BRITISH HOLD DONGOLA.

River Force of the Anglo-Egyptian Expedition Occupies the Stronghold.

DERVISHES GIVEN A DECISIVE DEFEAT AT EL HAFIR.

Suffer Heavy Loss and Evacuate That Post—New On Retreat Toward Dongola—British Land Force to Advance Today.

THE GOAL REACHED AT LAST.

KERMA-ON-THE-NILE, Sept. 20.—[Copyrighted by the Associated Press.] Dongola, fallen, and the nominal objective point of the British-Egyptian expedition, has been reached. The river forces of the British-Egyptian expedition, pushing up the Nile from El Hafir, landed a force at Dongola and occupied the place before the dervish forces retreating from El Hafir reached that point. El Hafir and Dongola, therefore, are both in the hands of the expedition, while the dervish forces are somewhere between, seeking refuge.

Saturday, on the approach of the troops, the forces of the khalifa evacuated the post of Kerma and retreated to the west bank at El Hafir. The dervishes' position here was then shelled by the Anglo-Egyptian artillery and under cover of this fire three gunboats passed up the Nile on the way to Dongola. The gunboats sunk a dervish steamer which had opened fire on them and inflicted heavy loss upon the enemy. Naval Commander Colville of the Anglo-Egyptian side was slightly wounded; the casualties on the British side were insignificant.

In the afternoon the long range firing continued between the dervishes on the west bank of the Nile and the expeditionary force on this side. The Maxim guns did great execution in the dervish ranks, while the field and horse batteries never allowed the enemy to do anything with their batteries. Darkness put an end to the artillery duel across the Nile water.

At daybreak a native in a boat on the west bank was discerned waving a signal to this side. The steamer Dal thereupon proceeded to the west bank, where it was found El Hafir had been evacuated by the enemy and that not a dervish fighting man was left in sight. The natives announced the enemy had departed at nightfall and that Wad Habara, the young Emir of Dongola who commanded the dervishes, was severely wounded in yesterday's fight by a shell bursting in his tent. The dervishes before departing had buried as many of their dead as they had time for. The rest were prepared with a stone around the neck and thrown into the Nile.

This afternoon news arrived here that the steamers and gunboats of the expedition had reached Dongola and landed a force which immediately occupied the principal stronghold of the town. This news was received with delight as it is supposed the enemy now marching between here and Dongola is in a much hampered condition by reason of the number of their wounded, and their retreat along the river bank is threatened by the steamers, which can destroy at any moment the food supplies stored at Dongola if they cannot hold that place against the retreating forces of dervishes until the land forces of the expedition advance to cooperate with them.

Yesterday's engagement at El Hafir seems to have altogether dismayed the dervishes, who placed great reliance upon the fort at that place. They believed the fort would be able to prevent the passage of the steamers of the expedition up the Nile. The artillery fire from this side seems to have entirely disconcerted them, their batteries being destroyed as soon as smoke from them indicated a target for the British and Egyptian gunners.

The native residents of El Hafir welcomed the appearance of the British-Egyptian expedition and seem to regard their advance as an assurance of deliverance from the rule of the khalifa and the Baggaras, the khalifa's native tribe, who exercised cruel domination over the Nile tribes.

The losses of the expedition up to last evening were only five wounded, despite the enemy's hot fire. It is hoped the whole of the expeditionary forces will effect a crossing of the Nile so as to camp at El Hafir tonight and continue the march to Dongola tomorrow.

WHITECAPS AT IT AGAIN.

Brutally Whip an Ohio Farmer and Bury Him Alive.

TOLEDO, Sept. 20.—Whitecaps have created another sensation in this county by whipping a man named Huntsman, who lives at Holland station, ten miles from here, and burying him alive. The story has only leaked out, although the outrage, according to the police, was committed on Sept. 9. The Huntsmans, under threats, were afraid to communicate to the authorities the story, but neighbors learned the facts and informed the police today.

The facts as reported to the police are that two Huntsman children, while coming from the postoffice were picked up on the road by two men in a buggy and accused of stealing a pocketbook containing $80. The next night a party of men came to the Huntsman house and, after calling Huntsman out of bed, seized and dragged him outside and beat and abused him in a frightful manner. Then they carried him to a grave, and putting him in it, covered him with earth. After awhile they dug him up again. Then they beat and abused him a second time and finally buried him again. Then they dug him up for a second time and again lashed him, and then drove away. The two children were also lashed. The affair occurred about midnight. Huntsman is a respectable, well-to-do farmer.

HAS M'KINLEY ELECTED.

Gov. Grosvenor Figures Out Only Seventy Bryan Electoral Votes.

ATHENS, O., Sept. 20.—General Grosvenor tonight gave out a table of estimates of the probable result of the presidential election, at the request of certain members of the press in the east. He said:

"The six New England states, with 39 electoral votes, will go to McKinley, so I head my table as follows: New England, 39; New York, 36; New Jersey, 10; Maryland, 8; Delaware, 3; Pennsylvania, 32; West Virginia, 6; Ohio, 23; Indiana, 15; Illinois, 24; Michigan, 14; Wisconsin, 12; Iowa, 13; Minnesota, 9; South Dakota, 4; Kentucky, 13, Oregon, 4; Washington, 4; California, 9, total, 278. Here is a total of 278 votes, or 54 more than sufficient to elect."

"I come to some states which are still in doubt, to-wit: Kansas, 10; Nebraska, 8; North Carolina, 11; North Dakota, 3; Wyoming, 3; total, 35. Of the remaining states Louisiana, 8; Tennessee, 12; Missouri, 17; Texas, 15, and Virginia, 12, a total of 64, are one or more of them within the line of possibility—I might almost say reasonable probability."

"I concede to Bryan and Watson or Bryan and Sewall: Alabama, 11; Arkansas, 8; Colorado, 4; Florida, 4; Georgia, 13; Idaho, 3; Mississippi, 9; Montana, 3; Nevada, 3; South Carolina, 9; Utah, 3; total, 70. They are practically sure for the opposition, although there may be possible dispute."

HAD A QUIET DAY.

Bryan Spends the Sabbath at Washington—Leaves for Baltimore.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Mr. Bryan spent Sunday in Washington at his residence on Capitol hill. Yesterday he left Richmond for Washington in an ordinary day coach. He delivered a speech at Fredericksburg to a great crowd and short addresses at many stations along his route through Virginia. Mr. Bryan left Washington at 10 tonight for Baltimore. This course was necessary in order that he might catch an early train from that city tomorrow which would enable him to reach Dover, Del., in time to speak tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Bryan looks remarkably vigorous and healthy. His voice is again in good trim.

After breakfast today the candidate, escorted by Mr. Radcliffe, the officiating minister, and accompanied by Mr. Bride and National Committeeman Daniels, attended church, returning after service. Mr. Bryan spent the remainder of the day in rest and conversation with callers. Among those who saw Mr. Bryan were Senator Butler, chairman of the Populist executive committee, and Mr. Edgerton, secretary of the committee. The situation generally, condition of the campaign and outlook were discussed. The leaders expressed the opinion the silver sentiment was growing every day.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20.—Mr. Bryan arrived in this city shortly before midnight and went to the Carrolton Hotel.

A TRUNK OF DYNAMITE

Found in House at Chicago Formerly Occupied by Anarchist.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Joseph Bestman, said by the police to be an anarchist, left at 18 Sedgwick court three years ago his trunk, containing sufficient dynamite to have destroyed an acre of property in Chicago and to taken the lives of hundreds of citizens. The discovery was made by accident. Bestman was not found, but the police received information in the afternoon that he is living in Dallas, Tex., and wired the chief of police there to arrest him at once. The discovery of this enormous quantity of explosive matter and the story of Bestman himself so far as known to the police brings to light a tale of anarchist plotting such as Chicago has not had revealed since the dark days of 1885, when the existence of the city was threatened and spies and his comrades swung on the gallows for bomb throwing at the Haymarket massacre. Much correspondence with the condemned anarchists was also found.

