

A. P. SWINEFORD.

ESTABLISHED IN 1846.

CITY AND COUNTY.

THE public schools are reported in a flourish- ing condition. REAL estate dealers report considerable ac- tivity in their line of business. PARTIES here are shipping up the road a con- siderable quantity of hard wood lumber. THE pleasant weather last Sunday had the effect to fill the woods with flower gatherers. "WHO is Old Sam Johnson?" has been asked a thousand times this week. We don't know- do you? MEN are busy clearing away the debris pre- paratory to rebuilding the barns destroyed by fire last week. LARGE fields of floating ice are to be seen in the lake just outside of the harbor, but it is fast breaking up. THE school census of 1878 placed the number of children between the ages of five and twenty years, in this county, at 5,896. THE tug Old Fellow steamed up the early part of the week, and has since been flitting around the bay like a thing of life. THE scrub-brooms, paint and whitewash brushes are being used extensively these days, and the effect is everywhere apparent. PEARL'S green house was opened on Wednes- day last; Miss Alice Pearl will be found there during business hours to wait on customers. LAWYERS are in the midst of their legal har- vest now—the circuit and U. S. district courts will keep them busy for several weeks yet. AS usual, the first of May found many of our citizens on the move. Fortune says those who are exempt from these annual changes. WILL decoration day be observed here this year? It is time that our citizen soldiers and others should begin to talk about the matter. SIDEWALKS are being repaired in different parts of the city—is what the MEXICO JOURNAL would like to say. If it could only do so without lying. SMALL & HOOK write that they will be here and re-open the Northwestern hotel for the summer season, June 1st. A month too late is better than never. BLAKE says he's willing to buy almost any- thing of value and give his note for it—payable when the Michigan legislature gets through with its foolishness. THE first boat of the Transit Co.'s line for Lake Superior parts was advertised to leave Cleveland last Wednesday. We may expect a boat at almost any hour. AMONG the improvements about town we notice a new sidewalk on Spring street laid in an oblique direction to Hanson's non-prohibi- tory establishment. J. T. O'KEEFE, who has been signal officer at this station for the past sixteen months, left for Chicago Wednesday last. We understand he is to be returned to this city? TEAMS are kept busy hauling the rubbish that has accumulated about town during the winter to the lake front, where it is deposited—just as it hadn't ought to be permitted. THERE was a slight fall of snow last Tuesday morning, the latest and, we hope, the very last of the season, though one don't almost always sometimes know what least to expect in this latitude. LOVERS of the national game are practicing every evening, either on the base ball grounds or in the streets, and we presume that ere long it will not be safe for any of the outside clubs to challenge them. WHEN, oh when, are we to have this Main street sidewalk imbroglio settled, so that the east forty or fifty feet of it can be relied, and cease to be a terror to ladies with trailing dresses? THE little schooner Tom Boy comes out this spring newly painted and fitted up in magnifi- cent style. She will engage again this season in carrying powder and other explosives from here to other ports on the lake. NOR a single mosquito has made its appear- ance in this region the present season—prob- ably waiting for the St. Mary's canal and river to open. When he does come he'll be married and have a numerous family. ARE we to have a revival of the Marquette base ball club this season? Wade, in boys, and prepare for the Dreadnaughts of Chicago, who, it is said, will make a tour of this region the coming summer. By all means give us some- thing to make fun of. H. E. PEASE, Esq., cashier of the First Na- tional bank, is having his residence on Arch street thoroughly overhauled and renovated; in fact, when the repairs are completed it will be an old house made new. A SUIT against the city for a few thousand dollars for damages sustained while walking on some of the miserable sidewalks of the city, might have the effect to wake up some of the officials to a sense of their duty in the way of having said walks properly repaired. THE dry goods obstructions of the side- walks on Front street are a decided nuisance, and ought to be abated. No dealer has a right to occupy any portion of the sidewalk for the exhibition of his wares, or as the receptacle of his empty cases. SOMEBODY in the north part of the city is making banging work killing dogs. The other night he fired three shots from a pistol, hitting the animal each time, and then had to finish the job with a club. That fellow should go south and learn to shoot. THE attention of the proper authorities is called to the condition of the sewer basins on the corner of Front and Washington streets. The stench arising therefrom is more than suggestive of a decaying canine, or the pres- ence of Hamburg cheese that is abode-died enough to speak for itself. THE proprietors of the Cozens hotel have just imported a new cook, and the boarders ap- pear to be well pleased, especially in the way fish are served up. What Marquette hotels have always wanted, and never had, are cooks that know how to properly manipulate the ex- cellent fish caught in our waters. MR. EGGERS, city treasurer elected, has filed his bonds, which were approved by the council, and has appointed C. H. Call, Esq., deputy. Henry will attend to the duties of the office, as all who know him will agree, faith- fully, and his appointment as deputy will un- doubtedly give general satisfaction. THE Reform club of this city, continues to hold its regular meetings once in two weeks. At its next session the following resolution will be considered by the members of the so- ciety and others: Resolved, That total abstinence from every variety of alcoholic beverage is the only cor- rect rule of temperance touching that question.

CINDERS.

IS Old Sam Johnson any relation to old Tom Collins? LOAD your shot guns; the fellow who sells a powder which he claims will render cer- tain non-pollutive in his way hither. A Ridge street man says his wife's new spring bonnet isn't to be sneezed at; it's very nearly as large as the roll of greenbacks he paid for it. YOU can give ninety five notes now for any amount with impunity—the adventurist will pray them all out of existence on the 11th of July, and there'll be no protest. MRS. M. Marie has an archery club, a social club, and the Jack of clubs who is a club- footed editor—in all of which it is ahead of any other town on the Upper Peninsula. ANY fool can rise with the lark—but it's only the gentleman or lady of refinement who can enjoy a morning nap while the lark is in search of his early worm. THE gentle boyne has entered once more upon the arduous duty of punctuating the sidewalks. She is no respecter of persons, is the gentle boyne, but shows her whims of regard alike upon the rich and the poor. NOW then, calculate, or re-paper your parlor and sitting room walls; the friendly lady will soon be along, and she'll have a thing she abominates it's an unclean wall upon which to ply his avocation. A miserable Lake Superior bachelor de- clares that the reason why postal cards pass so slowly through the mails is because there are over 4,000 females in the postal service, and they have to be read by all of them. THERE's a fellow, not a thousand miles from Marquette who sued for a woman's hand long and persistently, and who now threatens to sue for a divorce because her hand refuses to go for him. NOW then, ye lovers of cleanliness, give us, oh give us, the scent of your burning gar- gles. We can stand it for a whole week—but not when we can't sniff the deodorizing medi- cines which will otherwise remain and abide with us all summer. THEY came very near having Tom cut the half shell, as one of the relatives of the Cozens house the other day, all because the printer, who always follows copy, if it flows from the window, adopted the steward's abbrevi- ation of Tomato Catsup. THE Adventurist now asserts that the "earth will melt with fervent heat," July 11th, and that he will be ready to receive the Cozens house the other day, all because the printer, who always follows copy, if it flows from the window, adopted the steward's abbrevi- ation of Tomato Catsup. YOU rise at half past four or five these bright spring mornings, and hear the wild-wood birds singing their hymns of praise, and linger beside the babbling brook, or sit on the grassy bank, and hear the wild water- lily saying: "If so, you'd better quit it, or you'll catch a cold that will enroll you in the ranks of perpetual sneezers. THE letter ran thusly, in a neat running hand:—"My darling; eight o'clock and here I am"—and then the pen spread with the weight of intelligence about to communicate, and made a mark on the paper more closely re- sembling a cow's track than anything else, and he concluded—"Lord! what a idiot I am!" and he has been exhibiting it to "Cupid's" admirers ever since. Cinders knows half a dozen fellows here in Marquette who were too feeble to get up and build the fire, bring in a scuttle of coal or shove the sugar on the front door, and who for four miles and a half up Carp River, and sit all day on a damp stone or a wet log, merely to get a look at the girl who will live under the gentle influence of our balmy Lake Superior spring time. THAT was a sad bit of irony the Cozens house laundry girls gave an unwelcome male visitor the other evening. When he got out he had just money enough to pay for patching the front of his pantaloons that came in contact with the iron when he sat down, but the drug- gist wouldn't trust him for the sake, and now he curses the body copers and the iron, and sore which he would like to "suff down upon" if he was only blessed with sufficient physical en- durance, coupled with the proper literary en- courage, to enable him to do it with any degree of personal comfort. Cinders has handed over to him by the editor-in-chief all the poetic contributions that are not awarded space elsewhere in the paper, which do not happen to please the editor's literary taste of that individual. Now the chief knows that this isn't the proper column for poetry, or if it was, that there isn't room enough in it for a twentieth part of the effu- sions he throws on Cinders' hands. It's simply a plan of his to evade responsibility and a- void imposition on Cinders, but an outside of numerous voluntary contributors who are striving to achieve poetic fame through these columns, and a gross injustice to the great reading public who are thus kept in ignorance of the fact that we have any amount of latent poetic fire in this Upper Peninsula, which needs only the vent of a widely circulated newspaper, to fan it into an unextinguishable blaze. To show how wrong he is, we mean to be in this respect—Cinders would just like to ask a discriminating public what is wrong with this, that it shows no respect to the approval of an editor who doesn't write any poetry himself—in fact doesn't know poetry when he sees it—and be considered to the waste basket or to the toilet of the Cinders. Now he says it's "the worst I ever saw—may do for a cinder, and Cinders sub- scribes to the paper, and he'll be glad to see his own himself could have done better at the rate of $12.50 a line: Queen Victoria's dinner party at the British embassy in Paris. France. BY—R—M—L. In Paris Victoria one day went to dine with some of her courtiers to the number of nine. The following courses she then then did chose: Sutton chops, Lettuce, Beef boiled and roast. She also had Oysters and some ripe Tomatoes (Cabbage and Parsnips and likewise Potatoes—When down the Queens checks great tears then did trickle. For eating raw Onions and Cucumber pickles. We can assure R. M., that we've got the best of the "old man" this time, but we must insist upon his getting around on Saturday in time to take his share of the kicking—for now he comes to see the thing in print. Cinders knows there'll be that same with double emphasis on both syllables. But he may as well be kicked "for a sheep as a lamb," and he therefore ventures to call attention to the fol- lowing extract from MSS., of which there are several other verses of the same sort. Let the editor caveat; even Cinders will esteem it an unadvised pleasure to be kicked to the music of such rhyme as this, sad though the sub- ject: And her image in my heart Shall never fade away For I lov'd her yes I lov'd her So powerfully and true That the years of my coming life Seems desolate and drear. Thus far Cinders has performed his duty at the risk of great personal danger to himself, and here and there name is as the budding leaves of the gentle spring time—will be patient, and he survives the shock, which will be as that of a collision between an irresistible force of double-edged power and an immovable body which can't be budged, the others will be given a hearing in due course of time.

