

THE MASHER.

"What is that, mother?" "A masher, dear. You will always find it standing here. Poked on the corner of the street. Proudly displaying its tiny feet: Twirling its little ten-cent cane. And as though in a tender brain With the smoke of a paper cigarette:— Don't touch it, dear, it was raised a pet."

"Will it bite, mother?" "Well, I should about. It will bite free lunch for all that's out. And tie it up with a piece of string? No other monkey in all his show. Would prove such a drawing card, I know. But for me, I'd chew gum all my life Rather than be a masher's wife."

SCHUYLER AND THE TRAMP.—One sunny afternoon Schuyler Colfax was leaning over the back gate waiting patiently for the call of his country. He had just found a crocus in the flower bed. His heart was full of spring, and it seemed to him that in the general revivification he, too, might have a chance. There approached Schuyler a way-faring citizen who wore one shoe and one split boot.

"General," said the stranger, "could you give a hungry man a nickel?" "I will willingly give you a nickel," said Schuyler, blandly, "but I am not a general. My career has been that of a statesman."

"That's it," said the tramp. "You show it in your face." "Tell me, my friend," continued Schuyler, handing over not a nickel, but a dime—"you mingle much with the great world, and your profession leads you to all the busy haunts of men—tell me, as an observer of events, do you see any signs of a Colfax movement? Do you hear any voices demanding the vindication of Schuyler Colfax?"

"Well," said the tramp, cautiously, eyeing first his boot and then his shoe, "perhaps I do see signs and hear voices; and if it's worth anything to you to know— Schuyler gave the man half a dollar and invited him into the house. "Now," said he, after having provided his guest with a square meal, "speak without reserve. If you bring any message from the people of the United States to a veteran who, however he may shrink from the onerous cares of office, is still ready to obey the call of duty and serve his fellow citizens in any public capacity, do not hesitate to impart it. I am listening."

The tramp hesitated. "There ain't no message as I know of," but it seems as if I'd heard this Skulifax talked about somewhere. "That is to say," suggested Schuyler, "while you are not charged with any formal mission, you come on the part of the people of the United States to sound me, to draw out an expression of my views on public questions, to discover whether I am disposed to emerge from retirement? Proceed."

"Come to think," resumed the tramp, "it was about Skulifax that I heard talk. "At last!" murmured Schuyler, raising from his chair and pacing the floor in great agitation. "Fellow citizens, or rather fellow citizen, I thank you for this unexpected and unsought nomination. I should have preferred to remain in the quieter walks of private life, to which my tastes, my years and my experience of the ingratitude of human kind all incline me; but this summons is too imperative, too unanimous to be disregarded. Fellow citizens, or rather fellow citizen, Schuyler Colfax is at the service of his country."

The statesman sat down to write a letter to the editor of the South Bend Tribune, while the tramp departed, richer by a $10 bill. "So that's Skulifax," soliloquized the latter. "It cures how folks get things mixed. I thought from what I heard said about Skulifax that he was servin' out a sentence somewhere."

BITS OF WISDOM.—He that lendeth to a tramp giveth to a saloonist. He who strikes terror into others is himself in continual fear. The best way to silence a talkative person is never to interrupt him. A modest man feels his superiority; a proud man makes others feel it. Men often judge the person but not the cause, which is not justice, but malice. There is but one sure way to keep from being dunned, and that is to never run in debt. What we charitably forgive will be recompensed as well as what we charitably give. Never borrow more than you can pay back, and never lend more than you can borrow. There is a delicious sarcasm in the old proverb, "God bless the rich, because the poor can beg."

A woman's dress is like the envelope of a letter, the cover is frequently an index to the contents. Our chief want in life is somebody who shall make us do what we can. This is the service of a friend. There are three ways of getting out of a scrape—write out, back out and best way is to keep out. If you should have just what you really deserve—no more, no less—would you be as happy as you are now? Ambition is the country of men. It ought to be had young so as not to be noticed when it becomes necessary. The power of pleasing is founded upon the wish to please. The strength of the wish is the measure of the power. Excess of ceremony is always the companion of weak minds; it is a plant that will never grow in a strong soil.

THE HOTEL WAITER.—The hotel waiter is a man whose business is to make you wait for your meals unless you give him half a dollar to encourage him in making a fast record. The hotel waiter in the south is a colored man who can make haste more slowly than any other creature on earth. Like the waiter that he carries the dishes on, he is black and polished. If you place half a dollar on the first mentioned waiter, it makes an impression on the other waiter. He is called a waiter because he is supposed to wait on the guest (the waited), but the latter is really the waiter. As soon as the waiter has got you in a chair, he hands you a bill of fare, and assumes an expression of countenance you can read. The memory of the average waiter is extraordinary. Some say that it is because, like some men's consciences, it is never used; but that is not so. It is wonderful to see him standing solemnly and respectfully attentive behind a drummer's chair, while the hungry drummer reads off his selections, something in the following style: "Consonant of macaroni; baked red snapper with brown sauce; sugar-cured tongue; green goose with apple-sauce; (and don't you forget the apple-sauce); roast beef in outside piece cut thin; fricasse rabbit, farmers' style; baked macaroni au parmesan; braized pigeon a la Jardiniere; tripe fried in butter, with tomato sauce; onions; lima beans; mashed potatoes, squash and chow-chow." It is still more wonderful to see the waiter return, after an absence of forty-five minutes (during which time the drummer drinks three glasses of ice water,) with an entirely different assortment of food. This is where evidences of his wonderful memory shine forth like a parlor match in a dark pantry. He remembers to forget everything. "Forget it, sah; very sorry, sah," the waiter says, as he hands you the mustard, and smiles in a conciliatory way. And that brings us to smiles. The colored waiter is all smiles. He smiles on the slightest provocation, whereas the white waiter of the north never smiles. The ordinary colored waiter sometimes becomes a head-waiter, after which he never smiles, but with arms folded, a la Napoleon on the island of St. Helena, assumes a solemn and dignified position in the middle of the dining room. —Texas Siftings.

A COOL WAITER.—The following scene took place the other day in a Paris restaurant on the occasion of a wedding dinner. An awkward waiter, in attempting to place on the table the soup-tureen, filled with fat chicken broth, spilled its contents on a lady's white satin dress. The lady screamed and was seized with hysterics. The waiter stopped and shouted in her ear: "Don't despair madam; there's plenty of broth yet left in the kitchen. I am going for it now."

BILL ARP'S VIEWS.—Bill Jenks lived on Col. Johnson's land and thought the world of him, and says one day: "Jenks, how are you going to vote in the election?" "I don't know," said he, "for Col. Johnson ain't at home, and didn't tell me afore he left, and maybe he hain't seen Judge Underwood, and Judge Underwood hain't heard from Howell Cobb, but who in the Dickens tells Howell Cobb I'll be dog if I know!" "The fact is we all belong to somebody, and there is nothing wrong about it. I love to belong to a man whom I respect, and feel that he has got more sense and judgment than I have, but then, at the same time, I want somebody to belong to me. Life is a kind of a stair-case with a heap of platforms, and there ain't room enough at the top for us all. Most of us are lower than somebody and higher than somebody else. Dominion is the pride of man—dominion over something."

