CITY AND COUNTY.

The small engine at the water works is being repaired, the large Holly machine doing the business meantime.

The light house glims, at this port, were brightly beaming last Wednesday evening, for the first time this season.

Now then, Mr. Mayor, let's have a general cleaning up of the streets preparatory to the influx of summer visitors.

A. R. GRAY, the Houghton condensed pencil pusher and quill driver, was in the city visiting friends early in the week.

The harvest of white fish has begun in earnest, and the fisherman look and feel better, for it's "boom," you know.

The "boom" has reached the peaceful village of Chocoma—its a log boom, and only extends across the mouth of the river.

Look at Neuberger's new advertisement on 8th page. He's the boss advertiser as well as the boss clothier of Marquette.

One train begins to roll into this city, and the first boat of the season will receive its cargo quicker than you can say Jack Robinson.

A. A. RIFKA, Esq., who has been spending the winter season in the eastern cities returned to his home in this city on Tuesday last.

"CAPT." J. J. FINNEY, of Lake Antoine, is visiting friends in this city. We hear he has got something worth "millions in it." Is it so Jud?

O. S. BOND, president of the Merchants and Clerks' Savings Bank, Toledo, Ohio, is in the district looking after his interests hereabouts.

PENDILL's team furnished the regular runaway excitement this week. Slight damage to wagon and no insurance. Verdict—an accident, caused by too much oats.

JOSEPH H. PRIMEAU, ex-recorder and ex-justice of the peace, has disposed of his saloon, goods and chattels, but what he will engage in next depends on the wind.

CAPT. DIXON, the Lake Superior veteran who was master of the propeller Webb at the time she was wrecked in Waiskai Bay, died recently in Detroit, at the age of 66.

The republican county convention to choose six delegates to the state convention, has been called to meet at the Nelson house, Ishpeming, next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Prof. Chas. Cavis gave a farewell reception to his scholars and friends at his music rooms on Washington street, last Wednesday evening. The rooms were full, and there was lots of fun at the wake.

C. H. CALL, Esq., has purchased five new draught horses, for use at the powder mill and nitro-glycerine works. They are as fine looking animals as have appeared on the streets of Marquette in many a day.

You can pay your money and take your choice—of the widely different opinions concerning the theatrical troupe now in the upper peninsula, as expressed by our Ishpeming and Escanaba editors, respectively.

As we have no regularly employed city carriage crows, wouldn't it be wise to employ a few temporary ones to clean up these streets of ours? They are reeking with filth. Will the city fathers look after the matter?

A HOUSE full of Mr. George Wagner's friends skipped the tra-la-loo, at his residence last Tuesday night, to music furnished by Derago and Johnson. The shrill clarion of the cock at break of day dispersed the happy group.

If the city authorities don't repair those steps leading from Blecker to Lake street soon, they will be paying "Skip" Sancier, or some other lucky "Valley snipe" $10,000 "reward" for falling down and breaking his peg. Stranger things than that are liable to happen.

THE EVERETT block is receiving a new suit of clothes, all paint, and two blocks wide. It will look better—it couldn't look worse. Several other blocks in the city might be improved in the same way; they might get struck by lightning, too; but it's not probable that either of these accidents will happen to them.

MR. JNO. LAWLOB, K. C. B., has invented a new camera, and will go into the photograph business. We understand it is a great success, one of our leading citizens having been under its fire. The only difficulty Mr. Lawlob will encounter in getting the thing patented, will be to get his model into the space required by law.

CINDERS.

Picnics are ripening and will soon be ready to pick.

Men may live and men may die, but what we want to know is, if these infernal presidential literary bureaus are to be perpetuated forever?

They do say that Ishpeming has a milliner who can swear fluently in four or five different languages—and yet she has never mastered more than one tongue.

Procrastination is the soul of wit; but for all that, it's Cinders' candid opinion that brook trout won't be ready to pick before the first of June, if this weather lasts.

Cinders has heard of many transformations of names of men, places and things, but to hear a "monastery" called a "monkey," as he did a day or two since, rather gets him.

As the size decreases the cost increases—spring bonnets, we mean. The latest style is about the size of a china teacup minus a handle, but the items of cost fill a half sheet bill-head, all the same.

Talk about your "bed of roses!" they ain't a circumstance compared to the couch of fragrant cowslips Cinders saw a Marquette man lying down upon and swearing about at the upper end of Front street the other day.

The early bird has put in his appearance—in search of the traditional worm, most probably—but he'll be badly fed, for the small boy has a corner on the eminent advent of the trout season.

The Marquette small boy has put away his marbles and has taken to base ball. There are no less than twenty-five juvenile base ball organizations in the city at the present time, and the town isn't half organized, either. "Oh, balls!"

It is now that the merry housewife erects her ash-barrel in the back yard, collects all manner of grease, starts her smudge, and well—starts opposition to his royal nibs, Mr. Dosssey, in the manufacture of soft soap.

As spring approaches just so sure does the frost-headed old maid cast off her last winter's rolls of false hair and once more try to act the part of the light-hearted, empty-headed gayer. Sure sign of spring, boys, when you see those heads flying light.

Recent careful research has developed the fact that the boy didn't stand on the burning deck after all; on the contrary, he hopped around all the time like a chestnut on a hot skillet, wondering why the devil the old man should want him to stay until he was transformed into a cinder.

Cinders ventures to suggest that unless that Cozzens house is soon re-opened for the benefit of the public, it ought to be fenced in and appropriately labeled "somebody's folly." As it stands, it's getting to be more of an eyesore to the Marquette public than the old Tibbits ever was.

There was but one resident of Duluth below the rank of captain and he died recently, having acquired no higher distinction than the prefix of "Hon." What Duluth wants is fewer generals, colonels, majors, captains, &c., and more high privates—provided one of the latter are editors, such as she now has.

The question now is, whether pedestrians have any right to the sidewalk which the idiot on a bicycle is bound to respect? The dealer who imported the latest new fangled infernal machine of the kind into Marquette can have but one consolation—it wasn't necessary to import the idiots along with them. A ten dollar bill wouldn't tempt Cinders to shoulder the fearful responsibility that dealer has taken upon himself, both here and in the great hereafter.

One of the ex-directors now walks the streets with a blooded rat-terrier for a companion. One day this week the dog nabbed a big fat rat while perambulating Front street, which he laid at his master's feet, like a good dog that he is. The master had that rat in his coat pocket quicker than the orthodox hot place could scorch a feather.

Cinders couldn't understand why Jerry looked so much better fed than his former associates, but now he knows all about it.

"She never told her love" the fellow smelt a nice and left for Minnesota just a day and a half before the dawn of the year which gave her the yearning for privilege; and now his carnalized like a worm in a rotten apple preys upon her damaged cheek, which ere another moon shall waste will be laid on some other manly bosom, there to sob away the last lingering spark of a first love in the delights of a second—provided they don't all run away.

In war times it was no uncommon thing to punish a man found sleeping at his post with death; but holy horrors! to lock an unoffending billiard hall proprietor into his room, blow the lights out and skip, leaving him no pay for his game, and all for the simple offense of laying himself out on a chair and going snoring, snoring, fast asleep while watching uninteresting games, beats anything yet recorded. Yet such was the punishment some Marquette youths meted out to a certain billiard hall proprietor the other evening.

As Cinders was passing along Lake street the other morning he met a man subject of his royal "political nibs." Mr. Lorne, who had evidently been climbing on the outside of considerable bad whisky the night before; at any rate, if it wasn't whisky that ailed him, he was terribly off his feed, for he mistook Cinders for a life saving apparatus. "My friend," said he, "you have it in your power to save my life." Cinders informed him that it was not in his line of business, but if he had his mule near at hand, he would say it, if by so doing he could prolong his stay among us. He didn't ave henny mule or 'orse—all he wanted was a dime to purchase a drink with which to brace up his shattered nerves. This makes exactly seven lives we have saved in this manner since last Sunday, and it's getting a little transparent. It ain't the business of a newspaper reporter to save, but to destroy such lives; and the next bumper that applies will be used as a subject for Cinders to test the question whether annihilation is possible in Marquette.

"Before this meeting begins its business," said president Billy Roberts, last Wednesday evening, "I will take occasion to say to John Crow, that if he expects my stomach to perform its ordinary functions, and not play the upheaval part of a volcano, it will be necessary for him to distinguish the fire on that cabbage cigar he has in his mouth—it's extremely offensive." John mumbled something about the cigar being one of a box presented him by the mayor of Chocoma, made from weed grown on his own plantation, and intimated that the fault lay in Billy's depraved taste; but a severe rebuke from Billy, who said he had no back talk from a "director," settled the matter, and Crow ceased crowing and threw away the stub, which didn't lay on the floor more than two seconds before Johnny Harrington transferred it to his pocket for future gratification.

The president then arose, went to the door to get a whiff of unadulterated air, returned to his bench, and said: "Gentlemen, as I take a retrospective glance into the future and realize that all's well that begins on time, it recurs to me that ten weeks of precious seconds have gone since the first meeting was called to aggravate the feasibility of this opposition project. In that time but little has been done. I would like to see the construction of this road—our motto seeming to have been to be sure we were right and then sit down and enjoy the prospect. To be sure, the committee on right of way have done much work; the 'directors' have generally employed their time in selling stock, and by this have succeeded in raising quite a fund; but this is not enough. Much more proprietary work remains to be done; surveyors must be employed and contracts let; but first and more important than all else, will be the lobbying through congress of a bill for a sufficient land grant to meet our wants. I therefore urge upon you the importance of our appointing a committee of directors to attend the present session of congress for this purpose; and in selecting this committee, I would say that such of our success depends on appointing men who have political influence and know how to use it—men whose names have never graced a state prison record, and whose personal attractiveness has never been diminished by a Turkish bath or a paper collar. With these few remarks, I shall let the meeting proceed with its business. Mr. Secretary, what have you on the table?" Johnny said he had a petition, signed by most of the directors, for the expulsion of Jeremiah Crowley, and which read as follows: "Mr. President: the undersigned respectfully represent that Jeremiah Crowley, of the city of Marquette, same county, and state of Michigan, has been guilty of violating a rule of this corporation, and a rule so well known as to make his violation of the same an unpardonable offense in the eyes of every corner squatter in this city, whether he be a member of this body or no; viz: he has been known by us to have deliberately, and as we think, with malice aforethought, to perform and receive pay for a full day's labor, beside having been heard by some of our members to ask for work of various citizens upon the street. And what makes the violation more aggravating still, is the fact that he has actually been seen to leave a certain provision store with a twenty-five pound sack of flour under his arm. Having spent this unlawful gain, and a large sum in such a riotous manner, instead of letting it go for beverage to lighten the hearts of his fellows, we unite in asking that his name be stricken from our roll and placed upon the black list along with the other Judases." Jerry O'Leary said he didn't sign that petition because he thought it was wrong to keep a man from doing an occasional day's work—babies had to have bread, and they couldn't get it without doing some little work; and as for him he wished it understood that he "kicked" on general principles, against any such proceedings as had been asked for in the petition just read. He appreciated leisure as much as any man present, but he wouldn't sign a petition that would be relished by the best of them. "No it wouldn't," said Billy Roberts, "and by virtue of the authority in me shirred, I dispel Jeremiah Crowley from the ranks; sit down, O'Leary, and you, Mr. Secretary, record my verdict!" The secretary did as he was bid, and then read a letter from Donald McGillucuddy, asking to be admitted into the company. The president said the name so undid a little Kauekisk, and asked if any of the directors knew him. Johnny Harrington said that he was in the room—was a good fellow, and had money enough last Sunday to make us all happy, and that he had enjoyed his hospitality for several hours on that day. The president requested McGillucuddy, to come forward to the desk, when he asked: "where was you born, my man?" In Canada, sir, said McGillucuddy. "Nuf said, sir, you can't join this gang. We are as yet free from foreign invasion, and till my right leg forgets her cunning and my mouth freezes to my tongue, we will remain so. Get out and flee, lest I overtake you and snatch your beard out by the roots." He flew. The glee club then sang:

Let us now be up and going—
Take a drink at any date—
Still a loafer and a chowin'
Pling for beer on the street.

Chorus—
Standing on the corner
With a bottle in his hand,
As any sly dog bummer
Will always do, we think.

MARQUETTE will never reach the summit of its ambition to be considered the most popular summer resort in the northwest until its citizens take such measures as will secure the erection of a large first class hotel for the accommodation of the thousands who would be glad to come, but who now stay away because we have no hotels worthy of the name. Such a hotel we must have, if we don't want to have our beautiful city go to seed altogether. Who will move in the matter.