It requires brains to run a shanty suc- cessfully, but any common sneaky can set himself up in business, if he has a little knowledge of cookery, and sufficient learning to open, read, and supervise the conduct of his patrons—and has an accommodat- ing landlord who isn't particular about the rent. ALL the rolling stock of the M. H. & O. rail- road is in thorough repair for the season's business. Many of the engines have been re- painted and so fitted up that they look like new ones just from the hands of the manufac- turers. WE venture the assertion that there is more skillful pride displayed in the care and culture of house plants, shrubbery etc., in this city than in any other of its size in the country. Our people love the beautiful, as anyone can be convinced by taking a stroll along any of our residence streets. FROM the appearance of things now, we should judge that every foot of tillable ground hereabout will be brought under cultivation this summer. There is a great demand for fertilizers, and everything of the kind is being gathered up and carted off to the gardens and fields in and around the city. THE arrivals at the hotels have been quite numerous of late, most men who come here on business. It is hardly time yet for tourists and pleasure seekers to put in an appearance; but come they will, and we are pleased to note the fact that all necessary preparations are being made to make all who come "feel at home." THE best evidence we have that this is to be a busy season is the fact that the capacity of this office is taxed to its utmost till its order for job printing, but fortunately facilities are such as to enable us to promptly meet all demands. So, gentlemen, bring on your work and we promise that none shall go away dissatisfied. CONSISTENT—THE common council refusing to comply with the reasonable suggestions of the cemetery commissioners, and then declining to accept his resignation. If there is one thing in the wide world some of those aldermen don't know better than anybody else, we'd like to know what it is. JUDGE O'KEEFE, of this city, now on the way across the ocean to Ireland, and Dick Travers, sit beside the would be assassin of Edwin Booth, when he fired the shots. The judge lit out and kept mighty shady for fear of being detained as a witness, but Richard will be called upon to testify, if Gray is ever put on trial. It was a lucky escape for the judge and the girl he left behind him in "old Ireland." THE reception and ball given by the Odd Fel- lows of this city, at Cules' hall, Friday evening, the 23rd ult., in honor of the 60th anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America, was a rousing success in every particular, from 75 to 100 couples participating, and all enjoying them- selves to the fullest possible extent. A few speeches were made during the early part of the evening, which were well received by mem- bers of the order, though others were not sorry to see them brought to a close that dancing might be carried on without interruption. Supper was served at the Cozens house in the usual happy style of the busy B's. COL. JAMES PICKENS left the city Wednes- day for New York city, where he goes as a witness in the Stanley-Hazen court martial. The Colonel commanded a regiment in Hazen's brigade, was in ten or a dozen battles with his men, and from a brief conversation we should say that his testimony will go far towards re- lieving that gallant officer of all suspicion of cowardice. The Colonel speaks of both Hazen and Stanley as brave men and gallant officers, but ascribes the court martial to jealousy on the part of the former, who felt that his merits were overlooked when the government sent Hazen to Europe as an observer of the Franco-Prussian war. DIED. MCCONNELL—At the Cozens house, this city, Monday evening, April 28th, Nelly Shauck- pear, wife of M. H. McConnell, Esq. The decease of this estimable lady, who had been married scarcely a year, occurred after a short but exceedingly painful illness, and cast a shadow of gloom over the hearts of all who knew her. The remains, accompanied by the bereaved husband, were taken to Red Wing, Minnesota, where the parents of the deceased resided, and where the funeral services will be held on his sad loss—and so inhaled it to him—Mr. McConnell has the heartfelt sym- pathy of thousands of friends. ECONOMY is good, dayvish good; but there is such a thing as having too much of it. There isn't to-day a decent sidewalk through- out the length of any one street in the city, nor a street or road within the city limits that is passable, which was made so through the economy of the last council. The economy which rules at the present time not only stifles such an officer as a superintendent, but it is suffering those made unwise former admin- istrations to go to decay and ruin. The present administration is making a record in that regard for which the city will be obliged to pay dearly within the next few years. A disastrous conflagration for the simple want of a night- watchman to give the alarm, two or three ac- cidents by reason of defective sidewalks, and streets that will have to be repaved or re-mac- adamized because not kept in proper repair, are likely to knock the present ideas of econ- omy into a cocked hat in the near future. READERS of newspapers understand that men who advertise want business, and generally have special inducements to offer in the way of superior goods and low prices. No one thinks of trying to do business without hang- ing out his banner out on the outer wall, in the way of a sign for the passer-by to read; but some are short-sighted enough to neglect the opportunity which the widely circulated news- paper affords of making known broadcast the fact that he is engaged in a certain line of trade, and wants customers to whom he offers spe- cial inducements. Reader, do you ever know an individual or firm of the latter class who did a legitimate or otherwise than a one-hour busi- ness? Look around you and see if you can find one who doesn't resort to the scrip or du- bial shave to compel a trade which they other- wise could not get, or in the absence of that, who do any other than a trade so limited that they must necessarily sell at a high price in or- der to get a living. Think it over, and then give your trade to the merchants who invite it in the way of liberal advertising in the local papers. You will, invariably, find them liberal dealers—men who don't insist upon picking out the smallest eggs for you when you buy them, nor yet stand and quibble with you for a difference of a half a cent a yard, in the price of a dozen yards of six-penny calico.

a dollar you can tell her you ain't got it, and she can't even guess whether you're telling the truth or lying about it. THE MIXING JOURNAL has got to have one of 'em if it's obliged to sell its long primer to pay for it. A JAMESVILLE man says that while in Colo- rado he discovered a sure remedy against po- tato bugs, which is simply to plant two or three flat seeds in each hill. He says the bugs will shun it every time, as they don't like the idea of being "flaxed" in that way. It won't cost much to try it, and we give the suggestion for what it is worth. ROBERT FRENCH, Esq., who was appointed marshal and street commissioner at the first meeting of the new council, and who has been laid up with rheumatism, the greater part of the winter, has again put in an appearance on our streets, being impelled, probably, by the benign effects of a fat office. NOW that the common council have got down to business—a street commissioner and other officers having been duly appointed—can we not reasonably expect to see the streets and side- walks put in ship-shape for the reception of the influx of tourists and visitors who will make Marquette their objective point the coming season? We are inclined to think the gen- tlemen cannot be unmindful of our real wants. DID you ever, or hardly ever, see flatter or more brazening weather than we are now having? It makes us shudder sometimes when the idea of selling out and going away from Lake Su- perior thrusts itself upon us—and then we sigh, and look around with fear and trembling for fear of finding at our elbow the fellow we've been looking for. THE Marquette light house "shows its little light, twinkle, twinkle all the night" once more, and keeper Morgan only awaits the first valid excuse to set his glibful fog whistle going to a new tune improvised during the winter. It's all right, however; no one thinks of swearing because they get used to it. And by this same token, our extra edition is exhausted almost as soon as printed. We mention this so that none need feel disappointed if we are obliged to re- fuse them. The best way is to get your name on the list, and the receipt for your subscrip- tion in your pocket. THE green house on the otherwise vacant lot on Front St., opposite the Cozens house, is indeed one of the most beautiful as well as interesting places to visit in the city, and open to all, and well patronized by our citizens. We cannot begin to name all the plants, but among them there are a great variety of gem- stones, with different colored flowers, one of which is considered a very rare plant and is called Geranium Happy Thought. There are also a great variety of cactuses, the one called Mamillaria pusilla cactus, which is a very odd looking plant, is noticed by every one as it is one very seldom seen in this part of the country. When in bloom it has small yellow flowers, which afterward turn to what is called the fruit. It somewhat resembles a watermelon grown to the very smallest ones. There are also a number of cactuses, but they are too numerous to describe. The next rare and beautiful plant is the Pearl Aloe. It is a small green plant, covered with little white dots which somewhat resemble pearls. The flowers grow on a long stem which grows out from the center of the plant, and are a light pink. The rarest plant in the green house is called Rhin- cospirum Jaminoides. It is not an attractive plant, except that it has odd shaped white flowers, which are very fragrant. The Fu- chias are beautiful, and nearly all in bloom, and are a beautiful variety of flowers, and they are all thriving and looking fresh and hardy. In fact, it is worth any one's time to go and see the really rare and beautiful col- lection. FASHION NOTES.—Black wraps are in favor for dressy garments, though jackets made in light color and tan color are of more service to the wearer. There are also new materials used; Bengaline, which is lustrous, yet soft and pliable, and satin de Lyon, which is smooth and soft, and is used for making dresses, and they are all thriving and looking fresh and hardy. In fact, it is worth any one's time to go and see the really rare and beautiful col- lection. Dress bonnets are made up almost entirely of flowers. Head dresses are again becoming popular for the house toilet. The papillon bow is considered very pretty. It is made of puffed loops of India muslin mixed with Breton lace. Short veils are made of black or white Breton lace, while the longer veils, which are made to cross behind the head and the under the chin, are made of black, dotted with gold thread. The new linen pocket handkerchiefs have an insertion of Breton lace, forming a cross through the middle of the handkerchief, then passing around the border with an edge of Breton lace. White buttoned and white muslin dresses are very pretty trimmed with Breton lace and bows or loops of gay ribbon. All bonnets are made to match the dress not only as regards the trimming, but even to the color of the straw. There are so many different shapes that it would be difficult to describe them; in fact, every lady wears whatever bonnet she pleases. Shawls are revived for spring wraps, but need to be worn by a slender figure to be at all becoming. Breacles of black velvet ornamented with gilt buckles, set with brilliants, will be worn; also a plain, smooth band of gold with one large stone, either topaz or crystal, set in a plain band called the "Zenobia." Jet ornaments of all kinds are very stylish, particularly the horse shoe and crescent. The latest novelties in feathers are ostrich feathers with camel hair tips. The new fashions have sixteen ribs instead of eight. The present passion for wearing the hair in Paris is to wear the chignon low, with very little frizing on the forehead. The new material, which will take the place of greenadine this summer, is called Damasse bunting. Camels' hair goods is both pretty and serviceable for a spring suit, but if trimmed with silk a good quality should be used, as a poor quality will soon wear away from woolen. THE circuit court is still in session, and the following cases have been disposed of during the past week: Levi Breckenman and Wm. H. Ward vs. Andrew A. Anderson; trespass on the case; jury trial; verdict for plaintiff for $465.90. Geo. T. Robinson; trespass on the case; ver- dict for plaintiff for $301.82. Christian H. Bush, et al., vs. the Iron Cliffs Co.; assumption; jury trial; verdict for plaintiffs for $318.91. Daniel H. Merrill vs. Wm. C. McComber; as- sumption; judgment by default for $267.40 dam- ages, and $30.50 costs. Alex. W. Myers & B. S. Bigelow vs. Halvor Johnson; assumption; discontinued by con- sent, without costs. Ralph B. Dunn vs. Chas. H. Hall; trespass; jury trial, pending. FOR a number of days our streets have been pestered with the mysterious words, "OLD SAM JOHNSON." Whether it refers to some quack doctor with a bottle of "Hop Bitters," a sort of "Trix," or S. T. 1863 X., who is seeking to gull and capture the dollars of the unsuspect- ing and confiding people of Marquette, or whether it is a secret signal for the capture of one of our great industries, Grace furnace or the Rolling Mill by the communists, or the initia- tive for a strike by the employees of the Mar- quette & Mackinac R. R., has been a wonder. We are happy to assure our readers, however, that there is no danger of an immediate revolu- tion, no threatened destruction or even de- lay in carrying on the public and private en- terprises which make Marquette noted for its public spirit. Old Sam Johnson, it seems, was a doctor, but of the kind who never killed their patients—of the very old school who doctored by the books. Not an M. P. nor a T. D., but an L. D., and he is simply to be made the subject of a lecture in Mother's hall, on Wednesday evening, May 7th, by Rev. E. J. the bishop. The proceeds are to be used for a very charitable object, and we predict a full house. OF course, to one will fail to see and read Neuberger's four column advertisement on the 9th page. Isaac is Marquette's prince of cloth- ers and merchant tailors, and seems to have made up his mind to fully test the efficacy of a printer's ink as a means of increasing an al- ready large and prosperous business. With seven years' experience in Marquette he ought, and does, know just what the people want in the way of clothing, cloth, gents' furnishing goods, &c., and as he is determined not to be undersold, either by any similar establishment in the Upper Peninsula, or by the traveling solici- tors from outside cities, he offers inducements to customers which cannot be found elsewhere. A neat, tidy establishment than his will be when he gets into his new quarters, just across the way. It will be difficult to find anywhere. Go and see him, even if you don't want to buy anything, and be assured with that "Wash- ingtonian" of his, and when Sam fully re- covers and gets around again—and his friends hope that event may speedily occur—you will find them a whole team, both on the near side, with no backing in the way of good goods and low prices. MAKING TEAMS.—The mill canal was opened for the season on the 25th ult., and the river being clear of ice, there is now nothing to hin- der steamers from reaching this port. It is more than probable that we will have a boat to-day or to-morrow, the Peerless having left Chicago on Thursday. The Fremont will leave to-day. Capt. Jack Lowe, the genial tar who used to sail the mail boat between this and Portage Lake, will have command of the steam barge D. M. Wilson this season. The propeller China will be the first boat of the Transit line for Lake Superior, and was ex- pected at Detroit Thursday, should she manage to break through the ice blockade at Buf- falo. The elegant little iron steamer Ivanhoe made her first trip of the season on Friday last week, on the evening of which day she arrived at L'Anse from Houghton. During the winter her paddle boxes were enlarged, and she now makes the distance between the two ports, thirty miles, quite easily, in two hours and a half, though heavily laden. She has been mak- ing her regular trips during the past week, and passengers find her comfortable, well furnish- ed cabins a most desirable change as compared with the stages. The propeller Manistee, Capt. John McKay, of the People's South Shore line, arrived at Hancock Wednesday morning last with a full cargo of freight and over a hundred passen- gers. PERSONAL.—John Pritchett, Esq., of London, England—supposed to be a peer of the realm traveling incognito—has been a sojourner at the Cozens house the past week, spending his time in occasional visits to the mines. John L. Buell, the warm, unassuming, Quaker friend and admirer of the MIXING JOURNAL, and its editor, was in the city on Tuesday last. He came quietly, molested nobody, and went away peacefully—just as he ought. Chas. W. Franzheim, a very pleasant young gentleman from Wheeling, W. Va., came here on Monday last determined to capture a live editor for a paper down there, but for certain reasons with which the public have no concern, did not quite succeed, though he may carry his point in the not very distant future—Wonderful, isn't it, how they all want to Mar- quette when they want an editor "with vim into him," as Artemus Ward would say? There's LYNN, they got him, poor fellow, and he ran the only live paper (Ispheming ever had; they took Hicks from us, and put him in a cranberry marsh, then they enticed Richardson away, and finally yoked him up on the off-side with George Peck; the man who is now abusing him tried so seduce Bowdler from his allegiance and failed; and now half a dozen of 'em are after the old man himself—and he'll go—when he finds a man who won't send his old hairs in sorrow down to the grave, by mak- ing a catch penny, milk and water sheet of the good old MIXING JOURNAL. Hon. W. J. Fisk, of Fort Howard, has been a guest at the Cozens house the past week. John N. Ingersoll, Esq., editor of the Sha- wasee American, and the pioneer editor of Lake Superior, was in the city Wednesday and Thursday, but was so busy among the Odd Fellows that he didn't have time to make us a call. Mr. Ingersoll established the MIXING JOURNAL at Copper Harbor in 1848, but after- wards moved it to the Straits. A copy of the paper in our possession bearing his name as editor and publisher, is dated Saint Ste. Marie, Michigan, July 23, 1849.

