By A. P. SWINEFORD & CO.

Devoted to the Iron and Industrial Interests of the Country.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR.

NEW SERIES, No. 742.

ESTABLISHED IN 1846.

MARQUETTE, (L. S.) MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 7, 1882.

EXTRA copies of the MINING JOURNAL, containing a full report of the exhibition this week, may be had at the news rooms.

Miss EDDIE MILLER, formerly of this city, but now of Republic, left Tuesday for a three months' visit among friends in Louisville, Ky.

A LARGE boiler, billed to the Peninsular Copper Mining company, at Hancock, was noticed on the merchandise dock early in the week. It is the work of the Iron Bay foundry, of this city.

A NEW walk is this week being laid along the north side of the Presbyterian church. This will improve the appearance of the street, and at the same time be a convenience to pedestrians.

W. E. PINNELL, of Detroit, who has been the guest of C. A. J. Burger for the past week, left for his home Tuesday night. Although his stay was short, he made some warm friends in Marquette who will be glad to see him whenever he may return.

D. E. MURPHY, of the Northwestern Life Ins. Co., was with us again this week, but his stay was of the briefest, owing to the precarious state of Mrs. Murphy's health, and he returned home to Milwaukee again after attending to pressing business.

MISS IDA LONGYEAR, who has been visiting the family of her brother, J. M. Longyear, for the past six weeks, left for her home in Lansing on Sunday. Her many friends in Marquette unite in the wish that she may be among them again another season.

It was not a dog fight that drew the crowds around the entrance of Coles' hall on Tuesday of this week—it was merely a desire to see the fruits of the land which were brought forth to compete for the premiums offered for the agricultural exhibition in this place.

NONE of the traveling entertainments took in Marquette during our fair week. The work of getting ready for the exhibition and getting it up was done so suddenly to permit of their taking advantage of it—which was all for the best.

ORDINARILY, railway companies are not particularly averse to dirty surroundings, but the M. H. & O. is an exception. It has cleaned up its yards and carried away the rubbish until they look just as neat as shovels and dirt brooms can make the premises. There isn't anything "slouchy" about the M. H. & O. management.

MR. SHAPE, of the telegraph office, with his family, left on Wednesday for a month's visit with friends in Milwaukee and other lower towns. Shape has labored steadily since being assigned the charge of the company's business at this point, and we trust his vacation will be as thoroughly enjoyed as it has been faithfully earned.

"NEW" WELCH, who was chief of police in Fond du Lac when the writer first drove his stakes in that town—and one of the best fellows that ever was—paid Marquette a flying visit Thursday, to feast his eyes on the glories of our county exhibition and the chaste loveliness of the handsomest city in the northwest. Mr. Welch is visiting in Negaunee, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. R. being his sister. He has been a resident of Iowa for several years past, to his home in which state he will return after he has sufficiently acquainted himself with the peculiarities of this upper country.

ONE of the most popular, devoted and able divines of our city is about to leave us. At his own request, Rev. D. Stuart Banks, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will be assigned to another pastorate by the Presbytery of that denomination having charge of this district, to meet in Wisconsin week after next, and a successor will be named to take his place. For ten eventful years in her history the city has numbered Mr. Banks as one of its most beloved divines and valued citizens, and we but voice the universal sentiment of our people when we say that his withdrawal will be regretted by the entire community and regarded as a personal loss by every individual composing it.

THE CHANGE of the SEASONS.—During the past summer weather wise prophets have been disturbed by the fact that in the city of New Orleans the weather has been much cooler than in the Northern cities. Why this is so it is hard to determine, but inquiries are daily made by the curiously disposed, who make inquiries of M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., in regard to the next Monthly Grand (the 149th) Distribution of The Louisiana State Lottery, which takes place on October 10th, under the sole management of Generals G. T. Beauregard of La., and Jubal A. Early of Va., when $75,000, $25,000, $10,000, etc., will be given to some one purchasing a ticket for $5, or a fractional portion at same rate.

CINDERS.

"Taint so much of a fair after all!" Cinders heard a disgusted remark as he came down out of the hall Wednesday night; "there's plenty apples and plums in the hall but they watch a fellow so close that one can't steal nothing."

Thinking of the Fond du Lac Reporter, is a sanguine soul. He believes that the day will come when ships will sail in upper air—even now, he says, a dog's bark is often heard in the breeze. Cinders has pondered on this idea for a week, and isn't able to decide yet whether Tawling ought to be told to take the head of the class or carried outside somewhere and punished with a slipper.

He hasn't been so very long married either, but he got home shockingly late and more shockingly drunk the other night. When his bride of a few months let him in and discovered his condition, she said, in a tone of tender reproach, "Why, Augustus, you're been drinking—you're actually intoxicated!" "Guesh I am, sish, guesh I am, an' sho' you be if you'd drank zoffen's I did sish tea-time!" There was no answering that proposition, so the patient wife put him to bed without further remarks.

"Did you have anything on exhibition?" inquired Cinders of a crusty old property owner of the city yesterday. "No," was the surly reply. "I don't fool my time away trying to raise things for other people's benefit." "You try to raise one thing to the detriment of other people," was tartly answered. "What's that?" responded Cinders, as he vanished into an adjacent store, leaving old Graugrind to spit out wicked language in a sulphurous stream.

The Ishpeming party who sent us material for a red-hot cinder this week maybe surprised to find that we have failed to make use of the same. Cinders may despise the male creature whom our would-be contributor desires to hit, but he is not in the habit of scourging an enemy over the shoulders of a helpless woman. That sort of warfare is left to the parasites of the profession—the small-souled vermin to whom decency is but a name, and manhood a thing of which they have not even a remote conception—cattle like the whelp whom we disdain to dignify with further attention, whose filthy blood naturally breaks out in such violations of morality as that recounted in the communication that we charitably suppress.

There is one gentleman on Ridge street who will "look before he drinks" the next time. He is in the habit of keeping bottled beer in his cellar—to be used, of course, "for medicinal purposes only." The other night he went into the cellar after a bottle, and knowing perfectly, as he thought, where the lager was, he took no light with him. After fumbling about in the dark for a while, his fingers closed upon something which was, in all respects, like unto the bottles from which he had been used to imbibe. Uncorking it, he took a prolonged swig—and then the ease-words which issued from his mouth were fearful to hear. Rushing up stairs he enquired of his wife: "What kind of—stuff have you been putting into my beer?" She flew down stairs, and presently returned, bubbling over with laughter. "What are you laughing at now?" he snarled. "Why," said she, "you've been drinking the tomato catsup I put up in some of your empty beer bottles!" An analysis of the contents of the nearly emptied bottle established the truth of her statement, and the man took a dose of mustard next to "equalize the business." He swore enough to produce a sulphurous smell in the neighborhood, but he hasn't "swore off" on his beer yet.