HUNDRED PERSONS JAILED.

Another Plot Against Spaniards in the Philippines Is Discovered.

MADRID, Sept. 20.—Advices from Manila, in the Philippine islands, report the discovery of a fresh plot to surprise the garrison there and to murder Captain General Blanco. One hundred persons have been arrested for complicity in the plot. Ten encounters have occurred between the Spaniards and rebels, in which the latter sustained heavy losses. In the island of Lunon natives murdered all of the Spanish monks.

Menominee's Water Impure.

MENOMINEE, Mich., Sept. 20.—Owing to the prevalence of typhoid fever, which the health officers claim is due to impure water taken from the city mains, the school board has decided to hereafter use artesian well water in the schools, and has advertised for the furnishing of 500 gallons daily. The water from the bay is contaminated by sewage.

THATCHER IS FOR GOLD.

Democratic Governorial Nominee in New York Defines His Financial Position.

ISSUES STATEMENT AFTER CONFERENCE WITH HILL.

It Is Believed Object Is to Stave Off a Gold Democratic Ticket and to Enforce the Fight Upon State Issues.

CREATES CURIOUS SITUATION.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—By making an official statement late tonight of his position upon the financial question, and by declaring in that statement that he is unalterably for gold, John Boyd Thatcher, the Democratic nominee for governor, creates one of the most curious situations ever known in the politics of this state.

The statement was issued after a long conference with Senator Hill; Elliott C. Danforth, who was at Mr. Hill's house, and D. Cady Herrick, the Democratic leader of this county. It was addressed to the chairman of the state committee. It is believed this course is approved by Senator Hill, William F. Sheehan and others not in attendance at the state convention, and is intended to try and fend off any nomination of a second Democratic ticket at Brooklyn and enforce the fight at the polls upon state issues, leaving the national ticket entirely out of the question. Mr. Thatcher declares he is against free silver, but will vote for Bryan and Sewall for regularity and fight the campaign on state issues only. In this letter Mr. Thatcher says:

"I cannot ask for the support of the people of the state without frankly declaring my position upon the financial issue now agitating the public. I stand today where I stood in the month of June in the presence of the convention of the state Democracy; I have not changed an iota in my belief nor deviated a step in my course. The commercial honor of this country is pledged to the world, and the world knows that the nation will maintain its honor."

"I took part in the state convention which sent delegates to represent the party in the national convention at Chicago. These delegates by participation acquiesced in the action of the national convention by presenting candidates for the offices of president and vice president of the United States and the Democratic state convention ratified the nomination of these candidates."

"The Democratic party is a vehicle to carry the will of the people into effect—such a vehicle is constructed with difficulty but easily destroyed. The failure now and then to perform an absolutely satisfactory service will not justify the utter destruction of this vehicle. It is not constructed to bear one burden, but many and various burdens. When the financial burden is finally disposed of the people will still employ the Democratic party to support purposes and to carry them into effect."

"When they thus employ that party I, for one, do not want it to be shattered and dismembered, but be strong, united and efficient; therefore, I shall cast my vote for Bryan and Sewall. I regret I cannot be in full accord on the question of finance with the sentiment of the late convention, but if my position seems inharmonious with the usual attitude of a candidate toward his party it should be remembered that the conditions, also, are unusual."

EARTH RAPIDLY COOLING.

French Scientist Says the World Is Coming to an End.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Jerome K. Jerome's paper entitled "Today" called attention yesterday in a serious paragraph to an eminent French scientist who will not permit his name to be published and who says that the world, so far as Europe is concerned, is coming to an end. He adds that the earth is certainly cooling in France and Belgium and that it is likely in the very near future that we shall see great changes. In the north of France where such a thing has before been unknown there have already been earthquakes and the same thing has happened in Belgium. The unknown scientist further states that there are two or three French mountains slipping, while, he concludes, the Swiss mountains are subsiding.

HOW THE TICKET WAS NAMED.

Proceedings of the Republican County Convention, Friday.

The Republican county convention, which met at Germania Hall, Hancock, Friday afternoon was called to order promptly at 2 o'clock by R. M. Hoar, chairman of the county committee. Dr. A. M. Wheeler of Houghton, was elected temporary chairman and A. W. Kerr of Calumet, secretary, and the usual committees were named. The committees then retired, and the convention was addressed by Hon. T. B. Dunstan, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, who was warmly received. No contests and a full representation of delegates present were reported by the committee on credentials, and the committee on organization recommended that the temporary organization be made permanent, which was done, and the convention then settled down to its real business.

The state senatorial contest was first in order, and G. C. Bentley of Chassell arose to address the convention. He proposed that inasmuch as Houghton county had two candidates for the office a ballot be taken to decide which of the two candidates—O. W. Robinson of Chassell and C. A. Wright of Hancock—should be endorsed by the convention, and that the gentleman securing the majority of the votes should be declared the choice of the county. No objection was raised to this proposition, and it was accordingly put to a vote. Mr. Robinson was the winner, 43 to 24. The chair then, on motion, appointed a committee of five to report the names of twenty-two gentlemen to act as delegates to the senatorial convention at Bessemer. The committee retired, and in the interval Judge Hubbell addressed the convention in his usual characteristic earnest and forcible manner. The committee then reported the following as delegates, and the report was adopted:

Thomas Lyon, J. N. Cox, William S. Thielman, William Kroll, F. A. Lewis, Angus Kerr, John Erickson, George Taylor, Will Wells, J. A. McLaughlin, Joseph Stringer, C. D. Hanchette, B. T. Judkins, A. F. McDonald, John Hudson, O. J. Larson, Thomas Burgan, M. M. Foley, W. Wyckoff, S. B. Harris, W. W. Stockley, Andrew Kauff.

The biggest fight in the convention was on judge of probate, there being six candidates. An informal ballot was taken, resulting as follows: Gray, 25; Hambitzer 17; Richardson 14; Crawford, 5; Trevathan, 4, and later, 1. A motion for another informal ballot was defeated, and a formal ballot was ordered. It resulted: Gray, 31; Hambitzer, 14; Richardson, 14; Crawford, 21; Trevathan, 1, Mr. Gray lacking but three votes. The next ballot settled the contest, the vote being Gray, 34; Hambitzer, 13; Richardson, 17. The nomination was made unanimous.

When nominations for sheriff were called for, the name of Fred Lean was presented by Attorney Larson of Calumet. No other name was presented and Mr. Lean was declared the unanimous choice of the convention. Robert H. Shields was then renominated by acclamation for county clerk and Isaac W. Fremodig was also renominated for treasurer without opposition. For the office of register of deeds a strong fight was put up by the different candidates—Fichtel, Light and Engstrom of Calumet and Jaehning of Franklin, the present incumbent. Three ballots were taken, as follows:

Jaehning.....31 31 36 Fichtel.....21 23 22 Light.....10 10 10 Engstrom.....4 7 3

Mr. Jaehning was declared the nominee of the convention. For prosecuting attorney, the friends of Mr. Streeter expected no opposition to their candidate, but were surprised when the name of Joseph F. Hambitzer was presented. Mr. Streeter was successful on the first ballot, however, the vote standing 37 to 25. The balance of the county ticket, as follows was completed by acclamation:

Circuit court commissioners—A. W. Kerr and R. Skiff Sheldon. Surveyor—W. W. Stockley. Coroners—James Sowden and James Trembath.

The convention then divided for the purpose of nominating candidates for representatives to the legislature. The delegates comprising the first district chose Charles Smith of South Lake Linden and those of the second G. W. Rulison of Hancock. The convention then reconvened and ratified the nominations.