IT MADE NO DIFFERENCE TO HIM.—There was a crowd of carriages in front of a church the other day when a man came along, discovered that something was going on, and, leaning against a hitching-post, he asked of a pedestrian: "Was it very sudden?" "I don't know," "Presume it was. Well, we've all got to go that way. Do you know, air, that—that— Here his voice broke down and he reached for his handkerchief. "What's the matter?" inquired the other. "Young woman's funeral in there?" "That's no funeral, that's a marriage." "Marriage! Ah, yes, marriage—I see. Well, it's all the same to me. Give me the young man's name, and I'll weep over him."

A GOOD FATHER.—"Father," began the innocent child, as he leaned on his father's knee, "you are an awful good man—?" "Yes, I hope so, my son." "You wouldn't cheat anybody out of a cent, would you?" "Of course I wouldn't; why do you ask?" "Suppose, father, that you had $10,000 in Wabash preferred which had cost you $50?" "And they went down to $5?" "Yes." "And suppose an old friend from Elmira came here to buy stocks, and could be talked into believing that Wabash preferred would touch 72 before September, would you unload on him at 90 and run in his cash?" "N—ahem—that is—see here. Sylvanus! The next time I have a dear old friend call to see me, and you listen at the library door to catch our conversation, you'll get a dividend on curiosity that will last you a lifetime. Tell your mother to put you to bed an hour ahead of time for the next week." —Wall Street News.

A SINGULARLY interesting case was lately referred to by the Brooklyn Eagle. It was told by Mr. W. A. Davenport, connected with the house of Messrs. Butler, Pitken & Co., 476 Broadway New York, and concerned the marvelous cure of Mr. Ezra D. Clarkson, near Newark, N. J., of a terrible case of rheumatism, which other remedies failed even to alleviate. He was on his way to a hospital when Mr. Davenport met him and induced him to try St. Jacobs Oil, with the result named.—Cleveland (O.) Practical Farmer.

A BOY OF THE BASE RANGE.—The Eureka (Nev.) Sentinel tells the following: A gentleman, one of the county officials, was having a game or two of pedro in the bar of a hotel. He kept on playing the "last game" until late. His wife and hopeful son were waiting for him in the parlor. He had made several promises to go home, and was still playing the last game when the boy came in and whispered in his ear: "Come, papa, let's go home; mamma is waiting for you to go." "All right; I'll be ready in a minute," he said. Later the boy whispered to him: "You must come now; mamma is sick and can't stay waiting any longer." "Just tell her I'll be there in a minute," he said; "I'm going to finish and go home right now." He kept on playing, however; getting happier at the end of every game, and less disposed to quit than ever. At last the boy came in again. He walked straight up to the paternal, and looking him straight in the eye he emphasized his former invitation to walk home as follows: "G—d— you, get up now; we ain't going to wait for you any longer!" He went.

TOOK HIS ALL.—"The best friend I ever had," remarked the seedy-looking passenger, with a tinge of sadness in his voice, "left me ten years ago; went off with a handsome man. Yes, stranger, he was a cashier; if I had him here now I would tear him limb from limb." "And your wife; what became of her?" "Wife! wife! Why, you galluppus, if he had taken the old woman I would have gone down on my knees and thanked him, but he took my bank account—my little all." —N. Y. Commercial-Advertiser.

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN DOCTORS.—It is said by some of the most celebrated physicians in Europe and America that the German Hop Bitters are one of the best remedies in use.

The Mining Journal.

ISHPEMING, APRIL 22, 1882.

C. H. HALL and wife went to Chicago on Thursday, and are expected back on Monday.

SAM. BURT, chief among ten thousand (liars), was a guest at the Nelson on Tuesday and Wednesday.

PITS No. 2 and 3 of the Lake Superior mine are to be furnished with new shaft houses, the frame work for which are nearly ready to raise.

AMONG the more prominent arrivals at the Nelson house during the week were A. B. Meeker, and Samuel Kimberley, of Chicago, and Henry D. Smith, of Appleton.

THE Lake Superior company will ship considerable ore over the D., M. & M. R. R., and thence by boat to Detroit, this season. Their first installment—1,500 tons—left the mine on Thursday.

MR. FRANK P. MILLS, assistant superintendent of the Cleveland mining company, has tendered his resignation, to take effect May 1st, in order to take charge of the Briar Hill Iron company's property at Crystal Falls. The departure of Mr. Mills is not only regretted by society people generally, but also in mining circles, and more especially by the company he has long served so faithfully with such marked ability.

WHILE our sister cities are coughing themselves hoarse over the frequent outbreaks of the thug element of their population, Ishpeming, the chief city, the largest city, and the city containing the largest percentage of the ugly element, can look on and give advice. It is like this: When Marquette and Negaunee make up their minds to employ a competent and sufficiently strong police force, they will have peace. With our police force, the bums of this city know that order must prevail and they keep quiet.

THE Methodist people living at and near the National mine location have decided to erect a suitable house of worship, and the work of building will begin as soon as the plans and site can be determined upon. Services have been held at the school house heretofore, but only occasionally. The work of building will go on under the supervision of Rev. W. E. Bigelow, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here, and of which society the National mine Methodists are yet members, but when the new building is finished, a separate organization will probably be effected.

THE store at the corner of Main and Division streets, until recently occupied by J. Mallanney as a dry goods store, is now vacant. The location is one of the most desirable business points in the whole city, and there are many applicants for it, but the proprietor is holding it until such time as he shall be able to select a suitable tenant. The place is wanted for saloon purposes, and $150 a month has been offered by a man who wants to engage in that business. Other dealers can't afford to pay as much, and another big saloon will probably result.

DIED.—Mr. Alfred Heyn, of the firm of Heyn Bros., harness makers, died in his room at the Commercial house, on Thursday morning, of cerebro spinal meningitis, after an illness of about one month. Mr. Heyn was a young man of sterling business qualities, and in the short time since he has made Ishpeming his home has brought to himself a large circle of friends, all of whom will receive the intelligence of his death with profound sorrow. His life was pure, and his ambitions lofty, and all who knew him were made better by his friendship. He died, aged but 20 years, and his remains were taken to Sheboygan for interment, that being the home of his parents. He was a faithful member and constant attendant upon the services of the Episcopal church.

PLANS and specifications for a new residence for mayor Outhwaite are now in the hands of builders, who are to bid for its construction. The drawings, which were made by our local draughtsman, Mr. Wm. Farrell, contemplate a handsome and slightly structure of the most modern design, of no particular style of architecture, but more resembling the Queen Anne than any other. Whether the building is commenced or not depends much upon the figures of the contractors, which will be handed in for inspection in a few days. If built, the site will be the ground occupied by Mr. Outhwaite's present residence, which latter will be moved away. Thus do our citizens continue to show their love and preference for Ishpeming—the metropolis of the upper peninsula, and the city that is growing faster and more substantially than all the suburban towns from Marquette to L'Anse.

