POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

Strongly Advocated by Postmaster
General Gary in His Annual Report.

CALLS ATTENTION TO THEIR SUCCESS
IN EUROPE.

Establishment of the System Here Would Bring Out Millions of Dead Capital Held by Those Having No Faith in Private Institutions.

URGES ACTION BY CONGRESS.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The first annual report of Postmaster General Gary was made public tonight. Its feature is strong advocacy of postal savings depositories, a scheme over which Mr. Gary has worked for many months in the formulation of plans to present to the president and congress. He says the time is ripe for their establishment and the adoption of a well-organized system would confer a great boon upon a large number of people and ultimately be of inestimable benefit to the whole country.

The postmaster general's estimates of the revenues and expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1899, are: Total postal revenue for 1897, $82,665,462; add 5 per cent, $4,133,273. Estimated revenue for 1898, $86,798,736; add 7 per cent, $6,075,911. Total estimated revenue for 1899, $92,874,647. Estimated expenditures for 1898, $98,922,760. The deficiency for 1899 is estimated at $6,048,112.

The following is an abstract of the report: "The increase in the postal deficit for 1897 is largely a reflection of the depressed business conditions which prevailed over the United States the first three-quarters of that period. There has been no extravagance in expenditure, save that obligated by law."

Reiterating the injustice inflicted both upon the postal revenues and the people by the second-class mail matter carriage regulations, the enactment by congress of some measure to remedy the wrong, similarly pointed out by past postmasters general, is urged. As to this the postmaster general says:

"If this were done there would be an end to the postal deficits and the service could be enlarged and popularized by a broad extension of free delivery without infringement upon the general resources of the government and eventually result in the much desired reduction in letter postage to 1 cent per ounce.

"No method of perfecting the organization of the postal service has proved more effective than the consolidation of postoffices. The experimental rural free delivery has been generously appreciated; the few expenditures have conferred greater benefits in proportion, and it has unquestionably proved a potent factor in attaining what should be the chief aim of the government—the granting of the best possible postal facilities to the farming class."

The report reviews in detail the operations of the various branches of the department. That portion on the subject of postal savings, in brief, is as follows:

"Many millions of dollars are undoubtedly secreted by people who have little or no confidence in ordinary securities and monetary institutions organized by private citizens. It is dead capital. But if its owners could be inspired with absolute confidence in a security investment, it is altogether probable that the bulk of this fund would find its way into the channels of trade and commerce.

"If the government undertook this task, the service would undoubtedly be gladly accepted by the people. Their faith in the government is unbounded. Their little savings, which separately could hardly be put out at interest, would amount, in the aggregate, to a sum that could be invested to their advantage. It would tend to cultivate the thrift of a large class; realizing the advantage of depositing with the government, instead of wastefully and uselessly expending, it would tend to better relationship; bring into close relationship the government and its citizens, and developing practical and enduring patriotism.

"Postal savings is an accomplished fact in nearly every country in Europe; in the British dependencies of both hemispheres, and even in Hawaii. In Great Britain seven million depositors have upward of $50,000,000 in savings accumulated during thirty-five years. The deposits in Canada in twenty years have exceeded twenty-two millions. These vast accumulations were made with the least possible loss to the governments, which guarantee re-payment, and with minimum cost to the millions of depositors. More than a thousand postal savings accounts in European offices are held by minors and over two-thirds by those of the most humble callings.

"Security, and not the rate of interest, is the primary and essential condition of such system; and the bonds of states, counties and municipalities and real estate furnish an illimitable field."

BLAMES THE CITIZEN'S UNION.

Platt Defends the Course of the Republican Machine in the Recent Campaign.

New York, Nov. 14.—Senator Thomas C. Platt tonight gave out a statement in which he said:

"It is the plain purpose of those Republican factionists, who, falling in every effort repeatedly made to control the Republican organization, projected Seth Low into the municipal campaign, thereby dividing the anti-Tammany vote, to force into the public mind the impression that responsibility for the division is attached not to them, but to the Republican organization, and, just as during the campaign they stopped at no act of treachery in order to create dissension, so now they are hesitating at no falsehood nor calumny in order to promote it and keep it alive."

Mr. Platt then reviews the events leading up to the campaign, including the conference in which all anti-Tammany candidates were invited to participate. In concluding, the senator says:

"The Citizen's union refused to participate in this conference, frankly assigning as its reason the fact it was committed to the go-it-alone-policy. Can any honest man in the face of that fact, charge responsibility for disunion upon the Republican party? Does not every honest man know that if the Citizen's union had gone into the proposed conference united action would have been inevitable? It is not plain enough that the Republicans could not possibly have broken up, or have allowed to be broken up, a conference which they themselves had originated? "The Republican organization in New York, in the city of New York no less than in the country districts, is still powerful, earnest and devoted. In the menace of another Bryanite campaign factional controversies will soon be forgotten and Republicans will be Republicans again."

SILVER MINE ON FIRE.

Underground Blaze in the Smuggler at Aspen, Colo.

Threatens to Spread to Connecting Workings of Other Companies, and to Drive Out Blaze Would Flood All.

MANY LIVES JEOPARDIZED.

Aspen, Colo., Nov. 14.—A fire that bids fair to promise the closing down of every big mine in the camp is raging in the eighth level of the Smuggler mine. The cause of the catastrophe is supposed to be spontaneous combustion, although there are a few who are inclined to the theory that a careless miner and a candle are responsible. So far the fire is confined to a large crib and is burning at a point eight hundred feet below surface.

All efforts to reach the fire have proven unsuccessful, and an attempt to place bulkheads in the connections came near losing the lives of some fifty men. Over forty of these were so overcome by the deadly gas that for a time their lives were despaired of.

The burning crib is located thirty feet from the Mollie Gibson, and the Smuggler-Mollie connection has furnished a draught for the fire. The Mollie Gibson people attempted to bulkhead their connections, but came near losing a number of men. At one time twelve unconscious miners were hoisted out on the shaft house floor. Shortly thereafter six more were hoisted out, in only a slightly less serious condition. Miner Ned Homgeson, while in a dazed condition, fell down an one chute and sustained serious, although it is believed not fatal, injuries. At 1:30 Manager Hallett, Master Mechanic Carson and Cageman Wright made a trip into the burning mine through the Free Silver shaft. Although underground less than fifteen minutes, they were all overcome by gas and had a miraculous escape from death.

To flood the mine means the drowning out of all the mines in the camp, including the Free Silver, Dallas, Smuggler, Mollie Gibson, Argentinum-Junata deep shaft, Millnee and Aspen Mining & Smelting company. A force of men is now at work putting in a steam line in the eighth level. Manager Hallett states he expects to have this in operation tomorrow.

Should the disaster prove as far reaching as it is generally supposed tonight, Aspen as a mining camp will be seldom heard from until silver reaches a figure far beyond beyond its present value.

WHITE ON CURRENCY REFORM.

Author of "Money and Banking" Proposes a Plan to the Commission.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Horace White, whose book upon "Money and Banking" attracted so much attention, has submitted some clean-cut answers to the interrogatories of the monetary commission, regarding improvements in the currency system of the United States. Mr. White is an outspoken advocate of the retirement of greenbacks and the adoption of an elastic banking currency. He declares that silver dollars should be redeemed in gold, and that in a financial sense there is no difference between the several forms of fiduciary circulation, of which silver dollars are a part. "The latter," he declares, "are metallic greenbacks." He does not believe the amount of circulation presented for redemption would be any greater than at present if silver were redeemable in gold. In general, he approves of the plan adopted by the American Bankers' association at Baltimore in October, 1894, commonly called "the Baltimore plan."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The First Scientist church of Chicago and the largest house of that denomination in the world was dedicated today. Four services, attended by eight thousand people, were held, visiting Christian Scientists from all over the country being present. The church, which is a veritable temple in architecture, stands in Draxel boulevard facing Bowen avenue. The building alone cost over $100,000. It has a seating capacity of 2,000.

Too Old for the Office.

St. Louis, Nov. 14.—The Belleville district miners will hold a convention tomorrow which will be of importance. District President Green will tender his resignation. He gives as his reason his advanced age, which prevents his close attention to the duties of the office.

LYNCHING BEE IN N. DA.

Three Indian Murderers of the Spicer Family Strung Up at Williamsport.

FORTY MASKED MEN DID IT EARLY SUNDAY MORNING.

After Gaining an Entrance to the Jail Through a Mistake of the Watchman. They Drag the Victims Outside and the Job Is Speedily Done.

GRIND OF JUSTICE WAS TOO SLOW.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 14.—Alex Couddot, an Indian half-breed, and Paul Holvtrac and Philip Ireland, full-blooded Indians, the first of whom was sentenced to death for the murder of six members of the Spicer family last February and who had just been granted a new trial by the supreme court, and the latter two self-confessed accessories in the murder, were taken from jail early this morning and lynched by a mob.

The lynching was coolly planned and was carried out without a break in the program. Williamsport, where the hanging took place, is forty miles from the city. There were about forty men concerned in the lynching, and they rode into Williamsport on horseback late Saturday night. The jail in which the prisoners were detained is a substantial stone structure and in charge of Deputy Sheriff Kelly.