R. M. Hoar and W. D. Calver were again placed in nomination for chairman and secretary respectively, of the county committee, but each having served eight years asked to retire, which the convention reluctantly consented to. C. A. Wright, was then unanimously chosen chairman of the county committee and G. W. Emery secretary. After selecting the chairmen for the different township committees the convention adjourned.

Drew a Full Ouse. A crowded house greeted Charles R. Sligh and Justin Whiting, nominees for governor and lieutenant governor, Friday evening at Calumet, when they opened the campaign in this county in behalf of the Union Silver ticket. The speakers were most heartily received and their addresses received the close attention of the audience.

Republican Rally Tonight. The Republicans of Calumet will hold a grand rally tonight at Armory Hall under auspices of the McKinley and Hobart club. The speakers will be Hon. T. B. Dunstan of Hancock and Geo. C. Bentley of Chassell. Good music will be in attendance.

A Burglar Proof Vault. That professional burglars are at present in Houghton county was thoroughly established Friday night, when at attempt at safe blowing was made at Haun & Schulte's store at Duluth.

lar Bay. The burglars gained entrance to the store by prying open the rear door. They succeeded in drilling a hole seven inches deep into the safe, when they reached the burglar proof vault. Their tools failed to drill further, however, and their operations were suspended. No arrests have yet been made in connection with the affair.

A match has been arranged to take place at the Hancock Driving park next Saturday afternoon between Geo. Demaro's "Star" and Isaac Kockare's "Tillie" for $50 a side.

A FRENCH INCIDENT. Cyclist with a Broken Leg Wins a Race. A fatal cycling accident happened recently at Maison Lafitte. Two young Englishmen, F. Morris, the steeplechase jockey, and F. Davis, first stableman in the employ of L. Robert, the trainer, had arranged a bicycle match of six kilometers from the Maison Lafitte railway bridge to the Croix de Noailles and back. They had almost completed the race when Morris, who was a little ahead, looked back to see how far Davis was behind, and in doing so he led his machine against the curbstone. The unfortunate rider came to the ground and broke his leg below the knee. Morris, who was following close behind, could not avoid his fallen opponent and was thrown heavily to the ground, where he remained insensible.

Disregarding both his own broken leg and his friend lying motionless on the ground, Morris, in his anxiety to win the race, mounted his bicycle and soon reached the winning post, with one foot on the pedal, the other hanging useless on the opposite side. Davis was then carried home, but he died during the night.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses of 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. THE COCK FIGHT.

Many of the Pits Were Located in Welsh Churchyards.

It is not so very long ago since cock-fighting ceased to be one of the most popular pastimes of the Welsh people. Cockpits were once common in most villages, but although they are now pretty nearly all level with the surrounding ground, the natives can still point out their sites. In several churchyards their remains can be traced, and the old men, speaking of the days of their fathers, can recount tales of these cruel sports in which their fathers took immoderate delight. I have obtained much information from the aged—several of whom are now no longer with us—of these sports, which come down from olden times to the present century.

Sunday, being a holiday, was usually devoted, in part, to the exercise of various games in the churchyard. The north side was considered less holy than the other portions of the churchyard, and it was in that part that the cockpits were situated, and it is here that they are still situated. So passionately fond of witnessing these cruel onslaughts were the people, that they flocked for miles around to witness a main. I have been told in connection with Lanerfyl parish, which is situated in the recesses of the Montgomeryshire hills, and where, to this day, Welsh is the exclusive language of the people, that an arrangement had been made by the owners of birds to hold a cock-fight after the church services. A man carried his bird with him to the village, and placed it in safe keeping while he attended divine services in the parish church, but before services were over a lad rushed into the church and shouted: "Fool, come out; thy cock is even now in the pit." The man immediately got up, and it need hardly be said, others too left their seats and went to the place of battle, which was close at hand. Such a stampede was not uncommon on these occasions. Mr. Elias Williams, of Bronydd, Llanllechid, Carnarvonshire, a farmer, told me of an event similar to the preceding one at Lanerfyl. This took place either at the end of the eighteenth century or the beginning of the present century. A football match had been arranged to take place on a certain Sunday, on a hill midway between Llanbedr and Llanllechid. On the day fixed upon it rained, and though the Llanllechid young men kept their appointment, their opponents failed to appear. The following Sunday was fair, but as no special arrangement had been made for that day, a few only of the Llanllechid football players went to the hill, but the Llanbedrites appeared in full force. The game commenced, but the few could not hold their own against the many. In their distress they dispatched one of their young men to the parish church, which was a good way off, to bring up assistance. The messenger rushed over walls and marshes, and, heated and exhausted, ran into the church and shouted out that the Llanbedr boys had come, and were kicking the ball before them to the parish, turned hillwards again. At his words the male portion of the congregation got up as one man, and—leaving the parson and women to continue the prayers—they also made for the hill. They came upon the victors, who were sportively kicking the ball toward their home. But in no time the ball was turned in the contrary direction, and the day ended in a glorious victory for the Llanllechid braves.—Reliquary and Illustrated Archaeologist.

MICHAEL ANGELO. Vasari Tells of the Great Artist's Passion for Labor.

Vasari says of the manner in which the great master of sculpture worked: "I have seen Michael Angelo make more chips of marble fly about in a quarter of an hour than three of the strongest young sculptors would in as many hours, a thing almost incredible to anyone who has not witnessed it. He went to work with such impetuosity and fury of manner that I feared almost every minute to see the block split in pieces. It seemed as if, inflamed by the great idea that inspired him, this great man attacked with a species of fury the marble in which his statue lay concealed."

One instance of such frenzy of labor came when Michael Angelo was a boy but 14 years old. He had carved a faun, one of those strange woodland creatures, half goat, half man, of which the Romans were so fond, with fresh faces, tossing hair, sprouting horns and goat's legs. Lorenzo de Medici saw the work, and was amazed at its delicacy and the richness of fancy displayed; but he began bantering the young sculptor in the easy, gracious fashion of a great prince.

"Look you," said he, "these wonderful masters are not always young, as you would have it; they get wrinkled brows, they are unsteady on their legs, they lose their teeth."

He indicated, as he spoke, the beautiful row of teeth which adorned the smiling lips of the creature, and passed on. Then occurred a scene full of passion and pathos, and eminently characteristic of Michael Angelo. As the curtains closed upon the prince, the young sculptor flew upon his faun, mallet in hand. Round about the jaw and brow he made telltale lines. He puckered the eyes with crow's feet, and last of all, he placed his chisel against the creature's upper jaw and smote a tooth away, by that one act giving the face an indescribable look of age.

Lorenzo was amazed at the marvelous transformation. It was an effective introduction to the power of the young artist, and he took him into his household and brought him up with his own children.—Youth's Companion.

Which Was Squeezed. She—I wish we were rich enough to have some of the luxuries our friends enjoy—a yacht, for instance. He—Oh, never mind! We always have the tug-of-war.—Detroit Free Press.

CANTON AGAIN CROWDED.

Ten Visiting Delegations of Several Thousand Each Call on McKinley.

ANOTHER GREAT DEMONSTRATION SATURDAY.

Excursionists Included Railroad Men from Chicago and Steel Workers from the Carnegie Mills—Addresses in the Rain.

CHEERS FOR THE NOMINEE.

CANTON, O., Sept. 20.—Barring the local campaign opening on Friday, yesterday was the biggest demonstration since nomination day. There were ten visiting delegations of from 1,000 to 6,000 each, utilizing twenty-six special trains, and estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000 people.

It was the big delegation of railroad men from Chicago, too large for any hall, who set the example of defying the elements. They, with the several hundred telegraphers who came with them, surrounded the little receiving stand on the major's lawn and listened to and cheered the assurances of hearty support delivered by their spokesman.

The crowd was so large and other delegations crowding so fast that the usual program of handshaking had to be eliminated. But those nearest Major McKinley made a rush for him and besides tearing down part of the stand almost tore his clothes from his back.

