Chamois Jackets

Protection.

"An ounce of protection is equal to a pound of cure." Those who appreciate this fact wear a Chest Protector of some sort. For years we have handled the "Frost King" line. They are well-made, warm and durable and are sold at reasonable prices. We have them for large and small. Have you thought of such protection? We also sell Chamois Skins of all sizes and those economically bent can save something, though not much, by making their own protectors.

GREAT CRUSHES AT DECATUR AND SPRINGFIELD.

Principal Reception at Peoria in the Evening. Where He Addresses Three Big Meetings—Condemns Carlisle Affair.

THOUSANDS HEAR AND APPLAUD

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 23.—The greatest reception of the day was accorded Mr. Bryan when he arrived at Peoria this evening. At the depot a trolley car was in waiting, to which was attached a flat car covered with a canopy and ablaze with arc and incandescent lights. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan took positions on this car and were taken over a mile through a solid mass of cheering people. Three meetings were held at Peoria, one in the Tabernacle, which holds eight thousand when crowded as it was tonight; another in historic Rouses' Hall to an audience of two thousand, made up exclusively of trades union men, and the third on Court House square. At the Tabernacle Mr. Bryan spoke, in part:

"If any one tells you it is not dignified for me as a presidential candidate to speak in Peoria, tell the Republican critics that it was thirty-six years ago today that Abraham Lincoln spoke in this town as a candidate for the presidency, and there are many people in this county who have a high respect for Mr. Lincoln, notwithstanding the Republican party has about deserted him."

"I want to say that I condemn the disturbance at Secretary Carlisle's meeting as much as any disturbance offered at any silver meeting. Let each individual remember that no disgrace can be heaped by him upon other persons. Those who offer indignity to another injure themselves more than they do the object of their attack."

After recounting the fact that the rate of interest had been raised by the Bank of England and the Bank of France to sell, Mr. Bryan continued: "I want you to understand, business men of Peoria and Illinois, that these things, I think, conclusively prove that the stock of gold throughout the world is so small that the nations of the world are grabbing to get a share. This one little agitation proves to the people of the world that so long as gold is our only money there must be a constant disturbance, constant agitation, constant peril to the commercial fabric as gold goes from one nation to another. Our gold goes abroad and we become agitated and must issue bonds to bring that gold back or else lower the price to bring gold back that way."

Today there are men in this country who are as disloyal to our institutions as were the men who opposed the Declaration of Independence. There are men today who are preaching the same doctrine of servile acquiescence and under foreign dictation as were men teaching it more than one hundred years ago. And yet these men, not satisfied to so vote themselves, are attempting to disfranchise Americans and deprive them of the rights given by the Constitution and law of the United States. We can have no policy of our own until we can have a financial policy of our own."

In the two speeches which followed his Tabernacle speech Mr. Bryan discussed silver doctrine along the same general lines as pursued by him in other places. The regular train was taken out of Peoria at 11:30, and tomorrow morning the candidate will arrive at Ottawa.

MATTOON, Ill., Oct. 23.—Mr. Bryan's first Illinois speech was at Danville, where he quitted from a speech by Congressman Cannon some years ago upholding the free coinage of silver. Twenty-minute speeches were made at Paris and Charleston. At Sullivan, Bryan quoted Senator Allison as expressing the opinion that fraud was practiced in the passage of the demonetization act.

AWFUL CRUSH AT DECATUR.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 23.—A howling, shouting, cheering crowd welcomed the triple nominee to Decatur, where he was down for two speeches and an hour's stop. When the train pulled in a great crowd surrounded the car and it was with difficulty that Bryan reached the conveyance which was to take him to the places for speaking. Here the enterprising committee went the Charleston committee one better, and instead of having an ordinary vehicle a motorcycle was brought into use and the candidate was conveyed in this horseless carriage.

The crowd was the feature. It was a crush from start to finish, and when the platform at the court house square was reached it was impossible for the nominee to gain it. While the crowd was not so large as at many places the crush was the worst experienced in many days. The other carriages could not get within a hundred feet of that occupied by Bryan, and the crowd of shorthand men with the party and for the local papers could not get near enough to report the speech.

At the second speech, it was but a repetition. The candidate did not dare to leave the vehicle and the few police were powerless. The press correspondents could hear one word in fifty, perhaps, and they were lucky if they did that. The return to the depot was a continuous ovation and it was hard to keep the excited admirers of the nominee from breaking over the police and doing him bodily harm in their desire to show their affection.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 23.—The capital city of Illinois welcomed the Democratic nominee with a magnificent reception. Crowds numbered up into the tens of thousands listened to him and noisily demonstrated their affection and belief in the principles he advocates. The city was gaily decorated in honor of his coming and excursions from outlying towns helped to swell the crowds to such an extent that their proportions were immense. Mr. Bryan delivered two speeches at Springfield, one at the court house and the other in front of the state capitol. During his first speech Mr. Bryan said: "Free silver may triumph without the vote of Illinois, but with the vote of Illinois free silver can succeed. We may have enough electoral votes outside of Illinois, but we shall certainly have enough if we secure the vote of this great 'Empire state of the west,' and the electoral vote of the state of Illinois may turn upon the vote of a single citizen. I want you, therefore, when you come to cast your vote, to remember what responsibilities rest upon citizens this year."

Mr. Bryan commended Governor Altgeld, saying of all those who were defending the money of the Constitution, there were none doing it more heartily than the governor. From the state house, among other things, Mr. Bryan said: "I want you, if you are in earnest to restore the money of the Constitution, to work from tomorrow until the polls close to give a congress that believes in bimetalism and elect a legislature which will send a silver senator to Washington. I have been gratified to see the manner in which all the reform elements have been able to co-operate in this state this campaign. I am glad the silver Republicans, Democrats and Populists, instead of fighting with each other, are going to combine against the common enemy."

There were stops of five minutes at Petersburg and fifteen minutes at Havana. At the latter place, it transpired that it was the city where Bryan, in a debate on the money question, after being asked for a silver dollar by his opponent, turned the tables on his adversary by requesting a gold dollar, which he did not have, a story he has often used during the campaign. It was further shown his adversary was Hon. William E. Mason.

TRAIN HOLD-UP IN MISSOURI

Four Bold Bandits Do the James Act Within Twenty Miles of Kansas City.

Express Messenger Is Forced to Open the Safe but He Saves Money by a Clever Dodge

LOST PACKAGES OF JEWELRY.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23.—The passenger and express train on the Chicago & Alton due here from Chicago at 7 o'clock was held up and robbed by four masked men this evening at Blue Springs cut, between Independence and Glendale, Mo. The scene of the robbery is twenty miles from Kansas City. The train was flagged at the entrance to the cut. While two of the robbers stood guard over the coaches the other two covered the conductor, engineer and fireman with pistols and compelled them to go to the express car.

The robbers commanded the messenger to open the door of the car, threatening to break in the doors should he refuse. After some delay the robbers were admitted. They compelled the messenger to open the safe and extracted several packages.

MESSENGER OUTWITS ROBBERS.

The express messenger had surmised what the trouble was, and while the bandits were demanding admission he had opened the safe, taken out the money packages and tossed them into a chicken coop. When he admitted the robbers to the car the strong box contained but two or three packets of jewelry. Taking up the very little booty at hand the outlaws uncoupled the express car from the coach following it and then marched the prisoners to the locomotive, where they compelled them to sit down on the bank alongside the track. The outlaws then pulled out, running the locomotive several miles to within a mile of Independence, where they abandoned it.

As soon as the trainmen could walk to Independence the alarm was sent out. A deputy sheriff and posse left Independence at once and a squad of policemen was detailed from here, but it is thought the bandits are now safely out of the way. How much money the messenger saved by throwing it into the chicken coop the express company officials will not say.

There has been three hold-ups in the Blue Springs cut. The James gang held up a train there in 1881

BOOKED FOR MANY SPEECHES.

Bryan's Campaign in Chicago Will Be a Thorough One.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The greatest piece of personal campaigning ever done by a public man in a single city will be attempted by William J. Bryan in Chicago. The schedule as arranged shows that the triple nominee is to deliver five speeches the night of his arrival in the city Tuesday next, after speaking at probably a dozen points up the state on the road from Lincoln, Ill. The halls and tents have all been engaged for the undertaking. The next day, Wednesday, he delivers seven speeches; Thursday, eight speeches, and Friday probably more than any previous day—the exact limit has not yet been fixed. The aim of the candidate, apparently, is to place himself personally in contact to the extent of sight and hearing with the entire population of every corner of the 176 square miles of territory within the city limits of Chicago.

Death of ex-Secretary Delano.

CRISP CLAIMED BY DEATH

Ex-Speaker of the House Expires from Heart and Lung Trouble at Atlanta.

PASSED AWAY UNEXPECTEDLY YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Family at Beside When End Came but He Was Unable to Speak—Had Been Declining for Several Years.

NOTED PUBLIC MAN IS GONE.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 23.—Hon. Charles F. Crisp, ex-speaker of the house of representatives, died here this afternoon from heart disease.

Mr. Crisp had been in intense pain all day, but no danger was feared at such an early moment. His wife, together with a sanitarium nurse, was watching at the bedside. At a quarter to two, the patient was seized with another attack. The judge's two daughters, Mrs. Fred Davenport and Bertha Crisp, and his two sons, Charles F. Crisp, Jr., and Fred Crisp, were quickly summoned. When they entered the room Mr. Crisp was still unconscious. He gave them a look of recognition, breathed a few times and died. He could not speak.

Mr. Crisp had been declining for several years. His last illness, however, was occasioned by an attack of malarial fever, which was contracted at his home, Americus, a few weeks ago, but which itself yielded to treatment when he came to Atlanta. But when renewed health seemed within view, he was attacked by congestion of the lungs, which, added to the weakness of the lungs and heart, caused by two previous attacks of pleuro-pneumonia, resulted in his death.

Dr. Holmes in a statement says Mr. Crisp yesterday had a favorable day and was decidedly better than any day since Sunday night. The lung trouble yielded very satisfactorily to the treatment. Last night he was visited with very severe pains in the chest that occurred at short intervals. He continued to have these paroxysms until 1:45 this afternoon, when he suddenly expired, probably from rupture of the heart, as a result of fatty degeneration.

Definite arrangements have not been completed concerning the funeral, but it is understood today the body will ultimately rest at the old home in Americus among the people who loved so well to honor him.

BODY WILL LIE IN STATE.

It was decided late this evening that the body of the distinguished Georgian be removed tomorrow morning from the sanitarium to the state capitol, where it will lie in state until 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning, at which hour it will be transferred to a train and borne under an appropriate escort to Americus, where the funeral will take place Sunday afternoon.

ATLANTA, Oct. 23.—When Governor Atkinson heard the news of Crisp's death at the executive office he immediately ordered the flag over the capitol lowered to half mast. He said: "Mr. Crisp's death is particularly calamitous just at this time. I regarded him as the most conspicuous man before the nation of all southern men."

Ex-Secretary Hoke Smith said: "He had just fairly won before the people of Georgia a seat in the senate, and in that body would have added to his great national reputation, and I regret sincerely he had not been spared to fill it."