They were talking about the way people had blundered into fortunes up in this country, and one of the party related the old story of how the present owner in fee of the Chapin mine on the Menominee Range had turned over to his creditors the quarter section of land on which that noble mine was subsequently discovered, when he failed in the mercantile business years ago; how the creditors swapped the property back for the amount of the goods reserved to him under the exemption law—the same being worth some $200; how the mine was afterwards discovered and opened up, and has brought him a royalty of $100,000 or so for several years since, with no indication of "letting up" for a generation to come. When the tale ended silence fell on the listeners and the narrator looked around him with a gratified air to note for the fiftieth time how affected those who heard him tell it. Just then one of the party, a stranger evidently, fetched one of those deep, fish-level-and-plenty-of-ore-in-sight sighs. "Queerstory, ain't it?" said the relator, addressing the stranger, "you don't often hear of such luck as that, do you now?" "Oh, I wasn't thinking of that," was the reply. "I just struck me how like I—I'd feel if I happened to have been one of them creditors!" This was a new view of the matter, and the gathered crowd broke into knots to discuss it from that standpoint.

It was a small procession—consisting only of a woman and a big, overgrown Newfoundland pup that she was trying to lead home by a tow-line some ten feet in length—but it attracted more attention, provoked more laughter and consumed more time in passing a given point than the street display of the biggest railroad show on wheels. Cinders got his eagle eye on the outcast as the woman was tugging feebly at the string in front of a tobaccoist shop before which stood a melancholy looking figure that the pup was trying to scrape acquaintance with after the fashion of his kind. "Come long Tige—that's a good doggy," she pleaded; "drat the brute," (with sudden vehemence, as she gave a vicious pull at the string). The pup, finding his mistress obdurate, made a sudden lunge towards the woman, which had the effect of slacking up the line, upon which she was jerking with all her might. This maneuver sent the woman clear off the sidewalk and out in the street, while the pup barked joyously at his discomfited mistress. When she regained the sidewalk the brute sportively bit at her ankles, getting a kick in return that sent him to his corner rubbing his nose with a front paw and whining plaintively. "Come along now, doggy, do come," again coaxed the woman, tugging gently at the string. The response was appalling. With a short, quick bark, the pup plunged forward once more, caught a mouth full of the woman's skirts in his capacious jaws and leaped wildly about without paying any attention to her command of "Let go there, Tige," and to the wild delirium of the mob. This broke her all up, and she hired a boy to lead the lubberly pup home, while she disappeared into the most sacred recesses of an adjacent dressmaker's shop to repair damages and allow the awl to do its worst.

OUR FIRST OFFERING

ON THE SHRINE OF INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS.—MARQUETTE COUNTY'S FARMS AND GARDENS FURNISH ABUNDANT EVIDENCE OF THEIR FERTILITY.—THE EXHIBITION AN IMMENSE SUCCESS.

It gratifies the MINING JOURNAL beyond measure to record the splendid success in which the exhibition of agricultural and industrial products of the county, announced in our last number to occur this week, and which was held on Wednesday and Thursday, has eventuated. The most sanguine promoters of the movement conceived of no such result as that which has crowned their efforts to teach the people by "object lessons" a proper estimation of the productive capacity of our soil, and the variety of grains, roots, garden vegetables, fruits, etc., that may be grown in our country. The exhibition was a surprise even to those who believed from the start that it could be made a success—much more so was it to the great mass of those who crowded the hall on the days mentioned, to many of whom it was revelation of unsuspected resources in this region, whose existence they had previously remained in ignorance of, or refused to believe in, through concurrence in a widespread but unfounded opinion that "we are too far north here to raise anything but iron ore."

Messrs. Robbins, Adams and Palmer, of the executive committee, also the subordinate committees appointed by them to arrange for the exhibition, had done their work thoroughly, and by Tuesday noon Coles' hall was in readiness for the reception of articles. These began to come in freely Tuesday afternoon. By evening the hall was filled, every table and stand provided for the display being heavily burdened with choice products of the field, garden, orchard and dairy, while the floral and art department was replete with exquisite evidence of the cultured taste and skill of our ladies. When the doors were thrown open Wednesday morning the hall was promptly filled by an eager crowd of visitors, and the extent and variety of the display was a delightful surprise to all who visited the exhibition during the two days and evenings that it lasted. In the variety and quality of the exhibits the display was most creditable. All the commoner grains, roots, vegetables and fruits were abundantly represented, while the exhibits of the finer fruits and vegetables were equal to anything we have ever seen, demonstrating that Marquette county can take a front place as a producer of these if her people but give their culture ordinary attention.

THE HALL. The room for display afforded by Coles' hall was taxed to its utmost limit to accommodate the exhibits sent in from all parts of the county, even the stage being utilized for that purpose. A large but orderly crowd surged back and forth in the aisles between the tables, and everybody seemed to be taking the thing in to its full extent. A comment made in our hearing seemed to express the universal sentiment. It was: "Well, Marquette county isn't such a slow place on farming and fruit-raising as most people seem to think!" In the center of the hall were placed two beautiful flower tables, which had been arranged by the committee of ladies in charge of the hall. One of these was especially fine—two miniature lakes, with a small boat of home manufacture floating on each, having been placed upon it, while these were surrounded by flowers of every conceivable hue, arranged in a manner that was calculated to plant envy in the heart of the professional florist. Our notice of this table would not be complete without special mention of the bridge over the lakes, which was a wonderful specimen of feminine ingenuity and the admiration of all beholders. Along the sides of the room were hung quilts of all kinds—crazy, log-cabin, and the Lord only knows what others—handsome spreads, tidies, etc., producing an effect at once bewildering and pleasing to the eye.

The front part of the hall was devoted to the VEGETABLE DISPLAY, and there was to be seen as fine an assortment of vegetables as any county fair in the state could boast of. In size, form and color these productions of the iron district will compare very favorably with any raised in lower Michigan. The exhibits of Henry Blumhauer, of Marquette township, covered one entire table, and formed the largest display of vegetables shown by one person. One thing on this table which attracted a great deal of attention was a mammoth cabbage, weighing 29 lbs. This gentleman also exhibited some very fine heads of cauliflower. Next came the display of E. D. Cox, which consisted of a large and varied assortment of vegetables. In this exhibit were to be found all sorts of garden-truck, and some particularly nice tomatoes were seen; also some excellent potatoes. We also noticed on this table some large Hubbard squashes, on which Mr. Cox's name was blazoned forth in raised white letters, caused by cutting the name on the squash while it was yet green. Jacob Smith showed a fine lot of vegetables, the most noticeable among these being some immense rutabagas. George Rublein had a good display of cabbages, pumpkins, etc., the cabbages being especially noticed. In the very front of the hall were the baskets of potatoes shown by W. B. Roberts. These were excellent, and did Mr. Roberts great credit, as also did the remainder of his display. Dr. Hewitt had some very fine vegetables on exhibition, among them being three large squashes, the largest of which—a perfect Jumbo—weighed 88 lbs. The county house farm made a good show of vegetables, consisting of cabbage, squashes, turnips, carrots, etc. George Steinbrocker exhibited some nice vegetables, among them being some especially fine carrots. Fred Woolner sent a good exhibit of garden stuff, cauliflower, onions, beets, carrots, etc., forming the component parts. T. P. Meads had some fine celery, accompanied by a recipe for making the leaves into a relish for soups, etc., which will doubtless be greatly appreciated by our matrons. Ishpeming and Michigan both sent contributions to this department, and they were really fine displays. In the Ishpeming exhibit Mrs. S. Johnson, Mrs. C. H. Hall and Martin Kepp showed themselves to be experts in the line of gardening, a fine Savoy cabbage sent by Mrs. Johnson and some splendid winter radishes from Mr. Kepp being the most noticeable features. The Michigan contribution was mostly the product of the gardens of Geo. Bloch and J. C. Fowle, and showed these gentlemen to be thoroughly acquainted with the science of gardening.