THREE thoroughly corned loafers from Negaunee, loaded into a single buggy, while driving at h-1-bent-for-lection speed through the streets on Tuesday afternoon, ran over the little four-year-old son of Mr. John Jeffrey, who lives at the corner of Pearl and First streets. The little lad made efforts to get out of the way, but the driver was so full of benzine that he did not slacken his speed, and the boy was knocked down and run over. He was picked up bleeding and insensible, with bruises and cuts about his head and back, from which blood flowed quite freely. An examination of his wounds, however, showed that his injuries were not of as serious a nature as might have been, and he will recover. The lad's experience would in nine cases out of ten have proved fatal, but in this instance the issue, providentially, will be less serious—no thanks to the half drunken bums. There is a city ordinance prohibiting such reckless driving, and, if not too late, we should like to see these fellows brought to time under it.

MR. J. N. ST. CLAIR, of this city, has during the past week closed the contracts for remodeling his dwelling, the work to be completed by July 15th next. An examination of the plans shows that there is to be a radical change in the building, and the house when finished will be provided with every modern appliance to insure health, comfort and convenience. It will be enlarged to about double its present size, and provided with a bath room on each floor, fitted up with a complete service of hot and cold water in the various rooms, heated by a furnace, and is to have a laundry and fuel room in the basement. A neat conservatory is one of the additions, and another important feature is the introduction of a thorough system of ventilation in all the rooms. To guard against any failure in the supply of water, an ample cistern is provided, and a tank in the attic, which may be filled from the cistern by means of a force pump in the kitchen. The plans and specifications for the work were prepared by Wm. Farrell, architect, of this city. To remodel an existing structure requires good judgment and a high order of architectural skill, and it is evident that Mr. St. Clair has done wisely in placing the planning and also the superintendency of the entire work in Mr. Farrell's hands. The residence when finished will be one of which the owner may well feel proud, and the additional comfort and convenience secured will amply repay him for the outlay.

WAS IT A JOKE?—The circumstances attending the flight of the burglar, Barrett—narrated in these columns last week—were such as to cast a suspicion of complicity in the escape on certain employees of the C. & N. W. R'y., employed in the yard here, and the city authorities, to the end that the management might know to what use the property of their company had been prostituted, thought best to correspond with the division superintendent. As soon as superintendent Linsley heard the facts in the case, as communicated to him by the local authorities, he ordered the discharge of Charles Nelson, engineer, Michael Connels, yardmaster here, and his brother, James Connels, yard master at Negaunee, the two last mentioned men being cousins of Barrett. After receiving their discharge, one of the Connels, in a private conversation, intimated that the whole thing was a joke, and that he had no idea of its reacting on himself in so disastrous a manner. As soon as the men had been discharged from the company's employ, officer Covio made complaint against Michael Connels for aiding in the escape of a criminal, and he was accordingly arrested and brought before justice Young for examination on Wednesday, but the prosecution, being unable to furnish evidence sufficient to convict, the prisoner was discharged from custody. The facts elicited at the examination show that after Barrett had boarded the engine Connels, who was on the engine, opened the throttle and sent the locomotive ahead, and he, having authority as yard master, the engineer could not object. This should, and we believe does, lift all blame or censure for the escape of Barrett from engineer Nelson, but the facts that the two Connels took quite a lively interest in Barrett for two days previous to his escape makes it morally, if not legally, certain that they were guilty, and their discharge from railroad employ will not be regretted. Since the escape of Barrett, the MINING JOURNAL reporter has come upon facts in his career that show him up in an unenviable light, and we are now inclined to believe Barrett to have been a thug, scoundrel and robber that the city is well rid of. Should he be captured, a term in state prison most certainly awaits him.

THE ANNUAL meeting of the stockholders of the Milwaukee Iron Mining Co. will be held at the office of J. H. Daliba, 122 Water St., Cleveland, Ohio, on Wednesday, April 26, 1882, at eleven o'clock, A. M., to elect directors for the ensuing year, and transact any other business which may legally come before them.
W. E. STONE, Secretary.

The Mining Journal.

ISHPEMING, APRIL 22, 1882.

C. H. HALL and wife went to Chicago on Thursday, and are expected back on Monday.

SAM. BURT, chief among ten thousand (liars), was a guest at the Nelson on Tuesday and Wednesday.

AMONG the more prominent arrivals at the Nelson house during the week were A. B. Meeker, and Samuel Kimberley, of Chicago, and Henry D. Smith, of Appleton.

THE Lake Superior company will ship considerable ore over the D., M. & M. R. R., and thence by boat to Detroit, this season. Their first installment—1,500 tons—left the mine on Thursday.

MR. FRANK P. MILLS, assistant superintendent of the Cleveland mining company, has tendered his resignation, to take effect May 1st, in order to take charge of the Briar Hill Iron company's property at Crystal Falls. The departure of Mr. Mills is not only regretted by society people generally, but also in mining circles, and more especially by the company he has long served so faithfully with such marked ability.

WHILE our sister cities are coughing themselves hoarse over the frequent outbreaks of the thug element of their population, Ishpeming, the chief city, the largest city, and the city containing the largest percentage of the ugly element, can look on and give advice. It is like this: When Marquette and Negaunee make up their minds to employ a competent and sufficiently strong police force, they will have peace. With our police force, the bums of this city know that order must prevail and they keep quiet.

THE Methodist people living at and near the National mine location have decided to erect a suitable house of worship, and the work of building will begin as soon as the plans and site can be determined upon. Services have been held at the school house heretofore, but only occasionally. The work of building will go on under the supervision of Rev. W. E. Bigelow, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here, and of which society the National mine Methodists are yet members, but when the new building is finished, a separate organization will probably be effected.

THE store at the corner of Main and Division streets, until recently occupied by J. Mallanney as a dry goods store, is now vacant. The location is one of the most desirable business points in the whole city, and there are many applicants for it, but the proprietor is holding it until such time as he shall be able to select a suitable tenant. The place is wanted for saloon purposes, and $150 a month has been offered by a man who wants to engage in that business. Other dealers can't afford to pay as much, and another big saloon will probably result.

DEED.—Mr. Alfred Heyn, of the firm of Heyn Bros., harness makers, died in his room at the Commercial house, on Thursday morning, of cerebral spinal meningitis, after an illness of about one month. Mr. Heyn was a young man of sterling business qualities, and in the short time since he has made Ishpeming his home has brought to himself a large circle of friends, all of whom will receive the intelligence of his death with profound sorrow. His life was pure, and his ambitions lofty, and all who knew him were made better by his friendship. He died, aged but 20 years, and his remains were taken to Sheboygan for interment, that being the home of his parents. He was a faithful member and constant attendant upon the services of the Episcopal church.

PLANS and specifications for a new residence for mayor Outhwaite are now in the hands of builders, who are to bid for its construction. The drawings, which were made by our local draughtsman, Mr. Wm. Farrell, contemplate a handsome and slightly structure of the most modern design, of no particular style of architecture, but more resembling the Queen Anne than any other. Whether the building is commenced or not depends much upon the figures of the contractors, which will be handed in for inspection in a few days. If built, the site will be the ground occupied by Mr. Outhwaite's present residence, which latter will be moved away. Thus do our citizens continue to show their love and preference for Ishpeming—the metropolis of the upper peninsula, and the city that is growing faster and more substantially than all the suburban towns from Marquette to L'Anse.

