FOUR NOW THE MAJORITY.

Ohio Republicans Lead in the Legislature on the Official Returns.

DEMOCRATS ARE RAISING MANY TECHNICAL POINTS.

Their Chairman, McConville, Goes to Confer With McLean as to What Course to Pursue in the Coming Contests.

COURTS HAVE TAKEN A HAND.
Columbus, Nov. 5.—The Ohio legislature stands 74 Republicans, 70 Democrats and 1 doubtful on the official returns received up to tonight.

With a dozen or more of the eighty-eight counties very close, there have been no material changes except in Wood county, which will be claimed by both parties till the courts pass on the action of the supervisors. There have been no unusual proceedings before the returning boards of any of the counties except that of Wood, although both parties had representatives and attorneys in the county seats wherever the vote was close.
In Wood county, the election board is deadlocked. The two Democratic members decline to sign the official canvass unless one precinct—Center township—is thrown out. If thrown out, the Democratic representative would have a plurality of fourteen; if counted, the Republican would have twenty-eight plurality. The refusal to sign is based on the fact that the polling place for the convenience of the voters was placed outside the limits of the precinct, and had been so placed for five years.

Chairman McConville of the Democratic state committee has not changed his claims of a Democratic majority on joint ballot, and will not do so till the official returns from all the counties are in and show that the final results differ from those he has at hand. Mr. McConville and others from the Democratic state headquarters went to Cincinnati tonight to confer with John R. McLean and party leaders regarding the contests that are to be made.
Chairman Nash insists tonight the legislature stands seventy-five Republicans to seventy Democrats, and that the Republican majority on joint ballot for senator will not be less than five. He says tonight he is satisfied with the situation in Wood county. What he feared was that the official count might wipe out the small Republican plurality in that county. Since the face of the official tally sheets show a plurality of thirty-one for the Republican representative Mr. Nash says he is willing and ready to have any court pass on the case.

In Wood county today Norris, Republican candidate for representative, filed a protest against the board counting the vote of Freedom township, because the ballots had been tallied in blocks of five. This precinct gave Norris 151 and Mears, the Democratic candidate for representative, 263. If the vote of the township is thrown out it would increase the plurality of Norris by 112, but it was counted. The Republicans insist that Norris be declared elected in Wood county, and the legislature stands 75 to 70.
It was learned tonight that counsel for both the Democratic and Republican committees at Bowling Green today agreed to submit the Wood county case at once to the circuit court, and the lawyers for both sides went to Toledo for that purpose. The court will be asked to decide whether the election board can go behind the returns. Of course, it will be left for the proceedings in the contest in the house to decide whether the vote of Center township shall be counted.

Information has reached the Republican headquarters of protests to the board of supervisors at Dayton, on the ground the voting precincts were not in the proper place. If that vote should be thrown out the Democrats would gain two Republican representatives from Montgomery county and one senator, enough (on the claims of the Republicans) to make the legislature stand seventy-three Democrats and seventy-two Republicans on joint ballot. Chairman Nash says there are about forty precincts in the state where these technical points on the location of the polls can be raised, and if it is made an issued contest it will work both ways, with no one knowing the final result.

Toledo, Nov. 5.—This morning the board of supervisors heard the protest of Mears, Democrat, to allowing the vote of Center township, in Wood county, to be counted. At the conclusion of the arguments the board was divided politically—two and two—on the question of admitting the Center township vote. In such event the law provides that the matter be referred to the judge of the circuit court, so the case was brought here and submitted to Circuit Judge Parker. The hearing was held and the arguments resolved themselves into mere statements of the facts and rights of the election board to establish a voting booth in a more convenient place. The decision was reserved until tomorrow.

AN AMERICAN LYCHING MEETING.

Of What Mark Twain, Who Visited the Austrian Parliament, Was Reminded.
Vienna, Nov. 5.—The reichsrath, after another all-night session, adjourned this morning until Monday next. The reichsrath, prior to its adjournment, adopted a motion, emanating from the supporters of the government, referring the compromise bill to the budget committee.
Count Goluchowski, Austro-Hungarian minister for foreign affairs, after an interview with Emperor Francis Joseph today, started this evening for Monza, northern Italy, to visit King Humbert. It is semi-officially asserted the visit is without political significance, but in well-informed quarters it is believed the visit is really a special mission to the Italian government with a view of getting its consent to the definite and effective annexation by Austria of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

London, Nov. 5.—The Vienna correspondent of The Times says: "The all-night sitting was the most disorderly ever witnessed in any parliament. Some of the expressions were of such an improper character as to defy reproduction. The most frequent insult bandied about was the charge of drunkenness. Three-fourths of the members appeared to have gone raving mad. "Liar," "Disgraceful scamp," "Drunk-clown" and similar villainous suggestions were common remarks. Herr Wolff called Dr. Lueger (the burgomaster of Vienna) "The Vienna thimble-rigger." Verestchagin, the Russian painter, and Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) were in the visitors' gallery. The former made sketches of the various scenes, and said he regarded them as good substitutes for street fighting. Mark Twain said it reminded him of an American lynching meeting.

ATTEMPT ON MOARES' LIFE.

Brazilian Soldier Tries to Shoot the President
He Fails, but During the Affray the Minister of War is Stabbed and Dies Shortly After.

Rio Janeiro Wildly Excited.
Rio Janeiro, Nov. 5.—At 11 this afternoon a soldier of the Tenth battalion, which constitutes part of the local garrison, attempted to shoot President Moraes with a pistol. The president was just landing at the marine arsenal after visiting the steamer on which General Barbosa, minister of marine, had returned from Bahia. Bystanders frustrated the attempt, but Colonel Moraes, the president's nephew, was slightly wounded in disarming the soldier. General Marcedo Betancourt, minister of war, then interfered and was himself stabbed. The wound was so serious he died soon afterward. The attack has caused the greatest agitation throughout the city.

COURT-MARTIAL FOR WEYLER.

An Unpleasant Surprise Awaiting Him on His Return to Spain.

Madrid, Nov. 5.—The Spanish government has decided to try ex-Captain General Weyler by court-martial if he confirms the accuracy of press reports of his utterances just before leaving Cuba.
London, Nov. 6.—The Madrid correspondent of The Daily Mail, commenting on the difficulties that confront the Spanish government, says: "Weyler has a large enough following among the officers of the army to make both the Republican and Carlist parties endeavor to compromise with him in order to obtain his support. The government would be glad to give liberty of action to demonstrations in his favor, with a view of gauging the extent of his popularity; but it fears disturbances of the public peace. There is much discontent also among officers at home, owing to the marked official favoritism towards officers who have returned home from Cuba and the Philippines. A hundred or more officers met secretly here the other day to discuss the subject. The minister for war, hearing of the meeting, threatened to court-martial the participants if that should be necessary to enforce discipline. Similar meetings have been held at Toledo, Barcelona and other places. El Correspondencia Militar advises the officers to mutiny if their grievances are not redressed."

Havana, Nov. 5.—The proclamation of Captain General Blanco to the Spanish army in Cuba, which will soon be issued, contains the usual exhortations to the troops in regard to maintaining discipline, etc., and adds that property should be respected and urges the utmost energy to be displayed during the fighting with the enemy and until victory is achieved, after which the soldiers are instructed to act with clemency towards the vanquished, taking care of and curing the wounded prisoners. Families needing assistance and unarmed people who offer no resistance are to be taken to the nearest village and receive help.
The trial of the crew of the schooner Competitor before naval court-martial, whose decision must be confirmed by the Madrid government, begins next Monday.

OPENS WIDE ILLINOIS' DOORS.

Supreme Court Decides the Field Open to All Insurance Concerns.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The supreme court of this state has just handed down a decision of great interest to insurance men all over the country. The state of Illinois has a law that insurance under the Lloyds plan may not be transacted in the state of Illinois. John A. Barnes, who issued policies in various Lloyds departments, was fined $500, and he went to the courts, represented by Attorney Myron H. Beach of Chicago. The supreme court has decided that the Lloyds may transact business in the state, and that the law which seeks to prevent them from so doing is unconstitutional. This throws the doors wide open to insurance men from other states which Illinois has tried to keep out, as the court says that what has been granted citizens of Illinois may not be denied to others.

The youths were arrested.

QUADRUPLE MURDER IN CANADA.

Farmer McNulty Returns Home and Finds the Dead Bodies of His Children.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—A quadruple murder is reported from Hawdon, Montcalm county. The victims are three daughters and one son of Michael Nulty, a farmer, who, having gone on a visit Wednesday morning, found his children murdered when he returned home. The girls were aged eighteen, sixteen and fourteen and the boy ten. The bodies of two of the girls were found in the house with their throats cut. The body of the oldest was between the house and barn in the same condition. The boy's remains were in the barn. No reason for the crime is discovered, except a desire to assault the girls. A posse is searching for the murderer, supposed to be a tramp.

BROUGHT BACK IN IRONS.

Mutinous Crew Who Murdered Officers and Fired the Schooner Becker.

Newport News, Va., Nov. 5.—The United States steamer Lancaster arrived this morning from Bahia, Brazil. In military confinement on the warship are five men of the crew of the schooner Olive Becker, whose captain, J. W. Whitman of Rockland, Me., and first mate, William Saunders of Sandy Cove, N. S., were murdered at sea in August last. Also closely ironed is J. Anderson, the schooner's cook, who is the self-confessed perpetrator of the murders and who afterward set fire to the vessel. The Olive Becker sailed from Boston, June 27, with a cargo of lumber for Bahia. The cook in an interview tonight said the cruelty of the captain led him to commit the crime.

MURDERER GREEN CONVICTED.

Ripley, W. Va., Nov. 5.—The youngest daughter of Mrs. Green, the fourth victim of Murderer Morgan, is not dead, as reported last night. Her recovery is now probable. Morgan's trial was held today, and he was found guilty of murder in the first degree. The announcement was received with cheers. Sentence will be passed upon the prisoner tomorrow. It develops that Morgan is not the right name of the prisoner, his real name being Raines. His mother kept house for a man named Morgan, of whom his father became jealous and killed, for which he, in turn, was killed by a member of Morgan's family.

