the sides of a mountain in a thousand tiny rills, more or less, and oozes down the sides of these gath- ering themselves into pools and lakets on the mountain's side, covering an area of about 200 acres. Overflowing their boundaries they slowly trickle down the sides of the mountain and, as the water runs, the most wonderful in the world. From a distance one can hardly believe what the eyesight reveals—white, black, orange, lemon, terra cotta, green, blue, red, pink, separate and in manifold combinations stand out before him. It is a hill of painted cliffs on the sides of the mountain that rises high above. And the odd part of it is that each of these exquisite colors represents a different temperature. Does that startle your credulity? Even so it is true.

When through with this beautiful painting process, these waters again come together and then, as if full of mischief like a pack of small boys trying to play hide and seek, dive down and remain under the ground for a space of two miles and then flow out from the mouth of a cononyita as one of the clearest, most beautiful, green streams imaginable. Where these waters emerge from the mountain into the little lakes they are hot, boiling hot. During their dark underground journey they fall several hundred feet and also many degrees in hotness, so that when they again see daylight they are much cooler. This then is boiling river, an underground mountain stream of hot water.

But you ask, where is it? Where can I see it? It is in Yellowstone Park at Mammoth Hot Springs. It is one of the lesser, mind you the lesser—wonders of this land of wonders. Go there and see it by all means, but first send to Chas. S. Fee, General Passenger Agent, Northern Pacific Railroad, St. Paul, Minn., six cents for Wanderland '96, that tells all about this renowned region. (7-34)

BEAT THE LOST-PARCELS MAN. How a Suburban Woman Secured a Nice New Umbrella.

"Pretty smart lot of women on them Galena division trains," said the lost parcels custodian at the Northwestern depot to a Chicago Post man.

"Why?" "One of them comes in here yesterday and beats me out of an umbrella," replied the custodian, wrapping up a fan and handkerchief and labeling them.

"How?" "She remembers that the last hard rain was July 21, and yesterday when the sun is shining she comes in here and asks me if any umbrella is left on the train that day. Of course there is. Find some every rain. I say: 'Yes; what train did you leave yours on?' She says the Elmhurst train. Now that don't tell anything. She says she's going to her sister's at Elmhurst, and she don't know this road at all. All the trains are Elmhurst trains. She's got me."

"Then I says: 'What kind of an umbrella?' "And she says it's new. She can't recollect how she handle went, but she'd know if she sees it. Now, what can I do? I show her the umbrellas brought in that day, and she picks up the best one and she says: 'That's it! And it is.'"

"How do you know it isn't her umbrella?" "Cause to-day the traffic manager sees her on the train with that umbrella, and hears her tell another woman how she got it, and he fetches it in here just as five other women break in here with the same game. Did they get umbrellas? Well, no—not till after the next rain."

Serving Men Disappearing. Parisians are giving up keeping men servants. For the sake of economy male domestics are everywhere being replaced by female. It was the clubs that first set the example by dismissing their men cooks and engaging women cordons bleus. Now the tendency is gaining ground in all directions. People are banishing their butlers, keeping parlor maids where they used to keep footmen, and paying off their valets.

The last straw has come to break the camel's back. The financial proposals of the new government include a tax on man servants. The cruelest cut of all in the new law, linceys are to be scheduled along with carriage horses, as if they were a kind of cattle. The domestic servants' syndicate is agitating against the threatened legislation.

A Perfect Fit Needed. A well-known club woman the other day went to her dressmaker to order a gown. The woman asked at once: "Shall you wear it at club meetings?" The reply was in the affirmative. "And to make speeches in?" was the next question. Again she said yes. "Then I must have it trimmed accordingly," said the dressmaker. "It will be sewed closely and for long periods of time at once by women at leisure to do such a gown must be absolutely perfect."

SPEAKERS FROM ABROAD.

Something About Those Who Will Be Instructors at the Farmer's Institute.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY ARE THE INSTITUTE DAYS.

Bryan Free Silver Club Will Organize Football Season Opens This Afternoon—Biggest Ball Ever Held in Marquette.

FARMERS INSTITUTE SPEAKERS.

The dates for the Marquette Farmer's Institute are next Tuesday and Wednesday. The committee has the local part of the program in preparation, and promises to have some good home talent to take part in the two days exercises. The assembly room of the city hall will be used for the meetings.