NEW SERIES, VOL. XI, No. 563.

Household Cleanliness 120 Years Ago.

It is the fashion to assume that cleanliness, in its thoroughgoing, all-pervading acceptance, was the quality for which households of the old stamp were distinguished. Where the mistress and her daughters held strict supervision, that would be so; but we have now and then an insight into things as they were, where the eye was wanting, which tells another tale. A certain Will Verral's experiences are so much to the point that we will give them, as chancing upon them in our own reading, though we have seen them quoted not very long since elsewhere. Will was an innkeeper and man-cook, of Lewes, in Sussex, employed by the gentlemen of his neighborhood to cook their state dinners for them. He published a cookery-book—the date 1759—and wrote a preface to it which shows him master of a picturesque style: "I have been sent for many and many a time to get dinners for some of the families hereabouts. The salute generally is: 'Will' (for that is my name), 'I want you to dress me a dinner to-day. With all my heart, sir,' says I; 'Why, about ten or twelve, or thereabouts.' And what would you please to have me get, sir, for ye?" "Oh, says the gentleman, 'I shall leave that entirely to you,' etc. My next step was to go and offer a great many compliments to Mrs. Cook about getting the dinner. The girl, I'll say for her, returned the compliment very prettily by saying: 'Sir, whatever my master or you shall order me to do, shall be done as far and as well as I am able.' But Nanny (for that I found to be her name) soon got into such an air as often happens upon such occasions. 'Pray, Nanny,' says I, 'where do you place your stew-pans and other things you make use of in the cooking way?' 'La, sir,' says she, 'that is all we have' (pointing to one poor, solitary stew-pan, as one might call it, but no more fit for the use than a wooden head-dish). 'Umph!' says I to myself, 'how's this to be? A surgeon may as well attempt to make an incision with a pair of shears, or open a vein with an oyster-knife, as for me to pretend to get this dinner without proper tools to do it.' At length, wanting a sieve, I begged of Nanny to give me one; and so she did in a moment—but such a one! I put my fingers to it, and found it gravelly. 'Nanny,' says I, 'this won't do; it is sandy.' She looked at it, and angry enough she was. 'Rot our sieve,' says she, 'she's always taking my sieve to sand her nasty, dirty stairs!' But, however, to be a little cleanly, Nanny gave it a thump upon the table, much about the part of it where the meat is generally laid, and whips it into the boiler, where, I suppose, the pork and cabbage were boiling for the family, giving it a sort of rinse, and gave it to me again with as much of the pork-fat about it as would poison the whole dinner; so I said no more, but could not use it, and made use of a napkin that I slyly made friends with her fellow-servants for, at which she leered round and set off; but I heard her say, as she flirited her skirts into the scullery, 'Hang these men-cooks, they are so confounded nice! I'll be whipped,' says she, 'if there was more sand in the sieve than would lay upon a sixpence!'—Blackwood's Magazine.

"LA SURPRISE" is the name of a new hat with three-quarters of a yard of feathers hanging from the right side. It is so called from the surprised manner in which the husband exclaims "La!" when presented with the bill.—Norristown Herald.

An exchange says that the only jokes women like to read are those which reflect ridicule on men, and asserts in proof that on taking up a paper a woman invariably turns to the marriage column. This is a high-mental charge against the fair sex.—N. Y. Graphic.

BOSTON PRECOCITY.—Jack (aged ten years or under): "I trust, Tommy, that you believe in the non-essentiality of a pre-existent first cause." Tommy: "Oh, certainly. At least, I go no further back than the primordial atomic globule." Exeunt, driving their hoops.—Harvard Lampoon.

A short time ago a little boy went with his father to see a colt. He patted the colt's head and made quite a fuss over it, until finally the stable-man told him to be careful that the colt did not turn round and kick him. When the little chap went home his mother asked him what he thought about the colt. "I like him pretty well," was the reply. "He's real tame in front, but he's awful wild behind."

RECENTLY a young man was presented in a family where there was a marriageable daughter, and as soon as he had taken his leave the friend who had introduced him said to the father, "Well, how would he suit you for a son-in-law, hey?" "Very well, indeed," says the father. "All right; suppose he comes round to-morrow and proposes?" "Father (with dignity)—"To-morrow? Pooh, pooh; what are you thinking of? That would be indecent haste." Say the day after to-morrow."—Exchange.

CURIOUS things are done in "meeting." Not long ago the Wesleyan Methodists in England resolved to raise the sum of £200,000. The first meeting was held soon afterward, when the sum of £31,000 was raised. It was a humorous subscription, for one gentleman rose and said he would give £1,000 in memory of his sainted mother; another said he would give £500 in memory of a dear wife; another, £50 in honor of a beloved sister; and for a long time this style of giving went on. At length one man said he would give £200 because he was not on board the ill-fated Princess Alice. This became immediately contagious, for shortly after a man rose and volunteered £100 because he was not a shareholder in the City of Glasgow Bank. It was expected some gentleman would give £1,000 because he was not a member of the opposition, or a British Afghan.

THE tramp who entered our sanctum the other day and said he was a live lord, became a lie floored, indeed, before he left.—Fonkers Gazette.

THE Cincinnati Saturday Night has an article on "Mumps"; but the Utica Observer finds fault with it for neglecting to add that it is "to be continued in our necks."

ISHPEMING.

THE Ancient Order of Hibernians, of the state of Michigan, are to hold a state convention in this city sometime the present month.

CHARLES CONWAY is now in the employ of T. & P. J. Norton, where he cuts and makes every variety of gents' garments after the latest fashions.

THE main streets of cities of 20,000 inhabitants are never more crowded with pedestrians than our Main street is on every fine Saturday evening.

MAX ENDELMAN has assumed the management of the Barnum house billiard hall and bar. He will fit up and beautify the premises immediately, and make it the most attractive resort of the kind in the town.

ONE of the most important affairs of the city—the dog census—has just been taken. There are over 400 canines in our midst, a large proportion of which are owned by paupers supported by the county. The poorer the family the more dogs they have.

THE work at the Cleveland Hematite mine is in charge of Capt. W. J. Officer, who is now studying hard to learn how to swear in the Swedish language, in order to make himself understood to the large gang of new arrivals from the old country employed there.

NOTICE.—I hereby notify whomever it may concern, that W. M. Wilkinson is no longer in my employ, and has no right to collect any money or transact any other business for me. I have appointed A. C. Osborn as my agent, and he is fully authorized to collect and take orders for me at all times. A. G. BALTIC, Ishpeming, April 29th, 1879.

Dr. A. L. BRODEUR and wife recently arrived at Marquette, France, where the doctor is now engaged in the practice of dentistry in company with his two brothers. They are doing a good business, and intend to remain there permanently. The doctors Brodeur are all still fresh in the memory of Marquette county people, who are always pleased to hear of their well doing.

SOME parties trolling in Lake Angeline the other day caught what they supposed to be several large lake trout, but which subsequently proved to be California salmon, and which were undoubtedly some of those put into that lake by Capt. G. D. Johnson five years ago. The fish are fine specimens of the finny tribe, weighing as much as five pounds. We're greatly mistaken if crowds don't flock out there and catch every solitary one of them before the Fourth of July unless, some restrictions are placed upon the sport.

A. C. OSBORN has gone into the employ of A. G. Baltic, as agent for the sale of tombstones, in the place of W. M. Wilkinson, whom Mr. Baltic wants the public to understand is no longer in his employ. Albert is an accommodating gentleman, and to prove it will take the greatest pleasure in putting up a handsome tombstone over the grave of any of his friends so unfortunate as to die. Of course he don't want any one to die for his sake, but it is consoling to know what he stands ready to do for all who do shuffle off their mortal coil.

THERE is to be a grand excursion from here to Houghton in about six weeks, under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. We hope it will be a better managed one than the Temple of Honor excursion of last year, and from what we learn it will be. Every arrangement will be made for the convenience and comfort of the excursionists. They will go up one day and come back the next, and will be amply provided for while there. This will be a decided improvement on the last year's trip, when they had to come back so quick that they hardly had time turn around.

NEW DRUG STORE.—Joseph Schaller, of Humboldt, and Carl Weinberg, of Republic, will open a drug store in this city in a couple of weeks. They have rented Gylling's store, and will commence fitting it up for that purpose immediately. The store is a large and fine one, and can't help but make a gorgeous drug store. The two gentlemen starting it are experienced druggists and wide awake business men, and while it is a question whether there is room here for four drug stores, they are determined to give the matter a thorough test by opening an A. No. 1 concern.

SOMEbody turned in a fire alarm Tuesday afternoon because flames or sparks were seen to issue from the chimney of a house at the Barnum mine. The firemen turned out promptly and the engine was fired, up when it was discovered, as usual, that there was no more occasion for its services than there would be if the housewife had burned her fingers over the kitchen stove. This regularly calling out the fire department whenever a couple of sparks are seen issuing from a chimney, is getting monotonous. There is hardly ever an 4 mizer from a burning chimney, and if there is, it can be put out by a man can run to the engine house and turn in an alarm. It costs the city five dollars every time the engine is taken out of the house, an expense that need not be incurred every time some frightened individual sees a few sparks flying. There would be just as much sense in calling out the department whenever a man is seen lighting a cigar.

DOUGLAS, the walkist, made his hundred miles in twenty-four hours last Saturday as per announcement; but didn't succeed in drawing a very large crowd into Gylling's bar where he did his tramping. He only had a few straggling lookers on, and the largest number there at any time was less than fifty. It is very evident that a solitary man walking around a saw dust track is not considered much of a show here in Ishpeming. A large crowd gathered on the street in front of the hall Saturday evening, and watched to see the pedestrian as he passed the front windows, but he could not entice them up stairs. Several times he stopped at the open window and asked the crowd to come up and give him a benefit, but a derisive shout from the boys was all the response he met with. At last, growing desperate, he yelled at them to come up at any price, and still they chose to watch him from the street rather than go in at their own price. The fellow certainly did not make much of a fortune by his walk. The majority of the people here have too much sense to encourage any such foolishness, although it must be said that the man can walk, and well to.

man's skull, and he fell senseless to the ground. As soon as possible he was carried to his room and medical assistance called, when the wound was found to be a very dangerous one, as the skull was punctured and part of it pressed down upon the brain. Young Farm, the innocent cause of the distressing occurrence, is attending the sufferer constantly.

MARRIED.
SANDBERG—ANDERSON.—In this city, Wednesday, April 24th, 1879, by the Rev. Mr. Olander, of Marquette, Andrew Sandberg and Miss Sophia Anderson, both of this city.