In the space assigned for the exhibition of SMALL GRAINS was noticed some wheat which would take precedence, on the score of quality, over any raised in the so-called wheat countries. The berry was plump, large and well filled, and need take a back seat for none in weight to the bushel. Ignatz Smeltz, Jacob Smith, Fred Woolner, Geo. Rublein and A. R. Harlow divided the honors among them for this exhibit, which showed that Marquette county could raise as good wheat, oats, rye, barley, etc., as one could find anywhere.

The tables which drew the crowds, however, were those pertaining to the FRUIT DEPARTMENT, on which were placed as fine an exhibit of fruit as it has ever been our good luck to witness. The apples were especially fine, being large, well formed, splendidly colored and remarkably free from blemishes. Pears were also there, although not in great variety, Bartlett and Flemish Beauties predominating. Jacob Smith had an excellent display in this department, consisting of apples, pears, Siberian crabs and plums. The plums sent by Murray & Robbins drew out many admiring exclamations, and they deserved it, for they were larger, finer and of a better color than the boasted California plums which are seen in our market. They are said to be of the egg variety, but, as one gentleman remarked, "if they are they must be goose-egg plums," for we never saw egg-plums of that size before. There were also some apples and pears from Murray & Robbins' garden which elicited much comment. S. D. Adams showed a fine lot of fruit, among which were some apples of the "Wealthy" variety, these being extra nice. J. W. Wyckoff sent a splendid lot of choice apples and other fruits, also blackberries, including a branch on which the fruit was exhibited in all stages of development. Mrs. P. A. Bishop showed a plate of beautiful Bartlett and Flemish Beauty pears, and also a branch full of ripe cherries—rather a rare sight at this time of the year. The orchard of our worthy mayor was represented by some fine fruit of different varieties. Mrs. Hubbard exhibited an excellent assortment of plums, apples, Siberian crabs and pears. The display of Geo. Greeninger in this department was also very fine. Henry Blumhauer exhibited the largest variety of apples shown, he having several different kinds, all nicely arranged. Wetmore sent some beautiful fruit, his apples being particularly noticed.

THE FINE ARTS. A large space was reserved for the art display, and it was well worthy of notice, as was shown by the crowds on the stage, where the larger part was placed. A fancy head, drawn with colored crayons by Mrs. E. P. Palmer, was the object of much admiration. It was a beautiful thing, and very cleverly executed. Miss Carrie Watson had a large number of paintings and crayon sketches on exhibition, and they were executed in a manner which showed that the young lady is possessed of true artistic talent, which she has developed to a high degree of proficiency in this line of work. Miss Watson's drawing class had a large number of drawings, and they reflected much credit upon both teacher and class. Miss Nellie Hopkins' name was attached to many beautiful hand-painted tiles, plaques, etc., which were greatly admired. The lace work from the hands of Miss Alice Ward was highly commended by the ladies, who averred that it was "just too beautiful for anything." Miss K. E. Everett showed some elegant specimens of her handiwork, in the shape of hand-painted pottery, embroidery, modelling in clay, etc. A beautiful object in this display was a piece of Huron Bay slate, exquisitely polished, and having water lilies painted upon it. The wax-work by Mrs. McQuillen was very favorably commented upon, and well deserves special mention. Miss Robbins' crayon sketches were excellent, and showed great taste and delicacy in design and finish. Two companion pieces, each representing a stag ploughing its way through the snow, which were executed by Miss May C. Bishop, were very highly praised, and did credit to her powers as an artist. The wax wreath of Mrs. Fletcher, the hair flowers made by Miss Jennie Brown, and the wreath of worsted flowers by Miss Jennie Haines, all elicited much commendation. The objets d'art which crowded this department were both numerous and beautiful, and we regret that space will not allow of more extended notice of each.

MISCELLANEOUS. A tiny kettle, manufactured by H. J. Hopkins from a copper cent, and suspended on a crane, was a center of attraction. It was a little daisy, and the person who had the patience and ingenuity to fashion it deserved a special premium. A complete miniature steamboat, made with a common knife, was a marvel of wooden mechanism. It was exhibited by Peter Rasmussen. M. E. Asire, taxidermist, made a fine showing of his art, in the shape of mounted birds. The fire screen manufactured and painted by Ernest Wetmore, was a rare specimen of this gentleman's skill in such work. E. B. Palmer's Gothic clock, made entirely of wood and keeping perfect time, was a very creditable product of his inventive genius. A case of golden buttons, the work of the housewives of Marquette county, was an appetizing exhibit of the lacteal extract. In the case of bread and cakes were some specimens of culinary skill which were very tempting to the looker-on—a loaf of steamed bread being particularly eulogized by the feminine portion of the crowd. F. W. Read & Co., of Eagle Mills, exhibited a splendid lot of mouldings and scroll work from their factory at that place. Much notice was taken of these, and they constituted quite a novel feature of the exhibition. The Lakeside Knitting Works were well represented, having a fine display of knit goods, as well as showing one of their machines in motion and doing excellent work. A beautiful chandelier was shown by Byrne & Blackwood, the plumbers, of this city. Mrs. La Liberty, the milliner, displayed some of her work in the shape of hats, fancy embroidery, etc., this exhibit being very attractive to the ladies. A superb fuchsia plant, covered with flowers, was a tribute to the care and attention bestowed upon it by the exhibitor, Mrs. Blanchard, while a beautiful and unique India rubber plant, shown by Mrs. Bronson, was the object of much curious attention.

We give below as full a list of exhibitors and exhibits as it was possible for us to obtain for publication—the entries in the fine art and floral departments being so great as to preclude the possibility of giving names and classifications in this department. A full list of the awards made also follows. Readers will do well to preserve these, as a record of the first exhibition of the kind ever held in Marquette county:

Ball; crochet tidy, Mrs. Jackson, 29 years of age; knitted toilet set, Mrs. L. G. Palmer; fancy embroidery, Mrs. P. La Liberty; silk table spread, Mrs. Chas. Kelsey.

