RELIEF COLUMN ENTERS MAFEKING.

Brief Dispatch from Pretoria Conveys News of the Raising of the Long Siege.

ALL ENGLAND IN A TURMOIL OF PATRIOTISM.

Nothing Equalling the Demonstration in London at Any Other Period of the War and Operations Elsewhere in the Field Are Overlooked, Yet Buller Takes Newcastle, Methuen Occupies Hoopstad and Broadwood, Lindley, and Roberts' Cavalry Captures One of the General Bothas and Many Other Prisoners.

REPORTS OF BRITISH SUCCESS FROM EVERY POINT.

Pretoria, Friday, May 18.—It was officially announced today that when the laagers and forts around Mafeking had been severely bombarded, the siege was abandoned. British forces from the south taken possession of the place.

President Steyn, who arrived yesterday for a conference with President Kruger, left here for the Free State last night. Addressing a crowd on the platform he urged them to be of good cheer.

It is reported that five thousand British troops have surrounded Christiania and the landroest and other officials have been taken prisoners.

James Milne, correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company, who has been a prisoner here, was liberated and escorted to the border this morning.

LONDON FRANTIC WITH JOY.

GREAT POPULAR DEMONSTRATION OF RECEIPT OF THE NEWS OF MAFEKING'S RELIEF.

London, Friday, May 18.—10:30 p. m.—The dispatch of the Associated Press announcing the relief of Mafeking was posted outside of the Mansion house and the news rapidly spread. A large crowd collected and soon all the streets in the neighborhood were resounding with cheers. The war office, at nine, announced that no news had been received.

At 9:40 o'clock the lord mayor, J. A. Newton, in his official robes of office, announced the joyful news to the public outside. The lord mayor was accompanied by the lady mayress to the front of the Mansion house, where an immense portrait of Colonel Baden-Powell was displayed bearing the inscription, "Mafeking relieved."

CHEERS DROWN HIS SPEECH.

While the attendants were waving union jacks, the lord mayor briefly addressed the assemblage, saying, "I wish your cheers could reach Mafeking." Here his speech was interrupted by redoubled cheering and the singing of "Rule Britannia" after which the lord mayor remarked, "We never doubted what the end would be of that British pluck and courage would conquer at the last." The lord mayor then led the crowd in singing "God Save the Queen" and "Soldiers of the Queen," and with renewed cheering and the waving of flags by the assembled multitude and the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" the mayor and party retired.

The masses of people outside the Mansion house soon grew to such dimensions that the police were compelled to divert all traffic, omnibuses, etc., through the side streets. Special editions of the newspapers appeared, and the tickers announced the news in all public resorts. In the West end the leading thoroughfares were eventually impeded by the constant stream of populace cheering themselves hoarse and singing.

EXCITEMENT IN COMMONS.

The dispatch of the Associated Press containing the news of the relief of the long besieged place was also sent to the house of parliament, where it created a great deal of excitement in the press gallery and lobbies and soon began to be circulated among the members of the house of commons. Thomas C. H. Edgewick, Advanced Liberal member for the Wick district, amid considerable excitement said he understood that news of the relief of Mafeking had been received. Was that so? he asked. No minister made any reply and the debate was continued. But the house no longer took interest in it, and the members went into the lobbies to discuss the great event.

It is only an hour since the news was received, but the scenes in the streets of London, usually deserted at this hour, are almost indescribable. Bands, banners and flags appear to have sprung suddenly from the earth. Every other vehicle is decorated with flags, and brass bands are parading, leading crowds who sing songs. Colored fire is being burned in every direction. Along Fleet street, the Strand and Pall Mall was announced, they joined heartily in the applause.

STARS AND STRIPES HAVE PLACE.

The London fire insurance laws make fire works impossible, and the city lacked the blaze of illumination characteristic of American cities during similar rejoicings. There was lack of pyrotechnic glare, but every caddy and every bus man in London had a union jack fluttering from his whip, and the stars and stripes by no means were lacking. The patrons of four-wheelers were not content to ride inside the vehicles and the tops were crowded with flag-waving, cheering, sprawling enthusiasts.

Ten thousand people stood in front of Mrs. Colonel Baden-Powell's house in St. George's place, cheering and singing and a score of cabs brought congratulations. The boys of the Charter house school, where Colonel Baden-Powell was educated, were aroused from sleep by the news, and the institution quickly became a veritable pandemonium of noise and enthusiasm.

As soon as the information of the relief was received, the lord mayor, A. J. Newton, sent the following dispatch to Colonel Baden-Powell: "The citizens of London are relieved. They rejoice in the good news received. Your gallant defense will long live in British annals. Can't we what money is wanted for the needs of the garrison and the inhabitants after their long privations?"

WHOLE EMPIRE CELEBRATES.

In unrestrained jubilation the provinces are not far behind the metropolis. Although London had the start by a few minutes, the great industrial and surrounding towns soon burst into patriotic demonstrations. Bells clashed in their steeples; the village bands turned out, and the people gathered in the squares to chant "God Save the Queen."

From all parts of the empire came the same story. Bombay, Hong Kong and the Australian cities are rejoicing. The continental cities, as the press telegrams abundantly testify, have received the news sadly.

Joseph Chamberlain called at the war office after midnight and received a tremendous ovation.

CHAPTER OF BRITISH SUCCESSES.

PROGRESS EVERYWHERE REPORTED BY THE GENERALS IN FIELD—OPERATIONS REVIEW.

London, Saturday, May 19.—4:30 a. m. The relief of Mafeking has had the effect of suspending for the moment interest in the operations elsewhere in the field of war. Nevertheless yesterday brought important official announcements.

Lord Methuen entered Hoopstad Thursday. He is now seventy miles from Kroonstad and fifty from Bothaville.

General Buller entered Newcastle Thursday evening.

Lord Roberts, while waiting for stores at Kroonstad, is using his mounted men to search a wide tract of country. Colonel Broadwood occupied Lindley on Thursday, and the same day General Hutton captured one of the Bothas thirty miles from Kroonstad.

General Buller, on Thursday, encamped at Clocolan.

STREETS JAMMED ALL NIGHT.

PATRIOTIC UPROAR IN LONDON STILL ON AT 4 THIS MORNING—COLONIES, TOO, CELEBRATE, BUT NOT THE CONTINENT.

London, Saturday, May 19.—4:30 a. m.—London's millions spent half the night in the streets and even at four this morning troops of young men are promading, singing and cheering and there are crowds in front of the Mansion house, Marlborough house, the clubs on Pall Mall and the war office and in parliament square waving flags and joining in the national airs.

The sustained hallowing and uproar of the hundreds of thousands amazed the Englishman who ceases for a moment to be an actor and becomes merely a spectator. Sober, phlegmatic London is beside itself with emotion. Gusts of patriotism have set the town quivering twice or thrice before during the war, but nothing has quite equalled tonight's hundred square miles of almost furious demonstrations.

It was a curious thing for on-lookers to see solemn, grey-haired men toss their opera hats into the air and join in the hurrahs of cheers when a large crowd of officers were when a portrait of Colonel Baden-Powell on it was borne along Piccadilly. Smart women in broughams waved union jacks out of the windows. Conventional family parties stopped at the street corners to take part in singing "God Save the Queen" and "Soldiers of the Queen."

ACCURACY OF NEWS UNDOUBTED.

It was all brought about by the telegram from Pretoria that Mafeking had been relieved. Although the government has not a word, and although nothing confirmatory has been received from any African source except Pretoria, nobody apparently questions the news.

Arthur J. Balfour, government leader in the house of commons, speaking from the government bench late last evening, said: "The only news we have is through the courtesy of the press. We have no information at the war office. Nor would we have it as soon as it would arrive through other channels. Therefore the fact that we have not received it neither confirms nor disproves the accuracy of the information. I need hardly to say that we all trust, and we have good reason to think, that it is probably true."

JOHANNESBURG IS NEXT.

Lord Roberts is accumulating immense quantities of supplies, and preparing for another movement in his advance. The next step will be Johannesburg. Two thousand men are working on the railway deviation at Valshek river. There are twelve thousand Boers at Rhenoster. Reconnoitering parties are sighted daily by the British parties. Commandant Nel, with the Johannesburg "Saxons," is actively commanding fifteen miles northwest of Kroonstad.

DESPERATE EFFORTS ARE BEING MADE.

Desperate efforts are being made by the Transvaalers to get every available unit on the fighting line. All exemptions have been cancelled. The civil administration is reduced to its lowest limits.

The Boers have dynamited Laing's Nek tunnel, and the railway is completely wrecked. The work of repairs will occupy many weeks. The Boers now hold the best positions for defending the pass.

AS BULLER REPORTS IT.

London, Friday, May 18.—General Buller, in a dispatch to the war office tonight, dated Newcastle, says: "Newcastle was occupied last night, and today the Second Division and Third Cavalry brigade will be concentrated there."

"I have sent a mounted force through Natal to expel a small force of the enemy and to reassure the natives."

"The enemy have burned the chapel, broken much glass, plundered many houses and taken the cash from the banks; but, otherwise, have not done much harm."

"The railway is badly damaged; the Ingagane and Nkader bridges are destroyed, as are many culvert and pumping stations and water works."

Aguinaldo Writes Another Proclamation, Warning Against the New United States Commission.

URGES THAT FIGHT GO ON.

Manila, May 18.—A proclamation, purporting to have been issued by Aguinaldo, dated May 4 from Follilo island, one of the Philippine group, east of Luzon, is circulating in Manila. It says that the commission appointed by President McKinley was appointed without the authorization of congress, and that hence it cannot treat officially. It urges the Filipinos not to surrender their arms at the instigation of the commission and on promises which congress may not ratify, and also urges the Filipinos to enthusiastically welcome the commission when it arrives in the towns and provinces, asking boldly for the form of government they most desire, as the Americans permit freedom of speech. The proclamation closes with asking the Filipinos to still strive for liberty and independence and again warns against despondency.

HARD FIGHTING IN SAMAR.

In the Catarama fight, island of Samar, on May 4, about seven hundred of the enemy attacked the men of the Forty-third infantry. The Americans killed 209 of the rebels by actual count. Only three Americans were wounded.

Major John C. Illmore and a hundred men of the Forty-third regiment were ambushed on May 6 near Pambungan, Samar. Seventy-five of the enemy were killed; there were no American casualties.

The transport Lennox has returned here after landing four troops of the Eleventh cavalry to reinforce Colonel J. Franklin Bell. Two troops, Major Sims, commanding, were landed at Legaspi and proceeded across the country to strengthen the garrison at Liasao. They sought the numerous entrenchments manned by insurgents between the towns and were two days on the way, skirmishing and being dismounted constantly. Their only loss was three horses. The officers report they killed forty insurgents, but the natives declare eighty were killed.

AUDITOR REEVES CONFESSES.

STARTLING DEVELOPMENT IN THE CUBAN POSTAL FRAUDS.