PROF. MILLER, of Green Bay, will be in Ishpeming this week to tune pianos. Parties owning pianos should take this opportunity to have them put in first class order.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and executed by Edward Fraser and Elsie M. Fraser, his wife, of Marquette, to William B. Wesson, of Detroit, on the fifteenth day of July, A. D. 1874, which said mortgage was duly recorded on the fifth day of July, A. D. 1874, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Marquette county, in Liber Four of mortgages, on pages 51 and 52, which said mortgage was, on the fifth day of August, A. D. 1874, duly assigned by said William B. Wesson to the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Hartford, Connecticut, by instrument of assignment duly recorded on August 17th, A. D. 1874, in the office of the Register of Deeds for Marquette county in Liber Six of mortgages, on page sixteen; and whereas, it is provided in said mortgage that if default should be made in the payment of the interest, or any part thereof, secured by said mortgage at the time when such interest should be due and payable, and such interest should remain in arrear and unpaid for more than thirty days, the whole sum secured by said mortgage, both principal and interest, should, at the option of the mortgagee or his assigns, become immediately due and payable; and whereas, an instalment of interest secured by said mortgage has remained in arrear and unpaid for more than thirty days, and the assignee of said mortgage has elected that the whole sum secured by said mortgage should become immediately due and payable, and notice of such election to said mortgagees on April 1, 1879; and whereas, there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage, and on the bond to which said mortgage is collateral, the sum of five thousand, six hundred and fifty-nine and 15/100 dollars, and also an attorney fee of one hundred and fifty dollars, provided for in said mortgage, should any proceedings be taken to foreclose the same. Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that on Tuesday, the twenty-second day of July, A. D. 1879, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the front door of the building in which the Circuit Court for the county of Marquette shall then be held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage, or sufficient thereof to satisfy the said debt, the interest thereon, the attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and the costs and expenses of such sale; said premises being described as lot number seven [7] of Hewitt's addition to the village (now city) of Marquette, according to the recorded plat thereof, together with a dwelling house and out-buildings situate on said lot, all in the city of Marquette, Marquette county and state of Michigan.

IN BANKRUPTCY.—In the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Michigan, northern division. In the matter of WILLIAM S. DALLIBA, Bankrupt. Notice hereby given, that a petition has been filed in said court by William S. Dalliba, of Marquette city, in said District, duly declared a bankrupt under the act of Congress of March 3, 1867, for a discharge and certificate thereof from all debts and other claims provable under said act, and that the seventh day of May 1879, at 10 o'clock, a. m., before the said court in the city of Marquette, in said District, and Division, is assigned for the hearing of the same, and where all creditors who have proved their debts and other persons in interest may attend and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. Dated at Marquette on the 9th day of April, A. D. 1879.

THE MINING JOURNAL.

NO PAPER SENT TO ANY ADDRESS UNLESS PAID FOR IN ADVANCE.

SUBSCRIBERS ordering their papers transferred from one address to another should be careful to give the name of the postoffice to which the paper is being sent at the time, in order to secure prompt attention, as otherwise the mail clerk may have to search through the entire list to find the name.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.—THE MINING JOURNAL will not be sent to subscribers after the expiration of the time subscribed and paid for, unless the subscription is renewed. Subscribers can always know when their subscription expires by comparing the number of the printed address on their papers with the corresponding number on their receipts.

All letters of a business character, such as advertisements and communications intended for the columns of this paper, should be addressed to "THE MINING JOURNAL," and not to the editor personally, as is often the case. Only letters of a personal or confidential nature should be addressed to—A. P. SWINFORD.

FOR SALE!

Being desirous of accepting an advantageous offer to enter a much wider journalistic field, I offer the MINING JOURNAL ESTABLISHMENT for sale on favorable terms to any person who will accept the same. The establishment is situated in Marquette for whose long continued support and encouragement I am under grateful obligations. The establishment is doing a good business, the papers have a large and increasing circulation, and the right kind of a man can make more money than in any other business in this region requiring the same investment. It is doing so well that, notwithstanding the offer of a more extended field, I will not sacrifice a single dollar to secure a purchaser, or sell to any person whom I have reason to believe will not keep the paper up to, or improve upon, its present standard of excellence. I will not, if I know it, for the sake of the change I desire to make, impose upon my old friends and patrons an editor who is less competent than myself, or who will be less acceptable to those who have stood by me through good and through evil report, for so many years. If there is a live editor anywhere, who is possessed of a moderate capital, and who desires to step into a lucrative business, in the prettiest town, the finest climate, and among the best people in the world, he is invited to a correspondence with—A. P. SWINFORD, Marquette, Mich.

The indications are that almost every one of the small iron mines in and around Negaunee will mine and ship ore during the season.

CAPT. BALE has, we understand, taken a contract to mine 12,000 tons of ore at the Cambria mine, during the present season of navigation.

THE Calhoun mine is to be operated this season. One by one the old and apparently dead and buried leaseholds are coming to the front.

OPERATIONS at the Marquette brownstone quarry were resumed some time ago. It is thought that there will be a brisk demand for the product the present season at better prices than were obtained last year.

It is reliably reported that Messrs. Morgan & Kieren, who have been prospecting at the old Himrod mine, near Negaunee, have made an opening in what appears to be an extensive bed of hematite equal to any on the range.

THE latest discovery at the Lake Superior mine is a deposit of excellent hematite, just east of the old Hematite mine, and near the dry house. It was discovered accidentally, in digging a well or reservoir, at a depth of only four feet from the surface; but though the ore is of exceptional fine quality, enough work has not yet been done to determine the extent of the deposit. It looks, however, as if it might prove a very important auxiliary to the productive capacity of the mine.

It is reported on what seems to be good authority, that J. B. Maas, who has the option for a lease of the northeast quarter of section 2, 39-30 has found a fine body of ore, after sinking through ten feet of cap rock. Of course, the extent of the deposit can only be guessed at, but a private letter from a gentleman who has no interest in the property, expresses the belief that it is on a par with the Quinnesee, from which it is only about half a mile distant. F. M. Moore, Esq., of this city, is the fortunate owner of the tract in question.

THE Michigan mine has commenced shipping ore via Escanaba—and our local reporter states that the Spurr stock piles will all be shipped early in the season. It is a matter of regret that some arrangement is not effected which will put the last named mine into operation once more. It is a good property, and if we may believe the reports of those who ought to know, presented a better show of ore at the time work was suspended than at any previous period in its history.

THE pumps have been taken out of No. 4 shaft of the Saginaw, and that part of the mine has been practically abandoned. A discovery of an encouraging character has been made at No. 2, however, which may develop into something that will at least partially compensate for the dearth of ore in other parts of the mine. A drift to the north, at this point, passed through eight feet of good ore, when a thin stratum of rock was encountered, beyond which the drift is again progressing in ore. Of course, the extent of the new find can only be determined by actual mining, but the indications are such as to revive to some extent the drooping spirits of the management.

THE MINING JOURNAL was slightly in error in saying last week that the Hamilton & Merryman property, on the Menominee range, had been leased by the Cleveland Rolling mill company. That company is so closely identified with the Saginaw Mining company that it is very easy and natural to confound the one with the other; however, they are separate corporations, and it is the latter which was fortunate enough to secure the lease in question—a fact upon which its management is not more to be congratulated than the lessors, for the property, which by all accounts is a most valuable and promising one, could not have fallen into better hands for speedy development.

WHILE eastern capital is clamoring for investment in the government four per cents, the slate interest of Baraga county is dormant for the want of means for its development. There is slate enough of the very best quality in that county to supply the wants of the whole country for centuries, and certainly no more permanently profitable investment can be found anywhere. It now looks, too, as if something would be done in the near future to start the industry upon a practical basis; when that is done with one quarry, the result will certainly be such as to give the interest a boost that will bring it into greater prominence than the newspapers can possibly give it. The slate interest of Lake Superior, when properly wrought, will rank with its mines of copper and iron, which are not equalled elsewhere in the world.

THE GIANT POWDER LITIGATION.—In your issue of the 19th inst., under the head "MORE LITIGATION," you copy a circular from the United States Blasting Powder company, and accompany it with editorial comments which, unless corrected, are liable to mislead some of your readers and do them as well as us great injustice. We ask space for the correction, or that you do it editorially on the proofs we put into your hands. Your comments are as follows:

From which it would appear that the Giant Powder Co. has simply been trying to bull-doze mine owners into using the explosive manufactured by it, under the false plea of being protected by patents, which in fact they never really owned, and threatening to prosecute all who dared to buy and use high explosives manufactured by others. That their claim was a false one is evidenced by the fact that they have never dared to attempt the execution of such threats, and that they have thus far been defeated in all their litigation with other manufacturers, in the United States courts. The circular above speaks for itself, and ought to be sufficient to ally the last lingering fear of mine owners, so far as any trouble with the Giant Powder Co. is concerned.

If the circular gives nothing but facts, and its authors have given you the whole truth, your comments are justified, and we deserve the severest reprobation; but you have been misinformed and deceived. To show you that we own the patents on which we are suing we send you copies issued directly to us. We also refer you to Drinker's authoritative work on "Tunnelling, Explosive Compounds and Rock Drills," published by John Wiley & Sons in this city 1878, page 63, where it says: "These patents for nitro-glycerine applied as a blasting agent are now (1877) held by the Giant Powder companies."

To prove false the assertion that we never attempted to enforce our claims we send you a variety of documents.

To show the untruth of the assertion that we have thus far been defeated in all our litigation, we send you copies of various decisions and orders, and assert that we now have injunctions in nine (9) different cases in four different circuit courts, and no motion for an injunction has ever been made and denied.

As to Dittmar's claim, it is enough to say that it has been known to all defendants in all our cases, and has been pleaded in several, but as yet no attorney for the defence has thought enough of it to put it in evidence. As to the U. S. Blasting Powder company and its president, Mr. Welch, we will only quote two lines of Mr. Welch's testimony in our suit against Parker et al. Question, 31. Did this corporation ever own any property? Answer, No!

In short this company is a sham—a dummy—wholly irresponsible, and hence the fit instrument for the work we see it put to.

THE ATLANTIC GIANT POWDER CO. By its Agents, Varney & Doe.

ORE shipments via Escanaba have been fairly begun, several regular trains having been put on during the week, though the regular summer time card has not yet been announced. It now looks as if there will be a call for all the ore that will be mined, and if the hematite mines do not again resort to the cutting under process of last year, the end of the season will probably show the result to be a fair balance of profit for the district, as a whole. Some old, or rather new hematite mines, which have not been wrought for some years, will resume operations, some of the others will increase their product, and altogether it is probable that the aggregate product of all the mines will reach the figures attained last year. The increase, if any, will be in the Menominee range, where all the mines wrought last year are said to be looking extremely well, promising an increased yield, while a number of new ones will help swell the product. Should there be a market for the ore an aggregate product of 1,200,000 tons can be raised from the mines, including the ore mined during the winter, in both districts. Certain it appears to be, however, that no considerable quantity of ore will be shipped except to fill contracts, and the MINING JOURNAL does not, therefore anticipate any increase over last year's product, notwithstanding the greater productive capacity of the mines. The Menominee ores, and those of some mines in this county, will find a ready sale, owing to their adaptation for Bessemer steel purposes, but it is feared that some others may go begging for a market—though we hope otherwise. Altogether, however, the season bids fair to be a fairly prosperous one, though the advance in prices is not nearly sufficient to enable some of the mines to retrieve, this year, the losses sustained since the panic.

PARAGRAPHIC EDITORIAL.—THE Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company owns and operates 1,512 miles of track; the Chicago & Northwestern 2,154 miles.

NEGOTIATIONS for peace are pending between the viceroy of India and Yakoob Kahn, and it is believed will eventuate in a cessation of hostilities, and the extension of the British frontier.

THE Mosher bill to provide free whisky for the inebriates of the state of Michigan failed to pass the house by a vote of 35 to 58, and is dead now as a mackerel—and will stay dead until revived again by fanatics who have more zeal than brains.

FIVE men and a boy who were buried by the caving in of a coal mine at Sugar Notch, some ten days ago, or whose escape was cut off by the closing of the passages, were rescued alive, at the end of five days. Fortunately there was plenty of water in the mine, and the men were enabled to subsist on the flesh of a mule which had been buried with them, and which they killed. They were, however, pretty thoroughly exhausted, and could not have survived their imprisonment much longer.