The republican county convention, held at the Breitung house, Negaunee, yesterday afternoon, was organized by the election of Hon. H. O. Young, of Ishpeming, as chairman, and C. G. Griffey, of Negaunee, secretary. There were present forty-one delegates. The convention was harmonious, and only one necessary to resort to the ballot. The following is the ticket put in nomination: For sheriff, John Jeffrey; for county clerk and register of deeds, Gad. Smith; for county treasurer, Benj. W. Wright; for prosecuting attorney, Eugene E. Osborne; for circuit court commissioners, James E. Dalliba and Wm. K. Jones; for coroners, Philip Jones and John Fitzpatrick; for county surveyor, Charles F. Howe. The convention also elected the following gentlemen delegates to the senatorial convention: C. H. Hall, H. O. Young, C. G. Griffey, D. H. Bacon, H. H. Milde, W. H. Rood, I. N. Oie, Geo. McAlister, Walter Fitch, E. B. Howard, Neil McInnis, Jas. Pickands, H. E. Warner, J. C. Morse, W. H. Williams, C. Y. Osburn, Geo. A. Newett, N. McLeod, H. Harvey. The convention also appointed a county committee of one from each ward and township in the county, and with C. Y. Osburn and A. W. Maitland as members at large. Hon. Edward Breitung was made chairman of the committee.

REPUBLIC.

The present summer has been the first that the railroad company found it necessary to have a regular mail master at Republic.

F. H. Malcolm left for Canada on the 28th, his continuing illness making it impossible for him to endure the severe climate of this latitude in winter.

The Merry Makers gave us a call on their return from the copper district, but they had a poor house and did not please as well as when they were here before.

Work has begun on the new hospital. It is intended to have it ready for business this fall.

Nobody could tell what F. H. Kearney meant by sending to his address car load after car load of boxes, barrels, crates, etc., etc., from Chicago and New York, but when he got home he explained it all: These boxes, barrels, etc., all contain new and seasonable goods, just bought in the large cities, and he is going to sell them.

The township has bought a suitable safe for the reception of its valuable papers, etc. Good idea.

The Marinette Lumber Co. has also made its appearance in our town; it comes with fifty men and a dozen or two of teams, which were sent out from here Wednesday for their camps on the Michigan river. It is their purpose to put two or three million feet of pine in the river this winter, and run it to Marinette for manufacture.

This company and the Menominee River company are building a warehouse in partnership at Republic. Mr. Henry Swart is the gentlemanly superintendent of the Marinette Lumber Co., and is here personally managing the work; he acts like a man of fine executive ability, and his men all like him.

There are two or three more lumbering corporations to be heard from yet, so that when they all get here and begin spending money we will have a business boom. One thing we would have different, viz: they bring their own supplies from outside, so we cannot expect to get up much excitement until the men have a pay day and come to town to buy barrels of flour, cooking stoves, hams, etc., or whatever it is that lumbermen usually buy when they come to town loaded with lucre.

The social party given by the young folks last Friday evening was well attended, quite a few coming from Marquette, among whom were Messrs Labold, Mr. Joslin—the little gentleman who helps keep the Citizens bank in Marquette right side up—and Mr. Gay.

Mrs. Laxstrom returned home from her California trip, last week, looking much improved in health. She doesn't like that state to live in, she says they kill people for $5 out there.

Mrs. Schaler returned to her home at Quinnesec on Monday, having made a very pleasant month's visit at her mother's home in this place.

An attempt was made last Sunday night to burglarize Anton Laman's sleeping room but without success. The man who tried the little game came a great deal nearer getting shot to death than he did to Mr. Laman's cash.

Capt. Peter Pascoe, E. S. Rowland and C. M. Babcock attended the county and representative conventions as delegates from this township.

Health & Wilson are building a commodious stable at their lumber yard.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—An adjourned special meeting of the common council of the city of Marquette was held on the 30th day of September, 1882. The mayor presided, and on the roll being called by the recorder, there were present Aldermen Heffernan, Deasy, Prentice, Holduc, Lyons and Pickands.

The reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting was dispensed with.

COMMUNICATIONS.—The proposals for grading and macadamizing Fourth street, between Arch street and Cedar street, were presented, and that of Patrick O. Mully being the lowest, he was awarded the contract at 84 cents per lineal foot.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.—The committee on finance, taxation and gas-light presented their report as to the amount necessary to be raised by general taxation for the current year, and recommended that there be raised:

For school fund.....$14,000
For water fund.....16,000
and the report was accepted and adopted.

REPORTS OF CITY OFFICERS.—John G. O'Keefe, justice of the peace, reported that since last meeting he had paid into the city treasury for fines for breaches of city ordinances, seventy-seven dollars.

REPORTS AND RESOLUTIONS.—It was resolved that the time for the collection of the assessment roll for grading and macadamizing Genesee street be extended to the 4th day of November, 1882, and the city treasurer was instructed to take the necessary legal steps to enforce the collection of said assessment without delay.

Moved by alderman Pickands and seconded by alderman Deasy: Resolved, That the following places be and they are hereby designated by this council as holding the boards of registration of the several wards of the city of Marquette to be held on the 2d, 3d and 4th of November, and also for holding the polls at the general election to be held on the 14th day of November, 1882:

First ward—At the house of Daniel Reynolds on Lake street.
Second ward—At the hose house.
Third ward—At Spears' barn.
Fourth ward—At Fraser's office.

And the recorder is hereby instructed to have such notices as are required by law posted in each ward of said city, and also to procure a new set of registration books for the respective wards.

The following ordinance was then passed: It is hereby ordained by the common council of the city of Marquette:

First—That a sewer be constructed in said city commencing at a point on the north side of Bluff street, fifty feet west of the intersection of the west line of Blaker and the north line of Bluff streets, running thence westward along Bluff to Front street, thence southerly along Front street to the sewer on Washington street.

Second—That the same shall be constructed of six-inch vitrified sewer pipes provided with the necessary "Y's" and "T's," and laid at such depth as to accommodate the several lots along the line of such sewer.

Third—That the city recorder after the plans and specifications of such sewer are settled and decided upon by the committee of this council on streets, bridges, sewers and public grounds, shall advertise in some newspaper printed in said city for written proposals for constructing such sewer, for one week, and said council shall let the same to the lowest responsible bidder.

Fourth—That a bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the common council, conditioned for the faithful performance of this agreement for the construction of said sewer according to the terms and specifications of the contract to be entered into, shall accompany each bid.

Fifth—That the committee on streets, bridges, sewers and public grounds cause to be made the necessary surveys, plans and specifications for such sewer.

Sixth—The manner of assessing and collecting the expense of said sewer shall be as near as may be, according to the provisions of the charter of the city, and an ordinance of said city relative to the grading, paving and improvement of streets, alleys and public places, and the uses and protection thereof.

Moved by alderman Lyons, seconded by alderman Pickands:

Resolved, That in accordance with the report of the finance committee the following amounts be raised by taxation for the present year:

For general fund.....$.....
For highway fund.....14,000
For water fund.....16,000
The following bills were audited and ordered paid:

M. H. Maynard, two days on board of review..... 86 00
L. P. Cray, printing sidewalk notices..... 3 00
A. P. Swinford & Co., printing council proceedings, etc..... 15 00
John Jeffrey, board of city prisoners..... 20 10
John G. O'Keefe, trying city prisoners..... 12 00
R. R. French, arrest of city prisoners..... 6 00
Mrs. Alexander McDonald, rebate on assessment..... 15 00
Gard Maynard, making city census..... 10 02
S. Coles, most supplied small pox families..... 39 97
Freeman & Bro., livery on small pox account..... 8 25
Wm. Dietner, burying corpse, and ice in country..... 6 00
Dr. Desjardins' bill was referred to city attorney.