Havana, May 18.—W. H. Reeves, deputy auditor of the island, made a confession at midnight and gave up $4,500 given him by C. F. W. Neely, the arrested financial agent of posts at Havana, to perform certain services the day he left. General Wood and the postal inspectors refuse to disclose the nature of the confession, barely admitting that the confession was made. It is claimed that $1,400 more will be recovered today.

BOGUS STAMP STORY DENIED.

General Wood says the report from Muncie, Ind., that nearly two million dollars' worth of stamps had been printed there and sent for distribution to the Cuban postoffice can be regarded as a canard. There is nothing here to show that any such counterfeit stamps have been sent. It is believed now the whole story is known, and that the amount of the defalcations is between $100,000 and $125,000. It is said that the confession of Reeves was the only link required in the chain of evidence.

WANT ENGINEERING INQUIRY.

The newspapers now begin to ask for an investigation of the engineering department, claiming this department has been even more extravagantly conducted than the postal department.

NAMES ANOTHER AS SENATOR.

GOV. SMITH OF MONTANA REVOKES ACTION OF HIS LIEUTENANT IN THE CLARK CASE.

Butte, Mont., May 18.—Governor Smith today sent dispatches to Senator W. A. Clark, Senator Chandler, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, and Senator Frye, president of the senate, saying that he disapproved and revoked the action of Lieutenant Governor Spriggs in naming Clark to succeed to the vacancy caused by his own resignation, and also that he had named Martin Maginnis of Helena to fill the vacancy. The governor gives as his reason the opinion that the appointment of Clark by the lieutenant governor is tainted by collusion and fraud. He also has issued an open letter to the people of the state denying that he had any knowledge of the contemplated step when he left Montana for California.

OUR DUTY TOWARD THE PROJECT.

The Mining Journal devotes a page in today's issue to placing before the people of the upper peninsula an undertaking that should enlist their hearty sympathy and active co-operation. The project for a Memorial of the 200th Anniversary of founding the great metropolis of Michigan is a scheme worthy of the attention and assistance of every truly patriotic citizen of either peninsula. But peculiarly is it true of the citizens of this upper peninsula of Michigan. Indeed we think that a warm interest should be manifested in its aid by the people of Duluth and all the other cities and towns this side of there.

This part of Michigan can be said to be the child of Detroit. The first people who came to settle in the upper peninsula were from Detroit and that city has always been ready to welcome our people and ready to extend a helping hand for anything we might need. The writer of this article went to the banks of that city and they cheerfully put out as a free gift to the Upper Peninsula, $500 each; that enabled him to set up at the great World's Fair at Chicago a mineral exhibit that surpassed in educational as well as exhibition value the mining or mineral exhibit of any other state or nation of the world.

For many long years before we of this peninsula had the benefit of any railroad connections with other parts of the country, to come here we would take the steamer from Detroit, and that city was the gateway for us to enter the lower peninsula on our return. We are proud of Detroit and we feel that we have a right and ought to have a willingness to contribute and do our part in this glorious undertaking, and aid in building the Memorial monument that is expected to stand for all time to come. Already more than one-third of the necessary sum of one million dollars has been subscribed.

Detroit will provide one-third more and the other parts of the state should cheerfully pledge and raise the other third. Sums of one dollar will be received and acknowledged. In many instances the members of a family have contributed from one to five dollars each. The undersigned will receive pledges or subscriptions and the money can be forwarded when the parties subscribing are notified that it is wanted.

PETER WHITE, Marquette, May 19.

A PLEA FOR DECENT JOURNALISM.

There were a number of clever addresses delivered at the Associated Press banquet Wednesday night at the Auditorium in Chicago, and one of these was so pertinent, and struck so squarely at a prevailing abuse in newspaper work, that we can make no better use of the space than to give it in full. The speaker was St. Clair McKelway of the Brooklyn Eagle, and his subject "Political Reporting." And here is what he said:

By political reporting is meant the record of what political persons, bodies and platforms say. By it is not meant the pervasiveness of what they say. I take it that this perversion sometimes goes too far. The claim has been that if a paper of one party gave all that its side said, perverting all that its adversary says, and if the paper of the other party was as partial to its own organization and as unkind to its opponent, that in some way or other in the long result of acrimonious attrition the truth would be hammered out, as it is in court before judges and jurors by those quarrelers for revenue only who are called lawyers.

This is the attorneyship theory of journalism. It is not a commendable theory. Journalism should be judicial, which is just; not contentious, which is legal and lamentable. Journalism should be moved by righteousness, leaving lawyers to be moved by a retainer. There is as wide a difference in morals between righteousness and a retainer as there is in politics between such an extreme that I hope the excess of it will be the cure of it. Cannot we have a mentally fair campaign in 1910? The national candidates are predetermined so far as the heads of the two tickets are concerned. For vice-president any member of either party is in danger, and will be for some weeks to come, of assault and battery with intent to nominate. How very great is the risk which unembarrassed statesmen are running at this time when one party is looking for a candidate through a microscope and the other is hunting for his opponent in a balloon?

Let us be fair. We disagree on silver, on labor as affected by a relation to government and on expansion as affected by a relation to law. You all know what my views are, and I know what are the views of those who differ from me. But is that any reason why you should call me a gold bug, a despot and an imperialist, or why I should call you a repudiator, an anarchist and a little American? We must practice this fairness before we preach it. And I tell you, my friends, that we cannot raise the newspaper calling to the respect of statesmen, of scholars and of the foreigners, whose judgment on us in our time represents the verdict of our posterity upon our methods and our motives, if we take any other course. Here are the representatives of much of the journalism of the United States. A deal of it here represented stands for the best journalism and most prosperous journalism of our republic, which are not always identical. I am sure we can make the two identical by sturdily refusing to take in controversy a position that we would scorn to maintain in private converse; by being as studiously respectful to opponents in our columns as we would be in our parlors; by remembering that in our newspaper we are only a man behind a printed sheet, and that while his mind may write what is in the lines his character shows between the lines of the letter which love and life and labor write upon his face, which is the image of his soul.

My first plea for fairness, for its own sake; my second plea is for fairness for the sake of the rights and susceptibilities of opponents; my third plea is for fairness for the sake of our consciences and for the sake of the approbation of those here whose approval is the joy and honor of the newspaper. In the sake of the approval of those not lost but gone before, whose benediction from the bending skies is the coronation of character now and the assurance of divine reunion and companionship in the years and in the world to come.

If the newspapers of the country which wield a commanding influence were to adopt and be governed strictly by the suggestions contained in the address of Editor McKelway they would thereby gain greatly in the estimation of the class of people whose approval is most to be desired. At the same time they would lose nothing in serviceableness to the parties to which they are attached. We fully believe that the violent party organ, which never has a good word to say of leaders or officials of the opposition party, does more harm than good to the cause it champions. There are good men in all the parties, and all have their share of patriotism. Surely it would be better for the country if the partisan papers accustomed themselves to recognition of this fact, and allowed themselves to be governed by it in the discussion of public men and measures.

IRON MARKET AT LARGE.

Thursday's Iron Trade Review gave this presentation of the features of the iron market at large: Without any special change in the volume of business, the past week has shown further progress in the readjustment of iron and steel values. In certain finished lines the inquiry is of fair proportions, and while there is no freedom of contracting, purchases being limited to the requirements of work actually in hand, business is going on steadily at prices showing some irregularity. In pig iron, on the contrary, there seems to be practically no business to be done and sellers have little opportunity to demonstrate what they would be willing to do. The prevailing conditions are far from satisfactory; not that there is not a good profit on even the lowest prices reported, but it is evident that buyers are having been brought to a standstill by high prices, is likely to be restricted for a considerable period, and meantime uncertainty and weakness will be the rule. So far as labor troubles are concerned the situation is improved from the standpoint of machine shops and foundries, but the finished iron and steel trade are about to be confronted with demands for wage advances on a falling market. The propositions that will be presented to the Amalgamated association convention now on at Indianapolis, on behalf of the iron and steel workers, appear to be based on the top notch prices of last fall, at which a relative small fraction of the year's output was sold, and that are well above the prices of today. Shut down soon to be made pending wage settlements will tend to keep the market quiet, but indications are plain that in the past week that mill capacity is not being satisfied by current orders, in spite of the restrictive measures taken by large companies in the past few weeks. It is generally realized that the present condition in the trade is just what was to be expected in view of readjustment, and that the process is going on with relatively little of the shock and unsettling that have been known in the days of a multitude of small competing concerns. Just at what price level buying will be resumed on a liberal market is the problem upon which the entire trade is at sea. The uncertainty is not as to business but as to price.

A German letter contains this information relative to the demand for iron ore in that country, which many readers of The Mining Journal will find of interest: Speculation in iron ore has been exceptionally lively of late. German and Belgian iron works have been doing their best to insure their supply of Norway ore for years ahead. It is reported the Gellwag iron ore field, with the exception of a few middlings of phosphate containing ore, has made contracts to deliver its entire output up to 1914. The mines near Kinnavaara and Luosavaara are also reported to have made contracts to deliver yearly 2,000,000 tons up to 1914. Contracts have also been made extending beyond 1914 at much higher prices than those that rule at present. A syndicate is said to have been formed of five German pudding furnace works, which have contracted for the delivery of 900,000 tons of iron ore for several years, including 1905. The great iron works of Berlin have bought large amounts of iron ore to be delivered up to 1910 and 1912, respectively. The whole of the Norland production up to the end of 1905 has been contracted for, and most likely the biggest part for the ten years following.

It is only fair to the managers of the campaign being conducted to secure the gubernatorial nomination for Colonel Bliss to state that they deny the charge that his candidacy is really in Ferry's interest. They claim to be working squarely for the Saginaw man's nomination, and that they expect to secure it. In ex-Speaker Gordon, who is working energetically to secure delegations for Bliss, the latter has an able political general directing his forces. The ex-speaker is wonderfully popular throughout the state, largely because of the splendid record he made as presiding officer of the house when he filled that position; and the mere fact that he is avowedly for Bliss tends to discredit the charge that the movement in his behalf is only a concealed one to land the nomination for Ferry. Mr. Gordon is not one of those politicians who believe in working to accomplish an object by deceiving the people, and when he declares that Bliss is in the contest solely on his own account, and has not formed any "entangling alliances," there will be few who will refuse to take his word for it.

Colonel Robert J. Bates, of Ironwood, who commands the Third Regiment, M. N. G., was in Detroit Wednesday, and told a Free Press reporter that his regiment is in excellent condition, no company mustering less than seventy-five men. "I shall go to Lansing tomorrow," said he, "for the purpose of urging upon the military department the necessity of having a state encampment of the militia. In our part of the state we are in favor of holding the encampment at Mackinac island. I am not in favor of the proposition to have the camp and then to have the soldiers apply to the legislature for their per diem. Such a course would produce an unlimited amount of confusion, as each individual soldier would have to put in a claim for services. The military department at Lansing, having data as to services performed by each man, would be in much better position to present the claim to the legislature."

General White most felicitate himself on the wisdom of his course in getting away from Michigan as expeditiously as he did when he reads the accounts of the trials of his late partners on the military board. It is hot in South Africa, but the heat there is less tormenting than the sizzling Colonel Sutton is now enduring on the legal gridiron.

