OTIS SHUTS OUT THE CHINAMAN.

Laws Barring Him from the United States Are Applied to the Philippines.

ACTION A SURPRISE TO THE WASHINGTON AUTHORITIES.

DONE IN HIS CAPACITY AS THE GOVERNOR GENERAL.

Native Filipinos. It is Said Are Much Opposed to Mongolian Labor and the Exclusion Might Hasten the War's Ending.

SULTAN OF SULU FINALLY SUBMITS.

Manila, Aug. 24.—General Bates returned today (Thursday) from Sulu, having successfully accomplished his mission there. After five weeks of negotiations, with much tact, an agreement was signed which, in substance, is as follows: American sovereignty over the Moros shall be recognized, and there shall be no persecution against religion. The United States shall occupy and control such parts of the archipelago as the public interest demands. Any person may purchase land with the sultan's consent. The introduction of firearms shall be prohibited. Piracy shall be suppressed. The American courts shall have jurisdiction, except between Moros. The Americans shall protect the Moros against foreign imposition. The sultan's subsidiary from Spain shall be continued.

OTIS ACTION NOT INSTRUCTED.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The state department is informed through a diplomatic channel that General Otis has applied the Chinese exclusion laws to the Philippines. The information was a surprise to the authorities here, both state and military. The Chinese government has been solicitous since American military control was established in the Philippines that the United States exclusion law would be extended over the islands; it has, through its embassy here, been advised that the action taken by General Otis in the premises was not the result of instructions from Washington, but was doubtless due to the exercise of his authority as governor general of the Philippines. In this connection, the state department has received an important letter from M. Williams, former consul at Manila and still there in a confidential capacity. He says the native Filipinos are strongly opposed to Chinese labor, and in his opinion the exclusion of the Chinese would materially aid in bringing the war to a close. Mr. Williams placed the Chinese population at fifty-two thousand. They carry on the bulk of the retail trade and send out traveling salesmen, carrying packs, to the remote interior of the islands. Some official reports, including those of Admiral Dewey, have paid high tribute to the work performed by Chinese. Lieutenant Hobson recently reported on the value of Chinese labor in the navy and in commercial pursuits. This all led the Chinese officials here to believe the exclusion laws would not be applied to the Philippines.

TROOPS TO BE RUSHED OVER.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Secretary Root returned tonight from his visit to the president. He was reticent in speaking of the conference. The secretary was determined, he said, that every man belonging to the twenty regiments of volunteers now being recruited shall eat their Christmas dinner in the Philippines. Regarding the reports that General Merritt is to succeed Otis, M. Root was non-committal. He declined to make any positive statement whatever in regard to the subject. CALIFORNIANS HOME. San Francisco, Aug. 23.—The United States transport Sherman, bearing the First California regiment of volunteers, arrived today. A public reception will be held tomorrow. The men will be landed at noon. The call scored a triumph in the development of wireless telegraphy in connection with the Sherman's arrival.

The oldest girl was killed instantly and the other may die. New York, Aug. 23.—Three persons were killed and three injured at Seabright, N. J., tonight while driving, being run down by a train on the New Jersey & Southern railroad. The dead: Miss Louise Terry, aged twenty-two; Charles Trippe, seven years; Areta Terry thirteen. The injured are: Mrs. Charles Trippe, her baby, and Louisa Farr.

INSANE ASYLUM SCANDAL.

THREE DOCTORS OUT OF JOBS FOLLOWING AN OFFICIAL INVESTIGATION IN CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—Governor Gage today presented to the lunacy commission the report of the investigation into the management of the insane asylum at Agnews. A great deal of the report is unprintable. It charges Dr. Spangler, medical superintendent of the asylum, with many crimes, including rape and murder. He has been removed, and Dr. J. H. Crane of Santa Ana, Cal., appointed to fill the vacancy. Drs. Stockings and Crystal, charged with incompetency, also have been removed. The investigation was the direct result of the birth of a child by one of the patients. Sensational charges were then made, and the investigation followed. The governor included in the report the testimony of reputable people tending to show that Dr. Spangler's previous career was one of gross immorality and crime.

ROW OVER CUBAN PAYMENTS.

FIVE INSURGENT VETERANS ARE DEAD AND SEVERAL WOUNDED AS RESULT OF A CLASH WITH GENDARMES AT NUEVITAS.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 23.—Five men are dead and fifteen wounded as the result of a fight last night between gendarmes and disappointed Cuban soldiers at Nuevitas, where the payment of the Cuban troops is progressing.

An imperfect list caused great dissatisfaction, and a rumor circulated yesterday that the paymasters would leave today alarmed the men who had not been paid. Their threats became serious. Captain Balait, with twenty gendarmes, was present to preserve order among the applicants, and United States troops protected Colonel Moale, the officer having charge of the payments. Suddenly Balait, who was mounted, was surrounded by a mob and struck by stones and bottles and shot in the arm. His men promptly fired a volley into the mob, and three persons were instantly killed and thirteen wounded, two of whom died this morning. Colonel Moale's guard promptly surrounded the money office, but took no part in the fighting. For a few minutes there was a lively conflict, carbines and machetes being used freely. Balait was the only gendarme wounded. All the dead were colored Cuban soldiers.

This morning the payment was resumed under a heavy guard. There is no doubt that the inaccurate list will be the cause of great hardships. Many veterans have vainly followed the United States commissioners for six weeks, only to find their names not listed. Military Governor Wood does not, however, anticipate serious trouble.

KAISER PATCHES UP A TRUCE.

CABINET TO STAY IN, BUT OTHER HEADS WILL FALL BECAUSE OF THE CANAL BILL'S DEFEAT.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—It is understood that as a result of its council today, the cabinet will remain in office. There will be no dissolution. It is possible, however, that the minister for the interior, Baron Von Derhorst, will be replaced, he having bungled some instructions from the emperor regarding the votes on the canal bill in a manner irritating to the Conservative party. The dismissal of some dozen district presidents who contributed to the defeat of the bill is also expected. It is believed that the emperor now regrets his visit to Dortmund and the speech he delivered there, which was made without full knowledge of the temper of the parties on the canal bill. It is thought he will now wait until the next session, when he will try to arrange some compromise.

TO SHUT IN THE PLAGUE.

QUARANTINE AT OPORTO IS ESTABLISHED BY KING CHARLES.

Lisbon, Aug. 23.—King Charles today signed a decree establishing a sanitary cordon around Oporto, during the continuance of the bubonic plague there. Lisbon papers assert that two workmen recently arrived here from Oporto have developed symptoms of the plague. Oporto, Aug. 23.—Three fresh cases of the bubonic plague are reported today. NO CASES IN ITALY.

WASHINGTON, AUG. 23.—Assistant Surgeon Hoyer, at Naples, today cabled the marine hospital bureau that there is absolutely no truth in the report of the plague having appeared at Naples and Palermo.

Duluth, Aug. 23.—The largest mining deal ever made in the Western Ontario gold fields has just been closed in the sale of the Sultana mine to the British Capital Corporation, limited, for £450,000. The mine has been the property of John F. Caldwell.

Deadwood, S. D., Aug. 23.—The Hearst interest (one-third) in the great Homestake mine here is to be sold in London next month. The details are all made. The mine is valued at about $9,000,000 and capitalized at $12,000,000.

CLEVELAND STRIKE Waning.

Cleveland, Aug. 23.—At a meeting of the Central Labor union this evening a committee was appointed to wait upon the executive committee of the striking street railroad men with the request that the state board of arbitration be asked to investigate the strike. At the offices of the Big Consolidated company it is said a number of strikers returned to work today, and that others have made application for places. The boycott is losing force daily and the number riding on the cars is increasing.

ARMY WITNESSES BADLY MAULED.

Labori Puts in Another Day in Pricking Their Bubbles of "Tittle Tattle."

SUCCEEDS, TOO, IN AGAIN AROUSING THE JUDGES' HOSTILITY.

GENERAL GONSE ONE OF THOSE WHO RETIRE CRESTFALLEN.

Mounts the Stand With a Bold Front, but is Forced to Admit to Efforts to Shield Esterhazy and Facilitate in His Escape.

CONSPIRATORS AGAIN PUT TO ROUT.

Rennes, Aug. 24.—The fourth sitting of the third week of the second trial of Dreyfus began at 6:30 this morning with the reading of the deposition of Penoz. No special incident marked the opening of the day's proceedings.

London, Aug. 24.—The Times' Rennes correspondent says he learns on good authority that the forces of the prosecution are discussing new tactics, namely: To offer the theory that Dreyfus was Esterhazy's accomplice, and while the bordereau is in the latter's hand-writing, Dreyfus is the real traitor.

Paris, Aug. 24.—The Figaro this (Thursday) morning gives an extract from a letter written just before he died by Signor Rasmann, former Italian ambassador to France, which says: "I have only one regret. That is, to die without having seen the innocence of the unfortunate Dreyfus established."

Rennes, Aug. 23.—The session of the court today was comparatively uneventful, and the depositions were not productive of thrilling incidents. The systematic production of the finest trash which the prosecution deems profitable to inflict on the judges, and which the latter accept as evidence, was proceeded with.

Much ridiculous testimony in the morning was devoted to an attempt to blast Dreyfus' private character, though when MM. Labori and Demange had finished with the witnesses their bubbles of tittle-tattle were badly pricked. Much time was also occupied in reading the testimony of Esterhazy and Mills. Pays before the court of cassation, during which many in the audience left the court.

LABORI AGAIN THE MAGNET.

