that I was a coward, and if I had any message to leave to submit it at once, as he intended to blow the top of my head off before another five minutes should pass.

He was slim, but well formed; looked very young, but in his dark blue eye and compressed lip an observer could read one whose manhood was not gained by years alone.

NEGAUNEE.

WHAT about the Olympic club?
BASE ball is about played out.
If Cal. can't tell you about Marius, ask Wells.
WM. BAGLEY, of Pittsburgh, is at the Cascade.
THOMAS TAYLOR keeps the finest stock of fancy stationery in the city.
GIRZY, what about that bet with Gad N. Smith; have you taken it?
Don't fail to call and interview Thomas Taylor's new stock of stationery. It's real nobby.
OUR townsman, Joel Williams, has removed to the Humboldt, where he is to have charge of a gang of men.
CHAS. D. JEWELL, late of the Escanaba Tribune, was in town last week. He will locate permanently in Fond du Lac.
J. B. MAAS, Esq., left for the east on Thursday. He intends visiting the big show at Philadelphia before returning.
"HE that will smoke Seass' tobacco, knows something." That's what those mystical letters "H. T. W. S. S. T. K. S." mean. See it?

LAST Saturday night a lot of drunken men indulged in a fight on Iron street. We did not learn whether the participants were arrested.
WETTSTEIN is still alive, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Look out for his new announcement, which will appear in this paper soon.
A LITTLE two year old daughter of Louis Whitehead was drowned in a well at Houston kilns on Wednesday last. The funeral took place on Friday.
NEIL CAMPBELL, Esq., our worthy justice of the peace, is making things decidedly hot for publicans and sinners. He operated on several reprobates the past week.
THE school board had a meeting on Friday evening of last week, and elected Thos. J. Houston director, and Capt. J. P. Mitchell moderator for the ensuing school year.
MESSRS. Peter Ely, W. H. Sproul and Fayette and J. A. Root have returned to their homes in the east. These gentlemen are all connected with the Pioneer furnace of this city.
EVENING prayer, with sermon, next Tuesday at 7 o'clock P. M., at St. John's church. The Rev. B. F. Fleetwood, of Marquette, will officiate. The public are cordially invited to attend.
PROF. CHARLES CAVIS, of Marquette, makes regular visits to this city each Wednesday. He is a good music teacher. Any one wishing to secure his services should apply at the Jackson house.
C. E. BINGHAM, Esq., iron broker, Cleveland, has been spending a few days in our city this week. He looked over all the mines and was very much pleased with his visit. He left on Thursday for his home.
ANY one that hasn't visited Heyn & Co.'s store lately is decidedly behind the times. They have got lots of new seasonable fall goods, and amongst the rest a fine line of boss tweeds. Everything sold very cheap at this store.
THERE are no idlers in Negaunee. If this isn't an indication of returning prosperity, we don't know, and particularly so in the face of the shutting down of the furnace, and the consequent discharge of so large a number of men.
HENRY ATKINSON lost several sheep one night last week. It seems they were yarded in a field near Teal lake, and were set upon by dogs, and before any one was aware of it several were killed. The Herald says Wheelock & Winter lost some in the same manner.
MR. D. E. PATTERSON caught two men stealing wood of him 1st week, and had them arrested at d arraigned before esquire Campbell. They pleaded guilty and were let off by paying for the wood and costs of the suit. Too much of this wood thieving has been going on of late.
WE are sorry to learn that Mr. M. A. Gibbs, who has been absent several weeks on a visit to his friends in the east, will not return to Negaunee on account of the shutting down of the Pioneer furnace. Mr. Gibbs is a young man who enjoys the respect of the entire community.
MR. DWIGHT HILLIER of this city, has been appointed agent of J. B. Medlar, fine art publisher, and artistic photographer. Pictures enlarged and finished in India ink, colored and mounted in a handsome frame for the low price of $5. The pictures are very handsomely finished, and the price is remarkably cheap.
THE money has been raised to repair St. John's church so as to render it fit for divine services. The handsome stained glass windows have been almost totally demolished by vicious boys who live very near the church; these boys are known, and if the offense is repeated they will be arrested and lodged in jail. One or two of the offenders are old enough to be sent to the Reform school, and the churchwardens will not spare them if caught.
CHANGE.—Our former townsman T. Ryan, who located at Pueblo, Colorado, some months ago, in partnership with P. Meagher, has sold his interest in the business at that point to John Meagher, also formerly of this place. We learn that the Meagher Bros. now propose to remove the stock to Central City, Colorado, the trade of Pueblo having fallen off so much as to render their business unprofitable at that point.—Herald.