SYMPTOMS OF PARALYSIS—A twitching of the eyes, numbness of the hands and feet, with more or less pain and throbbing at the base of the brain, are some of the premonitory symptoms of this rapidly increasing disease. German Hop Bitters should be taken when you are warned by any of these symptoms.

ANDREW SANDBERG, agent for the Inman and State lines of Steamers, at Rock store. Among the steamers of the latter line are the famous boats, City of Berlin and City of Rome. The City of Rome is 600 feet long and 8,300 tons burden, the largest steamer on the ocean. The City of Berlin was awarded the prize medal at the world's fair at Sidney, Australia.

was knocked down and run over. He was picked up bleeding and insensible, with bruises and cuts about his head and back, from which blood flowed quite freely. An examination of his wounds, however, showed that his injuries were not of as serious a nature as might have been, and he will recover. The lad's experience would in nine cases out of ten have proved fatal, but in this instance the issue, providentially, will be less serious—no thanks to the half drunken bums. There is a city ordinance prohibiting such reckless driving, and, if not too late, we should like to see these fellows brought to time under it.

MR. J. N. ST. CLAIR, of this city, has during the past week closed the contracts for remodeling his dwelling, the work to be completed by July 15th next. An examination of the plans shows that there is to be a radical change in the building, and the house when finished will be provided with every modern appliance to insure health, comfort and convenience. It will be enlarged to about double its present size, and provided with a bath room on each floor, fitted up with a complete service of hot and cold water in the various rooms, heated by a furnace, and is to have a laundry and fuel room in the basement. A neat conservatory is one of the additions, and another important feature is the introduction of a thorough system of ventilation in all the rooms. To guard against any failure in the supply of water, an ample cistern is provided, and a tank in the attic, which may be filled from the cistern by means of a force pump in the kitchen. The plans and specifications for the work were prepared by Wm. Farrell, architect, of this city. To remodel an existing structure requires good judgment and a high order of architectural skill, and it is evident that Mr. St. Clair has done wisely in placing the planning and also the superintendency of the entire work in Mr. Farrell's hands. The residence when finished will be one of which the owner may well feel proud, and the additional comfort and convenience secured will amply repay him for the outlay.

WAS IT A JOKE?—The circumstances attending the flight of the burglar, Barrett—narrated in these columns last week—were such as to cast a suspicion of complicity in the escape on certain employes of the C. & N. W. R'y. employed in the yard here, and the city authorities, to the end that the management might know to what use the property of their company had been prostituted, thought best to correspond with the division superintendent. As soon as superintendent Linsley heard the facts in the case, as communicated to him by the local authorities, he ordered the discharge of Charles Nelson, engineer, Michael Connels, yardmaster here, and his brother, James Connels, yard master at Negaunee, the two last mentioned men being cousins of Barrett. After receiving their discharge, one of the Connels, in a private conversation, intimated that the whole thing was a joke, and that he had no idea of its reacting on himself in so disastrous a manner. As soon as the men had been discharged from the company's employ, officer Covio made complaint against Michael Connels for aiding in the escape of a criminal, and he was accordingly arrested and brought before justice Young for examination on Wednesday, but the prosecution, being unable to furnish evidence sufficient to convict, the prisoner was discharged from custody. The facts elicited at the examination show that after Barrett had boarded the engine Connels, who was on the engine, opened the throttle and sent the locomotive ahead, and he, having authority as yard master, the engineer could not object. This should, and we believe does, lift all blame or censure for the escape of Barrett from engineer Nelson, but the facts that the two Connels took quite a lively interest in Barrett for two days previous to his escape makes it morally, if not legally, certain that they were guilty, and their discharge from railroad employ will not be regretted. Since the escape of Barrett, the MINING JOURNAL reporter has come upon facts in his career that show him up in an unenviable light, and we are now inclined to believe Barrett to have been a thug, scoundrel and robber that the city is well rid of. Should he be captured, a term in state prison most certainly awaits him.

ACTIVE mining operations will shortly be inaugurated at the Star mine, on the Negaunee Range, which will be under the superintendence of E. A. Maas, whose place at the Humboldt has been taken by his father, John B. Maas.

OH, yes; let's see; the Ludington was one of the properties which the Norway crank pronounced worthless. Was it not? The fellow is just about as competent to judge of the merits of a mining property as we are to translate the Chaldaic into Chinese.

THE Webster Iron Co. is the title of a new corporation which succeeds to the ownership of the Wetmore & Northrop leasehold on section 26, Town 48, Range 31, and of which D. H. Ball, E. A. Wetmore and Dr. G. J. Northrop are the directors, no further organization having as yet been effected.

A SUIT in ejectment against the lessees of the "Erickson farm," so-called, which is now pending raises a question the decision of which will be of the utmost importance to the mining interests of this region.

SAVING AND RESERVING, however, unto the said party of the first part, and to its successors and assigns forever, all ores and minerals, and all slate, sandstone, limestone, granite, marble and other stone or rock, valuable for building or other purposes, on or beneath the surface of said lands, or any part or portion thereof.

But in case of the permanent occupation of any of said lands as above reserved and after the same shall be so occupied, said party of the first part, its successors or assigns so occupying the same shall pay to said parties of the second part, their heirs or assigns, such compensation for the surface right thereto hereby granted as may be assessed by two disinterested persons of the county where the said lands lie.

Subsequently the M., H. & O. R. R. company gave an option to explore for iron ore on the same lands, the result being the discovery of a very large and valuable body of ore, to mine which the company for itself, successors and assigns, had expressly reserved the right with the knowledge and consent of the grantees, as must be inferred from the fact that they accepted a deed containing the clause above quoted.

No. 6, which is north of the C. & N. W. R'y, has been wholly abandoned, there not being sufficient first-class ore to pay for mining, and it not being the policy of the management to handle any more second-class than is absolutely necessary in mining that of a better quality.

ANNUAL REVIEW

OF THE IRON MINING AND OTHER INDUSTRIES OF THE UPPER PENINSULA OF MICHIGAN.

THE NEW YORK MINE is a fair example of the value of a well located 40-acre tract of land in the Lake Superior iron region.

We can see no reason why the New York should not materially increase her product, as compared with last year. The pits are all in admirable condition for rapid and economical work.

Table with 2 columns: Year, Gross Tons. 1864: 8,000; 1865: 12,214; 1866: 35,731; 1867: 43,302; 1868: 44,965; 1869: 71,456; 1870: 91,809; 1871: 76,381; 1872: 68,350; 1873: 70,882; 1874: 77,017; 1875: 70,103; 1876: 58,883; 1877: 55,581; 1878: 51,933; 1879: 57,529; 1880: 58,000; 1881: 50,489; Total: 974,489.

On which product it has paid to the lessor, in royalties, nearly, if not quite, a quarter of a million of dollars, while the gross earnings of the lessee may safely be estimated at not less than five millions.

