MINING, MECHANICAL AND SCIENTIFIC NOTES

BY B. F. H. LYNN.

-I have somewhere seen it stated, that some of the deep mines in England have been abandoned on account of the high temperature of the atmosphere, which prevents men from remaining in them for any length of time; but have nowhere seen the hypothesis explained except upon the general principle that the center of the earth is a molten mass, and hence the nearer it is approached so in propo rtion will an increase of temperature be encoun-

To my mind this is not satisfactory, notwithstanding the existence of active volcanos and hot springs and the presence of lavie incrustation in so many parts of the globe.

For the most part the materials which compose the earth are not of a combustible nature except when excited by the action of gases or heat directly applied. Hence why should we conclude that the so-called sixty miles of incrustation upon the this is grumbled at as being too high. earth's surface, caused by the gradual cooling of the exterior of what was once an entire mass of molten matter, is but the cuticle beneath which the fires of eternity are raging? The hypothesis does not seem consistent with scientific reasoning.

The great geological metamorphosing which we so frequently notice was not occasioned so much by the sudden action of heat as by the slower and less destructive operation of gases and acids, and there are also many ponderous upheavals which can in no way be traced to heat. On the contrary, acqueous action is everywhere visible, where immense denudation and corresponding deposits of drift will not admit of the thought of the fire the-

The great artesian well at St. Louis furnished striking example of the acqueous theory and a very strong argument against the fire principle. At a depth of 3,000 feet, through horizontal strata of many kinds of rock, none of which could have been deposited by heat, the temperature was found so cold that no instrument known in this country could be used with success in determining it, and one was imported from France for the purpose. This astounded some of the savants of the old school and they gave up the question as a conundrum beyond their comprehension.

In short, because snow exists perpetually upon reflected rays, does not prove that there should be a boiling and seething in an egg's yolk where there is no atmosphere.

I have a theory upon this subject which I will give for what it may be worth. Not to quarrel with old-authority, but for the sake of being consistent with what is known rather than to be a convert to what is not known.

There are principles in heat and combustion which are supposed to be the same at all times, but we find that geologists contort them by claiming that the center of the earth can be kept in a condition of liquid tire without the usual process of ventilation or a supply of atmospheric oxygen. Admitting that there are immense quantities of steam, gases, flame and smoke thrown out by internal fires, it is very doubtful whether all of this amounts to one-half the quantity thrown off by the blast furnaces of the country. Then, if there is so much more fire in the center of the earth-ten thousand to one-why should there not be a greater discharge from the chimney tops of nature-enough, in fact, to flood the universe and keep it flooded? Is the attraction of gravitation and atmospheric pressure great enough to prevent the earth from bursting its bounds, if its interior organism, consisting of the greatest power in nature, is of such vast dimensions? From what we see of the same element when it is given scope or fed with material on the surface, it would appear not. Is there not some other law, or causes, by which the volcanic phenomena can be accounted for? The earth revolves around an imaginary axis, and is flattened at the Poles some thirteen miles, the polar diameter being twenty-six miles less than the equatorial diameter, which causes an enlargement of equatorial diameter from latitude 40° to the equator, which enlargement is attributable to centrifugal

Now it is a well known fact that the earth receives its electric power at the Poles, and discharges them at the Equator. But whether this power returned and re-circulated, or whether it is ever present in the labratory of nature is not so easily

But suppose a meridian line is followed from, say the north Pole to the Equator, by these electrical forces, and they encounter channels of circulationmineral material for which they have the greatest and most peculiar affinity-at some points in less and at other points in greater quantities, what would | tion or the nice adjustments of Providence. be the effect, especially if the "circuit" was heavy and must necessarily be continuous?

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

[To the Editor.]

Your correspondent of August 15th, intending to agitate the subject still further, says: The Legisla- lost. ture of this State was silly enough to pass an act giving the people of this State the privilege of voting | Mo., was destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning. on the question of Woman Suffrage at our coming | The loss is placed at from $50,000 to $75,000, with fall election. The danger of passing such an act would be those who always dare to do what they think is right authorized by the new constitution, it suffers defeat in the abstract, believing that a Higher Power will most assuredly overrule the results for ultimate good. There are others who habitually consider, What will so and so think? How will my safety, my position, my purse be affected? Others would ask what has been the established custom? From the scheme for the removal of the national capital. sheer inertia they would conclude the thing that hath been is the thing that shall be. De Tocqueqille and Gasparin, we should hardly look to a Frenchman, alive or dead, for any practical solution of the problems that concern us to-day.

There are few questions we meet that can be answered by anticipating every possible difficulty, every possible complication. The only simple, reliable way is to ask: Is it right or wrong? If it stands upon a principle of right, let us welcome it If it involves any wrong, even the shadow of salt block. wrong, let us avoid it. If it is neither right nor wrong intrinsically, let each one have liberty to do as he pleases. The main question as to extending suffrage to woman, in our humble opinion, is this: Is it in harmony with that principle of our constitution which demands there shall be no taxation with. out representation? If citizens are entitled to vote, (and all persons not idiots nor criminals are citizens) is it not wrong to refuse to enfranchise half the persons in the community.

However much difference there may be upon the point as to whether married women are represented, there can be but one opinion in regard to single wo men and widows.

There are very few who would have the hardi hood to say that American women are less qualified to vote than Irish laborers, or that Irish women are not better citizens than Irish men If your correspondent claims that the exercise of woman's right to vote is unnecessary and would be disastrous, there are as able men to claim it is necessary and would be beneficial. Women "can secure their rights by influencing men," can they? Suppose they have no husband, or a drunken one; no father, or a drunken one. Are all men, then, such admirable creatures that a woman, any woman, a poor, homely woman, can secure their rights by appealing to them? We wish they were. There would be no wife beating, no wife murder, no outraged bodies found in the woods, no suicides in the rivers, no pawning of as she was doing now, it would make anybody ery. household comforts for rum.

No Ear for Music .- Our neighbor Chubb had not much of an ear for music, but he spent considerable sum in having his daughter taught how to hammer a piano, and he is proud of her accomplishments. He was talking with us over the fence, the other day, when a series of the dreadful sounds came from his piano through the open parlor window. Presently Chubb remarked: "D'you hear that, Adeler? Just listen to that, will you? That's what I call music.' Then there were a few more additional bangs on the instrument, a flourish or two, and then more dis-

"Spleadid, isn't it?" said Chubb. "Mary Jane's bustin' the music right out of that machine, you observe. Them's the Strauss waltzes, I believe, she's raslin' with now. Just listen."

We remarked that from the energy displayed, Mary Jane scemed at least, really in earnest. But whether she was treating Mr. Strauss exactly right was an open question. "I don't know nothin' about music, Adeler," observed Chubb, "but I can tell the real thing when I hear it, and I kin sit and hear Mary Jane play them waltzes and the "Maiden's Prayer," until 'it makes me cry like a child." We asserted that if she played those compositions A deaf mute would shed tears.

"Listen to that now, will you ?" exclaimed Chubb, as a wild tumult of sound came from the parlor, "Isn't it splendid? If I didn't know it was Mary Jane a tearin' round among them waltzes, I'd think it was one of those fellows who play at the concerts. Let's go over and hear her." We entered the house and sought the parlor.

We appeal to every intelligent voter whether it would not be nobler to ask, "Would it be just that Needu't write for her; she's dead.

ESTHER SHAW, of Davenport, Ia., worked thirteen would not be nobler to ask, "Would it be just that Needu't write for her; she's dead.

"And since I must his laws obey And have him walk before me, I'd rather like to have my say Of who should lord it o'er me."

"You'd like to vote," he answered slow, Why, treasure of my treasures, What can you, or what should you know Of public men and measures?

"Of course, you have ability,
Of nothing am I surer;
You're quite as wise, perhaps, as I;
Your'e better, too, and purer.

"I'd have you just for mine alone; Nay, so do I adore you, I'd put you queen upon a throne And bow myself before you."