M. Labori again distinguished himself, laying bare the weak points of the evidence. He was less fierce, however, than yesterday, though quite aggressive enough to arouse the latent hostility of the judges, which showed itself in various ways. Labori is no favorite, either with M. Carriere, the government's commissary, who makes no serious effort to conceal his feelings towards the lawyer. The latter bore the traces of the outrage on him. He rose and sat down and moved his body and limbs apparently without much difficulty; only occasionally he put his hands to his back as though suffering pain.

The only dangerous opponent of Dreyfus today was General Gonse, who mounted the stage with a quick step and apparently a light heart, but left it badly mauled by M. Labori. The general began by declaring that he came to defend his honor against those "drivelling" against him. But, when the cross-examination was finished, he returned to his seat crestfallen, for Labori had driven him into a corner on the attempts of the general staff to shield Esterhazy and had shown that the general staff, for which Gonse was responsible, had aided in Esterhazy's escape from the hands of justice.

BAD DAY FOR THE ARMY.

The day proved, certainly, a poor one for the general staff. Two good samples of the men put up to sully Dreyfus' private character were the third and fourth witnesses. The first of these, Major Du Chatelet, repeated an alleged conversation with Dreyfus regarding a letter in which M. Labori is alleged to have gambled and lost money. When cross-examined Du Chatelet's memory failed him entirely, especially when asked the name of the lady, the street she resided in and the sum Dreyfus lost.

The next witness, M. Dubreuil, showed equally astounding forgetfulness of important points of his evidence concerning Dreyfus' acquaintanceship with a certain foreign attaché. Then M. Demange capped a successful examination of those points by promising to show that Dubreuil's record in the law courts is far from clean. The witness left the stand badly discredited.

PIN FAITH IN BERTILON.

The correspondent of the Associated Press talked this afternoon with M. Juarez, the socialist leader, who with M. Labori Dreyfus, sees M. Labori every day after the session and is acquainted with the entire tactics of the defense. M. Juarez said:

"I am convinced Dreyfus will be acquitted. He must be acquitted, for no new fact has been brought up against him. The generals, I believe, are going to make their last stand on the Bertillon system, which they intend to substitute as proving Dreyfus' guilt. Intelligent men laugh at it. It is very ingenious and has the merit in the eyes of the generals of being incomprehensible to the ordinary man, and thus calculated to impress him if supported by the puppets of the general staff. Bertillon's theory has already been introduced by some of the military witnesses, who declare their confidence in it. The trial, in my belief, will last about another twenty days."

DAY'S DOINGS IN BRIEF.

General Roget brought with him to the Dreyfus trial this morning a bulky envelope containing documents received

The debility of David Duggins has been completely cured. David Duggins lives in the town of Jones, Ohio County, Kentucky. From there he writes:

"When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I had nervous or general debility of the system. I took three bottles of the Discovery. During the time I was taking it my sleep became more refreshing and I gained fifteen pounds in weight, and also gained strength every day. It has been six months since I took the medicine and I still have good health."

When a man gets run-down it is hard work to run him up again unless the whole condition of his system is first changed. That is what the "Golden Medical Discovery" does for him. It begins by removing from his digestive system all poisonous, effete matter. It gives tone to his stomach, activity to his liver, cleanliness to his bowels. While this work is going on the "Discovery" also manifests its potency through the blood and nerves. It fills the blood with rich, red corpuscles and sends them vigorously circulating all over the body to soothe and nourish the tired, abused, screaming nerves.

When man has nervous prostration it isn't his nerves that are wrong. It's his blood. Bad blood comes from bad digestion—bad stomach, bad liver, bad kidneys. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will put all these organs in good order. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol in any form. It is entirely free from opium and other narcotics and contains neither sugar nor syrup which are injurious to some stomachs. Without any of these ingredients it retains its pleasant taste and healing qualities in any climate and under all conditions. Don't let a careless or dishonest medicine seller cheat you out of your health by giving you a substitute.

The state tax board in Indiana has raised property valuations in that state some $6,000,000 as an incident of the effort it has made to equalize taxation. This has been done by placing property that formerly altogether escaped taxation on the tax roll, and increasing values where the assessment was too low in the estimation of the board. Indiana's state tax board is doing nobly.

The assassin who failed to kill Laborer meat well but his aim was poor. The deep dismay that seized on the perjurer army officers who are trying to secure a re-conviction of Dreyfus when Laborer again took charge of the defense makes plain why the services of an assassin were employed to "remove" him. In the honor of the French army it is to be preserved those having custody of it should be more careful in their selection of the forgers and murderers they employ.

The Bay City Tribune avers that the pay roll of the state is burdened with inspectors and deputy inspectors of one kind and another, and in comment on this declares that "the work could be done by one-third of the present combined force if the men employed were experts instead of politicians." But if the state had experts in these positions how on earth could the politicians now filling them be provided for? There is no state asylum for drones and incapables.

In order to answer many queries without too much writing, the present state commissioner of mineral statistics desires to say that he has not yet issued his annual report covering the current year, and that it will not be given to the public until the time his report is due, which will be in April or May next. The report for 1898-9 has not yet been issued, the work of compiling it being much greater than the late commissioner anticipated it would be when he began work on it, in consequence of the opening of so many new and the reopening of old mines, both iron and copper.

There is a crisis in Germany; France appears to be on the eve of a terrific social upheaval; England is preparing to wallop the Boers in South Africa; Russia is calmly putting the cleaving knife under the ribs of China, while we are making our dispositions to wipe the Filipinos off the face of their troublesome volcanic islands, as a preliminary step toward civilizing and evangelizing them. And all this on the heels of the protracted session of the peace conference at The Hague, in which all the powers participated through selected representatives. "Is our civilization a failure?" may well be asked.

An officer who has just returned from the Philippines. Major Young—who has a good opportunity of judging of what has been accomplished by General Otis as he was through the campaign from the beginning—says Otis has done all that could have been done by any commander in the time the active fighting lasted and with the force he had in the field. When General Otis resumes aggressive work it will be with a stronger force and with other conditions more favorable, and we risk the prediction that if the president stands by him he will make short work of bringing Aguinaldo to his knees.

A New York preacher named McArthur who has just returned from Cuba has a great deal to say about the improved condition of the island since the Americans obtained control of it. That there has been improvement is undeniably true, and it is because men having some practical knowledge of the proper way to deal with living questions have been given control there. This McArthur believes, or affects to believe, that the Cubans will not become really good until they change their religion. If they should do this it is to be hoped that they will adopt something more clearly in accordance with the gospel of Christ than the brand of christianity that now obtains in the southern portion of the United States, where negroes are habitually outraged, and frequently put to death with a cruelty far surpassing anything the Spaniards ever practiced in Cuba. And if we are not mistaken the denominationalism that prevails in the south is close akin to that which this preaching would have made the dominating religion in Cuba.

NO DOUBT A FAKE. An English paper gives what purports to be an interview with Admiral Dewey in which he is made to express the opinion that, as a people, the Filipinos are exceedingly amiable and intelligent, and that the way to bring peace to the Philippines is to give their people an opportunity to go ahead and govern themselves in their own way. That the admiral gave utterance to any such opinions, or that he entertains them, may well be doubted, for they would not be in accordance with what established facts regarding the bulk of the people of these islands. It may be that education, and a familiarity with the methods of a free and stable government which they have yet to acquire, will in time prepare the Filipinos to successfully undertake the experiment of governing themselves, but they are not ready for it yet, and Admiral Dewey must know this.

Besides, the admiral is a thorough-going American and when he wants to tell the American people something they have need to know it is quite unlikely that he will endeavor to reach them through the medium of a foreign journal. All the space he may require is at his command in American papers for the purpose. The London paper's interview will stand discredited by the people of this country until Dewey is heard from regarding the matters to which it relates, and when that happens it is safe to wager that the opinions it ascribes to him will be squarely disowned by that gallant, but not garrulous, sea fighter.

MACHINE FOR CASTING IRON PIGS The Cleveland Plain Dealer describes a device for casting iron pigs which was tested at Canal Dover Saturday last and worked admirably. The trial was made at the works of the Penn Iron company, and those who witnessed it say the contrivance is going to come into general use in furnace plants. The machine and its test are thus described: The machine consists of a circular carriage built on the same principle as a "merry-go-round," which is 56 feet in diameter and 176 in circumference. On the outer edge of this big wheel are the iron molds, or pockets, to hold the billets. These carriers are about two feet long and square sectionally, each having four pockets. They are hung on an axle. There are 144 pockets turned upward at once to receive the metal. Three times this number of others come around in their turn. The molten iron was hauled from the furnace stack in a mammoth ladle mounted on trucks. It held twenty tons of molten metal. The ladle was tilted by means of a screw, the metal being poured into a trough, which delivered it into the pockets as they turned slowly. After making almost a revolution the carriers turned automatically, dumping the hot billets on an iron conveyor traveling directly under the wheel and being of the same circumference. This conveyor passed through a cooling vat of water, after which the billets were automatically discharged from the conveyor to a box car.

The test was a success in every respect and there was not a hitch in the machinery from the time the metal began to pour in until twenty tons of billets had been deposited cold in the car. The iron men who witnessed it were loud in their praise of the machine. There has nothing of its kind ever been put out and furnace men say it will be a great boon and labor saver to them. It has a capacity of 600 tons daily, casting eight tons every revolution.

Some points in its favor as against the old-time method of molding billets in sand are that it will do away with a class of labor that is hard to secure, especially in hot weather, the hot iron handlers. The billets molded by this machine are free from sand and of uniform weight and size. Three men can do the work of sixty and the cost of operating it is slight.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.

And now it turns out, as many supposed it would, that no one at Washington has any knowledge of boundary monuments, with charts at their base, said to have been created by Russia to mark the limit of our Alaskan territory. No one in Washington official quarters now believes the story. But there is no need of boundary monuments and buried charts to establish the Alaskan boundary question.