BRYAN DEEPLY GRIEVED.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 23.—William J. Bryan was shown a dispatch announcing the death of ex-Speaker Crisp when he boarded the train at Springfield this afternoon and expressed himself as greatly surprised and deeply grieved. He said: "While I have known Mr. Crisp was feeble in health, I had not thought his life as being in danger. His death will be a great loss to the Democrats of the nation, because he was one of the strongest men in public life. He was so kind to me during my four years in public that I feel his death a personal loss to me." Mr. Bryan immediately sent a dispatch of condolence to Mrs. Crisp.

WORK OF ORGANIZED MOB.

So Secretary Carlisle Regards His Reception at Covington.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 23.—Secretary Carlisle found himself the center of widespread attention today in consequence of the gross indignity offered him during his speech Thursday night at Covington. The first indications came from friends and neighbors anxious to assure him of their detestation of the outrage. Later messages began to arrive showing that similar feelings existed in other portions of the state. At length Mr. Carlisle was obliged to deny himself to callers to enable him to get rest and attend to his correspondence. Invitations were given Mr. Carlisle for speeches by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce and a delegation of gold Democrats from Walnut Hills. To all requests for speeches the secretary was obliged to give refusal, saying the speeches he has promised in Kentucky fully occupy all the time he can spare from public duties.

Speaking of last night's occurrence, Mr. Carlisle showed he regarded it as more than an accidental occurrence. In his opinion it was an organized mob. To wishes expressed that better treatment awaited him at the speeches he had yet to make, he replied: "It makes little difference to me. It is an illustration of what may be expected everywhere if the principles of the Chicago program prevail. Personal indignity, even personal violence, will hurt those who attempt it more than it can harm me."

The secretary left tonight in order to meet an engagement at Bowling Green, Ky., tomorrow.

MORAL ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

There is no doubt that money is very closely connected with many moral questions. Honesty is one of them, and an honest dollar is the foundation of our currency system. It cannot be a fifty-cent dollar, neither can it be a 150-cent dollar. An honest dollar is a plain, 100-cent dollar, and in accordance with the policy established by our fathers, and which ought to be re-established by the present generation. This honest dollar should be expressed by 412 1/2 grains of silver and by 25 8/10 grains of gold. Of course any paper dollar issued for convenience which is redeemable in coin, and which is redeemed by a policy of justice, that uses either gold or silver dollars in that redemption, is all right. No one who believes in sound money, in honest money, wants a paper dollar which is not redeemable in coin.

A dishonest dollar, which of course, is an immoral dollar, would be one which is made so dear by law or by practice that it takes an unfair amount of human energy and its products to obtain that dollar. It is an immoral dollar when the creditor who holds the bonds of the government or the bills of the government has so contrived to change the law and the policy as to make the people pay a dollar and a half for each dollar contracted for. This is equally as immoral as it would be for the debtor to demand that the creditor should receive one-half of what was named in his contract. It is under the free coinage and the honest use of gold and silver dollars that an honest dollar is produced. The high priced gold dollar should be brought down from its immoral position and the degraded silver dollar brought up, and then the two would meet on a plane of common honesty and moral rectitude. That is the kind of a dollar we are demanding, that is the kind of a dollar we expect to see made in the United States, indorsed, used, accepted and paid out. No other dollar is an honest dollar. A gold dollar cannot be an honest dollar so long as the law provides for paying obligations in gold or silver, while the policy of the government is to dishonor the silver dollar, and so long as we still have debts that were contracted under bimetalism.

We clip this from that veracious gold bug organ, the Menominee Herald:

The Bryan meeting in Marquette was a total failure, and many people left the hall before the speech was finished. The people of that city have no use for Bryan or his popocratic manager.

Now the Herald knew better than that, for it exchanges with THE MINING JOURNAL and could have learned from its account of the Bryan meeting here that it was a magnificent demonstration. Mr. Bryan was so pleased with it that he spoke for an hour and a quarter here, when his original intention was to speak only thirty minutes. And as to many persons leaving the hall before his speech was finished, the fact is that it was an open air meeting, and there is not a hall in the upper peninsula large enough to hold the immense gathering that assembled to hear Mr. Bryan and hung on his words until he had concluded, cheering him to the echo while he spoke and urging him to "go on" when he ceased speaking. Perhaps the Herald imagines that he is making votes for McKinley by lying about Bryan and his meetings, but we doubt if it is doing anything more than establishing a most undesirable reputation for reckless mendacity.

ANENT the numerous questions about Bryan propounded by the Rev. T. Cory-Thomas, the editor of THE MINING JOURNAL desires to say that he has no wish to influence the political action of the reverend gentlemen. The vote which he will deposit in the ballot box will count for no more than that of any ordinary man with an un-hyphenated name, and this paper cannot spare space for a discussion of the financial question with the sole view of gaining one vote, even though that vote be glittered and odoriferous with sanctity. THE MINING JOURNAL has never denied or questioned the right of clergymen to take an interest in politics, or to vote for the party and candidates of their choice. It holds, instead, that it is their duty to do this. What it objects to is to having them use their office to sway the action of those under their charge spiritually, by advising these that it is their duty, as members of the church to which they belong, to support this party or that. If Mr. Cory-Thomas had questions that he wished Mr. Bryan to answer he had a chance to fire them off at the candidate himself when he was in this county. Why didn't he do it?

GOVERNOR RICH doesn't believe that either party has got Michigan yet. He has been through a good portion of the state recently, looking the situation over, and on his return to Lansing he made this statement to a newspaper reporter: It is notably true that conditions are such this year as to make political predictions largely guess work. I think a very large percentage of the voters are still undecided in their own minds as to what they will do. The interest in the issues is still maintained, the people still turn out well at political meetings and there is still room for lots of telling campaign work. The campaign won't be over until election day this year.

The governor said that he found the Republicans hopeful everywhere, but the conditions mentioned by him make anything in the way of a canvass or poll of the voters "scarcely better than guessing." Which is doubtless the case. The claims put forth by the various committees alleged to be based on polls taken in counties and states are nothing more nor less than bluster, intended to deceive.

NATURAL COLD STORAGE.

Perfect Preservation of Food for Birds in the Arctic Regions.

Many inventions follow nature's lead, only they lag far behind. The cold storage of fruit is a modern device for the supplying of man with fruit long after the fruit-ripening season is over; but nature had done the same thing from time immemorial. The Spectator tells how Mr. Henry Seebohm, a famous English ornithologist, surprised from nature her secret and discovered her great cold storage system.

In the course of his researches he was led to visit the Petchora river, which flows from the Ural mountains into the Arctic ocean near Nova Zembla. Along the lower part of the river he found what seemed a most uninviting district—an uninhabited, treeless swamp, stretching on either side of the stream, and known as the tundra. Higher up the river was the great Siberian forest, but here in the tundra was nothing but hard, frozen snow. Yet this unattractive spot was found to be the summer home of half the bird population of the old world.

Mr. Seebohm reached it in the beginning of April. Forest and tundra were as bare of life as the Desert of Sahara, but a change was coming. Suddenly summer broke over the scene, and with it came the birds. The ice in the river split and disappeared, the banks steamed in the sun, and innumerable birds of all sizes and colors appeared within 48 hours after the first warmth. The once frozen tundra now showed itself to be a moor, with here and there a large bog and numerous lakes. It was covered with moss, lichens, heath-like plants, dwarf birch and millions of acres of cloudberry, cranberries and crowberries. This was the storehouse of the feathered tribes.

The perpetual sun of the Arctic summer causes the plants to bear in wonderful profusion, so that fruit is abundant. But fruit-bearing does not come before blossoming, and blossom and fruit cannot be perfected in 48 hours. The little travelers were arriving by thousands. The fruit would not be ripe until the middle or end of the Arctic summer, and if the birds had to wait till then they must needs starve.

Not so, however, does nature provide for her pensioners. Long before the snow melted provision had been made for their maintenance. Beneath the snow lay the whole crop of last year's fruit, perfectly preserved by nature's system of cold storage.

Each year, when the berries are ripe, and before the birds can gather them, the snow descends upon the tundra, effectually covering the crop and preserving it in perfect condition until the spring sun melts the snow and discloses the bushes loaded with ripened fruits, or, in some cases, the ground beneath the plants covered with the fallen treasure, waiting for the hungry strangers. Nature's cold storage is never a failure. —Popular Science News.

Must Be Good at Dodging, Too. "Paw," asked Tommy, "what is a bicycle meet?" "Most any old pedestrian is likely to be bicycle meet if he can't look two ways at once," said Mr. Figg. —Indianapolis Journal.

"Cardinal" Talks Back. To the Editor—"Pope" in his attempts to justify his attack on Bryan is like the speaker who the Irishman said "opened his mouth and put his foot in it." I am glad, though, that he admits the tariff is not the cause of the depression and congratulate him that he is to that extent headed in the right direction.

Now "Pope" plainly says he is of the belief that the panic was largely due, almost wholly due, to the excessive coinage of silver. I beg to quote him to President Harrison's message to congress on Dec. 1st, 1890, wherein he says:

"The enlargement of our currency by the silver bill undoubtedly gave an upward tendency to trade, and had a marked effect on prices, but this desirable effect of the silver legislation was by many erroneously attributed to the tariff reform." I also beg leave to refer him to William McKinley's speech, delivered before the Republican club at Toledo, O., in 1891, wherein he denounced in unmeasured terms Cleveland's determined efforts to limit the use of silver and thereby "make money scarce, and therefore dear."

As to "Pope's" second proposition, that a run on the United States was begun, I assert, and this assertion is backed by the fact that the National Bankers' Association has never dared deny the statement, although made by Mr. Schuchler, private secretary to Salmon P. Chase, our great War Secretary of the Treasury, and widely published, that the banks of New York precipitated the panic by retaining peremptorily one-third of their circulation and calling in one half their gilt loans on Wall street and the exchanges, after direct consultation with Mr. Cleveland through his assistant secretary of the treasury, Mr. Jordan of New York, and after our doughty fisherman President found he could not whip congress into line to repeal the silver purchasing clause. The National Bankers Association went further and sent to all their correspondent banks the following circular:—

DEAR SIR—The interests of national bankers require immediate financial legislation by congress. Silver, silver certificates and treasury notes must be recalled and national bank notes upon a gold basis made the only money. This will require the authorization of from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 of new bonds as a basis of circulation. You will at once retire one-third of your circulation and call in one-half of your loans. Be careful to make a money stringency felt among your patrons, especially among influential business men. Advocate an extra session of congress to recall the purchasing clause of the Sherman law and act with the other banks of your city in securing a large petition to congress for its unconditional repeal, per accompanying form. Use personal influence with congressmen and particularly at your wishes be known to your senators. The future life of national banks as fixed and safe investments depends upon immediate action, as there is an increasing sentiment in favor of government legal tender notes and silver coinage.

One of our local bankers, when in the Republican headquarters, was publicly asked if he could deny any of the above statements and was frank enough to admit that in all honesty he could not. My friend "Pope" likewise forgets or refuses to admit that for years Mr. Bryan has always put in his hardest work in the effort to secure free silver legislation, and has always subordinated everything to that issue, even during the heat of the tariff debate making strong speeches for legislation for a larger volume of currency. If "Pope" will refer to Mr. Bryan's position as shown in the Congressional Record covering his term of office he will find there ample proof of the above.