"You'd put me! you? now that is what I do not want, precisely; I want myself to choose the spot That I can fill most wisely."

"My dear, you're talking like a goose— Unhenly and improper"— . But here again her words broke loose, In vain he tried to stop her:

"I tell you, though she never spoke So you could understand her, A goose knows when she bears a yoke

As quickly as a gander." "Why, blees your soul! what would you do! Write out a diagnosis!

Speak equal rights! join with their crew,
And dine with the Sorosis!

"And shall I live to see it then—
My wife a public teacher!
And would you be a crowing hen—
That dreadful unsexed creature!"

"Why, as to that, I do not know; Nor see why you should fear it; If I can crow, why let me crow, If I can't, then you wont hear it!"

"Now why," he said, "can't such as you Accept what we assign them? You have your rights, 'tis very true, But then we should define them!

"We would not peck you cruelly,
We would not buy and sell you;
And you, in turn, should think, and b:,
And do just what we tell you!

"I do not want you made, my dear,
The subject of rude men's jest;
I like you in your proper sphere,
The circle of a hen's nest!

"I'd keep you in the chicken yard, Safe, honored and respected; From all that makes us rough and hard, Your sex should be protected." "Pray did it ever make you sick ?

Have I gone to the dickens?

Because you let me scratch and pick

Both for myself and chickens?" "O, that's a different thing, you know,

Such duties are parental; But for some work to do you'd grow Quite weak and sentimental." "Ah! yes, it's well for you to talk About a parent's duty! Who keeps your chickens from the hawk!

Who stays in nights, my beauty !' "But madam you may go each hour, Lord bless your pretty faces!
"We'd give you anything but power,
And honor, trust and places.

"We'd keep it hidden from your sight How public scenes are carried; Why, men are coarse, and swear, and fight"— "I know it, dear; I'm married!"

"Why now you gabble like a fool;
But what's the use of talking!
"Tis yours to serve, and mine to rule,
I tell you, Mrs. Dorking!"

"O. yes," she said, "you've all the sense, Your sex are very knowing, Yet some of you are on the fence, And only good at crowing.

"Ah! preciousest of precious sou's, Your words with sorrow fill me; To see you voting at the polls I really think would kill me.

"To mourn my home's lost sanctity;
To feel you did not love me,
And worse, to see you fly so high

And have you roost above me

THE COSTLIEST PRIVATE RESIDENCE IN AMERICA The palace which Anthony W. Dimock built in Broad street, Elizabeth, N. J., is before a Master in Chancery. When, in 1871, Dimock, then thirty-five years of age, began the erection of the building, he was one of the leading men of Wall street, his wealth being estimated at $8,000,000. The structure wealth being estimated at $8,000,000. The structure is octagonal, three stories in height, and of the finest brown stone. The interior is wholly of black walnut, birdseye maple, mahogany, and polished Carrara marble, imported from Italy specially for Dimock. The reception rooms, parlors and dining rooms are inlaid and adorned with different kinds of wood from callings to floors and feedings who of wood from ceilings to floors, and foreigners who have looked through the deserted mansion pro-nounce it a marvel of extravagance. The furniture and upholstery were bought in London and Paris at an expenditure of ninety thousand dollars in gold. A part of the furniture arrived in this country when the building was near completion, and was placed in the apartments for which it was in-tended; but misfortune overtook the owner, and within one week he retired from Wall street, a ruined man. His creditors, however, refused to take, or were not aware of the rich prize within their grasp, and all the gorgeous furniture was spirited away in the night, and saved to himself and his family, with a few thousand dollars as a puckeys for a new herdinalized in the result.

nucleus for a new beginning in the world. The interior work in the palace was done by Purdy, of New York. His unpaid bill is $50,000. Mr. Jacobus, also of New York, holds a mortgage of $80,000 on the property, and the question to be decided in the courts, is that of the priority of claims of these two gentlemen. Purdy has also placed a lien on the house. The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, has a mortgage of $10,000 on it, but that is unquestioned. The present owner of the equity is Dr. Rowan, of Philadelphia, who took the house at a nominal value of $350,000, in exchange for its various pieces of property. It is now said that Dr. Jacobus has offered to compromise and throw off forty per cent of his mortgage. and throw off forty per cent of his mortgage.

A WIFE'S EXPLANATION.—In the police court of Chicago, a few weeks since, a wife thus ingeniously explained away serious charges of harsh treatment of her poor husband: "One day when she was running across the room with a fork in her hand, having add in the way and struck his wrist against. running across the room with a fork in her hand, he jumped in the way and struck his wrist against the fork, wrenching it from her grip by the prongs, which he ran into his wrist. Then he endeavored to strike her, but she held up a pan of hot dish water between them, and he spilled it all over his head. Then he got still more angry at this accident, and started to jump at her, but his head came against her hand, and he fell down. She took hold of his hair to raise him up, and the hair was moistened by the hot water, so that it came off. Then she saw it was no use to reason with him any longer, and she left the house."

THE ORIGIN OF "GROG."—Until the time of Admiral Vernon the British sailors had their allowance of brandy or rum served out to them unmixed with water. This plan was found to be attended with inconvenience on some occasions, and the Admiral therefore ordered that in the fleet he commanded the spirits should be mixed with water be fore it was given to the men. This innovation at first gave great offense to the sailors, and rendered the commander very unpopular. The Admiral at that time wore a grogram coat, and was nicknamed "Old Grog." This name was afterward given to the mixed liquor he compelled them to take, and it has hence universally obtained the name of grog.

GRAND PACIFIC HOTEL

Opposite the Government Square and the new Federal buildings, is without doubt the most perfect hotel ing private enterprise in the United States. Its for fronts, on Jackson, LaSalle, Quincy and Clark streets, It was opened to the public on the 2d day of June, 1873, structure in the world, and the largest edifice representhave an extent of ten hundred and twenty-two (1022) feet. and has proved to its multitude of patrons, representing the best elements of the traveling community, the well chosen and unsurpassed character of all its appointments and arrangements, (of which special mention may be made of the Baths, Turkish, Electric and Vapor,) secured with a lavishness of outlay, aided by experience and careful study, never before given to an enterprise of its class. The magnificence of the exterior, its great interior rotundas, superb public apartments, and unequalled suites of private rooms on its mile of corridors, the system and detail of its management have not only won the pride and admiration of our citizens and guests, but furnishes the key to the success of the GRAND PACIFIC, which from the outset has never been equalled by any previous or cotemporary enterprise. Central to all the great railway depots, the banks, wholesale stores, and places of elegant shopping, and amusements, it is at all seasons, by its lightness, spaciousness, and perfection of ventilation, the most comfortable as well as elegant home for the resident guest and tourist ever offered. And it will be maintained as it has begun, the most complete and perfect hotel in the world—a claim for it sustained by the guests of the past eleven months, many of them our patrons since the opening of the former Sherman House, July 8, 1861.

WE understand that Mr. Braasted, of the Nora Store Co., intends opening a mercantile establishment at Iron city.

THERE is a man residing here who can take down a glass of beer at one swallow, and he don't brag on the fact, either.

MR. L. D. Dory, formerly of Champion, has taken up his residence in this city, and engaged in buslness with Messrs. F. Austin & Co.

MR. McEncroe has commenced operations preparatory to the erection of a building on his lot on Main Street, between Division and Pearl.

THE election for alderman in the first ward to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Anderson will be held on Wednesday next, the 26th inst. REMOVALS.-Mr. Zethrarus has removed his stock of drugs to the corner store in McKey's new building. Girzikowsky & Co., jewelers, occupy half of Ishheming has at least one woman's right man, At the lecture the other night he was particularly conspicuous in distributing documents, taking up collection, etc. Our little item last week regarding the raffle was not strictly true in regard to the "article" which was raffled. We are prepared to apologize to either the horse or the "other person."

We notice the arrival of a gas machine for Nelson's hotel. It is strange Mr. N. should deem it necessary to buy an apparatus, when he could get a full supply of gas from the opposite building as soon as the postoffice is removed.