Hon. Peter White and family, accompanied by Miss Nellie Maynard, arrived in New York on Saturday last, and are expected home to-day. They will be most cordially welcomed by hosts of friends.

Rev. Jno. Russell has gone to Cincinnati to attend the session of the general conference of the M. E. church—a body which meets quadrennially, and to which he is one of the five delegates from this state. He will be absent nearly two months.

The boy loafers at the post-office have been getting in their funny work again. Cowslips look bad enough when strewn on the sidewalk, without throwing them into the postoffice. These young loafers will eventually be amply rewarded for their misdeeds.

The annual election of officers of the Marquette Chasseurs (Co. H. 2nd regiment state troops,) will take place at their armory the first Monday in May. A captain and two lieutenants are to be chosen. The company is now holding weekly drill meetings.

This is straight goods. The Tibbits house is being disrobed and the rubbish carted off. The frame of the building proper will be moved to another part of the town as soon as Mr. Adams can find a purchaser. Won't some one on Ridge street please buy it?

The dead leaves of autumn which lie scattered and strewn about your door yards should be gathered up soon, so as to make room for the grass to bloom; and while you have the rake in your hand you might scrape the moss and cowslips off the front sidewalk.

MARQUETTE people came near having a scandal that would have looked mighty well in the Chicago Times or Police News; but money settled it, and the gossippers and sewing societies have been cheated out of a theme that would have been fruit, indeed.

The maple sugar social at the M. E. church, last Wednesday evening, was only a partial success. The affair was not properly advertised, and consequently but few outside the congregation were present. Some $25 was realized, however, and those who gathered there say they had a good time.

We are informed by the agent in this city that the first of the L. M. & L. S. Transit Co's steamers will leave Chicago for Lake Superior ports on the 27th inst. It is quite probable that a boat leaving Chicago at that time will have no difficulty in passing the Sault and arriving at this place by the 1st of May.

MR. W. T. SHEPHERD, the Chicago florist whose visits to Marquette and vicinity have for several years been such a delight in the beautiful displays of plants he brings, has promised to come again this spring—probably about May 1st. Any special orders sent to him at 61 Washington street, Chicago, will have prompt attention.

P. S.—He's here—at Westlake & Bronson's old stand.

DR. REYNOLDS, the great temperenzler, is at work down among the besotted denizens of the Fox River valley. If the good doctor will come this way, he'll find all he wants to do in reconverting those he converted two or three years ago. He'll find just one man here wearing of the red, and he's on the verge of insanity, in the depth of his loneliness.

The new style bicycle, to the uninitiated rider, operates on the same principle as a mule—gets flighty in the rear and starts hind heels foremost for a trip to the moon, by the underground passage way, China. One of our smart lads, while riding down Front street the other noon, accidentally put on the brake to the front wheel, and quicker than greased lightning the sidewalk was sounding the hollowness of his head. He will live.

CHANGE OF TIME.—The regular summer time card on the M. H. & O. R. R. will go into effect on Wednesday next. The regular through passenger train, connecting with the Ivanhoe at L'Anse, will leave Marquette at 1:25 p. m., connecting with C. & N. W. train from Chicago, and arrive at L'Anse at 4:50 p. m., the passengers reaching Houghton at 7:30; returning, leave Houghton at 7:00 a. m., and L'Anse at 9:45, arriving at Marquette at 12:45, connecting at Neganue with C. & N. W. R'y for Chicago. Michigan accommodation leaves Marquette at 8:30 a. m., and returning, leaves Michigan at 1:30 p. m., arriving at Marquette at 5:55 p. m.

M. Chicago special will leave Marquette at 12 m., and returning, leaves Ishpeming at 1:40 p. m., arriving at Marquette at 3:00 p. m.

MAY-flowers, or the trailing arbutus proper, may be gathered in the woods next week, if it don't rain or snow. Beds, partly opened, have already been gathered. We are so busy that we can't find time to go after them, but we won't be hard on any of the girls who may chance to present us with a bunch. Come up the first flight of stairs around the corner from the Everett block, and knock at the door to your left—same house.

Mr. J. M. Case, city agent for the sale of the map of the upper peninsula published by the L. S. S. C. R'y & I. Co. The map is 30x40 inches, and shows the "lay of the land" from Keweenaw point on the north to the mouth of Menominee river on the south, and from Sault Ste. Marie on the east to the mouth of Montreal river on the west. So far as we are capable of judging, we call it the best map of the entire upper peninsula yet published.

THE M. H. & O. Rail Road company have just received some 250 new ore cars—made of "live oak" in Chicago—which will be put in use this season. These new cars are an improvement on any before used, being stronger and better built. Besides these, the shops in this city have built many additional flat ore cars, and the road is now in shape to tackle all the ore business which may be demanded of it.

A COLLECTION will be taken up in the Catholic churches throughout this diocese to-morrow for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum in this city. There are at present 37 orphan children in this institution, most of whom are dependent upon the charity of the catholics of the upper peninsula for their support. It is to be hoped that this call for aid in behalf of so good a cause will meet with a generous response.

HON. CHARLES O'MALLEY, well known to many of the citizens of the upper peninsula, died at Point St. Ignace, on the 27th ult. Mr. O'Malley once represented the Mackinac district in the state legislature, and for a number of years resided at Escanaba, where, we believe, he once held the offices of probate judge and justice of the peace. He was 72 years of age at the time of his death, and was, we believe, possessed of considerable property.

THAT FUND.—Concerning the Bishop Baraga monument fund, Rev. Father Jaeger writes us to say that the whole of the monies collected, including that mentioned by Mr. Sullivan, is in the hands of Rt. Rev. Bishop Vertin. This statement ought to be in every respect satisfactory, and will no doubt be accepted as a sure guaranty that the money will, in due time, be faithfully applied to the purpose for which it was subscribed and paid in.

THE ice, after frequent trips out into the lake, and as many provoking returns, left for good last Sunday night, propelled by the gentle influences of a stiff southwest gale. At present there is none of it in sight, and unless the westerly winds may have driven it into Waiskai Bay, so as to form a blockade, there is nothing to prevent vessels from reaching here from the "Soo." Indeed, navigation has been fairly open on Lake Superior for at least a week.

It is reported that Messrs. Small & Houk will be here and re-open the Northwestern hotel, soon after the 1st of May. They can't come too soon; Marquette was never so badly off for hotels as at present, and if they open right, and keep as good a house as they were credited with keeping the latter part of last season, they will not lack for guests. There is no probability of the Cozzens house being re-opened, and they will have practically no opposition.

POWELL BROTHERS commenced the drive of Wetmore's logs in the Chocoma River, last Monday morning, and have a large force of men employed. Hursley Brothers have also commenced the drive for the same firm in the Salmon Trout. The Messrs. Wetmore have something over three million feet of logs in these two rivers, which will be chewed up into lumber at their mill in this city the coming summer. The mill will be made ready for business the coming week, and will furnish employment to a large number of men.

You that have warts on your toes, prepare to shed them now. Dr. Arthur Ludewitzke, chiropodist, is in the city for a brief stay, and guarantees to relieve people of all such painful excrescences, without pain or the drawing of blood. He treats corns, bunions and inverted toe-nails in the same way, and you fellows that have been limping about for years, as the result of an early indulgence in boots several numbers too small, are at last offered the means of relief. If given a chance, the doctor will forever dispel the cause of more than half the but partially smooth offered profanity which at times is wont to break out with such fearful emphasis. He can be consulted at Stafford's drug store.

The commons in the outskirts of the upper part of the city, sometimes used as a base ball ground, has been used the past winter as a receptacle for dead dogs, cats, and other animals which have shuffled off the coil during the winter. It may be all right, but the air in that part of the city don't taste any two sweet all the same, and if cholera morbus don't break out up in that direction before long the carrion won't be to blame. The citizens are complaining, and something ought to be done to abate the nuisance.

YOUNG Greenwald's sojourn at the Reform School doesn't seem to have resulted in his complete and perfect reformation. On Sunday last he got the worst of a scrimmage with another boy, while playing base ball in the vacant lot near the court house, and the language he used as he passed the depot on his way home was enough to make the hair on the bald head of a veteran sinner assume the perpendicular. It was the verdict of all who heard him that he cannot be sent back to the reform school a day too soon for his own future well being.

WILLIE C. BROWN, for many years a well known clerk in this city, and one who, for ability, gentlemanly manners and trade drawing capacities generally, is hard to match, is going on a somewhat extended visit to Detroit, Cleveland and other points. On returning to this city he will pack his grip-sack and go to Milwaukee, where he will join the ranks of the commercial bummers, representing the house of S. M. Levy, manufacturer and wholesale dealer in woolen goods, and for whom he will drum up a good trade—and don't you forget it.

THE boys who pass through the alleys and gather and put in bags old rags, paper, boots, rubbers, hats, shreds of undergarments, shells, oyster cans, etc., are public benefactors, the lowliness of their occupation to the contrary notwithstanding; but when these gutter snipes and alley scavengers go outside of their legitimate business, and gather up bolts and iron belonging to the railroad company or others, they should be judged. Some of them, we are sorry to say, have been guilty of doing this same thing. Those who have been dishonest in this particular will be arrested, for the sheriff is after them. The man who buys this iron of the boys is the greater criminal, if he knows how they get it, and his punishment should be ten-fold heavier.

A petition, numerously signed by the business men on Front street, has been handed to the recorder to be submitted for the consideration of the city fathers, at their next meeting, praying them to order a new sidewalk between the two bridges on the west side of Front street, in front of the Everett block and Opera House, and that the same be raised to a suitable grade; also that the sidewalk across the lower railroad bridge be raised to correspond with such new grade, so that the water will not stand thereon. It is to be hoped the council will grant the request of the petitioners, as the walk at the place spoken of is lower than the street, and during wet weather is covered with water; especially is this true of the walk over the lower railroad bridge, which in the spring is an unmitigated nuisance. There are many other bad side walks in the city, and it is to be hoped the council will do a job of general repairing this spring.

MARRIED.

BARNEY—WHEELER.—In this city, Tuesday evening, April 20th, 1880, by the Rev. Charles Burton, Mr. Richard Barney and Miss Jessie R. Wheeler.

The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's father, in the presence of only a few of the more intimate friends of the bride and groom. This happy family man is the well known assistant keeper of uncle Samuel's light at this port, and he hath a snug little cot on the banks of the murmuring sea, whither he has taken his bride. May his later and brighter light shed golden beams down the pathway of life. THE MINING JOURNAL extends its right hand in congratulations and best wishes.

VIGARS—TRETNEY.—In this city, on Wednesday evening, April 22nd, 1880, by the Rev. D. Stuart Banks, Mr. H. P. Vigars and Miss Ellen Tretney, both of Marquette.

The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's mother, on west Ridge street, in the presence of a large circle of the friends of both bride and groom. These young people have been just the same as two for some time past, and THE MINING JOURNAL has been looking anxiously for the event that should make them one. It's better late than ever, though, ain't it, 'Arry, old boy? 'Ere's hour 'and.

ESCANABA.

WHY do not our promised correspondents send in their communications?

There's a sign in Marquette that reads, "Live ice." Marquette is a live city, but what's live ice, anyway?

ONE of the spring candidates attributes his defeat to the too liberal use, by the opposition, of his own saw, "ex senile, nihil fit."

SEVERAL episodes of Saturday night afford convincing evidence that last week's suggestion as to the internal police of the city was not impertinent.

If our gallant gentlemen do not look well to their laurels, and renew their assiduity, the weekly incursions from the range promise to carry off all the fair prizes.

WE are assured that the grist mill will be put in condition for active business at once, and that farmers may rely on getting their work done well and promptly.

THE numerously commanded Ben. Drake arrived from Milwaukee on Saturday, towing the dismantled scow Emanuel. The latter is to be fitted out with a spar and put into the wood trade, in tow of the Brooks.

CAPTAIN J. LUTZ will fish from Winegar, Miller & Co's dock, with the tug Davis this season. So many industries centered on their dock will make it rather a lively place, and loafers will not find standing room.

CLIFFORD's company gave several performances last week to crowded houses. The acting was not strong, and failed to sustain the reputation this troupe has always borne. The rendition was careless, and the tragic scenes mere burlesque.

L. D. MCKENNA has bought the building at the foot of Ludington street, to be placed at the old stand on the corner, and to be occupied by McGillis & Bissell. The present store will be moved to the lot west, and occupied by Mr. McKenna himself.

THE returns are in, and show, in the county canvass, a majority of 97 for the court house. But 277 votes were polled in the whole balliwick—less than half of Escanaba's normal poll list—nevertheless we shall have a court house; and now where shall it be located?