THE authorities have recently completed a cistern at the corner of Teal Lake Avenue and Case street, to be used for fire purposes. It is well constructed, is water tight and will be of great value in case of a fire in that portion of the city. It is so protected that the water will not freeze in the winter. The cistern is fifteen feet in diameter and 12 1/2 feet deep. Now here is a chance for our school children to figure up how much water it will hold. Send in your answers and we will publish them in this column.
THE Herald says: "There is a prevalent custom amongst people of a certain class on Lake Superior, Negaunee included, that is somewhat outre. That relates to the one about weddings, when the min-ter gets the legal fee of two dollars for tying the knot, and the 'shivaree' boys get five dollars to keep still after ten o'clock in the evening."

Now we don't object to the minister's getting his two dollars, but the charivari, or 'shivaree' as it is commonly called is decidedly outre. In most communities it is regarded as an insult and is only tendered to people who deserve such attentions. The familiar name below for these entertainments is "horning bees." We sincerely trust our young folks will abandon this relic of barbarism now and forevermore. It is an outrage for which they are liable to arrest and punishment.

FIRE.—Last Wednesday morning at about three o'clock the barn in the rear of Alex. W. Maitland's house, on Main street, was discovered to be on fire, and the flames soon communicated to the house, distant about thirty feet, and before it could be extinguished, nearly half the house was burned. The barn was totally destroyed. The furniture was all removed from the house. Mr. Maitland loses about $1,500 by the catastrophe, his insurance policy having expired on the 6th inst., and he having failed to renew it. This is another warning to people to keep their insurance policies in force. The fire is said to have been the work of an incendiary. Negaunee fire company No. 2 turned out and did all in their power to quench the flames, but the water supply being scant, could they do but little.

LAST Tuesday morning a man named Patrick Cain was killed by an ore train on the M., H. & O. railroad, near the "Jackson Cut." Cain was a man of about 30 years of age, and leaves no relatives in this county. He was intoxicated at the time. Below we give the verdict of the coroner's jury:
STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF MARQUETTE, ss.—An inquisition taken at the city of Negaunee, in said county, on the 12th day of September, A. D. 1876, before John Dutsch, one of the coroners of said county, upon the view of the body of Patrick Cain, then lying dead, by the oath of the jurors whose names are hereunto attached, who being sworn to inquire in behalf of the people of this state in what manner and by what means the said Patrick Cain came to his death; in testimony whereof the said coroner and the jurors of this inquest have hereunto set their hands the day and year aforesaid.
The verdict of the jury is that the deceased Patrick Cain came to his death accidentally, by train No. 7, engine No. 23, passing over him. No blame attached to the company or its employees.

CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION, PHILADELPHIA, PA. THIS Great International Exhibition, designed to commemorate the One Hundredth Anniversary of American Independence, will open May 10th and close November 10th, 1876. All the Nations of the world and all the States and Territories of the Union will participate, bringing together the most comprehensive collection of art treasures, mechanical inventions, scientific discoveries, manufacturing achievements, in mineral specimens, and agricultural products ever exhibited. The grounds devoted to the Exhibition are situated on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad and embrace four hundred and fifty acres of Fairmount Park, all highly improved and adorned with the most beautiful buildings ever constructed—five of these covering an area of fifty acres and costing $5,000,000. The total number of buildings erected for the purpose of the Exhibition are over one hundred. THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD, THE GREAT TRUNK LINE AND FAST MAIL ROUTE OF THE UNITED STATES, will be the most direct convenient and economical way of reaching Philadelphia and this great Exhibition from all sections of the country. Its trains to and from Philadelphia will pass through a Grand Centennial Depot, which the Company has erected at the Main Entrance to the Exhibition grounds for the accommodation of passengers who wish to stop at or start from the numerous large hotels contiguous to this station and the Exhibition—a convenience of the greatest value to visitors, and afforded exclusively by the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is the only line running direct to the Centennial buildings. Excursion trains will also stop at the Encampment of the Patrons of Husbandry, at Elm Station, on this road. THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD is the grandest railway organization in the world. It controls seven thousand miles of roadway, forming continuous lines to Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and Washington, over which luxurious day and night cars are run from Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Columbus, Toledo, Cleveland and Erie without change. Its main line is laid with double and third tracks of heavy steel rails upon a deep bed of broken stone ballast, and its bridges are all of iron or stone. Its passenger trains are equipped with every known improvement for comfort and safety, and are run at faster speed for greater distances than any other line on the continent. The Company has largely increased its equipment for Centennial travel, and will be prepared to build in its own shops locomotives and passenger cars at short notice sufficient to fully accommodate any extra demand. The unequalled resources at the command of the company guarantee the most perfect accommodations for all its patrons during the Centennial Exhibition. The magnificent scenery for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is so justly celebrated presents to the traveler ever its perfect roadway an ever-changing panorama of river, mountain, and landscape views unequalled in America. The eating stations on this line are unsurpassed. Meals will be furnished at suitable hours, and ample time allowed for enjoying them. Excursion tickets, at reduced rates, will be sold at all principal railroad ticket offices in the west, north-west, south-west. Be sure that your tickets read via the Great Pennsylvania Route to the Centennial. FRANK THOMSON, D. M. BOYD, 462m7 General Manager. Gen'l Pass' Agent.