The contention of the United States is clearly written in set terms in the treaty of 1825, and cannot be mistaken or ignored. Aside from the treaty, this country can safely rest its case on British maps of the territory in question. There never was a dispute over the matter until a comparatively recent date. The boundary had not been traced in detail, but as far as the general lines went British maps were in accord with Russian and American maps, and all agreed in running the boundary at a distance of ten leagues from the coast, and in so tracing it as to follow the windings of the coast, as the treaty of 1825 directed that it should. It was not until this region became important to Canada, and that her desire to gain access to the Pacific grew urgent, that she put forward any claims in violation of the treaty. If Alaska of today had undergone no change from the Alaska of even ten years ago, we would hear of no Canadian claims. Canada has made a great mistake in dealing with this boundary matter. Instead of asking a concession from the United States, stating her awkward position and her needs in order to relieve herself from the tight place she found herself in, Canada puts in an untenable claim, a demand as a right to what she knows is a wrong. Of course, the United States cannot agree to surrender territory to which she has a perfectly clear title, but she could give Canada what she wants without feeling the loss. But she was not properly approached. Canada demanded that to which she had no right, and refused to consider any question whatever at issue between the two governments, unless she could have her own way. Even England is getting tired of Canada's obstinacy. And there the matter rests.—Butte, Montana, Inter Mountain.

THE BRAVE PICQUART.

That is a most amazing spectacle which has just been presented in the court, so-called, of justice at Rennes. There, on the witness stand, is a man of wonderful ability and unspotted character, tearing to pieces the flimsy fabric of lies that had been built up by forgers and perjurers and suborners of forgery and perjury in the name of "the honor of the French army." There, on the bench, is a row of officers treating this witness with harshness and contumely and addressing him as "Monsieur" to denote that he is a civilian. And yet this brilliant and upright man, who by sheer force of merit had made himself the youngest lieutenant-colonel in the French army, whose degradation in a decoration, is really engaged, and he is the only officer, or ex-officer, who seems to be so engaged, solitary and unaided, in saving the honor of the French army, in showing that it contains, or did contain until he was expelled from it, gallant and chivalrous officers and gentlemen, Bayards without fear and without reproach, men, or a man, who from mere and sheer love of justice, in behalf of a man whom he personally dislikes, throws overboard his career, his profession, his livelihood, and "rides the pelting of this pitiless storm." Evidently and unmistakably this Georges Picquart is one of the "glories of France." And this is the man whom the men whose professional honor he is trying to save take the occasion of his appearance in the character of their champion to visit with insult.—New York Times.

BIG SHOWER OF FLYING FISH.

One of the Most Extraordinary Sights Ever Witnessed at Sea.

If during the next summer any land-lubber is hit in the eye by an able bodied flying fish interfered with in its flight or flushes a bevy of those "critters" of the south seas off Staten Island he can lay the blame on the crew of the bark Samarkand, which made the port of New York a few days since from Java. The Samarkand is a tramp freighter which runs mostly to the Malay archipelago for sugar and almost anything else she can pick up in the way of a cargo.

She picked up mostly flying fish on this cruise, and she didn't get these aboard from any pierhead or lighter, either, but took them aboard unintentionally like while flapping around in the doldrums about eighteen degrees south latitude, off the Guinea coast. The crew of the Samarkand ate flying fish until fishbones fairly stuck out of their ears, and when they got to South Brooklyn they dumped several barrelful of living ones into the bay, claiming that they were ashamed to look a flying fish in the face.

Likewise they brought along a fish story that would make fresh water fishermen look like a leaf from the gospel. Every man of the crew of the Samarkand vouches for the story. Likewise the only passenger, a Yankee chap named Cody, a tooth fixer, who has been furnishing up the grinders of the boers from Pretoria to the Cape.

The story runs something like this: The Samarkand, which during the past two years has kept her Scottish crew many leagues from their native heather, back of Loch Fyne, put out from Java with half a cargo of brown sugar. Everything pulled taut and monotonous like for a month until the "cracker" "salt horse" and "soup and bully" began to go down hard like, and the galley got to be as lonesome as an ancient tomb.

One day early in June the bark was nosing about in the South sea doldrums feeling for a working breeze, with everything a-flapping aloft. It was six bells and the tropical sun was just marking a lane of phantom silver leading over to the western horizon. The crew were at supper and the boatswain's mate was at the helm a-hanging on to the wheel lazy like, when suddenly, off the starboard quarter, there was a whir in the water and then a whir in the air as if a flock of albatrosses were making for the ship. The boatswain's mate took one look at that quarter, then he whistled and dodged behind the binnacle after getting two terrific welts on the side of the head. The crew tumbled down again. Old John Spence, the carpenter, took in the situation at a glance.

"Fish!" said he. "Tarnation, lighters full of 'em," and rushed below for barrels. The school of fliers had been attacked on one side by a school of bonitos, while a school of alibores had executed a flank movement on the lee side, and the whole school of fliers took to the air.

The flying fish formed a considerable cloud about six cable lengths wide and extending along the line of the sun as far as the eye could reach, shutting out the light. The bark lay right in the way and fish struck her like a shower of hail-stones and fell senseless to the deck. The spars, shrouds, stays, weather braces and hatch combings were soon slippery and shone like silver with the fish scales a-sticking to them, while the rigging was slushed and the deck fairly ran with foundering fish. The crew just stood until everything on board that would hold water was filled, then an extra watch was set to shoveling fish overboard and cleaning a patch from the cabin hatch. The fish storm lasted for half an hour and the striking of the fish against the sheets put the bark along three knots on her course, or the crew of the Samarkand hope to be keel hauled. After the fish storm died out the dead ones were cleaned and salted away and the live ones covered with salt water and placed along under the shadow of the bulwarks for future reference. After this the crew had fish fried, broiled, baked and smothered. On entering Delaware breakwater Captain Peters ordered what fish were left to be thrown overboard, but several barrelfuls were saved for emergency and some of these were tumbled into the bay when the bark arrived at South Brooklyn. Cody, the passenger, denies that when the fish began coming aboard he ran aloft and called all hands to scrape the keel.—New York Times.

HIS LIFE WAS SAVED.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to end my life of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." DIGGING FOR DIAMONDS.

American Interests in South African Fields Are Steadily Increasing.

Consul General J. G. Stowe, writing from Cape Town, sends the following interesting report on the greatest diamond mine in the world, which is located at Kimberley, South Africa:

The City of Kimberley is 647 miles from Cape Town—a ride of two days and one night. It has a population of 35,000 and the greatest diamond mines of the world. The United States is represented here by a consular agent, Mr. Gardner F. Williams, who is the general manager of the mines. I was pleased to learn that many of the most responsible positions are held by Americans.

The company occupies 200,000 acres of land, employs 15,000 natives and 25,000 whites, consumes each month in the "compounds" 25,000 pounds of mutton and 200,000 pounds of beef, turns out 220,000 carats of diamonds a month, uses 6,000 tons of coal a day, has 2,000 horses and mules, 12 stallions of the best breed (some from America), and 200 brood mares. The shops connected with the mines for the manufacture and repair of machinery and supplies compare well with some of our large harvest factories or railroad shops. I was not at all surprised to see American machinery here. The immense driving gear of a pumping engine made in England had to be sent to Chicago to have the cogs cut. The company is operating an ice plant sent from Chicago, and has three more ordered, each with a capacity of five tons per day and 20,000 cubic feet of cold storage; and a complete dynamite plant, with an American to manage it, is on its way here from America. The 150 miles of narrow-gauge railroad in and around the mines are laid with American rails, and every tie or sleeper is made of California redwood, which in this country is par excellence the best wood for such a purpose. It is also used in many other ways. Three ships from California have recently arrived with cargoes of the redwood and Oregon pine. The company sells its ice for half a cent per ton to all, while in Cape Town the charge is 4 cents per pound.

No corporation in the world does more for its employees. It has built the village of Kenilworth, covering 500 acres and occupied by 500 employees at nominal rents. Water and light are supplied free, and there is a club house, a library, reading rooms, athletic grounds, a park, and vegetable gardens, with vines and fruit of all kinds in profusion.

All the water used in and about the city flows through pipes made in the United States. I was pulled to Kimberley by an American locomotive, and there several others now in use in Cape Colony. On the narrow-gauge railroad are thousands of trucks made of plate iron, and holding about a ton of rock each, pulled in trains by small engines or by overhead cables. These trucks which ought to be made in the United States and the tenders competed for. Among the features of the mines are the "compounds" for the natives. On the four sides of a large square are erected one-story buildings, of corrugated iron, opening to the center of the square. They are divided into rooms which hold twenty people, who sleep in bunks three high. Within each compound is a store which supplies the natives with all the clothes, food, etc. they need, at very reasonable prices. In the center of the square is a large swimming pool, which is well patronized. Adjacent to the compound is a hospital, in which medical attendance, nurses and food are furnished free to the sick or injured. Extending over the whole enclosure, which occupies several acres, is a wire netting to prevent the throwing over of diamonds included in tin cans, etc., as was once done. Outside of the compound and ten feet from it is a barbed wire fence, ten feet high, with fourteen strands of wire. An underground passage leads to the mine shaft, and the men are examined as they return from work.