THE society for the prevention of cruelty to children should have seen two little girls, seven and nine, carrying four large, loaded baskets and two valises up the street the other day. Cleanliness is next to godliness, but don't have your washing sent home that way.

WE are requested to state that the Tilden House grounds are exclusively for the use of guests of the house, and not, as reported in a Chicago circular and copied by local papers, for the benefit of all who summer in Escanaba. The circular is incorrect in other particulars, also.

THE snow which fell on Friday last to the depth of several inches was entirely uncalled for, and did some damage to those who were unprepared. The Ford River Co's ice house gathered such a weight of falling flakes as to cause the roof to crowd out the walls, and make as much of a ruin of the building as the unyielding nature of the contents would permit.

NAVIGATION is not yet a pleasurable employment, the floating ice having made much trouble last week. The Jesse Hoyt, from Chicago, for cedar, attempted to make the shore at Bark river but was forced off by the ice and ran back to the Door. The schooner Newsboy lost her anchors in North bay and was compelled to run in here for safety. The storm of Thursday did it.

QUEER notions sometimes obtain among business men as to the utility of advertising. One who lives, and probably moves among us, does not advertise because he does not wish to attract to him men who are strangers and who may possibly prove to be rascals. He must have been born with a very large circle of acquaintances, or else his timidity has overwhelmed him lately.

TUGS are to be plenty this season. There are on the list, already, the Drake, Brooks, Smoke, Davis, and Crane, with the Dodger at Flat Rock, and the Jo. Harris at Fayette, the S. R. Shipman at "the islands," and the A. B. Green on the route between this place and Fayette. The Welcome, Capt. Hart, and Capt. Hawley's new steamer (as yet unnamed) will ply on the Green Bay route, and the Oconto and Truesdell to Chicago and all west shore ports. Truly, we are progressing.

WHY, oh why will no one hearken to the despairing wail that comes up from the homeless thousands who daily wander the streets in search of a window bearing that beautiful sign of promise, "For Rent?" There may not be so much prospective wealth in a tenement as there is in an iron mine, but then there is less uncertainty as to the balance of the bank account, and, besides, if a man gain all the options on the range, and is obliged to sleep on a plank, with his boots for a pillow, what reward has he? There is not a house, not a barn, nor even a big box that is not rented at an enormous figure. All the old shanties on the beach are full, and the Tilden avenue bridge is nightly the sole shelter of some lone wanderer who has not elsewhere to lay his head. This is not romance; it is fact. Come, capitalists, construct comfortable houses, rent them to our mechanics and laborers, reap a rich reward of fond shekels of the tested gold and earn the gratitude of your fellow citizens.

The useful and lowly article, the pin, has called forth much interesting literature, and now is added another paragraph. It is stated on good authority that there is not a pin in the place fit for a lady's toilet. Pins there are, of good quality, and adapted to the purpose for which they were fabricated; of these we may particularize coupling pins, ten pins and pin pool; but the real article, of diminutive dimensions, and fitted to fix fairy fabrics faultlessly, without tearing the tender texture, is not to be found in the emporia of Escanaba. Merchants, a word to the wise.

FRIDAY it snows and covers the ground with slop and slush most knee deep; Saturday's sunshine but adds to the mush, and Sunday's rain causes the weep to flow from the eyes of the fair who flounder around in the slippery gush on their way to church, clothed in despair and garments all dragged with juice expressed from the lowering cloud; hearts filled with emotion, their minds with abuse of the weather—not uttered aloud. Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be tried by such energetic displays of the power of the weather to conquer the soul and on human passions to play?

MUCH serious inconvenience is caused by the singular mail arrangements on the Menominee River railway. Two days are required to convey a letter from Norway to Quinnesec—four miles—and two are consumed on the route between Waucedah and Escanaba. One may post a letter at any office on the branch, and, taking the car himself, reach its destination twenty four hours before the letter makes its appearance. It is said that a lack of bags causes the delay; if so, some one ought to make strenuous exertions to induce the gentleman who represents our good uncle to provide at least one more.

WORK is to be resumed on the road to Monistique, and Mr. Young thinks that it will be completed in September. The worst part of the construction is accomplished, and there remains about fifteen miles to be cut out. This is, for the most part, through pine plains, where but little grading is necessary. All the rest of the road is finished, the bridges have been solidly built, and in all low places the road is cross-wayed and ditched, making a good wagon road all the way. The distances are: to Fayette, 62 miles; to Monistique, 65. From Day's River to the junction with the State road to Monistique is 82 miles.

ON Monday morning at 4 o'clock the barn belonging to the city hotel was discovered to be in flames, and the alarm being given the steamer was on hand promptly, and the fire was extinguished without damage to property further than the loss of the barn. A man named Wm. Taylor, who recently came here from Boston in search of work, was asleep in the hay in the loft of the barn and was only awakened by the heat of the fire. He was badly burned, and it is doubtful if he survives. Taylor says that on previous nights there were others with him in the loft, but that on Monday night he believed himself to be alone. How the fire originated is not known, but the natural hypothesis is that it was caused by sparks from the pipe of some one who slept in the barn.

THESE are lively times on the docks, and the crowd of workers is swelled by those who loiter about enjoying the warm sunshine, and the bright picture of the harbor full of all kinds of craft, some lying at anchor and others darting here and there, but all lively with men at work and making a scene well worth looking upon. There were forty vessels in the harbor at one time this week, besides the usual number of tugs, steamboats and small sailing craft that come and go daily. If you have any time to idle away, do it on the docks, for there is a view to inspire the soul of an artist.

THE season for gardening has arrived, and every one should be at some little pains to beautify his door yard. Nothing so plainly proclaims a refined and cultured taste as a smoothly kept lawn, brightened here and there, by a few well selected, richly-colored blossoms. A beautiful bed may be made by sowing crimson poppies in cross rows, and contrasting their dainty petals with the warm tinted blossoms of the gracefully pendant sunflower, interspersing the whole with a few neutral shades, which may be obtained by planting a few seeds of sternions and honeysuckles. Other tastes may be gratified by the association of more striking collections, but these suggestions are thrown out by an amateur in the hope of inspiring the readers of the RANGER with the desire to make their dwellings a joy forever; and in no way can this be so easily accomplished as by following the hints here given. But few tools are required, the most necessary, in this latitude, being a gun and a stout club; a lantern will also be found useful, and those whose purses are long enough should provide themselves with dogs and axes. Speak to your neighbor, and induce him if possible to join with you in your enterprise; or, persuade him to keep a few hens, as they are one of the most delightful incidents of gardening.

THE Brush light will be in operation on the docks next week. New engines are arriving daily, and there are now over fifty at work on this division of the C. & N. W.

P. FOGARTY opens a flour and feed store on the merchant dock as soon as the ice is shipped and room made for him in the warehouse.

THE Sarah R. Shipman called into port on Wednesday, fitting for the season's fishing. Capt. Shipman will run half a thousand gill nets this season.

MCKAY is debating as to whether he shall uniform his assistants in red, to match the store front. A red shirt, slashed with green, would be attractive, Mac.

THE addition to the office on the dock has made it a pleasant place to work, and, with the telephone communication with the other offices it is now quite convenient.

NOTHING but cheap drunks at the police court this week. The amusement should be made more costly and it would then be more sought after. Cheap goods won't sell here.

KEEP the children away from the docks. A little boy fell off the bridge the other day, and was rescued by an older one who chanced to be near; but the next time it may read the other way.

At the meeting of the board of trustees it was determined that the proposition to grade and gravel Ludington street should be submitted to a vote of the citizens. Here is a question that requires consideration.

A change is made this week in the clerk's office, Mr. West taking the clerk's old room, which is fitted out with new instruments, furniture, etc., and looks bright and fresh; but, alas for the contemplated general offices that were to be built this year. Mr. Scott takes the room at the east end of the building as his future sanctum.

THE health officer is in receipt of a communication from the secretary of the state Board of Health, in which he says: "The local board of health has the sole responsibility of the health of the citizens within its jurisdiction. The health officer is the executive officer of the local board, and it should sustain him in all reasonable attempts to do the proper thing for preserving the public health."

The local board of health is the village board. Now will it sustain the officer in his reasonable attempt to preserve the public health?

PERSONAL.—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kitchin, Miss Edith Glendenning and Miss Kitchin were at the Tilden, Wednesday, en route for Chatham, Ont.

Dr. C. J. Bellows irradiated the arid strand of Ludington street with his genial presence during a portion of the week.

Ion. M. C. Burch, Grand Rapids, was registered at the Tilden on Sunday.

J. A. Kruse took the train for Chicago on Tuesday. S. H. Harteau left at the same time for Green Bay.

Conductor Van Dyke resumed his duties on the Quinnesec freight last Monday.

Judge Noyes pergrinated through a portion of the range, this week, plucking plumes for the Eagle.

Wm. Chisholm, Chicago, and S. H. Chisholm, Cleveland, were on the range in the early part of the week.

W. H. Wicks, Quinnesec, tarried at the Tilden last Lord's day. Also, D. N. McKay, of Red Front.

Capt. W. H. Decker made port with the Fundamental Law on Tuesday.

The godly young gentleman who has so long presided over pills and potions at the postoffice, has changed his base to the Exchange bank.

HE LOVED HER ARDENTLY and devotedly, and she, won by his manly and soulful entreaties, would have given ready assent to his spirited and poetical solicitation of her hand, but he, alas, with a stubborn resolution, (born of his ancestral pride,) not to commit himself by ante-nuptial promises, refused to accede to her demand that their groceries should be bought of Atkins, McNaughton & Co. who keep the largest and finest selection of staple and fancy goods in the city. 614w1.

THE Red Front is the place to go for choice groceries and provisions.

If you want the choicest of groceries, at bottom figures, you should go to the emporium of McGillis & Bissell, McKenna block, where you can buy choice teas, coffees of every grade, fruits, canned goods, flour and provisions, at prices as near zero as it is possible to get at this season of the year. C. O. D.

SPALDING.

The drive commenced on Sunday, about one hundred men having gone up the river.

There are about sixty pupils in the public schools, with more to come in. Spalding, like all other peninsular towns, is stepping rapidly forward. Mr. Johnson has completed his new hotel, and is doing a good business.

E. Patron is sinking a test pit, not for iron, but for clay, with the intention of making bricks on an extensive scale. An addition is being made to Spalding's store to accommodate the increasing business, and numerous dwellings are building in various parts of the village.

Last week Edward Casey, at work in the mill, was struck by a board which got above the saw at which he was edging lumber, and which was hurled back upon him with terrible force, striking him in the breast, and inflicting injuries which at first were supposed to be mortal. He is now recovering rapidly.

Napoleon Berry is painting, repairing and refitting the Spalding house, and is making it a pleasant place to stop at. The Ranger will continue to visit Napoleon.

NORWAY.

A terrible wind storm swept over the town on Thursday last, which threatened to destroy everything that was not fastened to bed rock like the signal office on Mt. Washington. But a short time since one of Norway's prominent men declared that never a zephyr would stir the sultry air of August, to cool the fevered brows of the dwellers on the plains; but if the zephyr of Thursday was any criterion, palm leaves will be unfashionable. No. Norway will be comforted by cooling breezes in the heated term, and, throned among the iron-bound hills, with lakes and rivers, forests filled with game, and the ever developing mines around her, will be sought as a retreat for summer pleasure-seekers. No damage was done by the wind of Thursday, with the exception of a small house that was demolished by a falling tree, though burning chimneys and flying rubbish made a somewhat exciting spectacle to those whose houses have been built long enough to be seasoned. A fire engine will be our next need.

A pleasant evening was enjoyed by those who were fortunate enough to attend the party at the residence of John O'Callaghan last Saturday evening. The music was excellent, and the devotees of Terpsichore declare that never were her rites celebrated with more enthusiasm.

The Norway mine has shipped from 700 to 1,000 tons per day during the week. The fly wheel for the new engine was received Monday. It is 16 feet in diameter, 22 inches on the face, and weighs over ten tons.

H. Themel has departed for Florence, taking with him the RANGER and its wishes for his success.

Chas. Griebler has nearly completed his restaurant and saloon, where he intends to fortify the inner man with consolation, liquid and solid, for all the ills of life.

QUINNESEC.

Charlie Morbitz, the well known woodsman, so familiar with the shy denizens of the forest as to lure to destruction the antlered deer with a single seductive glance of his witching eye, has been employed to explore for Dr. Cyr.

