RIVALRY TOOK TURNS IN LEADING.
New York, Oct. 3.—The first of the international yacht race series of 1899 between Columbia and Shamrock—the two greatest racing machines ever produced by the Americans and English—degenerated into a drifting match today and had to be declared off because neither could reach the finish line in the time allotted by the rules, which provide that if one of the boats does not finish within five and a half hours the race is declared off.

At the end of that time this evening, when the yachts were still four miles from home, with the Shamrock leading by something more than a quarter of a mile, the committee officially declared there would be no race. The yachts were then taken in tow by their respective tugs and brought back to the anchorage inside of Sandy Hook. Under the rules the first race is now postponed two days, or until Thursday.

DAY PROMISED WELL.
The day promised well at first. The waves were crested with white caps here and there and a fairly fresh breeze blew out of the north northeast, but after the yachts had crossed the line the wind turned fluky and variable and the race was a fizzle almost from the start.

Though indecisive in every respect as to the abilities of the great singlestickers, today's race indicates that the Irish boat, with her English skipper and her Scotch crew, is the ablest ever sent across the Atlantic.

During the five and a half hours sail the Shamrock was thrice ahead, and twice the Yankee boat showed the way. For the first ten minutes the Shamrock led, then for awhile Columbia was first, then for the ten minutes following the Shamrock; then for three hours the Columbia, and for the last hour and a half it was the Shamrock that led the way. The breeze blew as high as twelve knots an hour and as low as three, and shifted about through the eight points of the compass.

YANKEE THE SUPERIOR.
Each in turn beat the other in running before the wind and was in turn beaten at beating against the wind at various stages of the race, so that many of the experts who saw the two boats sail today are disinclined to believe there is a pin to choose between them; but when the race is closely analyzed, it is absolutely proven that Columbia showed her superiority at every point of sailing—running, reaching and beating—whenever the wind freshened, and that it was only in the lightest air that the Shamrock could make headway against her.

The feature of the race which pleased everybody most was the perfectly clear field which was maintained. For the first time this year the government took a hand to prevent a repetition of the unfortunate occurrence which marred the last race, when the accompanying excursion boats crowded down upon the racers and impeded their progress.

JOCKEYING AT THE POST.
The Shamrock, towed by the tug Lawrence, was the first of the yachts to leave Sandy Hook bay. She arrived at the whistling buoy off the east end of Gedney's channel at 9:45. The wind at this time was northeast by north, blowing about twelve miles an hour. Both yachts set their club topsails at 10:30, the Columbia's men handling their sails smarter than the others. At 10:45 the committee boat Walter Luckenbach, in charge of S. Nicholson Kane, came to anchor a cable length east of the Sandy Hook lightship and immediately hoisted a compass signal signifying that the course would be south southwest.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the preparatory signal was set on board the committee boat. During the interval of fifteen minutes between the preparatory and the starting signals, the skippers of both yachts manoeuvred to the northward of the starting line. Both stuck close to the lightship, and five minutes before the starting signal the balloon jib topsail was set up on the Columbia's stay. Shamrock sent up number two jib topsail about the same time.

SHAMROCK OFF FIRST.
One minute before the start the Shamrock was approaching the line from the eastward and the Columbia from the westward. When thirty seconds were left the Shamrock, which had been coming for the line with her boom to port, gybed to the starboard just as the Columbia, with her boom also to port, rounded the west end of the line and began easing sheets. Captain Hogarth, however, had his boat several lengths in the lead, and just as the signal was given he gybed the Shamrock again, crossing the line thirty-seven seconds after the signal. The official time for the start was: Shamrock, 11:15:37; Columbia, 11:16:20. Shamrock had the best of the start by forty-three seconds.

As Columbia crossed the line she broke out her No. 2 jib topsail. At 11:17 the Columbia's spinnaker blossomed out to port, and she began at once to overtake the Shamrock. Captain Hogarth did not see fit to set the Shamrock's spinnaker until four minutes after Columbia had set hers, but as soon as it was set the emerald-hued boat began to hold her own with Columbia, the yachts being then not more than three lengths apart. Both yachts were heading considerably to the westward of their courses, and at 12 o'clock Shamrock, which had been steadily gaining, was an eighth of a mile ahead.

COLUMBIA GAINS THE LEAD.
At 12:15 the wind shifted to the northwest. The Columbia caught it first, and the crew took in the spinnaker shortly. Captain Barr gybed her to port, trimmed down the staysail and the balloon jib topsail sheets, and in just five minutes Columbia had walked past the Shamrock and was the leading boat. Then followed a luffing match for half an hour.

