Signs, too, of Dissatisfaction Among the Rebe Troops at Ilollo-A Bombastic Manifesto Planning an Attack That Was Easily Frustrated.

URGED TO BATTLE WITHOUT QUARTER. Washington, Feb. 21.-The following dispatch was received this afternoon from General Otis:

Manila, Feb. 21.
To Adjutant General, Washington: The following was issued by an important --- officer of the insurgent government at Malolos on Feb. 15, 1899, for execution during that evening and night in this city: [Signed] Otis.

WAR OF EXTERMINATION. "First. You will so dispose that at 8 o'clock at night the individuals of the territorial militia at your order will be found united in all of the streets of San Pedro, armed with their balos and revolvers or guns and ammunition if convenient. "Second. Philippine families only will be respected. They should not be molested, but all other individuals of whatever race they may be will be exterminated without any compassion after the extermination of the army of occupation.

Third. The defenders of the Philippines in your command will attack the guard at Bilibad and liberate the prisoners and 'prisidarios' and, having accomplished this, they will be armed, saying to them: 'Brothers, we must avenge ourselves on the Americans and exterminate them, that we may take our revenge for the infamy and treachery which they have committed upon us; have no compassion upon them; attack with vigor. All Filipinos en masse will second you. Long live the Filipinos independence.'

PLAN OF ATTACK.

"Fifth. The order which will be followed in the attack will be as follows: The sharpshooters of Tondo and Santa Ana will begin an attack from without, and these shots will be the signal for the militia of Troso Binondo. Quiato and Sampaloe to go out into the streets and do their duty; those of Pake, Ermita and Malate, Santa Cruz and San Miguel will not start out until 12 o'clock, unless they see that their companions need assistance. "Sixth. The militia of Tondo will start out at 3 o'clock in the morning, and if all do their duty our revenge will be complete. Brothers, Europe contemplates us; we know how to die as men, shedding our blood in the defense of the liberty of our country Death to tyrants. War without quarter to the false Americans who have deceived us. Either independence or death."

The portion of General Otis' cablegram indicated by dashes the officials were unable to decipher tonight. There is no fourth paragraph in the insurgent statement as furnished to the press.

TO EXTEND THE OCCUPATION. The war department earlier in the day received the following cablegram from General Otis at Manila:

General Miller reports that the insurgent forces near Iloilo are believed to be disintegrating. He has sent up four representative men from the capital of the island of Negros, where the American flag has been raised and American protection requested from the menace of a small insurgent force in the island. Affairs there and in Cebu are very encouraging.

Owing to lack of punctuation and regard to economy in cable tolls, General Otis' bulletin is not very clear in some essential points, particularly in reference to the island of Negros. Careful study of the dispatch on that point has convinced the officials here that the general means to say that four representative inhabitants of the island of Negros Michigan Telephone Co. have come to Manila, having been sent by General Miller to meet and confer with General Otis in regard to the extension of the American occupation to that island. Negros is the fourth island in the Philippine group in importance. Just to the east of Negros, separated by a very narrow strait, is the island of CHAIRMAN JONES Cebu, which it is also part of General AN ADVISORY Otis' purpose to occupy. From General Otis' dispatch it is gathered that neither at that point, nor at Negros, is there likely to be very substantial resist-

This afternoon the cabinet discussed the messages from Otls and reached the conclusion that the Philippine situation was considerably improved. It is generally believed that the complete subjugation of the insurgents is a matter of a comparatively short time.

ALASKAN BORDER JUMPED.

MANY COMPLAINTS OF CANADIAN ENCROACHMENT REACH THE WASHINGTON AUTHORITIES.

Washington, Feb. 21.-The question which perhaps was the foremost obstacle to a satisfactory result of the Canadian-American negotiations was the Alaskan boundary issue. Complaints are now coming in of continued alleged encroachment of the Canadian authorities on the Alaskan side of the border, and information alleging that the Canadian customs authorities are collecting duties on American residents, within our territory, has been placed in possession of the government. In one instance, according to a complaint from an American resident near Wrangel, the Canadian authorities have established themselves about twelve miles this side of the line made by the government survey and have openly asserted authority there. The matter will be investigated, the advices here being there is a strained situation along the Alaskan border between the Americans and Canadians which might lead to trouble.