Operations are now wholly confined to Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5—the No. 2 of the present being what was last year known as No. 1. No. 2 is down 530 feet on the dip of the formation.

No. 3 is down 385 feet, on the dip of the formation, in a body of ore 16 feet thick, and so far as known, 130 feet long. There is on this 385-foot level two stopes—one on each side of the skip-road—each 35 feet high.

No. 4, which is in an entirely different lens, the trend of which is nearly east and west, is down 277 feet, with a run of ore 12 feet thick and about 75 feet long, west of the skip-road; in the east end the rock is coming in and rapidly displacing the ore.

No. 5, which has heretofore been more or less "bunchy," has very materially improved on the 315-foot level. The bunches of rock are of less frequent occurrence, the formation is much more regular and settled.

No. 6, which is north of the C. & N. W. R'y, has been wholly abandoned, there not being sufficient first-class ore to pay for mining.

Nothing new in the way of machinery has been added the past year, if we except a new 8-inch Cornish plunger in No. 1 pump-shaft, which is located midway between Nos. 2 and 3 skip-roads.

gives the Rand the preference, and has determined to discard all the others.

The mining force numbers about 200 men, all told, and shipments for the season begin from a winter's accumulation of about 23,000 tons—a larger winter's work than has been accomplished at this mine for some years.

The mine not having been wrought for a year previous to its purchase by the Argyle company, the new owners found the pits full of water, the pumping out of which occupied the greater part of last summer.

THE ARGYLE MINE, originally opened by the Pittsburgh & Lake Angeline Iron company, and until recently known as the Edwards, was, in the spring of 1881, purchased by some Detroit capitalists.

The mine not having been wrought for a year previous to its purchase by the Argyle company, the new owners found the pits full of water, the pumping out of which occupied the greater part of last summer.

The annual product of the Argyle since the beginning of operations in 1865, has been as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Gross Tons. 1865: 2,843; 1866: 4,928; 1867: 17,390; 1868: 19,151; 1869: 24,282; 1870: 26,437; 1871: 28,380; 1872: 38,968; 1873: 2,840; 1874: 12,804; 1875: 19,330; 1876: 19,419; 1877: 10,351; 1878: 5,455; 1879: 4,684; 1881: 4,281; Total: 228,091.

It will be seen that, notwithstanding the bad condition of the mine and the fact that most of last summer was consumed in unwatering the shafts and pits, 4,584 tons of ore was mined and shipped before the close of navigation.

Going down No. 3 shaft 575 feet, on the dip of the formation, we reach the bottom, or 6th level, which is 60 feet below the one existing at the time the present owners came into possession.

On this bottom level the stopes east and west of the skip-road have just been commenced. On the level above the miners are at work on stopes some distance back from the skip-road, east and west.

mains unbroken between the 5th and 6th levels. West of the skip-road the ore has been stoped away on the 5th level a distance of 30 feet, at which point there is a face of ore 20 feet wide, in the centre of which, however, there is a wedge of rock 6 feet wide at the top of the stope, but cutting out entirely 4 feet above the floor.

In No. 2, which is down to the 5th level, there is a lens of slate ore 5 to 6 feet thick, the length of which, however, is unknown. East of No. 3 shaft some ore is being mined from an open pit, from what we take to be the roof of that part of the underground workings.

Altogether, there is a much larger show of ore at the Argyle than the writer was inclined to believe. There is certainly enough now in sight to insure a paying mine from this time forward, and if the diamond drill, soon to be put in operation, does not reveal something of still greater value the circumstance will be an exception to the general rule in this section.

THE HUMBOLDT MINE now consists of what last year was referred to as the "new discovery," which is located just east of the Republic branch of the M., H. & O. R. R.

It is an old and a trite saying that "children and fools always speak the truth"—but we have before us a letter from a prominent mining superintendent who was recently quoted as having spoken disparagingly of certain Menominee range mines.

A LETTER received from a friend below insinuates that the MINING JOURNAL in a recent article gave a certain mining property in this county "a black eye." To which the MINING JOURNAL rises to remark that honest criticism of the management of a mining enterprise is not necessarily condemnatory of the enterprise itself.

A mining property, in this region, must stand or fall on its merits, and where it has merit, as the one in question certainly has, a shrouded optic can only be given it by management which, as we have said, fails to appreciate the fact that skill and 2nd level remains to be broken, and when No. 2 shaft and winzes are down to the 3rd level there will be four 50-foot stopes in this part of the mine, from two of which they are now throwing down and hoisting out about 100 tons per day.

No. 3 is the open cut spoken of in our last annual review, and which was so wrought to a depth of about 80 feet, when it was determined to adopt the underground plan. They are now sinking for stopes, the so-called shaft being down 50 feet below the old bottom, and the winzes well under way.

About 800 feet north-east of No. 3 a shaft called No. 5 is down 60 feet, and shows about 3 feet of ore in the bottom—probably the end of a lens, as in driving a stope southeasterly only a short distance the ore has widened out to 8 feet. Whether this is a separate lens or continuous with that of Nos. 2 and 3 has, of course, not yet been determined.

Since the commencement of operations in 1864 the annual product of the Humboldt has been as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Gross Tons. 1865: 4,782; 1866: 15,150; 1867: 25,440; 1868: 35,731; 1869: 58,422; 1870: 70,762; 1871: 85,419; 1872: 98,841; 1873: 108,014; 1874: 120,814; 1875: 130,942; 1876: 135,333; 1877: 145,415; 1878: 152,929; 1879: 18,204; 1880: 14,728; 1881: 20,392; Total: 458,406.

THE St. Ignace Republican says the Martel furnace made over 1,000 tons of pig iron in March, on less than 80 bushels of charcoal per ton, and that she has consumed 12,500 tons of ore in 180 running days, in which time she produced 7,240 tons of iron.

THE Erie is in receipt of one of Bullock's diamond drills, which will be used to further locate the ore body in which the miners are now at work.

experience are as necessary in the finding of iron ore as in the subsequent opening and development of the mine itself. The MINING JOURNAL certainly was prompted by no other desire than to promote the best interests of the enterprise in question, the success of which, more than any other new venture in this region, depends upon the employment of the best skill and experience obtainable—we mean the skill and experience based on long acquaintance with iron mining on Lake Superior. If that particular property emerges from the strife for success with a "black eye" the company will have itself and not the MINING JOURNAL to blame.

After five years spent in managing the immense business bequeathed to his care by the late A. T. Stewart, Judge Hilton announces himself tired of the job, and it will be closed out in parcels to suit purchasers—there being too much of it for any one man's pocket-book. As a manager of the colossal enterprises built up by the great merchant, Judge Hilton has been as conspicuous a failure as Mr. Stewart was a success in creating and conducting them; a fact going to show how essentially a familiar knowledge of any business is to pre-eminence success in it. Since Hilton has had direction of the great house founded by Stewart it has failed to make money, and it is more than hinted that the prudent step he has voluntarily decided to take would have become necessary in time if he had not been wise enough to anticipate compulsion while it was yet not everlastingly too late. It is also intimated that his affront to the Jews shortly after he came into charge of the Stewart estate cost the house a mint of money, and tended much to destroy its business, which has certainly shrunk steadily in volume ever since the doors of that summer hotel were shut in the faces of Hebrew guests. The announcement of this withdrawal from trade of a mercantile establishment which long held a first place in the commercial world created quite a ripple in the business circles of all the leading cities. The MINING JOURNAL has no regrets to extend to Judge Hilton. He didn't advertise in this paper—hence we are not surprised at his failure to make money.

