Stage to the Camps. William Stewart and John R. Gordon returned last night from a tour of the lumber camps. On the trip the former arranged to run a stage line this fall and winter and carry the mail for all the camps. There are thirteen camps on the route as now arranged. This runs as far up as Lake Independence, forty-five miles. According to the contract Mr. Stewart is to run one stage a week. It will leave from his barn every Monday morning. While this is all he is obliged to run he will run as many extras as business demands. For the past three weeks he has averaged a trip a day.

First Deer Shipped. The first Michigan-shot deer shipped so far this season arrived here yesterday over the Western Express. There were four of them, all shipped from Onota. One of the deer was shot by Bob Humes. In a few days deer shipped by express will be no novelty, but the arrival of the four yesterday excited considerable interest.

Snake Poison in the Air. Is the Odor of the Rattlesnake Accompanied by a Dangerous Dust? Louis B. Bailey, of San Mateo, Fla., shot a rattlesnake a short time ago and cut its rattles off. Soon afterward his face and hands became inflamed, and he showed some of the symptoms of ivy poisoning. Later the swelling went down and was forgotten. Bailey shot another rattlesnake dead, and, as before, cut the tail off. His left eye swelled until it closed, and his hands and wrists itched and swelled.

GOVERNMENT CROP REPORT. Average Yield of Corn Much Below That of 1896—Conditions Abroad. Washington, Nov. 10.—The November report of the department of agriculture, issued today, gives 23.7 bushels as the average yield per acre of corn, according to the preliminary returns of the department's correspondents, corresponding to a preliminary estimate last year of 27.3 bushels and 26.2 in 1896. The average yield of the principal corn states is as follows: New York, 32.5; Ohio, 32.3; Illinois, 31.5; Kansas, 19; Missouri, 25; Nebraska, 23; Pennsylvania, 36; Indiana, 28; Iowa, 29. The average percentage of the quality is 86.3, compared with 88.4 in 1896.

ON THE CHICAGO BOARD. Chicago, Nov. 10.—The wheat market today was fairly active, with 1/4 @ 1 cent range, closing 1/4 under the highest and 2/8 @ 2 cents higher than yesterday. The advance was due to higher Liverpool in the face of our drop of yesterday. The strength abroad was said to be due to adverse advices from Argentina, where frosts are said to have damaged wheat. These reports were confirmed by direct cables from Argentina received here and at New York, and on this news shorts covered freely and prices advanced. The market reacted on free realizations by longs. But reports of large exports at the seaboard, where foreigners were buying freely, with a bullish Kentucky crop report, export sales to France at St. Louis and reports of an excellent continental demand there, and with the statement that 135 boatloads were taken at New York, caused renewed buying toward the close.

Widened Conspiracy. Rio Janeiro, Nov. 10.—The authorities are now convinced that the attack on President Moraes and the killing of General Bittencourt, late minister of war, last Friday, was the result of a widespread conspiracy. The government's proclamation declaring the federal district of Nietheroy in a state of siege has been ratified by congress, which has passed a bill confirming it. Lee Returns to His Post. New York, Nov. 10.—General Fitzhugh Lee, United States consul general at Havana, today sailed for his post by the steamer Segurana. Mobile, Ala., Nov. 10.—Three new cases and two deaths from yellow fever today.

AMERICAN INDUSTRY WINS. Baldwin Locomotive Works Gets Some Big Orders in Competition With Foreigners. Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—The Baldwin locomotive works, which recently built and shipped forty-four locomotives to Japan for use on a railroad there has just booked contracts for fifty-seven locomotives which call for fifty-seven locomotives of varying types, involving an expenditure of about $600,000 and necessitating an early increase in the big plant's present working force of about three thousand men. The most significant point in connection with these orders is that the contracts in a number of instances have heretofore been awarded to English and other foreign makers, and in the present instance these manufacturers were active competitors against the Baldwin company for the orders.