Approaching the outer mark Columbia's crew doused the balloon jib topsail smartly, and as they rounded the mark all the sheets were trimmed flat on the starboard tack and the Columbia thus began her fifteen miles of windward work. The time taken at the outer mark as each yacht luffed around it was: Columbia, 1:37:57; Shamrock, 1:39:58. So it will be seen by the official figures that in the run of fifteen miles from the start to the outer mark the Columbia outsailed Shamrock by two minutes and forty-four seconds. Her elapsed time at this point was 2:21:37 and Shamrock's 2:24:21. The wind was now northeast north, and had increased to about ten miles.

CHALLENGER WELL HANDLED.
The Shamrock tacked to starboard at 1:56, spinning around on her keel in fifteen seconds from full to full, but, to the astonishment of the thousands who witnessed Columbia's next tack fifteen seconds later, she swung around in the almost incredibly short space of ten seconds, timed by a stop watch.

Captain Hogarth, apparently feeling confident that by a series of short tacks he could get to the windward of Columbia, put the Shamrock about four times in three minutes and forty seconds, Captain Barr followed suit and his nimble crew trimmed the sheets just as fast as those on Shamrock, and when they both settled down to steady work again, at 2:14:50, Columbia was still well in the lead and gaining.

IRISH BOAT THE LUCKIER.
The wind continued fluky until a few minutes before 3 o'clock, when it left Columbia for fully five minutes. Shamrock, off shore, held the breeze from the northwest. When the Shamrock, at 3:11, went about on Columbia's lee she was well ahead. Between 3:15 and 3:20 Columbia, with a few fresh puffs from the northeast, began walking up on Shamrock, which was then nearly a quarter of a mile to the windward of her, but before she could overhaul Shamrock the wind died out again. Shamrock continued to hold the breeze, and by 3:35 was nearly half a mile to the windward of the Bristol boat.

As the boats at 4 o'clock were five miles to the leeward of the finish, it was evident the race would have to be declared off, and this was accordingly done.

ENTHUSIASM IN ENGLAND.
London, Oct. 3.—If there had been some lukewarmness of the interest hitherto, London has amply atoned. No event in the annals of sport ever created such intense, universal excitement as has been displayed over the result of the race today between Shamrock and Columbia for America's cup.

The culminating point was reached tonight, when the center of the newspaper world of Great Britain was literally packed with a huge multitude of cheering, enthusiastic partisans. It is calculated that at 10:30 o'clock something like 25,000 people were within the area between Fleet street and the Thames embankment.

The fact that Shamrock was leading at the expiration of the time limit created unbounded enthusiasm and the only disappointment expressed is that the race was not completed. The general opinion is that Shamrock would have won a hard-fought race.

GREAT BLAZE AT DES MOINES
PROPERTY WORTH $500,000 DESTROYED IN THE IOWA CITY.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 3.—At 3 o'clock this morning the five-story department store of the Harris-Emery company burned. Their loss is $350,000. Adjoining were W. E. Hegele, cigar factory; John R. Hill, shoe store; the Masonic Temple, and the Murphy house, and all were more or less injured. The total loss is half a million dollars.

CONFLAGRATION AT OIL CITY.
Oil City, Pa., Oct. 3.—The immense lumber yards of the Wheeler & Duzenberg company at Endeavor were completely burned out today. Over six million feet of lumber was destroyed, together with three houses. The total loss is half a million dollars, with small insurance.

CRAMP SHIP YARDS TIED UP.
BOILER MAKERS AND OTHERS STRIKE FOR SHORTER HOURS.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—Seven hundred boiler makers and iron shipbuilders, with 200 helpers, struck today at the Cramp ship yards for a nine-hour day, as did also 150 punchers and helpers. Altogether there are about 1,500 men on a strike at the yards. The strike today will seriously hamper the work at the plant.

OCEAN LINER ASHORE.
STEAMER BAY STATE STRIKES ON ROCKS NEAR CAPE RACE—FIFTEEN MEN ARE MISSING.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 3.—The Warren line steamer Bay State, from Liverpool, is ashore near Cape Race, and likely to prove a total wreck. Four boats, containing the captain and sixty men, were picked up by the bark Flora and landed at Cape Royle this evening. Another boat with fifteen men aboard is still missing.