MINING JOURNAL.

MARQUETTE, MICHIGAN, SEPTEMBER 16, 1876.

All letters of a business character, as well as advertisements and communications intended for the columns of this paper, should be addressed to "The Mining Journal," and not to the editor personally, as is often the case.

The new siding to the Cambria mine Negaunee, is about completed. It will be finished to the Bessemer next week.

The Lake Angeline folks are building an addition to their engine house 20x50 feet. Peter Devine has the contract.

The Schoolhouse mine on the Cleveland location, which has been idle for some time past, is again in operation. This mine is known to contain a large deposit of good ore.

The Michigan company are shipping considerable ore by way of Escanaba. The cars are run to Negaunee on the M. H. & O. R. R., and sent to their destination. About twenty cars go this way daily.

BRAY'S pit at the Lake Superior mine is turning out to be a fine deposit of ore. It was for a long time abandoned as not being a paying mine, but recent operations there have proved this theory to be a fallacy, and that a large quantity of good ore there awaits the miners pick and drill.

"THE Humboldt Mining Co." is the name of the new organization now working the old Washington mine. Capt. George Mitchell—an experienced miner—is in charge, and is operating a small force of men. Probably the number will be increased soon.

FROM a conversation with Mr. D. E. Patterson we learn that there is no longer any doubt as to the extent and value of the deposit of ore on the leasehold owned by himself and Mr. Wm. Schadt, adjoining the Cambria mine, Negaunee. They commenced active operations on the property last Monday with a force of men engaged in stripping. They expect to mine from one to two thousand tons this fall, and can find a ready sale for it.

THE new engine and hoisting machinery for the Bessemer mine arrived last week from Erie, Pa., and is now being put in place. The engine is of twenty-five horse power, and is said to be a fine one. The boiler is large enough to make steam for two such engines should another be required in the future.

THE Shenango Mine, which was leased by Mr. W. C. McComber a short time ago, is being operated under the supervision of Capt. Jno Carmichael of Negaunee. Considerable improvements are being made to facilitate the working of this mine, and with the energy of a McComber, as its manager, we may expect to hear of big shipments from there, yet, this season.

SHIPMENTS.

Showing an increase of 96,929 gross tons.

PARAGRAPHC EDITORIAL.

THANKS to the secretary of the Michigan State Agricultural Society—Mr. C. F. Kimball—for a complimentary to the 28th annual fair of the society, which occurs at Jackson, September 18-23.

We are in receipt of the fourth annual report of the commissioner of railroads of the state of Michigan, for the year ending December 31, 1875. It is an exhaustive resume of the railway industry in this state. The book is a handsome 8vo. volume, illustrated with numerous statistical tables.

THE Hancock Journal publishes two verses of our poem entitled "Der Gandidate," and credits the Detroit Free Press with it. Now, the Free Press may have stolen this from our columns, but the "poem" was written by a MINING JOURNAL reporter and first published in this paper.

Who stands the streets and corners round, Mit setrel ages to be ground, Uad bowed and smiled and never frowned? Der Gandidate. Who hold your hand ven you would start, Uad told you was mighty smart, Uad how he loved you mit his heart? Der Gandidate.

Table with 2 columns: No. of Lake Superior charcoal, Price per ton. Lists prices for various grades of coal.

CONVENTION OF BANKERS.—The executive committee appointed at the Saratoga meeting in July last have made arrangements for holding a mass convention of officers or representatives of the banks of the United States, at Philadelphia, Oct. 2d, 4th and 5th, 1876, for the purpose of discussing matters of importance to the banking interests of the country, and to complete the organization of the "American Bankers' Association."