NATIONAL GRANGE CONVENES IN ANNUAL SESSION AT HARRISBURG. Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 10.—The National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, convened here today. Delegates from almost all the states represented in the national body are present. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. E. S. McDowell of New York, showed the finances of the order to be in satisfactory condition, with a larger amount of funds on hand than in previous years. Secretary Trimble's report showed 141 new granges and nearly a hundred reorganizations. The credentials committee made a partial report, and the grange proceeded to receive the reports of its officers.

TO CHANGE THE TERMINUS

Street Car Line to Presque Isle Will End Back of the Humes' Cottage.

WILL LAND PEOPLE NEARER CENTER OF THE ISLAND.

Believed Change Will Bring Added Patronage to the Line—Will Also Survey Extension Through the Island Beach Addition.

PROJECTED ST. RY. IMPROVEMENTS.

There is a difference between Marquette and Escanaba as a place of residence.

Not the least of the advantages of the Queen City is that it has a street car line which is so well supported that the system will probably be enlarged next season, whereas in Escanaba the company has failed of support and has practically abandoned operations.

The line has quit business altogether as an electric road, but the company good naturedly runs a mule car to and from every train. It has been an open secret that the line has been operated at a serious loss for some time.

In Marquette the street car company is not getting rich, but it is making some money, and far from abandoning operations has schemes on foot to enlarge the system, which will afford the city much better transit accommodations, by increasing the miles of track and adding to the rolling stock.

One of the schemes for improvement, which has progressed far enough for publicity, is a change in the terminus at Presque Isle.

The line now runs up onto the island and ends just past John Oudotte's cottage. It is proposed to turn the line the other way, have it run down across Peter White's property, and end a little beyond Bob Humes' cottage.

The park board has always objected more or less to the track crossing the road which crosses the neck of the island. By making this change in terminus it will not be necessary for the track to cross the road, for it will swing before it gets there and run parallel with the road to the new terminus but about 150 feet on the near side of it.

The exact location of the new stopping place is not yet known, but it will be somewhere on the beach near the point designated.

Principal of the many advantages of the new location is the increased business it will undoubtedly enable the line to do. The great majority of the people who go to Presque Isle prefer the west side. As they are now landed they are compelled to make quite a walk to get to the animal cages, or to the picnic places on the beach farther along.

Under the new arrangement they will be landed within a stone's throw of either attraction, an inducement which the officers of the company believe will be the cause of increased travel to the island.

There are many people who would go out there with their lunches for dinner or supper who do not go now because it is such a long distance they have to travel to carry their baskets to get any place where they can build a fire and make coffee, without which article, boiling hot, the majority of the public finds a meal incomplete.

The proposed extension will make the line somewhat longer than it is at present, but not enough so to affect the time on the run. With the more solid roadbed, which is to be built this fall and winter from the L. S. & I. dock, it will be possible to run the cars enough faster to more than make up in speed what is lost in distance.

When the survey is made for the change in the line it is the intention to make a survey for a grade through the Island Beach addition. It is the belief of those interested in that property that it is going to be built up in the comparatively near future, and that a spur run out there will pay.

Besides the patronage from residents in the addition there would be another class of people who would resort to the beach beyond there, and even to Middle Island Point, for picnics and outings, which they could enjoy with less restrictions than in Presque Isle park.

The line through Island Beach will hardly be built next season, but while the project is still on paper it is very much so and is sure to be realized in a few years if expected real estate developments happen in that direction.

How long before navigation will close?

This is a question which many tongues reiterate every November. There was a time when the closing of navigation meant a great deal more to Marquette than it does today, but the habit acquired in the early days, when with the closing of navigation, the city was practically cut off from communication with the outside world, still remains.

While in one sense the closing of navigation is not such an important thing as it was twenty or forty years ago, in one way it is of a great deal more moment, because it brings idleness to many men who follow the docks for a livelihood for themselves and families. Some of these are badly in need of every day's work they can secure, while others have their "stake" to carry them through the winter.