The suggestion comes from a Boston admirer of Governor Pingree who is also a supporter of Bryan that the governor is the man the Democrats ought to nominate for vice president this year. There have been so many hard things said of the governor during the past few years that he will hardly mind this additional rap.

Admirers of Pugilist Corbett in New York are talking of sending him to congress as representative from the 12th district of that city. Unless he has betted luck in the political arena than he has been favored with in the prize ring latterly he is likely to get it in a new place on election day if he should be a candidate.

The senate committee's favorable report on the Nicaraguan canal foregrounds favorable action by congress on the great scheme. The committee recommends prompt action, and advises strongly against waiting for the formal report of the canal commission.

Om Paul hadn't heard of the postal frauds in Cuba when he conceived the idea of inviting us to assume a protective over his republic.

City Controller's Office, Marquette, Mich., May 15, 1910. Pursuant to resolution of the common council of the city of Marquette, notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at my office until 4 o'clock p. m., June 4, 1910, for furnishing all labor and material required to make the following improvement, in accordance with the profile therefor on file in my office, viz: The construction of a trunk sewer to be known as the Genessee Street Trunk Sewer to extend from the creek bed 100 feet northwest to the center of Garden street, north in the center of Marble street and said street produced north to the center of Genessee street, thence west in the center of Genessee street to the center of Adams street, in relation with the profile therefor, with manholes and lamp holes as shown on said profile. Proposals for said improvement must be in sealed envelopes marked "Genessee street trunk sewer" and must be accompanied by two bonds, with two good sureties, each for a sum at least twice the amount of the bid, one conditional for the faithful performance of contract if awarded and the other conditional for the payment of all labor and material claims arising under such contract. The aforesaid streets must be left in good condition at the completion of said sewer. The common council reserves the right to reject any or all bids. FRANKLIN E. BAY, Controller. (5-19-10) tracts to deliver yearly 2,000,000 tons up to 1914. Contracts have also been made extending beyond 1914 at much higher prices than those that rule at present. A syndicate is said to have been formed of five German pudding furnace works, which have contracted for the delivery of 900,000 tons of iron ore for several years, including 1905. The great iron works of Berlin have bought large amounts of iron ore to be delivered up to 1910 and 1912, respectively. The whole of the Norland production up to the end of 1905 has been contracted for, and most likely the biggest part for the ten years following.

It is only fair to the managers of the campaign being conducted to secure the gubernatorial nomination for Colonel Bliss to state that they deny the charge that his candidacy is really in Ferry's interest. They claim to be working squarely for the Saginaw man's nomination, and that they expect to secure it. In ex-Speaker Gordon, who is working energetically to secure delegations for Bliss, the latter has an able political general directing his forces. The ex-speaker is wonderfully popular throughout the state, largely because of the splendid record he made as presiding officer of the house when he filled that position; and the mere fact that he is avowedly for Bliss tends to discredit the charge that the movement in his behalf is only a concealed one to land the nomination for Ferry. Mr. Gordon is not one of those politicians who believe in working to accomplish an object by deceiving the people, and when he declares that Bliss is in the contest solely on his own account, and has not formed any "entangling alliances," there will be few who will refuse to take his word for it.

Colonel Robert J. Bates, of Ironwood, who commands the Third Regiment, M. N. G., was in Detroit Wednesday, and told a Free Press reporter that his regiment is in excellent condition, no company mustering less than seventy-five men. "I shall go to Lansing tomorrow," said he, "for the purpose of urging upon the military department the necessity of having a state encampment of the militia. In our part of the state we are in favor of holding the encampment at Mackinac island. I am not in favor of the proposition to have the camp and then to have the soldiers apply to the legislature for their per diem. Such a course would produce an unlimited amount of confusion, as each individual soldier would have to put in a claim for services. The military department at Lansing, having data as to services performed by each man, would be in much better position to present the claim to the legislature."

General White most felicitate himself on the wisdom of his course in getting away from Michigan as expeditiously as he did when he reads the accounts of the trials of his late partners on the military board. It is hot in South Africa, but the heat there is less tormenting than the sizzling Colonel Sutton is now enduring on the legal gridiron.

The suggestion comes from a Boston admirer of Governor Pingree who is also a supporter of Bryan that the governor is the man the Democrats ought to nominate for vice president this year. There have been so many hard things said of the governor during the past few years that he will hardly mind this additional rap.

Admirers of Pugilist Corbett in New York are talking of sending him to congress as representative from the 12th district of that city. Unless he has betted luck in the political arena than he has been favored with in the prize ring latterly he is likely to get it in a new place on election day if he should be a candidate.

The senate committee's favorable report on the Nicaraguan canal foregrounds favorable action by congress on the great scheme. The committee recommends prompt action, and advises strongly against waiting for the formal report of the canal commission.

OFF HIS TROLLEY.

The Marquette correspondent of the Detroit Evening Journal, in speaking of the trout fishing in the streams in Marquette county, is of the opinion that it is a mooted question whether the "planting" of streams by fish commission in the last ten years has aided the sport of angling. He says a great many fishermen regard the planting as a sort of free lunch for the bigger fish and that it is generally feared that they were carried out of the brooks into the bigger streams or into Lake Superior, in either of which places the great majority of them are sure to fall a victim to the rapacity of their larger brethren. H. H. Marks, local manager of the hatchery at this point, disagrees with this view and has many letters from prominent men and anglers commenting on the good work of the commission and that the results have been good in Marquette county. The work is certainly an important one and should be encouraged by every good citizen of all counties.

BARBER ARRESTED.

James Redford, a barber at the Bay City House, has incurred the displeasure of the members of the Barbers' Guild by cutting the hair of shaves from 15 cents to 10. It was learned that Redford was not a licensed barber and he was arrested under the state law compelling all barbers to take out a license. His hearing is set for the 23d inst. This is supposed to be the first arrest made in the state under the new law.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts., guaranteed, at The Stafford Drug Co.

HOUSE VOTES MONEY FOR CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS

First Measure of Its Kind to Pass Since the War of the Rebellion.

SQUARES THE CLAIMS OF THE MEN WHO FOUGHT UNDER LEE.

PAY FOR HORSES, ETC., TAKEN IN VIOLATION OF THE TERMS.

Bill Originally Carried $200,000, but the Specific Sum is Cut Out and the Appropriation Made Indefinite—Senate Still Talking Mail Tube.

DAY WITH NATION'S LAW-MAKERS.

Washington, May 18.—For the first time since the Rebellion the house today passed a measure to pay Confederate soldiers for losses growing out of the Civil war. It was a bill introduced by Mr. Cox of Tennessee to pay the Confederate soldiers for the loss of horses and other personal effects taken from them in violation of Lee's capitulation to Grant by which the officers and men of Lee's army were allowed to retain their baggage, side arms and horses. The bill originally carried $200,000 but the specific sum was stricken out and the appropriation was made indefinite. The bill was passed out of its order as a special compliment to Mr. Cox, who after ten years of service in the house is to retire at the end of his present term. Many other claims bills were also passed.

MAIL TUBE THE TREME.

HOTLY DEBATED IN THE SENATE NEARLY ALL DAY—HOUSE BILL PROTECTING BIRDS IS PASSED.

Washington, May 18.—Nearly the entire day in the senate was devoted to the pneumatic tube system service in the postoffice appropriation bill. The debate at times was sharp and almost personal. The appropriation was defended by Senators Chandler, Mason, Carter and Wellington and opposed by Senators Allison, Hale, Tillman, Lodge and Wolcott. Senator Morgan introduced a resolution to investigate the Panama Canal company, and in a speech severely criticized that company. Senator McCumber made a speech in favor of the retention of the Philippine islands, during which Senator Tillman took issue with him over the assertion that the people of the South were glad the Confederacy was unsuccessful. Senator Spooner of Wisconsin had passed a bill to provide for the holding of a term of the circuit and district courts of the United States at Superior, Wis.

PNEUMATIC TALK STARTS.

Senator Mason of Illinois, resuming his discussion of the committee amendment providing for the extension of the pneumatic tube service, said that Chicago desired its share of this service no less than the other cities. He defended Millholland against the insinuations, declaring there was no cloud upon Millholland's character "except by men who assassinate his character and assassinate his reputation by keeping their friends driving wagons and drawing pay."

Senator Allison of Iowa said the invention was a good one, but it was not useful in proportion to its cost and he did not favor it.

Senator Chandler of New Hampshire declared that this useful modern invention should not be abandoned any more than we should abandon the electric lights, telephone or automobile. He commented on the extra-ordinary delay of the postal commission, of which Senator Wolcott is chairman, in not making a report, which delay he said, had permitted the railroads to increase their vast receipts for carrying the mails and at the same time prevented an adequate understanding of the merits of the pneumatic tube service.

MAY EXPLAIN OPPOSITION.

Senator Carter of Montana said the extension of the tube services would to some extent add to the competition to the telegraph and express companies and that the senator thought might account for some of the opposition to the system. Senator Wolcott said the railroads had no more to do with opposition than they had in fixing the colors of stamps. Senator Mason offered an amendment providing that in any extension of the service the rental shall not exceed 10 per cent of the actual cost of construction and maintenance, plus the actual cost of operation. The matter went over without final action.

STRIKES ARE OFF.

Conference Board Settles the Troubles Involving Machinists.

TERMS FAVOR EMPLOYERS.

Also Resolved That All Future Differences Must First Be Submitted to Arbitration.

VITAL PRECEDENT MADE.

New York, May 18.—The arbitration committee of the National Metal Trades association and the International Association of Machinists, which has been in session in this city since May 10, adjourned today, having reached an agreement which the officers of each association declared highly satisfactory to all parties. Under the present agreement there can be no strikes or lock-outs until the matter has first been submitted to an arbitration committee. The resolutions adopted become binding upon all the members of the National Metal Trades association and the International Association of Machinists, and the official act of this joint conference establishes a precedent for national arbitration as called under what is known as the Chicago agreement of March 17, signed by both parties on March 30. It was resolved by the joint conference that the strikes be declared off in the factories of the members of the National Metal Trades association in the cities of Cleveland and Paterson, the employers in these two cities to meet a committee for each shop of their former employees to arrange for the return of as many men as the present necessities require and that the subsequent requirements be filled from the former employees whom they may not be able to re-engage at this time. It was also provided that in case of the refusal of any member of the respective organizations represented to carry out in an honorable manner the findings and decisions of this board, such members shall be disciplined by suspension or expulsion as the merits of the case may justify.

CREEDON EASY FOR M'COY.

New York, May 18.—Charles ("Kid") Creedon at the Broadway Athletic club tonight before one of the largest crowds ever assembled in the club. Thirty-four seconds of the sixth round was all the time needed to turn the trick, and McCoy could have brought the fight to a speedy conclusion had he been so disposed. Creedon made a very poor showing. At no time did he land a blow that hurt McCoy. Dan went to the floor from a left to the chin, and his seconds threw up the sponge.

POOR STUDENTS TABOOED.