IT PAYS to be a vagrant in Ishpeming. The poor drunken wretch, Morris, who has been loafing about here for the past year, was lately furnished a suit of clothes and a first-class passage to Cleveland, where it is hoped he has safely arrived, and is happy.

city on Monday evening, on the subject of the proposed change in the constitution giving the elective franchise to women. Her lecture was well attended, and listened to with attention. It was a fine effort, and well received

It is not long since Escanaba enticed away one of the citizens of Negaunee, and now she has played the same game on us, having talked sweet to Frank Canfield until he has gone there to reside. Frank will be presiding genius over the books of the Escanaba Furnace Company, a position he is eminently qualified to fill. Having lived here so long, it is not likely he will be contented in Escanaba for any great length of time.

WE call attention to the advertisement of Mr. H. S. Heineman to be found in this issue. The late firm of Heineman & Jacobson has been dissolved, Mr. H. continuing the business. He offers bargains on all goods for the coming forty-five days, previous to removal to the new store, and purchasers will do well to give him a call.

PERHAPS there wasn't fun in the trial before one of our justices lately, in which a duly-admitted lawyer and a pettifogger figured as counsel for the litigants. If ever the dignity of a court of justice was upset, it was on this occasion. The arguments soon turned from the case into a display of chin music between the "attorneys," and bets were ten to one on the pettifogger, with no takers. "His honor the court" enjoyed the sport too much to think of committing the parties for contempt.

was discovered that during the night previous an attempt had been made to burglarize the office of the Lake Superior Iron Company in this city. Two or more men had effected an entrance into the building, and forced open the desk, overhauled papers, and mixed things up generally. It is supposed they expected to find money in the desk drawer, having undoubtedly seen it used during the day time as a receptacle for cash. The safe did not show evidence of having been tampered with. One of the men undoubtedly cut his hand, for various articles about the room were stained with blood. An old broken kuife, used in cutting the desk, was found in the office. A man giving his name as John Conners, but who was known to some people as Lawler, was arrested on suspicion Sunday. At about 3 o'clock in the morning, this man was about the the premises, and talking with the watchman. He was released, but re-arrested the next day. The boots he wore corresponded with tracks about the office, but this being the only evidence against the man he was let go, and given three hours to leave town, which he did without losing any time.

THE TOURNAMENT .- The committee have met with sufficient encouragement in their labors to enable us to predict a success for the base ball tournament, which will soon be held here. It has been decided to invite all clubs in the Upper Peninsula, and enough are expected to accept to make three or four days of playing. There will probably be three clubs from the copper district, one each from Negaunee, Marquette, Escanaba, Republic, and this city. The playing will doubtless be superior to anything heretofore witnessed in our city.

Later-Since the above was in type we have received a report of the proceedings of the meeting held on Wednesday evening last. The arrangements, so far as completed, are as follows:

Competition will be open to all clubs on the Upper Peninsula on payment of an entrance fee of $5. The association adopted a resolution that each visiting club shall play every other visiting club, and the one winning the greatest number of games to play the Ishpeming Mutuals for the first prize. If the Ishpeming Mutuals win, the defeated club to be entitled to the second prize-the Ishpeming Mutuals reserving the privilege of contesting for the second prize in the case of defeat.

rying out the arrangements for the tournament, and on this ground the association decided not to require them to play each club. The arrangement, while it may be considered as giving the Mutuals the advantage, inasmuch as they possibly might not win games enough to entitle them to play for either PAINTS AND OILS. win games enough to entitle them to play for either prize, should they play each club, is considered by the managers as the best they could agree upon. At the same time, it will not affect in the least the distribution of the prizes, for, if the club could not win games enough to entitle it to play for first or second prize, it cannot play sufficiently well to win them. The arrangement merely excuses them from playing a number of games, in consideration of the fact that they will be very busy in looking to the comfort of their visitors.

The Mutuals will necessarily be very busy in car-

The prizes will be all cash. Citizens are subscribing liberally, and $250 will probably be given in prizes.

MINING JOURNAL.

MARQUETTE, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 22, 1874.

IRON AND COPPER DRAFTS.

Mr. Gavett, internal revenue agent, is still in the district harrowing up the feelings of the managers of those mines that have hitherto issued, in the payment of labor and other indebtedness, sight and time drafts upon the treasurers of their respective companies. Mr. Gavett is acting under instructions from the commissioner of internal revenue, who has been called upon by the Comptroller of the Currency for a statement of average monthly circulation of the notes, drafts and other evidences of indebtedness issued by the iron and copper companies, in the similitude of currency. There appears to be some misunderstanding as to the interpretation of the law, as well as the intention of the government. The following dispatches received by Mr. Gavett, and published in the MINING JOURNAL last week, evidently they see proper to do so. We must take conrefer to two different sections of the law-one applicable to the mining companies, and the other having reference solely to national banking associations, state banks or state banking associations. The dispatches referred to read as follows:

WASHINGTON, August 12, 1874. Wm. A. Gavett, Internal Revenue Agent, Houghton, Mich.: Liable to tax under section one hundred and ten for issues of checks, drafts, notes or other obligations intended obligations in similitude of currency paid out. Questions in special cases will be considered here. [Signed]

H. C. Rogers, Acting Commissioner.

[SECOND TELEGRAM.] Require each company to make separate monthly raturns up to November 30, 1872. After that, and up to June 1, 1874, semi-annual. In either case returns must show average monthly circulation. H. C. Rogers, Acting Commissioner Internal Revenue.

Section one hundred and ten of the internal revenue laws, relating to banks, reads as follows:

Section 110 (as amended by Act December 24, 1872, Sec. 5) provides, That a true and accurate return of the amount of circulation, of deposits and of capital, as aforesaid, and of the amount of notes of persons, State banks or State banking associations, paid out by them for the previous six months, shall be made and rendered, semi-annually, on the first day of December and the first day of June, in duplicate—one copy of which shall be transmitted to the Collector of the proper district, and one copy to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue—by each of such banks, associations, corporations, companies, or persons, with a associations, corporations, companies, or persons, with a declaration annexed thereto, and the oath or affirmation of such person, or of the president or cashier of such bank. association, corporation, or company, in such form and manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of In-ternal Revenue, that the same contains a true and faithful statement of the amounts subject to tax as aforecommissioner considers all corporations, companies or persons liable to a tax of one-twelfth of one per cent. each month upon all notes or other obligations calculated or intended to circulate or be used as money. The general impression has been that the companies would be called upon to pay a tax of ten per cent. upon the amount of such issues, for each year, since 1864-a tax which, if legal, and its collection insisted upon, would bankrupt every mining association on the Upper Peninsula, and with them every prominent business man in the iron district. It appears, however, that the tax of ten per cent. applies only to the banks which shall have received and paid out the notes or drafts of the companies, as will be seen by a perusal of section 6 of the Act of March, 1865,

That every national banking association, state bank, or state banking association shall pay a tax of ten per cent-um on the amount of notes of any person, state bank or state banking association, used for circulation and paid out by them after the first day of August, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and such tax shall be assessed and paid in such a manner as shall be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

An examination of the law leaves no room to doubt the liability of the companies under the section first quoted, provided the assumed fact that the notes and drafts issued were "calculated or intended to circulate or to be used as money." This tax, small as it appears at a casual glance, will, if its collection is attempted be a serious burden upon the companies, and one which they ought not to be called upon to bear. We understand that, while the department will insist upon having full returns from the Lake Superior iron district for the season all the companies, it is not intended to levy the of 1874, up to Aug. 20: tax until after the next meeting of Congress which body is alone able to afford the desired relief. Congress will doubtless act promptly in the matter, and there can be but little doubt of a safe issue from out our difficulties.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