Within the compound I visited (there are three) were 3,500 natives, and as it was Sunday they were all enjoying themselves, dancing, playing on musical instruments, beating drums, reading the Bible and the Pilgrim's Progress in their own language, singing hymns, cooking, sewing, smoking hemp in cow horns, and gambling. Some were clothed and some not; some had their teeth filed to resemble a saw, others their heads shaved except a fringe at the back; some were tattooed, and nearly all had holes through the lobe of the right ear to hold anything that might come to hand; I saw spoons, straws, feathers, and stubs of cigars used in this manner. The natives are under contract for six months and receive from 1s to 3s (24 to 72 cents) per day. They are not allowed to leave the compounds during the time of contract. No liquor is furnished them. They are happy and contented, and the system is good for the native, the industry, and the country. I saw some who had been in the compound for years and had no desire to leave it. They are kept in a detention room one week before their contract expires, where they wear clothes made of two disks of leather, hooked to their wrists; their clothes are taken from them and examined, and at the end of the week they leave without carrying any diamonds.

The diamond mine is the crater of an extinct volcano. What is now a level country of prairie was once a volcano. Cropping out on the surface appeared a blue rock, which was found to contain diamonds. The mouth of the crater is 312 feet below the surface. They dug 300 feet lower, so that the mine is now 612 feet deep. The rock is elevated to the surface by means of powerful machinery and then conveyed to the "floors" or level ground, at present occupying about 200 acres. Here it is left for a year to the action of the sun, rain, and winds, when it decomposes and falls apart. It is then taken to the crushing and washing machines and afterwards to the pulsators, which separate it into various sizes and again wash it. It finally passes over shaking tables covered with grease of a certain composition, which catches and retains the diamonds. These are then washed in acid and taken to the valuator. Roughly speaking, out of 3,000,000 tons of blue rock three-fourths of a ton of diamonds are obtained. The valuator assortments the diamonds according to their color and purity, and I saw on his tables the output of one week, worth $300,000. The diamonds are principally octahedral in shape. A syndicate of diamond buyers takes the products of the mines.

Kimberley and its mines are good customers of the United States, but we ought to have still more of the trade, and especially in galvanized corrugated sheet iron, which, throughout all South Africa, is used extensively. All the immense buildings of the mines in Kimberley and Johannesburg are composed of it, as well as thousands of dwelling houses, barns, warehouses, ranches, etc. The large merchants in all the cities carry stocks of various lengths. It comes packed in bundles of twelve sheets, with thick felt between the ends of each sheet, all held together by iron bands.

SPENT HER BIG DOLLAR.

How a Coin of 1804, Worth $10,000, Makes a Story.

A silver dollar of the mintage of 1804, worth $10,000, inadvertently got away from the owner, and is now held by a Racine, Wis., merchant until the original possessor of the coin can be discovered. The most valuable coin ever minted in this country is the dollar of 1804. Only four of these were struck off, and so far as is known only three are in existence now. A numismatist of New York paid $10,000 for the last one that came to light a few years ago. The dollar in question, which is worth so much money in cold cash, came over to the possession of Ladislav Altmann, a clerk in the dry goods store of T. L. Harnett, of Racine, Wis. It was tendered by a lady in payment for a bill of goods.

Four months ago the woman who thus held unwittingly a fortune in her hands, came into Harnett's store, bought a small bill of goods, and handed the clerk, Mr. Altmann, a dollar. Mr. Altmann is somewhat interested in old coins and, without knowing the value of this particular dollar, he put it into his pocket and handed over to the cashier another dollar, which did not have the earmarks of antiquity. For several months he carried the dollar as a sort of pocket piece, ignorant of the fact that it is quoted worth $200 at least. Finally, he inquired at the bank the value of the coin and was informed that it would bring $500.

Altmann was greatly surprised, and in order to ascertain the correctness of the bank's statement, he sent the coin to a friend in Chicago, asking him to show it to a collector and obtain a quotation on it. The first numismatist who saw it offered to pay $1,500 for it. That was more of a good fortune than Altmann could stand, all at once, and he discussed it with some of his intimate friends. He began to look up coins, and their value thoroughly, and his last information was to the point that at a sale in New York city a dollar of the same mintage as the one which he treasured had brought $10,000.

Altmann's fancy called up visions of all the enjoyment of life which he could realize from the proceeds of his 1804 dollar. He has been a somewhat enthusiastic amateur actor, had played "Hamlet" and "Roger in 'The Two Orphans,'" and $10,000 would be a fine capital with which to start a theatrical company with himself as its star.

Finally Altmann's employer, Mr. Harnett, became aware of the story of the valuable coin, and the question arose as to its rightful ownership. Altmann argued that he had accepted the dollar on his own responsibility, and that if it had turned out bogus he would have been called upon to make it good. He also said that the woman who gave it to him in payment of her bill did so because she traded with him on account of his nationality, he being a Bohemian. If he had not clerked there, the woman would have carried her money elsewhere, asserted Altmann.

With this explanation, Harnett, the proprietor of the store, is decidedly dissatisfied. He holds that the money was passed over his counter in payment for his goods, and that the moment it was paid it became his property and belonged in his cash drawer. He contends that the woman should be found, and the proceeds of the sale of the original dollar returned to her.

The dry goods man wants the dollar brought back to Racine, put in a bank there and held till the woman is found. If every means of finding her have been exhausted he will claim the dollar and protect his claim in the courts, if necessary. He will not say now whether he is willing to divide the proceeds of the sale with his Bohemian clerk.

Meanwhile the fateful dollar is being eagerly sought by Chicago enthusiasts, and Mr. Harnett is busy answering the long-distance messages that pour in by the dozen every day. Altmann, too, looks worried and nervous. He receives a pile of mail that would give heart disease to a wholesale merchant. All the letters contain inquiries about that "almighty" dollar and Mr. Altmann, unfortunately, the ownership of the coin being in dispute, doesn't know what to say to all his correspondents.

The funniest part of the story is that the woman who originally had the coin carried it for three years, afraid to pass it, because she feared that it was a counterfeit. That much Altmann has admitted to his many interviewers. The fact of the matter is, however, that Altmann has ascertained the identity of the woman, and has arranged to have the proceeds of the sale of the valuable coin shared with her, or whether it shall be shared with her, or whether it shall be altogether given back to her. Both sides have engaged attorneys, and the question, "Whose dollar is it?" will probably have to be answered in a court of law.—The Republic.

SAVAGE ATTACK ON ARCADIAN.

SPLEEN OF THE BOSTON NEWS BUREAU OF SATURDAY NOT JUSTIFIED BY THE FACTS.

Saturday's issue of the Boston News Bureau contains a savage attack on the Standard Oil interests engaged in the field of copper mining and refers to the fact that failure has followed every venture these magnates have engaged in outside the oil business. The article refers to failures at Michigan, Montana, Colorado and Butte, and then follows an attack on the Arcadian which is not justified by the facts or conditions at the mine. It may be well in this connection for readers to know that the relations between President Burrage of the Arcadian and the publisher of The News Bureau are anything but harmonious, a condition that has existed for extended interval, and this might have something to do with the Arcadian becoming such a target. The reference to Lawson's wild predictions as to what Arcadian stock will sell at is scarcely an argument one way or the other, as Lawson "speaks not by the card nor in an official capacity." The statement that Arcadian began stamping from its richest copper hardly holds good, as the mill began to operate but two shafts were fully equipped for service and production started from them as a matter of course. There is nothing on record to show that the Arcadian management claimed that the yield of copper would be 1% per cent., but as a matter of fact The Mining Journal can state positively that the results at present achieved are better than 1 per cent., notwithstanding the Boston paper's claim that "a majority of the people who have studied the situation believe it will run considerably less." Barron has been studying the situation through smoked glasses and in various ways going out of his sphere to injure the Arcadian property, but the effect will not be harmful. The Arcadian is opening up well, and others "who have studied the situation" look for it to become a valuable and permanent acquisition to the list of Lake Industries. The Standard Oil people are entitled to fair treatment, no more and no less. They opened and developed the Arcadian without opening a subscription account and did not proceed to organize until the value of the property was fairly established. At Michipicotten they spent their own money and when it was found that the property was of no value they acknowledged the corn and pocketed the loss.

A MANIPULATED DECLINE.

Much conjecture has attended on the drop in the quoted value of Mohawk stock. Lake people who have watched the development of that property being quite at a loss to account for it. Alluding to it, the Native Copper Times of Lake Linden says: "The decline looks like the work of powerful manipulation for the purpose of getting more stock. There is no local reason for the decline, as the prospects of the property never looked brighter than today, nor promised more for the future. In fact if there is any change whatever in the appearance of the lode it is for the better. The formation in the three shafts going down, wherever exposed shows all the characteristics of greatness, permanency and future profitability of a high order." The Boston papers which keep track of the movement of the market say the drop in Mohawk is clearly the result of professional manipulation, as it does not come from Lake selling, there being very little of the stock in sight. The record of sales from day to day corroborates this view. Even when Mohawk reached 38 there was no heavy realizing of profits on the part of Lake holders, most of whom have put their Mohawk stock in their strong boxes, to keep as an investment. The "professionals" are making quotations on Mohawk in the hope of stampeding timid holders, but there are few of these, and if there is short selling of the stock in the effort to depress it the sellers will get an awful squeeze one of these days.

OPERATIONS AT WYANDOT.

The Wyandot company expects to do considerable building the coming year, and with this end in view has purchased a saw mill, the machinery of which is expected to arrive daily and can be placed in operation within a short period. The company has also purchased the standing pine on the Pummerville homestead, estimated at fully half a million feet. The pine is some two miles distant from the mine, and much of it will be cut this winter. The shaft on the Winona lode at the Wyandot has attained a depth of about sixty-five feet, and samples of the rock brought in show a liberal amount of stamp copper. Mining men who have examined the showing do not hesitate to say that the lode will continue to improve with increased depth, so that future results will be looked forward to with interest. The shaft will be extended to a depth of 100 feet, after which crosscuts will be driven. Diamond drill operations are still continued at the mine.