New Haven, Conn., May 18.—The three junior fraternities at Yale, composed largely of rich men's sons, have all blackballed a poor student who sought admission to their ranks. The Yale faculty regards this as a challenge to combat on the suppression or perpetuation of the sophomore secret societies. The blackballed student is Charles Driver Francis, 1902, assistant manager of the football eleven. Among the Yale undergraduate body the action is regarded as a covert blow at Yale democracy. Francis is tutoring his way through college, and although a leader in scholarship, an athlete, and a speaker of ability, he is not of the rich men's clique. Never before has a prospective manager of a football team been thus treated.

STILL ON CHOICE FOR BISHOPS.

SPERMMEYER AND BERRY LEAD IN M. E. BALLOTING.

Chicago, May 18.—The result of the sixth ballot for two additional bishops was read today by the presiding officer. The eighth ballot was next taken, after the reading of the journal. There was no choice, Dr. Spermmeier leading with 399 and Dr. Berry next with 264. Dr. Kelley's name was then withdrawn from the contest and the seventh ballot taken, it also resulting in no choice. The eighth ballot was next taken, after which the report of the committee on itineraries was read regarding the time limit on pastors. The recommendation of the committee was to the effect to abolish the rule of the Methodist church that no pastor occupy one year's salary of more than five years. A lively discussion ensued. The minority report also was read, providing that five-year pastorate only be extended by the request of three-fourths of the membership of the quarterly conference, and that the pastorate in no case be extended for more than the second year.

SABBATH DESECRATION.

St. Louis, May 18.—The attendance at today's session of the Presbyterian general assembly was much greater than yesterday. Moderator Dickey appointed James H. Converse of Philadelphia vice moderator. The time of the session was taken up with the presentation of synodical papers and the reports of various special committees. A communication from the Methodist conference, at Chicago, conveying congratulations and good will was read. It was voted to send a cordial response. At the afternoon session the report of the special committee on Sabbath observance was considered. The resolutions contained in the report were adopted one by one. They recommended among other things that the members of the Presbyterian church abstain from all forms of Sabbath desecration, such as advertising in Sunday newspapers, the purchase and reading of papers and books on the Sabbath, sports or games on the Lord's day, also unnecessary secular work, traveling, visiting, etc. A plea was made to the railroad companies of the land to abandon Sunday excursions so as to secure the minimum of transportation and service of their employees on Sunday, whether or not the great St. Louis exposition was borne in the minds of the commissioners, a resolution was submitted requesting the United States congress and all the state legislatures to make no appropriations for exhibitions to be held in this country without a provision that such exhibitions be closed on Sunday.

St. Louis, May 18.—There was no conference today between the representatives of the striking street car employees and the St. Louis Transit company, although President Hayes of the board of police commissioners tried to get the parties to the controversy together in another meeting. At noon a crowd of four hundred persons congregated along Laclade between Grand and Theresa avenues and stopped the cars by obstructions piled on the tracks. The crowd commenced throwing rocks and some shots were fired. J. R. Richardson, a conductor, being probably fatally wounded before the police dispersed the mob. A special officer on one of the cars was dragged off and badly beaten. Several other motormen and conductors were assaulted. On nearly every line where cars were operated, the tracks were frequently blocked and the police kept busy driving away disturbers. Guy Fickes of Decatur, Ill., a special guard, was shot through the thigh at Twenty-first and Morgan streets this afternoon. Fickes, who arrived from Decatur Friday morning, was on an Easton avenue car at the time the shooting occurred. His assailant is unknown. The shot was fired from a crowd hooting the car as it was moving slowly along the street. Fickes' condition is not serious. The cable of the Fourth Street railway was cut today, and it will be several days before the repairs can be completed. John Kenna, a saloon keeper on Grand street, was probably fatally wounded, and Robert Wilson, colored, an emergency officer, and Jacob Hollingsworth slightly wounded tonight in a riot at the south end of the Fourteenth street bridge. Kenna had been drinking hard for several days, and tonight as a car was rounding the curve he drew a revolver and attempted to shoot the motorman. Patrolman Henry E. Barton was shot and painfully wounded while doing guard duty on a car of the Jefferson Avenue line. The house of delegates at a meeting today passed an ordinance annulling the franchises of all the street railways of St. Louis unless they run cars in compliance with the terms of the city ordinances. The eighth ballot was next taken, after which the report of the committee on itineraries was read regarding the time limit on pastors. The recommendation of the committee was to the effect to abolish the rule of the Methodist church that no pastor occupy one year's salary of more than five years. A lively discussion ensued. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have seen so many letters from ladies who were cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies that I thought I would ask your advice in regard to my condition. I have been doctoring for four years and have taken different patent medicines, but received very little benefit. I am troubled with backache, in fact my whole body aches, stomach feels sore, by spells get short of breath and am very nervous. Menstruation is very irregular with severe bearing down pains, cramps and backache. I hope to hear from you at once."

CLARA KOPP, Rockport, Ind., Sept. 27, 1898.

"I think it is my duty to write a letter to you in regard to what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I wrote you some time ago, describing my symptoms and asking your advice, which you very kindly gave. I am now healthy and cannot begin to praise your remedy enough. I would say to all suffering women, 'Take Mrs. Pinkham's advice, for a woman best understands a woman's sufferings, and Mrs. Pinkham, from her vast experience in treating female ills, can give you advice that you can get from no other source.'" EXASPERATING WARFARE.

Our Soldiers in the Philippines Having Experience With It Now.

Treachorous Guerrilla Fighting Instead of Regular Battling in the Field With a Brave Enemy.

A Manila letter to the New York Herald, dated Feb. 10th, gives this account of the kind of warfare the insurgents are now conducting against our forces in the Philippines:

"About Jan. 1 it was said that the armed and organized insurrection was practically at an end, and that therefore the troops would have to deal only with guerrilla bands and outlaws. Yet in the last forty days the American forces here have lost more men, more arms and more supplies in the so-called pacified districts than during any previous period of like length since the insurrection began. If this is what guerrilla warfare means then we will need more troops some day, for the new method of fighting is proving more effective than any style that the insurgents have employed previously. Almost every day brings a report of some fresh ambushade wherein small forces of our troops are attacked by a hundred or more Filipinos. Usually one or more of our men are killed and the rest driven away by sheer force of numbers. Then follows a punitive expedition, but these sorties seldom find a trace of the enemy.

"Invariably the insurgents know the exact strength of the force they are ambushing, for they usually lie in wait for small groups of ten or fifteen men, which they permit to approach so close that their first volley kills or wounds most of them and leaves the rest utterly demoralized. Insurgents who live within our lines who are amicus in the daytime and enemies at night have been particularly pernicious. It is now unsafe more than ever before to move in small numbers in the districts which are presumably pacified, outside of the protection of strong garrisons.

"The rank and file of the people in the towns are in full sympathy with these marauding raids, for they never render help by word or deed which will aid our troops in locating or wiping out the guerrilla bands, although it is certain they are always aware of the plans and prospective movements of these bands. Even today there is not a native in Manila, friendly though he may profess himself to be, who will breathe a word as to Aguinaldo's whereabouts, yet there are doubtless thousands who know exactly where he is, and many doubtless in constant communication with him. The list of our losses by bolomen and ambushes in the occupied districts since Jan. 1 is rather startling.

"A list which I have selected from the files of a daily paper, and doubtless far from complete, shows that about 40 men have been captured by the insurgents in the last 40 days, as many more have been killed and wounded, almost 100 rifles and a great deal of ammunition has been lost and a big quantity of rations has fallen into the hands of the enemy.

"Most of these depredations have occurred in the territory which we are now supposed to be holding, and all the engagements would come under the head of ambushes and assassinations. There is certainly a new condition of warfare confronting the troops. The time is evidently gone for big, imposing columns to march into the interior, columns so big that the insurgents deem it impracticable to offer opposition. When the column has passed they come out of the woods and fall upon the little bands of stragglers and outposts and signal corps men. From now on the guerilla warfare must be met by smaller and more mobile forces. General Lawton, with his great experience in this method of waging war, would have been quick to adjust himself to the new conditions. General Bell is pre-eminently qualified for the kind of work that will now have to be done, while General Funston, whose Cuban experience has fitted him well to meet the new conditions, will adjust his tactics to those of the insurgents.

"Down in Negros, General Smith has, for some months, been engaged in the guerrilla kind of fighting, and he has been able to crush it out. When a depredation was committed near or in town on the island he promptly imposed a heavy fine upon the place. After doing this several times the citizens resolved themselves into a sort of vigilance committee, as a matter of financial protection, and the depredations ceased with startling suddenness. The Tagalos, however, are more tenacious and vindictive in their fighting than the Visayans of Negros, and it will require the most stringent measures and vigorous pursuit to put them down. With Aguinaldo loose in the islands the war will be harder and more dangerous and much more lasting.

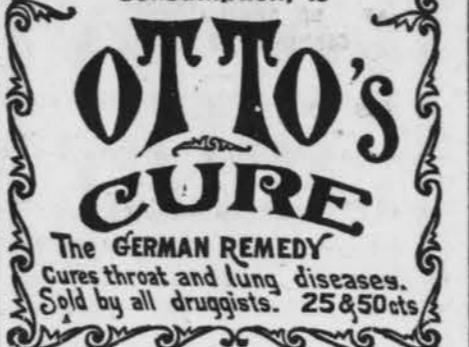

"In the next to the final issue of their paper, La Independencia, is an impassioned valedictory, which gives an idea of the avowed tenacity of their struggle and shows how decidedly they had already determined upon a desperate guerrilla warfare. It reads: "'Our enemies will be able—why not?—to wheel their heavy carts of war over our fields. They will leave the villager of their vandal heels in our villages, but in every turning of the land, behind every bush, at every corner, they will encounter resistance. A handful of men—or it may be only one man—who will check their course, who will disturb their triumphal progress, who will be the little rock which caused their chariot to jump from its axle, who will be the little puddle in which the gun carriage will mire, and who will make them see clearly that they cannot juggle with a people who desire to be one, free and sovereign."

AN ARIZONA WONDER.

Forest of Petrified Trees Which Congress May Preserve as a National Park.

Scientific Speculation Upon the Cause Which Has Produced the Marvelous Phenomenon.

Public interest has been once more quickened in the petrified forest of Arizona, and there appears to be every likelihood of its being withdrawn from entry, by congressional action, for the purpose of creating it into a national park. Probably no place on the American continent possesses more interesting scenic features or instructive geological fields than this wonderful forest of Arizona territory. In fact, the petrified forests of Egypt, it is asserted, cannot compare with it.

The forest includes an area of ten miles square, in the northwestern section of Apache county, and only a few miles from the town of Holbrook. Adama, a small settlement on the Santa Fe railroad, is the nearest railway station, from which a majority of sight-seers go to the forest. It is named after the old man, Adam Hanna, the only inhabitant noted in its immediate vicinity, upon whom falls the duty of guiding and sheltering in his humble home, those desiring to see the curiosities of the forest. Were it not for the small sums the old man picks up in this way it would be impossible for him to exist, for the land wholly unprofitable for grazing, nor is it capable of supporting any vegetation whatever. The bed of the forest is a vast desert of sandstone and worthless except as a government reservation.