There are now grave questions before the leading business men of the iron district of Lake Superior. They are called upon to decide whether they can carry the business of this country safely through this year, and then introduce another year of business which shall look sufficiently prosperous to enlist the attention and energies of those who are very important auxilliaries to the general success of the community, but who are in no wise bound to remain fixtures here. We hear it stated that but for the breaking up of this kind of association two or three of the leading mining companies would stop active operations at once. This is a terrible contingency, the force and effect of which cannot be realized at a glance and which, if forced upon us at all, had better come now than later. There should be no delicacy about the treatment of any matter of this kind. "Business is business," and if the affairs of the mining companies necessitate the suspension of any one of them, let suspension come at once. If one is in a bad fix it may drag down another, and if two go down they may carry arate and distinct from those of the more popthe third with them. Some people do not like | ulous portions of the commonwealth, it was the policy of plain talk, but what cannot be not to be wondered at that our importance bridged over by substantial material cannot be made strong by any temporary apology. THE LEGISLATIVE VISIT. The Legislative solons have come and gone For the first time men who have been for years prominent in the councils of state, have set their feet upon the iron ribbed, copper bottomed hills of the Upper Peninsula. For years our senators and representatives in the State Legislature have been veritable beggars in the presence of the assembled wisdom of the state. With just representation enough to give us a voice in that body, we have been altogether powerless, and content to accept as a favor that which we were not in a position to demand as a right. Knowing our own interests and the wants of our people, we have been obliged to contend with a majority who were as ignorant of our varied resources and requirements, almost, as they were of the inhabitants of the moon Separated from the lower part of the state by natural barriers, isolated from the centres of trade and commerce, with interests sepwas underestimated and our wants but little known and appreciated by those were natural-

And while a foreign corporaand successful blast. construction of a road calculated to carry the trade of this section out of the state, the legislature, later on, wrangled for weeks over the question of donating a portion of the state be a bond of union between them. They did, however, finally grant the aid asked for, but with such conditions and restrictions as to time and otherwise, as to preclude the undertaking and completion of the project in the present state of monetary depression and the prevalent disposition of legislatures to legislative unfavorably to railway interests. The last legislature was asked to exempt the lands granted in aid of the Marquette & Mackinaw railway from taxation for a term of years, but Cleveland." It may be so, but with the Redeclined to do so, notwithstanding a like exemption had been given upon the lands of all the other land grant roads in the State. It was a grave mistake, and one which the present legislature, were it again called togetherthe members having now a personal knowledge of the importance of the industrial and business interests of this section-would almost unanimously rectify. It is barely possible but that they can now properly appreciate the importance of the proposed railway to the business interests of the whole state, and we confidently believe that should any considerable number of our recent visitors be reelected, we can depend upon their united support of any legislation which may be necessary to consummate the enterprise in the shortest space of time. We know that they return to their homes with an enlarged appreciation of the magnificent proportions of our state, and of the further fact that the Upper Peninsula forms no inconsiderable portion or it. It is possible that they can now realize the fact that, while we are but a mere handful of the aggregate population of the state, that we represent a productive industry unequaled by the same number of people anywhere in the Union. They may have ascer- of operations at the Metropolis was only one tained the fact that our population of fifty or of Dame Rumor's lies. This reducgood can result from their visit. after our representatives at Lansing may reasonably expect the cordial support of a majority of Lower Peninsula members on all measures calculated to promote or develop the interests of this section. We are glad our legislative visitors came among us, though they may never again be called together; we shall be more than pleased to welcome them, or future legislatures, individually or collectively, when, as in this instance, they come for the avowed purpose of ascertaining our wants and informing themselves in regard to the character, extent and importance of our indus-

THE DIFFERENCE.—When, in the beginning of the present season of navigation, we published a comparative table showing an increase in shipments over last year, furnacemen pointed to the fact as an evidence of accumulated stocks at the mines, and argued that a corresponding accumulation on the docks at Cleveland must necessarily compel a reduction in prices. It did not occur to them that navigation opened nearly three weeks earlier this season than last, and that the curtailment of operations at the mines, owing to the financial depression, last winter, must necessarily result in a decrease in production. It is now about the middle of the season, and a comparison of figures shows a decrase of nearly 200,000 tons, as compared with the shipments last year. The stocks at the mines are pretty generally exhausted, and the falling off during the balance of the season will be still greater. It is safe to assume that the product of our mines for 1874 will not be much, if any, more than 60 per cent of the aggregate production in 1873. We have no means of knowing exactly how much of the ore shipped has been sold, but presume a considerable amount is still on the docks in Cleveland waiting for a market. Should there come a revival in the iron trade, which event seems not at all unlikely to occur, we apprehend furnacemen will, in a great number of individual instances, find they have made a mistake, not only in keeping their furnaces idle, but by neglecting to lay in a stock of ore at prices which are as low as it can be laid down in the lake cities. The decreased production of our mines gives promise of a brisk demand and good ly expected to feel a lively interest in our wel- prices as soon as business revives, and it is not fare, as citizens of the same state. #### MINE AND FURNACE INTELLIGENCE.

-The Cleveland mine is working nearly five hundred men, and shipping at the rate of about 5,000 tons per week.

-Both stacks of the Fox River Iron Co's, furnaces, Depere, are in blast, but one of them will blow out in a week or two, for a new

-The Goodrich mine has shipped one cargo this season, which will be followed by others. About fifty men are employed, and the mine is looking well throughout.

-Work has been suspended at the Home mine, and will not be resumed again until next | charged three dollars per copy. It is just such spring, unless there should sooner occur marked improvement in the iron trade.

-A paper up the road which of late makes some effort to gather and collate the iron news of the district, says the "broom for the most product this year lies between the Jackson and public some 15,000 tons ahead of either, the assertion is, to say the least, a little doubtful.

-Both stacks of the National Iron Company, at Depere, are out of blast, having blown out about two months ago. They have a large stock of wood, coal and ore on hand, and are both ready to resume operations as soon as the state of the iron trade gives assurance of a profitable market for their product.

-The Menominee turnace has been in operation since the first of May last, running exclusively on coal from pine slabs and soft wood, making an average of about 150 tons per week -the largest run for one week being 175 tons. She is running on a patched hearth, but will most probably continue in blast for several months longer.

-The shipments of ore and pig iron from Marquette up to and including August 20, 1874. were 282,483 tons, against 301,552 tons for a corresponding period last year. The principal decrease is at Escanaba, which up to the 13th of this month had shipped only 165,661 tons of ore and pig metal, against 299,702 tons up to the same date last year-a falling off of 134,041

-It seems that the reported suspension discharged and others put in their place. All reports concur in the statement that the mine is looking well, and promises to be at least the take pleasure in correcting the erroneous report of last week.

-The force at the Kloman mine now numbers about 240, or nearly one hundred less than tion does not mean a curtailment of operations, but the stock piles having been cleared up and shipped, loading of cars by night has been stopped, and the work of raising and loading can now be carried on with a smaller force. The company has sent forward some 28,000 be placed at about 45,000. Good work, certainly, for the second season's operations.

-Work has again been resumed at the Keystone mine, with a new mining captain in charge, Capt. John Pasco having resigned. A shaft in what is known as the old cut is being put down in a body of the very best ore, while the main or middle shaft continues to pan out as well as ever. The recent discovery of an apparently large deposit of magnetic ore near the west line, is considered conclusive evidence that the Keystone vein is continuous with that of the Champion. It certainly does not impair its value, but may be the starting point for new and more extensive openings than those now being worked.