SECOND HEAD SOON TO START.

At the Arcadian No. 3 shaft will be fully equipped and its new shaft and rockhouse in operation about three weeks hence, and about Oct. 1 the second head at the mill will be treating rock. In the meantime the work of opening up the mine is being pushed with all vigor. "A" shaft, the most southerly, is ready for sinking, and work will be commenced in this direction about Sept. 1. The showing at "B" is exceedingly good, the limited opening exposing considerable copper. Sinking is under way at this point. No. 1 shaft is being extended to the fifth level, and No. 2 will reach the ninth level about three weeks hence. Sinking to the seventh level is soon to be commenced at No. 3, while at No. 4 shaft sinking to this level is now under way. The Arcadian has today a total of about 18,000 feet of openings, 15,000 of which have been made by the present company. The equipment at No. 4 shaft, including the rockhouse, will be ready for service Nov. 1. With the two heads in operation a short time hence, more than 1,000 tons of rock daily will be treated, and there are now openings enough to furnish this amount, and selected rock at that.

ARIZONA IN EASY STREET.

Late information from the Helvetia is decidedly encouraging, and everything indicates that this portion of the territory is soon to add materially to the constant increase of copper being shown from Arizona. Joining the Helvetia is the Rosemont property, founded by J. L. Rose, who spent $60,000 in its development after which it passed into the control of the Lewisohns. During the month of July the Rosemont smelter turned out over 300 tons of matt, or an average of over ten tons daily. The matt runs over 55 per cent. copper, which would make the production of the camp nearly 170 tons of pure copper for the month. Interest in the Santa Rita country of Arizona is evident from the fact that there are upward of 500 men working at Helvetia, Rosemont, Blue Jay and Graterville. The Arizona Enterprise says that Arizona is in the easy chair this year, as mining is increasing at a gratifying rate and the ranges are the best they have been in ten years. Prosperity reigns in spite of carpet-bag government that is a curse to any country. With statehood, Arizona would rapidly forge to the front.

COPPER MISCELLANY.

Rumors are daily at hand that some copper stock or other is being raided. With the present market condition, such an undertaking is no difficult task, and it occurs to most holders that the natural decline is about bad enough. The drop in Mohawk is said to be due to a raid; it certainly is not due to any changed conditions at the mine. Other stocks are said to be threatened with a similar fate, and yet brokers wonder what has become of the buying power. The market offers no encouragement on the long side.

At the Winona, No. 1 shaft has attained a depth to exceed 300 feet and No. 2 is down to the second level, which shows that no time is being lost in opening up this property. In addition to the frame buildings which are nearly completed, the company is also erecting a number of comfortable log houses.

It is generally accepted that the brokers do not look too kindly toward the copper shares, except the dividend payers, and the comparative dullness of the market is believed by many to be traced to this fact.

It is stated upon good authority that the Franklin product of copper will be smelted at the Quincy company's plant.

Fire destroyed the warehouse of the Anaconda Copper Mining company at Anaconda, Saturday. Loss, $100,000.

Mohawk's quotation of 20 yesterday is the lowest point this stock has reached for the year.

READY FOR OPERATION NOV. 10.

CONTRACTOR LOSS TO HUSTLE WORK ON THE NEW RAILROAD WITH THE GREATEST VIGOR.

J. H. Seager returned yesterday from Chicago, where General Manager Wright and himself were in consultation with Contractor Loss and William A. Paice regarding the affairs of the Copper Range railroad. The result of the meeting was entirely satisfactory, and it will be pleasing news to those interested that Mr. Loss expects to have the road ready for operation Nov. 10. At present the working force on the line numbers over 1,200 men. The right-of-way now does not contain a single tree between Greenland and Houghton. The work of laying track is under way between Greenland and the Fire Steel river, and it is expected that trains will be running between these points within ten days. The two steam shovels ordered by Contractor Loss are expected at Houghton next week. They will be operated a short distance outside the town and later near the Misery river. The two shovels will handle 4,000 yards of gravel in twenty-four hours, and it is the intention of Mr. Loss to work them night and day. The matter of labor promises to offer no further obstacle, a fact evident from the number of men daily arriving for work on this line. A carload of Italians arrived for the Copper Range on yesterday's noon train.

LIVELY TEAM TRAFFIC.

There is an enormous amount of team traffic along the South range extending over its entire length. More than 100 teams are constantly engaged in carrying supplies to the mines, and the number will be increased during the balance of the summer season and until the new road goes into commission. There is still a shortage of labor in this new territory, but the trouble lies more in the fact that those employed in its mines are largely of a roving class and ready to quit one job and go to another as often as the opportunity offers. The amount of building and improvements made at the new mines is really surprising and in a few years Houghton county will have several new and important towns. The improvements are of a substantial nature, and that the companies have been quite successful in securing men is largely due to the excellent accommodations afforded their employees.

ONTONAGON IN GREAT LUCK.

SENATOR M'ILLAN TO BUILD A FURNITURE FACTORY AND LATER A SAW MILL THERE.

News reached Portage Lake yesterday that the west half of the mill site of the Diamond Match company at Ontonagon had been purchased by the firm of McMillan & Co. of Detroit and that it was their intention to commence the erection of a furniture factory at once, and later a saw mill. The details of the affair received are meager, but the information is from a reliable source and it looks as though Ontonagon promises to be highly benefitted and also that Senator McMillan will have no trouble in securing that county's support henceforth. The last issue of the Ontonagon Herald hinted that a big deal was on, the details of which the paper felt not at liberty to publish, and the above is probably what it had reference to.

A JOLLY LAKE OUTING.

An extremely pleasing moonlight party was given Tuesday evening on the steamer L. M. Weston by Miss Katherine Ryan of Hancock in honor of Mrs. John D. Ryan of Denver and Miss Dudley of Detroit. The party comprised about fifty friends of Miss Ryan who were given a pleasing ride on the cooling waters of Lake Superior, after which the boat pulled up to wharf at the Canal. Here a delicate repast was served and several hours spent in jollity along the beach. The affair proved highly enjoyable and Miss Ryan was unanimously voted a splendid entertainer.

tween the trade winds, instead of corresponding with the equator, lies a little to its north, and the moisture gathered by the southeast trades only falls in rain when it reaches the Tropic of Cancer.

when it reaches the Tropic of Cancer, thus compensating the northern hemisphere for its want of evaporating (sea) surface.

surface. India stretches out into the belt of the northeast trades, and were there undeviating winds the only rain which this immense peninsula would receive would be that which falls from October to April during the northeast monsoon.

But the great volume of rain which falls in India during the northeast monsoon, or winter rains, is really derived from the exhalations of the ocean about Australia, where, during our winter months, the sun is shining with all the force of midsummer.

the vapor there drawn up into the higher atmosphere returns in an upper current toward India, where it is precipitated through the lower current blowing from the northeast and furnishes the northeast monsoon rains.

But at the vernal equinox, March 21, the sun passes from the southern hemisphere to the northern and re-enters the tropic of Capricorn, reaching its lowest southern point, or winter solstice, Dec. 22.

Between May and July he shines down furiously on the grassy plains of Central Asia, from which so vast a column of heated air ascends up through the atmosphere that the draught caused has the power, not only to completely reverse the normal direction of the northeast trade, but even to deflect and draw the southeast trade towards India.

Thus is the southwest monsoon of India brought about. This mighty wind, laden with the moisture gathered from the Indian ocean, strikes the Malabar coast and Concans at nearly right angles and there, chilled by the cool, green forest barrier of Ghats, pours down its contents of heated air.

months in violent rains, which are ushered in and depart with the most violent thunder storms; and thus it is also that the temperature of India is lowered during months that otherwise would be so hot as to make the country unendurable.

The southwest monsoon reaches to the wide plain of Hindoostan, the Punjab, and Sindh; and all around the coasts of India and Southern Asia, within the influence of the great solstitial up-draught from the deserts of Rajputana and Central Asia, we find the phenomenon of summer rains.

At the very time, also, that the sun is drawing the vapors of the Indian ocean towards the western Ghats his rays are melting the snows of the Himalaya and Hindu Kush, which flow down to the Arabian Sea and Bay of Bengal in the perennial streams of the ancient Indus and sacred Ganges.

INTERESTING CASE OF FASTING. Business Man Goes Twenty-eight Days Without Nourishment.

It is the prevailing impression, fostered by the practice of more like Succi and Dr. Tanner, that in order to endure a long fast a man must absolutely refrain from physical exercise and devote his whole attention to caring for himself.

Mr. Milton Rathbun, a merchant of Mount Vernon, N. Y., has proved that this is a fallacy, so far as it applies to his own case, at least. He recently went twenty-eight days without nourishment, without letting up for a moment on the daily routine of his business.

Mr. Rathbun is fifty-two years of age, a prosperous and wealthy man, with nothing unusual or cranky in his make-up or ways of life. He fasted simply because he wanted to reduce his weight, fearing that its gradual increase might bring on apoplexy. He succeeded in his efforts. He weighed 210 pounds when he stopped eating; when he resumed at the end of twenty-eight days he tipped the scales at 168 pounds, a loss of forty-two pounds of flesh.

A singular fact in Mr. Rathbun's experience was that after the first twenty-four hours he experienced no sense of hunger at all and had no unpleasant sensations of any kind. He slept and worked in the regular way, his mind was clear and his strength unabated during the period, but took nothing else.

When he began to eat again he took only a little food at first, increasing the amount gradually until, within a few days, he was back to his former routine of diet. Mr. Rathbun holds to the theory that the average man eats far more than is necessary for his health or comfort, and that an occasional period of absolute abstention from food for several days is good for the system. This theory certainly has the support of Mr. Rathbun's own practice.—Leslie's Weekly.