Since the confinement of the prisoners therein so great has been the fear they might escape in some way that one man has marched all night within the jail, and Saturday night Kelly was on the watch. There was a meeting of the lodge of Woodmen in a building near the jail, and as Kelly is a member he expected to meet some of the members of the lodge after the meeting adjourned. At 2 o'clock this morning there was a rap at the outer door, and Kelly thought that the persons he expected had arrived.

No sooner was the door opened than the mob crowded into the corridors. All of them were masked. The leader presented a revolver at the head of the deputy and demanded that he open the cells in which the Indians were confined. Kelly saw that resistance was useless and unlocked the cells. The murderers were dragged from their beds; ropes were fastened about their necks, and they were dragged outside to a huge beef windlass, which had been erected to suspend the carcasses of slaughtered beefs, and there strung up. The mob then dispersed.

Another Down South.

Osceola, Ark., Nov. 14.—Henry Phillips, alias "Doc" Jones, a negro, self-confessed murderer and moonshiner, was lynched in the court yard here at midnight last night by a mob composed of prominent citizens of the town and surrounding country. The direct cause of the lynching was the murder of a merchant near here by Phillips a few days ago.

"KING OF THE DUDES" IN TROUBLE.

J. Waldier Kirk Arrested in New York on the Charge of Murder.

New York, Nov. 14.—J. Waldier Kirk, known as "The King of Dudes," who came here recently from Chicago, was today arraigned in police court on the charge of shooting Richard Mandelbaum last night in the Hotel Girard. He was held in $2,500 bail for examination Nov. 23. According to the police, Mandelbaum failed to find his wife in her room when he returned to the hotel Saturday and went to Kirk's room and kicked in the door. Kirk is said to have fired five times at the intruder. One bullet entered the body just above the heart and one struck him in the groin. Kirk says he shot in self-defense, declaring Mandelbaum struck him with a blunt instrument.

DISCOVER A SMUGGLING PLOT.

Customs Officials Seize 500 Ounces of Phenacetin at Port Huron.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 14.—The customs officers have unearthed what promises to prove extensive operations in phenacetin smuggling. Five hundred ounces of the drug were confiscated today. It was found in the home of Mrs. Frazer. The woman is under arrest. A New York firm receives a royalty on all the phenacetin brought into the country. The smugglers avoid this, besides a duty of 60 per cent.

MISTAKEN FOR A DEER.

Fred Cawling Shot Dead Near Channing by an Old Hunter.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Nov. 14.—Fred Cawling, manager of Wright Bros' extensive cedar business, was shot dead today near Channing. He was mistaken for a deer by an old hunter, Ned Walmsley. This makes the fifth fatality since the deer season opened a week ago.

Shows Where Saw Is Buried.

New York, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Naeck was taken from the Queens county jail this morning to a point between Flushing and College point known as College Hill. In her confession Mrs. Naeck had indicated the locality in which the saw was buried. She thought she could find the spot and when taken there indicated the vicinity. An effort will be made tomorrow to recover the saw.

Today's Weather.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The following is the weather forecast for tomorrow for Upper Michigan: Clearing in morning, fair in afternoon; colder; brisk southerly winds becoming northwesterly.

Helped Build a Public Party.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Karl Roser, one of the founders of the Republican party in Wisconsin and a well-known German-American journalist, died today, aged eighty-seven.

FROM FOOT TO KNEE

Ohio Woman Suffered Great Agony From a Terrible Sore—Her Story of the Case, and Her Cure.

"For many years I was afflicted with a milk leg, and a few years ago it broke out in a sore and spread from my foot to my knee. I suffered great agony. It would burn and itch all the time and discharge a great deal. My health was good with the exception of this sore. I tried a great many kinds of salve, but all would irritate the sore so that I could hardly stand the pain. I could not go near the fire without suffering intensely. Some one sent me papers containing testimonials of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I told my husband I would like to try this medicine. He got me a bottle and I found it helped me. I kept on taking it until my limb was completely healed. I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla enough for the great benefit it has been to me. It cleanses the blood of all impurities and leaves it rich and pure." MRS. ANNA E. EAKEN, Whittlesby, Ohio.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

The Superior Leader of the 12th contained an interview with N. L. Bendz, editor of the Wisconsin Svenska Tribune, a Scandinavian paper published at Superior, who has just returned from a tour through Norway, Sweden, Finland and Russia, in which that gentleman gives a very entertaining account of what he saw and learned during his journeyings in these countries. A portion of it deals with the practical workings of government ownership of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, and municipal ownership and operation of street railways, as well as water and lighting systems, and the benefits derived from this policy by the people of Sweden, and will be of great interest to our readers. Mr. Bendz, being asked if he found many changes in Sweden since he was there before, he said: "You ask what particular changes have been inaugurated in Sweden? I can answer in all truth, there are many, and very radical, departures from the old systems. Labor is higher for one thing. The cause can be traced to the large emigration in the past. Because as it may, the people seem happier more contented and better able to enjoy the pleasures of life. The cost of living has been reduced by a large per cent., and the reasons are numerous and easy of comprehension. "To begin with, the legislative bodies have put into practice in several instances the principle of government ownership of the principal railroad lines, the telegraph and telephone, besides inaugurating a savings system very similar to the postal savings bank. Then, too, all large municipalities have assumed active control of the street railway systems, water plants and lighting facilities. The direct result has been a great decrease in cost of travel, light and water supply. "Trusts are practically unknown, corporations are the exception and the direct result of concentration of wealth on business competition is obviated to a surprising degree. "The effect of all these neutralizing influences on the people is a happy one. As the bulk of the population is agriculturally inclined, this new feature has emphasized the thrift characteristics of the masses, and they are finding a livelihood is easier earned than ever. "As an instance of the reduced cost of the useful things in life, I will mention the telephone. Under government supervision the customer pays a sum equal to $25 in our money to have an instrument put in his home. After the connection is put in working order, the rate of rental amounts to but $3 per year. As a consequence all the small towns and hamlets are thoroughly equipped, and even the farmers have very generally placed them in their homes, where they are fast supplanting the telegraph and mail for business. "Then, too, the hotels have supplied all their rooms with long distance telephones. With no extra charge I was enabled to communicate with my old home in the little town of Skone while lying in my bed in a Stockholm hotel. Skone, has but 400 people, still there are forty telephones in the homes there."

TOO LATE FOR AUTONOMY.

The Havana correspondent of the St. Louis Republic in a special to that paper of recent date, says that Captain General Blanco, since his arrival in Cuba, has been keenly disappointed in one respect. He has discovered that there are few genuine autonomists in Cuba, the great majority of the former autonomists having joined the ranks of the insurgents. Therefore the proposition of autonomy as a basis of settlement comes too late. Had it been made before the brutal Weyler was sent over and intensified the feelings of hostility to Spain, it would very probably have been accepted. Many Cubans of prominence who were interviewed absolutely denied that they intended to compromise with Spain. "We will buy our independence or fight for it," they say, "but independence we will have." Another of the patriots said: "Two years ago I deplored war; but now, I say, let it continue to the bitter end. Spain is a trickster, and even if Sagasta is in earnest, the ultra Spaniards here will prevent his ideas being carried out." So long as this sentiment prevails among the Cubans it will be idle for the McKinley administration to counsel submission to Spain on the promise of autonomy and reform. The proper course for the United States to pursue is to kindly but firmly advise Spain to withdraw her troops and sell the island for a fair price. The money received would help Spain's depleted treasury and the saving of war expenses would enable the Spanish government to avoid utter bankruptcy. Hugh Grant, who was at one time mayor of New York, thanks to the Tammany vote, doesn't believe that Bryan is sufficiently compliant in the matter of convictions to make a successful political leader. Perhaps, but the country is cursed with political leaders who are ready to adopt any kind of a belief if they think it will promote their own advancement. They think and plan for themselves. It may be that the people, out of sheer disgust with the insincerity of these accommodating gentry, will some day turn for leadership, in so far as they may need it, to a man who really believes in what he champions, and would prefer defeat advocating what he holds to be right to victory as the exponent of what he knows to be wrong. Mr. Bryan may be wrong in the financial views that he advocates, but he is at least honest and sincere, whereas with most of the political leaders of the present day the only consideration is what will take best with the voters, not what the country needs.

Governor Pingree told a good story, in his address in New York, about the facts accomplished at Detroit of a strictly reformatory kind during the past ten years. There was a good deal of Pingree in the address, as might be expected; but the governor has certainly made his work and influence count for something in Detroit affairs. His prediction of the "doom" of the Republican party "unless it ceases to cater to syndicates, trusts and monopolies," is a usual ingredient of his speeches and an expression found in all the speeches of the popocratic orators who omit to remark that the only party which has ever really taken steps to remove the evils of trusts and monopolies is the Republican party.—Minneapolis Journal.