AMERICAN IRON AND STEEL AT THE CENTENNIAL.—We confess to a feeling of disappointment and chagrin at so much of our Centennial Exhibition as is supposed to represent the iron and steel industries of the United States. It is unquestionably inferior to what it should be, and to what, with a little effort, care and expense, it might have been.

FREE TRADE RECOMMENDED BY ENGLAND.—The free trade policy adopted by England, which was to contribute so largely to her prosperity, does not seem to have answered the expectations of the government, or prevented a recurrence of hard times, as severe as was experienced when the protective system was in operation.

JAPANESE IRON MAKING.—The blast furnaces of Japan are small, and of very simple construction, although built on the same principle as those of Europe. The walls are built of fire-proof clay mixed with a few stones. The blast furnaces are round and have an opening at the side, closed by a band of clay; opposite are two other openings, through which comes a strong current of air, driven into the furnace by Chinese bellows worked by men.

ENCOURAGING INDICATIONS OF A REVIVAL IN IRON.—While we do not forget the admonition to "rejoice with trembling," if there be anything in signs we have a right to believe that the revival in the iron business has begun.

in bankruptcy, viz., the Pittsburgh Bolt Works and Zug & Co., have resumed operations. All the steel mills are very fully employed, nearly all the glass houses are in operation or preparing to resume, and all through the city there are evidences of an activity that has been wanting for some months.

A second sign is the effect of the reduction in the price of anthracite coal on the cost of foundry pig iron, as well as upon the cost of manufacturing iron in the rolling mills. How much this reduces the cost our readers can judge for themselves, and for their own locality.

IN view of these facts and others that have been noticed in our columns, we do not hesitate to declare our belief that the long hoped for revival of business has begun.

TELEGRAPHIC IMPROVEMENTS.—G. W. Traube reports in the Journal of Telegraphy his experience in using lightning rods along the several telegraph lines in Western Tennessee to prevent accident and damage from lightning.

A SINGULAR accident took place at the Duncan silver mine, Thunder Bay, L. S., an account of which may serve as a warning to others. A miner was carrying two dynamite cartridges together with exploder, from store house to shaft, and although often cautioned to carry the exploder in his vest pocket, held all together in his hand.

doings. The Indians are still desperate and defiant, and shoot and scalp every white man they can draw a bead on. The following dispatches explain the latest phase of affairs:

CRENSHAW, Aug. 31.—A courier who left the camp of Crook and Terry on Aug. 29, at the mouth of Powder River, arrived at Fort Fetterman to-night. The command was then on a trail which was estimated at 10,000 ponies. There is reason to believe that the Indians are almost destitute of food, and traces left in the deserted camps indicate that they are reduced to the extremity of using raw hides for food.

OMAHA, Aug. 31.—A. A. Jones, agent of Clark's pony express at Deadwood City, arrived at Sidney this morning. He says the Indians raided the road between Custer and Deadwood on Aug. 20, killed Weston Smith, a minister, and three miners named Ike Brown, Pollins, and Mason, carrying off their stock.

STORY OF THE EMMA MINE.—In midsummer, 1869, there were no more than a thousand non-Mormons in Utah, of whom half or more were engaged in "prospecting" for silver mines or developing old locations. In a year the mining population increased to 4000, and it was soon established beyond doubt that Utah was a rich mining country.

J. H. BEADLE, in Harper's Magazine for October. The result was a failure to pay dividends on such a capital, a cessation of working, caving in of the mine, a disgraceful law-suit, and an international scandal.

W. T. TRAUDE reports in the Journal of Telegraphy his experience in using lightning rods along the several telegraph lines in Western Tennessee to prevent accident and damage from lightning.

THE firemen's parade on Thursday was one of the big displays of the season and attracted an immense concourse of people to witness it. Much interest has centered in the rowing regatta the past two weeks, the most noteworthy event connected therewith being the defeat of the famous London rowing club, in the four-oared race, by the Beaverwicks of Albany.

CENTENNIAL LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.] PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13, 1876.

So far very little attention has been paid in this correspondence to the female branch of Uncle Sam's show. It is, perhaps, just as well to reserve some of the best things for the closing letters. The Women's Pavilion is a large structure erected at a cost of over $100,000, subscribed by the ladies of the United States and their friends for the purpose of making a special exhibit of the advancement of the women of the world in the industrial and fine arts.

Turning about we may witness all sorts of sewing machines. With these, of course, the spectators are more familiar, but the deepest interest is evinced by all. Then we view the girls making up the confections, while others are making the boxes, and yet others filling them and disposing of them all at an advance of twenty per cent. on the ruling rates; but this is voted pardonable, because you are helping the women along.