RICH STRIKE OF IRON ORE.

Big Body of Bessemer Found on Menominee Range Near Mansfield.

Crystal Falls, Mich., Nov. 5.—The most important iron ore discovery on the Menominee range in several years has been made a few miles east of here. The find is located on the bank of the Michigamme river, a mile south of the Mansfield mine. The ore body was discovered with the aid of a diamond drill. Ore was struck at a depth of 117 feet. From that point to a depth of 194 feet the drill encountered nothing but clean ore that assays 62 per cent iron, 51 per cent phosphorus, thus putting it safely within the Bessemer limit. The width of the vein is supposed to be about forty feet.

WHAT MEANS THIS?

Unusual Activity in the Navy Yard at Brooklyn—Officials Mute.

New York, Nov. 5.—The Commercial Advertiser says: "The Brooklyn navy yard is unusually active and work on all war vessels lying at the wharfs or in the dry docks is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible, under orders from the navy department. No one seems to understand why so much haste is necessary, and inquiries are met with the invariable reply: 'It is nothing unusual; we are obeying orders issued some time ago, that's all. Spain's naval activities have nothing to do with our industry.'"

A Brewery at Auction.

Watertown, Wis., Nov. 5.—Judge Bennett of Jefferson today appointed C. H. Jacobs of this city receiver for the Fuermann Brewing company, which assigned last February. The receiver is to have concurrent power with the assignee. The brewing plant and other realty here and at Chicago of the defunct company will be sold at auction Dec. 21.

The Pall Mall Gazette last week, in speaking of American competition in iron and steel, apropos of recent iron and steel contracts obtained from Japan and recent sales in England, makes the noteworthy admission that "the causes which are giving the United States such a favorable position are permanent, and everything points to the United States remaining the cheapest steel-producing country in the world." The attention of England has naturally been drawn to this subject through the long drawn-out and stubborn fight the engineers are making for an eight-hour day. If they should be successful, it would further increase the cost of production in England, as the success of the engineers would soon be followed by strikes in other trades and workmen's organizations. At present, according to the editor of the London Iron and Coal Trades' Review, our cost of producing Bessemer pig iron is from 10s to 15s per ton less than in Great Britain, and in some cases is from 25 to 30 per cent. lower, although the rate of wages in America is materially higher than in England. As one instance of cheapened production he mentioned that while iron works in England have to pay from 15s to 17s per ton for their coke it can be obtained at Pittsburgh for one-third that amount. Under these circumstances successful competition of English manufacturers in steel and iron with America is practically impossible.

We take this, relative to the iron ore market, from the Cleveland Iron Trade Review of the 4th inst. So well sold are old-range Bessemer ores that it is doubtful if a total of 200,000 tons could be scraped up at the end of the season, counting 1896 dock ores and all. The sales of old-range Bessemer for the year and of other old-range ores entering Bessemer mixtures will be fully 5,000,000 tons. The figures for October shipments are not yet made up, but it is not out of the way, from present indications, to count on a total by water for the season of nearly 11,500,000 tons. Shipments in November will be light. Four largeshippers have a total of less than 200,000 tons to come. Ore cargoes are scarce and vessel rates have remained unchanged, coal having to stand some advance on account of the smaller chance of getting cargoes down.

The Iron Mountain Press quotes the Iron Ore of Ishpeming as stating, in explanation of the failure of the reduction works put in at Negaunee several years ago, that "the specific gravity of the Jasper was nearly as dense as that of the ore, so that much of the latter was washed away in trying to get rid of the former." What a pity 'tis that the Jasper couldn't be got to read the Ore's mining articles. That would do away with its excessive "gravity" and would render the work of separating the ore from the rock dead easy!

Dr. Parkhurst feels exceedingly sore over the result of the election in Greater New York, but it seems to us that he should be able to find solace for the triumph vouchsafed Croker in the defeat sustained by Platt, whom he holds in even greater detestation. Besides, if the people of that city, by a large majority, vote to have bad government, what is the use of being concerned on account of the harm it will do them? "Mason and Cismoros. One speaks, the other bows, is the headline in a Chicago paper over the story of the beautiful Cuban's appearance in the Windy city. We can't conceive of an exchange of functions between the two stars. We know something of Billy Mason's oratorical tendencies.

The European press is almost a unit in the expression of the opinion that the victory of Tammany is a disgrace to the American republic. Europe has her disgraces, too. The press of London, Berlin and Paris is in no position to do the "holier than thou" act.

Says William E. Curtis: "The result of the election in Ohio shows the fatal effect of patronage." Yes; the article that went out over the pie counter in Ohio seems to have been very indigestible.

The inn where the Princeton tigers make merry seems to be getting a good deal more publicity just at present than the Raines law hotels where the Tammany tigers get gay.

Now that the election is over, the newspapers will have a little space for the news of the world, as well as for the predictions of politicians and special correspondents.

Dick Croker, cartooned as the personification of the Tammany tiger, comes about as near representing the missing link as anything we know of.

With a Republican majority of five in the legislature Mark Hanna is not hurt. But he was badly scared.

Probably we hear no more from Major Andree because his pigeons are in the soup.

PROSPEROUS DULUTH. Her Location is Rapidly Making Her a Flourishing Commercial and Industrial Center. WONDERFUL DEVELOPMENT OF HER JOBBING TRADE. Advantages that "the City of Destiny" Enjoys as a Manufacturing and Distributing Point.

When the business men of the iron and copper districts of the upper peninsula visited Duluth and Superior recently as the guests of the manufacturers and jobbers of those cities, they were greatly surprised by what they saw of the development of the commercial and industrial interests of the cities at head of the lake. These cities had been associated in the minds of most of the visitors with real estate booms that had long since collapsed, and they did not expect to find there manufacturing industries already great and still growing; a commerce that gives employment to a large portion of the magnificent lake fleet and to several great railway lines covering states and territories of the union which are in themselves an empire; splendid public buildings and superb business blocks; finely paved streets traversed by complete systems of rapid transit, and wholesale houses whose operations rival, in the volume of business transacted and the territory covered, the largest jobbing establishments of Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Many of the excursionists then visited the head-of-the-lake cities for the first time. They were much surprised to find that within a decade there had grown up in such close proximity to the upper peninsula places of such industrial and commercial importance, and they returned full of what they had seen during their brief stay in these cities, and proud to think that right at their doors there is being built up a trade emporium that at no distant day will be to the New Northwest what Chicago has for many years been to the region rendered tributary to her by her location at the head of Lake Michigan.

The excursion has created an interest in the growing cities at the head of the lake in the minds of the people of this peninsula, and marks the beginning of an era of closer business and social relations between the communities along the south shore of Lake Superior and the cities at its head. It was a master stroke of business policy on the part of the management of the South Shore road and the jobbers and manufacturers of the head-of-the-lake cities, and cannot fail to bring a large share of the rich trade of the iron and copper districts of this peninsula.

It was the editor's privilege to spend the first three days of this week at Duluth visiting the larger jobbing houses and manufacturing concerns of that city, under the pilotage of Secretary Buchanan, of the Duluth Jobbers' Union, and though he supposed he was well informed regarding the growth of the manufacturing and jobbing business of the young metropolis at the head of our lake navigation, he must confess that he found its development far in advance of what he had looked for. Even during the four years of business depression through which the country has passed Duluth has grown—has grown healthily and solidly, and now that the turn for the better has come she is forging ahead at a pace which, if maintained, will soon place her beside Minneapolis and St. Paul in population and beyond them as a trade center.

CAUSES OF HER GROWTH. The growth of Duluth springs from natural causes. Her location at the head of lake navigation makes her the natural shipping point for the great grain and cattle region lying west and southwest of the head of Lake Superior, as well as the natural distributing point for the coal and merchandise coming from the east by water to supply that vast and rich agricultural region. She is also the shipping port for the Mesaba range, and the trading center for the great iron ranges of Minnesota, which have within a comparatively recent period become one of the recognized sources of Bessemer ore supply for the furnaces of Pennsylvania and Ohio. The iron fields tributary to Duluth alone would make her a thriving city, but it is a remarkable fact that even before they had been opened up and developed she had attained an importance as a trading and shipping point that had attracted the attention of the whole country.

Already her lake traffic is enormous. She is fast becoming one of the greatest coal receiving ports and grain markets of the country. The railway lines that radiate from there through the states and territories lying west and southwest of the lake tap the finest wheat country in the world, a region also adapted to all other kinds of grain raising and particularly favorable to cattle raising, and these bring to her a vast business, while the lake fleet vies with the railway lines having their natural termini there in building up her trade. Where the lake fleet and great railway systems meet to exchange loads there must be a mighty traffic and a great city, and such a point is Duluth. Heretofore there has been a hurtful discrimination against her and in favor of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Chicago, by the older railway lines, whose managements have sought to divert business to these cities, but they are discovering that this does not pay, and from this time forward Duluth will be afforded transportation facilities which will immensely accelerate her growth as a manufacturing and jobbing center, as well as a shipping point. The deepening of the connecting waterways on the great chain of lakes, which permits the large carriers now being built to load to their full capacity, works greatly to the advantage of Duluth, as well as of all other Lake Superior ports, as is shown in the rapid expansion of her lake traffic during the past two years. Another thing that will be of incalculable value to her is the building of the Poestown branch, which will give Duluth a direct line to the great wheat belt of northern Minnesota and North Dakota, where the choicest wheat in the world is produced. This will give that city a shorter route to that immensely rich agricultural region than either Minneapolis or

St. Paul, and will add another to the advantages the milling industry at the head of the lake now enjoys over the mills of Minneapolis. But it is of the jobbing and manufacturing interests of Duluth that this article proposes to specially treat. Her WHOLESALE HOUSES already comprise establishments in all the leading lines which in the extent of their operations rival the big houses of the great cities of the union. The peculiar location of the city gives them advantages for the economical handling of an immense traffic in bulky articles which are not enjoyed by the large jobbing concerns of Minneapolis and St. Paul, or even those of Chicago. These advantages consist in the location of the wholesale district of Duluth on the lake front, where vessels can come to the warehouses on one side to receive or unload cargoes, while the railway tracks run right up to them on the other. As illustrating how much this is worth to the jobbers of Duluth, the fact is cited that only recently the wholesale grocers of Chicago had under consideration the advisability of procuring a location somewhere on the lake front in that city where they would enjoy facilities for handling their business similar to those already possessed by the jobbers of Duluth, to relieve themselves of the expense of drayage, which item alone, it appears, is a tax of $250,000 annually on that one branch of business in Chicago—a tax that the same interest in Duluth is entirely relieved from. The Duluth wholesalers have their supplies from all eastern points laid down at their warehouses at a cost for transportation no higher than their competitors at Chicago have to pay, and for the purpose of distribution to a number of the richest states and territories west of the Mississippi, as well as Northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, they have a very great advantage in the shorter haul and consequently lighter freight charges. It is a circumstance that, under these circumstances, the wholesale business of Duluth is expanding with even greater rapidity than the growth of the city in population and in other lines of trade.