Where are you at? Governor Pingree is no Populist, but a Republican from away back in Maine, where they breed the right kind of 'em, and was elected chief magistrate of this great commonwealth as the candidate of that party. He has a blunt way of telling the truth sometimes, but that doesn't make him a Populist. Then, too, there is no man in the country who has had a better opportunity to judge of the relations between the big corporations and his party than Pingree, and when he talks on that subject he speaks from knowledge, for hasn't he had a chance to learn all about both by just watching what "Jim" has been doing in Michigan all these years as a political boss and corporation manager?

Senator Wolcott attributes the failure of his roving commission to obtain any concession for silver from the British government to the hubbub created by the press and bankers of London when it was announced that Salisbury seriously thought of re-opening the Indian mints to the white metal. If the senator really believes that the British premier ever had the intention of making the concession mentioned he was nearly taken in by Salisbury. It would be all the British premier's political head is worth to do anything of the kind. England's interest is greatly subserved by maintenance of the gold standard and she will never consent to its abandonment, or to making concessions that would ultimately lead to its abandonment. Salisbury merely held out a beguiling hope to the American commission in order that the storm of protest that he knew would follow the Bank of England's announcement of what it could and might do would let him down easily by averting the necessity of a blunt refusal to co-operate with the governments of France and the United States in enlarging the use of silver as money. There is more diplomacy about English statesmanship than Senator Wolcott and his associates appear to be aware of, or they would not have allowed themselves to be taken in so completely by England's astute premier.

It isn't all Democratic talk, this discussion that we hear of the possibility that Mark Hanna may, after all, fail to secure an election to the United States senate for the full term. The Oshkosh Northwestern, which is a pretty sound Republican paper, has this to say about the outlook for him:

Advice from Columbus, Ohio, indicate pretty plainly that a desperate and bitter warfare against the election of Mark Hanna to the senate is now on. Charles L. Kurtz, former chairman of the Republican state central committee, has come out boldly and energetically in opposition to Hanna. He declares that by the time the legislature meets the opposition to him will be so crystallized that Hanna will not be even a leading candidate. He further declares that Hanna's defeat will not be an affront to the president, who is already tired of having Hanna pose as his political creator. Kurtz further says that during the past campaign there was no political intercourse between Governor Bushnell and Hanna, which is, perhaps, the most significant part of Kurtz's statement, for the reason that all indications point to the likelihood that the Democrats are willing to unite with the anti-Hanna men for Bushnell's election, provided he will accept. In fact it has been considered that Hanna's main chance of election lay in Governor Bushnell's refusal to be a candidate. It is evident, at least, that the senatorial contest in Ohio will be a sharp and bitter one.

If Carnegie buys up all the iron mines in the country there will be no doubt about his having a cinch on the iron and steel business in the United States. But he has only made a start yet, and what he has secured has cost him quite a pot of money. Even the millions that he controls spread out somewhat thin when the attempt is made to cover the iron and steel industries of the United States with them.

A number of women are organizing to go to the Klondike region in the spring to reform the miners there. They were wise in postponing their trip till spring. If they were out there during the winter they would stand some chance of meeting a not uncommon fate of missionaries, for the miners might be driven to the necessity of eating them.

A canvass of the senate discloses that there is a majority of fifteen in that body opposed to the currency scheme originally proposed by Cleveland and adopted by the present administration, and also against any scheme of currency reform which proposes placing control of the volume of our paper money with the national banks; also to making bonds issued by the general government payable in gold instead of "coin." This hopelessly sidetracks the plan of currency reform to which the administration stands committed, so the country will have to get along with the present miserable make-shift system of finance as best it may until another national election is held, if not longer. It would seem that with a system admitted to be defective we ought to be able to change it for the better soon after its faultiness is revealed. There are some exasperating things about the workings of this vaunted governmental system of ours, but the worst of these are due to the extent of which partyism obtains in its legislative and administrative departments.

The St. Paul Dispatch calls Governor Pingree's attention to the axiom, "On their own merits modest men are silent." The St. Paul paper doesn't know the governor or it would not have made the mistake of assuming him to be a modest man. He has many good qualities but modesty is not among his virtues.

GORMAN'S POLITICAL CAREER.

Probably Permanent Retirement from National Affairs of a Hitherto Successful Politician.

Senator Gorman's loss of the legislature of Maryland, assuring the election of a Republican to succeed him on March 4, 1898, is one of the most keenly realized results of the recent contests, so far as the capital is concerned, says a Washington correspondent in the New York Times. For Mr. Gorman, while nominally a Marylander, has been a district man all his life. For five years ago he was a page in the senate. He has never wandered far away from the senate since then, and he has come to know all the interests of the district, to help the district wherever he could find an opportunity, and to help himself whenever he could do both. Mr. Gorman has sought to make friends, and he was not one of the sort who go about seeking constitutional excuses for refusing to obtain advantages from the hands of political opponents. His prominence as a political figure since 1884 has not changed him personally in his relations with the district of Columbia, but there can be little doubt that he ceased to be regarded as an "easy boss" almost from the time of the inauguration of President Cleveland. As a matter of fact, his star has been steadily declining since 1885.

Mr. Gorman dissembled well. Never quite liking the civil service law of 1883, he never opposed it in public with boisterous wrath. He was as much annoyed by its restrictions as was Senator Cockrell, who scolded about it and denounced it in good set terms. Still, Gorman and Cockrell managed to do so well under it that when the law was ten years old it was asserted, and the assertion was not denied, that Senators Cockrell and Gorman had more proteges in office in the district and elsewhere than any six other senators. Both of these men have felt the effects of the different extensions of the rules to include a larger number of employees. A man so adroit as Mr. Gorman, it would seem, might have so managed his state as to bring his admirers to submit as gracefully as he seemed to do for some time, to the encroachments of reform. Undoubtedly his compromising temper, exaggerated by common report, and exercised to contribute his influence to the weaker side of a controversy, helped to throw him down at the last. He does not promise to leave any record of great legislative work.

Senator Gorman will retire from political life at sixty years of age. Some of the senators who may go out at the same time are more advanced in years, and some of them should be warned by advancing infirmity of body that the time for rest has arrived. One of these is Senator Bate of Tennessee, who does not give his age in the congressional directory, but who, from the fact that he took part in the Mexican war, may be assumed to be past seventy. He is a well preserved man physically, but delicate. Senator Hawley of Connecticut, who still retains much of the military bearing that made him for many years a typical soldier, will be seventy-three when he has finished his present term, and his friends have observed with some concern that he has lately begun to lose some of the elasticity that was formerly characteristic of him. His long popularity may keep him in the senate, but it is known that he will not be able to get back without a contest. Senator Mills will be nearly seventy in 1899.

He will have competitors for his place. Senator Murphy will be only sixty-three in 1899, but he looks his age fully, and for a great part of his term he has been an invalid, although he has good health during the year. His efforts to be returned, of course, will be governed altogether by the result of the elections of 1898 for the legislature. Senator Smith of New Jersey will be affected by like considerations, and also by his ability to overcome the prejudice created against him by his course in the senate while the Wilson bill was "held up" by that body. Senator Stewart of Nevada will be seventy-two in 1899. His figure is the most venerable in the senate.

The constitution of a giant and simple tastes have preserved him in a pretty active condition, and his temper is not more irascible that it was ten years ago. Senator Turple of Indiana may be put down as past seventy, it being stated in the congressional directory that he was admitted to the practice of law in 1849. He is not physically robust, but his intellect is as bright as a dollar.

$500 IN ACTUAL CASH.

Five hundred dollars is offered to competitors in a contest that affords both instruction and amusement. We will give $500 to the one who will SUPPLY THE MISSING WORD in the following sentence:

"Some years ago a man in a New Jersey city made a silly wager that he could climb the high steeple of the local church. Hundreds of people gathered to witness his attempt, which ended in the man falling to his death."

The meaning of the missing word implies foolhardiness. While there are a dozen words that might properly be used in the sentence, there is only one correct word, and your skill in naming the correct one may gain you the prize of $500.00.

Probably you will be the only one who guesses the missing word, but if more than one answer is correct, then the money will be divided proportionately. It is not necessary to rewrite the whole of the sentence, simply say the missing word is—

The contest will close on December 20, and to the one who first guesses correctly, providing more than one is correct, we will give $100 in addition to the prize; to the second correct guess, $50; to the third, $25, and to the fourth, $15. The postoffice stamp on the envelope will be taken as the date of the guess, so that whether near or far away, all have an equal chance. All envelopes will be open to the inspection of contestants. The sentence has been sealed and will not be opened until the close of the contest, when the prize will be determined by a committee and the money sent to the successful guesser, which will no doubt prove an acceptable

CHRISTMAS PRESENT.

When sending the missing word mention whether you want the prize sent by bank draft, registered mail or express. We will send any way the winner or winners desire. It will be asked why we offer a prize of such magnitude. We do it to introduce to the public our magnificent Chrysto diamond scarf pin and brooch pin.

The scarf pin is made of solid gold plate and the stone is one of our superb Chrysto diamonds. For fire and brilliancy it is unsurpassed. It is the finest specimen of an imported brilliant and cannot be told from a real diamond. It is acknowledged by experts to be the nearest approach to a genuine diamond ever produced.