Professor Lester E. Ward, paleontologist of the Smithsonian institution, who was recently returned from an examination of the forest, says that after leaving the station one gradually ascends a slope to a height of 5,000 or 6,000 feet, crossing over canyons, gulches and ravines from twenty to fifty feet deep. The region leading up to the principal mineral fields is exceedingly rugged, and, indeed, when finally reaching the topmost point, a sort of tableland, the ground is rough and cut up with gulches and basins, which makes it difficult to drive over in Adam's wagon. At one of the highest points, as far as the eye can reach, quantities of huge silicified logs and fragments are seen scattered about in the ravines and over the fields, which, in the yellowed, and brown, white, and purple layers of sandstone on the edges of the cliffs, present an odd, picturesque view. This region may be rightly classed among the natural wonders of the American continent and its petrified wood is of more perfect formation than that found in Wyoming and the Yellowstone, and Yosemite parks. It has attained a degree of hardness almost equal to that of the diamond, making an excellent quality of emery, and is very similar in composition to Jasper or onyx.

For a long time after the forest was discovered in 1853, large loads of the silicified wood were shipped to the east for the purpose of manufacturing emery, but this industry was discontinued owing to the introduction of an artificial material, and it is now used principally for ornaments, such as clocks, tables, lamps, etc., as is onyx. If tastefully designed and highly polished, so as to bring out to advantage its various colors, the silicified wood can be made into attractive ornaments, which sell at comparatively large prices, considering the quantities which have lain there for so many years. Some mineralogists regard it as among the precious stones of the American continent, and a collection of its choicest specimens has been obtained by a jeweler's firm in St. Paul, who will manufacture the acidized wood into unique designs and exhibit them at the Paris exposition. A similar exhibition was prepared for the World's Fair at Chicago.

This region is also marked by the ruins of a number of ancient Indian villages, the walls of some of which can now be recognized, and arrow heads and other Indian relics are frequently found after hard rains. While there are no signs of any distinct style of architecture being employed by the ancient Americans, the dwellings had one significance. Probably never have houses been constructed of such beautiful and precious material as these. The houses appear to have been rectangular in shape, and very low, with one log crossed over the other, as are log cabin camps of today. These dwellings have perhaps lain in ruins since many years before Columbus discovered America, and are of historical interest.

Another feature which serves to give the silicified forest a special prominence is the well known natural bridge, one of the most celebrated objects in the west, consisting of a great petrified trunk spanning a canyon forty or fifty feet wide and forming a foot bridge upon which men may easily cross. Surrounding this remarkable petrified bridge grow a cottonwood tree and a few bushes, constituting the entire vegetation in that region. The natural bridge possesses the added interest of being in its proper place, which is unusual both in this and other forests. A hard coating is still found closely wrapped around the trunk of the tree, no doubt a portion of the original sand and mud which brought about its petrification.

The Arizona petrified forests probably date back to the Triassic terrane, or the early part of the Mesozoic formation, millions of years before the age of man, and it is probably second in antiquity to the coal fields in America, which are of Paleozoic time. The three great geological ages are classified as Paleozoic, Mesozoic and Cenozoic, dating back 400,000,000 or 500,000,000 years, 200,000,000 years and 4,000,000 years respectively. During the Mesozoic time the American continent is supposed to have been covered over by a vast ocean, but undoubtedly near some former land, from which the trees of the petrified forest were washed down into the Gulf of Mexico on the bottom of the Mesozoic ocean.

It was then that the silicification began, but it must be remembered that these trees did not become silicified by nature's slow process in a few years, as are razor hones petrified "to order" in England. The huge logs of wood gradually became logs of stone while lying at the bottom of the ocean. They must have been completely covered with wet, sticky, soapy mud and sand, properly called silica, which subsequently sifted into the tree, taking the place of the wood, which was gradually decaying. As fast as a grain or the smallest particle of a grain of wood decayed precisely the same quantity of silica was forced into the opened cell, and in this systematic way, after years and years of time, with all natural conditions favorable, silica took the place of the wood and the former log of wood became a log of stone of the very hardest formation possible.

By the time this inversion was completed the American continent, then the ocean bed, had risen 6,000 or 7,000 feet. The ocean had partially dried up, leaving the region of the petrified forest in the center of a desert. This area was since supposed to be an oasis, where tropical plants grew luxuriantly; a stream of water ran rapidly through it, as is indicated by the basins, gulches and ravines.

This field, with its numerous interesting features, has already gained great popularity and the many visitors who are attracted there every year express great satisfaction at its curiosities, but each person who visits there at present damages its value or scenic features more or less. By tourists and traders constantly removing as much of this stone as their means of transportation will permit the quantities are gradually diminishing, and unless some measure is taken to prevent the destruction and vandalism now so evident the wonders of the petrified forest will disappear, just as did the buffalo in the west. The expense of the government for preserving this forest would amount to little for at least some years to come. One mounted ranger, like those in the game preserves of the west, would be sufficient protection until arrangements are made for the construction of a national park.

BET AND CANE SUGAR. Use of the Former Increases While That of Latter Decreases.

It has been, comparatively, only a few years since the sugar beet industry was introduced into this country and into Germany, and yet today the treasury statistics show that the output of beet sugar greatly exceeds the volume secured from cane, and the indications foreshow the practical driving out of cane sugar from the world's markets at an early day, says the St. Louis Star. In Hawaii, Jamaica and elsewhere the cane planters, notwithstanding the employment of coolie labor, are unable to compete with the beet growers. Much of this success is undoubtedly due to bounties paid by different governments, but it is very possible that the maturity of coolie labor has much to do with it, while their labor costs little it produces little.

The introduction of American labor into Hawaii, Cuba and Porto Rico will probably change conditions and bring the cane growers up to a point where they can compete. The last treasury report gives the sugar report in decennial periods from 1840 to 1900, and makes most interesting reading. For the first-mentioned year it amounted to 1,100,000 tons for cane and only 50,000 tons for beets. The cane sugar yielded after that rose from 1,200,000 tons in 1850 to 1,510,000 in 1860, 1,585,000

SIX NEW LIGHTS.

THEY ARE TO BE ADDED AT ONCE TO THE NUMBER AL-READY IN USE ON STREETS.

The electric lighting committee has listened to the appeals of numerous residents of the "bloody Ninth" and other wards of the city, and has ordered six new electric lights added to the number now in use.

Monday the full committee inspected the districts where more light seemed urgently needed and decided where to place the new lamps. Yesterday Chairman Patrick Cronin was around designating their exact location.

The lamp which has been located east of the Chicago & Northwestern tracks on Division street will be moved west to a point between the Northwestern and South Shore tracks and a new lamp will be placed midway between it and the corner of Pine and Division streets.

A lamp will be placed on the south end of Graham street, between the South Shore and Northwestern tracks, one at the corner of First and Greenwood streets, one on West Houghton street, one on East Bluff street near the D. S. S. & A. roundhouse, and one on the east edge of the Barnum hill.

They have all been located where they will do the greatest good to the greatest number and the members of the committee hope their work will be generally satisfactory.

TWO SHIPS CONDEMNED.

ISHPEMING ARGONAUTS MEET WITH A DELAY AT SEATTLE.

F. J. Eggen is just in receipt of a letter from Ed Johnson, who left here for Seattle some time ago. It was written shortly before the writer sailed for Cape Nome. He reported that the ship on which he had taken passage was due to leave Seattle May 10, but that, owing to unforeseen delays, its departure was postponed until the 12th.

Mr. Johnson states that two vessels which had been pressed into service had been condemned. The inspectors decided that one was too old and unseaworthy for the Alaskan service, while the other was ordered to the docks to unload part of its cargo, it having been laden beyond the safety point with equipment of passengers, of which it had a full complement.

He describes the scene which ensued when the decision of the inspectors was announced as very interesting. Those who had booked passages, particularly the parties who were to sail on the ship which was absolutely condemned, were furious at the delay and left the boats with the greatest satisfaction.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING.

IT IS CALLED FOR THIS AFTER-NOON AT 1:30 O'CLOCK.

Yesterday Mayor Braastad called a special meeting of the council for 1:30 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of acting upon the resignation of Thomas Pearce, member of the board of public works, and of selecting his successor, should it be accepted; to act on the resignation of Alderman Chris Christianson of the Fourth ward; to act upon the recommendation of the board of public works for the appointment of a street commissioner and to consider the request of the Lake Superior Iron company for better fire protection.

Thomas Pearce tenders his resignation on account of ill health. It will doubtless be accepted and his successor named. The request for additional fire protection made by the Lake Superior Iron company is identical with that submitted to the Labor council last fall, on which no action was taken.

ON JULY 4TH AND 5TH.

POPE EXPECTS TO PULL HIS SPORTING TOURNAMENT OFF ON THOSE DATES.

Joe Pope is now figuring on pulling his big sporting tournament off at Union park on the 4th and 5th of July.
He is making arrangements to that end and expects to be able to announce a complete program of events very soon. He is yet undecided as to the nature of his leading feature. Joe expects that his tournament will be the only attraction for Ishpeming people on the Fourth. It is unlikely that any celebration will be arranged for the city which will interfere with his plans.

PARTY FOR ENGLAND.

A party of five Ishpeming gentlemen sails for England Wednesday of next week on the palatial liner St. Louis. It will comprise James Billings, John Harris and brother, John Johns and Alfred Barrett. They will leave here Monday morning on the through Sea express and will arrive in New York the day of sailing. Some members of the party may decide to remain in England but others will return to this section. Mr. Billings will be away at least three months. During his absence his address will be, Blowinghouse, Rud-rith, Cornwall, England where his aged mother resides. He contemplates making a continental tour before he returns.

yesterday.

Ira Blossom of Marquette was here
yesterday.

F. H. Vandenberg of Marquette was here yesterday.

J. C. Light of Calumet was an Ishpeming visitor yesterday.

Mrs. George Bodenna of Rockland is visiting friends in Ishpeming.

The Pioneer club was entertained at the home of George W. Hayden Thursday evening.

A blind organ grinder struck town yesterday. He is the same man who makes trips through this section each spring. He is accompanied by his wife this year.

Charles Eichenbaum, the Champion clear man, was here on business yesterday afternoon.

Nels P. Flodin, representing the Lake Superior Engine works of Marquette, was here yesterday.

William C. Pearce, wife and daughter, arrived home yesterday morning from a month's visit in Chicago.

Joseph Labreche left for St. Louis
Thursday night. He will visit a sister, who has been quite sick of late.

A party of twenty-five or thirty boarders from the Johnson house will spend today out on the Escanaba river.

Crabb & Toutloff have just placed an automatic banjo in their place. It is a neat contrivance and produces fairly sweet music.

The suit between Mervin L. Lee and Paine, Webber & Co. will have a hearing in the circuit court next Friday.
It was not tried yesterday.

There will be a large turn out of Sons of St. George tomorrow morning, when the Sir Humphrey Davy lodge attends divine service in a body.