TODAY'S WEATHER.
Washington, Oct. 3.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Fair Wednesday and Thursday; variable winds.

SALISBURY SAID TO BE AGAINST WAR.

Peaceful Assurances Reported to Have Been Cabled the Transvaal by the Premier.

STATEMENT COMES THROUGH THE BOER AGENT AT LONDON.

IN REALITY THE SITUATION IS BUT LITTLE CHANGED.

African Dispatches Full of News of the Furthor Massing of the Burgars, While on the Other Side the Chartering of Transports Still Goes On.

BRITAIN FAR FROM BEING READY.
London, Oct. 3.—While all the dispatches from South Africa dwell upon a condition of wild excitement there and an expected imminence of a Boer attack, there is in reality little change in the situation, although the massing of the Boers in all directions inevitably increases the tension.

While constant military orders are being issued here the progress seems very slow and it must still be weeks before Great Britain will be in position to strike, although it is believed that the British troops now at the front, or near it, are sufficient to protect British territory.

The arrangements for the despatch of war stores and men continue. A quantity of balloon material has been sent to South Africa, and the chartering of transports is still going on. Five vessels of the Cunard line are now engaged.

A telegram from Paris announces that M. Arnaud, president of the International Arbitration & Peace league, has sent an appeal to Lord Salisbury entreating him to choose a power to act with a power chosen by the Transvaal, with the object of averting war.

WHITE STRIVING FOR PEACE.
Montague White, consul general for the South African republic in London, told the Associated Press this morning that he telegraphed President Kruger yesterday urging him to make a personal appeal to Lord Salisbury and proposing a scheme as the basis of further negotiations. He said he momentarily was expecting to hear that the Transvaal government was sending an ultimatum to Great Britain declaring the despatch of troops a casus belli.

Mr. White added a curious statement to the effect that the representative of one of the largest capitalists of the Rand called upon him this morning and asserted that Lord Salisbury had determined there should not be war and had instructed Secretary Chamberlain to write South Africa further assurances with regard to the British desire to respect the complete independence of the Transvaal, so confirmation of this is obtainable in official circles.

One result of the war scare is the advance of one shilling to eighteen pence in the price asked for wheat offered in Lynn market today.

FREE STATE FORCES IN FIELD.
Advices from New Castle, Natal, report that telegraphic communication is interrupted beyond Charlestown, where the stores had been looted by the natives since the departure of the whites.

A telegram from Ladysmith, Natal, says the Orange Free State troops have occupied and closed an important pass on the Natal border; that the Free State artillery is proceeding in the direction of Kimberley and another considerable force of artillery under Commandant Boning has gone to Harrismith, while Commandant Smith commands a force of artillery enroute for Kroonstadt.

The latest news received from Johannesburg, filed there yesterday, indicates that the last rush of Europeans to leave town has occurred. They crowded the trains like sardines, occupying every possible inch.

TROOPS FROM INDIA LANDED.
The British transport Lalpoua arrived last evening at Durban, Natal, with field artillery, hospital corps and commissariat stores from India. The troops were promptly disembarked and sent up country. The Natal authorities have announced that no more mails will be dispatched to the Transvaal until further notice.

According to a dispatch from Lourenco, Portuguese East Africa, a crowd of Boers who assembled at Machador station forced the refugees and passengers to uncover during the singing of the Boer national air and severely maltreated several Englishmen, stabbing one and kicking and trampling upon others. It is reported there also that two ladies were outraged and assaulted at Paardokop station by Boers.

GOLD REPORTED SEIZED.
Lloyd's publishes a report that gold valued at two and half a million dollars in transit has been seized by the Transvaal authorities.

A dispatch from Durban, Natal, states that the Boers are expected to take the aggressive today, and most alarming rumors are afloat respecting their intentions.

The Pietermaritzburg correspondent of The Daily Mail says he believes martial law will be declared in Natal with a view of preventing the Natal Dutch from joining the Boers.

BOER REPLY IS READY.
London, Oct. 4.—A special dispatch from Pretoria, dated Monday, says that the meeting of the raad adjourned at 11 o'clock in the morning and that only a legal quorum of the members was present. President Kruger, addressing the members, described war as unjust and unnecessary, and denied that the outlanders wanted franchise. The Transvaal reply, it is reported, is now ready for dispatch and only waits the receipt

Dewey stood fighting at Manila better than handshaking at New York. He didn't have a lame arm after the battle at Manila, nor was he so weary that he had to beg for the opportunity to take a little needed rest.