On Monday a large boiler left the station for the Cornell mine in tow of six teams, but twelve hours hard labor of men and teams succeeded only in ditching it on the hillside above the mining company's store. It weighs over six tons.

John McPherson, the energetic furniture man, is about to erect a large store on the corner lot of his present place of business.

Capt. J. R. Wood, while engaged with a party of men in raising some timber work at the mine on Monday, was caught by a falling bent and seriously injured.

J. F. Atkinson on Tuesday ceased to be a resident of Quinnesec, and Florence will be his address for the future.

Prof. Falk, of the Royal Geological corps, of Sweden, has made this his home, intending to open an assay office soon.

WAUCEDAHA.

[To The Editor.] Mike Hartnett, the man injured by a falling timber bent at the Breen mine last week, has since died. His remains were taken to Escanaba on Thursday last for interment. The afflicted family have the heartfelt sympathy of the public.

W. E. Ferguson has the new addition to his store completed, and can truly say "Walk in and see the best store on the range." Just wait till Will gets back from Chicago, and you shall see what you may see.

Our Jake has taken another option. We don't just exactly know how to understand what to think we ought to surmise, "but suthink sure."

The Emmet and Breen mines are rushing matters, and if things keep going at the present rate Waucedah will be one of the lively towns of the range.

Jas. Mix & Co., of Kankakee, Ill., has commenced building preparatory to commencing work on their options in this town. Mr. Mix is bound to strike the precious stuff if cash and nerve will accomplish anything. We understand that Mr. Clark has withdrawn from his position with the above named firm, but would not vouch for the truth of the matter. Yet if it be true the concern has lost a faithful and competent man.

Buy something good while you are buying. Call at the Red Front and see the best and freshest stock of groceries in the city. Teas, coffees, flour, provisions, fruits, etc., at the very bottom. "Once a customer always a customer" is the motto at D. N. McKay's. Remember the Red Front. 1w

1,500,000,000 feet of PINE TIMBER owned by this company.

These lands were selected by experts, for mineral or timber, at a time when but very little land had been purchased from the Government in their vicinity, consequently the lands of the company are invariably the most desirable for either minerals or pine or other timber in the district in which they lie.

Menominee Iron Range, Gogebic Iron Range, Ontonagon Copper District, Silver District of Iron River.

THE MINERAL LANDS of the company are now offered for lease, on reasonable terms, and options given for purposes of examination.

Eight of the best and largest mines in the Menominee iron district are on the lands of this company; i. e. East Vulcan (two mines), New Vulcan, Curry, Norway, Cyclone, Lodi, and Woods—31, 40, 38—and this number will undoubtedly be increased during the present year.

[Ishpeming, April 24, 1880.]

when the lamp exploded with a terrific noise, and causing a small sized earthquake in that immediate locality, injuring, not the German who was to blame for it, but an innocent Swede named Andrew Peterson, who was working near by with his back toward the dangerous lamp. The full force of the explosion took him in the rear very much like a Gatling gun, only more so, perforating the most fleshy part of his anatomy with thirty or forty holes, at the bottom of each of which were lodged pieces of tin or gravel. Peterson was taken to the hospital where his wounds were dressed and found to be very serious, though not dangerous. Some of the pieces of gravel were driven two inches into the flesh. It was a fearful "fire in the rear" for an innocent and unsuspecting man to receive, and must make Peterson feel like sitting down on the German who did the mischief; but it will be many a day before he will be able to sit down on anything—with any degree of comfort.

WILL RESIGN.—City engineer Peter Ouderkerk is about to resign his position for the purpose of engaging in business. His determination to leave the fire engine which has been under his care so long is a decided surprise to all, and it seems odd to be compelled to couple some other name than his with the position. Mr. Ouderkerk has been city engineer ever since the present fire department was organized and the "Robert Nelson" purchased. Everybody knows how well and faithfully he has served in that capacity. No man could possibly have taken greater interest in the fire department and the apparatus in the engine house. No more thoroughly reliable and efficient man could have been found, and the fact of his being in charge imparted a feeling of safety to Ishpeming property owners. It is to be regretted that he has concluded to leave a place for which he was so well fitted. We are not yet at liberty to state in what business he will engage, but he informs us that he will not leave Ishpeming. He expects to turn the engine over to his successor early in May. As Ouderkerk's resignation has not yet been handed in to the council, there is no telling who his successor will be; but there will be a number of applicants.

CLIFFORD.—Ishpeming gave Clifford a glorious reception this time, and it fairly did Edwin proud to see it. Never before did he receive such "houses" in this place. When the curtain rose the first evening Austin's hall was fairly crowded, and more were coming all the time, and kept coming all through the first act, filling every chair and all the standing room until he refused to let any more persons into the hall. A large number were thus turned away for want of room, and it was all Clifford could do to persuade them to keep out for that evening. On the second and third evenings the hall was likewise crowded to its utmost capacity, making his season here the most successful one he ever had on Lake Superior. The order of plays was changed, and they gave Uncle Tom's Cabin the first night, The Hidden Hand the second and M'Liss the third. The company is a uniformly good one, and fully up to if not above the standard of former troupes brought here by Clifford. Miss Maude Oswald is an actress of superior merit, and the people were very much pleased with her. Tom Coleman, of course, kept the audience in a roar of laughter whenever he appeared on the stage. All the parts in the plays were well sustained, there being none but good actors in the troupe. Altogether, Clifford gave good satisfaction this trip, and he's delighted with the reception accorded him. He will probably play here a night or two on his return, provided he comes back this way.

He was an up-the road Frenchman who had come down to Ishpeming to take the Northwestern train for below. He was told that the cars would leave at 1:05 in the afternoon. About twenty minutes before that time he was sauntering up Main street, when, to his consternation, he saw the cars move away from the old platform formerly used as a depot, and being innocent of the presence of the new depot, thought the train was going for good. He yelled and rushed frantically for the receding coaches. Just as he reached the railroad crossing an incoming ore train blocked the way. Then he got excited. He dropped his satchel on the ground, and taking his hat off, shook his clenched fist at the fireman of the train. "By gar," he ejaculated, "you take the train and you stop me like dis! What you do dat for, hey?" and he made a rush for the locomotive. Just then the ore train moved away, and the men who blocked his way were out of his reach. Then he raged and cursed the more. "By jimminee, she dam railroad she make me lose one day, and when I lose one day, I lose something. By gar, I lawsuit she railroad, I bring she railroad before she circus court!" and picking up a piece of rock he hurled it at a box car near by. Seeing him in such a great rage, a passer-by asked him why he took on so. "I want get on de railroad, and she ore train she stop my way; now de train she's gone." "No it isn't," said the other,

"there it is now at the depot." The Frenchman looked up the track, and there, sure enough, stood the train. "By gar so she do; why she foolish me like dat?" and satchel in hand he strode up the track, making three ties at each step. No amount of explanation on the part of the brakemen could convince the indignant passenger that they did not pull up for the express purpose of fooling him.

THE Nelson house grounds are being cleaned up and beautified.

MALLANNEY has added a nobby new delivery wagon to his establishment.

THE only vacant building in Ishpeming is the old Cleveland mine school house, east of the mine barn.

WHEN you see a man standing around the streets without anything to do, don't call him an idler; he may be a night-shift man.

WHEN a Strawberry hill man comes home a little boozey nowadays, he blames the well for it all—no water in the well—and can't go dry—you know.

SUPPER.—The Good Templars of this city will give a supper at their hall next Wednesday evening, in which many of the temperance organizations of the county are invited to participate.

THE dealers have laid in a large supply of baby carriages this spring in anticipation of a heavy increase in the rising generation. As they are generally well posted in these matters, we anticipate a baby boom the present season.

AS we go to press we receive the sad intelligence of the severe illness of Mrs. C. H. Kirkwood. She is very low at this writing, and no hopes are entertained for her recovery. Mrs. Kirkwood is a most estimable lady whose death would be most deeply deplored. It is to be hoped her life may be spared.

THE most selfish man in Ishpeming is a teamster who lives on the hill. According to the city ordinance, five dollars is paid to the owner of the first team at the engine house when a fire alarm is given. When Godshall's house caught fire last week, this teamster met a man yelling fire and running towards the engine house. "Hold on a minute, mister, for heaven's sake don't give the alarm till I get my team hitched," cried the greedy fellow; "you know it will be five dollars in my pocket if I get there first with my team;" and he rushed frantically to his stable. But it was no use; the alarm was given as quickly as the man could get down the hill, and some other teamster earned the coveted money.

PERSONAL.—Mr. and Mrs. C. Merryweather, of Stoneville, returned home Tuesday after a two weeks' absence below.

W. H. Watters arrived home from Chicago on Tuesday's train. Mr. John P. Outhwaite returned from a trip to Chicago Thursday.

BUY THE BEST. BULLOCK'S LATEST IMPROVED DIAMOND-POINTED ROCK DRILLS.

Prospecting, mining, shafting, tunneling, draining, quarrying and sub-marine blasting. The accompanying cut represents my new drill, "The Little Champion," for shafting or underground prospecting. This machine has ALL OF MY LATEST IMPROVEMENTS, including Trunk Engines, with balanced slide valves to use either steam or compressed air economically. It has also my "Pat. Hinged Swivel Head," "Pat. Thrust Register," (for indicating the thickness of each strata), "Pat. Roller Thrust Bearing," and "Pat. method of changing the feed while the drill is running." The drill rods are all fitted with "Pat. Bayonet clutch couplings," which uncouple by giving the rods one-fourth of a turn. THE HIGHEST TESTIMONY AWARDED THEM for RAPIDITY OF EXECUTION AND ECONOMY OVER ANY OTHERS IN USE. For prospecting, these drills accomplish the most IMPORTANT RESULTS otherwise wholly unattainable. By their use only can mines be penetrated to a depth of from one to TWO THOUSAND FEET through the HARDEST ROCK, at any angle, taking out a core the entire depth, fully developing the strata passed through. Tunnels driven and shafts sunk in from one half to one fourth of the usual time, by using these machines in connection with our Pat. Long Hole Process.

THE MINING JOURNAL.

NO PAPER SENT TO ANY AD DRESS UNLESS PAID FOR IN ADVANCE.

SUBSCRIBERS ordering their papers transferred in one address to another, please send to the publisher the name of the postoffice to which the paper is being sent at the time, in order to secure prompt attention, as otherwise the mail clerk may have to search through the entire list to find the name.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.—The MINING JOURNAL will not be sent to subscribers after the expiration of the time subscribed and paid for, unless the subscription is renewed. Subscribers can always know when their subscription expires by comparing the number of the printed address on their papers with the corresponding number on the receipts.

All letters of a business character, such as advertisements and communications intended for the columns of this paper, should be addressed to "THE MINING JOURNAL," and not to the editor personally, as is often the case. Only letters of a personal or confidential nature should be addressed to—A. P. SWINFORD.

All advertising sent from abroad must be paid for in advance, whether coming direct from the advertiser or through an advertising agency. Orders from advertising agents will not be accepted, or receive any attention whatever, unless based on our regular rates, and the usual conditions, and accompanied by the cash. This rule is imperative, and will not be departed from under any circumstances.

The Excelsior furnace is reported to be doing excellent work, considering the short time she has been in blast.

The Republic is shipping 3,000 tons of ore to Lake Erie ports, via Escanaba, in order to supply customers whose stock is about exhausted.

Owing to other pressing engagements the editor has not been able to continue his review of the Menominee Range mines, but hopes to be able to renew his work in that direction the coming week.

Parties having capital they wish to invest in a legitimate iron mining enterprise, may hear of an opportunity that will bear the closest investigation, by calling on or addressing the editor of the MINING JOURNAL.

The Carp river furnace is receiving two new boilers, of large capacity, the old ones not being able to furnish sufficient steam. The change will not necessitate banking, as the new boilers are being placed in a new boiler house.

The first ore shipments were made from Escanaba last week, and the season will most probably be fully inaugurated within the next ten days. The first fleet is expected here daily, and it is not improbable that the first cargoes for the season will be forwarded from this port the coming week.

The diamond drill has not yet been put to work at the Magnetic, owing to the great depth of the drift. The stand pipe is down over 100 feet, but has not yet reached the ledge. As soon as the ledge is reached the drill will begin operations in earnest.

GIBSON & DOYLE are reported to have found a nine-foot vein of hard red specular ore, on land belonging to Ambrose Campbell, in section 8, about a mile south east of the Republic mine. The land upon which this discovery is reported has been occupied by the gentlemen named as a farm, the past two or three years.

There is nothing doing at the Standard mine, the stock of which enjoyed such a delightful boom a few weeks ago. The roads have been so bad that it has been impossible to get the diamond drill to the location, which is some three miles and a half distant from the Republic. The Standard is not likely to return very large dividends to its shareholders, the present year.