In art the specimens are few, but very fine, embracing some oil and water color paintings, drawings, photographs, sculpture and casts in plaster and clay. Some of the latter are very fine, and show that our American female artists take the lead even in Italy, the home of art.

DRIFT.

Coldwater is a queer name for a liquor dealer. There is one in New York. People who are afflicted with a revival of business are not so awful thick this fall as they might be. The young lady who writes mournful lines about autumn and the falling leaves is sharpening her lead pencil. The young men of Duluth think shirts a vanity so long as they can have an ulster duster with a paper collar pinned thereon. Wendell Phillips makes ten thousand dollars a year lecturing. We know of some whole lecture associations that don't make as much. "The slimmer you look the better" is the brief synopsis of the fall fashions. Of course this decree will have no effect on the present monstrous bustles. The young people of Sharpsville, Pa., are said to indulge in watermelon parties. One would think that the young folks must have lively times on these occasions. Old staggers are flooded with grief because the government tax will not permit the yield of this year's big corn crop to be sold at a reduction on present prices. It is possible there is an opening in this city for a temperance newspaper. The excellent people who measure all the affairs of life by the coldwater rule are without an organ. The oldest inhabitant never knew the rural editor to be seized with the wood-on-subscription fever so early in the season before. Another indication of a long and severe winter. Young men with matrimonial intentions will do well to postpone active operations until next spring. The coming winter will be one to try men's souls and pocketbooks. So say the weather prophets. An Ohio paper speaking of a temperance exchange says: "The Helmet, a temperance journal of Piqua, is now conducted on the cocktail plan—a little temperance and a good deal of republicanism."

A man isn't doing his duty as an American freeman who does not employ at least one-half his precious time standing on the street corners with the documents in his hands to prove that Hayes stole a ham from a widow's smoke house in '63, or that Tilden put a counterfeit nickel in the contribution box and took four cents in change. The political "straw" is a humbug. We have noticed that those printed in a republican paper are always in Hayes' favor to a ridiculous extent, while a democratic "straw" shows a proportion for Tilden that would give him a majority in the whole country of about fifty millions. We are losing faith in straws unless there is something wholesome at the other end. They have a street commissioner in New Carlyle, Ohio, who evidently understands his business, in following out the Scripture proposition that anything worth doing at all is worth doing well, or words to that effect. He gets up a road tax receipt that is a model of that kind literature and ought to be very binding. The following is a verbatim copy of the original: NEW CARLYLE, O., Aug. 24, 1876. This is to certify that the Rev. Charles Maguire has performed two days road work according to the requirement of law in the corporation of the town of New Carlyle by Sir Archibald Steel through the instrumentality of lord James Hare which releases Mr. Maguire for the present year of Our Lord & Saviour Jesus Christe Now hence forth & for ever Moore Amen David Latourrette St. Com'r.