I stated that both the fact that three years deficit in the treasury and also the notorious agricultural depression showed that the twenty years had not been prosperous years. Therefore we deny that Pope has any right to use the fact of England's having an excess of revenue as a sign of her prosperity, when it is well and widely known that the condition of her lower and middle classes, as well as those of Germany and Sweden, was never so bad as at the present day.

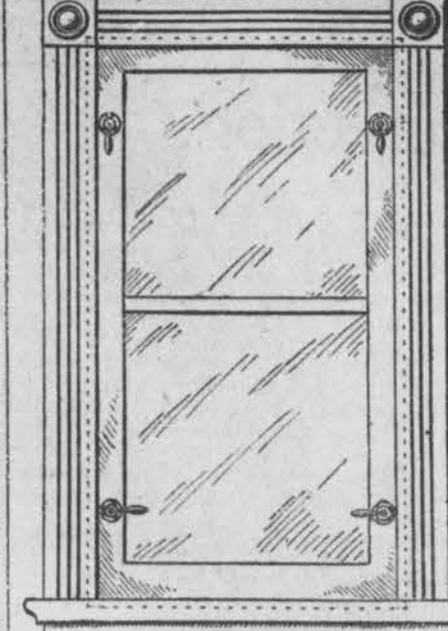

When Pope says the United States cannot do what it already has done, he is evidently afraid we are losing ground. We held the two metals at a parity before silver was demonetized, and it came back in price to nearly the same point under a limited purchasing law, and stayed there until the law was changed, or there was absolute certainty that it would be changed. France, with only one-tenth of the banking power of the world, held the two metals at a parity or nearly so for a hundred years. We, with thirty-five per cent of the banking power of the world, can do as well. An unlimited market with a fixed price for a commodity establishes the price throughout the world.

As to "hoarded money," granting the use of the word which he tries to limit me to, he overlooks the fact that even then, under our present currency system, a dollar gains and has gained in the last twenty years at the rate of two and one-half per cent per annum in purchasing power, according to the best English and German statisticians. But he well knows that the last few years put their cash into fixed investments where with a high rate of interest and the steady growth in purchasing power they can get better returns than in ordinary business ventures. To increase the volume of money and thus break this "corner" would oblige capitalists to put their money into manufacturing enterprises, etc., in order to realize any returns. This would reopen our mills and give immediate market for labor.

"Pope" is sadly misinformed if he imagines that in a way of thinking, and I fear that in the seclusion of his cloister, and with the narrow outlook from his windows, he has not seen or recognized the overwhelming odds against him. I only hope that he may enlarge his field of vision beyond the narrow circle it now includes, lest he wakes to a very disagreeable conviction of his error next November. CARDINAL.

POLITICS GETTING HOT. COPPERDOM BREVITIES.

Seven Big Rallies Throughout the County Thursday Evening. Thursday night was a record breaker in point of political gatherings, seven being held throughout the county, and all addressed by outside orators. At Quincy fully 300 voters turned out to hear Hon. F. C. Chamberlain of Ironwood. Mr. Chamberlain spoke for over an hour on the tariff and money questions and also severely arraigned Bryan for attempting to raise a class issue. His remarks drew forth rounds of applause. Short addresses were also made by Messrs. Stevens and Shields and Dr. Abrams.

At Hancock, St. Patrick's Hall was crowded. State Senator Hopkins of Mount Pleasant, was the speaker, and his remarks in advocacy of the white metal were received with much enthusiasm. Rev. Flavius Probst, the pastor of a Chicago Presbyterian church and a life long Republican, spoke to a large audience at the Red Jacket Opera House in defense of silver. He delivered a scholarly address. He claimed he did not leave the Republican party, but the party had left him. He cited public utterances of Lincoln, Blaine, Garfield and McKinley to prove his assertion. He also referred to the Republican platforms of 1888 and 1892, in which that party declared for bimetalism. His speech was warmly received, and by a great many was considered the best thus far delivered in the county in favor of silver.

At Italian Hall, Calumet, Congressman J. M. Farquhar of Buffalo and George Harris, ex-president of the Labor Federation of Pennsylvania, addressed a large and very enthusiastic meeting. Mr. Harris does not pretend to be an orator, but makes a plain talk on the benefits that would follow McKinley's election. He addresses himself particularly to laboring men, and his remarks were fully appreciated by those present that evening. Large silver meetings were addressed at Crover by Peter Brecon and at Dollar Bay by William Shefelbin, both of Butte, Mont.

The tug Hennes conveyed a large party to Portage Entry, where an enthusiastic Republican rally was addressed by C. D. Hanchette of Hancock and others. The silverites of Hancock were so pleased with the address delivered by Senator Hopkins Thursday evening that a telegram was sent yesterday to the state central committee asking that he be given dates at Calumet and Lake Linden.

Messrs. Larson and LeGendre received an invitation to hold a joint debate on the money question last night at the Congregational church, Calumet, where a church social was in progress. United States Senator Lee Mantle is expected to address the voters of Calumet Tuesday evening on behalf of silver. Hon. F. C. Chamberlain will address the voters of Calumet tonight.

Watermelon Day in Colorado. Watermelon day is the oldest and most noted of the autumn festivals of the state. From a village picnic it has grown to be a recognized event of the fall season, and its coming is always joyously anticipated by thousands of people. It was fixed this year for Thursday, September 3, and the celebration was held on the second day of the great Arkansas valley fair, which was in progress at Rocky Ford on September 2, 3 and 4. Great preparations were made for the entertainment of the usual crowd of visitors. The melon crop was never larger, the cantaloupes being especially fine this year. The crop is also earlier than usual, and is being shipped as far east as St. Louis. One day recently there was a shipment of 20,000 melons. There were thousands of melons for distribution free, and the usual programme of exercises, with racing on the fair grounds, so that the day could be most pleasantly spent.—Denver News.

The Big Four Minstrels. Society is on the qui vive of expectancy anticipating the appearance of the Big Four Minstrels next week Wednesday and Thursday nights at Houghton, when several representative ladies and gentlemen of Hancock and Houghton will make their initial appearance in black face. These society minstrel performances are quite the fad nowadays. The production, which is to be given under auspices of Company F, Houghton Light Infantry, has in addition to some of the best talent on Portage lake the professional assistance of Messrs. Waite and Paul, who furnish a variety of musical and comedy acts in the olio. The entire compliment of scenic and costume effects of the original Big Four Minstrels is also to be used, and for the performance will be a success is almost certain.

A HAPPY MEAN. A Medium Course the Best in the Matter of Diet. If a happy mean could be established between eating too little and eating too much the world would be a great deal happier, because its people would enjoy much better health, and the healthy person ought, at least, to be the happy one. Some people certainly eat too little. In many cases, it is sad to say, this is because they are unable to obtain a proper amount of the right sort of food—that which is best adapted to repair the natural wear and waste of the system. For this condition the remedy is not easy to designate; the most thoughtful minds have struggled in vain with the problem. But there are also good many persons who eat too much, and in their case the error is due either to ignorance, which may be corrected by education, or a reckless gluttony, which is a more difficult thing to deal with. The practical effect of this habit is summed up in the following common sense way by a writer in one of the health magazines: "There comes a time when men and women have stopped growing and are fat and plump, and they are as full of fat, internally, as they can be. If digestion is sharp and fat persons have enough bodily exercise to use up a good deal of energy every day, they seldom will be in danger from suffering an inconvenience from gluttony. When oxen or horses are required to perform hard service daily they may be fed all the grain and meal they will eat, and they will keep fat and well. But if kept in the stable without exercise they will soon get off their feed, get sick and die from being too fat and gluttony. It is exactly so with men and women who eat much more than enough to supply the actual waste of the body. The law of limitation prevents secreting any more fat. Then, as they do not use up any material at hard labor, there will be no demand for food to repair the waste of any part of the body. Consequently the energies of the body must be expended by way of efforts to throw off and leave out what has been eaten, as no part of the body was in need of any repairs. Hence people who do almost nothing will always be in danger of overeating, especially if they partake of heavy or very nutritious food. Many people force down an enormous meal of heavy food simply because it is meal time and others are eating, and they have a morbid desire to eat. So, as every article of food tastes good, they play the gourmand until they are literally full. Well, what is the result? Why, simply the energies of the stomach cannot digest such a large quantity at one time; and before one-fourth part of the contents of the stomach can be digested the larger portion expands and begins to ferment, instead of digesting; congestion is superinduced and death relieves the sufferer in a few minutes.—Good Health.

HAVE ENOUGH MONEY NOW

McKinley Says Opening of Mines and Mints Will Not Bring Good Times.

MORE OPPORTUNITY TO WORK WHAT IS NEEDED.

Start Idle Mills and Factories and Open Markets Which Have Been Closed—Can Be Done by Restoring Confidence.

TALKED TO MANY PILGRIMS.

CANTON, O., Oct. 23.—The first delegation to call on Major McKinley today was from New Castle and Loganport, Ind. Next came three hundred employees of the Santa Fe railroad in Kansas. A delegation of one hundred men and women, directors of the Poor & Charities association of Pennsylvania, were received this afternoon, followed by a delegation from Vanwert county, Ohio. To the Charities association delegation from Pennsylvania Mr. McKinley said, in part:

"Your spokesman well said that the way to decrease the poor list is opportunity for work, and if there is one thing more than another that the Republican party desires it is that every man beneath our flag who wants work shall have an opportunity to work. And when that opportunity is given him the Republican party means to see he receives payment for his work in good money. We want it understood, too, this is a government by law and that the courts, incorruptible as they are, have a high place in the affections of the American people, for they stand as a solid bulwark for free institutions."

FREE TRADE A FAILURE.

Major McKinley to the Armstrong county (Pa) delegation:

"You know by experience, from what you have suffered in your employments and your homes, what this doctrine of free trade has done for you. You know that four years ago you were enjoying a prosperity greater than you ever enjoyed before. It is their right, their privilege, the proud privilege of the people of the United States to inaugurate any public policy they believe is best for them. They have tried this policy, and they are called upon, or will be in the next ten days, to express judgment upon that change."

"Your county presents within its own borders the best possible evidences of what a protective tariff will do. Twenty-six years ago the people said there was something about the atmosphere here that prevented us manufacturing plate glass. And yet we have become almost the greatest manufacturing nation of plate glass of any in the world. You have demonstrated in your own county that we can manufacture tin-plate in the United States. The fact is, there is nothing that the people of the United States cannot do if you give them half a chance."

In his address to the Topeka delegation the major said, in part:

"There is not a railroad employe who has laid aside a hundred dollars that will not hold onto it until he knows what the future currency of the United States is to be. As you feel in regard to your savings, so men with thousands and millions of dollars under their control are unwilling to part with that money so long as there is a great party in this country threatening to repudiate not only the debts public but debts private; and, as I have said before, it does not make business, business makes money. Money does not bring work, work brings money."

WORK AND CONFIDENCE OUR NEED.