The McComber Company having surrendered its lease of the Pendill mine, the owner has concluded to renew operations on his own account. It is generally understood that the underground openings are of a rather dangerous character, and it would seem as if there must have been something wrong, either as to the present condition of the mine, or its future prospects, otherwise the McComber folks would not willingly have abandoned it. It is possible, however, that some other good and valid reason can be assigned for the change which has taken place.

A NEW and apparently valuable discovery was recently made at the McComber, by a Swede miner who was anxious to secure a contract. At his suggestion the Morse Bros. took a contract from the McComber management to mine ore at a certain amount per ton, in the north slope of the hill just west of the old Grand Central opening, and he was accordingly set to work to find the ore, which he did in the very first pit.

How extensive the deposit is has not, of course, been definitely determined, but it now looks as if it might prove a very important addition to the mine. A cut is being carried into the side of the hill, with the intention of working the new find for all it may prove to be worth.

ASHLAND COUNTY, Wisconsin, is having a gold and silver boom of no mean dimensions. The ancient Miner, of divining rod fame, found it with his little witch hazel rod, and all northwestern Wisconsin is standing on its head. However, stranger things than the discovery of paying gold and silver lodes in that quarter are constantly occurring, and the MINING JOURNAL has no wish to throw the shadow of a doubt upon the assertion that the streams in that quarter flow with liquid gold and silver, or that pearls and diamonds hang pendant from the branches of its forest trees. However, all is not gold that glitters, and if it's all the same to our Ashland friends, we'll continue to take iron ore in ours!

The Northern furnace was sold at assignee's sale on Monday last, J. M. Wilkinson, Esq., being the successful bidder. The property was sold for $500, subject to all liens and encumbrances of whatsoever kind. Mr. Wilkinson had previously secured tax-titles, and it now only remains to effect a satisfactory settlement with the bondholders in order to perfect his title. The MINING JOURNAL is pleased to learn that there are strong probabilities that matters will, at no distant day, be so arranged that the furnace can be put into blast. The completion of the first section of the D., M. & M. R. Y. will make the Northern one of the most desirable furnace properties in the upper peninsula, and the re-lighting of its fires may be considered one of the reasonable certainties of the not far distant future.

The engineers have returned from making a preliminary survey of the proposed extension of the M., H. & O. R. R. to the Ontonagon river, and report having found an altogether feasible and comparatively easy route. The proposed line will start from a point on the main line, a short distance west of the Three Lakes, and will strike the Ontonagon river on section 4, town 47, range 27, the distance being a little less than forty miles. The engineers are now busy preparing their report, together with maps of the country through which the line will run, which will be forwarded at an early date for the inspection and consideration of the board of directors, and it is confidentially whispered that orders for a final survey, preparatory to the commencement of the work, will, without doubt, be issued. It is becoming more apparent every day that railway companies holding unearned land grants must either complete their lines, or else submit to the alternative of having congress declare the unearned portion of their grants forfeited to the general government. While it has no desire to see the companies unfairly dealt with, the MINING JOURNAL is unalterably opposed to any further or longer extension of time to any of them, than may actually be necessary to enable them, with all due exertion on their part, to comply fully with the requirements of the acts making the grants. The M., H. & O. company has ample time in which to complete this extension, and undoubtedly intend to do the work within the time limited by the last extension given them; it is to be hoped that the legislation affecting the Northern Pacific Co.'s grant, now pending in congress, will be such as to compel it to construct, with all due expedition, at least that part of its line lying between its present eastern terminus and the Montreal river. It should be given no more time than is actually necessary, and no extension whatever, unless it be coupled with such conditions as will impose an imperative obligation looking to the completion of the road within the shortest possible period of time.

The so-called Conrad Range is beginning to assume the importance predicted for it by the MINING JOURNAL some months ago, although but little well directed work has been done towards its development. The Morse & Pickands pool have purchased the railroad tract, upon which Mr. Conrad made his first discovery some time last fall, and now have a force of men at work stripping preparatory to the opening of a mine. The tract purchased by this pool is known as the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter, and lot No. 2 of section 32, Town 48, Range 28, about one mile north of the main line of the M., H. & O. R. R., midway between Greenwood and Clarksburg stations. They commenced work in a vein of hard blue ore, not over three feet wide at the outcrop, and that divided by a stratum of soapstone through the center. With this small show of ore to encourage them they sank a shaft to a depth of about 17 feet, at which point the soapstone has entirely disappeared, leaving 11 1/2 feet of clean ore of the very best quality between the walls. This vein dips to the south and pitches east under the jasper, but enough work has been done to show that the deposit is not only regular and well defined between solid walls, but that it is apparently of large extent. An analysis of the ore shows it to be the best ever yet found in this region, in that it is as rich in metallic iron as anyone well can be, and yet is lower in phosphorus than the best of the Bessemer ores at present being mined in the district. It is understood that a joint stock company to be called the Boston, will be, or has already been formed, not for the purpose of placing stock on the market, but for better convenience in handling and managing the affairs of the new mine.

About one mile a little south of east of the Boston, on the northeast quarter of section 4, and the west half of the northwest quarter of section 3, is the property known as the "Dutch Gap" upon which some work of a desultory character has been done, but on the whole with encouraging results, considering that ore of some kind was found in nearly all the pits sunk to the ledge. The property is believed to be valuable, and there is little doubt but that farther and more practical explorations cannot fail to be productive of good results. Mr. Conrad is now in the district, and proposes devoting much of his time to explorations on this new range.

THE NEW DEPARTURE is the title of a paper which comes to us from Carlisle, Arkansas, flying at its masthead the name of A. Emmons, formerly a prominent citizen of this county. Mr. Emmons is also engaged in the dry goods business, and appears to advertise extensively in his own paper.

The presidential bureau will please take notice that attentions in their particular line directed towards the MINING JOURNAL will not pay a very large percentage on the amount invested in postage. Presidential boons do not affect this concern, and the boomers on both sides may as well give us a permanent rest.

JOHN FITZGERALD, a former Lake Superiorite who was recently shot and killed in a quarrel over a mining claim in Colorado, had amassed the comfortable fortune of $100,000—but unless he had very materially changed his course, it won't do him much good now. He was a quarrelsome fellow, and the only wonder is that he did not meet the fate which finally overtook him years ago.

It's fun to see them "kick" and hear them groan, when the fruits of their own labors are brought directly home to them. For pure, unadulterated selfishness, as men as it is inconsistent, commend us to the newspaper owner who is an out and out protectionist for every American industry except those particular ones the protection of which entails a tax upon himself!

THE MINING JOURNAL is indebted to Mr. Edwin Baltho, of the Engineering and Mining Journal, for a copy of his Pocket Mining Atlas, which shows the location of the mining districts and mines of the United States. It is a very convenient little publication, and as nearly correct as the constant addition of new mines renders it possible to make such a work. Send one dollar to Mr. Baltho, care of Engineering and Mining Journal, N. Y. city, if you want the Atlas.

The Sacramento Mining company, is a corporation organized under the general mining laws of the state of Colorado, with a capital stock of $2,000,000—200,000 shares, of the par value of $10 per share, full paid and unassessable. Two of the members of the board of trustees are well known Lake Superior men—Wm. B. Frie and Hon. Jay A. Hubbell, the prospectus before us bearing the signature of Thomas J. Brown, M. E. The many friends of the latter will be pleased to learn that he is once more on the high road to fortune.

Oh, why should the spirit of mortal be proud, or a Michigan governor try to sport any green on his paltry thousand a year Gaffer style? The upper peninsula voted almost solid to make it $3,000, but the bloated cheese and milk holders of grangerdom wouldn't have it that way. The proposition has been defeated, and thus ends the upper peninsula's aspirations for gubernatorial honors—thus is perpetuated indefinitely Michigan's long line of governors who, if not rich, must necessarily be beggars. The grangers did it with their little ballots.

THE Menominee Herald says truly that Frank B. Stockbridge is to all intents and purposes an upper peninsula man. So he is; and more than that, a more genial, upright gentleman does not live in either end of the state, nor one who would reflect more credit on the state as its chief executive. He ought to have every upper peninsula vote in the convention, and we're about half sorry we can't be a republican long enough to give him a cordial support. For once, the Herald is on the right tack.

FROM a private letter received by one of our citizens from a former Marquetteur who went to Texas, about six years ago, we hear that the lone star state is not the most desirable place in the world to emigrate to, after all. The temperature in March and first part of April averaged 103 degrees in the shade, no rain for six weeks, earth parched and dry, crops dying for want of rain, cattle from thirst, and farmers paying twenty-five cents a barrel for water, and then having to haul it some distance. Better come back and try Lake Superior again, Phil.

DENNIS KEARNEY, the sand lots agitator, was on Monday last committed to the San Francisco house of correction for a term of six months. His head was shaved, and the convict's garb given him to wear. Kearney is no less a citizen than he certainly is an ignorant blatherskite, but it would appear that our free institutions are sadly degenerating, when a citizen can be arrested and imprisoned for the crime of a too free expression of opinion concerning his political opponents. Sedition was it—or what shall we call the crime a man is guilty of, when he is arrested and imprisoned because of his public utterances? If Kearney is being justly punished, then should his punishment be shared by the larger number of blatherskite politicians of both political persuasions.

A HURRICANE which swept through Missouri, Illinois, and some portions of Iowa, Wisconsin and lower Michigan, wrought great destruction to life and property. The town of Marshfield, Missouri, was completely destroyed, the buildings being blown over and to pieces, burying the people beneath their ruins, many being burned to death in the conflagration which immediately followed. The latest reports place the number of dead at over 100, with over 200 seriously if not fatally injured. Many lives were lost in other parts of the state. Indeed, the tornado left nothing but death and destruction in its wake. Chicago got a small taste of it, as did Lake Michigan, much anxiety being felt for the safety of vessels not known to be in port. It was the worst storm that has occurred for many years, and aside from the loss of life, involved, the destruction of property to the extent of many millions in value.

NEARLY all the agricultural counties in the lower part of the state gave large majorities against the proposed increase of the governor's salary. Michigan is the best state in the Union—for men who want to be governors to move away from. It's no wonder Michigan governors are compelled to get silver quarters changed when they want to contribute liberally to the cause of charity, and invariably pick out the biggest oranges and peanuts when they patronize the "train boy." The MINING JOURNAL is exceedingly proud of Michigan and its generous, whole-hearted granger population; you can't find one of them from Woodman down, who won't willingly sacrifice the pleasures of the barnyard to serve the state as its governor, even for the paltry sum of $1,000 a year, and beglad of the chance. As it is, either one of two qualifications only are necessary to fit a man for gubernatorial honors in Michigan—he must either be rich or a diamond, and in most cases he's both.

FUN WITH THE BOYS.

ESCANABA.—The Port comes to us enlarged to six-column quarto, and is, without exception, the handsomest and most neatly printed paper that comes to our table. Escanabites have reason to be proud of their representative, and we hope their pride will blossom into a most liberal, well merited support. We are compelled to the belief that there is something in the Payne candidate for our friend of the MINING JOURNAL. He is at Cleveland again, and the Payne boys takes form and consistency day by day. If the orator is started with A. P. S. at the crank, we wish him a big wheel at the bar!

Do please, good friends, give us a rest. We're not interested in anybody's boom, haven't been in Cleveland, and don't want a wheel at anybody's wheel, in a political way. We're simply trying hard to mind our own business, and would have strong hopes of success in that direction, if other people would let it alone. Do please allow us to rest awhile; when we have anything to say politically you'll all hear it.

SAULT STE MARIE.—The News of the 10th gives the result of the township elections, the rumpblabbers having elected their entire ticket by majorities ranging from 57 to 112, in a total vote of 617. Geo. Kemp beat Louis P. Trempe for supervisor, J. H. Steere, editor of the News, robbed Geo. W. Brown's reckless ambition of the clerkship, Swanton held the township, and the other rumpblabbers knocked down the persimmons generally. Brown's school house eloquence seems to have had a disastrous effect, though there is no relying at this distance how to account for the defeat of Trempe and Jackson, they having both been invulnerable as candidates. The defeated ones have our heartfelt sympathy, as likewise the others, who are more properly to be commiserated on account of their election. We'd sooner be a tad-pole with our caudal ap-pendage in the grasp of a crawfish than an office holder at the Sault.

The warm weather is causing snow and ice to vanish with amazing rapidity. The river is in the channel, and from the ferry is running there, but Mud Lake is still reported solid, and it will be some time yet before we see a boat on the water.