THE English turfmen are out on Parole—about $200,000 worth. If there is anything in which England can excel America, or thinks she can, let her name it. She finds that it is necessary even to employ American mules to keep her African colonies in the traces, and will soon be obliged to resort to a protective tariff in order to retain the trade of her own people. Poor, decaying, decayed old England! She hasn't a professional pedestrian even, who can compete with our Weston in bringing up the rear of a four cornered walking match.

THERE is a speck of war between the United States and Germany, growing out of the evident determination of the government of the latter to interfere with the plans of the former in relation to Samoa. Capt. Zenssch, a distinguished German naval officer, has been sent to that island as Consul General. Now here's a chance for Mr. Hayes to utilize his secretary of the interior; instead of going to war, let Mr. Schurz be sent out with a full supply of material from the Milwaukee arsenals, and he and his distinguished countryman can soon agree on "one country" and any quantity of lager.

THE south had the yellow fever plague, and the north poured out its treasure without stint to alleviate its suffering. It isn't grateful, nor even kind, for the south to now pay us off with the infliction of a negro plague, which calls for more liberal contributions. Let the South take care of her impecunious darkeys; or, if they will come north, then they should be sent back again, on the same principle that the paupers of one county are sent back to it when it seeks to foist them upon another.

DETROIT is consoling itself for the absence of a tunnel and its inability to secure a bridge with the fact that the Wabash line is to be extended to that city. Detroit will welcome all the railroad extensions to her borders that can possibly be had—at the expense of somebody else. She has millions for a park, but not one cent for the Marquette & Mackinac R. R. One of these days some of the great railroad kings will buy that town and fence it in with railroads on all sides of it.

THE destruction by fire on the 23d of Notre Dame University, near South Bend, Indiana, must be regarded a public calamity, as it was one of the most popular institutions in the country. The buildings were substantial and cost an immense sum of money, the loss being estimated at $200,000. The library of 25,000 volumes, many of the works new being out of print, is a loss that cannot be repaired. This will be a heavy blow upon our Catholic friends, but they will recover from it, as the fame of that school is such that its buildings will not long be permitted to remain in ruins.

MR. MORRELL, president of the American Iron and Steel Association, speaking of the large purchase of steel rails in England by Mr. Vanderbilt, says that while he has the right to buy rails where he pleases, "he has no right to injure American manufactures by giving false reasons" for his act. Mr. Vanderbilt claims that the English rails, although higher in price, are better in quality, but Mr. Morrell says they are not. The Philadelphia North American says: "We are inclined to suspect that the sensational purchase of 12,000 tons of English steel rails for the New York Central Railroad, on terms which were announced with such a flourish as exhibiting the alleged inferiority of the American to the English article, was really intended as the opening of a new aggressive campaign, in which the American markets are to be invaded by the great monopolists of the British iron and steel trades."

THEY'RE getting it down fine in Newark, New Jersey, the Sunday christians are. Not content with closing the saloons and cigar stores, they have even stopped the sale of daily newspapers. One of these fine days the people of this country, who are christians and don't need to belong to any church organization to make them so, will combine together and withdraw their patronage from the churches that don't mind their own business nor pay any taxes, nor preach any religion but themselves sanctified, and then it will be seen how they'll get along. It is safe to assert that a very large percentage of the money paid for the support of the churches is contributed by people whose business the members of those churches are striving their best to destroy. All business places ought to be closed on the Sabbath, in deference to the law, if for no other reason; but it smacks a little of the ridiculous when an attempt is made to suppress the sale of newspapers on that day.

MINOR TOPICS.

By a recent amendment to the postal law, postmasters will be compelled to receive three cent pieces for postage, unless the amount offered exceeds $3.

Mark Gray, the man who attempted to assassinate Edwin Booth at McVicker's theatre, Chicago, has been pronounced insane by a physician who has had much experience in such cases.

John P. Phair, who was recently hung in Vermont, asserted his innocence from the day he was arrested to his last hour on earth. Most people familiar with the case are convinced that an innocent man has been hung.

The secret service at Washington has come into possession of a counterfeit $20 United States legal tender note, which is so perfect that persons accustomed to handling such notes could easily be deceived by it. The most remarkable feature is that all the work on the note was done with pen and ink.

Hon. J. A. Hubbell, of this district, has been chosen chairman of the Republican Congressional committee, which, by the way, the MINING JOURNAL readily admits is a mighty good appointment for the republicans to make, and the 9th district ought to appreciate the honor.

Coldwater doesn't owe a cent, and has money on hand. Coldwater—"lemme see"—Oh yes, that's the name of a station on some railroad in lower Michigan that hasn't got credit enough to enable it to get into debt. Now here's Marquette—her credit is so good that she's able to owe almost as much as she would sell for.

Jas. R. Storrs, a Shiawassee county man (or brute) has been arrested on the double charge of bigamy, and incest with a daughter only 11 years of age. If guilty—well, just think of it—he can only be sent to the penitentiary instead of being subjected to surgical treatment which would render him forever harmless.

They all do it, if they get a chance. Henry Smith, a colored night watchman at the San Francisco mint, undertook to lay up treasures, not in heaven, but down in the earth of his adopted country, and remonstrated with a display of molecular christianity worthy of a layman. In other words, he gave the U. S. a sound drubbing, in honor of his adopted country, and Americans who are not Catholics will rather admire his style.

Mrs. Christy, wife of the Peruvian minister, ought to have insisted upon accompanying her young back to her country, instead of a dangerous country for susceptible young married men, just escaped from a long protracted honeymoon, and the young wife ought to have known better than to let him go alone to run the gauntlet of the dark eyed hours of guanadon.

A young lady named Miss Sarah Hall, an heiress to a small fortune, has been trying to follow the example of G. Hubbard's daughter who eloped with her father's coachman, by marrying a car driver named Bernard McDonald. We cannot blame the girls for selecting such husbands, as they are certainly more able to earn a livelihood than most of the aristocratic young men, and it would be far better for the country if there were more young ladies with such sensible views of life.

Mr. Dunston, a Clarkston, Mich., farmer, had a pet bull of which he was very proud. Thursday of last week, while he was leading the animal to water, by means of a rope attached to a ring in his nose, he broke away from and attacked him, inflicting injuries which resulted in his death the following day. His wife, hearing his cries, went to his assistance and was also knocked down, but was saved by a neighbor who rushed to the rescue with a fencerail, after which the amiable pet was shot.

An attempt was made to assassinate Edwin Booth at McVicker's theatre, Chicago, on Wednesday night, April 23d, as he was giving the soliloquy in the last act of Richard III. The would-be assassin states that his name is Mark Gray, that he is from Kookuk and is now traveling for a firm in St. Louis, but refuses to give any reason for the attempted murder, further than to assert that Booth wronged a friend of his once, and that he has for three years contemplated the deed. He was but thirty feet from Booth when he fired two shots. The audience remained, however, and the play proceeded to the end without further disturbance.

A young man named Godfried Heider, employed in the Cambria steel works, Johnstown, Pa., met with a horrible accident on the morning of the 24th, which resulted in his death on the evening of the same day. His death was caused by a mass of white hot "skull" metal, which fell about two tons falling upon him. When his fellow employes removed him from under the mass it was found that every particle of clothing was burned from his body, the hair was all scorched off his head, and his whole body was one horrible raw sore, and that his left thigh had been broken. He was carried to his home and remained unconscious to the time of his death.

It may not be necessary, but we will say it just the same, for the benefit of those whom it may concern—Mr. Swineford has not written a single line for the Menominee Range department of this paper, nor will he do so, unless it be over his own signature. That page, with the privilege of another, belongs exclusively to Mr. Bennett, and is absolutely under his editorial control, subject only to a right reserved by the publisher to reject any article calculated to injure the general circulation of the paper. So far as Mr. Buell is concerned, Mr. Swineford's oftening hath this extent, no more—he earnestly advised Mr. Bennett, in whom he feels considerable interest, against engaging in any sort of a controversy with Mr. Buell or any one else on the Range. He did not accept the advice, and must fight his own battles, which, by the way, we believe he is abundantly able to do. He certainly needs no help from any one at this end of the line.

The MINING JOURNAL only prints the following from a few of its exchanges to show how opinions differ—by way of contrast with the utterances of one or two envious little newspaper souls on the Upper Peninsula: A. P. Swineford offers the Marquette MINING JOURNAL establishment for sale. He does so, "being desirous of accepting an advantageous offer to enter a much wider journalistic field," "not being very anxious to sell, however, as he puts many ifs in the way, and says he will sell to any editor and publisher whom he may have reason to believe will be acceptable to his friends in Marquette, for whose long continued support and encouragement he is under grateful obligations." Just let us here suggest that he will look long before he finds a man who will, all things considered, edit and publish as good a paper as he has made the MINING JOURNAL for many years.—Greenville, Mich., Len.

THE MINING JOURNAL is offered for sale to a party having the needful, and who will satisfy the people by keeping up its present standard of excellence. The paper speaks for itself, and the job department is doing a large and lucrative business. Those who are informed that Mr. Swineford has an excellent offer in a southern state, which presents more extended advantages than the present one. The Iron Port will be sorry to lose the present able editor from the Upper Peninsula, but what would be a loss in that respect may be a corresponding gain to him. The offer of the sale of the establishment presents one of the most favorable opportunities in that line in the country. Iron Port.

Thank you, brother Atkinson; we mean just what we say in our advertisement, and so far as the business of the office is concerned, our books are open to the inspection of any would be purchaser. The offer to which brother A. alludes is, however, not the only one—and should we sell, we have the choice of very advantageous offers to assume the management of a daily paper in either one of two lake cities, and of one in a city on the Ohio river. We are not, however, sufficiently anxious to sell to offer our present business for anything less than it is worth—the small fry to the contrary notwithstanding.

Hon. A. P. Swineford, of Marquette, announces his desire to sell his paper, the MINING JOURNAL, with a view of entering a wider field of labor. But under no consideration will he sell to a party unworthy to do his shoes, or words to that effect. Well, Mr. S. will not have a very easy task of selling, then; for it is not every snail shell that can grow as good an editor as he.—Deperre (Wis.) News.

Swineford offers the Marquette JOURNAL for sale. We hope to our credit, for Lake Superior can't spare Swineford. Don't Mr. Swineford, don't go. Stick to your bush, old boy.—Ashland Press.

DRIFT.

The Cleveland Penny Press has been enlarged to six column paper—and yet, it's only "a little more for a cent."

A Lower Michigan political editor says he wears no man's collar. We presume not; he probably has none of his own, and his neighbors know him too well to lend him one.

A Mr. Harrington saved two cents' worth of postage by sending an obscene message through the mails on a postal card. Rather he thought he did, but it cost him a fine of $100 all the same.

Senator Chandler, it is said, offers to employ 100 of the flying darkeys on his Lansing farm. We can't see what else than genuine philanthropy can prompt him to do so—Michigan isn't a "doubtful state."

"Oh spring poet, tune up your lofty lyre," was what an exchange tried to say, and would have said, if the compositor and proof reader hadn't conspired to translate his manuscript thusly: "Oh, spring poet, tune up, you lofty lyre."

The editor of the Wheeling Sunday Leader threatened to pull up stakes and leave the town unless the people stopped whistling snatches from the Pinafore—and now men, women and children are whistling it, who never whistled it before.

There's a paper in the Upper Peninsula which is sent broadcast through the mails to people who never subscribed for and don't want it. The recipients thereof will, however, be compelled to pay for it all the same if they continue to take it from the postoffice.

It has been announced as something astonishing that Tennyson was paid $12.50 a line for his last poem. Ten is fooling away his time; the MINING JOURNAL pays more than that to a score of poets—and poetry is the cheapest literature it feeds upon.

A Detroit hotel runner was recently arrested charged with being a common drunkard. We don't have any common drunkards among ours here in Marquette, but there is one runner for a second rate bawling here, who ought to be arrested on the charge of being an uncommon low-lived sneak—he carries the proof of it in his countenance.

An exchange solves an important problem by the statement that a barrel will hold about 350 apples or potatoes of the average size. That's good, as far as it goes, but what a Menominee Range or Hancock editor most wants to know is, how many glasses of whisky the barrel will contain.

A very small amount of money invested in a very small newspaper, will often bankrupt the idiot who makes the investment under the impression that the possession of a seven by nine paper will enable him to control and direct the moral, social and political affairs of the neighborhood in which it is printed.