To the New Castle and Loganport (Ind.) delegations Mr. McKinley said, in part:

"If you started all the silver mines in this country, working their fullest capacity, you would not increase the demand for labor, corn or any American product, and would not increase wages. Everybody knows we never had such prosperous times as in 1892, and we have just as much money now as we had then. It is not lack of money that is at fault; it is the difficulty of putting men to work and creating markets for our products. What we want to do is to start our idle mills, start the factories and open the markets which have been closed. This we can do by restoring confidence, which has been lost."

Forecast of the Weather

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—10 p. m.—The weather bureau reports the following as its forecast for the next twenty-four hours: For upper Michigan: Light snows in morning, followed by fair weather; fresh westerly winds.

CURRENCY SYSTEMS REVIEWED.

Their Relation to Prices of Commodities and Wages of Labor.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The bureau of statistics of the state department has just published a volume of interest, entitled "The money and prices in foreign countries, being a series of reports upon the currency systems of various nations in relation to the prices of commodities and wages of labor." This work has been in preparation for months past through United States diplomatic and consular officers. The reviews were to cover the period between 1886 and 1896.

Two important facts seem to be established, that there has been a general decline in the prices of commodities, especially of certain raw products throughout the world. It is claimed, on one hand, this decline in prices is due to scarcity of money; on the other hand, it is attributed to the progress in invention and to increased production of both raw materials and manufacturers, causing a keener competition, with the inevitable accompaniment of lower prices. Second, that there has been a general advance in wages, especially marked in the leading industrial countries, all of which have either a single gold standard, or a double standard with a gold reserve.

PROPOSITIONS FROM BRITAIN.

Venezuelan Question Said to Be Nearer Solution Than Ever.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambassador, had a brief conference with Secretary Olney this morning and presented certain propositions regarding the Venezuelan controversy. It is stated authoritatively that the proposals are such that the Venezuelan controversy and general arbitration questions are nearer solution than ever before.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—It can be stated positively that no notes or negotiations of any kind have passed between Secretary Olney and Lord Salisbury since June 22 last, although reports to the contrary have appeared. The present negotiations on the Venezuelan matter will be resumed at the point where they were suspended at that date. The call of Sir Julian Pauncefote on Mr. Olney today was one of courtesy, to present his respects after his arrival, and the question of arbitration was not taken up except that arrangement was made for a formal meeting at the earliest moment. Mr. Olney might suggest.

WILL BUCK POLICE AND COURTS.

Chicago Silverites Bound to Parade on the Night of Oct. 31.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Judge Tuley today refused to issue an injunction restraining the chief of police from interfering with the silver parade on the night of Oct. 31. He held the court had no jurisdiction. License to parade was already granted by the chief of police to the Republicans for that evening. The Democratic leaders stated in open court today they will fight the police force or any one else who attempts to prevent them from parading that evening.

THEY CHANGE THEIR MINDS.

After pondering deeply over the matter the Democratic leaders have come to the conclusion to hold their proposed parade on the West side, instead of in the downtown business district, as originally intended. At a late hour the Democrats asked for and obtained a permit for a West side parade, and it was granted by the chief of police. The last chance for trouble has now disappeared.

NEGOTIATIONS A FAILURE.

Populist Electoral Ticket in Georgia is Formally Withdrawn.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 23.—The sub-committee of the Populist state central committee to whom was instructed the settlement of the fusion question tonight formally withdrew the Populist electoral ticket in Georgia. This is understood to be a result of the failure of the negotiations between Chairman Washburn in Chicago. The Populists will devote themselves to electing congressional candidates on which, it is said, they in several instances will have the assistance of the Republican vote.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 23.—Vice Presidential Candidate Watson arrived this morning and went to once to a hotel. The Populist western chairman, Washburn, and the Georgia state committee man, Reed, joined him and a long conference ensued. Reed this afternoon said there was no hope of fusion either in Tennessee or Georgia.

Moving Along Conservative Lines, Awaiting the Result of the Election.

INDUSTRIAL CONTRACTS CONDITIONAL UPON RESULT.

Dealings in Wheat the Principal Event of the Week—A Further Advance Predicted—The Pig Iron Market is Strong.

DUN AND BRADSTREET'S REPORTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Trade Review will tomorrow say:

The event of the week has been the sensational dealings in wheat. How great the shortage in ordinary European supplies may be is a point of doubt and speculation, but none now question that the shipments from the Pacific coast to India and the decrease in Russia's yield are important, and the buying of enormous quantities for export, with engagements for freight room at higher rates, express the belief of European dealers. Wheat exports from the Pacific coast are large, and over half a million bushels per day have been engaged ahead for some time. Atlantic exports are about nine hundred thousand bushels larger than last year for the week. It is worthy of note that western roads complain of a car famine, the demand for movement to the market is so great.

Corn moves largely at lower prices, having declined a cent for the week.

Cotton advanced a sixteenth to eight cents. Estimates of the yield vary from nine million bales to much less than eight million.

The most striking feature in industrial returns is the large number of contracts conditioned upon the election result. Leather has risen 1 1/2 per cent, with the general demand, though mostly in hemlock, sole and union.

Buying of Bessemer pig at Pittsburgh causes a slight advance, and all markets are strong for pig, but not for finished products. The tone of the market is better, and a decided increase in orders appears in plates, about three thousand tons for building vessels on the lakes and in structural work at the west. The association offers to sell iron until Nov. 6 to jobbers and large buyers at 1.05, while steel bars are selling largely at one cent. A reduction in nails is expected, but the nail season is over and the billet pool has little business.

A sale of about five million pounds has been made of lake copper at 10 1/2 cents to domestic consumers. Tin is a shade higher at 12 3/8 cents.

Failures for the week were 274 in the United States against 231 for the same week of last year.

BRADSTREET'S TRADE SUMMARY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—General trade continues along conservative lines, buyers and sellers preferring to defer business until after election. Traders are more hopeful as to the outlook for business later in the year and next spring. The small stocks of wheat in importing countries; the decrease in the world's total production of wheat for two years in succession; unexpected shortages in Russia, India, Argentina and Australia and only an average crop in the United States is interpreted to mean the price of wheat will advance further.

The total exports of wheat (flour included as wheat) from both coasts of the United States and from Montreal this week were not quite as large as last week, but heavier than the corresponding weeks for three preceding years, amounting to 3,823,000 bushels. Exports of Indian corn continue heavy, 50 per cent more than last week. Mercantile collections continue difficult, as heretofore, except in a few of the larger spring wheat states, where the rapid marketing of wheat has rendered funds plentiful.

The total bank clearings of the principal cities of the United States for the week were $1,044,869,062, a decrease of 0.3 per cent, compared with the corresponding week of last year.

FOUGHT TWENTY ROUNDS.

Creedon Gets the Decision in a Bout With Baker at Chicago.

MASPEH, L. I., Oct. 23.—The boxing contests tonight at the Empire Athletic club attracted three thousand persons to the club house. The principal bout was a twenty-round contest at catch weights between Dan Creedon of Australia and Henry Baker of Chicago. Peter Maher and Bob Fitzsimmons were among the most prominent sports at the ringside. After hard fighting Creedon got the decision in the twentieth round.

Fitzsimmons and Sharkey were matched today to box ten rounds in December at San Francisco for a purse of $10,000, winner to take all.

Ex-Senator Hopkins at Baraga.

BARAGA, Oct. 23.—A silver rally was held at the town hall in this village last evening. Ex-Senator Hopkins of Mt. Pleasant, delivered one of the most logical and convincing arguments for free silver ever heard in this county. It made a deep impression on all who had the pleasure of listening to him.

Breaks the World's Record.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 23.—At tonight's bicycle races at the Coliseum track Tom Cooper again covered himself with glory by clipping four-fifths of a second of the paced half-mile record. He made a flying start, and passed the wire in 58 1/5 seconds. The previous record was 59 1/5, by Parsons, the Australian champion.

His Immediate Release Demanded.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Premier Salisbury has demanded the immediate release of Sun Yat Sen, a Chinese physician, said to be a British subject, who, according to a statement by his friends, was kidnapped here and held prisoner in the Chinese legation on the charge of conspiracy to overthrow the Manchu dynasty.

Good Buying Orders Boost December Wheat—Chicago Markets.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—There was another crazy wheat market today. December, which closed yesterday at 70 1/2c, opened at 72 3/4c, but quickly dropped to 71 1/2c; then it jumped back to 72 3/4c, hesitated, and bounded to 73c. Cables showed little effect of the demoralization here yesterday. Many commission houses had selling orders at the opening. To this is attributed the sharp decline to 71 1/2c. Then good buying orders began to pour in, and later Liverpool cables coming in 3/4 higher, a rally to 73c ensued. Later the market dropped to 71 1/2c, reacted to 73 1/2c, and closed 73 1/2c.

Corn was fairly active, within a 3/4c range, closing 3/4c from the highest and 3/4c higher than yesterday. The advance was due to higher cables, large lake engagements and an expected advance in rail rates Nov. 1, a stronger tone at the seaboard and the strength in wheat. Oats were fairly active within a 3/4c range, closing 3/4c from the top and 3/4c higher than yesterday. The action in other grains and buying by shorts was the cause of the advance.

The leading grain futures ranged as follows:

CASH QUOTATIONS.

Flour, quiet, easy. Wheat, firm; No. 2 spring, 70 1/2c; No. 2 red, 73 3/4c; corn, higher; 2 3/4c; oats, higher; No. 2 white, on track, 21c; No. 3 white, on track, 18 1/2c.

MOVEMENT OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS—Flour, 14,000 bbls.; wheat, 180,000 bu.; corn, 502,000 bu.; oats, 503,000 bu.

Rise of Four Cents at 'Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Wheat was very strong this morning and rose four points.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The stock market was active and aggressively strong today, with excellent distribution of dealings. London quotations came higher, and early in local operations the scarcity of stocks became evident. The covering of shorts was a strong feature. It is understood the recent strength of the market in the face of firmer exchange rates and the advance in the Bank of England rates has been due to adroit manipulation against shorts in various properties by powerful operators who are confident of a material improvement in the market in the near future. The market today proved superior to the continued stringency in money rates, practically the complete absence of demand for even choice mercantile paper and the further advance in both actual and sterling rates, but in the late afternoon unexpected news of the withdrawal of $1,300,000 in gold from the sub-treasury by a leading New York and California banking house precipitated selling for both accounts. Early in the active list extended to 13 1/2 per cent, in Chicago Gas and 3 1/2 per cent, in Sugar. Industrials generally were helped by trade advices. In late recessions Sugar lost 1 1/2 per cent, and the general list a sharp fraction, closing steady at a fractional net improvement generally.

hopeless. It is practically only on such material as this Dr. O'Leary works. The results may be inferred from many thousands of letters that speak of revived hopes and restored health, and from great numbers of tokens of gratitude of all imaginable kinds, both of which are constantly increasing. He does not travel to practice medicine, but to deliver lectures, that are a source of large revenue, and of great value to the people, adding vastly to their health, comfort and longevity. He has rarely delivered a course that has not added thousands of years to the aggregate length of the lives of those that attended it.