Easily a leader in the wholesale grocery business is the great house of the STONE-ORDEAN-WELLS COMPANY, which has developed into a mammoth concern from a small beginning made about seventeen years ago by Wm. R. Stone, who is still connected with it. The present company was organized August 1, 1896, when the Stone-Ordean company and the Wells-Stone Mercantile company, both large houses, were consolidated. The Stone-Ordean company was founded by Wm. R. Stone at Duluth, in 1880, as Wm. R. Stone & Co. In 1882 Mr. Ordean joined him and the firm became Stone & Ordean, this being changed when Mr. Patrick joined them in 1891, to the Stone-Ordean company. The Wells-Stone Mercantile company was established in Duluth, in 1885, as a branch of the well known company of that name at Saginaw, Mich. It has, however, soon become larger than the parent house, owing to the rapid growth of Duluth and the development of the surrounding country. Succeeding, as it did, to the business of two such concerns, the Stone-Ordean-Wells company has enjoyed a very large trade from the day it began business, and a more thoroughly organized and equipped concern it would be hard to find. In addition to the immense advantage of location at Duluth, which will meet all the great local advantages. It is located on one of the deepest slips in the harbor and the largest vessels find free access to its dock. It has three sets of railroad tracks to its doors, on two of which no switching charges are allowed under the city ordinance giving them the right of way. It is closely adjacent to the Union passenger depot and to all freight depots and the business center of the city. Its buildings were especially constructed for its use and are fully equipped with all modern appliances for the conduct of its affairs with economy and dispatch, and its vast business is handled with an almost military system and precision.

The membership of the company consists of William R. Stone, A. L. Ordean, F. A. Patrick, and James E. Granger, of Duluth; the estates of Charles W. Wells and F. C. Stone, of Saginaw, and A. W. Wright, of Alma, Mich. It has a corps of salesmen numbering twenty-one on the road, and is doing a business this way beyond that of any former year. Its representative in the upper peninsula is H. O. McMakin of this city, and it has a very large trade up here, especially with the big lumbering concerns, which it furnishes with a considerable share of their supplies, special attention having always been given to this branch of the concern's trade.

In the hardware business the largest concern at the head of the lake is the MARSHALL-WELLS HARDWARE CO., whose operations cover the entire northwest, clear to the Pacific coast, and even to far-off Alaska. The main, or "administration," building, as it might be called, is a massive structure six stories high and filled with a stock of the finest hardware so complete and varied that no order can be received that cannot be promptly dispatched. In this building the first floor is largely given up to the business offices, where a force of about forty bookkeepers, clerks, stenographers and typewriters are kept busy from morning till night every day of the week doing the clerical work and attending to the vast correspondence connected with the company's operations. There are several warehouses on the 500 feet of water frontage controlled by the company, all having a vessel dock on the water side and a railway track running along the other. It is no uncommon thing to see vessels discharging or taking on goods at the warehouses of this company on one side while cars are being loaded or unloaded at the other. Its facilities for handling its business are of the best and the system employed in conducting its immense trade is perfect to the last detail.

The business was originally established about eight years since by the well known firm of Wells, Stone & Co., of Saginaw, then conducting a large wholesale grocery business in that city, as well as in Duluth. That firm, having large timber interests in that section, and having commenced the construction of the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad, founded the hardware house in close connection with these and other interests, among them being the mines of the Mesaba range, under lease to the Mahoning Ore Co.

Later the firm was consolidated with A. B. Chapin & Co., wholesale hardware, under the name of the Chapin-Wells Hardware Co., which continued until the spring of 1893, when Mr. A. M. Marshall came from Saginaw, where he had been manager of the extensive business of Morley Bros., and purchased a large interest, the name then being changed to the Marshall-Wells Hardware Co., and the capital increased to $300,000, with Mr. Marshall as president and manager, as at present. Mr. H. C. Marshall, formerly buyer in New York City for the hardware syndicate, went there Jan. 1 last to accept a position as one of the directors of, and buyer for, this company. The vice-president, Mr. A. H. Comstock, also a director, was for many years cashier of the Home National Bank of Saginaw, going to Duluth on Jan. 1, 1896. Another of the directors is Mr. Ammi W. Wright, the well known millionaire of Alma, Mich., who was one of the promoters and first president of the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad, now operating about one hundred and twenty miles to the northwest, the completion of which in the near future, with other projected lines in the same direction, will open up an additional field for this house, which is rapidly making an enviable name for itself in this great northern country, where its trade mark, "Zenith," with the star and crescent, has been made so familiar to the trade. The manager of the company, Mr. A. M. Marshall, is full of ambition and energy, and he has a most efficient co-worker in pushing its business in the vice-president and treasurer, Mr. A. H. Comstock. Both are Michigan men, and it is, possibly, for this reason that they show such a high appreciation of the value of the trade of this peninsula, while giving close and unflinching attention to the great and growing empire west where the concern has its largest field, and a tremendous advantage over all competitors at other points for the rich and steadily growing trade that it yields. Among the steadily growing institutions of Duluth may be numbered the fine establishment of the SAGAR DRUG COMPANY, of which Chas. H. Sagar is president and manager and Willard B. Cross, formerly of Marquette, is secretary. This concern occupies a large building of five stories, with basement, and is crowded with drugs and druggists' supplies from ground to roof. A large proportion of the articles it places on the market are of its own compounding, the preparation of these giving employment to quite a force of operatives. Many of its preparations have already won an enviable place in the estimation of the trade and public, and the concern's brand is becoming well known to dealers and their patrons in the wide and constantly expanding district in which it is doing business. The company has a number of energetic salesmen on the road and its operations already cover five states and will soon take in ten more. It carries a complete line of staple articles, and is prepared to fit out a complete drug store on short notice. The president and manager, Mr. Sagar, gives the business his entire attention, and it is being extended so rapidly that its present quarters will soon be quite insufficient for its needs and will have to be enlarged at an early date, despite the fact that provision has been made for the outside storage of heavy and bulky goods. Mr. Sagar intends to make a special effort to increase his trade in this part of Michigan, and as he is prepared to give it the best of satisfaction, and better terms than can be obtained elsewhere by reason of transportation concessions, he is sure to succeed in the endeavor. Dealers in the iron and copper districts of the upper peninsula will find the Sagar Drug company a good institution to do business with, and appreciative of the favor they accord it, which is not true of some of the Chicago houses which have heretofore had the better part of their trade.

This region being one that obtains a large proportion of its food supplies from outside the peninsula, our readers will, perhaps, be as much interested in learning something of Duluth's facilities for supplying them with good things for the table as with anything else there that could be written about. What the writer saw and learned while inspecting the cold storage plant of the MESSICK-MACAULEY CO. will, therefore, be likely to catch their attention. It is located on Michigan street, occupying Nos. 202 and 204, and is by all odds the best arranged and most neatly kept place of the kind the writer has ever had the pleasure of being shown through. The building gives the business ample room, being three stories above the basement. In the latter is installed a fifty-horse power electric motor, which supplies power for the ice-making plant, and all the departments in the upper stories are kept at any temperature desired by means of this system of controlling it. The president and manager, Mr. Frank A. Raley, formerly resided in the copper country, and is a rattling young business man. The entire concern is kept so cleanly neat and clean that it is enough to give one an appetite to go through it. In the butter room there is stored an immense supply of the finest creamery and dairy butter produced in Minnesota and Wisconsin, and the temperature there is kept constantly at a shade below the freezing point, so that butter can be kept there for months without losing its freshness or deterioration of its quality. In the egg room are stored hundreds of cases of eggs, piled one on top of the other from the floor to the ceiling. These are carefully gone over before being stored, and as the temperature of the room is kept constant at the proper degree to keep them from changing it is possible for the company to lay in a supply of eggs when they are plenty and of the best quality and keep them perfectly fresh until they are needed to supply patrons. The stock stored in the egg room will suffice for the company's trade until well into the winter, and will be found as fresh when sent out as when it was placed in the storage room. Cheese, fruit and roots of all kinds, onions, etc., are all stored in the same manner, the temperature of each room being kept at the point where scientific knowledge and practical experience have established that it should be maintained to give the desired results. This institution also has a good trade in this region and intends to add to its volume right along. Everything it carries finds located at No. 8, East Superior street, are a firm whose experience finely exemplifies what business sagacity and enterprise will accomplish under favorable conditions. A few years ago they engaged in the saddlery and shoe findings business, and soon had a good business supplying the local trade. At the start the members of the firm, Chas. and Ernest A. Shultz, did their own work and pushed their business as best they could in a limited way. They soon discovered that there was a promising field at Duluth for a wholesale business in their line, and as their trade increased they added to their facilities until now they have a number of skilled operatives employed and have added to the lines of manufacture in which they originally engaged. They manufacture harness of all kinds, shoe uppers, canvass leggings, etc., and their business is growing steadily. Their saddlery business especially has grown far beyond their most sanguine expectations, and is now the most important part of their trade. New machinery has just been placed in this department, and they intend to hereafter push their saddlery trade more strongly than ever before and make it the leading feature of their business. They have several men on the road and will add to the number as they increase their facilities for turning out goods. The upper peninsula offers them a fine field which it is their purpose to work thoroughly hereafter, and The Mining Journal can recommend them to our people as young men who deserve their success, their motto being that honest dealing is the cheapest and surest way of winning and retaining patronage.