A MARVEL OF BEAUTY.

is our magnificent crescent brooch pin. It is simply a masterpiece of workmanship. It is in solid gold plate and set with five white stones, very brilliant, with one magnificent stone in the centre of a star placed in the curve of the crescent. It is elegantly finished, and in appearance is equal to those sold by leading jewelers for $200.

We have spared neither time nor money to make the scarf and brooch pins the finest productions of the jewelers' art, and those who have seen them pronounce them unsurpassed in beauty and design.

OUR PROPOSITION.

We will send you the brooch and scarf pins, carefully packed in a neat box, postage prepaid and delivery guaranteed, for ONE DOLLAR. WE ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEE SATISFACTION. If you find the articles not as represented, send them back to us, and we will pay you $5 each for them. One guess at the missing word is allowed for every scarf and brooch pin purchased. The competition will positively close on December 20, and no answer received after that date can enter the contest.

The name or names of the winners and the correct sentence will be sent by mail to each purchaser, and will also be published in this paper immediately the contest is closed. The prize money will be sent at the same time. Remit by enclosing a dollar bill, postal money order or postage stamps, to

ABSOLUTE GUARANTY.

The Object of the Union Trust Company, Detroit—Its Safety Vaults.

In the financial strength of its directors, their high commercial integrity, and the resulting confidence of the public in the concern, no institution in the West takes higher rank than the Union Trust Company, of Detroit, whose ten story building on Griswold street, that city, is conspicuous among the large edifices which embellish the thoroughfare. The company was organized to act as receiver, assignee, executor, administrator and guardian. It solicits and is prepared to transact all manner of trust business. It makes abstracts of title, and issues absolute guarantees of title to real estate.

The names of the officers of the Union Trust Company carry with them the assurance of the very strongest financial responsibility, integrity and enterprise. The president is D. M. Ferry; W. C. McMillan is first vice-president; A. E. F. White, second vice-president; Ellwood T. Hance, secretary and treasurer; and Howard J. Leshner, assistant secretary. The company has a paid up capital of half a million dollars. These facts need no elaboration to commend the concern to all who have occasion for any of the services which it is so fully equipped to perform.

Recent extensive fires in Detroit, involving the loss of so much personal property, have emphasized the value of safety deposit vaults for the custody of papers, jewelry, and other articles worth careful preservation. When these things are burned up or stolen, no money or insurance can replace them. When deposited in safety vaults, they cease to become objects of anxiety to their possessors. This desideratum is met by a special department of the Union Trust Company. In the basement of its building it has strong, burglar and fire proof safety deposit vaults, with steel chests, which are rented at a low figure for the custody of valuables, and to which the renter alone has key. These strong-boxes, deposited in the vaults of the company, render the goods they contain as safe as it is possible for human agency to make them. Visitors to the vaults are always welcome, and our readers cannot do better than call here when in Detroit and see for themselves.

CALUMETS ARE DOWNED. Mining College Football Team Proves too Much for the Chaps at the Metropolis.

The football game Saturday afternoon at Athletic park, Calumet, between the Michigan College of Mines team and the Calumet consolidated team resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 16 to 10.

Play opened with the visiting team kicking off. The first score was made by the home team making a touch-down and kicking goal. The college team then took a hand at scoring, sending Gilbert through the line for a touch-down, and goal was kicked by Clark. The Calumets scored again just before the call of time but failed to kick goal. The play of the first half was characterized by fumbling and listlessness on the part of the college team, while the home eleven put up an excellent game. The second half opened with Calumet kicking off. The visitors lost the ball on the first play by a fumble, but soon regained it by holding the Calumets to four downs and then carried the ball across the line without once losing it through the excellent work of Dunstan, Haas and Clark. Goal was kicked by Clark. Calumet kicked off again, and the college team again carried the ball across the line without losing it, but Clark failed to kick goal. The second half opened with Calumet kicking off. The visitors lost the ball on the first play by a fumble, but soon regained it by holding the Calumets to four downs and then carried the ball across the line without once losing it through the excellent work of Dunstan, Haas and Clark. Goal was kicked by Clark. Calumet kicked off again, and the college team again carried the ball across the line without losing it, but Clark failed to kick goal.

The game was characterized by the most friendly feeling and was devoid of slugging or rough playing. For the Calumet team Schroeder and Gilbert were the bright stars, their work being of the highest order. Coach Gilbert expressed himself as being highly pleased at the offensive work of the college team, but found a great deal of fault with the defensive work, which was far from what it should be, though this is accounted for to some extent by the fact of it being the first match game of the season. The game was witnessed by a large number and has resulted in an increased enthusiasm in the sport, and indications are that a large delegation will accompany the college team to Ishpeming next Saturday. The officials were: E. G. Gilbert, referee; Mr. McAvary, umpire; Holly and Smith, line-men, and Ryan, timekeeper.

A Woodmen "Blow-Out." Tomorrow evening promises to become a notable event in the history of Seneca camp, Modern Woodmen of America, of Calumet, when a banquet will be given under its auspices at Italian Hall in honor of the wonderful growth of that organization. At the meeting prior to the banquet it is expected one hundred new recruits will be received into the camp. An elaborate program is arranged for the evening's entertainment, including addresses by prominent members from throughout the county and State Deputy Byrnes of Ishpeming. Special trains will be run to accommodate brother members from Torch Lake and Portage Lake towns and it is expected they will turn out in goodly numbers.

$10 as a Salve for Her Wounds. Justice Fisher's court, at Calumet, presented a busy appearance Friday, when the case of Frances Casson and Anna Fostelitz was given a hearing. The case grew out of the scrimmage at St. Joseph's church some three weeks ago when the Casson woman struck the other with a potato masher and inflicted a severe wound. The victim consumed the entire day and furnished considerable amusement for the spectators. A jury trial was held and a verdict rendered awarding Miss Postelitz $10. This will scarcely pay her attorney's fees and other expenses, and as the defendant is without funds it still seems a question as to who has the better of the argument.

Sidaw Lightning Case Settled. The case of Frank H. Hoard and Frank V. Carter vs. James C. Corbin and William J. Grooms, which had occupied the attention of the circuit court for several days, came to a conclusion Saturday evening, when the jury, after being out about three hours, rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs, awarding them $348.67. The case resulted from the installment of the Sidaw lighting plant and the suit was brought because of the refusal of the defendants to pay the plaintiffs the full amount charged for its equipment. The defendants held that the plant was defective and not in accordance with the specifications. The term of court will probably come to a close today.

Refused $100,000 for His Claim. Narcisae Mercier, whose return from the Klondike was reported a few months ago, recently refused a cash offer of $100,000 for his claim, and it is doubtful if he would consider an offer of double that amount. Mr. Mercier intends returning to Alaska in the spring and will work his claim for a few years, after which he hopes to enjoy the fruits of his arduous labors.

Electric Lights Installed. The buildings of the Isle Royale Mining company are now equipped with electric light, and the question of extending the service from the mine to Hurontown is now agitating the residents of that village. But few additional poles would need be erected.

GETTING LOTS OF ORDERS.

Traveling Men from Head-of-the-Lakes Doing Considerable Business Here Since Recent Excursions.

Since the recent excursion of the business men of this section to Duluth it is noticed that an increased number of traveling salesmen from the head of the lakes is visiting this section, and it is pleasant to note that they are meeting with much success, as attested by the daily lake and rail shipments being received from Duluth. The visit of the merchants resulted in their eyes being opened to the splendid jobbing houses and milling industries at Duluth and Superior and the fact of their ability to cope successfully with the older institutions of Chicago and other cities, which have found this probably their most profitable section to transact business. All things being equal, Duluth and Superior are entitled to profitable recognition and their business element is on the right track to secure it.

Whist Club Organized. A whist club was organized at Calumet last Thursday evening at a meeting held in the village council room, with the following officers: President, Mrs. A. G. McLeod and Messrs. Simonsen, Edwards, Hosking and LeGendre, was appointed to look into the question of by-laws and report at the next regular meeting, which will be held Friday evening.

There are, according to an eminent archaeologist, no less than from 120 to 130 absolutely distinct languages in North and South America. As the growth of language is very slow, he thinks the fact of its existence on so great a variety of speech on the western continent proves that the native red men have inhabited them for many thousands of years.

"Anonymous" is at last to have his statue. It will be set up in Hungary at the expense of the Emperor Francis Joseph, being one of a large number to be erected to Hungarian worthies. The resemblance will be as accurate in his case, probably, as in that of most of the rest of the dozen named.

DIRECTORY OF...

DULUTH MANUFACTURERS AND JOBBERS.

DULUTH is located at the head of the Great Lakes, and is the natural receiving and distributing point for supplies coming from the east for a vast area, comprising several of the richest states and territories of the Great Northwest. It is also the natural shipping point for the products of these states and territories. It is, for these reasons, a natural manufacturing and jobbing, as well as shipping, center; and this fact explains the creation there of a great manufacturing and jobbing interest while the city is yet in its infancy, in spite of the discrimination against it and in favor of St. Paul and Minneapolis of the old railway systems.