According to all reports the ore trimmers in the lower harbor have not done at all well this year, though those on the L. S. & I. dock are said to have done fairly. The coal heavers had a long period of idleness during the big strike, but since the boats began to come again they have displaced one another at the docks in an almost continuous line, and the heavers have had plenty of work to do of late. The lumber shovers have done well all season. There is some shipping yet to be done from here before navigation closes.

The prospects are that actual navigation will remain open as late or later than it did last year, but it by no means a sure thing that the volume of business at the end of the season will be as great.

Several vessel captains that have been here during the past week have said that they were on their last trip, at least to Lake Superior. One or two of them said they might take a couple of short runs on the lower lakes before laying up.

It is noticeable that the captains who are making these statements are not all on the "old hookers." They are made as well by captains on good, steel boats, 2,500 and 3,000 tons burden.

They say that about all the ore needed this winter has been taken down and that there is no money to be made at present rates. The grain rate from Duluth is also a losing one.

These statements are supplemented almost daily by press dispatches which tell of fleets being laid up for the winter. Some of the boats that are quitting are among the biggest on the lakes. When these can't run at a profit there is small hope for the little fellows.

The weather so far is much more open than it was this time last year, when the canal closed December 8. Superintendent Wheeler of the locks is trying to get permission from the war department to close this year the fifteenth of November to remove a mitre sill, and so increase the available depth of the water in the locks that boats of the largest draft can pass through.

As it is now the limit is seventeen feet three, and in practically all boats drawing over seventeen feet pass through the Canadian locks. The shutting down of the American locks will not necessarily close navigation, as the Canadian locks will still be open for use.

From present weather indications navigation may remain open a month yet. According to the sailors' belief this will be a good month on the lakes as it started with a full moon. The weather will not change for the worse till there is a change of moon.

But in spite of this good omen it is believed the last end of the season will see a big tapering off in the volume of business, even if a few boats do continue to run late.

St. Paul's Choir Entertainment.

At the opera house this evening Miss Clara Louise Thompson will present "The Chinook" as a monologue with a picture accompaniment. The entertainment comes under the auspices of St. Paul's choir.

In Minneapolis, where Miss Thompson appeared with great success, all the papers speak highly of her. The Tribune says:

"Socially and artistically it would seem that the picture play has come to stay. It is one of the few refined novelties for which we are indebted to the stage. Its bright and attractive idea is adaptable both to the parlor or to the stage, and in both fields a future is reserved for it, and with the masterly impersonation of the separate roles by Miss Thompson, as the scenes succeeded each other, the illusion is very similar to that of the play enacted by a full cast upon the stage. Her voice is competent to undertake such work, being strong, flexible and sweet in tone. The dramatic quality is abundant and the author has not overlooked that fact in supplying lines which bring it out."

This is the opinion of the St. Cloud Daily Times:

"The Chinook" is a novel entertainment. By the aid of the picture play people will be enabled to see a drama occasionally without the aid of a stage or an opera house. The different situations and scenes from the play were skillfully produced. Miss Thompson is a charming reader."

Progressing at Dead River.

It will not be long now till the work at the electric light station will be completed. Then there will be power enough to run the new dynamo, and the days when the small machine struggled along with a load half again as great as it was calculated to bear will be of the past.

Work began two days ago on the wooden flume, and 150 feet of it has been built already, leaving 500 feet to be built. This is not a very big job and should be completed in five or six days.

The steel section of the flume, which is being built by contract with the Muskegon Boiler works, is also nearing completion. Work was begun on that five or six weeks ago, since which time a force of boilermakers and helpers has been steadily employed. The contractors have been favored by fine weather, considering the time of the year, and have lost but little time from bad days.

Of the 2,000 feet to build they have now completed 1,700 feet, or about that. All the material is on the ground and if they continue to be favored with good weather they will be able to finish in a very short time.

The iron for the bridge is also all on the ground, and one span of the first bridge has been put together and is ready to be set in place.