The council then adjourned to Oct. 30th, 1882, at 7:30 o'clock P. M. JOHN G. O'KEEFE, Recorder.

A HAPPY FAMILY.

Pulled from the breast, squeezed from the bottle.
Stomachs will sour and milk will curdle;
Baby hallelujah all that night.
Household bumping heads in awful fright.
Don't deny, 'twas thus with pictorial.
Night was hideous without Castoria;
When colic left, for peaceful slumber.
All said their prayers and slept like thunder.

Ears for the Million!

Foo Choo's Balsam of Shark's Oil

Positively Restores the Hearing, and is the Only Absolute Cure for Deafness Known.

This oil is abstracted from a peculiar species of small WHITE SHARK, caught in the Yellow Sea, known as CARCHARODON RONDELETTI. Every Chinese fisherman knows it. Its virtues as a restorative of hearing were discovered by a Buddhist Priest about the year 1410. Its cures were so numerous, and many so seemingly miraculous, that the remedy was officially proclaimed over the entire Empire. Its use became so universal that for over 300 YEARS NO DEAFNESS HAS EXISTED AMONG THE CHINESE PEOPLE. See charges prepaid, to any address at $1.00 per bottle.

Hear What the Deaf Say.

It has performed a miracle in my case. I have been deaf for many years, and I have been greatly benefited. My deafness helped a great deal—think another bottle will cure me.

"Its virtues are UNQUESTIONABLE and its CURATIVE CHARACTER ABSOLUTE, AS THE WRITER CAN PERSONALLY TESTIFY, BOTH FROM EXPERIENCE AND OBSERVATION. Write at once to HAYLOCK & JENNY, 7 Dey Street, New York, enclosing $1.00, and you will receive by return a remedy that will enable you to hear like anybody else, and whose curative effects will be permanent. You will never regret doing so."—EDITOR OF MERCANTILE REVIEW.

TUTT'S PILLS

A DISORDERED LIVER IS THE BANE

Of the present generation. It is for the cure of this disease and its attendant, RICKHEADACHE, BILIOUSNESS, DYSPEPSIA, CONSTIPATION, PILES, etc., that TUTT'S PILLS have gained a world-wide reputation. No Remedy has ever been discovered that acts so gently on the digestive organs, giving them vigor to assimilate food. As a natural result, the Nervous System is Braced, the Muscles are Developed, and the Body Robust.

Chills and Fever. E. RIVAL, a Planter at Bayou Sara, La., says: My plantation is in a malarial district. For several years I could not make half a crop on account of bilious diseases and chills. I was nearly discouraged when I began the use of TUTT'S PILLS. The result was marvelous: my laborers soon became hearty and robust, and I have had no further trouble.

They relieve the engorged Liver, cleanse the blood from poisonous humors, and cause the bowels to act naturally, without which no one can feel well. Try this remedy fairly, and you will gain a Healthy Digestion, vigorous Body, Pure Blood, Strong Nerves, and Sound Liver. Price, 25 Cts. Office, 25 Murray St., N. Y.

ISHPEMING, OCTOBER 7, 1882.

Forty-five robust, able-bodied lumbermen, under the direction of Mr. Henry Schwartz, of Marinette, arrived in the city from that place last Tuesday, and, after spending the afternoon at the Nelson house, left on the evening train for Republic, ten miles north of which place, on the Michigamme, a lumbering camp is to be put in. The teams and supplies for the new camp went up on Monday. The men will commence building camps and the cutting of road ways immediately, and in three weeks' time will begin the war on the pines.

Mr. H. Eckert, the purchaser of the Commercial House, arrived in the city on Wednesday and has taken possession. Mr. Eckert spent some considerable time in the county during the summer, and made many acquaintances. In Ishpeming, especially, he is no stranger, and we cordially welcome him among us. We believe Mr. Eckert will make some needed changes in the hotel management and greatly add to the desirability of the house, as a home for transients and steady boarders alike, in which case he will not fail for want of patronage.

STOMACH pumps have been hoisting the gastric juice from the bowels of the earth—on Main, Division and Pearl streets—during the whole of the week. Water pipes on these streets are being laid with considerable trouble, and at greater expense than was anticipated. On Division street the water rose so rapidly in the ditch dug for the water main that the fire engine had to be brought out on Monday to draw it off. On Tuesday an Earle pump and stationary boiler was erected on the corner by the city drug store, and was employed pumping all of that and the following day.

The quiet and good order which prevailed throughout the city all day on Sunday last proves conclusively that all that was needed to give Ishpeming an appearance of righteousness was to take the "booze" away from the chronics who love to linger with it all through the idle hours of that holy day. There were a few stray cases of drunkenness in the street in the morning but, they were only the remnants of Saturday night debauches, which soon disappeared. It was, perhaps, the quietest Sunday Ishpeming has experienced in all its history, and as such could not help but prove satisfactory to the religious element.

The city hospital, which has undergone a remodeling and thorough renovation during the summer, is again occupied, and, when the water pipes and closets now being put in are completed, will be as convenient and comfortable a home for the sick and disabled as they could desire. It's almost worth while to get sick and linger a week or two in the place—so clean and cosy does it appear under its new garments of paint and kalsomine. As it now is the hospital is much more convenient than formerly, and can take care of many more patients at the same time. It is under the direct supervision of Dr. Bigelow, assisted by Dr.'s Harwood, Shipman and Sears.

"BIG 'INJUN' ME."—Rev. J. H. Pitezel, a Methodist clergyman who spent a few years on the upper peninsula as missionary to the aborigines during the early days of its development, has returned to us with a book entitled "Lights and Shadows of Missionary Life," and which he is selling about the city by subscription on the strength of the MINING JOURNAL's recommendation. The volume is interesting as history for the Methodist denomination, and is having an extensive sale. Rev. J. H. Pitezel, alias Wa-yot-wah-wa-doony, or the "yellow beard," is selling the book in person. We assure our readers that he is not so ferocious a person to deal with as the name would seem to indicate.

PATRONS of the telephone in this city were treated to a free vocal and instrumental concert last Sunday afternoon, the songs and musical selections being the free-will offerings of those on the line who felt called upon to furnish something for the entertainment. Several songs rendered by patrons in Marquette were distinctly heard in all their beauty by listeners here, and Marquette listeners were given the same sort of entertainment from here and Negaunee. The songs and music rendered at any point on the line was nicely transmitted to all the other points, and none of the beauty of the harmony lost. We understand that a Houghton chorus will entertain the line to-morrow afternoon—at any rate it will pay patrons to find out, and if so ask for a connection.