-No. 2 stack of the Jackson Iron Company's furnaces, at Fayette, has been doing some more big work--the largest ever accomplished by any nine foot charcoal furnace in the United States. The following is a report of her make for the week ending August 15th: ...... 36 ..... 42

The last cast was made precisely at midnight on the 15th, and the last day of the preceding week she made 34 tons. If there is any furnace of the same size in the world that can beat these figures we would like to hear from

-A special meeting of the stockholders of the Iron Cliffs Company is called to meet in New York on the tenth day of September, the object of which, as stated, is "to obtain the consent of the stockholders to the execution of a deed of trust, or mortgage, upon the whole or some portion of the company's mines, lands, and other property, for the purpose of securing the payment of the principal and interest of certain bonds, proposed by the directors to be made to the aggregate amount of $200,000, payable in ten years from the date thereof, and bearing interest at the rate of ten per cent, payable semi-annually." It is also proposed to provide for a further issue or issues of bonds without a largely increased demand for Lake the most cheering indications of a revival of more iron has been sold from this city during the first six months of this year than ever before. The statements of many of our mills show, in most instances, nearly as much business as last year, and in view of prices being so low, this means more iron sold. Contracts o thousands of tons are offered our mill men at ruling rates for future delivery but are refused. One of our mills received in one day orders for over 2,000 tons of iron at $2.60 cash, future delivery, and would not accept; and others tell the same story. There must be anticipation of a good demand this year or this state of things could not exist."

> A DIRECTORY of the Ironworks of the United States, containing the location, name of proprietors, character of product, etc., of every iron establishment in the country,-all properly clasified, will soon be issued from the office of the Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association. Members of the association who contribute to its treasury will be supplied with the book gratuitously; all others will be a work as iron men need, and it will doubtless have a large sale.

-Miss Thankful Taylor is the name of a young woman in Tennessee, who goes about swallowing snakes. How thankful the Tennessee people must be to Miss Thankful-and yet it is rather a queer diet for which to be thankful.

MRS. HAZLETT proves conclusively in her argument that the women of Michigan are entitled to vote. As an abstract question of right, the proposition cannot be successfully controverted. But do the women of the state-that is, a majority of them -desire the ballot? And how are we to arrive at a knowledge of the fact, as to whether they do or do not? It is a woman's question. Majorities should rule. And as there is no way of getting an expresevery man who has a wife, mother, sister, or sweetheart, consult honestly with them, and vote aye or no upon the proposition, in accordance with their wishes. It would be ungallant, if not unjust, to refuse them the ballot if they wish it; and we see no way of solving the question except by having every man act in the matter merely as the representative of his wife, sister, mother or sweetheart.

THE correspondent of an eastern paper says that the performances of the locomotive whistle has been thoroughy systematized on the Atlantic & Great Western Railway. Seven whistles are to indicate "down brakes;" 32 whistles "up brakes;" 40 whistles and two snorts, a "back up." The instructions add; 'In case of doubt, whistle like the d-l;" at street crossings whistle "considerably." Again: "Always whistle before dinner. Require the fireman to keep the whistle valve open during dinner. After dintons thus far, and the season's shipments may ner, whistle and squirt water; then back up. Then go ahead with a whistle, a squirt, and a ring." This sibilant method being achieved, may we not hope that the scream of the engine may in time be modifled into something melodious? Then, indeed, we might have such instructions to the driver as these: "For 'down brakes,' play the chromatic scale; for 'up breaks,' the scale in C; for a 'back up,' the first six bars of the Overture to Zampa; in case of doubt, a double trill; and at street crossings, a series of significant runs." This, with some wild adagio to be performed after accidents, should the locomotive be well enough to appear, would render the signal system very complete.

The mayor of Marquette, being loudly called for, responded in a few brief remarks, thanking the members for their visit, and expressing the hope that both sections might be benefitted by the personal information they must have obtained concerning our large and growing interests. His brief speech elicited three hearty cheers for himself and the people of the Upper Peninsula, after which those on shore reciprocated with a like compliment to the members of the legislature and the State of Michigan. Amidst the cheers of the assembled multitude the steamer moved away from the dock, and probably ere this the members are at home attending to their usual avocations, and laying the wires for a re-election.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.—The corner stone of the new St. Paul's church was laid with appropriate ceremonies on Saturday last. A procession, consisting of the congregation and Sunday school, with the Bishop and attendant clergy, marched from the old church at five o'clock to the site of the new edifice, where a platform had been laid and every preparation made for the ceremony. REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION .- Pursuant to call of the county committee, a republican county convention for the purpose of electing delegates to the State and Congressional Conventions, was held at the Common Council Chamber in this city on Wednesday afternoon, August 19th. Col. James Pickands, chairman of the county committee, called the convention to order, and nominated Hon. E. Breitung, of Negaunee, for chairman. Mr. Eugene St. Clair, of Ely, was elected secretary.

A committee on credentials, was on motion, appointed by the chair, as follows: W. Finney, Marquette ; M. H. Crocker, Negaunee ; J. E. Dalliba Marquette; J. Ropes, Ishpeming, and Dr. G. J. Northrup, Marquette.

The committee on credentials reported under the calls of the county committee the number apportioned from each township and city. Some little discussion ensued, touching the justice of the apportionment as made by the committee-it having been based on the vote for representative at the special election in the spring. The committee, it appeared, accepted that vote as a basis, because, since the general election in 1872 new townships and cities have been organized and chartered, and no way was found to equitably adjust the apportionment as between these new voting precincts. The question was, however, amicably settled by the adoption of the following resolution, offered by Mr. Croeker, of Negaunee.

Resolved, That the county committee, in calling future Republican conventions, be instructed to base the number of delegates from each city and township upon the vote at the last preceding general state election, allowing one delegate for each fifty votes and a moiety thereof; and that when new organizations and divisions have been made between the last general state election and the time of holding the convention, said committee shall make such apportionment according to said vote as near as may be.

On motion, the convention proceeded to nominate and elect delegates to the State and Congressional conventions. To the State convention the following delegates were elected : Hon. E. Breitung, of Ne gaunee, and C. Y. Osburn, Walter Finney and W. H. Parks, of Marquette. The following delegates to the Congressional convention were elected: A. Campbell, H. H. Stafford and Jas. Wilkinson, of idly-Marquette; W. Swift and J. Ropes, Ishpeming; G. N. Smith and Dr. Bradley, of Negaunee; E. G. St. Clair, of Ely, and J. F. Stevens, of Richmond.

On motion of Mr. Crocker, the delegates were instructed to vote for Hon. J. A. Hubbell for Congressional nominee.

Dr. Northrop introduced a resolution to instruct the delegates to vote for Gov. Bagley for renomination, pending the adoption of which Mr. Finney moved to amend the resolution by adding the name of Lieut. Gov. Holt. As amended, the resolution was unanimously adopted.

C. Y. Osburn introduced the name of Col. Wm. B. McCreery, in a few words, and moved that the delegates be instructed to support him for State Treasurer, which motion prevailed by unanimous

The proceedings were harmonious, and the con vention adjourned with the utmost good feeling.

We are glad to chronicle the fact that Marquette is the first county on the Upper Peninsula to come out strong for Mr. Hubbell for M. C. So far as we are able to learn, all the other counties will be unanimous in giving him cordial support. His course as a representative was highly satisfactory, and the people will attest their satisfaction not only in the conventions, but at the ballot-box.

WE HEAR no more of the doings of our Woman's Temperance League. Perhaps the members are all busy just now in canvassing for the woman suffrage movement. Or, it is just possible that the names of some of the sterner sex who were so officious in "the cause" have so weakened the society's power for good that it has given up.

DEDICATIONS .- On Sunday last Presiding Elder Gordon, assisted by a number of the clergy, dedicated the new Methodist church at L'Anse. Sermons were delivered by Rev. Mr. Frazee, of Negaunee, in the morning, and by Rev. Mr. Johnston, of this city, in the evening. The new church is 35x60 feet in size, and cost about $7,000.

To-morrow the new Methodist church at Menomince is to be dedicated.

It is the private opinion of the writer that business is not nearly so dull as many of the business men would have people believe. All of them are doing a strictly cash or safe credit business, and are certainly realizing fair prices. Very likely they are not making as neavy sales as in some lively seasons, but we certainly believe there is no reason for the incessant whining that is indulged in. The fact is, Lake Superior merchants have become so accustomed to do a rushing business that they are not content with a moderately good trade.

Some time since we noticed an article in the lower lake papers, under the heading of "A Serious Charge," in which Superintendent Gorton, of the Sault canal, was charged with mismanagement and favoritism. We were confident at the time that the charges were without foundation, and consequently did not refer to them at all. The following letter, from the captain of the steamship W L. Wetmore, to the Detroit Tribune, has been published under date of Aug. 14.