Superintendent Butterworth has selected a fine corps of lecturers to attend the institute and give the instruction on agricultural topics. The state board of agriculture appears to recognize that there is a future for farming in the upper peninsula, and has designated Mr. Ball and Professor Wheeler to make a brief survey of this county while they are here at the farmer's institute; that is, they will be driven about the county and will be able to get impressions as to the value of the country for farming purposes. Mr. Ball is a practical and successful farmer, and Professor Wheeler is a thorough scientist. Each of those men will make a report, and in this way the board will better be able to know the kind of institute work needed in this country, and also the report is sure to be one that is fair and impartial, and will fairly represent the value of this country.

Hon. Wm. Ball, who is one of the leading speakers at the Farmers' Institute, is one of the most successful farmers in southern Michigan. He has a large farm which he works himself, and which is a model of neatness. He has been a prominent stock breeder, farmer in the southern peninsula. It will be worth much to farmers to meet Mr. Ball. He is a plain, practical man, willing to impart his own practices and his ideas.

J. H. Brown, who talks on the topics, "Dairying," "Cheap and Wholesome Feed for Stock," and "Corn and Fodder for Stock," at the Farmers' Institute, is associate editor of the Michigan Farmer, which is the standard farm paper published in Michigan. Mr. Brown lives on his farm and carries on the work as well as helping to edit the paper. He is a ready talker, thoroughly posted, and an enthusiastic institute worker.

Mrs. Mary A. Mayo will speak twice at the institute. Mrs. Mayo conducted a women's department at nearly twenty-five institutes last winter, and will speak in thirty or forty counties of the state at institutes the coming winter. Mrs. Mayo is said to be one of the very best lady speakers in the state. She is a farmer's wife, and knows all about the work and struggles of the farm. Her talks will interest every member of the family, and no farmer nor farmer's wife in this county should miss hearing her.

Professor C. F. Wheeler is the only member of the lecture force sent by the state who comes direct from the Agricultural College. He is a thorough scientist, and at the same time a practical every-day man. He talks on weeds and rusts, as well as grasshoppers, will be sure to be well worth hearing.

Form the Silver Club.

There will be a meeting tonight at the opera house to form the W. J. Bryan Silver Club. This club was to have been formed after the rally Monday evening, but owing to the late hour at which the gathering broke up it was postponed until tonight.

The feature of the night will be a series of short addresses on the great issues of the campaign by local speakers. These have previously been allied to parties representing all phases of politics, but are now allied with the white metal camp.

Each cutter in answer to how they were forming the silver club, said: "We are approaching it boldly without canvass. We don't need to take a paper and go around through every ward. Silver sentiment is so pronounced here that a blind man could feel it with a stick."

All voters who are intending to support the silver cause are invited to be present at the meeting in the opera house at 8 o'clock tonight.

Big Ball Thanking.

The biggest ball ever given in Marquette is what Grafton lodge, No. 111, A. O. U. W., is planning to give Thanksgiving night. Over a thousand invitations will be issued, and the list of guests will include quite as many up the road as Marquette people. Special trains will be run for the accommodation of the out of town guests. The festivities are to be held in Casino rink. The arrangements committee, consisting of F. W. Vandenberg, chairman, Charles Senecal and James Charlesworth, is already at work. Other special committees will be appointed as the time for the ball approaches.

Lumbering.

F. W. Read takes exceptions to an article printed in Friday's issue on lumbering operations. He drew the impression from it that lumbering operations in the upper peninsula were flourishing, and is afraid outside laboring men will do the same, and come in, and not being able to find work find county charges.

While the operators enumerated have already put out camps he asserts that there will not be more than one-tenth the work done there was last winter. In support of this statement he instances his own company which had six camps last season and will have one this, and the Menominee and Bay Shore Lumber company which will have only one camp this year against three in 1895.

Some years he says he has been obliged to import men, but this year they are coming in swarms and applying for work. In three days three hundred men were looking for jobs at his Michigan mill.

Registers the Horses.

A new horse register, a very clever device has been placed in Freeman's livery barn. The principal feature of it is an electric alarm clock which notifies the stablemen of the hour for which a horse was ordered. At the time the order is given it is chalked down on a blackboard underneath the clock opposite the name of the horse wanted and a plug removed on the rim of the clock, there being one for every quarter hour in the twelve. At the time the horse is wanted the alarm goes off and continues ringing until some one stops it. A glance at the blackboard shows which order the alarm was for.

Football Today.

This afternoon on the fair grounds gridiron will be played the first football game of the season. The contestants are the High school teams of Marquette and Ishpeming. Both elevens are in the pink of condition and the game promises to be an exciting one. Play will be called at 2:30. The admission for adults is a quarter of a dollar, and for school boys fifteen cents.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible noises of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at E. Farnham's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.