He has good reason to believe there is no physician anywhere in this or other land but would be glad to travel, could he draw and hold such audiences, admiration and attention. It is a great cause for pride and gratitude as it is to know that he makes life more sweet to vast numbers, who daily thank him and declare themselves and their families more healthy, serene, and secure, since hearing the lectures long before. This is a great satisfaction to him also, and for this he leaves a large practice at home, more than one man can attend properly, and much more than he ever attempts while on the road, where he devotes to it only 3 hours daily, from 2 to 5 P. M. The rest of the day he is very busy shipping off medicines and writing patients, many of whom he never saw, whose friends urge them to apply to him, saying he is their only hope. Of late years physicians also consult him in the treatment of chronic cases of their patients, of members of their families, and even of themselves. All this keeps him more busy than he wishes. He travels only for the lectures. When they are done he leaves, no matter how many may wish treatment. He only goes from one crowd to another anyway, glad to rest a few hours between.

He has written several books on Hygiene and kindred topics that readers deem very valuable. They are for sale at the lecture room and office. TERMS: PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS FREE. This includes only such examination as is made in talking. In it he always tells prospects of a cure and the time likely to be required, and the expense, and advises the patient to consider the matter, and if treatment be desired, to call again. Thus no expense is incurred without due thought and preparation, and no snap bills. Instrumental examination of the chest, heart, lungs, uterus, etc., with verbal advice and opinion, $1.00. The same with written, $2.00. Treatment of chronic cases, which always includes all necessary examinations, and a month's medicine, and whatever instruments needed, as inhaler, etc., $10 to $20. Where necessary to continue longer, the rate is reduced. Few require more than a month's medicine. Surgical operations in proportion to difficulty, delicacy, and responsibility. Office hours 2 to 5 P. M. daily, at No. 114 Washington St., Marquette, Michigan.

A second and last private lecture for men only in the opera house Saturday night, Oct. 24. Boys under 8 will not be admitted to this lecture.

A.O. LEARY, M.D.

May Be Consulted during his Lectures Daily from 2 to 5 P.M. only.

In regard to the treatment of Chronic Diseases, and those blemishes, defects and deformities that require the nicest surgical skill, such as Straightening Cross Eyes, Removal of Cataract, Pterygium, Albigo and other affections of the Eyes, and Polyps from the Nostrils, Ears &c.; the cure of Catarrh, Deafness, Dullness of Hearing, Noises in the Head, Running Ears, Coughs, Consumption, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys and Uterus; Rheumatism and Neuralgia, Hare Lip, Club Foot, Necrosis of the Bones, Tumors, Moles, Naevi, Mother's Marks; all operations in plastic surgery.

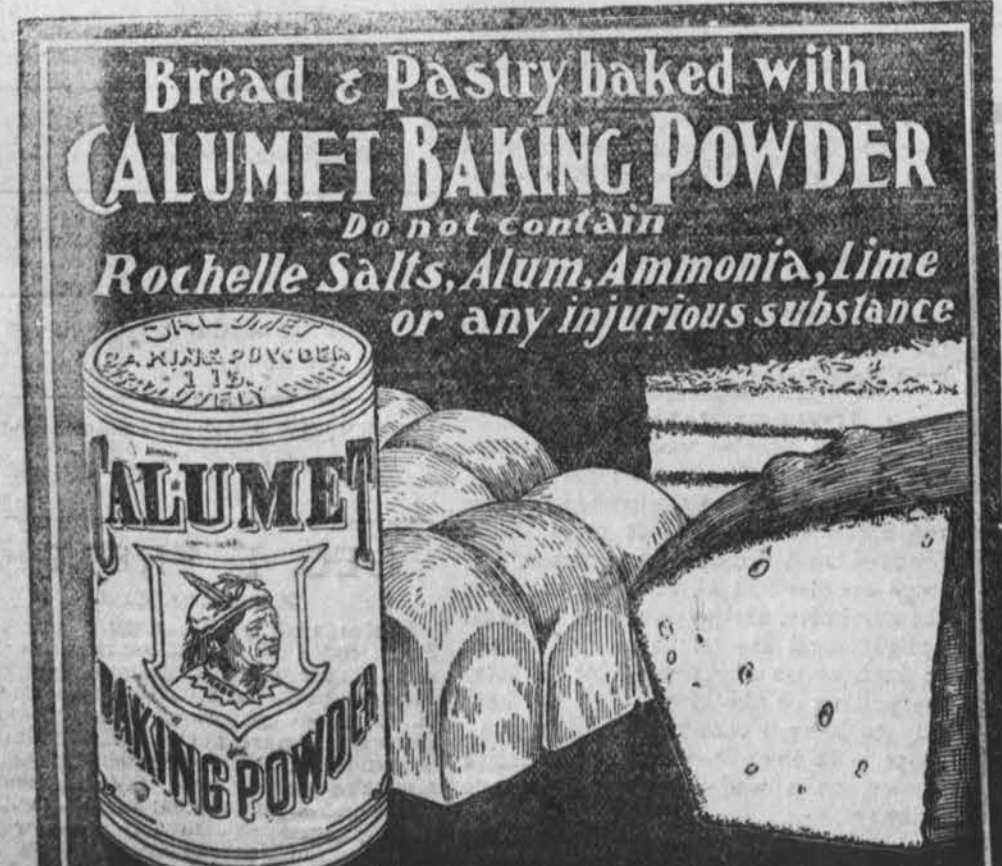

He treats also Nervous Diseases, Loss of Manhood and of Sleep, Melancholia and Affections of the Heart, such as the authors and books say can not be cured. They say it only because they don't know how to do it. The matter is easy enough when one knows how. His unprecedented success is to be attributed to his long, careful, and thorough study of the Laws of Health, and guiding his patients in such habits that they naturally get well, when they wonder that it was not done before. He treats almost entirely those who have tried other physicians and contrivances in vain; Electricity, Massage, Electric Belts, Laying on of Hands, Faith Cure, Christian Science, Baths of every kind, visits to the Hot Springs and Spas of Europe, and physicians of great names in the large cities at home and abroad. He hears the one sad story over and over, and over every day many times, that the patient tried all these in vain, and paid out so much; that they all promised to cure, and yet did no good, and that he has lost all hope and faith in doctors, and is afraid to try any more, and fears his case is

THE WOMEN DON'T EMIGRATE.

A Prejudice Which Has Had an Important Effect in South and Central America. During the 400 years that have elapsed since the discovery of the new world by Columbus the steam of European emigration to North and South America has continued almost uninterruptedly.

Many writers have wrestled with the question why in the past ages Spanish women have uniformly been reluctant to emigrate and join with men in the foundation of civilization in the countries into which the Spanish arms have been carried in triumph.

Whatever the reason may be, it is a fact that Spanish women do not emigrate, and not only do they not emigrate from their own country to lands as far distant from it as the United States or South America, but also they do not go to other countries of Europe nearer to them.

The Rigid Discipline Little Mary Fairfax Was Called Upon to Undergo. It was not in this joyous fashion, however, that school presented itself to another, and far brighter, little girl, Mary Fairfax, who was born over 100 years ago, and who afterward became Mrs. Somerville and one of the most learned women in England.

This was all her education until she was ten years old, when, one dreadful day, her parents sent her to a boarding school, a small and very expensive boarding school kept by Miss Primrose, who was so stately and so severe that her pupils used to say they never saw her smile.

"A few days after my arrival I was enclosed in stiff stays with a steel busk in front, while, above my frock, bands drew my shoulders back till the shoulder-blades met.

Interesting Information that Should be Carefully Read by the Fair Sex.

It Treats of the Dangers of Procrastination. Points out the Way to Relief from Various Ills. The Story of a Mother and Daughter.

From the Chronicle, Chicago, Illinois.

A story remarkable in many respects is told by Mrs. George Argile which contains much information which will be appreciated by thousands of women who are suffering as she did, and they will find relief from all their troubles, so easily, so quickly, and so permanently that they will wonder how the possibility came about.

Mr. George Argile left his native home in Yorkshire, England, eight years ago to embrace the greater opportunities this country offered. He was fortunate in immediately securing a position in the great railway system in Chicago with the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad Company. Faithful to his duties he received recognition by promotion and to-day is in charge of the steam tracks of the great railway system. The position is known in railroad circles as foreman of the teams that load and unload freight.

After one year and a half in the employ of this road he sent for his wife and children, who arrived safely here and in good health. After some two years residence here Mrs. Argile commenced to feel badly. Like thousands of other women she had womb trouble of over twenty years standing. At first this trouble, in Chicago, was not sufficiently acute to interfere materially with her household duties, but in course of months it developed to such a degree that it proved exceedingly painful to her to attend to the many little duties required to keep a house neat and tidy. This condition continued to grow worse and worse till she was forced to recognize that she did not get skillful medical aid, she would grow into a confirmed invalid. During this period a friend whom she had known for quite a while told her that she was using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Great People with excellent results, and she believed that they would rid her of all her troubles without the aid of any physician. Having confidence in her neighbor's words she commenced to take the pills some six months ago and found that after taking the first box she felt an improvement, not great, but sufficient to realize that if this better feeling continued she would be on the right road.

With the second box, she knew that she was getting better, as she gained both flesh and strength, felt a buoyancy of spirit she had not experienced in years, and the pains from which she had suffered so much were quickly growing less. To-day it has been five months since she began taking the pills. She is relieved of all her pains, has regained her strength, so that she is able to work all day, and it is only when she overexerts herself that she has any indication of pains, which would also happen to a perfectly well woman.

This is the story of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have done for her, and of course she is well satisfied with the benefits she has received. But this does not end by any means what she has still further to tell, and what is more she speaks with the same knowledge she has of her own case, the case of her little daughter Emily who is 15 years old. She says in regard to her "about three years ago Emily in the summer months when diphtheria was prevalent, was taken down with it. She was very ill and had a serious time of it for weeks. Several times I doubted whether she would pull through but thanks to her strong constitution she got better and after many weeks was about again. I noticed, however, that something was left in her throat which seemed to effect her. Then, too, she did not regain her old lively spirits. She was languid in her movements, she complained of being tired and further more it became perceptible that she was growing nervous. Her condition during the following year after her sickness did not improve, in fact, I thought it was a little worse. The second year, I know it was; but probably being with her constantly did not fully realize that she was decidedly getting in a very bad way.

"It was only in the forepart of last year that I became seriously alarmed, as her languidness, her constant tiredness increased and she became so nervous and so fretful that if any person spoke to her, it would make her skin and bones very tight indeed. This was her condition some four months ago. It was at this time that I had taken a few of the pills, and commencing to get faith in them I made Emily take them. I say, immediately she felt better, perhaps that is not quite true, but certainly after the third week I could see an improved condition in her, and this improvement continued up to the second month, slowly but surely. Then the improvement of the child became marked, her appetite returned and grew better with every day, she commenced to fatten up, she became more cheerful and lively and her nervousness at times left her altogether.