The Pittsburgh Commercial referring to the fact that eight Memphis widowers took out licenses to marry as many widows, in one day recently, remarks that "yellow fever makes strange bed-fellows." Does the Commercial mean to be understood as meaning that the eight couples would have been any less "strange bed-fellows" if they hadn't got married?

REPUBLIC.—We understand the company will begin to ship ore the early part of next week. Mr. Wm. Miller received a handsome little pleasure boat from L. Anse the other day, which will hereafter assist in adorning the classic waters hereabout.

Eric Erison, formerly with F. H. Kearney, returned from below lately, where he has been purchasing a full stock of gent's furnishing goods, which he will open up in a few days in the store room next to Gylling's old billiard hall.

Weinberg will remove from his present quarters in a day or two and occupy the store lately used by Gylling as a billiard hall.

Kearney is busy placing spring and summer stock on the shelves, of which (goods, not selves) he has a splendid lot. Call around and see about it.

Carl Weinberg, Esq., contemplates going into the drug business at Ishpeming, in partnership with Jos. Schaller, of Humboldt. He will, however, still retain his business here as well as his residence.

During the past week, to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Welch, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. John McGuire, a daughter; to Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Christie, a son. All well and happy.

Our young ladies would do well to address letters to their beaux before dropping them into the office. It would save considerable trouble to his deputyship.

The beautiful snow paid us a flying visit Tuesday last. Our friend Paul may be a first-class miner but he can't ride a saw-log worth a cent. For the dimensions in detail of the Cardiff giant we would refer you to our friend Johnson. The parties who went to the Magnet mine last Sunday would rather not be interviewed on the subject. Mark the difference: One young man takes his girl out for a walk, and she leaves him to come home alone; another young man takes his girl out for a walk and carries her home on his back. Messrs. were here the past week surveying in and about the mine, or making the preliminary survey of the Republic & Mackinac R. R., which? Rumor says that a walking match against time will be commenced here this evening at 10 o'clock, to continue 24 hours. Lord deliver us!

MICHIGAMME.—Navigation is open on our lake, and the first boat can come in as soon as she pleases.

A light fall of snow Tuesday made the streets muddy and disagreeable to pedestrians for a few hours.

Hon. W. H. Barnum and Jas. Rood, Esq., president and secretary of the Michigan company respectively, were here Tuesday and Wednesday looking over the mine.

David Morgan, Esq., president of the Republic Iron company, took a look over the mine Tuesday in company with Messrs. Barnum and Rood.

Mr. A. L. Johnson has brought a car load of cows from Oakfield, Wisconsin, and is selling them off rapidly. Who says Michigamme has no money left?

F. W. Reed & Co. are driving logs down the Peshecke river to the M. H. & O. track where they are to be loaded on cars and shipped to their Eagle Mill.

Isadore Le Clair has secured the contract for loading the stock pile at Spurr, which will be shipped as soon as navigation opens.

The Michigan company is shipping ore as fast as possible, via Escanaba.

The readers of the MINING JOURNAL have no doubt heard through this department of one Louis Knapp; most of the residents of this place know him personally, and if there is one among them who will not solemnly affirm, or swear, if need be, that he is a blowing braggart and mischief maker, and the most arrogant of cowards, then we will take some notice of his threats; but until then we don't consider it necessary to interview an undertaker.

And we have some farmers around Michigamme here, too. Ericson & Frisk, residents of this place, devote the greater part of their time in summer to the cultivation and improvement of their farm on section 25, town 18, range 31, Baraga county, where they grow oats, hay, corn, potatoes, turnips and other farm produce. They also have on their farm a horse power sweep which runs a threshing machine, a circular saw, a drag saw, and a shingle plane, the whole being the design of Mr. Ericson himself, who also built it, making everything but the iron used in its construction. The firm also deal extensively in wood.

FOR SALE CHEAP.—A complete outfit for a meat market. Time will be given for part of the money. Apply to Bernard Weber, Humboldt, or Jos. W. Roberts, Michigamme, Mich.

CONSUMPTION CURED.—An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, executed by George L. Beecher to Sadie J. S. Grinnell, and dated March 11th, 1871, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county of Marquette, state of Michigan, in liber 3 of mortgages, on pages 178, 179 and 180, on the 25th day of March, 1871, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due, the date of this notice, the sum of eighteen hundred and eight dollars, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof, Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage, which by said default has become operative, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, (or such part of them as shall be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, with 10 per cent. interest and legal costs, including an attorney's fee of one hundred dollars, covenanted for therein,) at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the 29th day of July next, at one o'clock in the afternoon, at the front door of the court house in the city of Marquette, in said county of Marquette, that being the place of holding the circuit court for said county; that is to say, the land described in said mortgage substantially as follows, to-wit: Lot number sixty, in block number three, in that part of said city known as "Dawson's Addition," a map of which is recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said county, to which record for further particulars reference is hereby made. SADIE J. S. DONALDSON, Formerly Sadie J. S. Grinnell, Mortgagee.
Dated May 3d, 1879.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY OF MARQUETTE, ss.—At a session of the probate court for the county of Marquette, held at the probate office, in the city of Marquette, on Tuesday, the twenty-ninth day of April, in the year one thousand, eight hundred and seventy-nine, present, Hon. Edward S. Hardy, judge of probate. In the matter of the estate of ELIZABETH ANN CRAIG, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of Thomas Craig, praying that a certain instrument now on file in this court, purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, be admitted to probate, and that Thomas Craig may be appointed executor thereof. Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday the twenty-ninth day of May, next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be held at the probate office, in the city of Marquette, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted; and it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons aforesaid, in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Marquette Journal, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county of Marquette, three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing.
(A TRUE COPY.) EDWARDS, HARDY, Judge of Probate.
E. S. Hardy.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by H. A. Downs to Hattie E. Wilkinson, dated October 14th, A. D. 1874, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county of Marquette and state of Michigan, on the fifteenth day of October, A. D. 1874, in liber 6 of mortgages, on page 114, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due, at the date of this notice, the sum of eight hundred and thirty-three and sixty-eight hundredths dollars and an attorney's fee of fifty dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Monday the fourth day of August, A. D. 1879, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, I shall sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the court houses, in the city of Marquette, Mich., that being the place where the circuit court for Marquette county is held, the premises described in said mortgage, and so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with 8 per cent. interest, and all legal costs, together with an attorney's fee of fifty dollars covenanted for therein, the premises being described in said mortgage as all that certain lot, piece and parcel of land situated in the city of Marquette, in the county of Marquette and state of Michigan, and known and described as follows: Sixty-six and two-thirds (66 2/3) feet off the east side of lot No. thirty-three (33) of Hewitt's addition to the village (now city) of Marquette, said mortgage having been given to secure a portion of the purchase money therefor; the said mortgage and amounts due thereon and secured thereby having been assigned to Lettie Dale Owen by assignment duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said county of Marquette.

NEGAUNEE.

The Leadville fever seems to be abating. LAKE SUPERIOR farmers have commenced their spring plowing.

If rumor speaks right, we are to have a wedding in this city to-day. The last remnants of the stock of Fitch Bros. was closed out early this week.

THERE is work in this locality for every man that wants to do anything. AND now they want to blame us for that snow storm this week—because we predicted it.

Mr. SUESS, of Milwaukee, of the firm of Winter & Sues, has been in town during the week.

The snows of winter don't obstruct the trains of Marquette county half as much as the cows of summer.

Rev. H. E. DAVIS will again hold Presbyterian services at Winter's hall to-morrow morning and evening.

NEXT week will be a lively one for the amusement loving public. A fair, a play and an opera are all on the tapis.

It is said that we are to have a pedestrian exhibition here soon, and that the driving park is to be the scene of the foolishness.

Now that the law says trout may be caught, no brook trout that knows his duty to his country should refuse to bite at the first opportunity.

MARQUETTE temperance howlers, at least one of them that we know of, don't refuse a glass of fresh, foaming lager while in Negaunee.

THE C. & N. W. R'y Co. have commenced work on the side track to the Manganese mine. It will connect with the Rolling Mill track.

FRANK MASSY is to start a new cigar manufactory in the small building adjoining the store formerly occupied by Seass in the same business.

A BURNING chimney in a house occupied by Thomas Ryan, on Peck street, caused an alarm of fire to be sounded and brought out the department last Sunday, about noon.

PERSONAL.—Hon. W. H. Barnum, of Connecticut, and Jas. Rood, of Chicago, were in the county this week inspecting their various iron mining interests in this region.

THE hens are sharpening up their claws for the spring's work. There will be lots of gardens to dig around in, and any quantity of seed to devour. It promises to be a very fruitful season for these fowls.

CHRIS. FOX goes up to the copper region with a lot of new harnesses for the denizens of that locality. He does a great deal of work for the people up there, which demonstrates that those people know where to get good work at reasonable rates.

AMATEUR DRAMA.—The juvenile amateur dramatic association will repeat the play "Among the Breakers" on one of the evenings of the forthcoming Episcopal church fair. If they do as well as when they first rendered the play, a good entertainment awaits all who attend.

OPENING.—Marsell & Co's grand annual opening occurs to-day, and by reference to their notice at the foot of these columns it will be seen that they invite the attention of ladies to their grand display. Mr. Marsell has just returned from below, and has brought with him the finest line of dry goods, etc., ever brought to this city, and has filled up his elegant store with such a handsome and rich display of goods as will cure any lady of sore eyes to look at. Miss Jennie Horrigan and sister will conduct the dressmaking department of this popular establishment.

MR. RICHARDSON, of the Lake Superior Carriage Works, will ship to the copper region next Monday, two car loads of buggies and carriages which he has manufactured for parties there. Among them is a large three seated carriage for James Pierce, of Hancock, which cost $550, and is one of the finest ever seen on the Peninsula. The vehicle is a piece of workmanship that the institution can feel justly proud of, and demonstrates what good work they can do. Persons desiring to purchase a buggy will find it much to their advantage to patronize this establishment, all the work of which is warranted, in preference to buying cheap stock brought up here by strangers, and which will surely turn out very dear in the end.

CHURCH FAIR.—A fair will be held by the ladies of the Episcopal congregation at Winter's hall Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of next week. As far as we can learn it will consist of the usual exhibition of fancy work, raffles, suppers, &c., besides the reproduction of the play "Among the Breakers" by the same parties who played it so satisfactorily last fall. The play will be given Friday, the last night of the fair. The Episcopal ladies are noted for their energy in getting up fairs and suppers, and they always make them entertaining to all who attend. We hope to see a good turnout, and that the citizens will exhibit their accustomed liberality.

IN LIMBO.—Arthur E. Delf, who was so penitent and made such great promises of reform, when caught trying to burglarize Mr. Gannon's residence a year ago, and who was let off under suspended sentence, has resumed his crooked ways, and is now on the high road to the state prison. He was sent to the Ann Arbor university after being let off here, where he was recently caught stealing specimens from the university cabinet and selling them. He and his pal were bound over for trial the other day in the sum of $1,000. There will be no suspended sentence this time, and the young thief will have to suffer the penalty of his transgressions.

FIRE.—The "white house" is no more; it burned to the ground at 2 o'clock Monday morning. When the fire was discovered a general alarm was sounded, but the engine was not taken out. Three or four persons went out to the scene of the fire and got there just in time to see the last remnant of this historic building succumb to the flames. The house was unoccupied, but was not long to remain so. It was used every summer as a miners' boarding house, and some parties were to have moved into it the very day it was destroyed. The building was a very desirable one for a boarding house, and there was a sort of squabble among several parties for the possession of it. It is openly asserted that it was an incendiary fire, and it surely looks very much that way. An untenanted building, standing alone in the woods, is not very liable to burn down in the dead of night, unless set on fire. With the burning of the "white house" one of the oldest land marks of this city has disappeared. The building was the oldest one in this neighborhood, and has quite an interesting history. It was built about 25 years ago, by a wealthy man from Kentucky, as a summer resort for a daughter in failing health. The lumber used in its construction was hauled by wagon from Marquette through the dense forests. That was many years before there was any such place as Negaunee. The first summer after being finished it was occupied for the purpose for which it was built, but never after. According to the story the fair invalid died before another summer came around, and the owner of the house never occupied it afterwards. It remained vacant until the labor riots twelve years after, when it was used as barracks for the soldiers that were sent here to preserve order. When they left, the house again remained untenanted until the Teal lake mines were opened, when it was utilized every summer as a miners' boarding house. It stood upon a beautiful and romantic spot on the edge and overlooking the lake, and must have been strangely beautiful and romantic to its occupants during that summer, so many years ago, when the stillness of the surroundings were broken only by the faint ripple of the waters, the moaning of the winds, the singing of the birds by day and the screech of the owls by night. It was always an objective point with summer ramblers and picnic parties. Many are the loving couples that have wandered out to this old landmark through the woods, or rowed over the lake to it. Many were the names recorded on its woodwork and plastered walls by men and women long forgotten. Some were written with pencil, some with chalk and some engraved in the wood; but they were to be seen all over the house, inside and out. It derived its name from being painted white, which made it very prominent in contrast with the dark green surroundings. Teal Lake will appear rather odd for awhile with the "white house" gone. The destruction of this old landmark is to be regretted, and whoever set it on fire ought to be pitched headlong into the middle of the lake with a heavy stone tied to his neck.