THE BURGESS ELECTRIC CO., located at No. 24, Third avenue, West, has built up an extensive business in supplying electrical appliances and doing all kinds of station work, isolated and central. It manufactures a fine line of gas and electric combination fixtures, many of these being in novel and very beautiful designs. This company has recently placed fixtures of its own design and manufacture in the Masonic Temple association building at Ashland, one of the finest structures in that city; in the new Wisconsin State Normal school at West Superior; in the Asylum for the Insane at New Richmond, Wis.; and in the Board of Trade building at Duluth, as well as in many other public buildings of lesser note throughout the country. It has a practical management and makes a study of the needs of the trade, which sufficiently explains why it is able to successfully meet competition from the older cities. It carries a very complete line of electrical goods and can fill orders placed with it, especially from this section, with promptitude. The Burgess company ought to have a big trade in this region, and it is prepared to supply everything the plants up here stand in need of, and can do this at an advantage over Chicago concerns, owing to the shorter distance and lower charge for transportation.

THE SCOTT & HOLSTON LUMBER CO. of Duluth is one of the flourishing lumber industries of the city, and has, perhaps, the finest location for its business to be found in the entire northwest. The plant is on the water front, where the logs are brought in rafts to its sawmill, which is a modern one, equipped with hand and gear saws and has a daily cutting capacity of 100,000 feet of lumber. In addition to the sawmill, there is a large planing mill and an extensive factory where all kinds of sash, doors, mouldings, stair work and interior finish are turned out. Interior finish is a specialty with the concern, and any kind of work desired is done to order, in hardwood or pine. The Northern Pacific, St. Paul & Duluth and Duluth Terminal railroads have tracks into the company's yards, this affording it fine facilities for the speedy and economical handling of its immense business. Its factory occupies three stories of a mammoth building and is equipped with the most modern machinery. The product of its factory goes to all points in Minnesota, the Dakotas, and as far west as Montana. The work done in this department is of the very finest finish and has won an enviable reputation for excellence. Contractors who are engaged in building operations will find the firm a good one to deal with, as it uses only the choicest material, selected from the cut of its mill, and the workmanship on the output of its factory is of the very best.

of Duluth enjoys the distinction of being the first to demonstrate that the head of the lake is a location unsurpassed in the advantages it offers for the milling industry, and also of having the greatest flouring mill in the country, the capacity of its "Imperial" mill being 8,000 barrels of flour daily. Its product ranks as the very best on the market, and "Imperial" flour is known and used throughout the entire IMPERIAL MILLING COMPANY. A Grateful Mother Writes this Letter— Tells all about Her Troubles when Baby Broke out with Scrofula Sores. "At the age of two months, my baby began to have sores break out on his right cheek. We used all the external applications that we could think or hear of, to no avail. The sores spread all over one side of his face. We consulted a physician and tried his medicine, and in a week the sores were gone. But to my surprise in two weeks more another scrofulous looking sore appeared on baby's arm. It grew worse and worse, and when he was three months old, I began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla. I also took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before the first bottle was finished, the sores were well and have never returned. He is now four years old, but he has never had any sign of those scrofulous sores since he was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, for which I feel very grateful. HILL DOESN'T GET A SOU. REALIZES IT'S A GOOD THING.

Court Takes Case from Jury and Decides in Favor of the Bank. Canal Company Will Hang on to its Interest in the Baltic.

The case of Hill vs. The National Bank of Houghton was decided Thursday afternoon by the court directing a verdict for the defendant. Hill sold some lands to the L'Anse au Lumber company in 1893, and in the contract the company agreed to insure all lumber cut from the logs for Hill's benefit. The company cut some lumber from the logs in 1895 and piled it with other lumber on its docks. Lumber was shipped during 1895, but on May 9, 1896, there was a large amount still on the docks and on that day it all burned in the L'Anse fire. The company had taken out insurance to the amount of $30,000 on the lumber, but instead of making the loss payable to Hill, made the same payable to other parties to which it was selling lumber. Just before the fire the company had assigned the Hill contract to the Houghton bank as security for loans from that institution and shortly after the fire the company also assigned the policies to the bank for the same purpose. The insurance was finally paid to the bank and out of the same the bank paid the other parties the part of the insurance due them, leaving $37,800 in the hands of the bank. Hill claimed that some of his lumber was burned, and that, it having been the duty of the company to insure for his benefit, equity would regard that duty as having been performed, and hence he would be entitled to so much of the insurance moneys in the hands of the bank as equalled the value of the burned lumber. He demanded a certain amount from the bank, but the bank refused to pay, and he sued. After the evidence was in the court decided that the proofs did not show definitely how much, if any, of Hill's lumber was burned and that if the jury was allowed to take the case it could only guess at the essential facts, and this the law does not permit. It therefore took the case from the jury and directed a verdict for the defendant.

A Poor Town, We Guess, "Nit." The present has been one of the most prosperous seasons in the history of the thriving village of Dollar Bay. The various plants have been working large forces of men, owing to the improved business conditions, and as a result the town has enjoyed a fair-sized building boom, together with other improvements. An addition has been made to the public school building, more sidewalks have been built and additional lighting service has been secured; and altogether the advance of Dollar Bay the past summer is decidedly pleasing. In Haun & Schultze's the town has one of the most complete general stores in the country.

Clear Title Not Yet Secured. The work of securing a clear title to the site selected for the new public school at West Hancock, for which the contract has already been let, has thus far been vexatiously slow. The state law provides that no school building can be erected only after a perfect title is at hand, and it now looks as if the work of erecting the school building would necessarily be postponed until the coming summer.

DIRECTORY OF... DULUTH MANUFACTURERS AND JOBBERS.

DULUTH is located at the head of the Great Lakes, and is the natural receiving and distributing point for supplies coming from the east for a vast area, comprising several of the richest states and territories of the Great Northwest, it is also the natural shipping point for the products of these states and territories. It is, for these reasons, a natural manufacturing and jobbing, as well as shipping, center; and this fact explains the creation there of a great manufacturing and jobbing interest while the city is yet in its infancy, in spite of the discrimination against it and in favor of St. Paul and Minneapolis of the old railway systems.

Its growth within recent years has been marvelous, and has been almost entirely due to the advantages its position gives it as a commercial and manufacturing center. Though these have as yet been only partially developed and utilized, in 1885 it had a population of 15,000. Ten years later, in 1895, its population had increased to 50,000, and it has today a population of not less than 65,000 in spite of the four years of depression which it has experienced in common with the country at large. In 1895 its wholesale business amounted to $1,300,000, and in 1896, according to the census returns of that year, it had swelled to $1,800,000, a figure that will be very greatly exceeded by the business its jobbers will do this season. The volume of trade seeking Duluth from the region naturally tributary to it is expanding with accelerating rapidity as her wholesale houses are increasing their facilities for handling it and are being provided with better transportation service. Within a very few years it has become the seat of an immense milling industry and is certain to become the greatest flouring center of the world, eclipsing Minneapolis in that respect. Its "Imperial" flouring mill, operated by the Imperial Mill company, is the largest and best equipped flouring mill in the world, and enjoys the distinction of having made the largest output in a single day of any flouring mill in the world. Its average daily capacity is 8,000 barrels of flour. The Imperial brand of flour has already an established place in the trade, and ranks high for excellence that it sells on its trade mark in every town and city of the country. Several other large mills have been put in at the head of the lake since the Imperial demonstrated that the milling industry has there a location possessing peculiar and valuable advantages, and this is destined to be one of the greatest of Duluth's industries.

The lumbering industry of Duluth in its various branches has grown to be of vast proportions. A very great pine district is easily tributary to that point, and several factories which make a specialty of working up the finer grades of pine and hardwood lumber into finished forms have sprung up there within late years, these furnishing employment for a large number of operatives and contributing much to the steady growth and stable prosperity of the city.

Duluth is the commercial center of the Minnesota iron ranges and the shipping port for the Mesaba, whose mines already rank among the largest producers of Bessemer ore in the world.

It is the greatest distributing point for coal in the country, its coal business having grown to enormous proportions. It is already a great grain market, and will yet be the greatest in the country, as the finest wheat district in the world is directly tributary to it.

It is developing a packing interest that foreshadows a great future for the city as a packing center. For this industry it enjoys special advantages, which will increase as the country west of it becomes settled and cultivated and the farmers engage more largely in cattle raising.

It is the coming industrial, commercial and manufacturing emporium of the Great Northwest—an empire whose wealth will find its outlet through Duluth, and whose cities will arise, within the next quarter of a century, and it is already well on the way to the realization of its manifest destiny.

world, a large share of the Imperial mill's output going abroad. This mill has an important advantage over the mills at Minneapolis in the superior average quality of the wheat received at Duluth, compared with that supplied to the Minneapolis market, this being due to the important fact that a much larger proportion of the wheat shipped to Duluth comes from the wheat belt in Northern Minnesota and North Dakota, where the finest wheat in the whole world is raised. On this point what the Daily Commercial Record of Duluth has to say will be of interest:

"We think the trade as a whole has a very vague conception of the comparative qualities of this year's receipts of wheat at Duluth and Minneapolis. In a general way, of course, it has been known that Minneapolis received a larger percentage of the soft and low grade wheat than Duluth. But that 50 per cent. of Minneapolis receipts would not grade better than No. 3 spring could hardly be believed were it not for the evidence.