"In the last two weeks her complexion has regained the perfect color of health, her cheeks are fleshy and plump and she is as lively as a cricket. Her appetite—well the less said about that the better, she is eating all the time, and all the time is hungry. When she now comes home from school, instead of listlessly crawling into the house to lie down to rest, she is romping all over the house and cries 'Mother, you don't know how good it feels to be full of life, how glad I am that I don't feel tired any more.' She has completely thrown off her nervousness, and all those symptoms which for three long years made me fear very much that she had not long to live.

"All this I know to be due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because she has taken nothing else, and I am indeed thankful that Providence brought the thought to me of giving them a trial, know what a bad condition I was in before I took them, and I saw the condition my daughter Emily was in. To-day both of us look and are well. I can do the work in my house every day as I did formerly without any trouble and Emily is one of the liveliest, most cheerful and plump girls in our neighborhood, and that is saying a good deal as the children around us are noted for splendid health and excellent spirits. We live at 4760 Wentworth Ave.

"The above is a correct statement of the facts concerning my case and that of my daughter Emily."

THE CHURCH BAZAAR.

It Proved Very Entertaining and Was a Financial Success.

The bazaar given this week under the direction of the ladies of the Swedish Lutheran church came to a close yesterday evening, with over five hundred persons present. It was a great success in every way. Those who attended each evening were highly entertained, as the programs rendered were very pleasing. At the conclusion of the entertainment Thursday evening all present were invited to attend the sale of articles which had not been disposed of during the week, and to also witness the drawing for the prizes on which chances had been sold. This part of the program did not come to a close until after 1 o'clock in the morning. All but less than $100 worth of the goods on exhibition were sold. The amount realized on the sale of goods, admission fees and chances on prizes was a little less than $500, which was more than the ladies anticipated could be made at this time.

The drawing for the prizes was an interesting feature, as every person present had chances on one or more of the articles disposed of. Charles Lind held the lucky number, 153, which drew the handsome clock, valued at $15. Charles Hultquist got the fine easy chair. His number was 50. The stove went to Charles Sundin, his number being 70. Emily Carlson carried off the handsome picture. Her winning number was 111. George Skogberg who held number 33, won the pretty doll. Annie Fredlund was awarded the hat, her number being 39. The rocking chair which was offered as a prize to the person who would guess the nearest to the number of beans in a bottle went to Andy Anderson, who is in Peter Adolph's employ. There were 1,181 beans in the bottle. Anderson's guess was 1,199. The ladies of the congregation were more than pleased with the result of the bazaar.

Silver Rallies.

There will be two silver rallies in Ishpeming tonight. Peter Witt, the mouder orator, from Cleveland, will hold forth at the opera house, and Frank L. Malstedt of Chicago will speak to the Swedish voters at Anderson's hall. The latter will begin his discourse at 7 o'clock and will talk about an hour. He will get through if possible so that those in his audience who wish to hear Witt can do so.

The silverites announce another rally for next Wednesday evening at the opera house, when United States Senator Lee Mantle of Montana will be the speaker. Mr. Mantle is said to be a pleasing talker.

The rally held last evening by the silver men was well attended. Senator S. M. Hopkins of Mount Pleasant and Rev. F. J. Probst of Chicago were the speakers.

The Republicans expect to have some good speakers here next week, but no dates have yet been definitely arranged.

Married at Ironwood.

Will Byrns, youngest son of P. H. Byrns, of this city, was married at Ironwood to Miss Annie Sullivan of that place this week. The groom is well known here, having left the city for Ironwood less than two years ago. He now has charge of the heating plant at the Curry hotel.

Miss Katie Byrns, daughter of P. H. Byrns and wife, will be married to George Link, of Hurley a week from next Wednesday, Nov. 4. The ceremony will take place at Ironwood. This will be the third of Mr. Byrns' children to enter wedlock since last June, when his daughter Annie became the wife of a man in Chicago during that month. Mrs. Byrns will be present at the marriage of her daughter Katie at Ironwood.

The Hearing Begun.

The hearing in the case of the people against John Toutloff was begun yesterday morning in Justice Kennedy's court. M. B. Toutloff occupied the stand the greater part of the day. Both attorneys asked him many questions as to the money and valuables stolen, the lay of the saloon and residence, the condition of the doors up and down stairs, locks, etc. There are six or seven witnesses to be examined so that the hearing may not come to a close today. The examination is being conducted privately.

Services Tomorrow.

At Grace Episcopal church tomorrow morning there will be holy communion at 8 o'clock. Morning prayer, litany and sermon at 10:30. Subject of sermon, "Christianity Among the Romans." Sabbath school at noon. Evening prayer and sermon at 7:30. Subject of sermon, "Christ, the Restorer." The Rev. T. Cory-Thomas will preach tomorrow afternoon at the Episcopal services to be held at the Winthrop school house at 3 o'clock, mining time. Sunday school at 2 o'clock.

Had a Big Meeting.

Candidates T. B. Dunstan and C. D. Sheldon of the copper country and William Peters of Ishpeming were the speakers at a Republican rally Thursday evening at Munising. Mr. Peters returned yesterday. He says the meeting was a lively one and much enthusiasm was displayed by the voters there. He thinks the town will give a majority for McKinley.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Hon. F. C. Chamberlain of Ironwood was in town Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Corning of Jamestown, N. Y., were visitors in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Joseph Andrews left yesterday for her home at Ironwood after spending two or three weeks with relatives here.

Ed. LaLonde has purchased the stock of gent's furnishing goods, etc., owned by the late George Sheldon. He will dispose of the goods at sacrifice sale at the Clifford building on East Division street.

William White, who resided in Ishpeming for some time prior to four years ago, spent yesterday in the city. He has been in several of the eastern cities since leaving here. He will spend a few days in the upper peninsula visiting friends.

City Recorder P. F. Small has a supply of license blanks for hunters, which he received yesterday from County Clerk Gad Smith. By procuring their licenses from Mr. Small hunters will save the trouble of sending to Marquette for them.

HER FRIENDS.

They Would Not Say Anything About Her for the World.

After they had kissed each other, and each had duly admired the other's new hat, Amy said: "So Dollie is married?" "So I've heard," returned Fanny. "Nice girl, isn't she?" ventured Amy. "Oh, very," returned Fanny. "I wouldn't say a word against her for the world."

"Neither would I. How do you suppose she ever got him?" "I'm sure I don't know; do you?" "No; I would give anything to know."

"So would I. It certainly wasn't her good looks." "Oh no!" "Nor her cleverness." "The idea is absurd."

"I can't understand it at all. They say that he had to be dragged to the church." "I shouldn't wonder. Dollie wouldn't be everybody's fancy."

"Rather not. Still, I am glad she has caught some one. She is a dear girl, and it would be cruel to say anything against her."

"Indeed it would. I wouldn't do it for the world." "Neither would I."—Tit-Bits.

An Old State Slab.

In the Granary burying ground, in Boston, there is a stone of slate erected to the memory of Capt. William Condy, who died August 25, 1685. The style of lettering, position, etc., all indicate that it was put there soon after the burial. Yet every letter is clear and sharp, even the guiding lines scratched with the chisel being perfectly distinct. In fact, the stone seems to have suffered no change whatever.—Albany Argus.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

I desire to inform the public that my wife has left my bed and board and I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her in my name. ANTONY BROS. ISHPEMING, Oct. 12, 1896. (10-13-2w)

Boiling River

It is sure enough. It is not as large as the Mississippi, indeed it is quite small, but a mighty interesting stream for all that. It issues from the sides of a mountain in a thousand tiny rills, more or less, and of almost as many colors. These gather themselves into pools and lakellets on the mountain's side, covering an area of about 200 acres. Overflowing their boundaries they slowly trickle down the sides of the mountain forming small cliffs, the most wonderful in the world. From a distance one can hardly believe what the eyesight reveals—white, black, orange, lemon, terra cotta, green, blue, red, pink, separate and in manifold combinations stand out before him. It is a hill of painted cliffs on the sides of the mountain that rises high above. And the odd part of it is that each of these exquisite colors represents a different temperature. Does that startle your credulity? Even so it is true.

When through with this beautiful painting process, these waters again come together and then, as if full of mischief like a pack of small boys trying to play hide and seek, dive down and remain under the ground for a space of two miles and then flow out from the mouth of a cononynta as one of the clearest, most beautiful, green streams imaginable. Where these waters emerge from the mountain into the little lakes they are so boiling hot. During their dark underground journey they fall several hundred feet and also many degrees in hotness, so that when they again see daylight they are much cooler. This then is Boiling river, an underground mountain stream of hot water.

But you ask, where is it? Where can I see it? It is in Yellowstone Park at Mammoth Hot Springs. It is one of the lesser-known wonders of this land of wonders. Go there and see it by all means but first send to Chas. S. Fee, General Passenger Agent, Northern Pacific Railroad, St. Paul, Minn., six cents for Yellowstone '96, that tells all about this renowned region. (7-24)

ROYAL Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

MY LADY'S UNDERGARMENT.

The Latest Also in Night Robes and Costumes.

The contrast in the fashions of undergarments of half a century ago and those of the present day is enough to take one's breath away, if a full knowledge of the up-to-date belongings of fashionable women is borne in suddenly upon the conservative mind.

There was an interesting incident and an interested group in the underwear department of a fashionable shop the other day, when a Quakeress, who has some time since reached her three-score years and ten, was being shown about the city by a number of devoted and fluttering granddaughters, who were taking the utmost delight in chaperoning grandmother.

The quaint simplicity of the old lady's garments, their handsome quality and the calm and beautiful face with so few wrinkles that many a passer-by remarked their absence, indicated a life of ease and tranquillity pleasant indeed to contemplate. But the little flush that came into the face at the sight of the ruffles and puffs and lace and ornamentation on garments that to her quiet taste should have been plainness itself, was most amusing.

"Why, my dear," she said, "does the mean to say that these garments are for actual wear?" And indeed one might with reason ask the question.

There were night-robes so fine and elaborate that they suggested lounging-robes and convalescent attire; and it is not enough that lawns, linens and laces are used; silks, crapes, crepon and even chiffon are employed in the make-up of these bits of daintiness.

One style of gown is cut with a high back and square, slightly open front, after the fashion of some of the popular corset covers. Across the shoulders and front are wide bands of insertion, ribbon or needlework.

One pretty model is not unlike a modified Mother Hubbard. The yoke is very short, and the straight widths of the material are gathered into front and back, and slightly hollowed out under the arms to admit the sleeves. The yoke is trimmed with embroidered bands that extend from the shoulder seams straight down the fronts next to the sleeves. These embroidered sections reach almost to the waist-line, and under one of them the garment is fastened. Straight across the front at the yoke-line is another band of trimming, to the lower edge of which the breadths of the gown are gathered. There are very full sleeves, with embroidered bands and ruffles below.

Another gown is half saque shape, and has a wide collar, a puffed front, and full sleeves with embroidered cuffs. The collar is trimmed with embroidery, as is also the full front.

While the chemise is worn by many persons, it is by no means universal demand. A large contingent of women prefer the smooth, snugly-fitting knitted gossamer, and when one takes everything into consideration this style has its advantages. At all events, those who have once adopted it rarely give it up to go back to the old-fashioned conservative garment.