Its growth within recent years has been marvelous, and has been almost entirely due to the location given it as a commercial and manufacturing center, though these have as yet been only partially developed and utilized. In 1855 it had a population of 10,000. Ten years later, in 1865, its population had increased to 50,000, and it has today a population of not less than 55,000 in spite of the four years of depression which it has experienced in common with the country at large. In 1865 its wholesale business amounted to $1,000,000, and in 1885, according to the census returns of that year, it had swelled to $20,000,000, a figure that will be very greatly exceeded by the business its jobbers will do this season, as the volume of trade seeking Duluth from the region naturally tributary to it is expanding with accelerating rapidity as her wholesale houses are increasing their facilities for handling it and are being provided with better transportation service.

Within a very few years it has become the seat of an immense shipping industry, and is certain to become the greatest flouring center of the world, eclipsing Minneapolis in that respect. Its "Imperial" flouring mill, operated by the Imperial Mill company, is the largest and best equipped flouring mill in the world, and enjoys the distinction of having made the largest output in a single day of any flouring mill in the world. Its average daily capacity is 8,000 barrels of flour. The Imperial brand of flour has already an established place in the trade, and ranks so high for excellence that it sells on its trade mark in every town and city of the country. Several other large mills have been put in at the head of the lake since the Imperial demonstrated that the milling industry has there a location possessing peculiar and valuable advantages, and this is destined to be one of the greatest of Duluth's industries.

The lumbering industry of Duluth in its various branches has grown to be of vast proportions. A very great pine district is easily tributary to that point, and several factories which make a specialty of working up the finer grades of pine and hardwood lumber into finished forms have sprung up there within late years, these furnishing employment for a large number of operatives and contributing much to the steady growth and stable prosperity of the city.

Duluth is the commercial center of the Minnesota iron ranges and the shipping port for the Mesabi, whose mines already rank among the largest producers of Bessemer ore in the world.

It is the greatest distributing point for coal in the country, its coal business having grown to enormous proportions. It is already a great wheat market, and will yet be the greatest in the country, as the finest wheat district in the world is directly tributary to it.

It is developing a packing interest that foreshadows a great future for the city as a packing center. For this industry it enjoys special advantages, which will increase as the country west of it becomes settled and cultivated and the farmers engage more largely in cattle raising.

It is the coming industrial, commercial and manufacturing emporium of the Great Northwest—an empire where millions will live, and whose cities will arise, within the next quarter of a century, and it is already well on the way to the realization of its manifest destiny.

There are, according to an eminent archaeologist, no less than from 120 to 130 absolutely distinct languages in North and South America. The resemblance will be as accurate in his case, probably, as in that of most of the rest of the dozen named.

Ambassador De Calice Demands Satisfaction for an Indignity to a Fellow-Countryman - Sultan Menaces the Balkans - Has Massed 100,000 Troops.

TROUBLE BREWING IN THE LEVANT.

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—Baron de Calice, Austro-Hungarian ambassador, has demanded of Turkey the dismissal of the vassal of Adana, Asia, and of the mutessarif of Merona, the port of Adana, the two officials responsible for the recent indignity to an Austrian merchant, Brazzafoli. He has also demanded a salute to the Austrian flag. In the event of failure to comply with both demands, Baron de Calice will quit Constantinople on Thursday next. The Austrian cruiser Leopard has gone to Mersina to protect the Austrian consulate and Christians at that port.

The Russian embassy here has made an important announcement to the Turkish government. In substance it is said that if Turkey intends to apply part of the Greek war indemnity to an increase of the Turkish armaments, Russia desires to remind Turkey that the unpaid arrears of the Russo-Turkish war indemnity amounts to £1,300,000, adding that if the policy of the Turkish government is as indicated Russia will demand the payment of this amount.

London, Nov. 14.—The Vienna correspondent of The Times says: "The final treaty of peace between Turkey and Greece is not yet signed, and the negotiations between the powers with respect to autonomy for Crete have hardly emerged from the initial stage when already there are disquieting symptoms in the Balkans. The relations between Bulgaria and the ports are strained. The sultan is preparing for all eventualities, and a hundred thousand Turkish soldiers are massed on the Bulgarian frontier. On the whole, the outlook in the east is nowise reassuring."

London Newspaper Thinks Spain and the U. S. Are Close to War.

London, Nov. 14.—The Telegraph in an article on "The Inflammable Condition of the Dispute between the United States and Spain" says: "A rash act might at any moment bring a war which could mean only ruin for Spain." The paper foresees that "the United States will be bound to interfere to stop the conflict in Cuba," but it refuses to believe that the American people will prefer a "sanguinary and bare victory over a gallant and exhausted nation" to "the unflinching laurels of a humane mediator and Christian peacemaker."

It is announced that B. T. Hooley, the English financier, has abandoned the proposed Chinese loan and is giving his attention to Spain. He is reported to have offered Spain to raise a loan of £2,500,000 at 4 per cent, secured on the lines of the old quicksilver loan, which is now nearly wiped out.

The Spanish cabinet, it is further stated, will consider the matter next Thursday. The project is not regarded favorably in this city and doubts are expressed of Hooley's ability to float it, even if Spain accepts, which is doubtful. The Spanish minister for finance having declared that he does not intend to raise any loan with the quicksilver mines as security.

Madrid, Nov. 14.—At the request of General Blanco the government has postponed to the 25th of November the publication of the decree of autonomy for the West Indies. FRANCE HAS AN ALLY.

Russia to Help Her Out in Africa - Comment on Salisbury's Speech.

London, Nov. 14.—(Copyrighted.)—The speech of the Marquis of Salisbury at the Guild, on Tuesday last, lord mayor's day, again proved him to be past master of say nothing in many soothing words. It was essentially a peace speech as to how far the government is prepared to go in Indian, Egyptian, Sudan or Niger affairs, beyond a general "what can be done will be done." Even the supposed menace to France has since been explained, and was not intended to excite French feelings, but was merely to give English public opinion mild satisfaction from a pretended bluff. The premier's utter silence on the subject of international federation led to the conclusion the government is wearying of Great Britain's splendid isolation and the imperialistic plans of the secretary of state for the colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, have not yet progressed enough to permit Great Britain to maintain her policy of separating from the rest of the world.

The continental newspapers regard distrustfully the praise of the concert of the powers, coming from the leader of the power which, rightly or wrongly, the whole of Europe believes to have been the most untrustworthy element in it. A Vienna newspaper voices the general distrust, saying: "England has seized in Africa, as elsewhere, the lion's share. First she cheated Germany, tricking her out of promising territory in exchange for the crumbling rock of Heligoland. Then she caused Italy to bleed for in Erythraea, and has now only to deal with one opponent, whom she despises, namely, France, to which she has always been an unpleasant neighbor, continually tearing pieces from her living body. She took Canada and everything else valuable the French had in Asia, mostly by cunning, and has proved herself the perpetual enemy of the whole continent. Now she proclaims the right to exclusive possession of all the Niger territory worth having."

The monetary check caused by the Marquis of Salisbury's bluff has been followed by a recrudescence of jingoism in France, which has been intensified by the arrival in Paris Saturday of the band of the czar's Preobrazhensky regiment, which has been sent to the French capital as a symbol of Russian friendship. Another incentive to Chauvinism has been found in the announcement that a strong detachment of Russian cavalry and artillery will shortly sail from Odessa to Djibuti and thence will go to King Menelik's capital, with the object of assisting the French to thwart the British in grabbing Central Africa.

Consequently, the tone of the Paris newspapers is again excited. They are claiming that the position of France is unassailable, both by virtue of justice and recent military operations which, it is asserted, assure the permanent occupation of all the Niger territory already hypothesized on the French maps and the French minister for foreign affairs, M. Hanotaux, is being urged not to make any concessions.

On the other hand, Great Britain is not idle. Thirty army officers left Liverpool Saturday for Lagos, on the West coast of Africa, and it is asserted that Captain Frederick Tugard of the Royal Niger company and thirty more British officers will start for Africa this week with instructions to lead the land expedition on Bousa, in conjunction with the Niger gunboat flotilla. Great Britain is making the evacuation of Bousa by the French a sine qua non.

Monte Carlo Profits.

London, Nov. 14.—The budget of Monte Carlo shows that the profits for the year ending Oct. 31 were 5,000,000 francs below those of the previous year. No reasons are assigned for this falling off. The bank's outlays include 2,000,000 to the prince of Monaco; police and grounds 1,500,000 francs; salaries 1,000,000 francs; orchestra and sports 800,000 francs; payments to ruined gamblers 100,000 francs, for the prevention of suicides, 100,000 francs. The number of suicides during the year totalled up thirty-five persons.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—Advices received in this city convey the information that the steamship Marlborough, from Sydney and Auckland, due here Nov. 18, carries 2,000,000 in English sovereigns, equal to $1,500,000, consigned to two local banks. This is the fourth shipment during the past four months, making the aggregate received this fall from the same source about $10,000,000.