Deputy sheriff O'Brien is in the clutches of the law, charged with an assault and attempted rape on the person of Mrs. Lessard. His case is in court for trial at the next term of the circuit court.

Considerable activity is observable along the docks. The outlook for shipping interests this season is unusually bright, and vessel men are making preparations to start on the first opportunity. Mr. Trompe has a large force of men at work getting his fleet in readiness. The crews of the Erie and Heldon are busy cleaning up, painting and fitting out their respective boats, and will have them all in shape long before they will probably be able to use them.

A man in the employ of James Graham made himself too promiscuous in the rear of a "So" horse, and now takes all his food in liquid form, though he can manage to get away with a little fish chopped very fine.

Serious fears are entertained at the "So" country for the prospects for good bass fishing on the Neeshing the coming season. Dr. Myers in crossing the river recently, broke through the ice and lost a large quantity of his "So" medicine. No fears are felt for the health of the community, but the effect the medicines may have on the fish is looked for with a great deal of anxiety.

ASHLAND.—A fire last week destroyed White & Child's planing mill, Mr. White's residence, an ice house and about 10,000 feet of lumber, all involving a loss of over $8,000, and no insurance.

They have a genuine gold and silver fever up at Ashland, and the editor of the Press is down with it, too. There may be something in it, and the MINING JOURNAL cheerfully gives place to the following from S. Vaughn, one of Ashland's most reputable citizens:

Now, in regard to the mineral prospects. The Chicago & Lake Superior Mining Co.'s mine is on the north half of the northwest quarter of section 22, town 48, range 28, west. The ore is a red quartz, a rapid stream and deep gulch, runs through the land in a northwesterly direction, and the quartz is nearly all in the stream, and is entirely on bed rock—worn down to it—and the veins show in the bed of the stream south of it. The existence of these veins was known long ago, and twenty-five years ago Dr. Brunsweller made a claim on the same land, then supposing they were blather veins or would prove so after a while. Hard times of fifty-seven came and the doctor abandoned them, and our townsmen, who had the land, sold it to the Chicago & Lake Superior Mining Co. This land lay right on the old English Lake trail from Ashland to the Penoka line in the north half of the northwest quarter of section 22, town 48, range 28, west. The ore is a red quartz—carrying both gold and silver, about three feet and a half wide; the other half of the vein is a dark quartz, and carries silver only—both from assays show very rich. Both veins run across the formation, north and south, and are about eight feet wide, and the tests show silver. About one thousand feet or more from the river and east of both of these veins they have sunk shafts about seventy feet through a soft formation, to bed rock. The sand from this shaft when washed shows free gold. There is a large shaft in the bottom of the pan every time. About fifteen hundred feet from the vein, nearly south on the edge of the river, in the bank, they have another small shaft and the sand from this also shows gold. We are of the opinion, and that a rich gold and silver belt or formation exists in our county is an indisputable fact, and as "Vaughn" puts it, "Gulching is a success." S. S. VAUGHN.

The Press says that much excitement exists, concerning the discovery, and that companies are forming with a view of prospecting and mining for the precious metals. All of which is well enough, provided it isn't another device of filling up that four syllable hotel!

DELUTH.—The Tribune pleads guilty to the soft impeachment of an undignified indignance in epithets, and resorts with "you're another." Granted; then take example by your uncle, and quit it. A parcel of few members of the Tribune has certainly been sufficient to fortify us in a previously formed resolution of that kind. In your case, Mr. Mitchell, according to your own statement, you're expending a large amount of wind to overcome a very little whiff-of-it. Dye see?

The Marquette Mining Journal states, upon the authority of parties in interest, that a syndicate of Detroit capitalists have taken the Marquette & Pacific Rolling Mill furnace, which will be put into blast probably as early as the middle of June next. Which is another indication that Marquette is following in the footsteps of Duluth and enjoying a boom.

Marquette following in the footsteps of Duluth! Oh, check, that art indeed the sublimest attribute of a Duluth editor!

Luke Marvin, postmaster at Duluth, and one of its most esteemed citizens, died suddenly of heart disease on the 10th inst.

OSTONAGOON.—The Miner reports still another cowboy having fallen through the beam of the "Sled," and adds that "he was with difficulty rescued." If it had been a Marquette cow the rescuers might be set down as anything rather than public benefactors. Oh for a slouch big enough to swallow 'em all—the crows we mean.

The ice has gone out of the Ontonagon river and every thing is clear for navigation. The ice commenced to move out on the 13th, and went out without any jams. The very risk of a jam, and there are no fears of a jam—without we should have extraordinary rains.

HON. EDWARD S. HARDY, Judge of probate, celebrated the 71st anniversary of his birth last Wednesday. Judge Hardy was born in Massachusetts, April 21st, 1809; graduated from college in 1827, and shortly after began the active duties of life as a sailor between New York and Liverpool. Thirty-seven years of his life were spent upon the briny deep, most of which time he was commander. At the time he gave up this seafaring life, in 1855, he was the oldest steamship commander between New York and Hawaii. Judge Hardy came to Marquette in 1859, in the interest of the Board of Underwriters, but for the past six or seven years has been Judge of probate for this county. The judge has the appearance more of a man in the fifties than of one who has passed the allotted three score and ten, and if by reason of strength and excellent health he lives till the middle of the 20th century we won't be the least bit surprised. That he may do so, and enjoy life to the fullest extent, is the wish of the MINING JOURNAL and his hosts of friends.

NEW SAIL YACHTS.—Several new sailing yachts have been built by the pleasure boat owners of this city during the past winter, which, for convenience, comfort and fast sailing will probably be ahead of any like craft yet launched in the bay. John Odette has had built a new pleasure yacht which differs from any others here in that it has a comfortable cabin eight feet long, arranged with seats and a folding table in the centre. The boat is thirty one feet and seven inches on top, nine feet beam, three feet nine inches high, and has six-inch bulwarks. The craft will carry a main sail and one jib—was built by Mr. Geo. Prior, and is withal, as fine a looking sail boat as it has been our good fortune to examine in these waters. Mr. Prior also has in course of construction a new style pleasure yacht, for his own boat house, which differs from the others in that it has a round stern. It is 19 feet keel, 7 feet beam and 2 feet 3 inches deep. This boat will carry one sail, and is light but safe. Besides these, several new row boats will be built by Mr. Prior and Mr. Freeman who are looking forward to a large business in this line the coming summer.

STEAM PLEASURE YACHT.—Some of the more prominent gentlemen of this city have united in the purchase of the steam yacht W. J. Gordon, formerly owned in Cleveland, which will be brought here as soon as practicable and be used by her owners and families for pleasure purposes. A bill has been introduced in congress to change the name of the yacht to the "Salmo," and such she will probably be christened upon, if not before, her arrival here. The yacht is 6.11 tons burthen, 39 feet long, 8 feet 7 inches beam, and 2 feet 9 inches deep, and is said by those acquainted with her to be an elegant craft.

The Patty House prize drawing, which has been so extensively advertised, and in which some one will draw a fortune, and others various handsome sums in cash, will take place on the 13th of May. That this drawing will be conducted in an honest, straightforward manner, there is not a particle of doubt. In a letter to the MINING JOURNAL, Mr. Blythe, one of the proprietors of the Patty house, says:

A large number of agents and ticketholders do not understand the position the committee occupy who have charge of the drawing. The committee have no interest in the drawing or enterprise in any way whatever.

Knowing the necessity of an assurance to the public that everything connected with this matter would be done in an honest, business like way, we requested these gentlemen to act as a committee, occupying the position in the nature of trustees, to see that all parties are dealt with justly.

The certificates of deposit are payable to their order; when they draw the money on them it does not come into our hands, but they hold it as a trust fund for the ticketholders until the drawing is over and the prizes paid.

The high character, standing and financial ability of this committee is well known here and can be ascertained from any point in the country by corresponding with any of our banks or citizens.

Read the advertisement in another place, and then, if you want to take a chance in the drawing, call on F. M. Moore, Esq., and secure a ticket.

L'ANSE.—The ice is all gone, and Keewenaw Bay is open for navigation once more.

The men are all on the drive at the different camps, and L'Anse is quiet ever since.

Rumor has it that the firm of Hebard & Thurber, lumber manufacturers at Pequanaming, has been dissolved and that Mr. Thurber contemplates building a saw-mill at L'Anse.

At the meeting of the L'Anse L. D. Society to be held next Monday, the question for debate will be "Resolved that no president should be eligible to a third term," with Mr. Thomas Brady as leader on the affirmative and James T. Williams on the negative. This being about the last debate for the season, every member is requested to attend.

Our village marshal is recovering from his severe illness, under Dr. J. G. Turner's care, and we expect to see him on our streets very soon.

All the dealers in spirituous or fermented liquors, in Baraga county, should remember that the tax on said business must be paid on or before the 1st of May, to the county treasurer, or they will be fined for selling liquor without a license.

Peter Ruppe has gone east to purchase his spring stock for the L'Anse store, and says it will be larger than ever.

Last Monday as the ice was leaving the bay, it forced itself against the M., H. & O. R. R. pier with such strength as to take 50 piles away from under it. The company will be obliged to drive new piles and to re-plank the dock, in order to make it safe for this year's business.

Peterson vs. Marquette & Pacific Rolling Mill company and Luther Boecher; assumpsit; jury trial pending. METEOROLOGICAL record for the week ending April 23rd, 1880:

Never when traveling he over-boasts of your nation, state or country," says a philosopher. We would like to emphasize that word never. A New York man on his way to Oshkosh began boasting of his biceps, and a little bit of a greasy chap hanging on the end of a carseat, popped up and lent him one on the nose that started a stream as crimson as the Red Sea. And when the New Yorker travels again he will wear a moustache. That American disease, dyspepsia, is thoroughly cured by Reed's Gilt Edge Tonic. Take no other. Did it ever occur to you why a lawyer who is conducting a disputed will case is like a trapeze performer in a circus? Didn't? Well, it's because he flies through the air with the greatest of ease. The faithfulness of a friendship existing between companions in arms, is shown by Gen. Beauregard in publishing the book left behind him ready for publication by the late General J. B. Hood, whose sudden death of yellow fever at New Orleans, left his ten little babies without any provision against the future. Gen. Beauregard has had the book handsomely printed and beautifully bound and gives his friends time to its publication. As the entire proceeds of the book are given to "The Hood Memorial Fund," the monies of which are invested in the Cause; and the fund is to be devoted to the nurture, care, support and education of the little babies left without father or mother. General Hood made an investment of all his fortune over $100,000 in Louisiana state securities which turned out disastrously just before his death. The book is available in another column. After a telegraph pole had fallen on a Savannah negro's head he threw up his hands and shouted, "Don't hit me again! I'd just hit Mr. Policeman. I was a man, I sold the chickens. It was Deacon Henry." He looked, saw what hit him and walked off saying, "Golly, I see in back days mortal expected dat de police man had me suah dat time. Late inventions, like the telephone and the multiplying plates all tend to reduce the labor and vexations of business; but nothing relieves a cold, cough, or sore throat, like Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Try it; it is worth its weight in gold. Some one put a wooden Indian under the bed of a Detroit old maid and of course she saw it and yelled, and a policeman came in and crawled under the bed to bring the burglar out and fought the Indian for thirty minutes before he found out it was wooden, and then he told the owners of the bed to bring a gentleman's head and went out and pumped on his head for half an hour to get the dust out of his eyes. What do you do when you have a cold? asked a little boy of Jones the other day. Cough I replied Jones. I don't, for my ma gives me Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil and it always stops my coughing. Not long ago in the Court of Appeals, an Irish lawyer, while arguing with earnestness his case, stated a point which the court ruled out. "Well," said the attorney, "if it please the court, if I am wrong in this, I have another point that is equally conclusive. NOTICE.—We were suffering the most excruciating pain from inflammatory rheumatism. One application of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil afforded almost instant relief, and after fifty cent bottles effected a permanent cure. O. E. COOMSTOCK, Caledonia, Minn. Rapid transit from a condition of bodily suffering and disease to one of comfort and health takes place when Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is applied to muscles and joints tortured by rheumatism, or to sore throats and chest, or is taken internally for pulmonary complaints. It has no equal as an internal or external remedy for all lung and bronchial affections, neuralgic troubles, piles, kidney complaints, and a variety of other maladies as well as sores and injuries. Sold by John J. Crowley. John Hayes, Credit P. O. says: "His shoulders were so lame for nine months that he could not raise his hand to his head; but by the use of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil the pain and lameness disappeared, and although three months has elapsed, he has not had an attack of it since." For sale by John Crowley. Brigs only succeeds occasionally now. It was the rheumatism made him so profane, but since he has taken Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, he has scarcely had a twinge. He says he thinks another bottle will cure him entirely. Sold by Crowley. REVEAL THE SECRETS. In our endeavors to preserve health it is of the utmost importance that we keep the secret system in perfect condition. The well known remedy, Kidney-Wort, has specific action upon the kidneys, liver and bowels. Use it instead of dosing with vile bitters or drastic pills. It is purely vegetable and is prompt but mild in action. I shall find another channel for my article. "That's right," was the answer of the courteous magazine editor. "The British Channel would be an excellent place for it." AGAIN VICTORIOUS. At the International Dairy Fair, held in New York, December, 1879, a committee of the most expert butter makers under the most careful tests of all the different Butter Colors. The result was the unanimous award of the only prize to Wm. Richardson & Co's Perfected Butter Color. Again this original and perfect color scores a victory as it always does when there is honest and fair competition with any of its competitors. Sold by druggists and merchants. Take no other. "Don't be afraid," said a soldier to a German lance, "sit down and make your counsel equal." "I would h'f to blow my brains out," was the reply of the Teuton. PILES! PILES! PILES! Do you know what it is to suffer with piles? If you do, you know what is one of the worst torments of the human frame. The most perfect cure ever known is Kidney-Wort. It cures constipation, and the its tonic action restores health to the diseased bowels, and prevents recurrence of the disease. Try it without delay. He was in the Legislature one year, I believe, but I wouldn't say anything about that. Otherwise his life was free from trial. GIVEN UP BY DOCTORS.—Is it possible that Mr. Gifford is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy? "I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but my bottles; and only ten days ago my wife gave him up and said he must die." "Well-a-day! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George. I know they are good."—Salem Post. BUSINESS NOTICES. To RENT.—Dwelling house of ten rooms, corner of Bluff and Fourth. Apply to W. A. BIRT. LITERARY REVOLUTION—AND— UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE. An Encyclopedia in 20 vols., over 16,000 pages; 10 per cent. more matter than any Encyclopedia ever before published in this country, and sold, handsomely and well bound in cloth for $10, in half morocco for $15, and printed on fine heavy paper, wide margin, bound in half Russia, gilt and "chamber" style, with about 40 per cent. of new matter added, upon topics of special interest to American readers, thus making it equal in character to any similar work better than any other suited to the wants of the great majority of those who consult works of reference, and altogether the latest Encyclopedia in the field. Specimen volumes in either style will be sent for examination with privilege of return on receipt of proportionate price per volume. Special discounts to all early subscribers, and extra discounts to clubs. Full particulars with descriptive catalogue of many other standard works equally low in price sent free. Leading principles of the American Book Exchange: I. Publish only books of real value. II. Work upon the basis of present cost of making books, about one half what it was a few years ago. III. Sell to buyers direct and save them the 50 to 60 per cent. commission commonly allowed to dealers. IV. The cost of books when made 10,000 at a time is but a fraction of the cost when made 500 at a time—adopt the low price and sell the large quantity. V. Use good type, paper, etc., do careful printing and strong, neat binding, but avoid all "padding," fat and heavily-loaded type, spongy paper and gaudy binding, which are so commonly resorted to to make books appear large and fine, and which greatly add to their cost, but do not add to their value. VI. To make $1 and a friend is better than to make $5 and an enemy.

EXECUTION SALE.—By virtue of a writ of fieri facias issued out of and under the seal of the circuit court for the county of Marquette, in the state of Michigan, to me directed and delivered, wherein Amos R. Harlow is plaintiff and John E. Sullivan is defendant, against the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of the said defendant, for the sum of two hundred and seventy-eight and fifty-two hundredths dollars ($278.52), and twenty dollars ($20) costs, I have levied upon all the right, title and interest of the said John E. Sullivan, in the following described piece or parcel of land, situate in the city of Marquette, county of Marquette and state of Michigan: Commencing at the south east corner of lot numbered one (1), in block numbered five (5), of Harlow's addition to the village (now city) of Marquette, and running westerly along the line of Washington street, along the south line of said lot, two (2) rods, thence northerly on a line parallel with Fourth street, five (5) rods, thence easterly with Fourth street, five (5) rods, thence southerly along said Fourth street, to the place of beginning. I shall sell at public vendue, on Monday, the third day of May, 1880, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the court house, in Marquette, all the right, title and interest of the said defendant in and to said premises, and the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, to satisfy said execution, and costs and expenses allowed by law. Dated March 12, 1880. JACOB DOLF, Under Sheriff of Marquette county. F. O. CLARK, Attorney for plaintiff. 609yr

NOTICE! To avoid imposition, purchasers of Waltham Watches will observe that every genuine watch, whether gold or silver, bears our trade-mark on both case and movement.

Gold cases are stamped "A. W. Co.," and guarantee certificates accompany them. Silver cases are stamped "Am. Watch Co., Waltham, Mass., Sterling Silver," and are accompanied by guarantee certificates, signed R. E. Robbins, Treasurer. The name "Waltham" is plainly engraved upon all movements, irrespective of other distinguishing marks.

This caution is rendered necessary by reason of the fact that the Waltham cases are frequently separated from their movements, and put upon worthless movements of other makers, and vice versa, thus affecting injuriously the performance of the watches, and vitiating their guarantee, which is intended to cover only the complete watches wholly made by the Waltham Company. It is necessary, also, because it is so notorious as to be a public scandal, that there is great fraud in the metal quality of both gold and silver cases as now generally sold. We have demonstrated by frequent assays that many gold and silver cases offered in the market, are debased from 10 to 20 per cent. from the quality they assume to be. This is a fraud upon the purchaser, and accounts for the low prices at which such cases watched have been sold.

AM. WATCH CO., WALTHAM, MASS. The genuine Watches of the American Watch Co., of Waltham (cases as well as movements), are offered in great variety and at lowest prices by their agents, M. S. SMITH & CO., Jewelers, Cor. Woodward & Jefferson Aves., Detroit.

WANTED. I wish to secure the services of a few experienced MINING MEN to take charge of operations in the Menominee Iron District. Men who can give satisfactory references can secure steady employment and good pay. J. M. LONGYEAR, Ag't, Lake Superior Ship Canal, Railway and Iron Company. 6128w

The Mining Journal.

Ishpeming, April 24, 1880. [A. HORNSTEIN, Editor.]

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Communications for the Ishpeming columns must be sent to the editor of this department to receive any attention in the future. No notice whatever will be taken of communications designed for this department unless this rule is complied with. No exception will be made in favor of any person.

BUSINESS of every kind is good in Ishpeming. THE coal famine must soon die a natural death.

THE building boom is booming louder and louder every day. AND still the snow sticks in large patches on the north side of the bluffs.

THE next dance of the Happy Hours club on Thursday, the 29th inst., is to be a leap year affair.

If we don't have a perfect avalanche of shows here the coming summer, the MINING JOURNAL mistakes the signs of the times, that's all.

This seems rather a late day to be building log houses in Ishpeming, but there are a couple of them in course of erection near the Excelsior furnace.

JONES has finally got his magnificent bus on wheels once more, and it is now out again, the handsomest and most prominent vehicle on our streets.

THE most touching and melancholy parts of a play never fail to provoke a laugh among the occupants of the rear seats at a country theater. It was ever thus.

EIGHT new dwelling houses of the same size as the eight built at that place last year, are being erected at the National mine location, and also a large boarding house.

ROBERT WILSON is soon to open a jewelry store and watch repairing shop in the stand lately occupied by J. Mallanney. He will occupy one half of the store, while Prof. Fohrman will utilize the other half as a music room.

THE pleasant evenings of the past week have had the effect of bringing the regular summer crowds on to the streets again. The sidewalks of Main street present an unusually animated appearance, the crowds being, of course, larger than for a number of years.

DR. T. HEATON, since his return from the south, has not been able to resume his practice. He is gradually recovering, however, from the severe and acute pains to which he has been subjected for the past four months, and we expect to see him fully restored to health with the advent of warm weather.

ALTHOUGH strangers have been coming to this county at a brisk rate for the last two months, immigration has not fairly commenced. The grand rush will be when those who have been sent for, to Sweden and Norway, get here. The sale of ocean trip tickets has been enormous, and few if any of those sent for have yet arrived.

NEW MILLINERY STORE.—Mrs. Odgers and Miss Stevens have this week opened their new millinery shop on the second floor of Wadsworth's bank building. They begin business with an entirely new stock, and this, coupled with the fact that Miss Stevens is an experienced milliner, should draw for the new firm a large and lucrative business.

THE amateur orchestra which Prof. Fohrman has under his training discoursed some very fine music at the theater the other evening, under the professor's directorship. The orchestra consists of Prof. Fohrman as leader, Alphonse Houle, 2nd violin, Eli Archambeau at the piano and Miss Minnie Marquette, cornet. The three latter are a youthful trio who display rare musical ability.

It's a holy show the way Norton is piling in the new goods. He is receiving them daily. There are stacks upon stacks of clothing, furnishing goods, &c., all of the latest styles and patterns. You can hardly turn around in their large store for the piles of clothing. Norton's is the biggest clothing store on the peninsula, and is growing bigger every week. They are stocking up for spring and summer trade in a way that is grand, and it will have to be a fastidious person indeed who fails to find just what he wants to wear at this mammoth establishment. There will be lots of men and boys to clothe in this county the present year, and there is lots to clothe them with at Norton's.

THE Cleveland is the first mine in Ishpeming to introduce electric light into their underground pits. The company are about to put up a 16-light machine in their east engine house. Workmen are already making room and laying the foundations for the machine, and they expect to have it in running order early in May. The lights will be distributed as follows: five in Sellwood's pit, five in the Incline mine, two in the Sawmill mine, one in the old engine house and the remaining three wherever they may be most needed. The action of the Cleveland in this matter will firmly establish the practicability of the electric light in the mines. There is no doubt that other mining companies will follow the lead of the Cleveland should the latter be fully satisfied with the working of the new light. The MINING JOURNAL feels safe in predicting its general adoption in most of the large mines of this section, within a few years. There are too many advantages to be gained by its use, and too many substantial reasons in favor of its adoption, to allow the mines to get along without it very long. It is the light of the future for our mines.

MORE THEATRE.—The Forbes Dramatic company have engaged Austin's hall for May 6th, 7th and 8th. As this is the first visit of that company to this place, the MINING JOURNAL is unacquainted with them or their merits, and therefore ventures no opinion in their favor or against them. The company is a large one, and has an extensive repertoire of interesting plays. According to their quotations from the press they give good entertainments, and are probably well worth seeing, in which case they will not fail to draw large houses here.

Not only are the cemeteries of this city in an ill chosen locality, but the ground is poorly adapted to burial purposes. On that part of the enclosures situated on the hillside the rock comes very near the surface, and in some places the surface earth is not deep enough for graves, while in the low or swampy part the ground is too wet. We are informed that on many occasions the sextons have been compelled to abandon half dug graves on account of striking the rock, and then select other lots for burial places. And furthermore, there are very few suitable lots remaining vacant in the city cemetery.

FIRE MEETING.—At the postponed meeting of the fire department held Monday evening last, a number of changes were made in the officers of the company. Foreman W. F. Swift tendered his resignation, (not as a fireman but as foreman.) The department at first refused to accede to his request until he urged as a reason the fact that as mayor he could not fill the position as satisfactorily as he desired, whereupon his resignation was accepted. First assistant P. H. Devine was then unanimously chosen foreman, W. H. Rood was promoted from second to first assistant, and W. O. Tislov made second assistant.

If there is a place in Ishpeming where you can get the worth of your money it is at the harness shop of C. McNamara. McNamara's is just what he calls it—the pioneer harness establishment of Ishpeming—and it is in every way worthy of that distinction. None but the best work is turned out there, and judging from the rush of orders it gives the utmost satisfaction. Mr. M. turns out every grade of work, from the heavy cart harness to fancy trappings for carriage horses and poxies. His store on Division street is piled full with a magnificent line of new trunks, valises, whips, &c., and in such assortment as to satisfy the most fastidious. You needn't go any farther than the pioneer harness shop to procure the best and the cheapest in its line.