WANTED:

Men to Make Us Room!

See Below:

Some few months ago, before the manufacturers boosted their prices because of the increased cost of material, we purchased a large line of fall goods. They are coming now—sooner than we figured on—and we find we must make room for them. To do this, we have inaugurated a grand clearing sale, cutting the prices on all summer-wear goods to just about actual cost; for instance: $4.75 buys a man's all-wool suit that formerly sold at $6.00 and was cheap at that. A call will, we think, convince you that this is a bonafide sale—not an advertising dodge.

AQUATIC SPORTS MONDAY.

SWIMMERS HAVE ARRANGED A PROGRAM OF SWIMMING AND BOAT RACING AT LAKE BANCROFT.

If nothing turns up to prevent, and the weather is favorable, there will be an aquatic tournament on the waters of Lake Bancroft next Monday afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock. Some time ago a devotee of water sports addressed a communication to this paper in which he dwelt on the utility of swimming contests. He suggested that some one should take the matter in hand and arrange a tournament. The Mining Journal advised the swimmers to go ahead and make the arrangements themselves, and they have done so.

The followers of the water sports have arranged for a program of five events. They are looking after the preparations themselves and out of pure love of the sport. There will be two boat races and three swimming contests, starting sharply at 2 o'clock. The public is invited to attend without charge. The prizes have not yet been fixed, but suitable ones will be provided by those who are interested in the sports.

The program consists of the following races: Fifty-yard swimming race for men; one-mile boat race; 40-yard swimming race for the championship of the upper peninsula. It is known that there will be quite a number of entries for the events, and spirited contests will be put up. Most of the swimmers who were in the tournament last year are in the city and will compete.

It is to be hoped that the general public will manifest some interest in the program and encourage the contestants by a good attendance. The swimmers deserve considerable credit for going ahead and arranging their own program and they should be rewarded by a manifestation of interest in their accomplishment. In case of rain or rough weather the program will be postponed.

PEARCE'S GROVE POPULAR.

The popularity that Pearce's grove has attained this summer as a place of resort for picnickers and outing parties of all descriptions is quite marked, and has resulted in quite a business for the street car company. Hardly a day passes without the grove being the rendezvous for some party looking for a pleasant spot for an outing, and numerous picnic parties have made use of it. The grove is very prettily situated in high rolling hills and is an ideal spot. The one crying need there is a shelter with capacity enough to care for crowds in bad weather. A small tent is the only accommodation of the kind there now, and it is entirely insufficient for the purpose. Bad weather has spoiled two picnics recently and the people in attendance suffered much inconvenience because they could not get shelter from the rain.

NOT CHASING ISHPEMING.

It would appear that the running team of the Lake Linden fire department was out gunning for Calumet when it issued a challenge for post-tournament contests and that its deft was not meant for all the teams in the association. It also appears that while the challenge was not meant for Ishpeming that a counter challenge from the local team might be accepted. Lake Linden will not have a chance to meet the Ishpeming team, as it will not run in any post-tournament races. The boys feel that such contests are unnecessary and would be a source of needless expense. They only noticed the challenge of the copper country team when feeling annoyed that any team in the association should make such broad statements concerning their speed, and are giving the matter no further thought.

BENEDICTS ARE GOOD PEOPLE.

A most enjoyable social dance was given at Anderson's hall Tuesday evening. The benedicts were responsible for the affair and they made it most pleasant for all who were their guests. The hall was prettily decorated. The attendance was large without any crowding. Trombley's orchestra furnished excellent music for a long program of dances. The guests were received by a committee of benedicts and their wives. Many outside people were present, including the numerous visitors who are in the city.

During the intermission a toothsome lunch was served by the ladies. Dancing continued until an early hour and all were unanimous in pronouncing the function an entire success.

SUCCEEDS JOE PRINCE.

W. F. Beal is about to assume control of the restaurant business conducted here for the past several years by Joe Prince, he having bought it out. Mr. Beal has been connected with Prince in the business for an extended period and is competent in every way to run it successfully. He is fitting up Prince's former stand now and will be ready to open it to the public the latter part of the week. The restaurant enjoys a fine patronage built up by Prince and Mr. Beal will undoubtedly be able to cater to it satisfactorily.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Joe Reau of Marquette is in the city. James Pendill of Marquette was here yesterday.

Frank Hodgkins of Marquette was here yesterday.

E. P. Tillson is entertaining his father-in-law, Mr. Bennett, of Detroit.

A new sidewalk was laid in front of H. F. Heyn's store on Main street yesterday.

Madame DeVerner, the French fortune teller, is located at the Urban House, instead of at the Nelson.

Miss Jennie Sherman of Marquette was up Tuesday night to attend the dance at Anderson's hall.

The high wind yesterday afternoon stirred up things and whipped away the rain that was threatening.

M. J. Sherwood and wife were up from Marquette Tuesday night to attend the dance at Anderson's hall.

Miss Mary Sullivan of Sault Ste. Marie will run a boarding house at T. F. Donahoe's residence after the first of September.

Thomas Sullivan and Miss Lizzie Duchaine were united in marriage at St. John's church at 5:30 Tuesday morning. The young people will reside here.

The special train which left for Marquette this morning carried a fair quota of passengers who went to the Queen City to see Bishop-Elect Eis elevated to his new office.

The Rechabites are going to have an excursion to Marquette Saturday over the L. S. & I. road for which the fare will be only twenty-five cents for adults and twenty for children.

A number of people from this city went to Marquette last night to be present at a meeting connected with the reunion of the Swedish Crown societies there. A party drove down in a bus.

Davis & Busby's Uncle Tom's Cabin company appears in the Ishpeming Opera House tonight. The house has been renovated and presents a very bright appearance. The company is large and is said to give a good show. The usual street parade will be held.

John Nolan let a contract to Schaeffer & Son yesterday for the construction of his new High street dwelling. The foundations have been completed some time and the contractors will begin work on the building proper shortly.

Manager Nelson of the local branch of the Grand Union Tea company says that he has more than doubled his force within the last few months. Business has been constantly improving and more goods are being handled than at any previous time.

Mrs. Dr. Vandeventer entertained a large number of her young friends at the Country club last night at a corn roast. The party went out to the party went out to the club house early in the evening and passed a most enjoyable time.

J. C. Funston is arranging his plans for a departure from the city on the second of September. He will spend the winter in Wheeling, W. Va., with relatives. That is his intention, but he may possibly return home before the winter months are over. Mr. Funston has lived in this city forty-seven years and will find it hard to remain away long.

William Haywood was in the city Tuesday arranging for his Celebrities, which is a theatrical company composed of stars in various lines of work. He listed the town for tickets for a performance which will be given Tuesday night. Mr. Haywood had an early experience in the theatrical business in this section and brought one of the first minstrel shows here that ever visited the city. The show was called Haywood's Minstrels.

Paper advertising Hoyt's "Black Sheep," which will be produced in Marquette next Tuesday night, was distributed about the city yesterday. The company producing the piece is a metropolitan attraction and is playing one or two stands in this section while en route to the Pacific coast. Marquette is the only place in the county where it will appear and special rates will be offered local theater-goers who desire to see the performance.

It was suggested to a Mining Journal reporter yesterday that it would be well if an I. L. A. on the lines of the famous M. I. A. should be organized here. There is lots of work that such an organization could expend its energies on. The dandelion season is over and the pesky yellow weeds will offend no more for twelve months. The cow nuisance is in full swing, however, and willing workers could have plenty of opportunities to bestir themselves for the general good. Other minor annoyances might be remedied. Here is a rich field for some industrious reformer.

There has been nothing done at the Dexter mine to date. Delays in signing the option by parties whose names are required have delayed the proposed re-opening of the mine. It is expected that the preliminaries will be arranged and that work will be commenced at the mine soon. The ultimate operation of the property is assured, but those interested in its development are much annoyed by the delays. E. F. Bradt, who has taken a position with the Minnesota Iron company, will have general charge of the operations at the mine when work there is again undertaken. He and Captain Harper were up to Humboldt on business yesterday.

THE FLOWER TELESCOPE.

Two and a Half Tons Handled as Easily as an Opera Glass.

The most difficult of all measurements are confessedly those made by astronomers. To measure upon a moving surface—the great dome of the heavens—a length of less than one second of arc (the length of a pin at the distance of three miles) requires that the instrument employed shall be of the finest workmanship and that it shall be firmly and conveniently mounted. The following items relating to the 18-inch refractor of the Flower observatory at Philadelphia, furnished by Professor Eric Doolittle, illustrates the marvelous perfection of the mounting of a modern telescope.

The movable parts of this telescope weigh 5,000 pounds; yet so perfect are the means by which the bearings are relieved of excessive weight, and so completely does the employment of ball bearings eliminate the friction, that it can be freely moved in any direction by a pressure of two ounces. The devices for operating the instrument are arranged so conveniently that the whole labor of setting on a star occupies but a few seconds.

The flexure of the various parts is exceedingly small and its rigidity is such that it has retained its adjustments in a wonderful manner. The telescope rests on a masonry pier laid in cement. The pier is in the form of the frustum of a pyramid, of which the base is 14 by 11 feet and the top 7 feet by 4 feet 8 inches. It is sunk to a depth of ten feet below the ground and rests on a friable sandstone. The top is ten feet above the ground and is capped by a stone twelve inches thick. On this stone (a few inches below the floor of the observing room) rests the whole mounting, whose weight is 14,000 pounds. Yet so solidly has the whole been built that the deflection of the polar axis—that one of the two axes which is parallel with the earth's axis and serves to counteract the earth's diurnal movement—during the two years of setting is almost inappreciable.