LADIES, remember the grand opening of dry goods and millinery at Marsell & Co's this day, Saturday. Great reductions have been made in every department. Attend the opening and get the new prices. Also reopening of our dress making department by Miss Jennie Horrigan and sister. Call around and look at our line display.

THE GENUINE DR. C. McLANE'S Celebrated American WORM SPECIFIC OR VERMIFUGE.

Symptoms of Worms. The countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a knowing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hic-cough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c. Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist, Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge will certainly effect a cure. It does not contain mercury in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine Dr. McLane's Vermifuge bears the signatures of C. McLane and Fleming Bros. on the wrapper.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER. No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. As a simple purgative they are unequalled.

Beware of Imitations. The genuine are never sugar coated. Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression Dr. McLane's Liver Pills.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLane and Fleming Bros. Insist upon having the genuine Dr. C. McLane's Liver pills, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane spelled differently but same pronunciation.

BULLOCK'S LATEST IMPROVED DIAMOND POINTED ROCK DRILLS.

(Under Leachot's Patents) for Prospecting, mining, shafting, tunneling, draining, quarrying and sub-marine blasting. The accompanying cut represents my new drill, "The Little Champion," for shafting or underground prospecting. This machine has ALL OF MY LATEST IMPROVEMENTS.

Including Trunk Engines with balanced slide valves to use either steam or compressed air economically. It has also my "Pat. Hinged Swivel Head," "Pat. Thrust Register," (for indicating the thickness of each strata,) "Pat. Roller Thrust Bearing," and "Pat. method of changing the feed while the drill is running."

The drill rods are all fitted with "Pat. Bayonet clutch couplings," which uncouple by giving the rods one-fourth of a turn. The HIGHEST TESTIMONY AWARDED THEM FOR RAPIDITY OF EXECUTION AND ECONOMY OVER ANY OTHERS IN USE.

For prospecting, these drills accomplish the most IMPORTANT RESULTS otherwise wholly unobtainable. By their use only can mines be penetrated to a depth of from one to TWO THOUSAND FEET through the HARDEST ROCK, at any angle, taking out a core the entire depth, fully developing the strata passed through. My large and extended experience as Supt. of the Penna. Diamond Drill Company and the General Superintendent of the American Diamond Drill Company, of New York, and afterwards of the American Rock Boring Company, of Providence, R. I., has given me a thorough knowledge of the requirements of this business, and enabled me to IMPROVE and PERFECT my drills, and adapt them to the peculiar character of the work for which EACH STYLE of machine is especially designed, and I have no hesitation in pronouncing them far superior to anything that has yet been put in the market.

Catalogues and prices sent on application. Personal attention given to contracts taken for testing the value of mines and quarries at a stipulated price per foot. Satisfaction guaranteed. AGENT FOR Harris Double-Acting Plunger Steam Pump.

Simplicity and durability combined, best in use. Send for catalogue. Water's Perfect Engine Governor. Most durable and economical Governor ever invented. Dealer in all kinds of mining machinery, air compressors, etc. Wood and iron working machinery. Leather and rubber belting and Hose. Steam engines, boilers, fittings, etc. Write for what you want. The Menominee Ranger.

P. J. BENNETT, Editor. Devoted to the interests of the Menominee Iron Range. [Saturday, May 3, 1879]

BOWLERS.

—Escanaba loafers claim to be thorough-bred men.

—Gibbs, of Escanaba, has the refusal of another dog.

—Young man, it's better to be in a tight place than in a place tight.

—If old age is honorable, Buell, of Quinnesec, must be awful young.

—The "Triumph" hat is considered beautifully appropriate for brides.

—Sandal slippers will be worn by Escanaba ladies during the coming summer.

—Should the rush for the RANGER continue we'll have to print an extra Sunday edition.

—When a man says his is a double XX horse, be sure it isn't a saw horse, before you trade.

—The reason some people don't speak their mind is because they have no mind to speak.

—The only way you can account for it is that the Vulcan girls eat so many buckwheat pancakes.

—Lying Buell, of Quinnesec, can play "draw," but can never draw a sober breath, some way.

—Escanaba infidels loaf around and keep the Sabbath day holy, just the same as Christians.

—An Escanaba old maid writes us to know if marriages are really made in heaven. She says she's not afraid to die.

—Buell, of Quinnesec, will never be a credit to himself while he is a credit-or of so many others.

—As a last resort an Escanaba old maid has bought a clothing sign and taken it to her home.

—Now, then, you Escanaba fellows, pay your bets on the opening of navigation and be ready to bet on the close of it.

—The specimen fiend is abroad in the land at Waucesdah, seeking what gold and silver specimens he may devour.

—Very particular ladies affect the Primrose bonnet, and do not think it proper to wear undressed kid gloves.

—A Vulcan man who married a woman who was all the world to him, says he finds that she is a world of trouble, the same as the original.

—Buell can tell one thousand consecutive lies in one thousand consecutive seconds, "like as you please," with a new road on which to do it.

—When Escanaba girls sing canary birds throw themselves full length on the bottom of their cages and poke each other in the ribs with glee.

—The meekest man lives at Vulcan. He whipped his boy the other day for breaking a dozen eggs going over the township road that Buell built.

—It's a mighty good thing that music has charms to soothe the savage breast, for the average girl who plays it now-a-days hasn't charms enough to soothe anything.

—The ice has left the harbor.

—And Escanaba's glad!

—But the Tilden isn't open.

—And Escanaba's mad.

—Sitting Buell, of Quinnesec, calls us a vulgure. He probably got the idea from the way we are pecking at a fellow about his size, who is politically and morally dead.

—Escanaba girls are about the only persons in the town who don't make a great fuss over the opening of navigation. They have seen navigation open so many times that they have become used to it.

—The ballot falls as light and still.

—As dew drops fall upon the sods.

—Yet executes a freeman's will——Prevents Buell from building roads.

—Sitting Buell says we are a map-scraper.

—We'd rather be a map-scraper and live on the vapors of a dungeon than run for highway commissioner and be beat over four to one by the other fellow.

—An Escanaba young man takes his girl along to spit on his book when he goes fishing. The fish fairly cry for the bait, and he has contracted to furnish all the boarding houses with speckled trout this summer, provided his girl's spit holds out.

—John 'll Buell says he's spent as much money in the Menominee range as any man of his means. He has, he has. Spent more in the way of exploring, for instance, than any ten men of his means.

—A Quinnesec girl has to wear hoops to keep her toes from sticking out beyond her dress. If her feet grow much larger she'll have to petition the legislature for a right of way.

—An analysis of the average Escanaba girl gives the following result:

A SUMMER IDYL AT ESCANABA.

She was such a stylish beauty—
It was in the pale starlight,
Louis met her on the beach in the evening,
And loved her at first sight.

Oh! but Steggle made a sensation
Whenever he did appear
With this dashing belle from Ann Arbor
At Wagner's, taking beer.

The summer days like birds flew by,
As lightly and as free,
Louis learning French from Helen
And saying, "ma chere amie."

For her he wore a swallow-tailed coat,
He waltzed and drank champagne,
'Till he tried to unlock the door of his shop
With the top of a "swell" switch cane.

One day he offered her his heart
And a silver butter knife;
But Helen replied, "I am engaged,
And cannot be your wife."

He followed her around the room
Weeping, on bended knees—
"Don't be so silly," said Helen,
"Some one's coming, arise, if you please."

"Oh! why did she flatter my boyish pride,"
Said Steg, as he rose to depart—
"She spoke of my German accent sweet,
This woman without a heart."

Near by he met a chum who said,
"How's Helen? You look confused,"
"Well, her father wants me to marry her,
And I—you see—refused."

—In the sanctum of the Port,
Softly whistling "Hold the Fort,"
Reads the scribe with exultation
A new scheme of fertilization;
Reads of the growth of the festive pea,
Reads and thinks the world shall see
Agri—culture is the culture for me.

ESCANABA.

Richard Dodge, our pedestrian, returned home from Ishpeming on Sunday, where he made 107 1/2 miles in twenty-four hours. He looks somewhat jaded from his long tramp, but began arrangements by telegraph immediately for a walk of one hundred miles in 24 hours at Green Bay for a purse of $50 and gate money. He said he was used splendid in Ishpeming, but did not make any money.

The firm of Winegar, Miller & Co., general forwarding and commission merchants and agents for the Goodrich line of steamers and marine insurance union, is one of the biggest and most reliable in the country, and has headquarters on the docks at the foot of Tilden avenue. Fresh and salt fish, provisions, etc., by wholesale, is one of its specialties. The firm own two large tugs which are engaged in fishing and trading during the season of navigation, and make lots of money.

Navigation opened Friday, and all the bets have been decided, if not paid. The Goodrich steamer Menominee was the first boat of the season to come crashing through the ice. The bay and lake is now clear of ice as far as the eye can reach, and the puffing of the locomotives and the rumbling of the ore trains on the docks, the rattling of the ore into the vessels, the rattled shouts of captains and sailors, are once more heard in the land. Everything denotes a busy season of navigation for Escanaba.

STRAWBERRIES.

Sweet berries! luscious, rosy red,
Upon cool dew and sunshine fed,
Where you are found the fairest?
Is it when torn from your native vine,
And sent to some less sunny clime,
You are sweetest, being rarest?

Ah, no, in some meadow sunny and old,
Where your transient blossoms first unfold,
And leaves are tinted rarest;
Ripening where the scent of the wild rose
Lingers,
And picked by childish eager fingers,
Berries are sweetest, fairest.

Will the town board please arise and report why it doesn't have the streets cleaned and macadamized? Does it think we're Irish? This kind of thing is played out, town board. The RANGER won't have it as long as it has a single lung with which to raise its voice against it. You are there to look after the best interests of the town, and these demand that the streets be cleaned and macadamized. We are free from debt and can afford to make these needed improvements. Are you going to make them? Don't let the RANGER have to draw your attention to it again or you'll be sorry for it. It's not afraid to talk to you, town board.

WAUCEDAH.

New quarters for the postoffice are being fitted up by postmaster Gifford in his old boarding house building, next to his hotel. John K. Stack having removed his entire stock of goods out of his store and taken them to Escanaba, left the postoffice alone in the building, and postmaster Gifford becoming lonesome has set to work to fix up new quarters preparatory to removing, after which Stack's store building will be entirely vacant.

Waucesdah housewives having a love for the beautiful in nature, may now be seen daily with their sleeves rolled up and sun-bonnets on, making flower gardens. When it comes to making flower gardens Waucesdah women are by far the stronger sex.

A charity ball was given in Waucesdah last week, for the benefit of a poor family, at which all, down to the stingiest man and woman, were in attendance. The poor family are poor no more for awhile. Waucesdah people have hearts in them as big as canal forties.

And now the Waucesdah maiden members forth at sunrise, when the early bird catches the first worm, to pick May flowers for the dinner table; or her fell's button hole. What is prettier than a Waucesdah girl picking May flowers! Certainly not a cow eating hay. She stops, stoops, her fairy fingers bend and snap the tender stem of the blossom until a bunch has been picked. Nature furnishes her a string in the shape of a trailing arbutus, and this she winds around the slender stems. Then hold of and pulling a cord, the doors to this department flew open and out rushed the horses instantaneously, four in number, and took their places in front of the fire engine, all ready to be hooked on. At an order from Mr. Stephenson they returned in regular order to their stalls once more, and the doors were again closed on them. "They come out better when the bell is rung," said Mr. Stephenson to us. And then addressing Hank he said, "Take hold of the rope and ring the bell while I open the doors and show him how they come out then." This was done; the horses came bounding to their places in front of the fire engine in an instant, with extended nostrils and flashing eyes. At a word from Mr. S. they stood as mute and still as a man expecting to be discharged, and when he said to one of them, holding down his head, "take off my cap," the animal lost no time in doing it. The horses seem to be almost human, being as well trained as firemen, which fact reflects great credit on Mr. Stephenson, their trainer. They are heavy animals, massive in build, the two teams weighing about 5,000 pounds. Edward Benthouse is driver, and Nelson Graham engineer of the fire engine, both of whom are experienced firemen.