A USELESS ATTEMPT.

The information given to the public in yesterday's dispatches, that the American-Canadian Joint High Commission had adjourned for a long period, without accomplishing the work for which it was organized, was not unexpected by students of national policy. If our generals come to understand that the "ingratitude of republics" is no fiction, and that success on the battlefield will be followed by disgrace on their return, it will greatly lessen the desirability of the army as a profession, and it might result in the abolishing of war, because no one could be found willing to belong to our army. A GREAT ENGINEER.

Remarkable Achievements of the Late Russian General Annenkoff.

Gen. Annenkoff, who has just died in Russia, will be remembered as the man who solved the unique problems involved in building the first railroad through hundreds of miles of sand wastes. As an army engineer he had particularly attracted attention by his fertility of resource, and early in the building of the Trans-Caspian railroad he was placed in charge of the work, succeeding General Tchernaleff, who had condemned the enterprise and declared that the road could not be built across Central Asian deserts without inclosing the track by walls so high that sand could not drift in and bury it. Annenkoff said he believed the problem could be solved, and the croakers, who declared that all his railroad cutting would become choked with sand not disturb his confidence in final suc-

The difficulties were certainly great, so fine that the slightest wind moved it. The engineer used various expedients to solve the problem of drifting sand. He planted along the track hundreds of thousands of desert shrubs, and found that the roots and branches helped to keep the sand in place, mitigating the evil, though not entirely overcoming it. In some of the worst places he found it possible to bring water through pipes from long distances, and irrigating the surface adjacent to the track, he sowed grass seed with good results. For long stretches he covered the sides of embankments with a layer of clay, and strengthened them with the branches of out the heaped-up earth. It has been found that the embankments thus fortified have suffered very little deterioration. He made no cuttings, but leveled both sides of the track, and elevations at Another serious problem was the provision of water for locomotives and stations in a desert region. For 200 miles beyond the Caspian water was brought to the track in long pipe lines from the mountains on the northern edge of Persia. When the route turned northeast toward Merv conduits and canals were built to carry water from the Murghab and Tejend rivers, and when, in the frightful waste beyond Merv, General Annenkoff was almost at his wit's ends subterranean supplies that will solve the water problem in the neighborhood of the Oxus.

The triumph of the brilliant engineer was complete when he substituted petroleum from the Baku wells for wood to run his locomotives and warm his stations in a region far from timber or coal, where the winter cold is intense. Along parts of the road it may be necessary to fight sand with a force of shovelers, as is done today; but Annenkoff reduced the sand problem to manageable compass, and the first desert railroad is a practical and a financial success. Built iting delegations were made up of men as a military expedient, the freight and General Annenkoff proved the practicability of employing Central Asian labor on a large scale. Over 15,000 Tekkes and Mervians were in his service at one time making the roadbed, at wages of 16 cents a day. His plans for building the Trans-Siberian railroad were fully adopted before the first sod was turned, and that great enterprise, now far advanced, had been largely shaped and directed by this distinguished engineer, who had rendered his country the greatest services and whose works will perpetuate his memory.

DRINK GRAIN-O after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. SENATE TACKLES ARMY PROBLEM.

First Day's Debate Notable as Making Clear the Position of the Democrats.

MR. COCKRELL OF MISSOURI MAPS; OUT POLICY OF THE OPPOSITION.

DECLARES THE BILL CANNOT BECOME A LAW AT THIS SESSION.

Wis Side Willing to- Provide All Money and Men Desired but Not to Fasten for All Time a Great Standing Military Force on the Country.