For a man who has profited by them so greatly, Candidate McLean of Ohio is unaccountably hostile to "trusts." But it is only as a candidate for governor that McLean hates the trusts.

While General Otis is overworking himself in the Philippines in the endeavor to, as Dewey puts it, "bring order out of chaos" there, his critics at home are wearing themselves out in the effort to persuade the president to humiliate him.

The Democratic demonstration at Dallas, Texas, evidences that there is no diminution of enthusiasm in the ranks of the party in the "Lone Star" state.

The Daily Mining Gazette of Houghton evidently believes that the proper course to be pursued by the Republicans of Michigan in the coming state election is to put up its ticket and frame its platform declarations as to invite those members of the party who believe in Governor Pingree to vote some other ticket.

Strange as it may seem, the journals which advocate turning the Philippines over to Aguinaldo and his ragged following find in Professor Schurman's address at the opening of the scholastic year at the Cornell university, in which he discussed the Philippine situation at some length, proof that he does not approve of the position of our government with reference to that archipelago.

That awful "conspiracy." If, as Chamberlain, the British colonial secretary, now explains, the attitude of Great Britain toward the Transvaal republic has as its real aim the defeat of a well organized Dutch conspiracy to form a federation of the Dutch states in South Africa, the steps by which the British government has proceeded to force a war in which her vast power can be used to destroy these states are given a new significance.

Granted that the Dutch states have planned the organization of a federation as charged, what is its object? Not aggression on British territory in South Africa, which would be both indefensible and in the highest degree unwise, but increased power to resist aggression on themselves. The Dutch in South Africa have suffered much from British rapacity in the past, and it is wise and proper for them to seek by union of the states they have created there to solidify their strength for the purpose of better enabling themselves in the future to resist similar attacks on their right to the soil they have made their own by entry on and cultivation of it.

When the British colonies in what is now the United States decided to throw off England's oppressive rule they formed a federation for the very same purpose, and events have vindicated the wisdom of the proceeding. But when they did this they were still British colonies—in revolt, against the parent government, it is true, but their revolt had not yet been crowned with success.

Great Britain acquired control of the territory in South Africa now under her dominion by methods far less justifiable than those employed by the Dutch who have built up states there.

It is alleged that the Dutch are wanting in progressiveness, that they are bigots in religion, clannish in their customs, and do not readily assimilate with other races.

Without being able to hear all that they said, he gathered from their talk that they were bushrangers, and that they contemplated an attack on Mr. Thompson's farm on the following day.

When Jim recovered consciousness he found himself lying in bed in a darkened room. He gazed round with some surprise—not much, he was too weak for strong emotions—but after a little the room began to seem in some way familiar to him.

"What are you doing here?" exclaimed the former as soon as she recognized him.

"Water!" was all he could reply. At first Miss Devereaux merely looked contemptuously at him, but seeing that he was evidently suffering she signed to the maid to bring some.

"And now, what is the meaning of this? Why are you here?" "Bushrangers," answered Jim, who still found it difficult to use his tongue.

"Nonsense," said Miss Devereaux, laughing scornfully, unless you are one." Jim made no reply, but proceeded to shut and bolt the back door, while the two women looked amazed.

"Did your uncle leave any men about this morning?" he asked. "No!" she replied.

"Will you have the kindness to look out of the front windows?" He somewhat against her will she complied and saw two men who had approached to within half a mile of the farm, and had then halted, waiting apparently for their comrades.

"There are two men there," said Miss Devereaux, when she returned, "who look like two of my uncle's hands, but what of that?"

HOW JIM SAVED THE HEIRESS.

Overhead a blazing sun; around, as far as the eye could see, the desolate, parched waste of the Australian scrub, plain broken only by a belt of trees to the southeast. To emphasize the loneliness of the scene, one solitary living creature—a man making his way toward the belt of trees.

The figure of the man was in thorough keeping with the scene. The bowed shoulders, drooping head, and slouching gait expressed nothing but despondency of weariness, or both.

It was not to hunger and thirst that his dejected appearance was due. He was unconscious of the burning heat, the monotonous plain, and everything else except the feeling that rankled in his breast.

As Jim eventually reached the belt of trees, having found a convenient shelter thicket, threw himself on the ground, and, in spite of his bitter thoughts, fell asleep.