The engine house at the Quinnesec mine has been completed. The roof is of sheet iron.

Messrs. McKenna and O'Callaghan, of Quinnesec, returned home from Milwaukee the latter part of last week, where they had been negotiating for the sale of their valuable mine. The sale was not made.

Messrs. McKenna and O'Callaghan, of Quinnesec, returned home from Milwaukee the latter part of last week, where they had been negotiating for the sale of their valuable mine. The sale was not made.

Pumping and hoisting from No. 1 pit at the Cyclops mine, with the new engine, was begun Wednesday of last week. Forty cars a day are being shipped from this and the Norway mine.

The Diamond drill explorations in the hill west of the Vulcan mine proper had revealed no ore up to the time of our visit Wednesday morning. They had bored through one hundred and eleven feet of rock, mostly mixed.

John L. Buell has disposed of his interest in the McKenna mine to McCartney, of Marquette, for a consideration of $10,000. Mr. Buell has discovered a large deposit of fine ore on a Canal forty close to Quinnesec, which we intend visiting and inspecting next week, when we will have something further to say about it.

Curry & Swift are still carrying on explorations on Sec. 9, near the Vulcan mine, where they have discovered a large deposit of blue ore, an analysis of which gives equally as fair a percentage of metallic iron as the ores from most mines on the range. Stripping for mining will be commenced when a side track 1,200 feet in length to the railroad will have been procured.

Wendel & Maas, who have been carrying on explorations on section 2, about a mile east from Quinnesec, have struck ore similar to the Emmett at a depth of about two feet from the surface. It appears to be an extensive deposit. The location of the new find is distant from the railroad about a quarter of a mile north. The property is owned by F. M. Moore, Esq., of Marquette, from whom Wendel & Maas have an option for a lease of twenty years.

The Saginaw Mining company has leased the Hamilton & Merryman mining property adjoining the Norway, on which considerable exploring has been done, and has commenced mining. It has been fully and satisfactorily determined that two veins of ore, of great width and length, exist—one of slate and the other of hard steely ore. A side track from the railroad will be built on the west of the location. Capt. Mitchell is in charge.

Now that his treachery and lying has been proved, John L. Buell, of Quinnesec, has nothing to say, but resorts to low personalities and threatens to attack the character of a prominent and trustworthy mine superintendent and explorer whose record is irreproachable, and whose name we hold too sacred to be mentioned in connection with his own. Just what Buell's opinion in the matter would be worth is hard to imagine, as he is known as a chronic, incurable liar, and as one who makes a specialty of being a damphool in all things pertaining to mining explorations. As a man who has sunk pits and shafts, or more properly speaking, cellars and wells, all over the country until it isn't safe for any one to walk out at night, and found more specimens and less iron ore than any ten mining superintendents and explorers on the range, he had better hold his peace.

W. W. Felch, Esq., has begun the erection of a building 22x36, which will be occupied as a barber shop, restaurant and residence. See how Bill Dickie, who was recently elected highway commissioner by a large majority, we don't know you personally, but would warn you against John L. Buell, the bull-dozer. He's trying to lead you by the nose into the construction of that pet new road of his by his soft-toned flattery. You are an honest man, we know, but bull-dozing is bull-dozing, and—John L. Buell is John L. Buell.

Terry Hanley, of Marquette, has taken up his residence in Quinnesec, and though he was lonesome the first two or three evenings of his sojourn here, he is now happy and contented. With "Ted," Quinnesec can boast of the first-class bartender and best fellow in the county. Quinnesec is being built up rapidly. New buildings are springing up all over the town site as if by magic. Not a vacant house in town, but many crowded almost to suffocation. The streets are crowded with visitors, capitalists, prospectors and others, daily. Quinnesec is the Chicago of the Menominee range, and must eventually be a large and prosperous city.

While in Menominee the other evening we were let into the inner secrets of the fire-engine house by Bob Stephenson, who is named after a big, and Hank O. Fife, one of the foremost editors in the Upper Peninsula. The fire engine is probably the largest and best on the Upper Peninsula, weighing 7,500 pounds, and is of the Amoskeag, Manchester, N. H., manufacture. Entering the engine house Mr. Stephenson located us in a corner where could be had a commanding view of the department wherein the horses were kept, and he, taking hold of and pulling a cord, the doors to this department flew open and out rushed the horses instantaneously, four in number, and took their places in front of the fire engine, all ready to be hooked on. At an order from Mr. Stephenson they returned in regular order to their stalls once more, and the doors were again closed on them. With "Ted," Quinnesec can boast of the first-class bartender and best fellow in the county. Quinnesec is being built up rapidly. New buildings are springing up all over the town site as if by magic. Not a vacant house in town, but many crowded almost to suffocation. The streets are crowded with visitors, capitalists, prospectors and others, daily. Quinnesec is the Chicago of the Menominee range, and must eventually be a large and prosperous city.

While in Menominee the other evening we were let into the inner secrets of the fire-engine house by Bob Stephenson, who is named after a big, and Hank O. Fife, one of the foremost editors in the Upper Peninsula. The fire engine is probably the largest and best on the Upper Peninsula, weighing 7,500 pounds, and is of the Amoskeag, Manchester, N. H., manufacture. Entering the engine house Mr. Stephenson located us in a corner where could be had a commanding view of the department wherein the horses were kept, and he, taking hold of and pulling a cord, the doors to this department flew open and out rushed the horses instantaneously, four in number, and took their places in front of the fire engine, all ready to be hooked on. At an order from Mr. Stephenson they returned in regular order to their stalls once more, and the doors were again closed on them. "They come out better when the bell is rung," said Mr. Stephenson to us. And then addressing Hank he said, "Take hold of the rope and ring the bell while I open the doors and show him how they come out then." This was done; the horses came bounding to their places in front of the fire engine in an instant, with extended nostrils and flashing eyes. At a word from Mr. S. they stood as mute and still as a man expecting to be discharged, and when he said to one of them, holding down his head, "take off my cap," the animal lost no time in doing it. The horses seem to be almost human, being as well trained as firemen, which fact reflects great credit on Mr. Stephenson, their trainer. They are heavy animals, massive in build, the two teams weighing about 5,000 pounds. Edward Benthouse is driver, and Nelson Graham engineer of the fire engine, both of whom are experienced firemen.

The engine house at the Quinnesec mine has been completed. The roof is of sheet iron.

Messrs. McKenna and O'Callaghan, of Quinnesec, returned home from Milwaukee the latter part of last week, where they had been negotiating for the sale of their valuable mine. The sale was not made.

Pumping and hoisting from No. 1 pit at the Cyclops mine, with the new engine, was begun Wednesday of last week. Forty cars a day are being shipped from this and the Norway mine.

L'ANSE.—The mail steamer Ivanhoe, plying between here and Houghton, was the first to put in an appearance at this port this season, arriving Friday last, and making the trip in three hours and thirty minutes. She went up Saturday, and has since been making regular trips. The officers are the same as last year, with the exception of the clerk.

We learn that H. A. Downs, Esq., has leased the railroad building here, which he will fit up and occupy as a hotel, and that he has already shipped a car load of furniture here for that purpose. We are aware of the fact that he is anxious to engage in such a venture, and that he has been backward and forward between here and Marquette for the past week or two, with a view to leasing, but are unable to say whether he has succeeded, but if he has, we wish him all success in the venture.

A farewell party was given at the residence of James Bendy, Esq., Baraga, on Friday evening of last week, in honor of the departure for Houghton of Mr. Lyons, who has been Mr. Bendy's book-keeper the past winter. A pleasant time was had by all.

Samuel Lloyd, Esq., proprietor of the Lloyd house, is engaged creating a lawn on the north side of his caravansary, scattering a few flower beds around therein, and building a rustic summer house. When these improvements are completed they will greatly add to the appearance of the premises.

Nicholas Naugast, formerly operator here for the railroad company, has secured a position as book-keeper with James Bendy, the tuggist.

Mr. Chas. Cummings, of Marquette, arrived here Monday last, and assumed the duties of principal of our graded school Tuesday morning, having passed the necessary examination in a very creditable manner.

Jim Welch's good man Friday, the "song and dance man," got excited Thursday morning and made an assault on one of our merchants. Too much benzine, probably.

Three or four car loads of pile timber which had lain here a couple of days, was taken down the road yesterday morning by the M. H. & O. R. B. company, to be used in the construction of a side track to the Manganeze mine.

Bendy's saw mill, at Baraga, has been undergoing a complete overhauling during the past few weeks, and is now about ready for business. We believe it is the intention to start the saws Monday next.

J. P. Bray, formerly station agent at Champion, but recently of Colorado, arrived here Thursday to do the telegraphing for the M. H. & O. company.

Win. Miller, who recently left here for Republic, has purchased the sail boat that Chas. Barely used at one time to go and see his girl in. It was shipped to him Thursday.

This has been a hard spring for lumbermen, after all—at least for some of them. Sam Bevin and Mallette & Perrault returned from their drives this week, after an unsuccessful attempt to get their logs down. Robinson has got through all right, making the drive in 114 days, being the fastest ever made on the Sturgeon river. Louis Lachapelle is still in Silver Creek, but at last accounts was within half a mile of the Sturgeon, and is expected to get down without any trouble. The two first named can do nothing now but pray for rain.

The debating society held its last discussion for the season Tuesday evening last, and then adjourned to Thursday evening, when a business meeting was held for the purpose of straightening up their affairs.

CHAMPION.—The mine squared its monthly pay roll Wednesday.

All the miners and workmen who come along just now find employment here.

Doutman & Watkins are placing their spring stock of dry goods on the shelves. It is complete in every particular.

Wm. Andrews is improving the appearance of his two houses here by the application of a coat of paint. Many others would be the better for the like attention.

Richard S. Fay and Mr. Brown, of the Champion Iron company, took a look over the mine Monday and Tuesday.

Two of our band boys, John Blaney and Joe Wasley, left last week for Colorado, where we hope they will make their fortunes and as many friends as they left behind them here.

Our brass band, in which we at one time took considerable pride, is now completely disbanded, owing to the departure for other climes of a number of the musicians.

Chas. Gustafson and P. J. Anderson, left last week for Rush City, Minn., with the intention of locating among the grungers.

Mrs. John Hill and family will leave Monday next for New Almaden, Cal., where they intend to reside permanently. All our citizens unite in wishing them the most unbounded success in their new home.

We were at a loss to know why Van took so many trips to Ishpeming of late, but the cause has at last been explained, and is as follows: Born on Sunday, April 30th, to Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Van Brocklin, a boy, weight not ascertained—but we'll bet our last year's but the happy father has gained at least a dozen pounds since the occurrence.

A stranger coming to Champion and noticing the town hall would at once form the opinion that it was about to be removed to some other location, or else had been raised for the purpose of building a solid foundation under it, such is the number and variety of blocks and braces on which it rests. Such, however, is not the case, but the last named improvement should be made at the earliest possible moment.

As it now stands it is an eye-sore alike to strangers and residents.

Playing "trotter" is now the favorite pastime with our young ladies. Such a pastime is ungraceful enough among children, and on a narrow plank at that, but when it comes to being practiced by grown-up young ladies on a plank two feet wide, it becomes simply disgraceful, besides affording lookers-on of the male persuasion a golden opportunity to note the latest styles and lengths of ladies' nose.

Gardening has commenced, our friend McKay leading off with one of gigantic proportions, the product of which it will be impossible for him to consume alone. What better sign of a wedding do you want?

P. J. Noonan, station agent here during the winter, has gone back to his old love at Marquette, and is succeeded by Thos. Wallaco, formerly operator at Ishpeming.

Births—To Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tonville, on the 14th ult., a boy; to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey, on the 21st ult., a girl; to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hogan, on the 23rd ult., a boy; to Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, on the 30th ult., a surprise party in the shape of a baby, sex unknown—to us, you know.