DOINGS OF THE NATION'S SOLONS. Washington, Feb. 21.-Formal discussion of the Hull-Hawley army re-organization bill was begun in the senate late this afternoon. Senators Hawley and Warren, Republicans, supported the measure, and Mitchell and Cockrell, Democrats, opposed it, while Mr. Proctor, Republican, addressed the senate in favor of some amendments which he proposed to the bill. All the speakers are members of the committee on military affairs. Senator Cockrell's speech, though brief, was particularly notable, as he spoke definitely for the opposition to the army bill. He declared practically in so many words that the Hull-Hawley bill could not become a law at this session. He and those who stood with him were willing to give the president all the monand every man he desired, but they were determined no great standing army should be fastened on the country without full and free discussion, which, he said, could not be had in the ten remaining days of the session.

MITCHELL PICKS OUT FLAWS.

Senator Mitchell of Wisconsin, in the course of his speech, criticised the bill, saying it was not, as claimed, a re-organization bill, as the only material change in the present system was in the artillery. He took up the details of the measure, outlining the objections to and the arguments in favor, one by one. He advocated a change in the organization in the staff of the army as a very necessary reform, criticising the committee for not including a provision on this point.

The bill was also defective in failing to arrange the status of the adjutant general toward the commanding general. Senator Mitchell contended that much of the discord in the army at present was due to lack of a clear understanding of these relations, and hinted at the opinion that the increase proposed was due to the suggestion of army of-229,000 bushels. ficers and said he would no more accept their views on this point than he would those of a torreador on the morality of bull-fighting.

So far it was a matter of mere conjecture how many soldiers were needed in the Philippines, Cuba and Porto Rico. As for himself, he would have no cae in those countries to shoot our ideas into an alien people. He agreed there should be a few more troops in this country, but in providing this increase he would conone it to the "United States proper and not extend it to the United States im-

Senator Allen of Nebraska inquired why certain bills before the committee for a year or more were not acted upon. Brigadier General Hawkins said that complaints against the canned roast and the canned corned beef were filed on the transport going to Cuba. He heard no complaints after the landing and was wounded soon after.

Captain J. W. Duncan, Twenty-first infantry, said the canned roast beef did | Corinne Saturday evening in good health not give general satisfaction. It appeared to be coarse, was unseasoned and eral years he was manager of the Westasted flat; it was in long strips, with grease, "or whatever it was," in globules. The complaints brought to him, he said, were that the beef was repugnant and unpalatable. It was more satisfactory when stewed. The refrigerated beef was

MEN REFUSED TO EAT IT.

Captain Ennis, Fourth artillery, said that personally he had taken the canned roast beef as a stew and was often nauseated. A great many of the men would eat the canned roast beef and turn about quickly and vomit, and they finally refused to eat it at all. All the refrigerated

It seems strange to think of those whom the world acknowledge as famous, and whom it even respects, as having been in prison and suffered torture. doesn't it? But it's true, neverthless, says Pearson's Weekly. Probably the most striking case is that of Lord Loch, the late high commissioner of the Cape. After the Chinese war, in the forties.

he had, while attached to the British embassy there, the misfortune to be captured by a band of infurlated and ignorant Chinese. They were savage at the losses they had suffered, and were ready -as he then was-and his companions and put them into narrow cages, just hibiting them to the enraged Chinese, who jeered them, mocked them and tortured them in every possible way. Happlly for the two unfortunates, British soldiers were not long in coming to the rescue when the news became known, and they, quite contrary to their own expectations, thus managed to escape an awful fate.

One who can tell also of the horrors of ment is Dr. Wenton, the well known Wesleyan medical missionary.

TEXAS BAD MAN.

He Bluffed Everybody But the Little Conductor.

"I was on a chair car in Texas a few nights ago 'tother side of San Antonio." said a New Orleans business man, "when a typical frontier tough got aboard. He was a little chap, but powerfully built, and about half drunk. As soon as he came in he drew a revolver that looked cept the adoption of resolutions demand- suspected that the minister with the as big as a stovepipe and bawled out: 'I'm the hottest man this side of El Paso. I can lick any galoot on the train.' There were some ladles at the far end of the car, and a good-looking man, who was with them, half rose as if to put a stop to the disturbance. He considered the enterprise, however, and sent for the conductor instead.