"The tabular statement of the receipts by grades at Duluth and Minneapolis, from Sept. 1 to Oct. 16 inclusive, shows that 14,482 cars, or 78 per cent. of the total cars received at Minneapolis, were No. 2 Northern, or poorer, and 48 per cent. were No. 3 spring or poorer, while at Duluth the receipts of No. 3 and poorer were only 9 per cent., and of No. 2 and poorer they were 30 per cent. Practically all of the No. 3 or poorer has been shipped or is in store, and very little of the No. 2 has found its way to the local mills.

"It is pretty hard to understand how Minneapolis can make 'hard wheat flour' from a wheat mixture that contains 50 per cent. of No. 3 and rejected wheat (practically all soft wheat), and less than one-half of the other 50 per cent. being strictly first-class 'hard wheat.'"

The Imperial Milling company has a management that is wide-awake and progressive, which appreciates the advantage that its location offers for the industry it has in hand, and is ambitious to make the very most of its opportunities. It aims to produce the finest flour in the world and claims that its mill is doing this, and the verdict passed on its product by consumers is its claim is well founded.

Concluding, The Mining Journal desires to say that there are many powerful reasons for having as much of the trade of this region given to Duluth wholesalers and manufacturers as can be advantageously placed with them. If our people will do this the business of the South Shore road will be very materially increased, and the larger the volume of business the road does the lower the rates it will be enabled to make on its traffic generally. It is of far-reaching importance to every town and location along the line of this road to have its patronage increased to the largest possible limit. It is the only distinctly Lake Superior line that we have, and the more it prospers the better will be the service it will be able to render. In addition to this consideration, there is the fact that the people of Duluth are Lake Superior people. They now see that there

ABOUT BAKING POWDERS.

The directions on the cans of High-Priced Powders are the same as on "Calumet" cans, viz., two teaspoonful to a quart of flour; but they say that one can of High Price will go three times as far as any other. Can anything be more ridiculous?

Another claim made in favor of High Priced Baking Powders is still more ridiculous—that any Baking Powders sold at a less price than their's must be dangerously adulterated. The manufacturers of one of the High Priced Powders boast of selling the government a large quantity of their goods at 15 cents a pound. At the same time they compel the consumer to pay 45 and 50 cents.

PENSION ROLL IS BIGGER.

A Net Gain of Over Five Thousand Names in the Year Ended June 30.

HUNDRED AND FORTY MILLIONS THE AMOUNT DISHED OUT.

Commissioner Evans Recommends a Law Excluding from a Regular Government Stipend Soldiers' Widows Who Shall Hereafter Marry.

NEWS FROM NATION'S HEADQUARTERS.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The first annual report of Commissioner of Pensions Evans was made public today. A summary follows:

There were added to the rolls during the year the names of 50,101 new pensioners and there were restored to the rolls 3,971 pensioners who had been previously dropped, a total of 54,072. During the same period the losses to the roll were 31,960 by death, 1,074 by re-marriage of widows and mothers, 1,845 by legal limitation (minors), 2,683 for failure to claim pension for three years and 4,560 for other causes, an aggregate of 41,122.

The whole number of pensioners on the rolls June 30, 1897, was 976,024, a net gain over the previous year of 5,336. It will thus be seen that the pension roll has not yet begun to show any diminution, though it had been anticipated by my predecessors in office that such would be the fact.

During the year 94,454 pension certificates were issued, of which number 50,101 were for original allowance and the balance re-issues, increases, restorations, etc. During the same period 78,254 claims of various classes were disallowed.

The amount disbursed for pensions by pension agents during the year was $139,739,242 and the amount disbursed by treasury settlement $150,475, a total of $290,214,717. This exceeds the amount disbursed during the fiscal year 1896 by the sum of $1,584,480.

Referring to the consolidation of agencies Mr. Evans recommends that the executive order of July 14 last, suspending the operation of the order of Feb. 6, 1897, the latter of which provided for consolidation, be continued indefinitely.

In conclusion, the report recommends the publication of the complete list of pensioners, and the passage of a law to the end that no pension be granted the widow of any soldier that shall marry hereafter.

BURROWS LOOKS FOR LONG DEBATES.

Hawaii, Cuba and Currency Will Take Up Much Congressional Time.

Washington, Nov. 5.—"There will be three important subjects discussed at the ensuing session of congress," said Senator Burrows of Michigan, "and the order in which they will come before us will probably be Hawaii, Cuba and the currency question. Debate on these questions will undoubtedly be protracted and it will probably be mid-summer before the session of the Fifty-fifth congress will be ended.

Despite the apparent failure of the bimetallic commission to interest the great commercial nations of the world in silver free silver senators will take advantage of any suggestion made by the secretary of treasury or the president on the currency question to make literature for the approaching congressional campaign. Nothing can be accomplished, but this will not deter the advocates of free coinage from having their say no matter how long it may take.

So far as the annexation of Hawaii is concerned, an attempt will be made to ratify the treaty which has been submitted to the United States by the present government of that republic. Should it be demonstrated that a two-thirds majority cannot be secured in the senate an effort may be made through a joint resolution providing for the annexation of the islands along the lines laid down by the treaty of annexation. This may take time to accomplish, for the house may insist upon this course being pursued, from the fact that provision must be made for an appropriation to meet the obligations which this government must assume if the scheme of annexation should be adopted. This will lead to debate on both sides in the Capitol, which may be endless, or at least last until the desire for campaign material is satisfied.

"Nobody seems to know just what to do about Cuba until there is some definite understanding in regard to the policy which will be adopted by the new Spanish ministry. Senators with whom I have had an opportunity to converse on this subject are at sea as to the proper thing to be done until something is outlined by Spain. There is a popular demand for action in regard to Cuba, but congress cannot plunge into such an important subject without ascertaining what will be best for the people of the country most interested in this matter."

Sealing Matters.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The Russo-Japanese-American treaty relating to Berlin sea was not signed today, the statement being made by officials that the formalities were not yet completed. When the conference adjourned last Monday it was with the understanding that all preliminaries would be arranged by today and the treaty signed, but the issuance of powers as envoys is taking more time than anticipated and the signing has been deferred for a few days.

The meeting of American and British experts looks more promising. The state department was today advised

PROOF OF PROSPERITY.

Dun Finds It in the Small Aggregate of Failures in October.

THINKS PRESENT QUIET A GOOD THING FOR BUSINESS.

Production of Iron Manufacture the Greatest Known and Works Unable to Fill Orders Fast Enough—Good Outlook for Next Year.

THIS WEEK'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

New York, Nov. 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Trade Review will tomorrow say:

"Stronger proof of the great change in the condition of business could not be given than is found in the report of failures by branches of business for October. Though swelled by a few speculative or brokerage failures the aggregate is smaller than in any other month for more than four years, except July and August and one month in 1894. The improvement, so general and with a remarkably low average of liabilities in most classes, has a meaning which cannot be mistaken.

"The quiet following the great rush of orders and purchases for over two months is still increased in many branches by unseasonable weather, and yet many mills are obliged to refuse orders because they are unable to finish previous engagements soon enough. It is in every way fortunate for the industries and would-be buyers, since speculation would otherwise advance prices so as to make a reaction improbable.

"More works have joined the active list, including some long idle, and the production of iron manufacture is the greatest ever known. The output of pig again exceeds the demand, which naturally diminishes near the close of the year, and prices yield slightly; but consumption is kept at a maximum by a pressure of orders, which the works are not able to fill fast enough. The Illinois Steel company is shipping 5,000 tons of finished products per day, and is still behind. Eastern and western orders accumulate for railway materials, for cars and bars, for ship plates and structural forms.

"Cotton manufacture is doubly hindered by the decline in cotton and by accumulations of goods with distributors, so that print cloths have fallen to 2.31 cents, a new low record, and staple goods are sold at concessions— all averaging not 2 per cent. above the lowest point.

"In woolen goods the advance has been arrested by doubts about the future of the market for goods and the cost of wool, which advanced slightly after the close of the year. The mills have all they can do for some time, and the opening of next season may be deferred until the future can be more accurately judged. Cold weather is greatly needed to hasten the distribution of textile goods and to provide indications for future demand.

"Another rise in wheat lifted the price above a dollar, but profit-taking speedily caused a reaction and the price closed 2 1/2 cents for the week. Receipts are about a million bushels larger than last year and Atlantic exports 3,288,000 bushels against 1,863,000 last year. Exports in October, as in September, were heavier than any preceding month, and after gloomy reports as to the condition of winter wheat extensive rains have caused a material improvement. Corn has grown much stronger, in spite of the course of wheat, and authorities much credited estimate the yield at 1,823,000,000 bushels, which would hardly permit a continuance of heavy exports in place of wheat through the year.

"The failures in the United States for the week were 276 against 230 in the same week of last year."

Bradstreet's Business Summary.

New York, Nov. 5.—Reviewing the business situation, Bradstreet's for this week says:

"Killing frosts in the South, the raising of quarantine embargoes in nearly all states invaded by yellow fever, and the resumption of railway traffic and the prospective revival in demand for staple merchandise constitute the trade features of the week.

"Rains in the Central Western and Western states, followed by colder weather, have favored farmers and stimulated the demand by interior store-keepers. This has had a favorable effect at St. Louis, Louisville and Kansas City. Jobbers in Northwestern states are awaiting seasonable weather to stimulate the movement of heavy dry goods and winter clothing. The features at the larger Pacific coast cities are sales of merchandise and provisions for the Klondike and heavy foreign shipments of wheat and flour. The larger Eastern cities report no increase in general merchandise movement. New England centers report that the orders from the West exceed those from the South or East.

"The leading manufacturing industries continue fairly well employed. While there has been a moderate reaction in iron and steel, the furnaces and mills continue well employed and the outlook for higher quotations next year is unchanged.

"In addition to lower prices for Southern and Bessemer pig and for steel billets the quotations for naval stores, wool, copper, coffee, pork, flour, oats and wheat are lower, while those for cotton, print cloths, sugar and beef are unchanged and for Indian corn and lead are a shade higher.