Ex-speaker Randall, who says he has made a careful canvass of the house on the tariff commission bill, declares that it is certain to pass. Many members who are opposed to a prohibitory tariff will vote for the bill, in the belief that the measure will cause a modification of the system now in vogue, if nothing more, while the ultra protectionists will favor the measure because they hope the commission will be made up so that a report in their favor will be certain, and the way thus made smooth to further restrictive tariff legislation. It is to be hoped that president Arthur will name none but capable and disinterested men on the commission provided for by the bill, should it become a law, as the whole system needs a thorough overhauling, and mistakes in its readjustment would not fail to injuriously affect many important interests. Randall is a strong protectionist, who favors the commission not so much because it gives promise of a correction of abuses as through the hope that it may be made a means for their perpetuation. He, and those of his ilk, should be passed over when the commission is made up.

Howgate's escape from his jailer at Washington is said to have been planned by the woman in his case, Nellie Burrell, with whom, it is asserted, he is now on his way to Cuba. If so, Nellie is a cheeky lass, inasmuch as the plot to bamboozle the stupid jailer was made to hinge on the prisoner's alleged desire to visit his wife. The jailer accompanied him to the house where Mrs. Howgate resides, remaining outside while the captain entered, ostensibly to spend a brief hour with his wedded partner. When the officer got tired of waiting he rang the bell and inquired for his charge, only to learn that he had left some time before. The officer was very much provoked at the prisoner's breach of faith, in which feeling it is more than likely Mrs. Howgate fully sympathized when she learned he had escaped from her and jail only to join "Nellie" and fly with the minx to a distant land.

Our lake fisheries, so long an important source of food supply, and which furnish a large number of persons with profitable employment, begin to feel the exhaustive drain of the almost unrestricted warfare carried on against their finny denizens. Prof. Smiley, of the Smithsonian Institute, and a member of the U. S. fish commission, has prepared a paper discussing the state and future prospects of these fisheries, in which he sounds a note of alarm. Places that were once swarming with fish are now deserted by them, this being especially true of Lake Michigan. The professor ascribes the disappearance of the fish from what were once their favorite grounds partly to their extermination, and partly to the deposit of sawdust brought down by the rivers and deposited at their mouths, by which the water is rendered distasteful to the finny tribes, and they are thus driven away.

fluence in support of certain measures. This is a gratifying instance of legislative purity asserting itself. The offending members should not have offered themselves for sale—the correct thing for members of an Ohio legislature being to wait until they get a bid. Probably the pair who violated this established rule were new members, who are not well up in the ethics of "legislative business." However, the country will rejoice that their associates vindicated the dignity of the Ohio house so handsomely. Even new members must be made to understand that the line has got to be drawn somewhere.

Mexico is going into railroad building with a generous energy which provokes a suspicion that skilled lobbyists from the United States must have had something to do with generating it. Up to date she has chartered twenty-eight companies, which propose building an aggregate of 13,000 miles of road, 10,000 of which are to be completed at an early day. Towards the construction of these roads the Mexican government has pledged a bonus in the shape of a per centage on her impost duties, estimated to yield fully $84,000,000. Nearly all the companies are based on American schemes and American capital—and managed, we may safely add, chiefly by American schemers who will contrive to get rich out of these Mexican railways, whether they are ever built or not.

On the strength of attorney-general Brewster's opinion, which is to the effect that the case has passed beyond the pale of executive interference, president Arthur declines to disturb the sentence against Fitz John Porter, and the matter may be regarded as decisively disposed of. One method of relief remains—the president might pardon Porter—but to sue for pardon would be to admit the justice of his sentence, something that the disgraced general will not be apt to do. Gen. Grant will feel badly about this—but his grief will be sensibly softened by the reflection that if his letter on the Porter case didn't avail to secure that misused individual a rehearing it had effect in getting its author a pension of $13,000 a year. And, after all, that may have been Grant's chief motive in writing it!

President Arthur's veto of the Chinese bill meets with disapproval from workmen everywhere. At Philadelphia the other night an immense meeting, attended by over 6,000 of that class, was held to give expression to this sentiment, and it was done in unmistakable language. All of which doesn't prove that Arthur was wrong in the matter. The American workman is not a particle more apt to be right on delicate questions, such as that involved in the slaughtered bill, than is an American president. When men look upon public questions solely from the standpoint of their own selfish interests there is a strong warrant for distrusting the justice and soundness of their conclusions.

An important report in the matter of the contested lands of the Ontonagon & Brule River land grant was submitted by the house judiciary committee last week. The report affirms the right of private purchasers, and of the canal company, to something over forty thousand acres of lands claimed by the O & B. R. company. This is in concurrence with the action already taken by the senate on the same matter, and presages the failure of the railway company to walk off with all the plunder it fought for so determinedly a year ago last winter. Congress has its uses, as well as abuses, after all!

The house committee on public lands is considering a bill which provides for setting apart 20,000,000 acres of land to the surviving soldiers and sailors of the late war. Congress being made up of demagogues, it is very probable that the measure will prevail. The "brave boys" who saved the nation are entitled to its everlasting gratitude, to be sure, but they should refrain from eating it up altogether. Coming on the heels of the arrears of pensions bill this seems rather too much.

Blaine has requested a hearing from the house committee now investigating his Peruvian policy, which request will, as a matter of course, be granted. His testimony may enable the public to comprehend Shipperd's true character more clearly than at present. If it should at the same time explain the significance of his "go it Steve" message to the late minister Hurlbert, Mr. Blaine's friends will feel greatly relieved. The performance grows more interesting.

Do the churches or the saloons control in Ohio? frantically inquires a Buckeye newspaper of the halfbreed persuasion. Neither, we should say. The vital and controlling principle in Ohio appears to be a desire to live on the rest of the nation by getting a fat office under the federal administration. The churches and saloons are mere instruments in the hands of the politicians in that state, doing their work, each in its appointed way.

Throughout the entire northwest the spring has been extremely backward. But little seeding has been done yet in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Dakota, and northern Iowa, and much of the small grains will have to be put in as late as May. The farmers feel much discouraged over their prospects, but there is plenty of time yet before August to "make a crap." Still the promise could be better.

FUN WITH THE BOYS.

ESCANABA.—The Port jots it down that navigation opened at that point on the 7th, the Annie Smith being the first vessel to reach the dock. The Smith Moore was the first arrival off the harbor, but the captain got on the wrong side of an ice field coming in, and the delay thus occasioned permitted the other vessel to make the harbor first.