Two large delegations, 2,500 people from Mercer county, Pa., and 1,500 from Butler county, Pa.—were massed in one for the next address. In response to their congratulations, Major McKinley said, in part:

"I am one of those Americans who believe that the American workshop should be protected against the foreign workshop. I believe that the American workingman should be defended by wise and judicious protective policy against the workmen of the old world. In a word, I believe that this country is ours and we, first of all, are entitled to enjoy its privileges and its blessings."

"The first thing we want in this country is plenty to do, and when we have that then we want to be paid in good money for what we do. We neither want short work nor short dollars in the United States. We neither want free trade nor free silver in the United States. We want an opportunity to work and we want, when we have improved that opportunity, to be paid in dollars that are worth as much the week after they are received as on the day of their receipt. Free trade has cheated you in your wages and we do not propose to permit free silver to cheat us in our pay."

When Mr. McKinley had finished, Senator Callow made a short address. A delegation from the Carnegie mills, 1,300 strong and with several bands, had its reception in the opera house. Thomas Brown, superintendent of the mills, introduced the party and in response Major McKinley said:

"Mr. Brown and My Fellow Citizens: Nothing moves me more deeply than to have the assurances of support which I am daily receiving from the men who toil in the United States. To have as

TURNING GRAY AND THREATENED WITH BALDNESS

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

TO VISIT QUEEN VICTORIA.

Czar and Czarina Sail from Copenhagen for Leith, Scotland.

WILL SPEND FORTNIGHT AT BALMORAL CASTLE.

Double Precautions for Their Safety—Great Influence to Be Brought to Bear on the Czar in Favor of the Armenians.

DUE TO ARRIVE TUESDAY.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 20.—The czar and czarina today embarked on the imperial yacht Standard, which immediately sailed for Leith.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The preparations for the reception of the czar and czarina, who are expected to reach Leith harbor at 2:30 p. m. on Tuesday, are almost completed. With the exception of the arrival and the departure of their Russian majesties there will be no state ceremonies. The recently discovered dynamite conspiracy has undoubtedly served to cause the authorities to double the precautions taken to ensure the safety of the imperial travelers and greatest anxiety is expressed lest any accident should occur.

The Russian imperial yacht Standard, on entering Leith harbor, will pass through lines of warships belonging to the channel squadron which will fire imperial salutes. The czar and czarina will be received at the jetty by the prince of Wales, the duke of Connaught, a number of field officers and a guard of honor composed of blue-jackets. The czar's escort will consist of a detachment of the Second dragoons (Royal Scots Greys), of which the czar is colonel-in-chief, and 300 policemen and a regiment of Highlanders will line the street from the jetty to the railroad station, which is only 400 yards distant.

The czar and czarina will ride to the station in a state carriage sent from Buckingham palace for their use, and the train which will convey the imperial party to Balmoral is the queen's "Special." It will run from Leith to Balmoral, without any stop. Upon arrival at Balmoral the czar and czarina will drive in state carriages through lines of servants in Highland costumes holding flaming torches in their hands. The entire route will be guarded by soldiers and police and will be barricaded throughout.

The visit of the czar and czarina to the queen will last a fortnight, at the expiration of which time the imperial travelers will leave via Perth and will go direct to Portsmouth, where they will embark on board the imperial yacht Standard.

For the entertainment of the czar the prince of Wales has projected a number of shooting, fishing and driving excursions, in which the duke of Connaught will also take part. The prince and princess of Wales will stay with the queen at Balmoral castle; but the other members of the royal family will put up at Aberfeldie.

A private chapel for the use of the czar and czarina has been arranged in one of the rooms of the Balmoral castle. The sacred vestments, crucifixes and ikons for the chapel have been sent from the Greek church in London. The apartments which will be occupied by the czar and czarina at Balmoral castle face the River Dee. They are simply furnished, as, for that matter, are all the rooms at Balmoral. The corridors are hung with imitation marble wall paper and are lighted by oil lamps, and trophies of the chase shot by distinguished visitors, heads and antlers of deer, are fixed at every available spot and hunting pictures abound.

The general public is expecting some political work to be accomplished at Balmoral to the advantage of Great Britain during the visit of the czar to the Highlands and from a source which is entitled to respect the Associated Press is informed that pourparlers have already been exchanged between the marquis of Salisbury and the czar by which an agreement will be ratified at Balmoral in regard to Armenia.

Great Britain is to take a dignified position in the interest of humanity and will stand aside while the czar polices Turkey. The events of the past few days and the attitude of the high conservative press confirm this. At any rate, the czar is destined to hear a lot about Armenia while in Scotland and it is freely stated in London that the queen proposes to do considerable plain speaking on this subject, and petitions to the czar beseeching him to stop the flow of Christian blood are being signed in North Britain and will be presented to his majesty during his stay.

One of the petitions has been endorsed by Mr. Gladstone, who expressed the hope that the heart and mind of the czar might be awakened to the "fearful mischiefs" which the policy of the late Russian minister of foreign affairs, the late Prince Lobanoff-Rostovsky, "had done so much to promote."

IN MINE EXPLOSIONS.

Many Men Lose Their Lives Through Ignorance of What to Do.

Scientific inquiry is being directed to the saving of human life in mine explosions. Dr. Haldane has established the fact that the loss of life in colliery accidents is far greater than it need be when those who work in the mines and those who manage them have clearer knowledge of the right thing to do in the face of the calamity. In a recent mine explosion, where 57 men and 30 horses were killed, the cause of death in every case was proved to be not the want of oxygen in the air of the pit after the explosion, but to comparatively slow poisoning by carbon monoxide. Sufficient oxygen to support life was left in the airways all along the track of the explosion. It appears that men from want of knowledge now go straight to their death in endeavoring to escape. Dr. Haldane is convinced that hundreds of men have lost their lives by hurrying blindly toward the shaft, or by not retiring toward the face when they met the after-damp. In many parts of the mine there will be, beyond the limits of the explosion, abundance of air to effect dilution of the poisonous carbon-monoxide, on breathing which the men suddenly lose the use of their limbs and finally consciousness. So that a man who waits for the rescuers, or long enough for the after-damp to disperse, will be able to escape either by the intake, or, if this is blocked, by the return airways.

The most expensive and extensive wine cellar in the world is owned by the Roumanian government. A railway tunnel 2,600 feet long, situated between Galtz and Barbosh, could not be used for railroad purposes because of its inferior construction. Its cost was nearly 4,000,000 francs. It was leased to a wine dealer, who has turned it into an immense and excellent wine cellar.

Count Alfred Szirmai recently excavated in an old chapel in his park at Szirma Besenyos. In a vault from which a strong smell came a casket was found which crumbled when it was touched. It contained in a gold brocade covering three antique filigree work vessels full of copper and silver coins. In two vaults opening from the first there were many skeletons.

LIVE BY CRACKING NUTS.

Apple in Chicago Who Follow a Strange Calling. Did the "gentle reader" ever attempt to crack a pecan nut?

It is safe to say that the gentle reader has made the attempt. It is just as safe to add that the attempt was a failure. The implement used may have been a regulation nut-cracker, or a hammer, or a boot heel, or a piece of brick-a-brac, or the combination of floor and chair locker so much favored by bachelors who have never had the chance to learn the sacredness of carpets and floor polish. But whatever were the tools used the result was the same, one and inevitable. The operator, instead of enjoying the whole sweet kernel, as he had fondly expected, gathered up mangled fragments from the floor and his knees and all other surrounding objects capable of furnishing a resting place and tried to imagine that he was really enjoying those tiny and unsatisfactory bits in spite of the fact that they lost themselves in his teeth and came to naught.