We don't have sensations in Ishpeming every day, and therefore it need not appear strange that when the gossiping fraternity, always hungry for such food, thinks it has something of the kind to feed upon, it should exercise its jaws to advantage. This week furnished a sensation, but no blood, and the public appetite for gossip has been partially appeased. It seems that a certain well known lady of this city had occasion to believe that a certain "professional" gentleman was taking her name in vain, and she determined to put an end to it. Armed with a gun the lady appeared at the office of the aforesaid gentleman and demanded an explanation—which she got. The gentleman whose life had been threatened with destruction, believing that a certain other person had got him into the scrape, visited that person and chastised him. On the following day explanations were had all around and no one of the parties was found guilty; but these explanations didn't occur until the matter had been ground through the gossip mills, and exaggerated beyond anything the plain facts would warrant.

WORSE THAN FIRE.—At a late hour on Wednesday night fire was discovered in the upper story of the "Rock Store," and, although the discovery was made in time to prevent a serious loss by the fire itself, we regret to say that what the flames did not accomplish in the way of damage was finished off by the flood of water thrown on the fire, and the immense stock of Meyers & Dousman, the princes of Ishpeming's merchantmen, was an almost entire wreck by the time the scene of destruction was abandoned by the crowd. What caused the fire will never be known to a certainty. Yet the most plausible theory seems to be that it originated from a spark thrown out by an engine on the C. & N. W. branch track, which passes close to the open windows of the upper story of the store. The upper floor of the Rock store is used entirely for the storage of surplus stock, consisting of dry goods, carpets, clothing and groceries, and was well filled with goods. This floor is visited by clerks at all hours of the day, but it is seldom that strangers are taken to this department—hence the theory that the fire may have been caused by a stub of a cigar carelessly thrown away by a customer is not to be credited. The clerks do not smoke in the store. The history of the fire is substantially as follows: It was about eleven o'clock; Mr. T. F. Donohoe and W. J. Dawson (the latter a traveling dry goods man from Detroit) were coming up the street, when they saw a suspicious light in the upper story of the store. Waiting a moment, until convinced that this indicated fire, they rushed to the store door and succeeded in arousing the night watch, who let them in. Gaining the upper story, the seat of the fire was found, but as no sufficient amount of water could be obtained in the store to subdue the flames, the alarm was sounded. The new engine was soon on the ground and had a stream directed upon the flames, but as the creek or reservoir into which the suction hose was placed was filled with mud, which soon stopped the engine, a delay was caused which gave the fire a start until the engine Nelson could be got on the ground. This done, a stream was also brought into play from the water works hydrant in front of Tilson's. The two streams soon had effect to subdue the flames, which had made considerable headway during the delay, but as the fire was concealed, the two streams had to be kept going some time—at any rate, long enough to drench the entire stock of the store. The Myers & Douseman store is one of the oldest mercantile concerns in the city, and carried one of the finest stocks of general merchandise to be found north of Milwaukee. The lowest estimated value of their stock at the time of the fire was $36,000, and on this stock they have an insurance of $24,000, divided among eight different insurance companies. The stock, although not greatly damaged by fire, is so thoroughly drenched and injured by the water thrown upon it that it would not bring twenty-five cents on the dollar, and the conflagration may be regarded as a great calamity to the firm and the city at large. The enterprise of the firm will soon reassert itself, however, and their place of business will ere long not show a sign of the recent disaster. Aside from broken windows and some few smoke stains on the building, little damage was done to the structure itself.

THE MINING JOURNAL.

SHIPMENTS from this port just about hold their own, the average being about 26,000 tons per week for several weeks past. The heavy work of the season has been done.

The branch track from the Milwaukee mine to the McComber is going in under superintendence of Capt. H. Roberts, who has charge of the work for Mr. H. M. Atkinson, the contractor.

The representative district convention of the county was held at the Breitung house, Negaunee, yesterday afternoon, and Mr. J. Q. Adams, of Negaunee, was nominated by acclamation. Mr. Adams was called for and thanked the convention for the honor.

Another thirty-second interest in the Ludington mine has been disposed of for a snug figure—$50,000. The interest was sold by ex-governor Ludington, of Wisconsin, who got that amount in hard cash for the property. The Ludington is a good mine to stay by or sell out of, at the present rating of her stock. A man can get rich either way if he only holds stock enough. The mine is coming up finely in the shipping list.

Up to and including Wednesday, the 5th, the Carp River Iron company had shipped, by lake and rail, for the season, 9,336 tons of pig iron and 2,852 tons of gannister. Of the former, 1,837 tons were shipped over the Pacific dock here, and 645 tons over the M. H. & O. dock, making 2,782 tons of the whole amount forwarded by lake from the port of Marquette. The company's shipments via St. Ignace for the same period reached 3,265 tons.

We hear nothing more about that vein of iron ore recently discovered at St. Paul, which showed over 90 per cent of metallic iron on analysis! The report sent out stated that the drill—one of the machines used in sinking ordinary artesian wells, by the way—had pierced the deposit to a depth of 40 feet, and was "still in ore." The discovery of a bed of that grade of iron ore in the Lake Superior district would set our miners wild, but the St. Paul people seem to take it very coolly, indeed. Our presumption is that the thoughts of the dwellers in that saintly city are so steadfastly centered on the treasures of heaven that riches hidden in the bowels of the vulgar earth have but slight value in their unworshipful eyes. Being less holy, perhaps, but more practical, the MINING JOURNAL confesses that it would like to see some of that ore mined and treated in a blast furnace. A new grade of pig iron might then be looked for.

VERY characteristic of the business enterprise of Milwaukeeans is a story related by the Sunday Telegraph, of that city. The paper states that four years ago a limited number of shares in the Menominee Mining company, of which J. J. Hagerman, a citizen of Milwaukee, is president, were offered in succession to several leading capitalists there, the entire block only calling for an investment of $15,000. They declined to risk even that small sum in the enterprise. To-day the stock which they then declined to touch at $15,000 is worth over a million dollars. One of those who refused the fortune offered him on such easy terms four years ago is S. S. Merrill, the well-known railroad man. Speaking of the matter recently, he remarked that he knew it was a good thing at the time, and meant to take the stock, "but," said he, "I guess I forgot it—forgot a million of dollars." There is a good deal of such forgetfulness about Milwaukee business men, and that is one reason why Milwaukee is coming to be forgotten as a business centre.

MR. MUSSON, in charge of the engineering department of the D. M. & M. railroad, informs the MINING JOURNAL that a route for the proposed extension of that road westward to the mines has been found which is in every respect satisfactory, and that he has reported to the management of the company. The line recommended, as located by him, follows the general course of the Carp between Negaunee and Marquette, leaving the river at a point west of this city where the conformation of the ground admits of this being advantageously done, and striking the water front owned by the company near its yards, the whole distance being made in something less than 13 miles, and the route being of an easy grade and free from sharp curves. Mr. Musson says he can bring the track to the water at dockage level—speaking with reference to ore shipments—without any difficulty; that the line will not be an expensive one to build, taking into account the character of the country, and that it will be one upon which trains can be handled with the greatest expedition, owing to the moderate grade and freedom from bad curves. This route is a correction of that previously located rather than a new one. Mr. Musson is plainly of the opinion that it is the best to be found in the section to be pierced by the extension talked of. If the management is in earnest, therefore, in the purpose of pushing its line west to the mines, we may look for early further developments, the route located being all that could be desired, and more than could be expected, when we remember the rough face of the country between the points bounding the survey.