A number of fishing parties have been organized and trips are planned for tomorrow. If the weather is fair the neighboring streams will be generally frequented.

James Mowick is about to move his Golden Rule store from the Vester to the Robbin's store on Main street, recently vacated by the Greek candy kitchen.

F. E. Baird of Buffalo, representing interests working the East New York mine, arrived here yesterday. Shipments from this property will be commenced Monday.

The weather changed yesterday, but though the wind was chilling it was fair and pleasant compared with the earlier part of the week. Warmer weather is forecasted.

William Vivian wishes to thank the Knights of Pythias for their kindly help and sympathy in his bereavement. In sequence to the loss of his infant daughter early this week.

Rev. Molinari, the pastor of an Italian church at Calumet, was in Ishpeming the early part of this week conducting religious services for the Italian residents, who have no clergyman of their own nationality here.

A big crowd of baseball rooters will accompany the Ishpeming team to Republic, where the first game of the season will be played tomorrow. A special train has been procured and it is said that a hundred or more persons will make the trip.

Trombley's orchestra will furnish the music for the dance tendered the seniors of the Ishpeming high school by the junior class this evening. Fred C.
Bennett, and Miss Teckla Farm will furnish a number of vocal selections.
Miss Rodgers will accompany them.

Mrs. Manville Jenks, who has been sojourning in Tennessee for her health the past several weeks, will conclude her visit in the state of the eighteenth of this month, when she will start for the north. She will visit in Detroit for some time before coming on to Ishpeming.

Miners are scarce on other ranges of the peninsula. Thursday's issue of the Iron Mountain Press contained a display advertisement on the front page in which work was offered forty men by the Lovett Mining company. At present there is an abundance of help here and at Negaunee.

Mervin L. Lee, proprietor of a number of picture machines which were recently ordered out of Ishpeming saloons by Marshal Farm, stated yesterday that he intended to re-install the devices at once. It is presumed that he has obtained legal advice to the effect that their operation is lawful.

Murray & Mack, who appeared at the opera house in "Finnian's Hall" last evening, will bring out a new play,
"Shooting the Chutes," next season.
It will be a roaring farce but differing from the play they have been presenting with unbroken success for the past nine years. It will require a large company and altogether will be an elaborate production.

The board of public works had a force of men employed yesterday in repairing the damage done by the flood of water from the six-inch main at the corner of Main and Barnum streets Thursday noon. The sand and dirt washed from the road bed was collected and placed in the ditch washed out by the water. Additional earth was required to restore the grade of the street.

"Have You Seen Smith?" is the next attraction at the Ishpeming theatre. It is booked for the evening of May 30.
The play is a farce of some note. No less than five hypnotists are asking for dates here. One of the best will play an engagement in the opera house in the early part of June but the others will be compelled to look elsewhere for dates. This kind of entertainment is a drug on the market.

S. J. DeLong and Captain Mike Nugent of the Woodmen degree team will drill 200 sons of Ishpeming Woodmen who will march in the big parade June 25. The boys will be between the ages of eight and seventeen years. They will be uniformed and will carry American flags in the parade. They will be instructed in simple evolutions. Their appearance will be pleasing. Yesterday

In and About Negaunee.

THE EVER-GLORIOUS FOURTH. IT WILL BE OBSERVED HERE IN THE GOOD OLD FASHION.

The Mining Journal is informed by gentlemen who have been prominently identified with the management of former celebrations here that the Fourth of July, Independence Day, will be observed here this year by a rousing observance. The question has already been discussed and wherever it is broached the expressions are all in favor of a celebration of the day in a thoroughly patriotic manner.

At this early date nothing definite concerning the proposed celebration has been determined, but the gentlemen who are interested in the matter are united in the opinion that a good round sum of hard cash must be obtained to defray the expenses of the observance. They feel that the banner celebration of the long series given here should be arranged this year.

Negaunee is first in the field, neither Ishpeming nor Marquette having discussed the question of observing the nation's natal day, although it is possible that at least one of the cities named will celebrate. Joe Pope of Ishpeming has options on Union Park for both July 4th and 5th, and he may pull off a sporting tournament on those dates. However, he is not yet decided as to what he will do, and in any event it is unlikely that his program would interfere to any appreciable extent with a celebration held here.

Conditions were never more auspicious for a rousing time here on the Fourth than they are this year. Money is easy. Subscriptions for the entertainment fund should be secured without difficulty, and a free flow of coin from the pockets of a jubilating throng would certainly enliven the celebration proper. The people generally will be pleased to know that a good time will be provided for them at home and they will lend their support to whatever is needed to be done to make the proposed celebration a go.

A SCANDINAVIAN CELEBRATION. The Scandinavian people intend to hold a celebration in Negaunee Saturday, June 23rd, and arrangements to that effect are now being made. It is anticipated that the gathering from peninsula cities will be large, while, if special rates can be procured, it is stated that lower Michigan as well as Wisconsin and Minnesota will be represented among the visitors.

It is apparent that Marquette county will be very lively for three days beginning June 23rd. On the 25th two big celebrations will occur, the Woodmen's meeting at Ishpeming, and that of the peninsula French societies at Marquette.

FATAL COLORS. It has been proven that soldiers are hit during battle according to the color of their dress, in the following order—red is the most fatal, Austrian grey is the least fatal. The proportions are red twelve, blue-green seven, brown six, Austrian, bluish-grey, five. There is one other color, not mentioned, more fatal—and that is the pallor of weakness. If it has commenced to paint its deathly hue upon your cheek, and the stomach weakens and life seems not worth living, go to the druggist and obtain a bottle of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It will give you life and energy. It does this by making the stomach strong and the blood pure. It is unequalled for such disorders as indigestion, dyspepsia, or malaria, fever and ague.

J. Q. Hood, Justice of the Peace, Crosby, Miss., makes the following statement: "I can certify that One Minute Cough Cure will do all that is claimed for it. My wife could not get her breath and the first dose of it relieved her. It has also benefited my whole family." It acts immediately and cures coughs, colds, croup, grippe, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

Fish Commission's Work Noticeably Increasing the Fish in Streams and Lakes.

Some Interesting Facts Regarding the Stocking of Streams With Game Fish and the Effect It Has.

Superintendent Bower, of the state fish commission, says the Detroit News, states that the arrangement by which the propagation of food fishes for the great lakes is turned over to the United States fish commission is a mighty good thing, as it enables the state commission to spend its whole appropriation of $25,000 a year upon the inland waters of the state.

"Our output this season," said Mr. Bower, "includes about 700,000 lake trout, but of course exclusively for inland waters. We abandoned the propagation of carp several years ago. They are very prolific and able to take care of themselves. The only carp in the great lakes were planted by us, but they have become so numerous that I have seen five carloads shipped out of Toledo in one day."

One result of the new arrangement is that three times as many brook trout have been planted this season as usual, and for the first time in the history of the commission it has been able to fill practically every brook trout stream in waters suitable for them, the total output of brook trout approximating 6,000,000.

FAMOUS TROUT FISHING. "Few people know," said Mr. Bower, "that the hatching and planting of brook trout has been remarkably successful in Michigan. More brook trout are caught today in streams where brook trout are not indigenous than from native streams. The only native trout streams in the lower peninsula are confined to two little coast belts, one extending from Mackinaw City down to the Boardman river where it empties into Traverse bay, forming the southern limit on the Lake Michigan side, while on the Lake Huron side the only native streams are those emptying down to about Hammond's bay. All the other streams that now contain brook trout are entirely the result of planting, and in that territory Michigan now has some of the finest trout streams in the United States, which have made her famous among anglers all over the country."

Another thing not generally known is that only a portion of the streams in the upper peninsula were native trout streams. Many contained trout from their mouths up to dams which were too high for the fish to ascend, and all parts above these dams contain trout only as they were planted. Again, in the extreme western part of the upper peninsula all brooks beyond the divide that flow toward the Mississippi river were not native trout streams.

GRAYLING ALMOST EXTINCT. "Although the general idea is that brook trout will thrive only in the northern part of the state, there are many small streams in the lower part of the southern peninsula where they have done well. We have also put out 400,000 rainbow trout this year, and expect to plant about 300,000 Montana grayling eggs donated by the United States commission. These fish have become almost extinct in Michigan waters. Trout are more productive, more hardy and more wary of pursuit. After a grayling is hooked he will put up as game a fight as a brook trout, but they are easier caught, because when you strike a school of grayling you can fish until you take the last one, while after you have caught two or three trout the rest become wary and you have to try your luck somewhere else. Trout are also considered a better food fish.

"Blk bass production has never reached a very large figure because they cannot be hatched by artificial means. The only way is to put them in ponds and let the old fish lay eggs and hatch them out naturally. Last year we put out about 300,000 young bass. Our bass hatching station is new and not fully developed. We hope in time to increase our output to between half a million and a million. At present the supply is entirely inadequate to meet the demand. Black bass, however, produce many more fish naturally than brook trout or whitefish, because the parent fish guard their offspring, instead of running away as soon as the eggs are laid."

WHITEFISH CATCH. Mr. Bower suggests that attention should be called to the largely increased catch of whitefish in western Lake Erie and the Detroit river last fall, as commercial fishermen are practically unanimous in the opinion that the increase is due in a great measure to the work of the hatcheries. For a number of years Lake Erie has received more young whitefish from hatcheries than all other great lake waters combined. This lake is also more extensively and exhaustively fished, perhaps, than any corresponding area of fresh water on earth, but the catch of whitefish in the section above noted has steadily increased, and was considerably greater last fall than for any season during the past twelve years.

The output of wall-eyed pike this year will probably be from 25,000,000 to 50,000,000. This is valuable, both as a game and food fish, and firmly established in popular favor.

LAWYERS HAVE IT NOW

Attorneys Are Haranguing the Jury on the Merits of the Thompson Case.

CHIEF SPEECH FOR THE PROSECUTION THIS MORNING.

Avery L. Thompson, the Accused, the Only Witness for the Defense—List of Upper Peninsula Cases Coming Up in the Supreme Court.

DOLLAR CASE SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY.

The Thompson embezzlement case, which has engaged the attention of circuit court for the past two days, is now in the hands of the lawyers and the jury will get it some time this forenoon.

Avery L. Thompson, the defendant, was the sole witness for that side of the case. Mr. Thompson freely admitted that money had been held out but claimed that it was for the purpose of forcing a settlement with Phelps, Brace & Co. for money they owed him.

THEN THE TALKING BEGAN.

Prosecuting Attorney Potter of this county opened the argument in behalf of the people and spoke for about twenty-five minutes. He was followed by Attorneys Burton and Culver for the defense, the last named concluding his remarks to the jury just before closing hour, 5 o'clock. As soon as court convenes this morning Allan H. Frazer, prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, who was brought in to assist the prosecution, will make his address. Mr. Frazer has a trifle over an hour in which to speak. The case will then go to the jury.