When Jim recovered consciousness he found himself lying in bed in a darkened room. He gazed round with some surprise—not much, he was too weak for strong emotions—but after a little the room began to seem in some way familiar to him.

speed, keeping some distance apart, and not advancing in a direct line, but swerving constantly to one side or the other, so as to make it more difficult to aim at them.

It was weary work waiting for the darkness, but at length the long afternoon passed, but as soon as it was dusk, Jim opened the back door and, creeping on hands and knees, they all three managed to reach the stable without being discovered.

As soon as they heard a shot fired they were to hide as fast as they could in the direction of Mr. Hughes' ranch, which was about twelve miles away.

PURCHASE BY THE COPPER RANGE. TO BE REBUILT BELOW.

441 ACRES NEAR THE GRATIOT RIVER ARE SECURED, PRESUMABLY FOR A STAMP MILL SITE. The Keweenaw association, J. M. Longyear of Marquette, agent, has transferred to the Copper Range company Section 19, 25-35 and a fractional half of Section 3, 54-56, covering both sides of the mouth of Gratiot river between the Atlantic mill and the canal, for $8,821.80. The 441 acres involved in the deal will probably form the mill site for the Copper Range mine.

COPPER NEWS NOTES. The Wolverine's output for the nine months since Jan. 1 has been 2,927 tons, against 1,946 in the same time of 1898.

James Lewis & Sons, Liverpool, in their mid-monthly report on copper, received by telegraph yesterday by Paine, Webber & Co., say: "The amount of business transacted has been on a limited scale, confined to about 5,750 tons, but little desire being shown to buy on the part of speculators. Chili bars to the extent of 1,326 tons have been shipped from here to Baltimore for conversion into electrolytic copper there, and it is stated that altogether 5,000 tons are to be sent for this purpose in the course of the next three months."

RICH STAMP ROCK EXPOSED. OLD NORWICH PROPERTY ON THE ONTONAGON RANGE OPENING UP REMARKABLY GOOD.

A. P. Meads of Marquette, who has charge of the operations on the Norwich property on the Ontonagon range for his father, Alfred Meads, is in Houghton to test the Rand compressor for the property which has been receiving an overhauling at Carroll Bros. shops and which will probably be shipped today to Matchwood, whence it will be hauled into the mine, a distance of about eight miles by the road, though only seven miles by section line. The Norwich company quit work in 1864, though tributaries worked the mine until 1867. About the middle of last May Mr. Meads secured a year's option on the property and immediately began the work of retrimbering the adit and of unwatering the mine. Considerable rock had to be removed where cave-ins had occurred and it was not until this week that the task of unwatering was completed.

Only one shaft was ever put down on the property, the vein being the most eastern known, very near the edge of the trap, and differing from the others which have made this country so famous in that it is largely epidote and quartz with some spar, carrying its copper in the epidote; it has never been worked elsewhere and was known in the famous days of the mine as the Norwich lode. The shaft is about 600 feet deep from its collar while from the adit level down it is 275 feet. The timbers below the adit have been found sound in spite of the long years they have been in place, though entirely covered with a deposit of slime which has made work difficult. Blasts which have been put in from time to time have shown up some very rich stamp rock and it is the intention as soon as the compressor is on the ground to sink another 100-foot level and then drift east and west to thoroughly prove up the vein. About fifteen miles have been working upon the property, and the number will now be increased to twenty and three power drills will be put at work. It is felt by Mr. Meads that this work will be sufficient to fully prove the value of the property, and certainly if the samples brought in by A. P. Meads Monday are a criterion the Norwich will again show up most splendidly among the producing mines of the Lake Superior district.

IN STRONG FINANCIAL SHAPE. NORTHERN MICHIGAN BUILDING & LOAN IS SHOWN TO BE A POWERFUL ORGANIZATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Northern Michigan Building & Loan association was held at Hancock yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The report for the quarter ending Sept. 30 showed the organization in excellent financial shape. The receipts aggregated $89,637.08, the leading items being: Dues, $27,827.51, and mortgage loans, $18,895. The disbursements and cash on hand likewise footed up $59,637.08, of the money paid out $48,247.70 going for mortgage loans and $19,187.50 on account of withdrawals. The resources were shown to be $504,866.19. Of this amount $485,101.96 are loans, $10,911.52 real estate and $2,372.71 loans for close. The liabilities column—which foots up, of course, the same as the resources—the capital stock is $234,047.50, the dues paid in advance $49,288.75, the undivided profits $104,869.83, and bills payable $20,000.