Then perhaps he went forth onto the street and passed fruit stands innumerable, on each of which he saw the pecan nut kernels in glasses heaped high and overflowing, each and every piece a full half of the nut's contents. Never a broken piece, never a fragment. If his heart was not filled with envy and with the desire of inquiry he was more than human.

How do they do it? They call science to their aid. There are in Chicago a considerable number of men and women, mostly Italians, who make a fair living by cracking pecan nuts. It is a recognized trade. They take orders regularly from the fruit stands and stores and supply them with cracked nuts. So far as possible they keep their methods in shadow—in shadow as dark as the inside of a cow. They crack them with hammers, but they get no such disheartening result as the amateur who essays the same attempt. They have no little pieces to pick up, but every kernel comes out in neat, unbroken halves.

This is because they know the pecan nut from alpha to Omega. Tradition and the instruction of their elders have taught them certain things in nature which escape the average man, and they take advantage of the knowledge. They soak the nuts over night in soft water. The result is surprising—it must surprise even the nut itself. From a crabbed, uncertain thing, likely to fly off the handle at no provocation whatsoever and go all to pieces over a rebuff scarcely worth mentioning, it is changed into a perfect model of generosity, willing to give up all it has in the world for the pleasure of the first comer. Try it. Let the man who would serve nuts on his table or regale his friends with them before an open fire go and do as those who have studied the matter are accustomed to do. Let him gather up the rain that falls from heaven to crack nuts with, not attempt to soften them with profanity, as is usually done. It is better for his friends, his carpets, his fingers and his eternal record. Besides, it is the right way.—Chicago Tribune.

EYESIGHT OF CHILDREN.

Why Country Lads Have Stronger Eyes Than Our City Youth.

Shortsightedness and other defects of vision are happily not so prevalent among children attending elementary schools in London as was feared two years ago, when inquiry into the subject was initiated by the education department. Mr. Brudenell Carter, who voluntarily conducted an extensive investigation, observes, in his report, that the great cause of alarm to school managers has now for some years been progressive myopia, but he has failed to find evidence of any extended existence of this condition. He points out that "vision, like every other nerve function, must be cultivated for attainment of a high degree of excellence. The visual power of London children is not fostered by their environment. They see the other side of the street in which they live and the carts and omnibuses of the thoroughfares. They scarcely ever have the visual attention strongly directed to any object which it is difficult to observe, and hence their seeing function is never exerted, or at least is not habitually used, to anything like what should be the extent of its powers. With a country child the case is widely different. He has an expanse of landscape before him, presenting numerous objects rendered small by distance. He finds attractions in every hedgerow—flowers, insects, birds, nests, many of them disguised by their resemblance in color to their surroundings, and requiring close scrutiny in order that they may be distinguished. His eyes are exercised beneficially in his daily life, and his vision would probably be found somewhat to exceed the very moderate standard of normality, just as that of the town child is apt to fall below it." He recommends that an effort should be made in London to cultivate "the art of seeing," and suggests that public competitions should be held for excellence of vision, for which prizes should be awarded.—London Telegraph.

Sour Stomach.

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." "Let the Galled Jade Wince."

It pleases us when our competitors madly advertise our business. We have never said a physician a percentage on his prescriptions—no reputable physician or druggist would be a party to any such arrangement. If physicians have a preference as to where their prescriptions are prepared you may be sure there is a good reason for it. It does not interest our customers as to how large or small our expenses may be. The only important question to them is, can they get what they ask for at a reasonable price and be treated with civility. Our constantly increasing business goes to show that our customers are satisfied. And we are in better shape than ever to cater to the wants, at

MARINE MATTERS.

TOOK HER MASTS OUT.

LANSIE, Mich., Sept. 20. [Special.]—The steamship Lizzie Madden with consortia Noquebay and Mantines of Bay City, lumber laden from Duluth to Tonawanda, ran in here for shelter this morning.
The Mantines lost her foremast and 200,000 feet of lumber, also her forward bulwarks, off Copper Harbor yesterday in the storm which is still raging on the lake.
She is water soaked and will be unloaded here and taken to the drydock. The fleet with cargo is owned by Captain Thomas Madden.

MIDLAKE AND HARBOR GOSSIP.

The China came in yesterday going down with a light passenger list.
The Badger State made the port yesterday bound up. In addition to the other freight she carried a consignment of bonded goods.

Arrived Saturday—John B. Lyon, F. A. Georger, Santa Marie. Cleared Saturday—John B. Lyon, South Chicago; F. A. Georger, Ashtabula. Cleared Sunday—Santa Marie, South Chicago. L. S. & I. dock: Arrived—Pioneer. Cleared—Pioneer, Ashtabula; Pease, Planet, Cleveland.

Telegrams from Duluth brokers are to the effect that some Cleveland vessel owners have taken large quantities of the cheap wheat that is offered at that port. It is intimated that the wheat buyers and some of the Minnesota boats are loaded up with this grain, but Pickands, Mather & Co. do not admit they have very much of it.

The Northern line steamers, the North Land and North West, have done a business largely in excess of last season, the former alone carrying 1,600 more passengers, than both together last season. On one up trip she carried 800 passengers, and 1,400 on the round trip. The smallest booking was 324 for a single trip.

President Brown, of the lake carriers' association, has been endeavoring to induce its members to lay up a portion of their vessels in the hope of cornering the carrying trade to the extent of securing better rates for the remainder of the season, but the vessel owners, who had been doing a profitable business all the season, are anxious to secure a few good charters before navigation closes, and he has abandoned the effort. Many owners, however, are laying up their boats, and he hopes the result will be the same.

Friday afternoon the steamer Hudson, of the New York Central line, while coming to her dock in Detroit went fast aground about 700 feet off the foot of Wayne street, and it took an hour to work her off. There should be 25 feet of water at that point, but the steamer was drawing but 16 feet 3 inches. When she reached her dock Diver Quinn went down and found that two of the flanges of her wheel were broken though the lost pieces were not large enough to disable her. Vessel men attribute the shoal to deposits of sewage and the flushing of streets.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

—The total wealth of Great Britain with all her possessions is estimated by an American authority to be $40,000,000,000. France comes next with $37,500,000,000. The wealth of the six largest nations in the world aggregates $165,000,000,000.

—The strength of the London police force consists of one chief commissioner, three assistant commissioners, five chief constables, 31 superintendents, 597 inspectors, 1,834 sergeants and 12,754 constables, making a grand total of 15,225 of all ranks.

—Parental authority is rapidly losing ground in European codes of law. In France the formalities for dispensing with parents' permission in marriage have been simplified and the age up to which it is required reduced, and now Germany has cut down the age up to which parental assent is needed to 21.

—The Russian courts have reversed the assumption of the American tribunals that, when a husband and wife are drowned in the same disaster, the wife dies first. The Russian doctors have testified unanimously that the man would be the first to die, because the woman is more agile, and keeps herself longer above water.

The Old Style White Shirt.
Very few white shirts are made nowadays with plaited bosoms fastening with buttons and buttonholes, as almost all shirts were made 40 years ago. Occasionally such shirts are made to order, usually for a man of mature years who has always been accustomed to wearing them, and who clings to them from force of habit. And a few fine shirts with plaited bosoms are made for southern customers, who, however, are likely to buy themselves also shirts of modern style.—N. Y. Sun.

The Sultan's Ancestry.

The sultan of Turkey is descended from a French lady. His great-grandmother, Nachasadi Sultana, consort of Abdul Hamid I., was born in the West India island of Martinique in the latter quarter of the eighteenth century. Her maiden name was Almee Duboc de Rivery. She was cousin and companion in childhood of another lady, Josephine de la Pagerie, who escaped from the guillotine, on which her first husband was beheaded, to become empress of the French. Mlle. de Rivery, on the completion of her education at a convent in Nantes, embarked at Marseilles for the West Indies. She was shipwrecked and rescued by a vessel on its way to Algiers. The vessel was captured by Algerine pirates, and the lady was taken prisoner and sold as a slave to the bey, who in turn made her a present to Abdul Hamid II. By him she became the mother of Mahmoud II., the reformer and grandfather of the present sultan.—London Chronicle.