We have thought about it a good deal, but can't account for it with entire satisfaction to ourselves. It is this: why are young lawyers, good, bad and indifferent, always and uniformly spoken of as "rising." We never heard of an attorney who was on the down grade. It seems to come natural to say: "he's a rising young lawyer," whether the aforesaid "he" is doing anything to boost himself up or not. It appears to be a universal piece of politeness shown to lawyers only. Doctors are abused, and scoffed and jeered at on all hands. Clergymen are not always allowed to pass without having ill-natured remarks made about them, and their abilities underrated. Other professional men are frequently sneered at and receive the frown of condemnation. Even editors are not free from these depressing criticisms. But the lawyer, the immaculate attorney, is always handled with kid gloves in the tenderest manner, and is never anything else but "rising."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13th, 1876. This city just now may be said to be at the height of its popularity as a sort of side show to the grand Centennial. It is estimated that between twelve and fifteen hundred visitors were here yesterday. Apart from the magnificent public buildings, the patent office, and the Smithsonian, there are numerous objects of interest that may well demand the attention of an American. In the War and Navy departments, for instance, are many interesting trophies won by our forefathers in defending their liberties, and handed down to us as rich heirlooms, commemorative of glories past. Very properly, every attention is shown our visitors by the authorities. Capt. Blackford, of the Capitol police, not having a sufficient number of officers to show the strangers that attention he deemed due, has employed a number of intelligent young gentlemen to aid in showing them about the buildings and grounds, explaining and pointing out objects of interest. The opinion is entertained at the army headquarters that neither Crook nor Terry will encounter any large body of Indians. The last official information leaves no doubt that the Indians have broken up into small bands, and the majority are making their way to the agencies. It is thought that those with Sitting Bull, if closely pressed, will cross over into Canada and pass the winter there. The Pioneer Press and Tribune, of Minneapolis, publishes an interview with an old and well known trapper named Ridgely, who was a prisoner with Sitting Bull at the time of the fight with Custer. He says that Sitting Bull did not organize to fight the whites, but to drive the miners from the Black Hills. Previous to Custer's attack, mounted couriers from the Indian camp had for eight days watched his forces, and the intelligence of their separation was received with every demonstration of delight. Ambuscades were immediately prepared, and while the Indians stood ready for the fight, many of them climbed up the hills overlooking Custer's line of march. The Indian camp was in front of a ford which they knew he must cross to attack them, and twenty-five tepees or skin tents were erected full in sight so as to mislead Custer as to their numbers, while behind an adjacent bluff there were seventy-five double tepees. Ridgely says he stood on the side of the hill and had a full view of the battle. Custer began the fight in the ravine near the ford, and fully one-half of his saddles were emptied at the first fire. The commanding officer fell about the middle of the engagement, which did not last more than fifty-five minutes. The Indians took six prisoners and were wild with joy over their victory. The six prisoners were tied to stakes near a wood pile in the camp and burned to death; while they were burning the Indian boys fired red hot arrows into their quivering flesh. Sitting Bull said he had killed a good many soldiers and one d—d General Cus.; he did not know who he was. The prisoners were left burning about one hour; but Ridgely was not permitted to speak to them and of course cannot tell who they were. One was noticeable from his small size and gray hair and whiskers. Reno killed more men than Custer. Two captains, supposed to have been Yates and Keogh, were the last to fall. Ridgely made his escape shortly after the battle, while the Indians were nearly all drunk with whiskey taken from the fallen soldiers. He describes Sitting Bull as a half-breed of large size and having a peculiar gait in walking; he is very intelligent. Gen. Sherman, in circulating the order of the secretary of war in relation to quartering troops in the south, takes occasion to accompany it by his own instructions to the officers who may be called upon to aid the civil authorities. He says the obligations of military individuals, officers and soldiers in common with all citizens, to obey the summons of a marshal or sheriff must be held subordinate to their paramount duty as members of a paramount body. He further says the troops can only act as an organized body and only under the command of their own officers, and that each officer is personally responsible for any infraction of law, and that it behooves them to be careful in discriminating when, called upon by civil officers, what the law will justify them in doing, and what it will not.

MINOR TOPICS.