"Meanwhile the wandering eyes of the stranger lit on the head rests of the chairs, which were round, padded disks about a foot across. Naturally they were suggestive targets, and he proceeded to draw a bead on several. The occupants promptly sought seclusion under the seats, greatly to the edification of the man with the gun. 'Wow! Wow!' he roared. 'I'm the hottest gent in Texas. Watch me plug that feller in the heel!' The passenger referred to crawled hastily into the woodbox, and, to tell the truth, we were all in a state of pitiable funk. Just then the conductor came walking briskly in. He, too, was a little fellow, but he had a voice like a megaphone. 'Where's that bad man?' he boomed. We held our breaths and looked for a tragedy instanter. 'Here I am,' yelled the other chap. 'Yow! I'm the hottest-' 'Yes; I heard about that,' said the conductor, walking right up to him; 'gimme that gun.'

"To my amazement the stranger permitted him to take it without the least resistance. 'Now, look here,' the conductor went on, 'you're too warm for this car. We've got a stove here, and you make it unpleasant. So you get right out on that platform, blast your eyes, and stay there until you lose some of your heat.' The hot man meekly allowed himself to be propelled through the door, each other rather sheepishly, and I asked the conductor confidently how he dared take such chances. 'Oh! there wasn't much risk,' he sald. 'I had the fellow sized up. If it had been somebody else I business is how to tell a bluffer." "-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A SIAMESE SWELL.

One of my neighbors was an interesting creature, and evidently well pleased with himself. He wore long finger nails, and, seeing me look at him, spread out his left hand, evidently for my admiration. On the fourth finger he wore a large Chinese ring, and all the nails were long, particularly those of the fourth and fifth fingers, which had grown to a length of at least an inch. They looked like huge claws, especially when he tried to pick up anything from the seat. The owners of such nails regard them with extreme satisfaction, and cultivate them so carefully that they sometimes attain a prodigious length.

They are largely affected by Siamese and Chinese clerks, who fancy themselves expuisites. It is supposed to indicate the fact that their owners do no manual work. Curiously enough, in so far off a place as Mexico the same idea exists; but there it is generally confined to the little finger. I do not know what else he had to be proud about, unless it was his right leg, which was elaborately tattooed above the knee. He was dressed the Chinese province of Hunan. DREDGING FOR A DIAMOND.

Dredging has been successfully resorted to in recovering a valuable diamond ring that was lost in Petaluma creek. Recently the owner of the ring was standing on the bridge just below Petaluma, across an arm of the creek, when his diamond ring slipped from his finger and fell through a crack in the bridge and into about eight feet of water. The stone in the ring cost, without the mounting, $800. The owner hated to give it up, yet he did not know how to go to work to get it out. In his perplexity he applied to Captain John Hackett, Marquette People Are Talking All a man of experience in dredging, though on a somewhat larger scale than hunting for so small a thing as a ring. RECRUITING IN FRANCE,

Every year about 300,000 Frenchmen reach the age of twenty. After the physically unfit and those who are exempt under any of the causes have been weeded out the actual number of men required to maintain the standard strength of the army is chosen by ballot. They spend three years in the active army and are then dismissed from permanent service and return to civil life. But for the following ten years they are numbered among the reserve of the active army. They are then drafted into the territorial army for six years, to the territorial reserve for another six

Not until the age of forty-five does a Frenchman become free from all obligation to the military service. For thirteen years he is liable to be called upon to serve either at home or abroad, and for the following twelve years to defend his country against invaders.

No exemption can be purchased. Unground of physique or for family reasons, he is bound to serve his twenty-five years. Until 1890 there was a class of conscripts known as "one-year volunteers." These were men of good education who were allowed to purchase their discharge after one year's service. LIFE IN THE DEEP SEA

Investigation Now Being Made On the West Coast of Ireland.