Of the fifth series—the oldest issue now in force—there are 107 shares still out, dated March 1, 1890. Their book value is $97.85 and withdrawal value the same. The forty-second series—the next to the latest issued—started July 1, 1890, there being 1,062 shares in force. On Oct. 1 of the forty-third series were started; of this issue the shares now in force aggregate 17,652.

George Lord, chief of the building and loan division of the Michigan department of state, examined the books and certified to their correctness. He declared that everything was kept in first-class shape. The auditing committee, from whose report the above figures are taken, consisted of Jas. Hoar, August Mette and E. W. Bousall.

HOTTEST PLACE ON EARTH.

Mercury in Persia Reaches 140 Degrees in the Afternoon.

All will be glad to know just where the hottest place on earth is. In times past there has been much dispute over the subject, but the authorities are now agreed on the spot I am about to name. Curiously enough, this territory is not a desert, not Pt. Yuma, not even the Arizona plains, although a poet well described them by declaring that the lost spirits, wandering from their infernal abodes, stood on the borders of that region, with eyes blinded by the sun's reflected glare, then in terror hurried back to their sulphurous lakes—to avoid the heat. No, the hottest place in the world is, with all respect to ocean summer resorts, on the seashore.

The region of maximum temperature is an extensive area on the Persian gulf, a part of the southwestern coast of Persia. This territory includes also the Bahrain or Aval islands. June, July and August are terrific, unendurable save to the natives, and hideous to them. Day after day the mercury will mark more than 100 degrees in the shade. By day here I mean the diurnal twenty-four hours. Think of it, you who look with feasting eyes on the thermometer that registers 100 degrees at noontide. Imagine the horror of striking a match at midnight and reading 110 degrees. It hardly seems possible, yet it is officially declared that frightful heat is not excessive—in the country. Often 140 degrees in the shade is attained in the afternoon.

The islands are a small group, named, after the largest, Bahrain. They lie between latitude 25 degrees at 30 minutes and 26 degrees and 30 minutes north, and longitude 50 degrees and 50 degrees and 30 minutes east. Bahrain itself is about 27 miles long and 10 miles broad. The population of the group is 75,000. The natives are for the most part Arabs, governed by a sheikh, who pays tribute to the sultan of Oman.

The island of Bahrain is the one peculiarly cursed. In the interior the ground is hilly, with a fertile soil that produces wheat, barley, dates, figs and the like. There are abundant springs of good water. This is the interior. On the coast there is the awful heat that shrivels this part of the world—and there is no water except the salt waves of the Persian gulf. The springs of the interior are practically unavailable in that land of rude conveyances and clumsy methods of transportation. They do get a little water out of the sea, but it is not sea water.

A mile from the shore of Bahrain are the treasured springs of fresh water. The sparkling wells bubble up through the sands—in the bottom of the harbor. There is a depth of hundreds of feet of salt water over them, into which they merge and are forever lost at the moment they issue from their subterranean courses. But there they are, these they have been for hundreds, even thousands of years. Hidden in the ocean's abyss, they have nevertheless been discovered by man, and from their supply the city of Manamah, a thriving commercial center, and all the other towns, and every separate hut of the coast, gain all the water that is used for drinking purposes.

Divers are sent down from boats stationed over the springs. The divers invert their goatskin sacks over the gushing waters, so that the jet may enter the bags' mouths. Each bag, when filled, is closed water tight, and the thing is done. These divers are numerous, and their employment never ceases, since the demands of the thirsty are constant. It is estimated that 1,000 sacks are filled daily from the submarine wells.—Lloyd's Weekly Newspaper.

TWO FAITHFUL SERVANTS.

"Sol" and "Lige" Would Not Leave Their Old Master.

"You are free," said Josiah T. McLaughlin to his slaves when the clash of the civil strife had hardly closed. Perhaps he wondered, as he said the words, how his untrained self and sons could carry on the work of the place. Some of the servants spoke as they turned away, for they understood that the clash between the states had devastated their master's holdings.

On the following day upon arising Mr. McLaughlin found that many of the accustomed chores had been accomplished, and it was not many minutes before Sol and Lige, two slaves, unwavering in their fidelity, despite the scurvy trick fate had played their owner, stood before the astonished man.