The total colnage of the mints last month was $7,152,350. Baltimore canning houses are putting up all the fruit this season that they "can." The pawn-brokers say they have not known such a demand for money in many years. Florida has just contributed to the list of curiosities a calf with a human head. No joke here. Hayes, the Arctic explorer, is giving his support to Hayes, the politician. He is on the way to the poll now. Persian postage stamps, the first ever issued, also stamps from Iceland, have been received in Washington. A late number of the London Times contains a glowing eulogy of the system of brakes on American railways. The idea of cutting logs into deals for the English market is receiving a great deal of attention by our lumbermen. The American Social Science association is in session. Cannot some system be devised to adjust stove-pipe elbows? The old South church, Boston, is to be preserved. It will stand as a lasting monument to the avarice of a Boston Congregational society. There was nobody to blame for the disaster which occurred on board her majesty's ship Thunderer, because the coroner's jury has said so. New York morning papers are now sold for three cents per copy. The former price was four cents, and the World was the first to cut on prices. A commission of experts has been appointed to furnish the treasury department with information relative to internal commerce and transportation. In a sham battle at Rome, N. Y., the other day, the veterans fired off 8,000 cartridges and 12,000 glasses of lager—at least that's what the papers say. Mr. Gladstone is now devoting himself to literature and social reforms. He hopes to live to see the day when no house in England will be without its garden. Dr. Hembold is at large again. A year ago he arrived in this country from Europe, since which time he has been locked up half a dozen times in lunatic asylums. We mentioned several weeks ago in these columns the shipment of the first American steam engine to Holland. They liked it so well that they have ordered seven more. A naval auction extraordinary is to be held off the Irish coast. The sunken iron-clad Vanguard the tops of whose masts only are visible, will be sold to the highest bidder soon. The establishment of a branch of Stewart's house in Chicago is a matter of great rejoicing to the people of that city. It is expected to add ten millions a year to the local trade. President Grant's Missouri farm has been something of an elephant on his hands. It used to cost $10,000 yearly over its receipts, and it only yields now a net income of $1,900. Sometime ago a part of the Comanche Indians exchanged their ponies for sheep, and are now doing pretty well in the business of sheep raising. This is a great deal better than raising scalps. Dr. Roepell has written a history of Poland, in which he reads a lesson to us. He says that the downfall of that country was owing to social intemperance and to both political and judicial corruption. The Chinese Centennial commissioners are examining the workings of our postal system with a view of reporting the same to their own country for the adoption of such portions as may be desirable. It is stated that the children of a portion of the dwellers along a portion of the Blue Ridge mountains in Virginia are so wild that their mothers have to catch them with dogs to have their hair combed. They are beginning to estimate the coming cotton crop at the south. It is said it will vary between 4,250,000 to 4,500,000 bales. Prosperity is slowly but surely returning to this unhappy section of the country. The postmaster general has decided that the term "printed matter," as used in the recent postal law, does not include blank books, blanks, charts, etc., and that on this class of mail matter the old rates must be paid. The fish commissioners of the various states will meet at the Maryland centennial building, Philadelphia, on October 5th, and on the following days the annual convention of the fish culturists' association will be held. A revolution in English railway travel has been accomplished by the pressure of the times, travelers coming down in the class of coaches patronized, while the railways have been obliged to improve their accommodations. The "original copy" of the "Bells of Shandon" is on the whitewashed walls of Father Prout's old college bed room. The students take good care that no vandals carry off the plaster on which his pencil wrote the magic verses. An International Law Conference is to be held at Bremen this month, under the auspices of the "association for the reform and codification of the law of nations." Its first meeting is to be held on the 25th, and the subjects for discussion will cover a wide range. The Patent Congress held in Philadelphia last week was under the auspices of the United States Patent association. A similar congress was held in Vienna during the exposition which was held there, in which a large number of foreign inventors participated. The attractive New England cabin at the Centennial, with all its curious contents is to be transferred to Paris. Every state in the Union should be represented. Thus would foreigners get an idea of our resources, our manner of living and the grandeur of our institutions. A deficiency of $40,000 per annum in the revenue receipts of the Sandwich Islands is anticipated after the reciprocity treaty takes effect, and the legislature is considering the subject of how it is to be met by other taxes. Merchants think planters should stand the most of it and vice versa. The proprietors of the Sheffield, England, cutlery works have decided to remove their business to Syracuse N. Y. Sanderson Bros. & Co., large manufacturers of steel in Sheffield, have, it is said, also completed negotiations for the establishment of a branch steel manufactory in Syracuse. GETTING DOWN TO HARD PAN.—The New York Iron Age takes a hopeful view of the immediate future of all business, finding its reasons in the low prices of all staple commodities. We extract the following important figures, which will command thoughtful attention: In furniture of all kinds, the decline has been more than proportionate to that in rents, which will be easily understood by any one who will consider the subject, even superficially. In the line of carpets, the decline is from 20 to 25 per cent., according to quality—the best grades suffering the heaviest depreciation. On cabinet work the decline has been even greater, and for a given price one can purchase a much better parlor or bedroom suit than could have been obtained in 1870. This is the only way in which the comparison can be fairly made, as furniture is not made now as it was then. In the minor articles of house furniture, the judicious purchaser can make a dollar go as far now as before the war, and, if convenience, utility and finish are considered, a good deal further. In groceries and provisions the decline since 1873 has been great enough to bring prices to the level of an ante-war average, and in some items below it. On this subject the Tribune says: "In groceries and provisions all goods with the exception of the hog products, beef and coffees, are believed on an average to be 25 to 30 per cent. cheaper than in 1873. Canned goods, fruits and vegetables, which were once a luxury, and now so commonly used as to become a necessity, are on an average 40 per cent. below prices in 1873. In 1873 family flour sold on an average at $6.50; very low grades are now down to $2, but they are exported to the West Indies. A fair, sweet flour can be bought for $5 to $5.50. Good Oolong teas are selling at retail for 40 cents. Teas are decidedly low, now that the duty is off, and of much better quality. On an average teas are 30 per cent. lower than in 1873." EXPORT PROGRESS.—The export movement is going on bravely. Though shipments of manufactures have not increased so rapidly as to make any material difference in the weekly tables of aggregate values, the sentiment is spreading among manufacturers that this is the only permanent remedy for the present depression, and the first steps have been taken in many trades looking to a very great expansion in export business. The action of our cotton manufacturers in sending samples of their goods, with details of prices, &c., to the chief foreign countries, through the commissioners at the Centennial, is particularly important. We have frequently at late chronicled some enterprising move of the Fall River manufacturers in the same direction. The statement that 4,500 bales of domestic—the largest shipment of the kind since the war—will be exported next week to Shanghai is significant. Our manufacturers are also bestirring themselves in the matter of sending agents abroad. And it is by no means confined to the makers of cotton goods. In the iron and hardware trades considerable interest in the foreign outlet has been manifested, which has been increased by the collapse of the coal combination, which will enable our manufacturers to compete with those of foreign countries on somewhat more favorable terms than of late.—Boston Commercial Bulletin. THE "3 A silver mine" is located on the north shore of Thunder Bay, L. S., and, in common with numerous other mines in this region, is not being worked at present for lack of capital. About two years ago the mine was developed by a couple of shafts which were sunk 106 feet, and levels driven between the same. Considerable ore was raised, when, for reasons above given, the work was abandoned. Colburn & Druhlner, Chicago, have patented a welding compound for steel. It is claimed that steel can be welded by this material forming a joint equal to the solid bar, and if the steel is burnt an application of the compound will restore its lost carbon. BROUGHT HIM TO TERMS.—Sweetcake William, cried Judge Cox, of Virginia, yesterday. "Yes," answered a slight, young man, rising to his feet and stroking a dyed mustache with a hand burdened with rings. "You are charged with assault and battery," said