"Exports of wheat from both coasts of the United States this week aggregate 5,575,000 bushels compared with 3,472,000 bushels for the corresponding week a year ago. Exports of Indian corn this week were 2,200,000 bushels compared with 2,247,000 in the week a year ago.

"The total bank clearings at the principal cities of the United States for the week were $1,216,346,718, an increase of 22.2 per cent. compared with the corresponding week of last year."

NOT IN THE BIZ FOR GLORY

Senator Gorman Has Cleaned Up a Million or So Out of Politics.

ENTERED PUBLIC SERVICE AS A PAGE FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

In It Ever Since, and During All This Time His Aggregate Salary Has Not Been $150,000—A Master of Political Intrigue Is He.

MR. VANDIVER "CONCEDES" DEFEAT.

Baltimore, Nov. 5.—Chairman Vandiver of the Democratic state committee today admitted that the Republicans would control the next legislature, as shown by the election returns, and he added he was convinced of their correctness.

The defeat of the Democrats, of course, means that Senator Gorman will be succeeded by a Republican, and already there is much conjecture as to who will get the toga. Postmaster General Gary, it is known, has long eyes on the plum. And he will have the administration influence behind him, but, unfortunately, Gary is a protégé of Senator Wellington, and Wellington, as all the world knows, sulked during the whole campaign because he could not run the Republican machine, and predicted Republican defeat only a few days before the election. Hence it is probable that the most formidable candidate will be Judge McComas, who has an excellent reputation and was in congress from the Sixth district. His principal opponent will be Sidney E. Mudd, now congressman from the Fifth district, and who was one of the principal factors in the turning down of Wellington. McComas has apparently the best chance, as Mudd is exceedingly unpopular in certain sections of the state and would besides be fought bitterly by Wellington, who is still a tower of strength in the state, in spite of his recent disastrous efforts to control the party organization.

Arthur Pue Gorman's career has been one of romantic interest, for he entered public life as page boy in the senate, and at that time determined to win for himself the right to clap his hands and have page boys come flying with glasses of water, fans, papers, books, and other attributes of real statesmanship.

It was in 1852 that he began work as a page, and he remained as a mere subordinate in the senate for fourteen years, by which time he had become postmaster. He was then only twenty-seven years old, but from boyhood he had been associating with astute politicians and learned all the tricks of the trade. He at once embraced the opportunity offered to ambitious Democrats by Andy Johnson and landed as collector of internal revenue, which place he held until Grant reorganized them.

By that time Gorman had become a power, and the same year which removed him from the federal service saw him a member of the Maryland legislature. That was in 1869, and Gormanism dates back to that time. Within two years he was made speaker of the house of delegates, in 1875 he was in the state senate, and in January, 1880, he was elected to succeed William Pinkney Whyte as United States senator from Maryland, thus realizing his boyhood ambition. March 3, 1899, he will retire, after three terms aggregating eighteen years.

Senator Gorman is one of the few examples of men who absolutely have no business in life except that of politics. He was only fourteen years old when he made a senate page. When he retires he will be a few days short of three scores. During all that time, from the beginning of his teens to his sixtieth year, he has lived and breathed politics. Necessarily limited in his education, he adopted no profession even nominally, and he had no opportunity to learn a business, as for forty-seven years he has been a pensioner on the public. Yet he has the reputation of being a millionaire. His salary for eighteen years as senator was less than $100,000, and for the other twenty-nine years probably not over $50,000. On this aggregate of $150,000 he has entertained handsomely, spent money liberally for politics, and cleaned up a million or so without any visible means of support, except such as might be developed by a purely political career.

Gorman's defeat will remove a picturesque factor from the senate. He shared with Brice, Hill, Joe Blackburn, Tillman, Allison, John Sherman, Quay, and a few others the sometimes questionable honor of being one of the senators always pointed out by the guides to anxious strangers. Besides all that, Gorman was a real power in the senate, and whether his party was in control or not, he generally managed to have a tight grip on the throttle. It is a well known fact that less than half a dozen men in the two big parties really run the senate. When Allison and Gorman managed to agree on some particular line of policy it was generally good betting that their decision would stand as the voice of the senate.

Gorman is a master of political intrigue, a natural-born general, alternately bold and cautious, and the most secretive when he was apparently the most frank. Like Cullom of Illinois, Gorman had the faculty of making warm friends independent of party lines, and, like Cullom, who is said to be the "slickest" man in the senate, Gorman would keep a pet measure hanging fire for days or weeks, simply to rush it through when all the conditions were favorable. No one but Gorman could have held up the Wilson bill in defiance of the president, and it was his maddening genius which rendered that ill-fated measure

LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM RUDELY BROKEN.

Wisconsin Industrial School Officials Lock Up the Bride of a Few Minutes.

Milwaukee, Nov. 5.—Vesta Simpson, aged twenty, an inmate of the Wisconsin Industrial School for Girls, was married last Sunday to Louis A. Schoenbaum. A few minutes after the ceremony the bride was taken from her husband by an officer of the school, since which time the husband has not been able to see her. The Simpson girl was committed to the girls' industrial school at the age of fifteen and that institution claims to have jurisdiction over her until she reaches the age of twenty-one. It was while under parole, working as a servant, that she met Schoenbaum. Unless the officials of the school see fit to liberate the girl the bride can be restored to her husband only by the intervention of Governor Scofield or the state board of control.

MISS SIMPSON COMMITTED TO THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FIVE YEARS AGO.

Her term was until she was twenty-one years of age. Six months ago, her behavior having been at all times exemplary, the authorities let her out on parole. She was given employment in the home of Mrs. Emma Coleman, a wealthy widow of the South side, where she received the salary of $1.75 a week. While visiting a sister several months ago she met Louis Schoenbaum. The pair immediately fell in love and decided to get married. She told her sister of her plans, but she did not tell her employer. When she went for her usual outing Sunday she left behind a note which said she would not return, as she was going to get married. This was found almost as soon as she left the house. Mrs. Coleman was not desirous of losing so cheap a servant, and immediately informed the authorities at the school. Officer Love was put on the trail and arrived on the scene just after the ceremony was performed. The industrial school was drawing $2.50 per week from the county for her board even while she was on parole, and the authorities had no desire to lose so profitable a patient. Habeas corpus proceedings will be employed by the husband.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The wheat market today was unsettled and nervous and in moderate trade. It covered a range of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents, closing 1 1/4 cent above the lowest and 1/8 cent lower than yesterday. The market was firm early on light receipts and wet weather, but weakened with wheat on liquidation.

Trade in oats was fairly active, within 1/8 to 1/4 cent range, closing 1/4 above the lowest and 1/8 cent lower than yesterday. The market sympathized with wheat and corn.

The leading grain futures ranged as follows:

so decided a factor in the defeat of the Democrats last year.

There never has been a senator who reduced the science of petty office getting for his constituents to such a fine-point. When regular places were exhausted, Gorman generally managed to insert an innocent amendment in an appropriation bill which opened up new avenues. Per contra, when chiefs of bureaus were not sufficiently alert in providing places for the friends of the Maryland senator they generally found that their next appropriation would be cut down in a critical place where it would hurt the most.

The same methods were introduced into Maryland politics. Gorman's machine was of a character which would consume Quay or Platt or Croker with envy. Township officers were appointed at his decision, and the whole state for twenty years was forced to pay tribute to his political mastery. Nothing like the Maryland machine ever was seen before, and probably it is the last of its kind. His bossism was absolute, and it was not until the influential Democrats of the state threw tradition to the winds and voted by thousands for regular Republican nominees that Gorman's dictatorship was dissolved. Tuesday's election beat him at last, but it was a narrow squeak, and the Maryland boss kept his enemies guessing to the last.

With his dubious career as professional politician and intriguing boss Senator Gorman combines a charming personality, really broad ideas of governmental functions, and a private character which is beyond reproach. His word is as good as his bond, his house is a center of culture and refinement, and he saved from his professional career Arthur Pue Gorman is as lovable a man as one would meet anywhere.

Princess Anne, Md., Nov. 5.—There is a serious legal controversy among the supervisors of election of Somerset county over the vote cast Tuesday, J. S. Stanford, Democratic member, having refused to sign the certificate of election because of certain irregularities in the tally sheets and ballots, in that the judges in several instances failed to sign the former and at least four hundred of the latter were counted in spite of the fact they were not endorsed with the initials of one of the judges, as required by law. The dispute is likely to be taken into the courts, where an attempt may be made to throw out the unmarked ballots and reverse the result of the late election, in which event four assemblymen and one senator from Somerset may go into the Democratic, instead of the Republican, column.

PECULIAR BANKING METHODS.

Receiver of a Failed Lansing Bank Creates a Sensation in a Court.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 5.—Receiver Foster of the People's Saving bank created a sensation yesterday afternoon by testifying in a case in the circuit court that he was told by officers of the bank that in their sworn report to the commissioner of banking, made a month prior to the failure, they had included in the loans nearly $40,000 of overdrafts, and had listed many thousand dollars of borrowed money, as certificates of deposit upon the advice of the banking commissioner. He also swore that the officials stated that $13,000 of uncollected stock of the bank was carried in the shape of a trust note executed by two directors, this also being done at the suggestion of the commissioner.

Graying, Mich., Nov. 5.—The last three days have been the most exciting in the history of Graying. Men and women walk the streets moaning their losses through the failure of the Exchange bank. Many have lost every cent they had in the world. A man and his wife who cook in a camp sent their pay to the bank regularly every month, and by economy saved $300. Now they are penniless. An old soldier, too sick to work, had saved $100 to keep himself and wife until pension time comes around again, but today he has not a dollar. Investigation discloses the fact that Cashier Staley loaned money on unindorsed notes, and that he invested with O. J. Bell a sum of money in gypsum and timber lands in the upper peninsula of Michigan which proved unprofitable. A warrant has been issued for Cashier Staley, whose whereabouts is still a mystery.