Buda Pesth, Nov. 14.—The Austrian Archduke Otto, nephew of Emperor Francis Joseph, had a narrow escape during the bear hunt at Dobocznra, Hungary. Count Pappenheim wounded the bear, and the animal made for a huntsman who was watching near the archduke and tore the man to pieces.

Frost Injures Crops in Argentine.

Fourteen Points Registered by Michigan in a Game Characterized by Punting and by Slow Work on Both Sides—How Other Contents Ended.

SATURDAY ON THE GRIDIRON.

Detroit, Nov. 14.—The University of Michigan defeated the University of Minnesota on the Detroit Athletic club's field Saturday afternoon by a score of 14 to 0. Some of Michigan's best men were not in the game. Loomis, Minnesota's fullback and mainstay punter, suffered a broken ankle early in the first half and Harrison was put in his place. The play was chiefly characterized by punting, the ball being in the air nearly half the time. The two teams split even for the honors.

Michigan's first goal was made by a series of hard line plays and endskirts from the Minnesota's forty-five yard line. Hogg failed to kick goal. Time, twenty-eight minutes. The next touchdown was made in two minutes in two end runs by Teetzle and Bennett. The second half was stubbornly fought with punting as the feature. Michigan's goal was threatened twice, but the team braced up and held. Minnesota made two attempts to kick goal from the field, but failed. The next touchdown was made in thirty-two minutes, Hogg kicking goal.

The work of both teams was slow, and Michigan's celebrated brace did not come in the second half. The loss of Loomis severely crippled Minnesota, but Harrison proved a good substitute. The Minnesotans freely stated that Michigan's team was not in the same class with that of Wisconsin, who defeated the Gophers a week ago 39 to 0.

For Minnesota Jones, Harrison and Nicopolin did the best work; for Michigan, Teetzle, Caley, Snow, Baker, Felver, Hogg and Gannon.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 14.—F. D. Cornell, referee in yesterday's Nebraska-Kansas football game, in a signed statement tonight reverses his decision of yesterday, giving the game to Nebraska by a score of 6 to 5, instead of 10 to 5.

BAD BANKING FAILURE.

Depositors at English, Ind., and Vicinity Caught for Half a Million.

English, Ind., Nov. 14.—Every resident of Crawford county was shocked Saturday morning when it was learned that the English bank had failed to open its doors. Coupled with this came the report that Cashier Willett, of the Leavenworth branch, had not been seen for three days and that his mind was temporarily unbalanced over the death of his mother. As soon as the failure became known, the bank's branches at Leavenworth, Cannelton and Marengo also closed. Nearly every farmer and business man in Crawford and Perry counties is said to be concerned in the failure for amounts ranging from $200 to $5,000. County Treasurer Brown has placed more than $10,000 with the suspended bank. No schedule of assets and liabilities can be given, but both are large.

Bank Cashier Richard H. Willett, of the failed Leavenworth bank, has not been heard from, but John H. Weathers is said to have today telegraphed to friends here that he will return and pay 75 per cent. if depositors will accept and protect him from injury. It is thought this will be accepted. Weathers and his wife are heavy property holders at Leavenworth. Since Weathers left Friday his wife has been in Leavenworth.

The present estimate of liabilities, including county and township moneys, private deposits, borrowed money and debts among merchants from whom they purchased electric machinery and other stock, is $500,000. A meeting of depositors was this afternoon held to choose men for receivers, subscribe reward money and the means to prosecute.

Double Umpire System Adopted.

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—The National baseball magnates Saturday adopted the double umpire system and also adopted a resolution presented by Brush of Cincinnati having for its object the prevention of rowdiness among players. For indecent or foul language any player found guilty of this offense, after a full hearing, will be expelled from the game forever and shall not be eligible to reinstatement.

Awful Method of Suicide.

Mandan, N. D., Nov. 14.—Joseph Williams, fireman of the Northern Pacific transcontinental train, committed suicide Saturday by jumping into the firebox of his engine. Before the engineer could pull him out his head and shoulders were consumed.

Heavy Fire at Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The old four-story building of the Nutrimet company, manufacturing chemists, burned to-night, together with a large stock of pepain and nutritious foods. The loss is estimated at $100,000 and is well insured.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The date of Luetger's new trial has definitely been fixed as Nov. 22.

Limitations of the Remedy.

THE GERMAN SOLDIER.

He Avoids the Prominent Thoroughfares to Save Saluting Officers.

"The private soldier is seldom seen in any of the leading thoroughfares or streets of the large German cities," observed a recently returned military gentleman, to a Washington Star reporter, "not, however, because he would not like to be taken there, but because it is quite a job for him should he show up in a crowded street. In Europe it is different from this country, for military officers have to wear their uniforms constantly. Indeed many of them have no other clothes, and no use for them if they had. In this country, it is extremely rare to see an officer in uniform, and never unless he is going to or returning from some function where uniform is necessary, and which, as I say, is very, very rare. There are in all of the large cities and towns of Germany hundreds and hundreds of officers. It is an imperative duty of the soldier to formally salute them every time one passes, even if the same officer passes him five or ten times in an hour. The private soldier generally takes a side street, so as to avoid meeting officers, for saluting every five minutes in a day, and sometimes oftener, which would be the case should he travel in the principal streets, gets to be tiresome after it is observed for three or four hours. The soldier is nearly always loyal, and takes a pride in saluting his superior officers, but there is often too much of a good thing in military life, as there is in other walks of life. Even in the side streets he has considerable saluting to do, but nothing in comparison to what he would have to do should he venture on the largely traveled streets. The officers are very particular in insisting on salutes and should a soldier attempt to pass them without doing military honors, on the excuse that he did not see the officer, the result would be something serious to him.

Croker's Prestige.

Richard Croker is something like a spared monument of all the bosses in the late campaign. Platt went down; Gorman was relegated to private life; Quay was severely rebuked; Hanna is on the tenter-hooks to the death. In all this company Croker looms up as the solitary victor. His former supporters welcomed him back to his old throne, and his chief nominal opponent contributed actively to his victory. Croker has had enough success under apparent difficulties to turn his head. He is severely modest as far as we have seen any manifestation from him since his triumph. He appears, however, to feel it to be his mission to rehabilitate the Democratic party in the nation. His next essay is to be the untiring one of the gold and silver Democrats. It is interesting to speculate as to whether Croker will accept Bryan as his candidate for the next presidency or afford the nation one of his own selection.—Boston Herald.

Wellington's Quick Wit.

An Austrian princess once asked the Duke of Wellington: "How is it that we in Vienna speak French so much better than you English?" To which the duke replied: "Well, princess, if Napoleon had twice visited London with his armies, as he has Vienna, I have no doubt we should be much more familiar with the French language." Louis Philippe of France introduced to the Duke of Wellington one of the French marshals whom he had beaten in the peninsula. The marshal partly turned his back to the duke, which greatly displeased Louis Philippe, who apologized to the duke for his marshal's rudeness. "Forgive him, sire," said the duke. "I taught him to do that in the peninsula."—Syracuse Standard.

John L. Stoddard says in his new lecture on Norway that the most interesting sight in Bergen is the grave of that marvelous Norwegian violinist, Ole Bull.

General Carlos Ezeta, ex-president of San Salvador, though once powerful and influential, is now nearly a pauper and was recently brought into an Oakland, Cal., court for non-payment of his rent.

Professor Runge, the famous German astronomer, is in this country on a government mission. In a few months he expects to prepare a report on the progress of astronomy and astrophysics in the United States.

The German emperor has decorated Dr. Mendel Hirsch, son of the late Rabbi S. R. Hirsch, of Frankfort-on-the-Main, and director of the Hebrew Real-school there, with the order of the Red Eagle, third class.

Hetty Green's appearance has much changed of late. A few days ago she appeared in court in New York in diamonds, velvet and a trimmed bonnet. She is almost never without a law suit on her hands—one of the penalties of great wealth in these days.

The well known stinginess of the late Alexander Dumas has given rise to a variety of anecdotes. We are told that he was once asked whether he ever gave anything to the poor, and he answered: "Oh, yes! When I come across a bad piece of money I always give it away to a blind man."

Governor Russell of North Carolina, who fiercely denounced the railroads before his election, has made a public confession that he travels on free passes. He yielded to the arts of the passenger agent in just two months after his inauguration, not wishing to "insult" them by refusing their "courtesies."

William C. Todd, the generous New Hampshire man, who has given the Boston Public Library $50,000, the income of which is to be spent on newspapers only, gives his reasons for the gift as follows: "I am interested in the improvement of the newspaper to the extent of making it as accurate a chronicle of life as possible."

Verdi, who objects to hand organs, has an effective though expensive way of suppressing them at Moncalieri, where he spends his summers. He hires all the organs in the district for the season and stores them in his house. A reporter of Le Figaro counted ninety-five instruments, and the composer told him that it cost him $300 a season to suppress them.

Captain William Hudson of Missouri and his wife together weighed over 700 pounds, and were supposed to be the largest married couple in the United States, if not in the world. Captain Hudson died last week, leaving an extensive estate consisting mainly of coal mines. He commanded a company in the Twelfth Kentucky regiment during the civil war.