—A royal duchess and a German princess riding on a fire engine was the sight that gratified one quarter of London recently. The duchess of Albany, with her sister, Princess Elizabeth of Waldeck-Pyrmont, visited the Southwark fire department when a false alarm and a fire drill were arranged, and the princesses were driven to the fire on the machine.

—In a recent sweep of the Bois de Boulogne for disreputable characters a tramp with a strange history was taken. He had been a sailor and master of a sailing vessel, and undertaken to explore Abyssinia, and had ended by becoming chief cook to King Menelik. He grew homesick, however, made his escape, and on reaching France had been unable to find work.

COMING TO MARQUETTE.

Today, Monday, Sept. 21.

Owing to the great number who called upon the Boston Specialists at the Urban House, Ishpeming, the past week and could not gain admittance they have been obliged to postpone their visit to Marquette one week. The doctors will be at the Marquette Hotel, Marquette, Monday, Sept. 21, and will remain until Sunday evening, Sept. 27.

Dr. Higgins and staff of physicians, of the Boston Electrical Medical and Surgical Institute, Boston, Mass., are making a tour through Michigan and will visit the important cities. This being an advertising trip and to introduce their new system they will give consultation and advice, surgical operations and one month's medicine free. All that is asked in return is that every patient treated will state to their friends the result obtained by their new system of treatment. It is not more than once or twice in a lifetime when a community so situated as the one in which we live is placed upon a level with the greatest medical centers of the world, such as London, Paris, Vienna, Rome, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago. The sick and afflicted should take advantage of the opportunity here offered. They may never again have the privilege of consulting such skillful physicians so near their homes. Go then and have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is curable they will treat you; if incurable they will give you such advice as to prolong life.

Dr. Higgins is said to be the greatest catarrh and lung specialist in America. If you have weak lungs or consumption do not fail to be examined. It will cost you nothing for a thorough examination. Remember the doctors treat all diseases and deformities. Their new discovery of absorbing medicine by electricity in paralysis, loss of power, rheumatism, and all diseases of the nervous system, is a Godsend to suffering humanity. Medical men stand appalled at the marvelous cures that are being effected wherever this system has been introduced. Thousands who have given up all hope of ever being cured have now an opportunity of a lifetime, to consult without charge, doctors of a national reputation. Remember the doctors' knowledge of medicine combined with electricity gives them control of diseases that others do not possess. If you have weak eyes, if you are hard of hearing, if you are lame and can't walk this new system will cure you quickly. The doctors locate your disease without asking you any questions. Go early, as their offices are always crowded. If you are improving under your family physician do not come and take up our valuable time.

N. B.—Cancers, tumors, ulcers, all blood, skin and scalp diseases cured by an entire new method. Files cured in from 5 to 30 days without the knife. Office hours 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. (9-12)

A TAME GROUSE

He Comes When Called and Likes the Report of a Gun.

A tame grouse, the result of an interesting experiment in natural history, can be seen at Tullimet, in Perthshire. Four years ago Mr. Young, the keeper there, reared some grouse, and, being a student of natural history, he took special interest in a young cock, with the view of making it a pet.

On a recent visit to Tullimet we accompanied the keeper to the place where "Jock" was faithfully guarding his sitting mate. On the keeper calling out: "Are you there, Jock?" he readily responded from a distance of about a couple of hundred yards.

The report of a gun has no terrors for "Jock"—in fact, he seems rather to enjoy it. Near his home on the moor is a mountain tarn, and butts are placed near it, in which sportsmen conceal themselves in order to shoot ducks driven over them.

THE BERBERS OF MOROCCO.

An Unconquered and Unconquerable People of the Mountains.

The character of the Berber is almost as great a contrast to that of the Arab as his language. Like mountaineers all the world over, his race has proved unconquerable, and it has defied for a thousand years the nation which has dominated the plains with ease.

Some needed improvements will shortly be made on Pine street, between Division and Johnston streets. A new sidewalk will be put in, extending from Division street to James Clancy's residence.

Ishpeming's McKinley and Hobart Club Installed in Fine Quarters.

An Enthusiastic Meeting Held There Saturday Evening.

The headquarters of the Ishpeming McKinley and Hobart club on the lower floor of the Jenks block was very appropriately dedicated Saturday evening. Several members of the club spent Saturday arranging the furniture, etc., so that the place now presents an inviting appearance.

The meeting Saturday evening was a boom for the club. No formal announcement of a program had been made but despite this the room was crowded with voters.

William Prickett, president of the club was in the chair. The meeting opened with a campaign song by the Swedish McKinley club. Later in the evening the club sang more songs, which were well received.

Al. K. Sedgwick, Ishpeming's youngest attorney, was the next speaker introduced. He was introduced as a representative of the Democratic element in the club.

Mr. Wagner spoke at length on the effect the Wilson tariff law has had on the manufacturing interests of this country, and particularly of Cleveland, where he has had an opportunity of seeing how it has operated.

Mr. Wagner does not profess to be an orator but his effort here Saturday evening was proof that he has been on the platform before. He was highly complimented on his talk by the officers of the club and was given a hearty invitation to address the voters here again before the close of the campaign.

After a few remarks by George Tucker, in which he invited the citizens of the city to call and make themselves at home in the club's headquarters, and another selection by the Glee club, the meeting adjourned, with cheers for McKinley and Hobart.

Some needed improvements will shortly be made on Pine street, between Division and Johnston streets. A new sidewalk will be put in, extending from Division street to James Clancy's residence.

NARROW ESCAPE.

A Miner's Adventure with Frontier Desperadoes.

At Kendrick, Idaho, lives an old man named William Dodge. He is a survivor of the days of prosperous placer mining in Montana and Nevada, 35 years ago, and, though a man of peace himself, he had many desperate adventures with the criminals who ranged the mining regions in those days, intent on securing the wealth which others had accumulated by industry.

One winter he heard of rich diggings over on the Hell Gate, and went there alone on snowshoes. He did extremely well for a time, sometimes taking as much as $75 out of a single pan. Afterwards, returning to Bannock City, he fell in with several desperadoes, among whom were the notorious Buck Stinson and Charley Reeves.

Dodge started one day for Virginia City on his horse, and stopped for the night at the cabin of an innkeeper named Prickett, paying a dollar for the privilege of sleeping on the floor. After he had curled up under his blankets in a corner, a man, unknown to him, came in and asked for the privilege of rolling in with him, as he, the stranger, had no blanket. Such a request Dodge could not refuse, as the season was winter and the weather cold.

Dodge was next the wall. His companion soon gave every sign of being fast asleep, and so did Dodge; but he was wide-awake. There was no light in the room, but the night was starry without, and the cabin was not "chinked," so that a little of the light filtered through.

Not long after Dodge had apparently fallen asleep a horseman rode up to the door, and presently Dodge heard him ask Prickett in a whisper if he, Dodge, were there. The questioner, as Dodge soon discovered, was Buck Stinson. Prickett, without a word, indicated the place where Dodge was lying, tucked in behind the other man.

Two or three times Dodge saw the dim form of Stinson passing up and down beside him. Evidently the other man was not a confederate, for no communication seemed to pass between him and Stinson. The man was, moreover, to all appearances, sound asleep.

By and by a second horseman appeared. There was whispered talk between him and Stinson, and Dodge knew that the newcomer was Charley Reeves. He, too, walked past the seeming sleepers, but did nothing; if he paired wished to kill Dodge, he evidently did not care to kill the other man, too.

Charles Young left Friday evening for Watertown, Wis., where he will work in the Commercial Hotel, which is now under the management of H. F. Hildenbrand, recently clerk at the Nelson House.