WOLCOTT AND PAINE HOME.

Their Lips Are Sealed, However, as to Their European Trip.

New York, Nov. 5.—Senator Wolcott and General Payne, two of the monetary commissioners appointed by President McKinley, arrived tonight on the steamship Campania. The other commissioner, former Vice President Stevenson, will return on a later vessel. Mr. Wolcott asked to be excused from saying anything of his mission abroad. General Paine also declined to talk about it. Mr. Wolcott will go to Washington in a couple of days.

Charles D. Lane, chairman of the National Silver party, was also a passenger on the Campania. Referring to the mission of the monetary commissioners, Mr. Lane said he had not expected anything better from the European governments. They were against bimetalism, but he is of the opinion the people of this country will ultimately adopt it independently of the European powers.

THE CLIFFS SHAFTS IMPROVEMENTS.

The improvements being made at the Cliffs Shafts preparatory to the resumption of mining operations there are advancing satisfactorily. There are now about fifty men on surface doing work of various kinds, several men having been added to the force within the past few days.

Three of the big boilers will soon be ready for use. The boiler makers have finished their work and the masons are now re-laying the brick around them. Fire will not be started under these, however, until the new stack is finished. This will require the attention of the boiler makers for a week or more yet. By the time the stack is ready the brick work will be completed. Pumping water from the shafts will not be commenced until these boilers are ready for work. The overhauling of the other three boilers will not be started until all the work about the first three is finished. The re-laying of the shafts to the water level is going along nicely. Considerable of the old timber has been replaced with new, this work being done by practical miners, who have always made a business of such work. The sills have been removed from the foundation of the building over A shaft and new ones are being put in their place. The building of the extension to this structure will be started within a few days. The frame work for the addition being added to the big shaft is in place. The pump rod and stands leading to B shaft are completed and the greater part of the work about the engines has been finished.

Excavating for the foundation for the crushers on top of the hill immediately east of the engine house has been finished. The retaining wall on the south side has also been built and if the weather is fine the masons will begin building the foundations today. The removal of the crusher plant from its present location will not be a small job by any means.

The crushers were put in operation again yesterday. A number of carloads of rock to be used in building the foundation for the new engine house at the Salisbury mine are being crushed. The floor of the entire structure will be laid with fine rock and cement. This will always insure a solid floor for the plant. It is expected that the building of the foundation walls for the new structure will be started next week. The head mason has had orders to increase his working force in order to get over the outside work as rapidly as possible.

During the past few weeks several of the outside papers have had articles stating that Carnegie is negotiating for the purchase of the Cleveland-Cliffs property. If this is true no one in Ishpeming has a knowledge of it. On Wednesday last The Evening Wisconsin of Milwaukee had this to say on the subject:

"The Cleveland-Cliffs iron mine at Ishpeming is said to be on the list of those wanted by Carnegie. This mine, or rather pair of mines, is one of the best on the Marquette range. It lies within the city limits of Ishpeming, near the Lake Angeline mine, and the workings are extensive. The present Cleveland-Cliffs company is the result of a consolidation that brought the Cleveland and Iron Cliffs mines under one management, the Pioneer furnace having been purchased and dismantled at the same time and a new furnace built at Gladstone. It is known that Carnegie has had an expert examine the property and in iron trade circles it is thought not unlikely that the deal will be made. This is an old and valuable mining plant, the company owning the fee of 60,000 acres, and the total output up to the present time is about 7,000,000 tons. As over 2,000,000 tons had been mined prior to 1880, the ore is now pretty deep in the ground, and is said to be rather expensive to mine, and a hard material, requiring the use of a crusher before being given to the furnace."

It is unlikely that there is any truth in the story. There is certainly no foundation for the report that a representative of Carnegie had been here recently looking over the property with a view to ascertaining what it is worth. This is an impossibility at this time, owing to the workings being filled with water. An official of the company yesterday said, when consulted relative to the reported visit of Carnegie's representative to the property, that if the expert had looked over the mine he must have been here some night and gone down into the mine in a diving suit. If there were any liability of the property being sold to Carnegie the present owners would hardly spend the enormous amount of money they are now laying out on improvements. This is what makes the report look rather fishy. If a change of ownership at the near date were in prospect it would seem reasonable that Carnegie would want to make improvements to suit himself. He has had experience enough in mining to know best what he would want to do in that line.

It Was a Brilliant Affair.

About one hundred and fifty of Ishpeming's representative people assembled at the A. O. U. hall last night at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Fairbairn and Mrs. Barbour and Mr. George W. Hayden of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Beech of Champion. A more brilliant social affair of its kind has never been held in this city. The hall was never more attractively decorated than it was last night. The decorations consisted entirely of ground pine and cut flowers. Roses of all descriptions were numerous in the dining room as well as the assembly hall. The decorations were arranged with exquisite taste, so that the ball room itself presented a most beautiful sight, to say nothing of the costumes worn by the ladies present.

During the first two hours of the evening, from eight until ten o'clock, the guests were received. During the reception the Twin City orchestra rendered sweet music that added much enjoyment to the occasion. At ten o'clock dancing was started and was continued until an early hour in the morning.

The refreshments served were dainty and of a variety that would please the most exacting taste. A few guests were present from the neighboring cities of the county.

It is a Refined Novelty.

The ladies of Grace Episcopal church will make a strong effort to have a large number of the amusement loving people of the city present at the opera house next Wednesday evening to witness the very novel entertainment known as "Chinook," to be given by Miss Clara Louise Thompson. The following relative to the entertainment is taken from a recent issue of the Minneapolis Tribune:

"Socially and artistically it would seem that the picture play has come to stay. It is one of the few refined novelties for which we are indebted to the stage. Its bright and attractive idea is adaptable both to the parlor or to the stage, and in both fields a future is reserved for it, and with the masterly impersonation of the separate roles by Miss Thompson, as she has succeeded each other, the illusion is very similar to that of the play enacted by a full cast upon the stage. Her voice is competent to undertake such work, being strong, flexible and sweet in tone. The dramatic quality is abundant, and the author has not overlooked that fact in supplying lines which will bring it out."

The admission will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five for children. Reserved seats can be procured at Tillson's drug store without extra charge.

Will Play a Practice Game.

The Menominee football team will not be here today to meet the local eleven, as expected, that team having cancelled the engagement on Thursday. The Menominee team will go against the Green Bay team instead. The Ishpeming and Negaunee teams will meet this afternoon at the Union Park grounds in a practice game. The Negaunee will be given the ball all the time and the Ishpeming will play on the defensive. This will give the boys excellent training, as the Negaunee eleven is capable of doing good work on the line.

The Largest Potato.

There have been some pretty large potatoes exhibited in the county this fall, but the largest seen to date is at the Urban House, it having been taken from the farm of Peter Gingrass at Greenwood. It weighs exactly four and three-quarters pounds. Some of the farmers at Negaunee have secured some large potatoes this season but they have not taken out any that can touch this one in size or weight. Mr. Gingrass has raised an unusually large crop of potatoes this season.

American Beauty.

Women of America have a type of beauty peculiar to themselves. The climate, habits, and social peculiarities, have combined to produce a type of womanhood quite distinct from the women of other countries. It has become almost an everyday occurrence for the nobility and royal blood of Europe to cross the water in search of an American beauty, for the United States has become famous throughout the world. The American beauty is a peculiar product of this country. She has, however, one formidable enemy, not only to her beauty, but to her health as well. That enemy is indigenous to the climate and soil of the United States. It is called Catarrh. Almost every woman has it in mild or severe forms. Our climate makes it well-nigh unavoidable. It is the only natural enemy the American woman has. Not only is the United States the home of catarrh, but it is also the home of the now world-famous catarrh remedy, Pe-ru-na. The medical profession has at last succeeded in devising a remedy for the well-nigh universal disease.

Dr. Hartman, the original compounder of Pe-ru-na, has a recent book on chronic catarrh which he will send free to any address for a short time. Address The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, O. Ask your druggist for a free Pe-ru-na Almanac for 1898. $500 IN ACTUAL CASH.

Five hundred dollars is offered to competitors in a contest that affords both instruction and amusement. We will give $500 to the one who will supply THE MISSING WORD in the following sentence:

"Some years ago a man in a New Jersey city made a silly wager that he could climb the high steeple of the local church. Hundreds of people gathered to witness his attempt, which ended in the man falling to his death."

The meaning of the missing word implies foolishness. While there are a dozen words that might properly be used in the sentence, there is only one correct word, and your skill in naming the correct one may gain you the prize of $500.00.

Probably you will be the only one who guesses the missing word, but if more than one answer is correct, then the money will be divided proportionately. It is not necessary to rewrite the whole of the sentence, simply say the missing word is—

The contest will close on December 20, and to the one who first guesses correctly, providing more than one is correct, we will give $100 in addition to the prize; to the second correct guess, $50; to the third, $25, and to the fourth, $15. The postoffice stamp on the envelope will be taken as the date of the guess, so that whether near or far away, all have an equal chance. All envelopes will be open to the inspection of contestants. The sentence has been sealed and will not be opened until the close of the contest, when the prize will be determined by a committee and the money sent to the successful guesser, which will no doubt prove an acceptable

CHRISTMAS PRESENT.

When sending the missing word mention whether you want the prize sent by bank draft, registered mail or express. We will send any way the winner or winners desire.

It will be asked why we offer a prize of such magnitude. We do it to introduce to the public our magnificent Chrysto diamond scarf pin and brooch pin.

The scarf pin is made of solid gold plate and the stone is one of our superb Chrysto diamonds. For fire and brilliancy it is unsurpassed. It is the finest specimen of an imported brilliant and cannot be told from a real diamond. It is acknowledged by experts to be the nearest approach to a genuine diamond ever produced.

A MARVEL OF BEAUTY.

is our magnificent crescent brooch pin. It is simply a masterpiece of workmanship. It is in solid gold plate and set with five white stones, very brilliant, with one magnificent stone in the centre of a star placed in the curve of the crescent. It is elegantly finished, and in appearance is equal to those sold by leading jewelers for $200.