Of the eight errors which an instrument like this may have—errors of flexure, of graduation of position, etc.—all have been found by means of the proper tests to be exceedingly small. The polar axis, for example, is found to be a little unsteady, yet its whole movement corresponds to a deflection of but one-hundredth of an inch. The tube is twenty-seven feet long and carries at one end a lens which weighs 100 pounds, and at the other end a counter-poise; yet it deflects when horizontal only eight-hundredths of an inch.

FLY WHEEL BROKE.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS WERE KNOCKED OUT BY AN ACCIDENT AT THE POWER HOUSE YESTERDAY MORNING.

One of the generators at the Ishpeming and Negaunee Lighting company's power house is temporarily disabled as a result of an accident yesterday morning about 1:45 o'clock, when one of the seven-foot fly wheels broke without warning. The machines that were being operated from it had to be taken off and the electric lights in both cities were out in consequence. As the accident happened late in the night no particular inconvenience was caused.

There was no apparent reason for the break. The wheel had been in use for some time and had evidently deteriorated. A piece about two feet long broke out of the rim. No damage was done. The wheel was removed from the shaft yesterday morning. A new one will have to be obtained to replace it. The accident necessitated some changing around in the plant in order to keep the lights going. The new wheel will be received shortly and will be installed as soon as it arrives.

DOUBLE RUNAWAY.

Two teams created considerable excitement yesterday morning near the city building. Several wagons were standing at the Northwestern freight depot receiving consignments of goods. The horses attached to two of the outfits became frightened at something near the depot and started to run. One wagon was loaded down with groceries packed in boxes. Notwithstanding that one of the teams was held by a heavy halter weight the horses swung round the corner by the city building at a fast clip, throwing the boxes of groceries on every side. Some of them struck the ground with such force that they broke open. The second wagon was loaded down with a heavy stove and the horse pulling it took a direction opposite from the first. It looked for a moment as if there would be some damage done, but both the horses were stopped when they had almost completed the circuit of the city building.

LANDED LOAD SAFE.

A peculiar accident happened to the Winter & Suss delivery wagon Tuesday morning. It had just been stopped in front of their meat market with a load of pork. The driver stepped down from his seat, leaving the reins caught over it. The horse became frightened at a passing train and started to move in such a way that he tightened the reins so that they caused it to back up. The wagon was backed so far onto the curb that it tipped over. As the horse got entangled by the accident there was quite a mix-up. The regular part of the accident consisted in the landing of the load of pork on the sidewalk. The covering that protected the pork kept it from contact with the walk and it was dumped so that it was easily transferred to the meat market.

FOR THEIR ANNUAL CAMP.

Joe Winter, John Winter, J. M. Perkins, C. G. Mason, Al Maitland, with E. J. Cummings of Chicago, left yesterday morning for Bass Lake, where they will enjoy the annual outing in camp there which has come to be a regular thing with them. They went down to Swanzy, whence they will be driven to the lake. They intend to stay for about a week. The party went down well equipped with camp plunder and took along a couple of boats. The boys spend an enjoyable week together about this time each year and they expect that the trip they are starting on will prove as pleasant as their former outings. Bass Lake is in a fine country for such parties and good sport can be had in the vicinity. It is quite popular with Negaunee people.

NO RIGHT TO UGLINESS.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at the Stafford Drug company.

The "Challenge" is the best 10-cent cigar sold. Husted & Gessler, makers, Chicago. J. B. Tibor, agent.

Scrofula, salt rheum, erysipelas and other distressing eruptive diseases yield quickly and permanently to the cleansing, purifying power of Burdock Blood Bitters.

DRINK GRAIN-O after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1/4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink, 15 and 25c.

AUGUST FLOWER.—"It is a surprising fact," says Professor Houton, "that in my travels in all parts of the world, for the last ten years, I have met more people having used GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach, and for constipation. I find for tourists and salesmen, or for persons filling office positions, where headaches and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist, that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use, and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion." SAMPLE BOTTLES FREE at Stafford's drug store. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.

LOCAL LACONICS.

John Lewis of the Hotel Marquette was about the city Tuesday.

W. H. Dunham, a Menominee insurance man, was here Tuesday.

Mrs. James Whitburn of Bessemer is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Northey, here.

The Northwestern road did some filling about its diamond crossing on Iron street yesterday.

Dr. Tilney had a brass band out again Tuesday evening and drew a crowd which filled the east end of Iron street.

Miss Mary Floyd, who has been visiting Mrs. Hooper at the Union Depot Hotel, left Tuesday evening for Milwaukee.

A force of men has resumed the work of loading ore from the old Jackson stockpile. The loading was stopped for some days.

Corbet has a reaper on his farm near the Negaunee mine which is attracting much attention from people who are unfamiliar with farm machinery.

The Cincinnati Summer Glee club appears at Ishpeming tomorrow evening. The concert to be given is spoken highly of by all who have heard it. It is probable that some people from here will take in the attraction.

The picnic of the Presbyterian Sunday school today will be largely attended if the weather is fair. The rate is unusually cheap, and many in addition to members of the Sunday school will, it is expected, make the trip. A pleasant time is assured all who attend.

The first of September, which marks the close of the fishing season, is rapidly approaching and it behooves anglers to get into the woods for their last sport. It is the opinion of the sportsmen here that the season should be closed at an earlier date, as trout are being captured at the spawning beds right along.

A 50-cent rate was made for the special to Marquette this morning which left at 8:20 to take to Marquette those who wished to attend the ceremonies marking the elevation of Rev. Els to the bishopric of Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie diocese. A large number from here are at the Queen City today to attend the service.

J. H. MacDonald was here Tuesday, He left yesterday morning for Gladstone, where he will serve as superintendent of the schools during the ensuing year. Mr. MacDonald was in this city a few years ago as principal of the high school. He is an instructor of much ability and will certainly do well at Gladstone. He has been connected with the schools there before.

Is Andy Seass a benedict or does he still live in lonesome state? This has been a much mooted question during the last few days. Andy insists that he is still looking after himself and himself alone. Some of his intimate friends aver that he has joined the ranks of the benedicts and has passed around the wedding cigars. Andy's denial of the ceremony does not bear all the marks of sincerity and there may be something in the current report crediting him with having "gone and done it."

STILL MORE COUNTERFEITING.

The Secret Service has unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters sets things right in the stomach, and when the stomach is in good order it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters get at the seat of the weak and debilitated. Beware of counterfeiters when buying.

THE TEA TASTER.

The average price at Hankow for the first quality black leaf tea, which is all shipped to Odessa, is about forty Mexican dollars for each ninety-pound chest. Twenty-five half chests of this first crop's pekoe leaves are sent to the emperor of Russia for palace use. Several times it has happened that the whole crop of some particular farm or hillside has been bought up by the Russians and shipped before Chinese consulars, who would drink no other tea, knew it. At once they cabled to Odessa and had the tea brought on arrival and shipped back to China. Twice on the Yangtze I used a rich and fragrant tea from the Keenung hills that had performed that journey to Odessa and return, because some mandarin knew what he wanted and was willing to pay for it.

The tea taster is king at Hankow for the six weeks of his exclusive reign, and whatever he may do during the remainder of the year he is a most rigid total abstainer during the high season, when every faculty of his keenest senses is on the alert. Although he never swallows a sample sip, the tea taster's nerves and digestion are impaired at the end of ten or twelve years, even the stimulating effect of the strong, volatile aroma in the tea hangs sometimes giving retired tea tasters attacks of the tea tremens which the Chinese and Japanese recognize as a disease, while temperance reformers, usually green tea drinkers, seem ignorant of the fact that other stimulants than alcohol may be abused. The professional tea taster at Hankow is said to drink only soda or mineral waters during the scorching weeks of his exacting season, and when word goes around the settlement that such a one of the great experts was seen to take sherry and biters at the club it is a signal that the great tea season is closing, that little choice tea is being brought in. Then the tension relaxes and a certain section of Hankow gives itself over to a jubilation and indulgence that are the scandal and byword of the other ports. Although the tea firms are all Russians or Siberians now, the tea tasters are Englishmen, and, for reasons not flattering to Russian character, it is said that the tea tasters will always be English.—The Century.

KEY IS SADDER AND WISER.

Eye-Opening Experience of a Smart Man From New York.

"You know my brother Ikey, of course?" said the New York man. "Ikey and I have been partners in business for twelve years. He has always stuck to the desk, while I have done the traveling. Ikey had an idea that New York couldn't run a day without him. He also thought himself the cutest, smartest man in the big town. Other New Yorkers who never get ten miles out of town have the same idea. Things happened to me on the road now and then, and I told Ikey about 'em, but I never could get him to believe that there was a man outside of Gotham who knew enough to take in a poker pot with a straight flush in his hand. A few weeks ago I got hurt, and Ikey had to go out or lose customers. When he finally concluded to go he went with his hat on his ear and a pocketful of 50-cent cigars. He was prepared to dazzle everybody.

"Ikey," says I, as he was ready to go, 'look a little out for gum games. You'll run across chaps who know a crowbar from a clock.'

"Bah!" says Ikey, as he picked up his grip and started off with a smile of content on his face.

"Well, I'm near dead of laughing over his adventures. He got off at Albany and was lugging his grip uptown, when a boy steps up and says:

"'Hello! Senator! Glad to see you. I'll carry that grip and make no charge.'

"It tickled Ikey to be taken for a senator and it tickled him to save a dime, but the boy got away with the grip, and Ikey was hung up for two days until the police found it. At Rochester, as he was standing around the station, a stranger fell against him and said:

"'I'm thinking of it,' said Ikey, sober as a judge, but three minutes later he finds his watch gone.