The members of the Ishpeming Cycling club will go out for a moonlight run this evening, leaving the Nelson House at 8 o'clock. A meeting will be held at the A. O. U. W. hall at the conclusion of the run.

George Nail, a young married man, well known in Negaunee, was found dead in his bed yesterday noon.

How long he had been dead is a matter of conjecture, but when found he was stiff and cold.

Repeating knocking failed to rouse the sleeper. Fearing the worst, Louis gave the door a vigorous kick and broke it in.

Investigation held last night showed the suicide theory of the death to be correct, and Paris green to have been the fatal agent used.

But you ask, where is it? Where can I see it? It is in Yellowstone Park at Mammoth Hot Springs. It is one of the lesser, mind you the lesser—wonders of this land of wonders.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION.

"What outrageous conduct!" exclaimed Mrs. Fielding, gazing at her daughter with wide opened eyes.

"Very extraordinary!" agreed Ethel. "I never heard of such a thing in my life!"

"I should hope not!" returned Mrs. Fielding. "What would your poor, dear father have said if, during his lifetime, a young man had come to propose for your hand, and, on being refused by you, had expressed his intention of staying in the house until you accepted him?"

"Frightfully!" Ethel assured her, "frightfully firm, and you should just see what a chin he has. It would make three of mine!"

"What did you say?" asked Mrs. Fielding.

"What could I say? I've already told you everything. I met him, as you know, at Merchant-Mainwaring's, and after our first introduction, saw him almost every day during the following month. The night before I came home he proposed to me, and I—well, you know what I said. He then declared his intention of asking me again every six months, and didn't seem to care in the least when I assured him that my answer would be just the same, however many times he asked. Well, it is exactly six months to-day since—the first time I told him that I couldn't think of marrying."

"And he expressed his intention of staying here in the house till you said 'Yes'?" put in Mrs. Fielding.

Ethel nodded.

"Then," was Mrs. Fielding's decision, "we must send for the police."

"Oh, no—no—no—no!" ejaculated Ethel, springing up. "Please don't do that. He's sure to go. He—he's very gentlemanly, mother, and I'm sure he'll behave himself if he does stop. Besides, if he fought the policemen (and I am sure he would fight them) there would be such a scandal!"

Yes, Mrs. Fielding agreed that the affair would give Market Norbury a month's food for little tattle, if the strong arm of the law were to intervene.

"I will see the young person myself!" exclaimed the elder lady, majestically.

"Don't be harsh, mother," said Ethel, blushing a little, "because, after all, you know, he's—"

"Head over heels in love with you?" Of course, rejoined Mrs. Fielding. "Of course he is. If he weren't I should suspect him of having designs on the plate. Leave him to me, Ethel!"

So saying, Mrs. Fielding swept magnificently into the drawing-room.

But severe as was her tone and stern her mien, Dick Waterbury declined to budge. He apologized for the gross rudeness of his decision, but, nevertheless, refused to spike his guns and retire.

During the altercation Mrs. Fielding discovered that he was a young gentleman of twenty-five, with an ample income, and a small country seat that stood sadly in need, of some one to look after it.

Twenty minutes later Mrs. Fielding returned to her daughter.

"My reasoning had no effect whatever," she informed Ethel; "none whatever. I suppose he must remain. He may be in a more sensible frame of mind in the morning. Don't let the servants know anything about the real state of things, and say his luggage will arrive in due course."

The result was: (1) That Mr. Richard Waterbury gained his point and stayed at Pleasant View. (2) That only his fixed determination to win Ethel Fielding would have led him to take such a desperate step. (3) That Ethel by no means deceived her maternal judgment when she expressed herself indignantly about Dick and his resolution. (She let slip his name—"Dick"—several times unthinkingly.) (4) That it was the general opinion in the kitchen that the gentleman who had come so suddenly—without any luggage—was a "man in possession."

That he seemed to the kitchen a very well dressed man in possession. (6) That the gentleman immediately sat down and wrote a long letter which was given to the housemaid to post. (7) That he wired to another address for some clothes. (8) That the letter was addressed to Mr. John Blunt, Friar's Court, Temple, London. And (9) that in the opinion of the kitchen, "Friar's Court" sounded like a low place for any gentleman's friends to live in.

A few seconds later Dick returned, his dressing gown half torn off his back. "He got away," he exclaimed; "but he didn't take anything. I'll get some things on and be off to the police station."

The women gazed at their hero with fond admiring eyes. Once again they breathed freely. Slowly they moved upstairs—all but Ethel.

"Are you hurt?" she asked him, with infinite tenderness in her voice. "Only a bruise or two," he replied. "I'll soon set the police on his track. But first—"

"I said I would not leave the house," he began.

Ethel looked swiftly up the stairs to make sure they two were unobserved. Then she bent forward, quickly breathed "Yes" in his ear, and fled to her room.

The police never caught the burglar, who got back to Friar's Court quite safely, after catching the earliest train from a roadside station six miles from Market Norbury.

Ethel quite meant "yes," and in due time was married to the "man in possession," much to the cook's and housemaid's wonderment.

And Mr. John Blunt, reading the wedding announcement, chuckled softly to himself.

"It was a good idea of Dick's!" was all he said.—Tit-Bits.

—Who gives a trifle meanly is meaner than the trifle.—Lavaux.

was addressed to that low place, Friar's Court, Temple.

So, by the time Dick had been located at Pleasant View seven days, he was quite on friendly—nay, intimate—terms with his hostess and her daughter.

Every morning when he met the latter at the breakfast table (seizing an opportunity, of course, when Mrs. Fielding was not present) he had asked: "Well?" and Ethel had shaken her head very determinedly, and made the most of the exceedingly dimpled chin, which only represented one-third of Mr. Waterbury's. During the whole of that week Dick had never once been out. The kitchen commented severely on this point. It savored more of the "man in possession" than anything else he had done.

"He's been sent, and he's got to stop," was the cook's verdict. "And mistress is making the best of a bad job by treating him as a gentleman guest. I've always understood that the poor master left her comfortable off, and I can't understand how she's lost her money. I suppose it's a mine or something. Thank goodness! I've got all my little savings wrapped up in a stocking and locked in my box!"

Seven days had gone—the seventh night had come, and still Ethel remained obdurate. But she paid, her mother noticed, considerable attention to her toilet, and wore her prettiest dresses.

What was that?

Mrs. Fielding sat up, bathed in cold perspiration.

What was there it was again—a scratching on the window. She listened—her heart beating a wild tattoo against her ribs. Yes—there again—somebody was trying to break in!

Only a sliding door separated Mrs. Fielding's room from her daughter's. Her teeth chattering in time with the wild throbbing of her pulses, Mrs. Fielding crept out of bed and, the sliding door being partly open, into her daughter's room. Ethel was slumbering peacefully, but a touch woke her. There was a hurried explanation in whisper from Mrs. Fielding, and then the two women, clutching each other for comfort, stole into the outer bedroom and once more listened. The scratching had ceased, and only the shuffling sound could be heard; then there were footsteps on the gravel walk, and then the scullery window (which was immediately beneath) was shot up with a force that denoted a careless haste on the part of the midnight intruder.

"A burglar!" exclaimed Ethel, pale to the lips, for she was only 19, and an ordinary girl with ordinary nerves. Unconsciously her lips formed the word "Dick!"

"I'll wake Mr. Waterbury," said Mrs. Fielding. She tripped swiftly out of the room, down the passage, and rapped at her guest's door.

In almost less time than it takes to relate it, Dick found himself standing at his door, in dressing gown and trousers, trying to instill some calmness into the troubled breasts of Mrs. Fielding, her daughter, the cook and the housemaid—for Mrs. Fielding had aroused the servants, there being comfort in numbers, even scared ones.

"Stop here," said Dick. "I'll go down. If he doesn't use arms I can manage him!"