An expedition left London a short time ago the object of which was to investigate a most important problem regarding the distribution of life in the sea. It used to be believed that the ocean depths several new members who will more than confined to the shallow surface belt; but this idea had to be abandoned even before the Challenger went on her memorable voyage of scientific research. Next the idea was mooted that the ceanic fauna was confined to the surface and bottom belts, separated by an intermediate zone of barrenness. During the Challenger expedition it was found that if the depth at which the surface mals were inclosed in their meshes, an observation which pointed to the prob-ability of life at all depths. The investigations now in progress are designed to settle this important point. The Oceana, fitted with deep-sea gear and every modern appliance, is at work off the west coast of Ireland. It was intended that extended observation should be made with a chain of tow nets, the phites. These are the best length of which would be gradually increased until a depth of 2,000 fathoms was reached. Experiments were also devised with nets of a self opening and Scott's Emulsion has saved closing nature, so that samples of life at different depths could thus be secured. It was also intended to conduct experients with a deep-sea trawl. The expedition was fitted out at the expense of the Royal Geographical society and the Drapers' and Fishmongers' companies.-

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and

Letter from a Marquette Man at Manila Predicts the Brush Which Since Came.

Thinks Island of Luzon Will Prove to Be Second Klondike-Many of the Soldiers Have the Gold Fever Aiready.

Joe Mack has just received an interesting letter from W. P. Fisher who is Montana. Mr. Fisher is a Marquette man and is known to many people here. His letter dated Manila, Jan. 5, reads: "Things have taken a very serious turn the past few days, and I think before you receive this letter you will hear of a fierce battle having taken place between the Americans and the Filipino forces. At a meeting held by the Filipinos at Malolos a few days ago in discussing their affairs a split was caused between them. Aguinaldo and some of his followers left them and came to Cavite, where they are now stationed. tectorate and are for a Filipino government or war. General Otis issued the president's message to them yesterday, and I think that will soon bring matters to a test. "The Eighth army corps has had smokeless powder issued to it, and I think that will be of great benefit to us. We have been called to arms twice in the past week, the trouble having been caused by the Filipinos firing on our outposts. You never saw a more discouraged lot of boys in your life than without getting an opportunity to fire

"The Americans have got several river boats covered with steel sheeting, which they expect to use on the river in case of a conflict. The insurgents have driven the Spaniards out of and have captured the city of Iloilo, which is about 500 miles south of here on the island of Payma. Transports left for there a few days ago with the Fifty-first Iowa, the Eighteenth U. S. infantry and Sixth artillery, accompanied by the cruiser Charleston. The last report we have received from there is that the insurgents have refused to let the American troops land. While writing this I have learned that the First California is embarking for there now. We have been reinforced by the Twentieth Kansas and the First Tennessee and expect other troops here before long.

"A few days ago the insurgent leader sent word to General Otis that he could John Stephenson was up yesterday on not restrain his troops any longer. The general's reply was, 'Do not restrain them. Let them come. We will take care of them.' We are not allowed to I leave our quarters now and have to sleep on our arms at night so as to be ready for action. We expect a flercer conflict than was experienced in taking Manila, as the insurgents have over 50,-000 armed troops, but we will come out on top beyond a doubt. If they will only come out in the open and fight us it will not take us long to defeat them.

> "I spent a very quiet Christmas and New Year's, but under the circumstances fared very well. I had a good turkey dinner and our colonel presented each

"I am very grateful to the members of the A. O. H. for paying my dues and hope I will be able to return the favor some day.

"Tell Higgins I would like to have him out in the rice fields doing outpost duty with me. I think he would shake more time and will take a place in the shops then than he did when he fired on that big buck deer at Sand River.

"Mike Nugent of Ishpeming is here with the Montana regiment. Dennis Quinlan of Ishpeming is also here. He is a sergeant major of Battery H, Third U. S. artillery, and is going before the board for examination for a commission as second lieutenant. He is advancing very rapidly for a man who enlisted on the eleventh of May, 1898. He did good

"We are organizing a Michigan club here composed of men from Michigan. We are also making arrangements for a big turnout on the seventeenth of March. Some of the boys have been out in the think this place will rival Klondike in a short time. They have organized an immembers and have sent a petition to congress asking that the volunteers be mustered out of service here so as to enable them to prospect in the hills, also go into business. The gold fever is very strong here among the soldlers.

"Give my regards to all the boys. Hoping to hear from you soon again, I re- See my line of elegant -:- -:-