No more cases are scheduled for trial Saturday. Monday morning the court will begin on the civil docket and will take up Frank Dollar's $10,000 damage suit against the city for alleged sidewalk injuries. There will be a number of witnesses on both sides. The morning session will be represented by J. L. Heffernan and E. J. Maves, while City Attorney George P. Brown and Arch B. ... will look after the interests of the municipality.

SUPREME COURT.

Charles C. Hopkins, clerk of the supreme court, has sent The Mining Journal a list of the cases that will appear on the June docket of that court from the upper peninsula. It is as follows: Esther Shaw, complainant, vs. George W. Shaw, defendant, and appellant. Appeal from Marquette, in chancery. John Nolan and James Nolan, complainants and appellants, vs. James Nolan, defendant. Appeal from Delta, in chancery.

Julius Simon, plaintiff and appellant, vs. Louis Spiro. Error and certiorari to Gogebic. Carrie Dawson vs. Falls City Boat Club. Error to Chippewa.

ANOTHER BETTER DAY.

Aspect of the Copper Stocks Yesterday Was More Encouraging.

Coppers looked decidedly better again yesterday and most of the movement was in an upward direction. Sales were also larger than for some time back.

Battle recovered from the drive made against it the day before and advanced 1 1/2 to 19; Boston & Montana furnished the sensation of the day, closing at 27 3/4, 1 1/2 points above the close of Thursday night; Butte & Boston scored a gain of 6 1/2 with a finish of 68; Calumet & Hecla fell down two to 74 1/2; Idaho Royale went up 1 1/2 to 25 1/2; Old Dominion closed two up at 42 1/2; Tanamak netted an advance of one and closed at 14; Wolverine got up 1 1/2 to 38 1/2.

Paine, Webber & Co. said in yesterday's letter to the local branch: "London opened off 1/2, for spot and off 2 1/2, 6 1/2, for futures; closed firm spot up 2 1/2, 6, and futures up 2 1/2, 6 1/2. There has been a snap and strength to copper shares this morning than for some time past. Up to noon 3,500 shares changed hands, the most active being Arnold, Baltic, Centennial, Osceola, Parrott, Utah and Wolverine. Osceola was weaker, selling down from 6 1/2 to 6 1/4; the balance was generally stronger; 1,204 shares of Boston & Montana were dealt in price advancing from 29 1/2 at the opening to 29 1/2 before 1 o'clock. During the afternoon New York displayed a good deal of strength. Coppers were generally more quiet, but prices were pretty steady."

Hayden, Stiles & Co. fluctuate in their opinion. Thursday they appeared to feel quite discouraged. While admitting that yesterday's market was better than that of Thursday they seem to have come to the opinion that it was not much of a rally after all. They say: "Coppers gained a trifle in London today and insiders tried their best to have a boom. Boston & Montana was bought in large lots and was put up fourteen points. On a rumor of a big sale of copper by Calumet other stocks rallied freely. This is a cheap and rather mean way to try to interest people in stocks. The good ones are in strong hands and can be put up easily but the others are weak and holders rush to sell on all the rallies. We don't believe in these stocks and much prefer the New York market."

The grains were better again yesterday, enjoying a second day's advance. July wheat closed 3/4 up at 67 1/4. A. R. Jones & Co. said in yesterday's letter to Fred Jones: "Crop damage stories, accompanied with buying orders, did the work today, starting local shorts to cover. The combination of buying power shoving prices up from a weak opening at 66 to a shade over top 67 1/4. Trade was not remarkably heavy at any time, though the best for a good while, but the beginning was largest and found offerings light all day. Outside of crop news there was little to excite trade either way. The drive at prices later yesterday and which closed the market almost at bottom sufficed to bring lower cables. Argentine shipments were considerably over last week's figures, too, but all such factors as this were simply lost in the shuffle of crop reports from every part of the wheat growing country. We have advice from a dozen different countries of this state today, which, almost without exception report the damage more serious than has previously been said. It seems that the wheat has just reached that stage where the stalks are heavy enough to fall of their own weight if infected by fly, and recent rains are beating it down very badly in some localities. The market closed only 1/4 cent under top, very firm apparently and good for another spurt tomorrow on a repetition of the favoring conditions and any show of sympathy at Liverpool."

SUB-COMMITTEES HUSTLING.

St. Jean Members Working for the Success of Their Celebration.

The executive committee of the St. Jean Baptiste society, which consists of the twelve regular officers of the organization, has been divided into four sub-committees for the better handling of the work of arranging for the quarter centennial celebration here June 25. The committees are on grounds, music, speakers and floats.

Reports which continue to come in from societies elsewhere in the peninsula in all go to show that this will be the largest celebration ever held by the French societies of this section of the country. A number of big turnouts are promised. One of the largest of these will probably come from Ironwood, as that society is anxious to secure the 1901 celebration for its own town and will turn out in full force.

Having the quarter centennial celebration on hand appears to be a good thing for the advancement of the local society. Forty-three new members are to be admitted next Monday night. This will raise the membership to about 300, which is nearly double the number enrolled a year ago. By the time the celebration is held it is confidently expected the membership will have been raised to at least 340.

DEATHS IN APRIL.

Marquette City Well Below the Average in Mortality.

The current issue of the Monthly Bulletin of Vital Statistics containing the death record of the state for the month of April shows Marquette to have had in that month only thirteen deaths, which gives it an annual death rate of 14.9 to the thousand. The average for cities in its class, five to ten thousand population, is 16.8. Nezance, which comes in the same classification, had fourteen deaths and a rate of 29.8, which was the highest rate among cities of the class for the month. Ishpeming, in the ten to twenty-five thousand group, had twenty-two deaths and a rate of 21.6. Kalamazoo alone in that classification had a higher rate.

The rate in the state for the month of April is 15.7. The upper peninsula was somewhat above this with a rate of 16.3, while the southern tiers of counties were still above with 16.5. The central counties had the lowest rates, 13.2, and the northern counties came next with 14.1. Marquette county had a rate of 13.5. Keweenaw and Lake counties had rates, respectively, of 42 and 46.1, but as the Bulletin points out these figures are not significant on account of the very small population.

FAIR PREMIUM LIST.

Book Is Being Revised for Early Publication and Circulation.

The various superintendents of departments of the Agricultural society are now busily at work revising the lists of premiums in their respective fields so as to make them strictly up to date. As soon as this has been done the annual premium book will be compiled and published. It is the intention of the fair management to get it in the hands of the public much earlier than it has ever been before. With the general prosperity which now prevails, the directors hope to give a fair which will be better than any held so far and expect to score another improvement in the quality of the exhibits. Thanks to the policy of the management last year in paying premiums in full despite the financial failure of the fair the exhibitors still have confidence in the society and will aid it in making a good showing.

GENESEE STREET SEWER.

Bids Are Asked for the Construction of the First Sewer in South Marquette.

AT PRESENT THERE IS NO SEWER SOUTH OF ROCK STREET.

Large Population Will Be Benefitted by the Completion of the Proposed Work—Estimated Expense of It Three Thousand Dollars.

IMPROVEMENT WHICH IS NEEDED.

South Marquette residents are very hopeful of having their first sewer built some time this summer. In today's issue of The Mining Journal appears the city's advertisement for bids for the construction of a trunk sewer on Genesee street, from Adams street east to Western creek, near the gas house.

The need for a sewer in South Marquette has long existed and the project has been more or less agitated for several years, but it was not till last winter that the council finally sanctioned it and authorized the controller to get up an assessment district and have estimates of the cost made.

The estimate as made by Street Commissioner French runs a little under $3,000. There have been several extensions of the time for payment but so far a little less than half of the total amount has been paid to the city treasury. It is expected by those who are interested in pushing the work to completion that now bids have been called for and the city has plainly showed its intention to build the sewer that the rest of the money will be forthcoming immediately, at least enough to raise the amount paid in to over a half of the total amount, which amount the charter requires shall be paid in before the work is begun.

As there is only a small deficiency now a few more payments from those who have been hanging back will place the city where it can go ahead with the work. Those who are fathering the project are most anxious to see a little more money come in, for, even should a start be made the first part of next month, which is as early as the work can possibly be begun, it will be fall before it is completed.

SOUTH SIDE IS SEWERLESS.

As things stand now there is not a sewer south of Rock street and there is a population of at least 2,500 on the other side of that line which lives without this very necessary adjunct to city life. While the wealthiest residents of the city do not live in that section there are a great many people who own nice, comfortable homes and who are not only able but desirous of having sewer connections.

The proposed route of the Genesee street trunk sewer covers about five blocks, but it is so situated that the sewage from a large adjacent territory can be drained into it. As soon as it is completed the residents of Champion street and other of the principal thoroughfares in that part of town propose to petition the council to assess them for the construction of secondary sewers.

The San Francisco Dramatic Review has just given its verdict on "Pudd'nhead Wilson" which played at the California last week: "Pudd'nhead Wilson" is putting in a second week at this theatre and doing a good business. All who have seen the present company have been more than pleased with every detail of the production. As we see more of Burr McIntosh in the title role, our appreciation of his artistic work grows on us. Beginning unostentatiously and naturally inviting comparison with the interpretation of the famous originator, Mr. McIntosh has been a most gratifying success as Pudd'nhead."

Detroit's Magnificent Memorial

A NOBLE WORK OF ART

It Will Symbolize Michigan's Greatness.

WILL RANK AMONG THE GREATEST OF THE WORLD'S HISTORICAL STRUCTURES.

A Fitting Adornment to One of the Nation's Greatest Commonwealths and Chiefest Cities.

IT IS GRANDLY CONCEIVED, AND WILL BE UNDOUBTEDLY ACCOMPLISHED.

THE people of Michigan are invited to interest themselves in an example of civic loyalty and pride which originates in the city of Detroit, and which in its spirit is absolutely unique so far as America is concerned. The proposition is to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the founding of the metropolis of Michigan by the dedication of a magnificent monument to the history and achievements of the people of Michigan in the development of its many resources, and to the stories of the great lakes and the part they have taken in opening up to all the world the entire western portion of this continent. Naturally, with such a purpose to be fulfilled, the way to the Huron, Superior and Michigan lakes, and Detroit, the parent city of all cities to the north and west, are selected as the proper location for such a monument, and nature has confirmed this choice by providing a site and environment for the monument which cannot be duplicated anywhere.

As most of our citizens are aware, there is at the head of the Detroit river, and midway between the American and Canadian shores, a beautiful island known as Belle Isle. It has an area of 730 acres, and is a municipal park during the past 12 or 15 years. It has been developed by the city of Detroit into a people's play-ground which is without a rival. At the western or lower end of this island park will be located what is to be known as the character of this monument (designed by five of the greatest of American artists), is admirably suggested by the picture of the structure which is published herewith. That the design may be more fully comprehended and appreciated, the report submitted by the artists in question together with the drawings, is given as follows:

"To James McMillan, William C. Maybury, James E. Scripps, F. H. Walker and C. L. Freer.