A. TITCOMBE, the furniture dealer, has been below recently purchasing a large stock of furniture and upholstery goods, with which he has stocked his store from floor to ceiling. Among the many new things he has brought with him is a patent folding bed which eclipses anything of the kind ever made. When folded, it has the appearance of a bureau. By lifting a hook and pulling the front of it towards you it opens up and becomes as perfect a bed as ever was made. The mechanism of the article is truly wonderful, because of its completeness and simplicity. A small child can open or close it. It is a comfortable bed, supplied with the best springs made, and closes like magic. Mr. Titcombe has the exclusive agency for the sale of this ingenious piece of furniture in the upper peninsula. Everyone who admires an interesting and useful invention should take a look at this new folding bed. It is a novelty worth seeing and handy to have in the house.

ACCIDENTS in this section are mostly of a horrible character, and the details are always shocking to a greater or less extent; but it remained for a newly arrived and rather verdant German to occasion the first accident of a truly ludicrous kind. He had but lately gone to work in one of the mines of this city, and knew very little about mining or of the materials used in blasting ore. Having occasion to fill his lamp last Friday, while near a man who was engaged charging holes with nitro-glycerine, he filled it from the contents of the can containing this powerful explosive, whilst the nitro-glycerine man was busy preparing to fire a hole. This done, he complacently lit the wick, put the lamp in his hat, and started off to resume work. To his disgust he found that the oil with which he had filled his lamp would not burn—the flame flickered a little and then went out entirely. He concluded that there must be something wrong with his lamp, so taking it off his hat and placing it on a piece of rock, he started off in quest of a new lamp. He had hardly got a safe distance away

NEGAUNEE.

The Pendill mine is still idle. MARSSELL is also below buying springdry goods.

Oh, yes, we forgot to mention it; skating is played out. J. H. KREMER is east this week purchasing a spring stock of goods.

The Peninsula brewery turns out an average of 150 barrels of beer per month.

KIRKWOOD and McLeod have put up brand new awnings in front of their stores.

The rattle of the ore trains will soon be continuous, if not more so, in Negaunee.

THERE is an unprecedented lull in the raffle business. Can it be the result of better times.

It is said about town that Mr. Pendill is to operate the mine in this place which bears his name.

The Odd Fellows will celebrate their anniversary here next Monday. There will be a large turnout from all parts of the county.

A RAILROAD eating house will be opened in this city as soon as the M., H. & O. road commences running trains on summer time.

The man who has been trying to guess what next day's weather would be for the past month, will soon be a fit subject for the insane asylum.

THE merchants on the north side of Iron street now have to put up their awnings or get sun-burned, and they are doing the former—most of them.

The Lake Superior Carriage shops have just been enlarged and improved and a number of new hands employed. Mr. Richardson is determined to keep up with the times.

THE first ore train on the M., H. & O. road was put on between here and the Republic mine last Monday. The ore is shipped from this point to Escanaba over the Northwestern road.

THE only place where you can find anything green as yet, is at the meat markets, where greenstuffs are becoming quite plenty. The grass on the bluffs has not yet put on its summer coloring.

RETURNED.—Miss Delia Kruse, who has spent most of the past year at the convent in Milwaukee, returned home a few days ago, having left that institution permanently.

WONDER how long the ruins of the burned building belonging to the Fred Fuchs' estate will be left standing, an eyesore to every stranger and resident?

CLIFFORD has changed his programme, and will play here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. He should have good houses as his company deserves it.

THE social dance at Winter's hall, Thursday evening, was a very enjoyable occasion. A large party attended, many of whom were from Ishpeming, and dancing was kept up till a late hour.

WE stepped into Heyn's store the other day and found Alex. surrounded by a brand new stock of dry goods, fancy goods, &c., which he has just received from the markets below. Alex. is correspondingly happy, and wishes to have all the folks who read this come and examine his new stock.

HERE THEY COME.—The Forbes Dramatic company is billed for Winter's hall for May 3rd, 4th and 5th. This company claims to be the biggest one traveling in these parts.

Hi Henry's minstrel show is also coming up this way, and have written to engage the hall. Who Hi Henry's minstrels are, is a question we are unable to answer; but they will soon give folks a chance to find out.

Daniel Sness, of Milwaukee, spent a few days this week in Negaunee.

Superintendent T. J. Houston is expected home in a few days. He has met with a bereavement recently in the loss of his only child, a babe several months old.

ACCIDENT AT THE PALMER.—A serious, though not fatal, accident occurred at the Palmer mine Tuesday evening last. A quantity of ground fell in one of the pits, striking and injuring three miners, two of them, Mitchell and Sullivan, being struck on the head and sustaining severe but not dangerous injuries. The third one was hit on the foot by a piece of the falling rock, which inflicted a wound more painful than serious. All the men are rapidly recovering from their hurts.

MARRIED. CORBITT—STERLING.—At the home of the bride, Wednesday, April 21st, 1880, by the Rev. Robert Wood, Lewis Corbitt and Marie Sterling.

Thus have the Negaunee bachelors lost one of their heretofore most steadfast members. We thought Corbitt invulnerable, but he was one of the first to be captured by Cupid's wiles. No single man can now be considered safe. The marriage ceremony was strictly private, only the relatives and a few chosen friends of the contracting parties being present. Both Mr. Corbitt and his bride have long been residents of Negaunee, and are persons of high social standing. The MINING JOURNAL extends its congratulations.

FOR SALE.—Buggies, Cutters, Harnesses, etc., etc., for sale at less than cost, and far below their intrinsic value.

[To the Editor.]

PERMIT me to inquire, through the columns of your widely circulated journal, whether a witness in a court of law is supposed to have any rights which lawyers are bound to respect? If not, why not? The inquiry is suggested by the language of certain attorneys in the recent trial of a cause before a jury in our circuit court, the said attorneys then and there having endeavored to convince the jury that certain witnesses for the defence did not know what they had been talking about, or in other words, that they had been guilty of deliberate lying. Now, Mr. Editor, I have no wish to say harsh or abusive things concerning any one, but it does occur to me that if the attorneys in question, either singly or collectively, should meet one of those same witnesses on the street and call him a liar, if the limb of the law did not get knocked down it would be simply because the insulted party was deficient in physical strength, and for no other reason. Yet these attorneys will get up in open court and ask the intelligent juror to believe that such and such a witness has sworn to a lie (or words to that effect) simply because the witness in question happens to be in the employ of the plaintiff or defendant, as the case may be, and knows that if he does not testify without regard to truth the way his employer wishes him to testify, he is liable to lose his place! That may be law, or it may be the way some lawyers have of making out a case; but in either event it is not only unjust and unkind, but unmanly for a man who has been more fortunate than his neighbor, and who can attach the "at'y" to his name, to even insinuate that a reluctant witness will perjure himself for the purpose of keeping a situation he may happen to hold in the employ of one of the parties litigant. It may be said that such is the general practice of attorneys, but I do not believe it—because there are lawyers who are gentlemen; but if I am mistaken, and such, indeed, is the general practice, I can only say that the sooner it is abolished the better it will be for the courts, the lawyers and the cause of justice itself. There are, as I have said, some lawyers who are gentlemen; and there are some hard working, honest laborers and mechanics who can testify to truths within their own knowledge and belief, no matter whether their testimony happens to be for or against the rights and interests of their employers, and such men ought to be protected by the court against the unprovoked insults of the attorney who is more a pettifogger than a gentleman.

A WITNESS.

[To the Editor.]

THAT ROBBERY.—The last two or three weeks I have noticed going the rounds of the papers an item stating that the trunk of one Robert Meekin had been overhauled and robbed of $250, at the Madison house, kept by me in this city. The statement is calculated to do me an injury, in that it affects the character of my house, and I desire for that reason to make a plain statement of the facts, which are as follows: The trunk in question was not forced open, but was left in that condition by Meekin. His first statement to me was that he had lost $100. My wife hearing of it, went up to his room and found him counting money. She asked him if he had found his money, and he replied that he had not, saying, "I made a mistake, and have only lost $245." All this time, however, he was asserting to others that he did not have a cent left. I do not believe Meekin ever had a cent of money stolen from him at my house; he had been on a three days' spree, and when he sobered up found out that he had lost his money. If he lost any money at all (which I very much doubt,) he certainly lost it outside my house.

THE DEVIL.

Not His Satanic Majesty, but the Old London Tavern that Ben Jonson Admired.

Gentleman's Magazine.

So fond was Ben Jonson of the tavern called the "Devil" that he is said to have lodged at a comb-maker's, just outside of Temple Bar, in order to be close to it. He wrote the Leges Coevales in very choice Latin, in imitation of the rules of Roman entertainments, and they were engraved on black marble and fixed up against one of the walls of the room. They enjoined that each one should pay his own shot, unless in the case of a friend being brought in; they banished the sad, the lewd fop, and the sot as the plagues of good company, for their state was to be composed only of the learned, the witty, the jovial, the gay, the generous, and the honest, and to exalt and delight, no one was to be deprived of his choice female mate; the cooking was to be good, and the taste of each guest was to be consulted; there was to be no disturbance about place or precedence, for the sake of showing nice breeding or valour; the waiters were to be always on the alert and always silent, and the wine was to be of the best under pain of a broken head to mine host, and no sober bigot was to think it a sin to push round the moderate bottle; the contents were to be of looks rather than of wine, the company were to be neither noisy nor anaæ; all serious and divine subjects were forbidden, and the entertainment was to conclude with mirth, wit, dancing and singing, that every sense might be regaled with delight; no lull was to be without music, dull poems were not to be read; but a snare corner was to be found for the lovesick to sigh in; there was to be no fighting with gold, nor destroying of furniture in wanton frolics and whoever published what was said and done at these assemblies was to be forever banished.

If that dull, cold, and list of bright Apollo, now smirking in the dusty, ungenial atmosphere of the old banking house, could be endowed for but one hour with the faculty of speech and memory, what rare stories, what wit it could rescue from everlasting oblivion, telling us more of the man Shakespeare and his glorious companions than biographers and commentators have been able to glean in a hundred years' search. Imagination may picture something of the scene and the characters, may image forth the great president's Herculean form seated in state, his rugged, ill-carved features redeemed by intellectual fire, gleaming with witty malice, as he hurls some terrible bolt of satire at an adversary; the noble, pensive face—so full of the divine afflatus. And with its vast superstructure of forehead—of the gentle Shakespeare, lit up by the merry humor of the moment; that model of a handsome, gallant gentleman, Francis Beaumont—and how handsome the men of that age were, what a refined type of countenance was theirs, so different from the coarse, sensual visages of those of the past revolution period, and the mean vulgarity of the nineteenth century! Beside him is his fidus Achates, with whom his name is to be so inextricably associated that the one can never be thought of without the other following like a final syllable. Thither, too, doubtless, came Raleigh with his fine face, bronzed on the Spanish main, to give a flavor of the sea and the camp to the rich medley dish of wit. Some of the players, too, would walk up from the "Blackfriars" with Shakespeare after the play was over, the stately Burdage, and witty, roystering Will Rempe, not to know both of whom was to be a person of very little consequence in those days. And so we may go on imagining until we have assembled all the wit of the age, as doubtless it was at different times, around Jonson's elbow-chair. What a symposium! Could the ancients have shown anything like it? Perhaps; but certainly not the moderns of any other era.

Wedding of Russian Women.

The Russian papers publishes an edifying account of a marriage celebrated about a year ago between two female peasants. The woman who played the part of husband was one Agathe Ivanoff, of Novgorod, a truly unprincipled person, who, in the first place, deceived the authorities by taking out a passport in the name, not of Agathe, but of Alexandra. Agathe then put on men's clothes and changed in her passport "Alexandra" to "Alexander." The self-styled Alexander Ivanoff made, soon after, the acquaintance of one Prascovia, a peasant girl from Olonetz, proposed marriage to her, and was accepted. A few weeks ago an official to whom Alexandra or Alexander Ivanoff had occasion to exhibit the altered passport, recognized the erasure and substitution of letters, and ordered the passport bearer to be arrested. The woman has since been sentenced to a fine and short term of imprisonment for having tampered with her passport, but no action, it seems, can be taken against her in connection with the strange alliance which Alexandra or Alexander has contracted. The offense of marrying a person of the same sex being one unprovided for by the Russian law.

INTERNATIONAL DAIRY FAIR.

One of the most important results of this great fair is the verdict of the committee of experts that they found the well known and always popular Perfected Butter Color made by Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., superior to all others, and therefore awarded it the first and only prize. Dairymen should remember this and insist on having the best. Sold by all druggists and grocers. Send for circular.

LINDEN HOUSE,

L'Anse, Michigan,

H. A. DOWNS, Proprietor.

This house has been refitted and re-furnished throughout, and is the only first-class house between Ishpeming and Houghton. The table is always furnished with the very best the market affords. Sample room for commercial travelers. The patronage of the traveling public is respectfully solicited. The Houghton stages leave this hotel daily.