Casimir Perier, late president of the French republic, arrived at a village inn near Sens recently with his son, both on bicycles. They wanted meat for their lunch, but the landlady had none. She suggested, however, that if they would go to the butcher's in town for it themselves she could cook it; so the ex-president mounted his wheel and fetched his own steak.

James Whitcomb Riley has a new volume of dialect (hoosier) verse in press, which will appear before the end of the year. Scribners have in preparation a uniform edition of the complete writings of Mr. Riley, which will match their beautiful editions of Kipling, Barrie and Field. The first volume of the edition, which will contain ten or twelve volumes, will contain a photograph portrait and will appear early this month.

Ed S. Stokes, the ex-managing head of the Hoffman house, New York, is going into the railroad business in western Virginia. Mr. Stokes is interested in some coal mines there, and his railroad project embraces a scheme for the carrying trade of these mines. Undoubtedly he must have a considerable amount of capital behind him, for in the opinion of his friends he has saved little out of the wreck of his various litigations in connection with the affairs of the Hoffman house.

An English paper tells a story of the Rev. Mr. Watkinson, a Wesleyan preacher. Some time ago he was staying with a good woman who was yearning for the good old times and mourning the degeneracy of modern days and customs. The Wesleyan ministers of the earlier part of this century, she said, rose early, and dear Mr. Wesley was in his study at 4 o'clock in the morning. "It is not to be wondered at," was Mr. Watkinson's dry reply; "were Mrs. Watkinson anything like Mrs. Wesley I should be up at 2 o'clock."

Bjornsterne Bjornson and his daughter, Mme Berglich Ibsen, recently gave in Copenhagen an evening of music and reading. The Norwegian poet disclosed, notwithstanding his sixty-five years, remarkably powerful and resonant voice, and his reading of several poems of Victor Hugo that he had translated into Norwegian prose was much applauded. Mme. Ibsen, the wife of Dr. Sigurd Ibsen, Henrik Ibsen's son, sang several French and Norwegian songs. She has a small but very agreeable voice, which she is said to use with much skill.

In her "Abandoning an Adapted Farm," Miss Kate Sanborn tells of her annoyance at being besieged by agents, reporters, and curiosity seekers. She says: "I was so perpetually harassed that I dreaded to see a stranger approach with an air of business. The other day I was just starting out for a drive when I noticed the usual stranger hurrying on. Putting my head out of the carriage, I said, in a petulant and weary tone: 'Do you want to see me?' The young man stopped, smiled, and replied: 'It gives me pleasure to look at you, madam, but I was going further on.'"

Mr. Gladstone expects to spend part of the coming winter in Cannes, where he will be the guest of Lord Rendel at Chateau Thoren. It is noted of the aged statesman that whenever he is likely to be absent from home for any time he likes to take his own books and writing materials with him. He has a considerable collection of paper knives, inkstands, etc., gifts from admirers. The knives are nearly all very large. Several have ivory blades and are mounted in massive silver. There is one which, since its presentation some months ago, he has always had on his desk and taken with him on his visits. It is about twelve inches long, is made of one piece of mother-of-pearl, and bears this inscription on the blade: "To the Great Man, Mr. Gladstone, this knife in remembrance of the grand day of the diamond jubilee of Queen Victoria, 22d June, 1897. From Luitj Montesi."

Nature and Cause of Appendicitis.

Judging from the reports so frequently made in the daily press, it would appear that appendicitis is not only on the increase, but that it seems to have a special predilection for prominent persons. Contrary to popular belief, however, it is no more frequent nor elective in its occurrence than formerly. It is simply a new name for the very old and very common trouble known as peritonitis, or inflammation of the bowels, which, until lately, and before operative treatment was instituted, always ended in death. The trouble having been traced to the ulceration or rupture of an inflamed appendix, causing the fatal peritonitis, the early removal of the diseased organ very naturally suggested the proper line of treatment. It is, perhaps, not generally known by the public that the various foreign bodies, such as grape seeds, cherry pits and the concretions usually found in the appendix, are merely accidental consequences of the inflammation rather than causes of it. To such as never eat a grape without a certain misgiving it may be comforting to learn that it is a very rare circumstance to find a seed of the fruit lodged in the appendix. In fact, it is now proved that aside from the intestinal concretions which really form in the organ after the latter becomes diseased there is scarcely an average proportion of 3 per cent. in which foreign bodies, distinctively so-called, are discovered. That these accidental or deposited substances are not absolutely necessary for the production of the disease is shown by their entire absence in a goodly number of the most severe cases. Among the latter may be mentioned a recent instance which has claimed much public attention. The real cause of the disease is associated with the destructive tendencies of a peculiar microbe called the colon bacillus, which always exists in the intestine, and is absolutely harmless until an inflammation or injury of the appendix gives it an opportunity for the development of malignant qualities. The microbes then multiply with great rapidity, penetrate the walls of the weakened organ, intensify the inflammation and finally escape into the abdominal cavity by ulceration or rupture of the tube, thus producing the fatal or septic peritonitis.—New York Herald.

In and About Negaunee

WAS A FALSE REPORT.

Story That a Calumet Man Was Lost in the Woods Discredited.

It was rumored in Negaunee Friday that a hunter from Calumet had been lost in the woods near Swanzy, and that several of the other hunters down there had been searching for him for two days. No one came up from there Friday, so that nothing further could be learned of the report until Saturday evening, when some of the hunters from here who were in the woods in that vicinity returned to town. They had heard nothing about anyone being lost, and as they had met many of the hunters during the latter part of the week and had not heard anyone say anything about a man being lost, they give no credence to the story.

It is said that the hunters down near Swanzy are having a good time. Some of them are not getting as many deer as they expected when they started out, but this does not keep them from enjoying their outing. Perhaps no party of hunters visiting the woods near Swanzy will have better luck than did three Negaunee men who came home Saturday. These were Louie Sporley, Paul Markey and Frank Muck. They got ten deer between them and returned thoroughly satisfied with their luck.

Frank M. Beney is expected up from camp today, and as he usually has good luck it is expected that he will have a deer or two. The Chicago men who are at the same camp with Mr. Beney will remain there a few days longer before returning home. Word has been received from this camp that the members are having the biggest kind of a picnic. There is usually more fun in camp than out of it.

Additional Ishpeming

Former Ishpemingite Obtains Promotion.

The many Ishpeming friends of John D. Gilchrist, a young man who spent the greater part of his life in this city, will be pleased to learn that he has gone up another notch, having recently been given the very responsible position of superintendent of the Oliver Mining company's properties on the Mesaba range, with headquarters at Mountain Iron. In a lengthy article discussing the change of ownership of the properties and the appointment of Mr. Gilchrist, The Virginian, of Virginia, gave the following personal mention: "The newly appointed superintendent, John D. Gilchrist, is a quiet, unassuming young man. He is what may be termed a pioneer on this range, coming here in his infancy. In July, 1894, he was appointed superintendent of the Mountain Iron mine, when that property was controlled by the Consolidated company, and when the mine passed into the hands of the Carnegie interests he retained his position in the same capacity. His work the past three years speaks for itself, as the Mountain Iron mine is considered by all practical mining men the greatest steam shovel mine in the world."

Back from Kansas City.

D. McVichie, who has been in Kansas City, Mo., for the past four weeks in the interest of upper peninsula men who are establishing an enterprise there, got home yesterday morning. While away he visited several points in the west, and although he was out on a business mission he enjoyed the trip very much. He likes Kansas City and thinks it is one of the nicest cities in the west.

Honored by the Presbytery.

Rev. M. M. Allen, pastor the Presbyterian church of this city, was honored by appointment to two offices at the meeting of the Lake Superior Presbytery last week in Milwaukee. #### It is reported among local mining men that John Armstrong, who has had charge of some mining work out in Utah for the past few months, has given up his job to take a place with a mining company on either the Gogebic or Mesaba ranges. No positive information as to his new position has been received here.

George Tucker came up from Marquette to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. George A. Newett, which was held yesterday afternoon with religious services at the house, conducted by Rev. J. W. McCleary, pastor of Grace Episcopal church. The obsequies were very largely attended by friends of the family in this city and from Negaunee.

HARDLY A "SLAUGHTER."

Deer Are Not Being Killed Off Quite Fast Enough to Call It That.

GAME IS THERE BUT HUNTERS CAN'T FIND IT.

Need Snow to Aid Them in Tracking—Shipments Much Less Than Last Season—Should Be Good Next Fall.

SPORTS PLAYING IN HARD LUCK.

"Have you got a deer, yet?" "No; haven't had a shot." "How long have you been down?" "Since the season opened." This is a dialogue that isn't often heard, but it would be a frequent thing if pride didn't overcome the sportsman's natural love of truth.

Candid hunters admit that the deer hunting this season is poor, and certainly their words seem to be borne out by the few carcasses that have been brought to town. The number shipped at all points through the peninsula is much less than it was a year ago. The first two or three days of the season everybody went to the woods and there seemed to be as many deer as usual brought out, but as the results of the hunting fell off so the latter end of the week, the suspicion has arisen that some of those deer had been caught and tied up to wait for the time when they could be legally dispatched.