SHIPMENTS.—The following is a statement of lake shipments of iron ore and pig iron for the season up to and including October 4:

The first shipment of ore reduced by the process there employed was made from the Concentrating Works at Negaunee Thursday. It consisted of 25 car loads of the product. This has since been followed by other consignments, the aggregate amount of which for the week, including to-day, is expected to reach 130 car loads, or about 900 tons. The ore was forwarded to Cleveland—via rail to Escanaba, and thence by vessel to its destination. All the minor annoyances experienced on first starting up are being overcome, and the machinery begins to do its work in a manner fulfilling the expectations of the management. The MINING JOURNAL has believed all along that the gentlemen engaged in the enterprise knew what they were about rather better than that up-the-road scribbler who assumed that the "experiment" must be a failure because those who invested thousands in it declined to let him see how it worked, pursuant to a rigid but necessary rule enforced against all outsiders as a mere matter of business. We congratulate the management on the success already achieved, and the encouraging outlook for the future of their concern.

A. P. SWINEFORD, of the Marquette Journal, has commenced the compilation of "a comprehensive historical work concerning the upper peninsula of Michigan." The work will not be undertaken by anyone more capable and experienced, and his reputation as a journalist and as the author of the "Annual Reviews," the last edition of which has been already exhausted, will insure it a standing with the reading public from the very start. We trust that Mr. Swineford will not forget that Ontonagon county is entitled to considerable attention in such a work as he proposes to publish, and we also hope that it will be possible for him to visit our section in the near future, and see for himself that all this talk about Ontonagon county is not merely a gastric effervescence caused by a torpid state within. We are not one of the oldest inhabitants, and of course can not take the savor after historical truths back into the dim vista of the past and point out facts to him, but whatever assistance we can render him will be cheerfully given. Our faith in Ontonagon county, while it is not alone strong enough to move mountains and construct wagon roads and railroads, is exceedingly vigorous; sufficiently so, at least, to convince us that any man of intelligence, who will give its natural resources and prospects a fair investigation, will feel fully justified in reporting it favorably to whomsoever it may concern. So come along, Mr. Swineford, and take a look at Ontonagon county as it is to-day.—Ontonagon Herald.

Mr. Swineford intends giving Ontonagon county, its early history, present development, rich natural resources and promising industrial, the place and space in the coming history to which they are justly entitled; to which end he will visit Ontonagon in due order, and devote all the time necessary to the work of collecting material for his publication. The invitation extended by our contemporary is placed on file, and Mr. Swineford will be pleased to avail himself of the courteous offer of our esteemed co-worker in the cause of upper peninsula interests when he visits that section. All portions of this peninsula will be visited by him in turn while he is engaged in compiling its history, and none will be slighted in the volume, which it is his intention to make a standard authority on all matters pertaining to this part of the state.

THE COPPER DISTRICT.—For the following items of mining news from the above district we are indebted to our exchanges there, as credited. The Northwestern Mining Journal reports the Pewabic, as very much improved and looking very rich in the bottom, having evidently, the paper states, struck into one of the rich bunches of copper which characterize that lode, and will soon be in shape to make up for the light production of the past few months. Being provided with but one shaft, her capacity for getting through poor ground, such as encountered latterly, is somewhat limited, but it is likely that No. 5 shaft will be sunk into the ground newly acquired if the present very promising indications continue.—The outlook at the Copper Falls at the present time is very encouraging, and gives promise that the industry will find itself on a solid financial basis in the not distant future. The ashed is still looking very well, and with a surface plant in good condition and ample stamping facilities, there is no reason why its operations should not result in profit. The day has passed when two or three per cent. rock was a necessary adjunct of remunerative mining. With the example of the Atlantic mine before us, paying to its stockholders $80,000 this year from its three-fourths of one per cent. rock, it is shown that only energy, economy, intelligence and perseverance are required to make our poorest mines sources of profit to their owners. The ashed at the Copper Falls carries, we believe, about one per cent. copper, and in the light of the above facts, is not poor. With a third more copper in every ton of rock than the Atlantic lode has, we feel satisfied that, with its recently increased facilities and appliances, the Copper Falls has a future before it that will amply repay its management for holding its grip.

Of the mines in its vicinage the Ontonagon Miner has the following:—The underground of the Mass mine is just now a sight worth seeing, and brings one's memory back to the palmy days of Ontonagon's history, when our miners were turning out masses of immense size and weight. At the Mass mine there is one mass that has just been blasted down, over twenty tons in weight, from the vein in the second level east of No. 2 shaft. Copper cutters are now at work cutting it up into convenient size to handle to send to the surface. In the fourth level west of No. 2 shaft, they are now uncovering another large mass which several blasts have failed to blow down, and from the amount of copper exposed, it is judged at about six or seven tons. Miners are now engaged stopping around it so as to dislodge it from its secret hiding place. These fine masses are from the Knowlton vein, on which all the work of the mine is at present being prosecuted, and the find will help to swell their month's product to quite respectable proportions.—The work of the erection of the new machinery and opening up the Nonesuch mine is proceeding with all possible vigor. The new machinery and furnaces are in fact being put in place under Mr. Roney's personal supervision, and it is hoped that everything will be under cover and well secured before snow flies. It is too early yet to predict when the first test will be made, so much has to be done and got ready, and under so many disadvantages. In the mine the work of sinking and drifting, is being pushed ahead with the machine drills, so by the time the machinery is ready, they will have plenty of ground open for stopping.

At the Bell they have made considerable progress with the work. At the new shaft on the Knowlton vein, most of the surface debris and vein rock has been taken out the proper width and depth, and the work of timbering the shaft is now going on. At the surface outcropping of the vein the miners are uncovering another ancient pit, from which we obtained several specimens of stone hammers, all of them showing signs of hard usage. In this surface work, preparing for the shaft, they have taken out several tons of copper, and are stacking up some very rich stamp rock. In the mine on the Champion vein they are taking out some excellent mill rock, and stacking it up for the mill, besides accumulating considerable barrel copper. At the time of our visit they were blasting in good copper rock. If the London directors arrive here before snow comes and buries up the rich rock they have been taking out at both these points, they will see something that will astonish them and encourage them to hasten the development of the mine.

THEO. M. DAVIS, president of the Lake Superior Ship Canal, Railway and Iron company, is in the upper peninsula this week, and, with J. M. Longyear, agent of the company at this point, is inspecting the lands owned by it in the different ranges of this section.

There is such a thing as being too solicitous concerning the welfare of our friends. Thus, the Saginaw Herald trembles for the future of Mr. Breitung, albeit full of friendship for that gentleman, when it remembers the danger of his opening congressional career as a legislator. We will permit the Herald to speak for itself.