His Honor, "in having belted a man over the head at the Diamond Grotto Saloon last night." "Jesso," calmly answered Sweetcake William. "Ye see, Judge, I walked back to the game and took out a twenty in two-bit chips. I bet five on the four an' six to win, an' copped the queen to take the eight with two an' a half. Then I put down two on the ace straight, for I was bound to make a scratch, bein' down to my seams, as it were, with the hashman an' the lan'lady. The five on the four an' six was raked in. I got away with my bet on the queen an' eight, an' looked around to see how the ace was gettin' along, when I saw a stiff walkin' away with it fur a sleeper. I didn't say nothin', but took it outen his fist, all in good natur, an' win a ten by copperin' the jack. By this time the deal was nearly out, an' the deuce, tray, nine, seven, eight, an' ten spot was cases. 'Copper the odd an' take the even, sez I, layin' down all I had—just twenty-eight big dollars. Well, Yer Honor—" "My good fellow," interrupted the judge, "you are speaking Greek to me. I know nothing of this jargon." "What's that, Judge?" asked William, slightly puzzled. "I say, my good fellow, that this hasn't anything to do with your case of assault and battery. You gamblers are becoming too turbulent altogether. I have a good mind to make an example of you, sir. It would be well for men of your class to remember that you are allowed to carry on your immoral trade merely upon sufferance. When civilization, sir, advances somewhat in these western outposts the country will be horrified by the spectacles of legalized vice which now disgrace the state of Nevada and render it so difficult a task to keep the rising generation from following the evil examples which are constantly before their eyes. Proceed, sir, but drop your professional slang, and remember that the court knows nothing about the game of faro or any other gambling device." "Oh, ye don't!" said William. "P'raps ye don't call to mind the night you and me snatched a $15 sleeper when a drunk didn't see enough to pick up a split on a bet of thirty. P'raps ye don't remember when I stake you at three this mornin' over in the Dew Drop Inn? P'raps you and Jake Small ain't snacks in ropin' in snoozers? P'raps—" "Silence!" roared the court, glaring at the grinning crowd of caricatures outside the rail. "There seems to be nothing in this case, William. You leave the court to infer that you were being cheated and you lifted the stiff under the ear. You're discharged."—Virginia (New) News. BUSINESS NOTICES. THE GIANT OF EPPSTEIN.

The green valleys of the Taunus abound in healthful springs, and its woody uplands are crowned with decayed castles, the recollection of whose chivalrous owners has outlived the perishable monuments of their power. Like a chain of antique colons, these ancient relics embrace the fertile and picturesque country which extends for many leagues along the right bank of the Maine. Powerful and illustrious families formerly resided where the ruins of Falkenstein, Königstein, Eppstein, Sonnenberg, and Hohenstein now rear their proud towers, and where the Altking and the Feldberg raise their lofty heads above the neighboring hills, some of the mightiest deeds that immortalize the history of romance were performed.

from taking to their heels at the sound of this unusual music, which resembled the low bellowing of a distant herd of wild bulls, mingled with the opening tones of enormous bagpipes.