"Gentlemen—After careful consideration of the proposed sites and of the suggestions which were made for a monument to commemorate properly the centenary of the discovery and foundation of the city of Detroit, your committee is of the united opinion that the lower point of the park on Belle Isle in the center of the Detroit river is beyond question the situation preferable to all others, and offers an opportunity without parallel in the world. A monument erected here would be commanding and significant as on no other site. It would stand as a gateway and beacon to the commerce of the west; and it has been the endeavor of your committee, in the design submitted, to present a monument that preserves this beacon-like character and significance.

WORLD-BEATING DORIC COLUMN.

"The design contemplates redeeming the flat below the point of the island, carrying Belle Isle down to a point where deep water commences, and at this point the erection of a great Doric column, the highest in the world—surrounded by groups of sculpture in the water—treated in the character of the memorial column of classic time, and supporting a tripod which would assume a torch-like character at night by the use of electricity and by a great flame of natural gas, so characteristic of the west and impossible elsewhere. This light at night would command the river and both lakes.

"The design further contemplates as a support and surrounding to the column a great basin, flanked by flights of steps supporting colonnades. In the center of which would rest the statue of Cadillac, or a group of sculpture embodying with the statue of Cadillac the story of the discoverers; and upon the connecting esplanade positions are afforded for the future erection of statues of distinguished citizens of Detroit.

REMOVE THE CASINO.

"In order that the column should center on the avenue of trees which now exists on the island, and be seen from one end of the Grand Central boulevard to the other, the present casino would have to be removed, and the avenue of trees connected with the column by a formal rectangular lake, in which fountains might play at night, and upon each side of which formal gardens are part of the design.

"The removal of the boat houses and swimming baths to the upper side of the bridge, and the moving of the ferry to a point in close juxtaposition to it below the bridge, would become a necessity. The scheme as presented contemplates nothing further than the erection of the column, basin, and rectangular colonnade and lake; but a new bridge, to be built at some future time, and a new casino, should form part of a full and harmonious plan for the permanent embellishment of the island.

SECONDARY COLONNADE.

"The present design, however, does admit of the possibility of placing in a secondary semi-circular colonnade facing east on either side of the column the aquarium and the horticultural hall. If this were done, a much finer result could be obtained than by putting these buildings in separate structures. This suggestion, however, does not affect the main plan, which would be complete in itself with or without this additional colonnade.

"The proposition, therefore, practically resolves itself into (1) the engineering work in filling in at the end of the island, (2) the moving of the casino and the moving of the ferry house and baths, (3) the erection of the column (the staircase, elevators and torch) and its encircling sculpture, (4) the erection of the basin, platform and steps, (5) the building of the arcade and pavilions, and (6) the laying out of the lake, the fountains and the flower gardens.

COST WITHIN $1,000,000.

"The estimates do not consider the engineering work, or the removal of the buildings, but cover the balance of the work which could, on the estimate of reliable contractors, be built within the sum of a million dollars; the column and encircling sculpture and flight of steps alone for the sum of about $500,000.

"Your committee has undertaken the consideration of this memorial with the greatest enthusiasm; they feel that there is here offered an unrivaled opportunity, and that if such a design is artistically and properly carried out, the Detroit column would forever stand as the sign and insignia of the city the world over, and rank with the famous monuments of all time.

"Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) "STANFORD WHITE."

THE ORIGIN OF THE PROPOSITION.

For two years the citizens of Detroit in view of the approaching anniversary, had been discussing, informally, the proper and adequate observance of the bi-centennial anniversary.

Finally, about the first of January last, United States Senator James McMillan entertained a party of Detroit gentlemen at his Detroit residence at dinner. After the dinner a discussion of the bi-centennial observance ensued and it resulted in the appointment of a committee to consult with eminent artists as to what was best to do in the matter.

Shortly thereafter the committee reported that the following artists had agreed to study the proposition and submit a report. The artists were Stanford White, architect; August St. Gaudens, classical sculptor; Walter MacMonnies, decorative sculptor; D. W. Tryor, painter; moreover these artists expressly stipulated, because of the true art spirit shown by the committee from Detroit, that they would make their studies and submit their reports without compensation and as their contribution toward the project.

On the 22nd of February, after Stanford White and Mr. Dewing had made several visits to Detroit and after the proposition had been thoroughly studied in all its aspects, about 150 of the most prominent men in Detroit assembled at the Museum of Art in that city, to listen to the report above given and it was unanimously approved, accepted and adopted.

Aside from the art beauty of the design there is an entirely novel value to the character of the enterprise, in that it is wholly a project in the interests of the public welfare. It has no exclusively individual purpose. No one person, no specific group of individuals or interests are to be benefited thereby. The good done will apply alike to all neighborhoods and all peoples. It is essentially an act of devotion to all that makes for the betterment of humanity everywhere. It is this spirit that has controlled the prime movers in the inception of the project, it was in this spirit that the artists made the studies resulting in the design and thus far, it has been such an impulse that has moved everyone who has contributed to its advancement.

After the adoption of the design and report submitted by the artists, a working basis was established by the appointment of a committee of one hundred of the most prominent and substantial citizens of Detroit, among whom may be named:

- United States Senator James McMillan, Mayor W. C. Maybury, Hon. Thos. W. Palmer, Hon. Wm. E. Quinby, James E. Scripps, General H. M. Duffield, Wm. Livingstone, Jr., Charles L. Freer, George Hendrie, Cameron Currie, T. H. Newberry, W. H. Edgar, W. H. Elliott, John M. Donaldson, H. M. Campbell, Stephen Baldwin, Clarence Carpenter, S. D. Miller, F. A. Parker, Waldo A. Avery, H. P. Baldwin, Lem W. Bowen, M. M. Stanton, Dr. R. A. Newman, Harry Russel, Elwood C. Hance, Wm. A. Moore, Bryant Walker, Chas. M. Swift, G. L. Beecher, Michael Brennan, F. E. Driggs, S. J. Murphy, W. Howie Muir, P. K. Stearns, G. W. McMillan, Hugh McMillan, Chas. Flowers, D. C. Whitney, Samuel T. Douglas, E. M. Fowler, Chas. Stinchfield, Frank W. Eddy, A. A. Parker, J. H. Remick, P. A. Ducey, Thomas S. Jerome, David Carter, H. K. White.

Following this, as the result of several meetings held by the committee of one hundred, came the appointment of a committee on organization, which submitted the following report on organization, said report being prepared by Don M. Dickinson, Ashley Pond and Henry M. Campbell.

"To the General Committee Bi-Centennial Memorial.

DETROIT, APRIL, 1900.

TO THE PEOPLE OF DETROIT, OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN, AND OF THE GREAT NORTHWEST:

Cadillac, a soldier of France, founded a settlement here on the banks of the beautiful river and called it Detroit, on the 24th day of July, 1701. Authentic narrative makes it clear that the intention was to establish a permanent city. On the founding day missionaries who were with him raised a rude altar and sang the vespers, and the building of a church and a fort and the cultivation of the fertile land in the vicinity were determined on.

Before that time adventurous explorers seeking the fountain of youth, or gold, or a passage way to the far East, or an avenue for commerce, or, above all, to plant the Cross, had described the attractions of the place. One zealous forerunner of civilization, captivated with the surrounding charms, when he stepped out from his bark canoe remarked with the eloquence of religious devotion that its own beauty consecrated the spot for a temple to God; and Cadillac, the founder, with an eye to its commercial importance, distinguished it as the open door on this continent through which the King might go in and out to trade with his allies.

The story of the ancient city is rich in incident and its varied career has been stranger than fiction. The Indian, both the home loving Algonquin and the fierce, roving Iroquois, finding traces of foot prints earlier than their own, and the French, English and American make up the panorama. The Spaniard also appeared upon the scene and longed for ownership.

Now the People with just pride may celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of a populous and substantial city. Throughout the long period of years relatively the same steady growth has obtained: conservative as compared with some of our phenomenal cities, but crowned always and distinguished as the City of Homes, a city which owns itself. Detroit is remarkable for its cosmopolitan character. The descendants of the early French and English have intermingled with the German, Irish, Scotch, Swede and Norwegian colonists, and especially noticeable is the large Polish settlement, which adds so much to the industry of the city.

Our superb river, unequalled in the world in its various features, for commerce, water supply, drainage, recreation and decoration of the landscape, is as it always has been, a pivotal attraction, and it has been selected, as a matter of course, for the site of the monument. Our people do not stop to think how great and constant a necessity, boon and blessing the river is to us. Like other rivers, it marks the character of the people who live upon its shore. In its even flow, without flood or tempest, it personifies our attributes and yields cleanliness and sanitation.

Our people are wise enough to know that other cities, in their adornment by public buildings and works of art, have builded better than they knew. The art with which they have adorned themselves has become the common heritage of the citizens and has been of great commercial value, in some instances saving them from ruin. How many a city is distinguished by some great work of art which it contains?

The lesson of experience has unquestionably shown that these monuments, aside from exerting other beneficial influences, have been of constant aid to the local trade and value of property amid the fluctuations of commerce. Such works are for the common benefit and possession of the entire community. The poorest in his enjoyment and ownership shares equally with the richest.

It is for the people to carry out the splendid design upon the broad and liberal plan, in which it has been conceived. There ought to be no change. The occasion demands everything—column, colonnade, aquarium and horticultural building. We have the accumulation of two hundred years to draw upon. The present prosperity of the times is propitious. A memorial of and for the people is to be built, and every person in the community—man, woman and child—will enjoy it.

Although the labor will be employed and the money spent here, the monument will have more than a civic significance. Detroit is as completely the metropolis of Michigan as Athens was the eye of Greece. People throughout the State generally will, therefore, be welcome to a participation in the uplifting of a column which will make the State famous. Conspicuous to the passing fleets, it will symbolize the actual gateway to the Northwest, and the multitudes interested in the vast commerce of the great lakes, wherever they may reside, will undoubtedly be glad to aid. Many people who were born or have lived in Detroit and now reside elsewhere, cherishing the memory of their former home, will surely desire to be counted among the builders.

It must be the universal outpouring of the people. Our people in their quiet way have been liberal. The number of churches and charitable institutions in our city show this. Based upon the population of the city it will take less than five dollars apiece from every one. Some, however, willing they may be, cannot give their proportionate share. Others who have been more favored in the race of life must make up in the common undertaking. Some of our citizens will, without other distinction than as contributors to the common weal, represent several thousand of their fellow citizens. The women, with their persuasive and controlling influence, will count as much, if not more, than the men in this enterprise. A wide spread interest throughout the community will encourage our wealthy citizens to the enthusiasm of a generous rivalry. The accomplishment of the project by the people now will be an incentive to those who come after us to continue to add to the attractions which Nature has already granted with so lavish a hand to Detroit.

It will not only be a fitting and perpetual celebration of an unusual epoch in the age of an American city, but in every sense of the word—in commerce, industry, education, patriotism, and in the delight to the senses which makes life worth the living—will give our city a new birth.

The name of every donor will be perpetuated on an enduring register, preferably by suitable bronze inscription, if reasonably practicable. All our people of this generation, including the family at home and the children in school, should contribute, and have their names enrolled upon the historic roster and identified with a monument of their own, which will exist as long as the works of man continue.