We have spared neither time nor money to make the scarf and brooch pins the finest productions of the jewelers' art, and those who have seen them pronounce them unsurpassed in beauty and design.

OUR PROPOSITION.

We will send you the brooch and scarf pins, carefully packed in a neat box, postage prepaid and delivery guaranteed, for ONE DOLLAR.

WE ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEE SATISFACTION.

If you find the articles not as represented, send them back to us, and we will pay you $5 each for them. One guess at the missing word is allowed for every scarf and brooch pin purchased.

The competition will positively close on December 20, and no answer received after that date can enter the contest.

The name or names of the winners and the correct sentence will be sent by mail to each purchaser, and will also be published in this paper immediately the contest is closed. The prize money will be sent at the same time.

COUNCIL RAISES SALARIES

Certain of the City's Employees Wanted a Substantial Advance of Pay.

The regular meeting of the city council held Thursday evening had more than ordinary interest on account of the action taken in raising the salaries of some of the city employees.

A petition from Benjamin Pascoe and sixteen others, asking that an arc lamp be placed at the crossing on Ann street, near Hagerty's alley, was read.

A petition from Martin Nolan and twenty-one others, asking that an arc lamp be placed on Bluff street, was read, and on motion of Alderman Thomas was referred to the committee on electric light and gas.

The engineers at the water works submitted a petition to the council asking that their salaries be raised from $50 to $60 per month.

Down in the dark by the reeds and the river, I watch till your window's star grows bright.

See the first faint gleam tremble and quiver Grow and take shape in a steady light;

The pear tree blossom with dainty shadow Across your blind draws a pattern fine.

I watch by the river down in the meadow, Oh, would that that shadow were crossed by mine.

If I should clamber, the pear tree aiding, Tap at your window, beseech your grace.

Ah, would you lean through the pear tree's shading, Lend me your fingers, show me your face?

Vainly I weave such a dream as this is, Vainly your window beckons and glows;

Another hand will besiege your lattice, Another climber your pear tree knows.

I watch you lean through the bloom above him Reach him your hand by the window bar;

Ah, never give him your lips, if you love him, Lest he should teach you what kisses are.

Pray the good angels to guard your pillow, Lily of whiteness, my soul, my queen, Lest I should creep from my sheltering willow.

Lest I should teach him what death may mean. —Pall Mall Gazette.

GOOD CLIMATE FOR BADGE.

One Hay Fever Sufferer Who Was Benefited by Salubrious Lake Superior.

PETOSKEY HAS LOST HIS POWER TO HELP HIM.

Many Afflicted "Hays" Will Be Here Next Season—Points in Which Marquette Surpasses Other Lake Superior Resorts.

WANTS HAY FEVER CONVENTION HERE.

One of the men who is responsible for the interest which the National Hay Fever association is taking in Marquette as the place for holding its next annual convention is John Badge, of Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Badge is one of the leading men in the association and he has been a "delegate" at its annual gatherings for some years. Last year he put in the first part of his exile at Marquette and spent the time in comparative comfort, free from the choking and sneezing sensations which are so very uncomfortable even if they are not fatal.

He left here to go down to Petoskey to attend the annual convention and remained there the remainder of the season. He has since written to friends that he was much worse all the time he was on Little Traverse bay, in fact would have been nearly as well off if he had stayed at home.

He also announces his intention to give Petoskey and the resorts near there the go-by next season and come to Marquette, where he can find freedom from the unpleasant effects of his malady. He will lend his aid to get the association to meet here.

While in Petoskey he preached Marquette to the sufferers and says that as a result of his missionary labors there will be a big crowd of them up here next season whether the convention comes on not.

Marquette's claims as a hay fever resort are steadily gaining ground, and those who have been here and been benefited by the bracing northern air, full of ozone and free from dust are the best advertisements the city has, though she is making increased outlays for publicity through regular channels every year.

Marquette has one advantage which other points in the peninsula equally well situated, as far as climate is concerned, cannot offer.

She is not a camp or a village, but a handsome and progressive little city, with all the conveniences and improvements to be expected in a city of 10,000, and more than are to be found in many cities five times her size.

The place has at least three strictly first class hotels, and it is full of smaller houses and boarding places. In addition to Presque Isle, which can be reached from most any part of the city by street car for a nickel, and where the air is always cool and dustless and the scenery beautiful, there are a score of attractive drives, which will serve to fill in an hour or a day.

For those who love the water there are boat houses at the foot of Hewitt avenue and at Presque Isle, and in the harbor there are several power launches, run either by steam or gas, which can be chartered for reasonable sums and which will carry quite large parties with safety and comfort.

For those who want to take longer trips the City of Marquette offers an opportunity. In the summer time the boat makes a feature of Saturday excursions to the famous Pictured Rocks for the small fare of a dollar, and on other days it runs up the lakes as far as Huron Mountain, touching at the little camps and resorts along the shore.

If the hay fever convention meets here the delegates will find all that has been promised them fulfilled, and they will doubtless find many other things which they will consider attractions, but which the native, raised up with them on every hand, passes by unnoticed.

To Build a Better Roadbed.

Work will be begun at once by the street car company tearing up the rails on the line from the L. S. & I. merchandise dock to Presque Isle terminus.

This part of the line is not used in winter, and there has been no regular travel on it for some days. The rails will be torn up and the ties taken up right away, then as soon as the ground freezes teams will be set to work hauling in sand from Island Beach and building a solid roadbed two feet higher than the present of the road.

As the level of the lake this year is a foot higher than it has been before it has raised the water in the swamp nearly to the level of the track. This has had a tendency to undermine the roadbed and has made it necessary for the cars to be run slowly on that part of the line.

When the new roadbed is built and the track has been relaid it is thought it will be possible to run the cars as fast across the swamp as on any section of the line. This will result in a saving of two or three minutes, which is quite an object when cars run on such a close schedule as they do here.

Can Ride Where He Pleases.

Ephie Gilmore, "late of the Morgan & Wright crack track team" but really of Marinette, who made numerous acquaintances of both sexes while spending a couple weeks in Marquette, is a free man.

He has been released from jail in the copper country, where he was held several months to be tried for the alleged seduction of a seventeen-year-old girl. He promised to marry her, but this would have been a difficult thing to do legally as he already had one wife. From the Marinette Daily Eagle's account it appears that the testimony of the girl was so weak the case broke down and the prosecuting attorney moved for his discharge. The Eagle says Ephie's experience in the north will be a good lesson for him.

To Retail Buyers and Consumers: The Cinderella will supply potatoes, apples, cabbage and roots during the winter, giving safe and perfect storage to the same, and delivering as required an order placed now.

MARQUETTE MINETTES.

People talk so much about the irony of Fate they rarely give time or thought to doing the harsh goddess justice.

Fate is not always ironical or unkind. She is often just, even amusingly and poetically so, and while she visits an affliction on poor unfortunate mortals she sometimes makes it up to them and leaves them no worse off than they were.

One of Marquette's wellknown wheelmen had an experience of the sort a day or two ago. In his case Fate wasn't at all generous, but she was just to the point of nice exactitude.

In the morning when he was riding out Washington street to his work he espied a half dollar lying in the road. Of course he dismounted and picked the coin up.

That particular half looked like another coin of similar denomination. No one came along to claim it, and there was no reasonable way he could have established his ownership if he had.

That night when the wheelman rode home from work the half dollar was jingling against the keys in his pocket. But here's where Fate got in her work.

Just at the spot where he found the half dollar in the morning he met with an accident, lost the valve cap to his wheel. He took the bike to a repair shop and it cost him just half a dollar to get it fixed.

He was no better off and no worse than he was when he started to work in the morning.

Fate undoubtedly knew of the accident and possibly led him where he would see the coin and reimburse himself in advance for the unexpected (to him) loss.

The question is how the goddess squared it with the fellow who lost the half dollar.

Some people take to electricity in an amateur way as naturally as a duck takes to a mill pond, but there are other folks who are perfectly helpless in the presence of anything electrical, from a door bell to a dynamo.

In this age when half the conveniences of life are furnished by electrical energy in one form or another it is very unhandy for the people who cannot turn their hand to small repairs, or at least find out what is the matter with their bells and lights and whether it is necessary to call in the electrician.

The electrician makes a good thing out of the unhandy people, but he laughs at their stupidity and sometimes swears under his breath.

"You see what's the matter of your light," said one of the craft. "The filament's broke; it's burnt out."

"I ought to have seen it myself," answered the unhandy man, apologetically. "Oh, you needn't feel bad; there are lots of people just like you. If everybody knew how to do his own repair work there wouldn't be any electricians."

"A few months ago I had an experience that was the worst ever. I was called down to South Marquette late in the evening. I asked the party over the telephone what was the matter. He said he didn't know, only he had a light that wouldn't burn, and he wanted me to come down right away and fix it."

"I went down there. The only thing the matter with the lamp was that he'd forgot to turn the switch. I pretended to tinker around it a few minutes, and then I turned it on and it went all right."

"I sent in a bill, too. That's what I'm in the business for."

There Are Others.

Neither the Marquette Whist club, nor even the Upper Peninsula league occupies the whole beach along Lake Superior.

Way up at the far end there is a little section of the rocky shore which is occupied by the Duluth whist club. This is an organization made up of some of the best people Duluth affords, and who in spite of their high social position have managed to attain a very commendable skill in the silent game.

They have heard that there is a whist club in Marquette and they have heard that the upper peninsula boasts a league, which is said to contain the very best whist talent which the mineral ranges and forest tracks of northern Michigan are able to produce.

For this reason they are very anxious to meet either a team representing the Marquette club or a team representing the league, and if a meeting can be arranged at Duluth they promise to entertain the visitors hospitably before the defeat and make merry with them either as visitors or vanquished after the battle.

If either organization would like to get a game its officers are invited to correspond with W. Buchanan.