So saying, he moved quietly downstairs, and the women, afraid to be left by themselves, followed him at a respectful distance. A few moments, and the darkness had swallowed up Dick's form. An anxious interval followed, during which nothing could be heard. Suddenly there was a crash of crockery and a savage exclamation. Then another crash. Then a whole series of crashes. The cook and housemaid shrieked with fright. Mrs. Fielding grasped the banisters and trembled. Ethel trembled, too, for Dick. Yes, for Dick. She loved him, she knew it now. His life was in peril.

A desperate fight was going on in the passage leading to the kitchen. The women could dimly discern the forms of the two men, who, breathing in short quick gasps, were struggling furiously for the mastery. Backward and forward they swayed, with clenched teeth and straining muscles. Still the women dared not move. The couple had fought their way down to the extreme end of the passage, and were close to the scullery door. Suddenly a pistol shot rang out, there was a cry, a splintering of wood and a crash of glass, and the two vanished.

STORM MADE TROUBLE.
Friday night's storm was to blame for several minor mishaps on the lake. Two of these resulted in bringing steamers into Marquette.

The Anchor line freighter Alaska had a rough experience, and but for the efforts of Captain Martin, it is said would have furnished the underwriters with opportunity to pay a total loss. The vessel came in here going up Friday evening, and got away about ten thirty. Two or three hours later when opposite Big Bay Point a steam pipe leading from the boiler to the electric light engine broke. It broke so close to the boiler, and the steam being at 60 pounds pressure, rushed out so fast that no one could stand to go near it and turn the valve and cut off the escaping steam. The result was that the steam ran out of the boilers, and the pressure fell to less than twenty pounds, not enough to run the engine. When the captain saw what had happened he put right out in the lake as long as the screw would turn, but when the steam ran low the vessel fell in the trough of the sea.

She was light and rolled frightfully, and a cargo of barrels of tar and cocconut oil which were stowed forward on the main deck began to roll from side to side. Some deckhands were sleeping on the freight at the time, but they made their escape as soon as the barrels began to roll. If they had not they would have surely been killed. The barrels in their rolling crashed into a consignment of stoves, several hundred cases of patent medicine bottles, and some miscellaneous package freight. As the freight room became cleared of the lighter stuff the barrels fell like so many battering rams against the side at each roll of the sea. Three gangways were broken out and a hole punched in the side of the ship.

It was about twenty minutes or half an hour after the vessel went in the trough of the sea before the broken pipe could be repaired and steam enough gotten up to run the propeller. When the boat got headway again she was almost upon the rocks. She was turned about and brought back to Marquette to wait until the sea went down. She got in port about six in the morning. During the day she was visited by several hundred people who inspected with much interest the hole punched in her side, and the conglomerate condition of her cargo.

After the sea went down she put out again for Hancock. She will discharge her load there and proceed to Duluth where she will go in drydock.

LOST HER TOW.

The Sir Henry Bessemer, the mammoth new ore carrier of the Rockefeller fleet, put into port Saturday night to wait for her tow, the James Nasmyth, with which she parted company at 4 o'clock Saturday morning. She was towing with a wire cable. It is supposed the cable slipped off the towing post of the steamer, because it was drawn on board the barge complete. The schooner was gotten by the tug Gillen off Presque Isle in the forenoon Sunday and brought into harbor. A short time later the Bessemer and her consort started up the lake. They are on their way from Lake Erie to Ashland in ballast. The steamer has 1,500 tons of water on board and the barge 1,400. The Bessemer is a recent addition to the Rockefeller fleet. The boat is one of the monsters of the lakes. As it is the first time the boat has been into Marquette she attracted considerable attention.

Too Beefy for Marquette.

Football drew well at its opening game of the season here Saturday. The crowd which attended the game was quite as large as witnessed any contests on the gridiron last fall.

Marquette lost. Beef won the victory, assisted by the decisions of Umpire Krogman of Negaunee. An advantage of ten pounds a man was too much for the Marquette eleven to overcome, and the score resulted 20 to 0 in favor of the visitors, much to the disappointment of the partisans of the local high school team.

The home eleven started in well, and in the first five minutes got the ball up within a few yards of Ishpeming's goal, and nothing but a piece of rank sniping prevented a touch down. Ishpeming was given the ball, then the Hematite boys began their bucking tactics. Bucking is their long suite. That's where their beef comes in. The Marquette boys made a stubborn resistance, but the additional weight of the visiting team was too much for them to stand against and they were shoved down to the opposite end of the gridiron. Ishpeming then got a touch down, the first of the game, and kicked goal, making 6 to 0. This touchdown and goal were the only two points made in the first half, and after twenty-five minutes of hard scrimmage, time was called.

Ishpeming started on the aggressive when the second half began and in the first five minutes secured a touchdown, but failed to kick goal. This of course brought the score 10 to 0. In spite of a stubborn resistance they secured the second touchdown. The ball was blocked. At this juncture the score was 14 to 0. Six more points were secured for the visitors by the last touchdown and first goal of the half.

The air rang with the jubilant "yell" of the victorious team assisted by a large contingent of its high school who came down to see the game.

All those who witnessed the game unite in the statement that the Ishpeming team excelled the local eleven only in "bucking" in which their weight gave them a great advantage. Their captain recognized the strength of his team and kept it working in a line where it was sure. Marquette discounted the Ishpeming on end plays and tackling, but it needs a few more games before the eleven will work at its best together. Primeau did some good running, and Hodgkins and Pendill were strong on the tackle.

Bryan Club Formed.
Friends of W. J. Bryan, and the white metal which the gifted Nebraskan champions, met in the opera house Saturday night to form a silver club which bears the name of the Democratic nominee for the presidency.

Arrangements for the meeting had been made but a short time in advance. It had been announced in the Saturday morning's issue of THE MINING JOURNAL and dodgers were distributed that forenoon. The crowd that turned out was a complimentary surprise to the managers of the meeting. Before it closed the parquet was well filled, and the audience numbered fully six times as many as were on hand to participate in the birth of the McKinley and Hobart club.

After the selection of temporary officials the purpose of the meeting was explained, and a group of local speakers held the platform for an hour and a half, representing in ten minute addresses the aims and interests of those who wish to see the white metal done justice and placed on a parity with gold.

The speakers were men who have formerly been allied, many of them, to opposing parties, but who have now taken a stand together to uphold and fight for a common interest. Democrat, Republican, Populist and labor elements were represented. All made speeches showing what from their point of view was the matter with the present financial system, and all united in the assertion that it was the demonization of silver.

While the last three of the eight speakers were addressing the meeting lists were circulated for the enrollment of members. There were 150 who signed during the meeting and fifty more were secured at its close. During the week the lists will be circulated, and the managers of the local campaign confidently assert that an enrollment of 500 will be secured within seven days.

The officers selected for the new club were John J. Dumond, president; Oscar Montieth, secretary, and Frank M. Moore, treasurer. In addition to these, sixteen vice presidents, two from each ward, were nominated and voted in. The club will meet again next Friday night.

Speaks Good Words.

Of the living whist performance which is to be given in the opera house Friday and Saturday nights, the Boston Globe says: "Dancing whist was rapturously received in Boston and the vast auditorium was packed with guests. This was Boston's first opportunity to see this game, which if not according to Hoyle, is according to one of the most fascinating of standards. The cards were shuffled and cut and dealt, after the tuneful fashion common to the game, every card having a pas cut of her or his own to carry whither he will. Cold type cannot begin to do justice to the bewitching features of the game. The antics and capers of the Jaeks brought down the house, while no single trick was more effective than that in which the queen orders off her trio of captives. The many special dances lent zest to the game, which concluded amid a storm of applause." Tickets for the entertainment are on sale at Bigelow's. The prices are popular, parquet 50 cents, balcony 35 cents and gallery a quarter.