The newest models have pointed yokes or soft, lace-edged ruffles that fall over the shoulders. The fronts of some of them are almost entirely made up of lace and embroidery from the top of the yoke to the waist line in front. The sleeves are made apologies, frequently consisting of little more than elaborate embroidered shoulder-straps, through which are run ribbons either in white or bright.

Drawers, or "pantaloons," as many of the shoppers prefer to call them, are made very wide and gathered into a yoke belt at the waist; the lower edges extend scarcely to the knees and are finished with ruffles of lace or embroidery and a network of ribbon and flingree.

Corset covers are made of very thin materials, and the latest styles do not extend below the waist-line. They are made with an effect like a Bolero, the sides being gathered to a little bunch in front just above the bust. There are also surprise styles with long ends that pass around the waist and pin at the back, or may be tied in a bow at the bust. Of course, the fitted styles are made and sold in large quantities, and are more generally worn than any of the more fanciful models.—N. Y. Ledger.

Usually the Reason.

"They tell me the DeCourcys have a skeleton in their closet."

"Yes." "And that they have been dropped by society."

"Yes." "Because of the skeleton in the closet, I suppose."

"Not at all. It was because they didn't keep it there."—Chicago Post.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

SICK HEADACHE

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They Regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable. Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

WHEN they put a man in jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. His enjoyment of life is limited. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. He is alive to be sure, but life doesn't possess very many advantages.

Are not all these things equally true of a dyspeptic? For all the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor as much of it as he would like. If he transgresses any of the rules of his diet, he is punished for it. If he is a dyspeptic, he gets little sympathy. Dyspepsia starts with indigestion, and may lead to alimo anything. Indigestion means a variety of things—it shows itself in many ways. At first, perhaps a little heaviness in the stomach, a little sourness, windy belchings and heartburn. Headaches begin to come pretty soon after that, and biliousness and a foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable, and it is probably the most serious trouble that ever takes hold of a man. Its seeming simplicity is the thing that makes it most dangerous, because it leads to neglect. Constipation means that the body is holding poisonous impure matter that should be gotten rid of. MUNICIPAL LIGHTING GOES. Council Sustained by a Good Majority in the Special Election Held Yesterday. The special election held yesterday to decide whether the council should be authorized to put in a lighting plant in accordance with the plans and estimates submitted by Mr. Rae and adopted by the council, or should be obliged to abandon the scheme to have the city do its own lighting, was quite an animated contest. It brought out quite a good vote. The proposition to have the plant put in prevailed by a majority of 78 in its favor, the vote standing 403 for to 325 against.

The vote by wards was as follows: Wards. Yes. No. First..... 61 107 Second..... 90 50 Third..... 67 49 Fourth..... 121 84 Fifth..... 63 34 403 325

The mayor and members of the council who favored having the plant put in feel greatly pleased over their victory in the election. The contracts have been already let for the machinery, and it is probable that the work of construction will be soon under way, and that the city will within a short time be supplied with its own light. Rallies Galore. Before and after the two rallies held in Negaunee last night by the opposing parties political topics were discussed on all sides. There were very few voters in the city who did not attend either of the meetings. The Republican speakers were greeted by a large audience at McDonald's Opera House, as also were the silver advocates at their headquarters in the Neeley block. Both meetings were enthusiastic, as the speakers were among the best that have been here since the campaign began. Hons. James O'Donnell and Thomas E. Dunston addressed the Republican labor orator of Cleveland, and Frank L. Mølsted, the Swedish speaker of Chicago, talked to the silverites. The Republicans expect to have two or three more speakers here before election.

Was a Hot One. The Republican rally held Wednesday evening at Michigan was one of the hottest that has taken place anywhere in Marquette county since the campaign began. The speakers were Frank A. Bell and J. H. Primeau of Negaunee, Gad Smith of Marquette and John Carlson of Ishpeming. The fun began early in the evening, when the Republicans of the place came out on parade. The small boys were also out in force. The latter yelled and hooted for McKinley till they were hoarse, keeping up the racket until the meeting was called to order. While the meeting was in progress some of the silver men in the audience began asking the speakers questions. The discussion warmed up until finally nearly everyone in the hall got excited. The Republicans carried the day, however, as they were in the majority.

Moving the Dry House. Chaussie Bros. have taken a contract to move the old dry house at the Cleveland Lake mine to a point about seven hundred feet east of where it has stood ever since its erection. It will be transferred to a point near the new dry back of the engine house. This will necessitate bringing the building down over an incline thirty feet high. It will take about ten days to complete the job. The object in moving the building is to give more space for stacking the ore hoisted during the winter months. Completed the Track. The South Shore Railway company has finished constructing the track near the Volunteer mine to take the place of the one which recently went down with the cave-in there. The loading of ore from the Volunteer stockpile has been resumed. About fifty cars a day are being loaded and shipped to Ishpeming. The Chicago & Northwestern company has not yet put in a new track.

Teacher's Examination. The examination of teachers of Marquette county which began in Negaunee yesterday will continue today. The original dates for these meetings were last Friday and Saturday, but they were postponed one week on account of the inspiration institute held here then.

The train which now leaves Marquette at 5:30 p. m. for Republic will make these Sunday trips more popular than ever, as excursionists will be able to spend the entire day in Marquette and reach home at a reasonable hour the same evening. (5-19-11) SPECIAL SUNDAY RATES TO MARQUETTE. Commencing Saturday May 9th, the D. S. S. & A. R.'s will on Sunday excursion tickets to Marquette and return from the stations named below at the following low fares: Sand River..... $.50 Onota..... .75 Rock River..... .75 Au Train..... .75 Munising Junction..... .75 Wetmore..... 1.00 Tickets will be sold for the night express Saturdays and the day express Sunday, and will be good for return until the next bound express scheduled to leave Marquette 3:45 the following Monday morning (4-24-11)

LOCAL LAOONICS. Thomas Bashaw has been on the sick list the past few days. The employees of the Chicago & Northwestern line were paid yesterday. A glee club has been organized among the Finnish musicians of the city. The patrons of the Negaunee green houses will soon be able to obtain mushrooms there. They will be sold by the pound. William White came down from the Mesaba range Thursday. He is on his way to British Columbia, where he intends to locate. Charles Goldsworthy, an old resident of Negaunee, will leave tomorrow night for South Africa, where he expects to remain permanently. Mrs. Sophie Witzel returned to her home in Oshtosh Thursday, after spending a very pleasant visit here with her sister, Mrs. C. Muck. City Attorney F. A. Bell will address the voters of Republic on the political issues of the campaign tonight. Other Marquette county speakers will also be there. James E. Clark, who resided in Negaunee twenty-five years ago and was well known here at that time, died recently at West Chester, Pa. While here he was interested in the Emma Mining property. Richard Burns, who was a resident of Negaunee a number of years ago, was recently killed in a mining accident at Butte, Mont. While here he was a member of the local division of the Fibernians.

A Little Trick. Perhaps some of you may know the trick, but those of you who do not will find it hard to believe that you may plunge your hand into a bowl of water and take from the bottom a ring, or other small object, without getting your hand wet. Let us tell you how to do it. There is no magic in it, nor is it really a "trick," as we have called it. All you have to do is to sprinkle the surface of the water with some powder that has no attraction for the water—something the water will not wet. Nothing better may be had than powdered lycopodium, which you can get at any drug store. Having thrown a handful of this powder on the surface of the water, plunge your hand in, take up the ring and show the spectators that there is not a drop of moisture on your hand. The reason is that the lycopodium forms a sort of glove around your hand, to which water will not adhere any more than it will to the back of a duck. Water birds may dive time and time again and come to the surface with their feathers as dry as if they had not been under the surface. The lycopodium gives the same quality to your hand. The Ideal Panacea. James L. Francis, Alderman, Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds, and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or other preparations." Rev. John Burgess, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 30 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." ONE OF BILL NYE'S TALES. The True and Touching Story of a Laramie Goat in a Frame. Laramie has a seal-brown goat with iron-gray chin whiskers and a breath like new-mown hay, wrote Bill Nye. He has not had as hard a winter as the majority of stock on the Rocky mountains, because he is of a domestic turn of mind and tries to make man his friend. Though social in his nature he never intrudes himself on people after they have intimated with a shotgun that they are weary of him. When the world seems cold and dark to him and everybody turns coldly away from him he does not steal away by himself and die of corroding grief. He just lies down on the sidewalk in the sun and fills the air with the seductive fragrance of which he is the sole proprietor. One day just as he had eaten his midday meal of bootheels and cold sliced atmosphere and kerosene barrel staves he saw a man going along the street with a large looking-glass under his arm. The goat watched the man and saw him set the mirror down by a gate and go inside the house after some more things that he was moving. Then the goat stammered with his tail a few times and went up to see if he could catch the mirror. When he got pretty close to it he saw a hungry-looking goat apparently content to hang about the mirror, so he backed off a few yards and went for him. There was a loud crash and when the man came out he saw a full-length portrait of a goat, with a heavy black walnut frame around it, going down the street with a great deal of apparent relish. Then the man said something derogatory about the goat, and seemed offended about something. Goats are not timid in their nature, and are easily domesticated. There are two kinds of goats—the cashmere goat and the plain goat. The former is worked up into cashmere shawls and cashmere bouquets. The latter is not. The cashmere bouquet of commerce is not made of the common goat. It is a good thing that it is not. A goat that has always been treated with uniform kindness and never betrayed may be taught to eat out of the hand. Also out of the flour barrel or the ice cream freezer.—Utica Observer.

Farina Custard. Put one cupful of milk in a double boiler. When hot, sprinkle in one heaping teaspoonful of farina. Cook until thick and smooth. Beat one egg with half a cupful of sugar, add to the hot farina. Cook a few minutes, add a little vanilla and set aside to cool. Serve with cream. The farina cooked in milk or water and served with sugar and cream makes a very nice breakfast dish.—Ladies' World.

The Aftermath. Baggs—They say that Stagg's dinner was a very swell affair. Gags—Yes, that's just how it affected me.—Up-to-Date.

POLITICS IN THE FUTURE.

Deadly Love Letters Will Be Used to Prevent Personalities. "To what am I indebted for the honor of this call?" It was Mrs. Ellen Mary Ricketts who spoke. She held in her hand the card of Mrs. Eliza Jenkinson, which had just been laid on her desk by the office girl, for the card was followed almost instantly by the entrance of the person whose name it bore. There was really no necessity for the use of the card, either, for the two had frequently met.

Mrs. Ricketts was the candidate for congress of the optional headgear party, while Mrs. Jenkinson was the non-cuspidor nominee. Under the circumstances it was natural for her to be surprised at receiving a call from her opponent. "I came to see you on a small matter of business," observed the visitor. "Pray proceed."

"I have learned from good authority that your agents are bent upon a campaign of personalities, and that they intend to give to the press certain slanderous gossip about me, calculated to injure my candidature." The speaker paused, and Mrs. Ricketts said, interrogatively: "Well?" "Well?" echoed Mrs. Jenkinson, "we must keep personalities out of the campaign."

"We must, must we?" "We must." Mrs. Ricketts sneered. Mrs. Jenkinson waxed wroth. "Look here, Mary Ellen Ricketts," she exclaimed, "don't you dare to turn up your snub nose at me, now!" "Eliza Jenkinson," retorted Mrs. Ricketts, "my nose is not a snub, and don't you dare to presume to dictate what my agents shall or shall not do in this campaign."