Before making this reply to the "serious charges" con tained in your paper of the 29th ult., I have taken particular pains to as ertain the feelings of a large number of vessel and steamboat masters in this port within the past week respecting the management of of the Sautt Ship Canal, and with one exception find them warm in approval of Superintendent Gorton's administration of the affairs. They are united in pronouncing him courteous and uncompromising in the discharge of his duty, and when it is generally known where this "serious charge" originated, (not on the steamer St. Paul) the charge so far as vindicating Mr. Gorton, will be sufficiently explained.

Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune. I went down to John Morissey's club-house last night. He was at leisure and communicative. 'I went to New York," he said, "a stout lad, determined to fight, and to fight the biggest man that could be found. There was nothing I could think of but to fight, and I had to think of that; for I was kicked ashare 'most every day from the boat of Capt. Smith, who is now my father-in-law. I had read of Hyer and Sullivan, and the great pugilists in New York, and one day I took my bundle and came to the city, determined to get a fight out of them. It was at the Empire Club, on Park Row, where I hunted them night. He was at leisure and communicative. 'I went Empire Club, on Park Row, where I hunted them up. The first I saw was Isaiah Rynders, a famous political leader in them days, and I went to him, surrounded by his crowd, and said: "Mr. Rynders, I've come down here from Troy to fight. I've got no money, but I will fight for reputation. I will fight Mr. Hyer, or you, or anybody you can pick out.' They just all set on me at once, and gave me a beating that made my head ache for three weeks. After that I leid for them individually. Said I. Gontley that I laid for them individually. Said I: 'Gentlemen, I will lick your crowd, and make you acknowledge me if it takes years.' I was poor as a wharf rat, and could barely pick up my food; but I kept on the wharves, unloading steamers, working with longshoremen, and getting beaten so often that I was hardly ever right well. As long as I was poor nobody would do me the favor to fight me in the ring, and I finally went to California in the mining times to make a stake. There I fought Thompson and whipped him, and I returned to New York with some reputation. The day I landed I challenged Hyer to fight for $10,000. He came around with Bill Poole to whip me before I got out of bed one morning, and I was so determined about it that they saw I would not leave New York till I had that belt. Finally, I fought Sullivan at Boston Corners-the hardest fight I ever had. He was an artist, and he broke my nose and cut me all to pieces; but I have always known that I could keep my legs and stand up until any of my opponents were worn out. That was my calculation with Heenan; endurance against strength. Hyer I never could bring to the scratch. He had lost his moral force, and never would fight me. His friend Poole, as you know, set on me with a pack of his friends, and expected to bring me so near my end that I would lose stomach for a fair

"Unable to get any of them to meet me, I married and went to business. All at once Heenan came from California with a reputation, and they said, 'Here is our man to give Morissey a flogging at last.' I then declined to fight, until I was worried and set upon in and out of print, and finally they whipped my old father and abused my family. Said I to my wife, 'I can't live this way, I shall have to fight that man.' My wife said, 'You must fight him.' I went into training on my father-in-law's farm. Every effort was made to bring the whole sentiment of the United States against me. You can't tell how many years and how much pain I have had to bear for that perfectly unjust odium of seeking to challenge an American as an Irishman. Mr. Heenan tied the American colors to the ropes, and his coat, when he took it off, was actually lined with the .. merican flag. I had to laugh in his face. He broke my nose a second time, and I think he could strike the most powerful blow of any man I ever saw; but I won the battle and closed them out. I followed him to England to see the fight he had with Sayers, for by this

Then the still powerful gladiator narrated how he came to play cards by profession. "A prize-fighter," he said, "can graduate with no other avocation equal to his start. I have always played cards more or less. My general reputation among Americans, I felt, required me to do something to start my boy, Tics -At length Milwaukee has a genuine sensation, for whose character I live at present in a great degree, and I chased up the seat in Congress, so as to be able the spirits make things lively by slinging stoves, "If your father did begin in the ring, he wrote M. C. after his name."

OUT IN THE COUNTRY.

We are out here in the country—the whole family. We came out here after our health. It was not until I had lost several of my families that I could believe that a trip into the country preserved health, but now I realize what a great boon a sum-

Ah! As I write this Small Pica is galloping around a cranberry marsh, free as an antelope, Long Primer is rolling in the sand with his Sunday suit on, and Mrs. Quad sits on the shady porch, contentedly chewing a young onion and watching a fight between a yearling calf and a cream colored goat. Nowhere else but in the country can a man witness such a landscape as is spread out before me. There is the long meadow, a turnip patch, a horse rake, two harrows, magnificent trees, four boys hooking harvest apples, lowing kine, a lame woman fishing, and the August sun clasps the southern breeze around the neck and they kiss. It is like a panorama, and a good deal cheaper.

There is freedom from restraint here. Mrs. Bliff, the old lady who took us in, says we won't have to put on our diamonds and pearls every time we come to meals, and that we must throw style, fashion and care to the dogs. No one but Mrs. Bliff could spread such a table. It makes my mouth water as I think of it. There is the table cloth with a hole in each corner, a grand dish of baked beans, baked potatoes, salt codfish, and milk or weak tea. The fare is to be varied once a week by the addition of such cucumbers as have been overlooked and run to as himself and he was ten feet away from it. Soon

Recuperate! Great spoons! but how we are piling on the flesh! I believe I weigh a ton, and we haven't been here a week yet. The fat is rolling up on the children until I can scarcely recognize them. They did not know me this morning when I went down to the orchard where they were gamboling among the harvest apples. They began to "sass' me as I approached, and it was with feelings of poignant woe that I found they could run two rods to my

Every morning I take a grand walk, to harden my flesh. The route is down the road half a mile, through an old pasture for forty rods, around a straw stack, up a hill, down along a barnyard, home. The children generally follow me, and their innocent bleatings, the soft prattling of lambs, the songs of the Guinea hens and the murmurings of the morning breeze through the row of tame goose berry bushes make a man's heart swell with enthu-

And the nights! We retire early, and the light is hardly out before something like a billion and a half of mosquitoes come whooping around for blood. They don't get it; there is netting all around the bed, and the insects gnash their teeth and howl around until they find the family dog. The dog commences to howl in a plaintive way, just as if he was in Toledo without a cent in his pocket. The cat gets lonesome as she sits on the garden fence and reflects on the numerous felines of her acquaintance which she has followed to the grave, and she weeps aloud. Six or seven cows, having six or seven bells on, trot up and down the road most of the night, or stand as near the house as they can, and throw their heads around and jingle their bells; and when the rosy hue of morning arrives we rise with refreshed spirits and renewed strength.

Ah! it is good to be out here. It is here that one can see nature get up and dust and jump fences. Here one can feel the soft and subtle influences of creation working all through him. Here one can wear patched trousers, go without a collar, and spit on the front steps without fearing that his family will be ruled out of good society. M. QUAD.