"In Buffalo, as he came out of his hotel, a stranger asked him if he wasn't the governor, and then added: 'Excuse me, while I knock that fly off!'

"Ikey rather carried the idea that he was the governor, but the stranger had got his diamond pin. In Cleveland, one of our old customers set out to make things pleasant for my brother, and after dinner said to him:

"'Say, Ikey, we've got a new game out here, and maybe you'd like to take a hand in it. It's called poker, and there's a great chance to show your nerve by bluffing.'

"'A new game,' says Ikey, as he throws up his hands. 'Why, we've been playing poker in New York for the last 200 years!'

"And Ikey took a hand in, and when the Buckeyes got through with him he was $70 out of pocket. Getting along to Toledo, a man worked $25 out of him on a bogus check, and in Detroit he was let in as a sure winner on a horse race and lost $35 more. That same night a thief entered his room and stole all his clothes, and he had to telegraph me to get others to get home in. While he was on the way a pickpocket got his last dollar, and he couldn't even pay car fare home from the station. It's a sore subject with Ikey, and you fellows must handle him gently, but it will do him a heap of good in the end. The swelling in his head has gone down by a third already, and he is almost ready to admit that he isn't infallible."

FATHER EIS TAKES HOLY ORDERS TODAY.

Fourth Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette.

FIRST CONSECRATION WHICH HAS EVER BEEN HELD HERE.

BISHOPS OF THE NORTHWEST ARE IN ATTENDANCE.

Consecration Mass as Elaborate Ceremony—Its Principal Features Outlined—List of Officers of the Mass. Banquet.

WILL BE CONSECRATED AS BISHOP.

Slumbering Marquette will be awakened at 5 o'clock this morning by joyful ringing of St. Peter's cathedral bells. Their ringing will be typical of the joy felt throughout the diocese at the consecration of its fourth bishop.

The one to whom the honor of elevation comes is Father Frederick Eis, who has served as a priest in the diocese since young manhood and who, though he has reached years of full maturity, is still in his prime and bids fair to have dominion over the Catholic interests of the upper peninsula for many years to come.

PLEASING TO ALL. Bishop-Elect Eis has never been stationed in Marquette as a priest, but since the death of the late Bishop Verdin he has had his headquarters here while acting in the capacity of administrator. During this period of nearly six months he has been in contact with the people of Marquette and with the Catholics of all other parts of the peninsula as well, on all of whom he has quite uniformly made a favorable impression. As one of the consultants of the late Bishop Verdin and as one of the older priests he was already well known among the priesthood. His elevation is a matter of great felicitation among the clergy.

As is in keeping with the character of the services to be held here today St. Peter's has been beautifully decorated, the drapings in the chancel and at the front of the church being in apostolic red, relieved in places by occasional bands of the papal yellow. Outside of the church, above the main entrance, hangs the bishop's arms, the crest being the same as has been used by his predecessors. High up over the crest floats a big streamer in the papal colors of yellow and white. Lower down and at either side hang two great American flags. Inside and outside the decorations are bold and effective.

MANY NOTABLES HERE.

Priests and higher dignitaries of the church were arriving on every train yesterday and early trains this morning will bring in a few belated ones. The bishops who are already in the city are: Archbishop Katzer, Milwaukee; Bishop Schwebach, LaCrosse, Wis.; Bishop Messmer, Green Bay, Wis.; Bishop Foley, Detroit; Bishop Shanley, Fargo, N. D.; Bishop Richter, Grand Rapids; Bishop Trobets of St. Cloud, Minn., and Bishop Bonicum of Lincoln, Neb., are expected among this morning's arrivals. Among other prominent prelates present are included: Father Baumgartner, chancellor of the diocese of Detroit; Father Lochmes, rector of Pio Nono college, Milwaukee; Dr. Seelinger, of St. Francis seminary, Milwaukee; Father Abbelene, Milwaukee; Rev. C. Ducharme, provincial of the Viateur fathers, Montreal, Can.

There will be masses by the various bishops and priests from 5 o'clock in the morning on, but at 8:30 the church will be cleared and till 9 o'clock no one will be admitted. At 9 o'clock the admission of ticket holders will begin, and from then till after the arrival of the procession of bishops and priests at 9:30, no one will be admitted who cannot show a ticket. After the procession arrives the doors will be thrown open and the public will be admitted without tickets. Those who come with tickets at half-past 9 or later will have no more favor than those who are without them. In order to get the favors to which a ticket entitles one it will be necessary to arrive at the church between 9 and half-past 10.

OUTLINE OF THE SERVICE.

This is the first consecration of a Catholic bishop ever held in Marquette, two of the preceding bishops having been consecrated elsewhere in the diocese and one at Cincinnati. The ceremonial connected with the consecration of a bishop is interesting to a high degree. It can properly be divided into three sections, the preliminary examination, the consecration proper, and the investiture. In the first part the consecrator asks the candidate questions to formally test his adherence to the tenets of the church and to ascertain that the candidate has the right to receive episcopal orders. At this juncture the papal bull is read by a priest who officiates as notary to the consecrator. The candidate is then made to take the oath of admission to the holy see. These preliminaries over mass is begun, consecrator and bishop-elect celebrating it simultaneously. The significance of this is that it betokens the unity of their faith.

Immediately after the gradual or tract the consecrator makes solemn announcement of the grave duties and responsibilities of a bishop. Then the ceremonies of consecration go forward and at one juncture consecrator, bishop-elect and assistants all prostrate themselves. A series of rites and prayers come in this part of the service. The majesty of the plain chant in the litanies, the Veni Creator and the preface is surpassed, perhaps, by no other portion of the liturgy. When the ceremony of consecration is finished the new bishop is invested with the crozier and ring of the episcopal order with accompanying prayers and admonitions.

Mass then again proceeds with the consecrator and the new bishop celebrating at the same altar. The miter and gloves, which have been blessed by the consecrator, are given to the new bishop after the communion. Then with the greatest pomp the newly consecrated bishop is enthroned on the episcopal seat, the Te Deum being entoned the while. During the hymn he passes around the church led by two assistant bishops and blessed the people. Afterwards he is received with the kiss of INSURANCE ON THE CLASSIFIED PLAN. After a hot session yesterday morning the grand lodge of the Swedish Sons of America voted to incorporate an insurance feature into the order. The delegates were by no means all favorable to the proposition and there were some warm debates before the dissenters were won over.

The grand lodge decided to issue policies in three denominations $100, $200 and $500, and grade the assessments according to the ages of the applicants. Members between the ages of 18 and 50 are eligible to take out insurance. In the afternoon most of the time was given up to the election and installation of the grand officers, who are now as here given:

Supreme past president—Gustaf L. Larson, Muskegon.
Supreme president—August Swenson, Ishpeming.
Supreme vice president—Thomas Nelson, Traverse City.
Supreme secretary—Albert Erickson, Manistee.
Supreme treasurer—August Franzquist, Crystal Falls.
Supreme chaplain—S. A. Johnson, Grand Rapids.
Supreme marshal—Olof Asplund, Ludington.
Supreme vice marshal—Andrew Olson, Cadillac.
Supreme inner guard—Ole Hakenson, Peshtigo, Wis.
Supreme outer guard—Axel Rydahl, Menominee.
Supreme trustees—C. O. Lyon, Menominee, G. A. Lindberg, Ishpeming, Fred Lindblom, Manistee.
Supreme finance committee—Andrew Olson, Cadillac, Axel Rydahl, Menominee, Olof Asplund, Ludington.

In the evening the delegates rested from labor and enjoyed a few hours of recreation as the guests of Swedish Crown No. 2. A reception in their honor was given in Fraternity hall and afforded them an opportunity to test the social qualities of their hosts. A fine spread was served and some splendid musical selections rendered by the Aetna sextette of Ishpeming, which came down with two bus loads of the members of the Swedish Home.

This morning the delegates will convene for business and will hold the last session of their meeting. The principal thing to be decided will be the place for holding the next grand lodge.

SHRINERS BIG DAY.

A large number of Shriners arrived in the city yesterday and a still larger crowd will come in today to participate in the semi-annual jolly good time of the order which is always held at the temple in Marquette.

The reception and invitation of candidates will be at Masonic hall at 2 p. m. sharp. The ladies will be entertained by a trolley ride. The first car will leave Hotel Superior at 2 p. m.; the second car from Hotel Marquette at 2:15 p. m. and will halt at the New Clifton about 2:20; the third car will leave Hotel Marquette on the arrival of the train from the east, due at 2:50. All ladies of visiting nobles temporarily in the city are cordially invited and will be welcomed on making themselves known to the committee.

BAND CONCERT.

Rain Stops a Fine One on the Ormsbee Lawn—Want More Music.

The Cadet Greys gave a band concert, or rather the beginning of one, last evening on S. S. Ormsbee's lawn at the corner of Spruce and Arch streets. There was a large crowd but after the band had rendered a few selections rain came on and dispersed its auditors. After the concert Mrs. Ormsbee invited the band into the house and served lunch. Earlier in the evening the band went to the bishop's house and serenaded Bishop-Elect Eis and his reverend guests. The concert there was much appreciated and the Greys were rewarded with liberal applause.

The band is greatly in need of new music and to secure it has decided to give an entertainment in the opera house next Monday evening. Prof. G. L. Fox, the magician, will appear under its auspices. He is said to be very clever in his line. In addition to his feats in magic Prof. Fox has some ninety pictures of the Cuban war which he throws onto a screen by means of a powerful stereopticon. The price of admission is very reasonable, 25 and 35 cents. The Greys hope to realize a good sum off the venture.