The Delta Mining company, whose property is west of Quinnesec, has good news from its explorations, and begins to talk about putting in a plant of machinery and a side track.

Mr. Wendel, referring in his publication to some remarks of ours, makes use of this expression: "St. Louis stole it." If by this expression Mr. Wendel intended to suggest, merely, that the editor of the Port was a holder of the stock, then Mr. Wendel lied. He can take which horn of the dilemma he prefers.

Whether the Norway Ishmaelite takes either horn of the dilemma, neither or both, he still is a liar—the meanest, most malicious and utterly disreputable in four states. The venomous welp and his pestilent publication are both useful in a certain way—the one serves to show how unfit a sphenetic blackguard is to have charge of a public print; the other how little influence a sheet can have that is simply a channel for ventilating private hatreds, while attempting to bolster up the fortunes of a mere adventurer.

In consequence of the high tax—$300 per annum—and the difficulty of securing the sureties required under the new law, several Escanaba saloon keepers will go out of business. This will make it better for those who continue, as well as for people of the place generally.

FLORENCE.—The editor of the News is county judge; C. E. McIntosh, district attorney; A. M. Pinto, county clerk; Geo. R. Tuttle, clerk of court; E. E. Keyes, treasurer; Omer Huff, sheriff; W. A. Whitteley, superintendent of schools; Michael Bush, coroner, and John Tohn, surveyor of the new county of Florence, all by appointment of the governor in office.

Col. J. A. Watrous, of the Milwaukee Sunday Telegraph, visited Florence last week and organized a Temple of Honor to do temperance work there. The field is a good one for that sort of missionary work.

We hope "the judge" isn't going to let his official duties interfere with the attention he has heretofore given his paper.

QUINNESEC.—Rifled from the Reporter: Eighty-two trains a day will glide over the Menominee River branch of the C. & N. W. road under the running arrangement for the present shipping season.

A machine shop is wanted at Quinnesec, and the Reporter man promises a fortune to the person who will plant one there. Mr. Casad has moved the remains of his outfit from that place to Kaukauna, Wis., where he will make another attempt to achieve the prosperity which the paper is confident another can gather in at Quinnesec.

A Canadian medicine man who cures all the ills that flesh is heir to is treating all who are willing to pay for his slops at Quinnesec. He would have a larger following if he treated people according to the customs of the place.

ONTONAGON.—The Miner insists that the late election there was carried by fraud, and wants to know what the honest voters are going to do about it. Submit, of course. They have a distinguished precedent for so doing, for is it not written that "ye shall not go behind the returns?" It's only an application to local politics of the "Ohio idea" which has long controlled in federal affairs.

The Ontonagon Lumber company has broken up its logging camps, and the boys are now on the drive. 12,000,000 feet of logs were banked during the winter by this company.

The new instruments for the band have been received, and the members are practicing on them with direful effect. A competent "tooter" is wanted to drill the boys in the science of transforming wind into music, and reducing the chaos of discordant sounds into something approaching harmony.

Saturday's issue of the Herald completed the first volume of that paper, and it enters upon its second year with fair promise of living through it. While we cannot approve of its course generally, it must be conceded that Howell is making it a much better paper than it was under the previous management.

The Herald learns that Mr. Shaw, of Chicago, will start a sash and door factory at Ontonagon the coming summer.

In view of the large amount of work that is being done in the western portion of this county, there is a special demand upon the highway officials that they shall do every thing in their power to improve the roads leading out to these parts. The better the facilities are for getting men and supplies out from this point, the better it will be, only for this place but for the entire county.

When the Herald turns its attention to securing better highways instead of more railroads we begin to have hopes of its usefulness in the future. There is such a thing as aiming so high that one's ammunition is wholly wasted.

NEWS SUMMARY. —At Racine, Wis., Captain Wm. R. Pugh, of the schooner Rainbow, got into an altercation with a Milwaukee gambler named Hartly Clifford over some bets he had made on a walking match, in the course of which the latter drew a revolver and shot Pugh twice, inflicting a mortal injury. Pugh lived only long enough to make an ante-mortem statement and have his will drawn up after the shooting. The deceased was very popular, and the homicide created intense indignation, which bid fair for a time to culminate in the lynching of Clifford, but wiser counsels prevailed and his punishment will be left to the law. Clifford claims that he shot Pugh in self defense, but the dying statement of his victim contradicts this, as also do the accounts given by eye-witnesses of the affair. Clifford is in custody, having voluntarily surrendered himself after commission of the crime.

On the same day a courier from Jefferson City arrived at the St. Joseph jail with an unconditional pardon for the boys from Gov. They are believed to be in danger from the vengeance of the dead outlaw's friends, and will, it is thought, remove from the state.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage dated October 12, 1874, made by Richard Wellman and wife, of Marquette, Michigan, to John Schwartz, of the same place, and recorded in the office of the register of said county, in Liber "5" of mortgages, on page 19, which mortgage was by the said John Schwartz assigned to Sarah K. Spear, by an instrument of assignment dated December 12, 1881, which assignment is recorded in the same register of deeds office, in Liber 10 of mortgages, on page 76, on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of five hundred and sixty dollars, and no proceedings either at law or in equity having been taken to foreclose or recover the money secured by said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained having become operative by reason of such default, therefore, by virtue of said power of sale, and the statute in such case made and provided, I will sell by public vendue to the highest bidder, at the front door of the court house in said city of Marquette, (being the place where the circuit court for said county is held), on Monday, the seventeenth day of July, A. D. 1882, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with interest and expenses of sale, which said premises are described as follows, to-wit: All of the lot No. nine "9" of block No. nine "9" of the Cleveland Iron Mining company's subdivision of the city of Marquette according to the recorded map of said subdivision to be found in the registry of deeds of said county. Dated Marquette, April 18, 1882. SARAH K. SPEAR, Assignee of said Mortgage. M. H. MAYNARD, Att'y for Assignee. 718w13

THE LAKE SUPERIOR SHIP CANAL, RAILWAY AND IRON CO.

450,000 Acres of Land in the upper peninsula of Michigan for sale or lease.

IRON MINES, COPPER MINES, SILVER MINES, MARBLE QUARRIES, SANDSTONE QUARRIES, MILL SITES, WATER POWER, FURNACE LOCATIONS (with fuel), PINE TIMBER, CEDAR TIMBER, POPLAR TIMBER, HARDWOOD TIMBER, 1,500,000,000 feet of PINE TIMBER owned by this company.

Menominee Iron Range, Gogebic Iron Range, Ontonagon Copper District, Silver District of Iron River.

THE MINERAL LANDS of the company are now offered for lease, on reasonable terms, and options given for purposes of examination. NEGAUNEE.

MAPLE SUGAR pic-nics are ripe. MAYOR BREITUNG has spent the past week in Chicago. THE change of time on the M., H. & O. R. R. takes place tomorrow. AUGUST OLSON will move into his new building on the first of May. EDWARD BLAKE is going to build him a house near the Jackson school. THE New York Hematite mine has shipped a cargo of ore to the Florence furnace.