A DISCOVERY.—A party of American travelers in England have the honor of having made a very remarkable discovery at Stonehenge. They went to this famous place on midsummer morning, June 21, for the purpose of witnessing the effects of the sunrise on that particular morning. They were not a little surprised to find that, instead of having the field all to themselves, as they had expected, a number of people from all parts of the country side, principally belonging to the poorer classes, were already assembled on the spot. Inquiries failed to elicit any intelligible reason for this extraordinary early turn-out of the population, except this, that the traditons which had trickled down through any number of generations told him that at Stonehenge something unusual was to be seen at sunrise on the summer of the population, except this, that the traditons which had trickled down through any number of generations told him that at Stonehenge something unusual was to be seen at sunrise on the summer of windon, had a narrow escape from a most ludicrous accident, Tuesday morning. He had been to one of the neighbors to borrow some bread, and was going up the stoop of his house on his and suspenders together, gave away, and he nad just time to spring through the door as the nade of the neighbors to borrow some bread, and was going up the stoop of his house on pure and was to be seen at sunrise on the summer. solstice. Stonehenge may roughly be described as | pants came down.

composing seven eights of a circle, from the open ends of which there runs eastward an avenue hav-ing huge upright stones on either side. At some distance beyond this avenue, but in a direct line with its center, stands one solitary stone in a slop-ing position, in front of which, but at a considerable distance, is an eminence or hill. The point of observation chosen by the excursion party was the stone table or altar near the head of, and within the circle, directly looking down the avenue. The morning was unfavorable, but fortunately just as the sun was beginning to appear over the top of the hill the mists disappeared and then the onlookers stood amazed at the phenomenon presented to view. While it lasted the sun, like an immense ball, appeared actually to rest on the isolated stone of which mention has been made, or "it was like a huge pudding placed on the top of the stone !" Another very important fact mentioned by an elderly gentle-man who had resided for many years in the neigh-borhood was that on the setting of the sun at the winter solstice a similar phenomenon was observable in the direction of certain other stones to the westward. Here, then, is the very remarkable fact that the axis of the avenue of Stonehenge accurately coincides with the sun's rising at the summer solstice, and that another line laid down in the arrangement of the stones coincides with the setting sun at the winter solstice. Unless it is conceivable that this nice orientation is the result of chance—which would be hard to believe—the inference is justifiable that the builders of Stonehenge and other rude monuments of a like description had a special design or object in view in erecting these cromlechs or circles, or whatever the name antiquarians may give them, and that they are really the manifestations of the Baalistic or sun-worship professed by the early inhabitants of Great Britain, a species of idolatary at one time also universal in Ireland, and to which the round towers of that country amply

How THIMBLES ARE MADE.—The manufacture o thimbles is very simple, but singularly interesting-Coin silver is mostly used, and is obtained by pur-chasing coin dollars. Hence it happens that the profits of the business are effected instantaneously by all the variations in the nation's greenback promises to pay. The first operation strikes a novice as almost wicked, for it is nothing else than putting a lot of bright silver dollars, fresh from the mint, into dirty crucibles and melting them up into solid ingots. These are rolled out to the required thickness, and cut by a stamp into circular pieces of any required size. A solid melted bar of the size of the inquired size. A solid melted bar of the size of the inside of the intended thimble, moved by powerful machinery up and down in a bottomless mold of the outside of the same thimble, bends the circular disks into the thimble shape as fast as they can be placed under the descending bar. Once in shape, the work of brightening polishing and decorating the thimble is done upon a lathe. First, the blank form is fitted with a rapidly revolving rod. A slight touch with a sharp chisel takes a thin shaving from the end, another does the same on the side, and the third rounds off the rim. A round steel rod, dipped in oil and pressed upon the surface, gives it a lustrous and pressed upon the surface, gives it a lustrous polish. Then a little revolving steel wheel, whose edge is a raised ornament, held against the revolving blank, prints that ornament just outside the rim. A second wheel prints a different ornament around the center, while a third wheel, with sharp points, makes the indentions on the lower half and end of time I was angry at years of persecution, and I the thimble. The inside is brightened and polished wanted to see the last man of the old Hyer coterie in a similar way, the thimble being held in a revolving mold. All that remains to be done is to boil the completed thimbles in soapsuds, to remove the oil, brush them up, and pack them for the trade.—Ex-

> A HOUSE IN MILWAUKEE CUTTING UP QUEER AN-It is exciting, but decidedly uncertain, when a huge stove jumps up and down, and suddenly strikes out from the shoulder at an unsuspecting and unbelieving mortal Mr. George W. Allen, one of our best known citizens, furnishes the facts of this peculiar case. They are as follows:

This forenoon, at the house of William Giddings, in Allen's addition to the twelfth ward, a sudden and unnaccountable commotion commenced with the furniture. Chairs went suddenly from the floor up to the ceiling, and one broke in falling back to the floor. Crockery would fly from the china closet out upon the floor and break in pieces. The teakettle flew off the stove and upset, with its scalding water, upon Mrs. Giddings, scalding her badly. An oil lamp flew from the shelf and broke in pieces upon the floor. A pail filled with earth and flowers was taken from the door and flew over a fence into the next yard. On being brought back again, it went flying over the same fence. Wood from a pile went flying over the fence.

The floor of the house was filled with the debris of broken chairs, crockery, etc., etc. The women of the neighborhood all gathered there and were terribly frightened. They sent for Messrs. George W. Allen, and his brother Rufus Allen, who hap pened to be down at their tannery. They went in and saw the destruction, but believed nothing as to the causes, but saw the results. While Mr. George the causes, but saw the results. While Mr. George W. Allen was counselling the women to dismiss their fears, the iron ladle-hook used to remove covers from the stove, and which was resting on the stove-hearth, flew and struck him on the leg with considerable force. No one was as near the stove seed, but Mrs. Bliff believes in a steady diet as a a newly-made pie, standing upon a table, flew past him and smashed up against the stove. He retreated from the room simply to prevent being hit by these unaccountable manifestations. That these things occurred without human agency is vouched for by scores of eye-witnesses who are beyond im-

All of the above Mr. Allen is willing to testify to. How to account for it he cannot tell, unless it is by electricity. This does not appear very reasonable however. How could electricity so suddenly take ossession of one house, and cause pots of earth to fly over fences-cords of wood to fly over fencesnewly made pies to prance around the room, and things in general to give a private sort of circus?

Well, if it isn't electricity, is it spirits? Real, genuine ghosts? Who can account for it? It's a lively subject, anyhow.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

AN UNCOMMON SWIFT STEAMBOAT.-According to the Cincinnati Enquirer an ancient mariner tells his experience as follows:

"I suppose you never heard of the old Elephant that used to run between Cincinnati and New Orleans. She was a beauty. I suppose that when she was tied to the bank with a stern-line and tow-line she was one of the fastest boats, on the river. She made one celebrated trip from Orleans, I think in '47. Her time was made a matter of record. It was seven days six hours and three weeks. Comin' up from Orleans once, the captain was sittin' at the table, and he noticed several big hulks of fellows servin' as cabin boys. He called the steward to him and he sez, 'don't you think it would look better to have boys waitin' on the table? I don't like to see men fillin' the place of cabin-boys. Let 'em go and get some young chaps.' "Why, d—n it, captain,' says the steward, 'them fellows were boys when we left New Orleans." "The Elephant," continued Mr. Hartshorn, clinging to his nautical reminiscences, 'was pullin' out from Memphis one day on a down

"Why, d-n it, captain, sars the steward, 'them fellows were boys when we left New Orleans." "The Elephant," continued Mr. Hartshorn, clinging to his nautical reminiscences, 'was pullin' out from Memphis one day on a down trip, and somehow she got mixed up with a raft of saw logs. She broke one of the logs loose, and it floated out into the stream. The Elephant headed down the river and finally got alongside the log. Then commenced one of the nicest races you ever sec. There was a good stage of water, and the log boomed along right lively. For about a week they held together purty well, but the Elephant had to land at the mouth of White river, and the log beat her into New Orleans about twenty minutes. There was something wrong with the Elephant's boilers, and she couldn't make steam properly. That's what the captain said. She was a nice boat to ship green fruit on,' said Mr. Hartshorn.

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON ORE. DENTAL NOTICE. To Lease for a Term of Years

FIFTH AND LAST CONCERT | The Washington Iron Co.'s MINES!

AT AND NEAR HUMBOLDT, MARQUETTE COUNTY, MICHIGAN.

This large and valuable property is now offered for lease from and after May 1st next. It is situated in sections 1 comprising 1,000 acres of land, and extending two miles east and west upon the Iron Range. The property has been long and favorably known as containing large deposits of both Specular and Magnetic Ore of extreme purity, which has a high reputation among consumers. It is traversed through nearly its whole length by the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon Railroad, and is provided with sidings at several different points. It is well provided Last Chance for an Easy Fortune. with hoisting, pumping, and drilling machinery, and with houses sufficient for the accommodation of 400 workmen with their families.