"We'll see about that, Mary Ellen Ricketts; you were engaged to my husband in your young days, a good many years ago." "I'm not nearly as old as you, I'd have you know." "You are." "I'm not, you insulting thing!" "You are." "I'm not."

"We will pass that point, but I want to say that when I married my husband all your love letters were still in his possession, and I have them now." "You spiteful thing." "Many a good laugh I have had ever them. What a perfect goose you were!" "I just hate you, so there!" "And I merely wish to add that on the very first publication of a personality about me in your newspaper organs I shall print in the Daily Bugle every single one of your lackadaisical epistles. Do you understand?"

The two women glared at each other a half a minute, and then Mrs. Jenkinson withdrew, leaving Mrs. Mary Ricketts deep in thought. The campaign was conducted without any personalities.—N. Y. Telegram.

QUEEN OF ALASKA. The Title Earned by a Good-Hearted Woman in the Ice North. A queen has been visiting Seattle for several days past and few persons have been aware of the fact. Not a real crowned queen, ruler of nations, or one who has a court filled with brilliantly dressed subjects, but the woman who has sprung into local fame as "the Queen of Alaska." She is Mrs. Aylward, of Napoleon gulch, 85 miles from Fortymile creek, a tributary of the Yukon. While the career of this woman is not as remarkable as that of many another noted person, still the fact remains that four years ago she was a servant, and now she is a lady whose wealth would place her among the higher classes if she so desired. In brief her history is as follows: Soon after the great Seattle fire of 1889 Miss Bridget Manion was a cook at the Yosler residence, on James street, between Third and Fourth avenues. In the course of events she went with Capt. Healy and his family to Forty-mile creek, where she is now in charge of the trading post. That was four years ago last July. She was only the housekeeper, but with Mrs. Healy was the first woman to go into that frozen country. There were plenty of men there who had not seen a white woman for a long time, and, as she was single, her hand was sought by them in marriage. Not being of the marriageable nature just then, she kept on working at very good wages, accumulating a small fortune. After Miss Manion had been at Forty-mile for a year and nine months, Mr. Aylward was successful in gaining for a wife the first lady of the land. At the time he had located several claims which were paying well. Together they worked the claims, which was not very hard, as the gold was picked up in nuggets. It was at about this time she won the name of "queen." Prospectors were entering the country, and at times were very short of supplies, and during the months when work was out of the question they always found a welcome at Napoleon gulch. Many a man owes Mrs. Aylward a debt of gratitude for having cheered his darkest hours. Last May she left the little home in the gold region and started for the coast. During the week of August 10 she reached San Francisco. Of course her clothes were not of the latest fashion, and in company with a friend she was fitted out. While there many of the ladies of the city, whose husbands had gone north in search of gold and to whom she had been a friend in the hour of need, called on her and expressed their thanks. Since then she has visited Tacoma, and is now in Seattle, the guest of old friends.

After visiting friends in this city Mrs. Aylward will leave for Boston, to spend a month or more in that city, and then will cross the Atlantic to old Ireland, where her mother now lives in the town of Galway. Returning from there, she will again leave for her northern home, there to remain with her husband for several years, when they will have acquired an independent fortune, and then they will seek the more civilized world. Mrs. Aylward has with her many nuggets which she has individually picked up on the claims. She has a necklace, made of nuggets, which she wears around her neck, and also a valuable bracelet.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

MARCHING MADE EASY. New Method Which is Found to Work Well in the French Army. An officer in the French army has trained his soldiers to march in an improved fashion, and so great is the gain that they are able to accomplish fully twice an ordinary day's journey and feel no more than the ordinary amount of fatigue at the end. The new method consists in not fully straightening up the leg at the moment when it is perpendicular to the ground, and in dragging out the leg that remains behind to its full length. This has the effect of making the body proceed more nearly in a straight line parallel with the surface of the earth, instead of undulating up and down; our ordinary procedure is like that of a wheel deprived of its tire and rising on one after another of its spokes, which would plainly be a very wasteful way of putting to use the power of the horse. At the other extreme we have the bicycle, which owes its great velocity to the almost total avoidance of jarring that is secured by the rubber tires. Running is in an intermediate form, which, everyone knows, shakes us one far less, in proportion to the force expended, than walking does. The evolutionary reason for this difference is perhaps to be found in the fact that in running the one object to be attained is swiftness, while in walking our early ancestors were unable to bring themselves to the loss of dignity involved in walking with a flexure of the knee.—San Francisco Argonaut.

If we told you that your baby was starving, that it actually didn't get enough to eat, you might resent it. And yet there are thousands of babies who never get the fat they should in their food or who are not able to digest the fat that they do get. Fat is a necessity to your baby. It is baby life and baby beauty. A few drops of Scott's Emulsion for all little ones one, two and three years of age is better than cream for them. They thrive and grow on it.

O'DONNELL PLAYS JONES.

Gives the National Silver Chairman a Raking Over Like Mark Hanna Had.

SAYS JONES BOUGHT AND SOLD HUMAN CHATTELS.

Inspector and Weather Man Disagree—Canvasser Talks Too Much—Silver and Gold Men Three to One in Marquette.

ROASTED CHAIRMAN JONES.

Hon. James O'Donnell remained in the city till the late afternoon train yesterday.

This gave the Republican managers an opportunity which they were not slow to improve to secure a second speech by the witty congressman. Not thinking that a large crowd could be induced to turn out at an afternoon meeting it was decided to let him speak in the Republican club room in the Nester block.

To the pleased surprise of speaker and managers the hall was packed to the doors. Every chair was filled, and there was hardly room for anyone to crowd in and find room to stand up even. Two hundred and fifty people were probably packed into the small store room which the McKinley and Hobart club uses as its headquarters. The success of the afternoon meetings may lead the Republicans to try more of them.

Mr. O'Donnell was introduced at his afternoon meeting by C. B. Kelsey, president of the Republican club. His remarks were along two lines, the "crime of '73" and an arraignment of Jones, chairman of the national Democratic committee, similar to that which Witt made of Hanna in the Bryan headquarters the night before. It appeared to be a response in kind to Witt's attack upon the Republican executive.

Mr. O'Donnell professed as he did in his address the night before in the rink, his inability to see why the workmen and the people in general should be down on Mark Hanna. He said he was informed by people who were good friends of the millionaire chairman that he was a generous and high-minded gentleman. He knew that Hanna was a great employer of labor. He paid out millions of dollars every year. It was true that he had had some difficulties with his men, but what man employing thousands of men to work for him did not occasionally have these same troubles; He thought Mr. Hanna always endeavored to adjust them to the mutual satisfaction of himself and the men.

If it was right to drag the personalities of Mr. Hanna should be dragged into the campaign as an issue then it was nothing more than fair to hold up Mr. Jones for inspection as the laborer's friend. The Democratic chairman, he said, did not employ thousands of men as Hanna did. He was at the head of no great commercial enterprises. He was getting $16 a day as senator, and was doing work he was paid for that his party might remain in power. Mr. Jones was not cutting much of a figure in the labor market now, but he did one time. That time was in the days before the war, when Jones lived in the south and bought human slaves, and sold them upon the auction block to the highest bidder. That was the kind of man, he asserted, who was being held up to the working people in comparison with Mr. Hanna as the friend of labor.

The speaker's remarks were well received, and he was frequently encouraged with liberal applause.

Both Mr. O'Donnell and Mr. Witt left the city for Negaunee, where they were billed for rival addresses last night.

The incident of the Witt banners was still troubling many Republican yesterday. They denounced it as an outrage and a piece of unfair campaigning.

They say the thing would not have looked so bad had it been done by the small boys who carried the banners when the procession started, but it was done by men who were old enough to vote. When the procession started for the rink the boys were behind with their banners. A Republican told them to get out of the line and march on the sidewalk. At this two young men stepped out of the crowd, took the banners away from the boys and ran up to the head of the procession and carried them arched above the head of Speaker O'Donnell.

Silver Speakers Billed.

United States Senator Lee Mantle is in this district in the interest of free silver. He will speak in the opera house at Marquette next Thursday evening. His other dates are: Ironwood, Oct. 26; Calumet, Oct. 27; Ishpeming, Oct. 28; Iron Mountain, Oct. 30; Crystal Falls, Oct. 31.

Breen and Greaves of Helena, Mont., are two labor leaders who will address the Bryan club tonight in the Washington street club room. The speakers are western miners and have just scored a great success with their fellow craftsmen in the copper country.

An Awful Controversy.

Is this squaw winter, or the real buck variety, started in early but come to stay? Local authorities are divided upon this momentous question.

As he gazed out of the inspector's office at the vigorous flurry of snow yesterday afternoon Captain York was asked how long he thought it would be before the closing of navigation this season.

"I don't think that this is any indication that navigation will close early," he said; "Last year boats went through the Soo river as late as the thirteenth of December. And they'll keep at it this year as long as they can because freights are going up now. Most of the boats will make one and a half or two trips to Chicago after the lake Superior season closes."

The captain's opinion is not shared by the weather man who watches the lake from his tower three stories above the inspector's office.

Observer Patrick thinks the season will close earlier than it did last year, and ventures the opinion that November 20 may see the last boat through the Soo. The records of the office show that since 1870 the average date of closing navigation at the Soo, Marquette and Duluth is respectively December 1, November 28, and December 8. The ports open in exactly the reverse order. Duluth is first with an average date of April 24, then comes the Soo with May 1, and Marquette with May 4.

One of the canvassers hired by the McKinley and Hobart club to go over the city and ascertain the political complexion of the voters seems to have been talking too much in a direction he is not getting paid for.

He is quoted as saying yesterday that in his nearly two days work going about the town and approaching voters to find how they stood he was surprised at the amount of silver sentiment. He followed this assertion by saying that there were three white metalists to one of the yellow fellows.

Interest keeps up locally in the Chicago Record's postal card vote. After looking at the figures the other day a Bryanite said: "I don't know if the names were selected fairly or not. They may have been, but I don't believe the figures they give are a fair forecast. Take Michigan; McKinley stands almost three to one against Bryan. The upper peninsula is called the hotbed of Republicanism in this state, and you and I who are here know that the proportion is not anything like three to one."

The report was around yesterday that a local gentleman, who is a "friend of a friend" of Mark Hanna had a letter from this friend giving him a tip on the result for betting purposes. The friend says that he went to see Mr. Hanna on business and after transacting it the subject of politics and McKinley's chances came up. Mr. Hanna recommended him as a betting man to put his money on the protection candidate. McKinley he said, would poll 302 votes in the electoral college.

Bachelors' Hallowe'en Party.

An unique entertainment will be given next Wednesday evening in the parlors of the First Methodist Episcopal church by the men of the congregation. The affair has been christened the bachelors' hallowe'en party. It was planned to give the entertainment hallowe'en evening but other engagements prevented. The men will entertain the ladies on this occasion, and some old-time features will be illustrated. The bachelors will also prepare and serve supper during the evening. The menu will be varied and hard to decipher. Look out for it.