"Marse Joe," said Sol, "me an' Lige here done got our heads set on stayin' wid you. We belongs ter yer, Marse Joe, and we gwine ter stay." Regarding the matter settled, they turned once more to their usual labor. And was "Marse Joe" to be blamed for in that hard and uncertain aftermath of a bitter defeat he went at the evidence of the enduring faithfulness and genuine affection of his two slaves. And is the son of that "Marse Joe" culpable if he, grateful through the years that damned the memory and gratitude of many, insists that these two men—Sol, aged eighty-six, and Lige, aged seventy—shall find no need unfilled and shall never want for aught. "They have been with our family always," he said. "They refused to leave my father when slavery ceased, and now, when age has enervated their agility and earning powers, they are receiving their reward. "Only a few days ago some of Sol's family—both have large families of grandchildren and great-grandchildren—tried to get them to leave. "You belong to Marse Ben and can't leave him," said a grandchild. "Uh-uh," replied Sol, "Marse Ben 'blongs ter me; dat's why I can't leave him."

"And so I do," added Mr. McLaughlin. "I wish," he continued, "that I could tell you of all those two faithful fellows have done, and all the happy incidents they are connected with. They have always been trusted more than I would trust many a white man. One of them slept in the store and one in the tanyard until they grew too old, and I will vouch for their honesty. "By the way, Lige was my older sister's nurse. One day he decided that she was entirely too small, so to remedy it he planted her in the ground almost to her shoulders. It is history among the negroes that she began to grow rapidly from that day. "Sol, who is eighty-six, was much of a man at log-rolling, and whenever the neighbors wanted help they sent for him. He married a slave of a neighbor, and his wife was taken to Alabama, though my father made every effort to buy the woman. However, every quarter—three months—Sol was given permission to visit his wife, and when freedom was declared he went to Alabama after her."

NEGLECTED HASSOCKS.

St. Botolph's church, Aldersgate, boasts among its clergymen a humorist of no mean order. In the monthly circular issued to parishioners he writes: "One of our hymns says that 'Satan trembles when he sees the weakest saint upon his knees.' We fear there is a small chance of Satan, or anyone else, seeing a certain portion of our congregation on their knees, as they prefer to sit rather than kneel at prayer time. Except for aged people or invalids there is no excuse for this lazy habit. We will endeavor to supply some new hassocks with 'Kneel to Pray' on them, and trust that the hint will not be thrown away."

But the reverend gentleman quite mistakes the reason of the disinclination of men to kneel in church. If he wishes to remove it he should supply not new hassocks, but new trousers. The hard substances provided in most churches as kneeling boards simply mean ruin to a pair of well cut pants, and in these days of keen competition city men do not care about appearing with baggy knees when such a contingency can be avoided by a slight change of position, which need affect the spirit of devotion. This is the real reason why his hassocks are neglected.—London Telegraph.

The "How Boy Preacher," Rev. J. Kirkman, Belle River, Ill., says, "After suffering bronchial or lung trouble for ten years, I was cured by One Minute Cough Cure. It is all that is claimed for it and more." It cures coughs, colds, grippe and all throat and lung troubles. The Stafford Drug Co.

HUNG A DUMMY FIGURE.

AND THIS CAUSED THE REPORT YESTERDAY MORNING THAT A MAN HAD COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Yesterday morning a report gained some currency about the city that a man had committed suicide by hanging himself in an alley near the Swedish Home hall. Some people who heard the rumor inquired about the occurrence without getting definite information. The report was a fake which had its foundation in a prank played by some parties who succeeded in their attempt to stir up some excitement.

A dummy figure was rigged up by them some time in the evening. It was clothed with trousers and coat and bore a fair resemblance to a human figure. It was strung up by the neck in an alley near the Swedish Home hall on Second street. When morning came the figure was disclosed to the view of a passer-by who was certain that he had discovered a bona fide suicide. A closer investigation disclosed the fact that he was fooled. With the hope of catching other suckers he advanced the figure to hang and during the next hour or so the "suicide" was discovered by many different parties who sent their friends to witness the dummy.

The rumor that a man had hung himself drew to the spot quite a number, who were greatly disgusted to find that they had been fooled. At times the place where the dummy hung was well surrounded with people.

John Jones fought a small fire Monday night. He put it out all right, but after he had accomplished this he almost wished he had summoned the fire department. In the early part of the evening a pan full of hot ashes was emptied in a barrel in the back yard. The ashes contained some red hot coals which smoldered for several hours, finally setting the barrel on fire while the members of the Jones' household were peacefully slumbering. Mr. Jones was awakened and told of what was happening in the back yard. He arose and without donning more clothes than were about, luteily necessary went to survey the situation. He decided that the blaze would bear a little quenching, and, getting a bucket, went to a faucet in the kitchen to fill it. A filtering attachment prevented the water from flowing freely and fearing that the fire might get headway Mr. Jones endeavored to unscrew the filter without turning off the water. When it became loose the pressure from the faucet threw water over everything about the room. ## WINE OF CARDUI THE LINK THAT BINDS.