The location is also provided with an ample working equipment of mining tools and utensils of every kind, horses, sleighs, wagons and the like, which will be disposed of to the lessee at a fair valuation.

The openings and improvements already made are large and extensive, demonstrating the great extent of the deposits, and the best manner of working them in future. The indications of the magnetic or dip needle, which, The Fifth Gift Concert when it falls to 90 degrees on this property, has invariably pointed to deposits of ore of standard shipping quality (67 per cent.), show very large bodies of ore which no attempt has yet been made to develop, and upon which mining can profitably be carried on for many years. No other equally well known valuable and extensive Iron property in the Lake Superior Region has ever been offered for lease, and he present will be found an extremely favorable opportunity for ore consumers, who wish to control their own Every facility will be offered for examination of the property and its improvements by parties desiring to lease. About 15,000 tons of standard ore, which has been mined during the winter, will be retained by the owners; but a very large amount of 50 per cent. ore (about 75,000 tons) will become the property of the lessees, subject only to the royalty which may be agreed on.

Parties who desire to lease ar- invited to visit the mines in person, but any preliminary information which may be wanted will be furnished on application to

THE Negaunee Juniors were defeated in Marquette on Monday last. The return game will be played here on Wednesday next, probably, when the Negaunee boys promise a different result. Our people are interested, and several bets have already been "booked."

IT SEEMS a pity that the stone building commenced and nearly finished last season, on the south side of Iron street, should be left in its present state, to go to ruin. Here is a chance for some one with a little capital and energy to secure a fine business stand.

THE city council tabled the bill of H. O. Peck for services as marshal at its last meeting. The bill had been favorably reported upon by the committee on claims, and it looks as though the council was trying to play mean with Peck on account of the little trouble in which he was concerned last spring.

OPENING SILVER STREET .- At the last meeting of the council a resolution was adopted looking to the purchase by the city of the Home restaurant property at a cost of not more than $3,000. This property is in the way of the opening of Silver street, hence its purchase by the city.

THE ball given by the St. Patrick's Benevolent Society on Friday evening of last week was well attended, and proved a very enjoyable affair. The receipts will be a considerable help in furnishing instruments for the new band to be organized here. The Marquette band furnished most excellent music for the occasion.

A CARD.-An erroneous impression being entertained by many who were present at Winter's hall, Wednesday evening, Aug. 19th, to hear the address of Mrs. Hazlett, as to the remarks made by me on that occasion, I deem it proper to state that Mrs. Hazlett called me out with a full knowledge of my views upon the subject of woman suffrage, and did not expect me to advance any argument favorable to the cause she so eloquently advocated. Negaunee, Aug. 20, 1874. JOHN Q. ADAMS.

THE council at its last meeting passed an ordi nance to "provide for the closing of places of bus iness, amusement and resort during certain hours of the secular days and on Sundays." The ordinance provides that saloons and all places of business shall be closed after eleven o'clock at night. On Sundays barber shops may be kept open until 11 o'clock A. M., saloons from 1 to 11 o'clock P. M., and livery stables and drug stores may be kept open all day. The penalty for violation of this ordinance is a fine of $10, or 20 days in jail for the first offence, and $25, or 90 days in jail for subsequent offences.

THE following is the substance of the ordinance lately passed by the council, and entitled "an ordinance to restrain disorderly and gaming houses, and houses of ill-fame."

Section 1 provides that no person shall keep a disorderly house, gaming house or house of ill-fame within the city limits.

Section 2 makes it the duty of the marshal, when the existence of a house of ill-fame becomes notorious, to arrest all inmates and "visitors" and detain them until they can be brought before a justice for

Section 3 provides that the marshal shall arrest all prostitutes who frequent such houses, and all prostitutes upon the streets.

Section 4 provides for the arrest of the keeper of any gaming house, and the seizure and destruction of all gaming instruments found in such places. Section 5 names the penalties on conviction for a violation of this ordinance. For keeping a disorderly house the punishment is a fine of not more than $50, or 60 days in jail. For keeping a gaming house a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, or imprisonment for not less than thirty days and Julius Jacobson will occupy Mulvey's new not more than ninety, shall be inflicted. ## MINING Intelligence Office,

NEGAUNEE, MICH.

The subscriber has opened an office at Negaunce for the purchase of real estate, and the exploration of mineral, pine and timbered lands on the Upper Peninsula. Parties wishing to have lands examined and reported upon, either in respect to their mineral or timber resources, will be liberally treated with, and correct reports will be given in all cases. Being myself an old explorer, having spent many years in the woods, during which time I have located some of the most valuable iron lands on the Marquette Range, and being assisted by a corps of old and faithful explorers, I confidently offer my services to all who may wish to entrust their explorations to my care.

I have now for sale MINERAL LANDS, on the Marquette Bange, to which I invite the attention of iron men seeking investments. Also PINE LANDS in various parts of the Upper Peninsula, selected with the greatest care, and because of their great prospective value. Correspondence sclicited, and the best of references given if required. WM. C. McCOMBER.

DETERGENT!

The Housekeeper's Friend.

A newly invented article, warranted not to contain acids, and will not injure the hands; on the contrary, makes them soft.

It will clean painted and hard-finished walls or ceilings, wood and marble floors, also mantles, oil cloths, painted wood work, glass of all descriptions, silver and plated ware, kitchen utensils, and greasy dishes. Is invaluable in washing clothes, woolen blankets, removes oil and grease from machinery, butcher's blocks and counters. In fact, everything where dirt and grease is to be removed. It will not take stains out of metal, for if it did, it would show there was acid in (of which there is not a particle), and if there were, it would cut your varnish or paint (which it does not), nor does it do any injury to anything to which it may be applied.

It is a Perfect Enemy to Grease and Dirt.

How THEY WALTZ IN PUT-IN BAY .- The Cincinnati Times says: "People may say that a waltz is a waltz, but it is a mistake; as much as to say that a dog is a dog; for there are dogs and dogs, and waltzes and waltzes. With one person it is the poetry of motion; with another it is about as awkward a performance as putting yourself upon a level and going through the motion of running up stairs would be. A Kentucky girl is a natural waltzer, and she does it with a charming chie and abandon. An Ohio girl's waltzing is easy, graceful and 'melodious.' If she happens to come from Cincinnati and across the Rhine, she swings dream ily round and round in the endless 'Dutch waltz.' If she comes from Chicago, she throws her hair back, and jumps up and cracks her heels together, and carries off her astonished partner as though a simoon had struck him, and knocks over all interprening obstacles in her mad carrier around the vening obstacles in her mad career around the If she is from Indiana, she creeps closely and timidly up to her partner, as though she would like to get into his vest pocket, and melts away with ecstasy as the witching strains of the 'Blue Danube' sweep through the hall. If she is from Missouri, she crooks her body in the middle like a door hinge, take; her partner by the shoulders and makes him miserable in trying to hop around her without treading on her No. 9 shoes. If she comes from Michigan, she astonishes her partner by now and then working in a touch of the double shuffle, or a bit of pigeon-wing, with the waitz step; and if she comes from Arkansas, she throws both arms around his neck, rolls up her eyes as she floats away, and is heard to murmur, 'Oh, hug me, John!" not afford to give CREDIT.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF MARQUETTE
S—ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Marquette, holden at the Probate office in the city of Marquette, on Saturday, the fifteenth day of August, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, present, Hon. Edward S. Hardy, Judge of Probate: In the matter of the estate of BENJAMIN B. WOOD, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Harriet E. Wood, of the city of Negaunee, county and state aforesaid, representing among other things that Benjamin B. Wood, at Negaunee city on the fifth day of July, A. D. 1874, died intestate, leaving personal and real estate within his county to be administered, and praying that administration of said estate may be granted to Linus Pierce, Esq., of Negaunee city, thereupen it is ordered that Monday, the 14th day of September, at halfpast ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Marquette, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further ordered that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Mining Journal, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county of Marquette, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.