It is not thought the deer are less in number than they have been of late years, but that the weather is to blame. Though the season opened a week earlier last year than it did this, there was plenty of snow for tracking even during the first week. This year there has been no snow in this part of the peninsula, and added to this disadvantage the weather has been so cold the deer are not inclined to move about much.

Unless snow comes soon the slaughter this season will fall far short of last year's figures. To many this will be considered an evil not altogether unmitigated, for if the deer are not killed this fall the hunting will be all the better next year. At present the weather man seems to have joined the legislators in their efforts to preserve the sport by cutting the season short.

In spite of the not encouraging reports the demand for licenses keeps up, and it is unlikely that the number will be short of last year's figure.

Credes That Stay.

Last evening's sermon at the Presbyterian church was one in the historical series now being preached by the Rev. D. B. Spencer. "Athenasius; or, Credes that stay," dealt with time in church history following the accession of Constantine to the Roman throne, when the followers of the hitherto persecuted religion having no outside enemies began to dissent among themselves on various points of doctrine and to divide themselves according to their views.

In this connection he took occasion to remark that practically everyone of the many "isms" of today, which are flaunted as the product of the nineteenth century, are not new, but have their prototypes in nearly every century from the first. This statement is supported by comparisons of the so-called new doctrines with those that were in vogue under other names in early centuries.

He told of the theory of Ares, the popular Alexandrian preacher, who held that Christ, being a creature of God's must be his inferior and how the other view, the one accepted today, which holds the equality of God and Christ, was so ably championed in the Nicene conference by the small and deformed Athenasius, that he convinced the bishops and turned a seeming defeat for the idea of the small minority into a victory.

He followed Athenasius through his successive triumphs and exiles, and through Athenasius and Ares pointed the lesson of the credes that go and the credes that stay.

Plenty of Stages.

It begins to look as if the stage line business to the camps this winter will be conducted subject to severe competition.

Hard on the heels of the announcements of two lines, Freeman Bros. are out with their card saying that they will also run a line this winter, taking in all the camps as far up as Pine River. For the present they will run two stages a week, the first of which will leave the Summit House at 8 o'clock this morning.

As each of the three stage lines claims to have mail contracts, it seems that this part of the business will be cut up, as well as the carrying of passengers.

There will be one advantage of competition which will be appreciated not only by those they carry but by the operators of the lines themselves. This is that there will be enough teams on the route to keep the road open in all kinds of weather, and each can handle its business with greater dispatch and less wear on the teams than would be possible if there were but a single line.

May Run All Month.

The season's work on the L. S. & I. railroad is nearly over. The length of time it will continue in operation depends on the amount of ore to be shipped yet this season. This is very little, though there are a few small sales being reported, and of course, the mines will ship the ore, as they wish to do all the business possible. Two mines expected to ship their last ore today, and a third on the eighteenth, but last week's storm delayed the boats which were to take the ore. Consequently they will not be right on hand and waiting as was expected, and the railroad cannot suspend operations immediately. There is just a chance that it may run the month out.

The auditing board met Saturday for the purpose of going over the bills before the meeting of the supervisors this week.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Amelia Bertrand, who died early Saturday morning, will take place this morning at 9 o'clock.

As yet the bears on Presque Isle do not seem to be afraid of the shadows they cast when the sun is out and have shown no disposition to go into winter quarters.

Register Primeau has heard from his successor, Thomas Scadden of Crystal Falls. Mr. Scadden has succeeded in getting his bond in proper form and is expected to take his position Tuesday.

The funeral of Miss Esther Pryor, held yesterday afternoon from St. Paul's cathedral, was largely attended. Miss Pryor had been sick for seven years. Archdeacon Robinson officiated.

These cold days cause a falling off in Sunday visiting between the towns of the county. On fine Sundays scores of people come down from up the road. Yesterday there were hardly any visitors from there.

Rev. W. B. Coombe of Munising filled the pulpit at the Methodist church yesterday, in the absence of the regular pastor. Rev. and Mrs. Elliott are in Ontario, where they went to attend the golden wedding celebration of Mrs. Elliott's parents.

A telegraphic dispatch says that Fred Stone, manager of the Chicago Athletic club, has matched Silverthorn and a fighter named Douglass for a match before his club. Silverthorn will be remembered for the fake match he pulled off here a short time ago with the "St. Paul Dummy."

Samuel Brady of Detroit, who has been interested in some prospecting that was done this season in the Huron mountains, has been stopping here a couple days and made a trip to the hills south of town where explorations are now being carried on. Mr. Brady is the man who secured the iron and copper specimens for the Michigan exhibit at the World's fair.

For some time past postmasters along the line have been corresponding with the department regarding the establishment of a better mail service between Marquette and Calumet. Chief Clerk Dickerson, of the railway mail service, now has under advisement the establishing of a railroad postoffice between these points on trains 3 and 4. It is claimed it will be a great convenience for business men all along the line.

Two local drug stores have begun a patent medicine war. Each has its plate glass windows covered with signs, one announcing that it will sell the dollar brands for eighty-five cents, and the other offering to do ten cents better. Quite a crowd took in the humor of the situation Saturday night when the painter, after finishing the eighty-five cent window, marched straight down the street and began work on the seventy-five cent one.

Shuts off the Water.

One of the duties of the water works superintendent this time of the year is to shut off the water in vacant houses. The principal reason why this is done is to prevent the water from freezing in the pipes and perhaps bursting them, or having the water wasted from an open faucet.

The vacant houses are located when Superintendent Kern takes around his bills, for the tenants usually move out without troubling themselves to notify the department, and the owners likewise give no notice.

Shutting off the water is a good thing for the owner, saving his property from possible damage, but it has a good side from the city's standpoint. When a new tenant moves in he can't get any water until he comes around to the city hall and asks to have it turned on. In that way the superintendent knows just when a tenant moves in and just when to begin his charges.

Another "Happy Family."

"What are you doing? Sizing up the premises?" inquired a Mining Journal reporter of a man whom he discovered Sunday afternoon intently gazing into a back yard on Rock street.

"I'm watching that dog and those rabbits," he replied. Looking where he pointed the reporter saw a dog that was rather lazily watching the movement of a pair of bunnies which went in and out under the barn. The first observer was expecting the dog to spring on them, but it was soon seen that the animal had no intention of doing so.

By inquiry of a boy, it was learned that the dog and the rabbits are on very friendly terms, and a neighbor lad, who was accompanied by a much fiercer looking dog than the one in the yard, said that even his dog never thought of hunting the rabbits.

Where Is the Snow?

The Chicago weather office, which makes the prognostications for this section of the country, has been sending out almost daily bulletins predicting snow, but the bulletins have failed to bring the promised downfall to Marquette.

Trainmen who run between here and Calumet say that the strange thing about it is that there is not a bit of either end of the route, but that it is nearly a foot deep at Michigamme and Nestoria.

HOBNOBBING WITH KINGS.

Trentanove Has Call from Dusky King of Siam and Sells Him a Statue.

ORIENTAL POTENTIAL TAKES SCULPTOR OUT TO DINE.

Cannot Return to the States Until Next Month—Had Expected to Spend the Dear Season Here—Too Busy to Leave.

HE'S SOUGHT AFTER BY A MONARCH.

Professor Trentanove will not try his luck shooting deer this fall from the camps of any of his Marquette friends. This is a great disappointment to the professor, and also to those who expected to be his hosts during the hunting season.

The news that he cannot be here is conveyed by a letter which has just been received. It is dated at Florence, Italy, Oct. 29.

He expresses his great regret that he cannot be here to participate in the sport. He says that his work is behind and that he cannot be in the United States before December, by which time the season will be over.

When he was last in Marquette he told some of his friends here that the king of Siam had been twice to his studio to see a certain statue he had there.

The sculptor says that two days before the date of his letter the king called again, saw the same statue and bought it at once.

"The best is," writes the professor, "he came from Paris as soon as he knew I was here, and we settled the job at once. Of course the same evening I was invited to dinner with him, and we had a very interesting talk."

It was known to all his acquaintances, when he went away from here, that the principal thing which was calling him back to the old world was a commission he had received to do a large monument for the city of Washington, where is located his best work, of which this city boasts a replica.

Cycles and Icicles.

Saturday was such a nice bright day that a number of cyclists brought out their mounts again, put on gloves and sweaters and took another ride in spite of the fact that it was the middle of November, when by all precedent they should have gone sleigh-riding instead.

Most of these cyclists took the favorite spin around the island. Such as did were rewarded by a beautiful sight. On the north side there was one place where the waves from Thursday's storm had washed up onto the grass and even run over onto the road. In the latter place it had frozen in a smooth sheet of ice, but in the long grass every spear had received its coating of water, which, freezing, made the place look like a patch of inverted icicles growing from the ground.

The steep rocky sides of the island, which at that place rise about fifteen feet above the level of the lake, were sheathed with fantastic sheets of ice and thousands of icicles (hanging in the natural direction) glistened brilliantly in the afternoon sun.