A SIDE entrance and stairway is to be made on the outside of the Mitchell building, leading to the Masonic hall. ISAAC FREIDLICH, a Swede employe of the McComber mine, had his right leg broken by a rock fall last Tuesday. THE liquor tax falls due on May first, and several saloons will go into bankruptcy because of their inability to pay the tax.

THE storm of Wednesday caused much delay in mine working. At the Jackson, no shipments were made on that day. THE date of Miss Coombs' entertainment here has not been fixed; but Jane will be here very soon in all the glory of her ancient maidenhood.

AUSTIN B. MORSE returned from his visiting and purchasing trip to Minnesota and Chicago on Thursday. In another week the store will be full of his selection of new goods. THE mayor has requested the M., H. & O. R. R. company to place a flagman on the crossing near the depot. The flagman is greatly needed, and the request will probably be complied with.

MR. CHARLES BROWN is closing out his stock of groceries, preparatory to his removal to Marquette, where he will associate himself with the firm of W. C. Brown & Co., in the manufacture of knit hosiery.

A BALCONY has been constructed on the railroad side of the bank building, leading to the entrance of J. Q. Adams' office from the front, a great convenience to Mr. Adams and his clients, and a decided ornament to the building.

J. H. KRAEMER is in Chicago purchasing a stock of goods, and will be gone till the latter part of next week. The goods may be expected to arrive daily during the coming week. Fine dress goods and millinery are his especial forte.

THOMAS HARRIS, the younger, has fitted up a neat ice cream parlor, adjoining his grocery, and during the summer will cater to the taste of spooney lovers who dote on lingering over the ice cream when it is cold and giveth its flavor in the spoon.

J. F. FOLEY's new and handsome residence at the corner of Case street and Teal Lake avenue is now ready for the reception of his family. The house has been supplied with new and costly furniture throughout, and is one of the most comfortable and elegant residences on the peninsula.

THE MINING JOURNAL missionary rises to remark that he is lingering quite extensively in Negaunee just now, and if any of you fellows want some real "bang up" job printing, something aesthetic, double-breasted, and only obtainable in a first-class shop, he is prepared to take your order. The price will be high enough to suit you.

A LOCOMOTIVE and several cars were thrown from the track of the C. & N. W. R'y near the North Jackson mine last Saturday afternoon, but no serious damage resulted. Section men were replacing a broken rail which they had taken up, and the engineer of the locomotive did not see the danger signal in time to stop. Hence all this tyness. The company is rich.

MORTUARY.—Mr. Allen H. Maitland died suddenly at his home in Tilden township last Tuesday night, and was buried in the cemetery here on Thursday afternoon, the funeral being held at the Episcopal church. The deceased was well known in the county, where he has resided for many years, and the news of his death will be received with sorrow. He was aged about 45 years, and leaves a wife and six children. He was a brother to Mr. A. W. Maitland, general manager of the Iron Cliffs company.

THE Lake Superior carriage works in this city are at present turning out as fine a lot of open and covered buggies and family carriages as can be manufactured anywhere. This establishment has secured such a business that Mr. Richardson will soon have to enlarge his facilities to meet the requirements of his trade, and it can be looked upon as one of Negaunee's leading industries from now on. The MINING JOURNAL will have more to say in regard to such enterprises in the future. The town wants more factories.

THESE appears to be three prominent candidates for the office of city marshal this year, and as the day of appointment is not far distant, the income of one of the aspirants will soon be fixed, while the other two will be disappointed, so much so that they will go right down to honest labor. The candidates are John Johnston, a man named Polkenhorn, and the present incumbent,

Mr. Joseph Richardson, and all of them feel confident of success. It is said that either of the two first-named gentlemen would make good officers, and the MINING JOURNAL knows nothing to the contrary. Mr. Richardson has made a good marshal, and would do even better this year, for the reason that he would be left more free to exercise his own discretion, and not be, as has been the case in the past, hampered by the higher municipal powers, whom to displease meant official decapitation. The MINING JOURNAL can't say who will get the office, but presumes that each of the three men named will have friends in the council.

THERE isn't much sickness in the city at present, but the epidemic germ is lurking about and will drop in on us soon enough, or else we fail to "catch onto" the signs. When the spring time comes, gentle Annie, and the odors are wafted about the street and into your open window from the many stink piles that ornament the back doors and alleys all over town, and the little ones are stricken with fever one after another, and Gormac's hearse is the best paying vehicle in the city, you may tumble to the cause and clean up—but probably you won't. The great majority of people never clean up their back yards until the marshal notifies them. When the planting time comes, and you seek consolation from the grief of laying your little one into the silent grave from the words of scripture, which read, "the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord," remember that the rendering should be, "the Lord gave, and the stink pile hath taken away; damned be I for not removing the stink pile." The council will order the removal of all alley rubbish at its next meeting. Let every one comply with the order, or there will be mourning in Negaunee.

LOCKED ARMS.—The switch engines employed in the C. & N. W. R'y yard here collided just below the M., H. & O. R. R. crossing Wednesday noon, the cause of the collision being the inability of the engines to pass each other on a "frog," while moving in opposite directions for side tracks, to get out of the way of the up and down passenger trains which were nearly due. The engines were not moving rapidly, and the collision did not result in much damage, although it had the effect to delay the passage of trains until late at night. Both engines were tipped over on the side and tipped over on the track. At the time of the collision, both engines were at dinner, and the locomotives were in the hands of the firemen, whose inexperience, coupled with the fact that the approach to the point of meeting is around a curve, caused the accident. The locomotives were both seen drinking heavily at the tank in the forenoon, and it is rumored that they were both pretty full at the time. If this were the state of affairs, no blame will attach to the men in charge. The passengers, baggage and express on the up and down trains had to be transferred, which caused some delay. The scene of the wreck was visited by many people all day long, most of whom were generous with their advice and comments.

THE enterprise of Negaunee's popular brewers, Messrs. Meeske & Hoch, in the establishment and successful operation of a first-class brewery in the face of all the opposition and discouragement they met on the start, has demonstrated the fact that the beer drinking public will and do appreciate the home article in preference to the imported sewer scum and rosin which has been so largely used heretofore. This firm has established a large business, and this in less than a year, and every month brings its increase. The expense of building new kilns and a malt house, and for the addition of new machinery, was considerable, but the determination of the firm, steadily lived up to, to manufacture only a superior quality of beer will soon reward them adequately for the outlay. Pluck and enterprise are what wins. Meeske & Hoch are anxious to secure barley raised in the upper peninsula, for the reason that it is superior to any brought up from grangerdom, and to secure it they offer seed barley to all who wish to engage in raising the grain, taking their pay for the same in a like amount when the crop is harvested, also agreeing to take the entire crop of all the farmers at ten cents more per bushel than the quoted Chicago market price. About 2,000 bushels were raised in Marquette county last year, and farmers who raised the grain consider it very profitable—even more profitable than other crops. This year much more will be grown.

THE Newark (N. J.) Sunday Call says: One of our Cincinnati exchanges cites the case of Mr. Haldeman, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who was cured of rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil. His wife was cured of neuralgia by the same article, and every member of his family of some pain or ache by the great German remedy.