JACKSON, TENN., Nov. 23.

I was subject to miscarriage for three years, and suffered constantly with backache. I wrote to you for advice, and after using three bottles of Wine of Cardui, according to your directions, I am strong and well, and the mother of a fine girl baby.

Mrs. E. N. JOWERS.

McLREE'S Wine of Cardui

There is no use talking—a baby in the house is the link that binds husband and wife together. Nothing is sadder than fruitless wedlock. The prattling and cooing of the little ones offset a thousand times the occasional worries and trials of life. When a wife is barren, there is a derangement somewhere in the genital organs, caused by one or more of those common disorders known as "female troubles". Wine of Cardui is the remedy. It puts the organs of generation in a strong and healthy condition, fitting the wife for the sacred duty of reproducing her kind. During the period of gestation the entire system of the expectant mother is built up to withstand the ordeal of labor, and when the little one makes its advent it is lusty and strong, well-fitted to grow to maturity in perfect health. The mother, too, passes through the trial with little pain and no dread. Wine of Cardui is truly a wonderful medicine for women.

WILL EXPLORE FOR IRON.

C. L. Anderson has taken an option on a tract of mineral lands in the vicinity of the Goodrich property and the old Saginaw mines and will explore them thoroughly in an effort to locate a workable deposit of ore. His option covers the southeast 1/4 of the northeast 1/4 and the northeast 1/4 of the northwest 1/4 of Section 19 Township 47, Range 27. The lands adjoin the Goodrich and old Saginaw properties and are in a promising tract of territory. Arrangements are being made for systematic exploration and a small force of men was taken out yesterday. The lands under option are low and the first work undertaken to remove the surplus water. The exploratory work will be pushed with good forces of men.

ONLY A FEW LEFT.

Reports from the Dead river camps indicate that only a few of the Clevelanders who came up to work in the woods remain there. About 40 of the 180 men who came through to this city are still sticking to the work. The men have been coming in steadily during the last few days. One day as many as twenty-seven deserted. The loss to the Cleveland Mill company exceeds the mere expense of transporting the men here, as some of them did not cut the camps until they had been supplied with outfits for the work, which they wore away with them. Importing labor for lumbering work appears to be a failure.

DEBS WILL NOT COME.

Eugene V. Debs will not be here next Saturday, the date on which he was to deliver a lecture in the opera house. The gentlemen who were arranging for his appearance have been notified that sickness will prevent his lecturing here. The strain of constant talking has proved too much for him and he will retire from the platform for an interval. In and About Negaunee.

QUITE A SETTLEMENT. LOCAL LAONICS. Benjamin Neely, Sr., is absent in Milwaukee on business.

There is a farming settlement down the line from Negaunee which contains quite a number of people. It is on Green's creek, about half a mile from the Escanaba river.

The farmers complain of one great inconvenience. They have no road connecting the settlement with Negaunee. They intend to remedy this, however, and will cut out and construct three miles of rough road to connect with the Cascade road to this city.

Negaunee people are looking with satisfaction on the development of this part of the county. The farming at Green's creek was started about six years ago by a man and his family who were in rather poor circumstances.

Yesterday was a typical fall day. It was delightfully fresh and warm. It is thought that October will be marked by much pleasant weather and the more sanguine prophets are predicting that November will also be a pleasant month.

Mr. Theo. Farrell of 411 Wells avenue, Escanaba, engineer on the Northwestern, says: "The majority of men who follow my calling suffer from backache in some cases like myself they are a long time on the road before the symptoms develop. In others the jarring and swing of the cab brings on attacks much sooner. I watched the action of my kidneys carefully and had a specially constructed seat on the engine to counteract its effects. As soon as I found that my kidneys were not just right I took some good kidney tonic to correct them. I found Doan's Kidney Pills answered my purpose admirably. Reading about them I decided to leave off the remedy I always depended upon, and procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store, with the intention of giving them a chance to prove that there was something of merit in their composition. The results obtained were all that could be desired. Since I stopped the treatment I have had no indication of a return."