There has been no man in the acquaintance of the editor of the Herald during his long political association, that we have taken more kindly to, or aided more cheerfully than Edward Breitung, the republican nominee for congress in the eleventh district. Mr. Breitung is a German, intelligent, genial, enterprising and enthusiastic—first of all, a man, but well meaning and honorable. He has been placed in the fore rank with a unanimity that ought to give him strength, and, with respect for the opinions and rights of others, intrench him for years as a popular favorite. But we greatly fear that this result will not follow his promotion. Mr. Breitung is surrounded by too many false friends. The atmosphere of his supporters is rather too spontaneous of detraction and hatred of supposed rivals, as well as of other prominent republicans the party has honored in the past, and desires to honor in the future. As a result of Mr. Breitung's election, we cannot but feel that the party will be divided into two camps, one to antagonize men of equal influence and ability to the other. He cannot afford to be committed to too many interests in advance, nor to antagonize men of equal influence and ability to the other. He cannot afford to be committed to too many interests in advance, nor to antagonize men of equal influence and ability to the other.

We hasten to reassure our valued Saginaw contemporary. Mr. Breitung is not the man to become the tool of any ring—he is too shrewd to be such ignorantly, and too honest to wittingly lend himself to a corrupt scheme, either in business or politics. Furthermore, the movement to place him in congress is so spontaneous and hearty that he will be elected in a manner that will relieve him from special obligation to any clique, ring, or syndicate of political machinists, leaving him wholly free to labor for the best interests of his district, his state, and the country at large, in the position to which his constituents, as by one voice, propose to raise him. Mr. Breitung's road to congress is clear and his political future unclouded. Would that we could say as much for the upper peninsula candidate for a seat in the higher branch of congress, whose claims are supported with equal sincerity, though from widely different motives, by both the MINING JOURNAL and the Saginaw paper!

Henry Ward Beecher is an admirable judge of what his sermons need to be in order to keep the people of the country from permitting his name to fade from their memories. At stated intervals he enunciates sensational views on religion, politics, or some other one of the many topics which he affects to regard, and has taught his congregation to look upon, as fit themes for pulpit discourses. The cause of true religion may not be perceptibly benefited by this propensity of the great clergyman, but it is undeniable that it tends to keep his name in the papers, his latest bid for attention was a political sermon preached by him on Sunday last, in which he came out boldly against the stalwart state ticket in New York, urging his hearers to oppose Judge Folger for governor this fall to rebuke the party for allowing itself to be dominated by the infamous influences by which Folger's nomination was brought about. Governor Cornell, he declared, was not defeated for a re-nomination on account of his vices, but because he refused to use his high office to further the rotten schemes of jobbers in corruption. Revenge, born of disappointed avarice, dictated the setting aside of Cornell and the selection of Folger, and the duty was incumbent upon all good citizens to oppose the election of a man whose candidacy had its birth in the union of all that is vicious and debasing in American politics. President Arthur got this rap for his interference in the local politics of his state: "I am also opposed," said Mr. Beecher, "to the meddling of the general government with the local affairs of this or any other state. The federal government should keep its hands off the local affairs of the state of New York, especially when the chief magistrate selects for his counselors men who would be in state prison if they had their just deserts. Ought a man to sit on the board of police in the city of New York who is a notorious receiver of fees and a bribe-taker; and is it not a shame when the chief magistrate of the nation takes such men to his home and makes them his chief counselors—men who, to say the least of them, are notorious for their want of reputation?" The sermon may not have effect to change many votes, but it at least serves the purpose of a straw in showing the way the wind blows in that state at present. Henry Ward dearly loves the popular side, and long experience in watching the shifting tides of human opinion, with solicitude regard to the safety of his own boat, has rendered him extremely skillful in going over to the majority at just the right time to do it with éclat. The sermon has greatly incensed the stalwarts, but Beecher never cared much for the feelings of the under dog in any fight.

In his eagerness to make out a case against Mr. Hubbell our usually fair-minded friend, the editor of the Iron Port, forgets his consistency. We quote from an article in that paper of Sept. 30:

Mr. Hubbell was "repudiated" by the district, not on account of the hue-and-cry about the political assessments, but because of his championship of the O. & B. E. land steel, his cold-blooded selfishness—his treachery to his friends, and his long-recognized unfitness to represent the district. Those are the solid facts in Mr. Hubbell's case, and every republican in the U. S. knows it.

Now, in point of fact, Mr. Hubbell was no "repudiated" at all. His previously announced candidacy for the U. S. senatorship practically took him out of the field as a candidate for representative. But admitting, for the sake of argument, that he was repudiated by the St. Ignace convention, how can the Port-St. Ignace who participated in that convention and helped shape its action—place first among the reasons which influenced him to oppose Mr. Hubbell, "his championship of the O. & B. E. land steel," when governor Jerome, whom he supports for re-election to the chief magistracy, is tarred with that same stick? "What in the captain is but a choleric humor in the foot soldier is foul blasphemy," the poet who wrote for all times and all men tells us. Are we to understand that a reversal of the rule obtains in politics, and that what in the representative of a fractional part of a state is a mortal offense is but a trifling slip, that may be readily forgiven and forgotten, in the chief magistrate of the whole commonwealth?

One of the wonders of Washington that visitors have written much and enthusiastically about is the new state, war and navy building, which cost $13,000,000, and was said to be the finest structure in the United States. At the late session of congress a provision was made for assigning a part of the state department in this building to the use of the adjutant general's office. When the rooms set off for that purpose were examined the other day it was found that they were unfit for service, owing to the defective construction of the building. "The expensive copper roof," a correspondent says, "was found to leak badly, while the plastering, done at an enormous expense, was cracked and broken, and was continually dropping down. To assign clerks to duty in the rooms was considered not only unhealthy, but unsafe. It was decided that extensive repairs were necessary. That a new building not yet finished should already need extensive repairs is a fact exciting some comment." There was a matter of course, and one need not be a prophet to foresee that there will be another in repairing it. But we don't see why the fact alluded to in the closing sentence quoted should excite comment. It would be vastly more a matter of surprise if a piece of government work done in Washington were not an atrocious swindle in its inception, execution and consummation. Will the people who foot the bills never grow weary of hearing how they are defrauded by their rulers, and rise in their might to demand a new deal?

"Jay Hubbell doesn't carry the upper peninsula in his pocket any longer," gleefully exclaims a little newspaper fellow who only escaped from it a year or so ago. Possibly not, but it doesn't become the little things that were carried over so long to make such a demonstration over a matter of cents, if they hadn't been so infinitely small in anybody's pocket. And Jay's pocket is just as reputable a cage for newspaper vermin of that sort as the receptacle provided by the heads of rich lumbering or other corporations. Those editors who are always to be found in somebody's pocket are a disgrace to the profession, and not worth their cost to those by whom they are maintained—to do uncessing worship at the shrine of vulgar greatness in return for crumbs which they are permitted to pick as they fall from some rich man's table.

Steamboat disasters on the Mississippi river occur with about sufficient frequency to remind the public that the stream is still used for purposes of navigation. Another of these took place about thirty miles below Vicksburg Saturday morning, when the steamer Robert E. Lee took fire and was burned to the water's edge, over twenty persons perishing in the catastrophe. She had just been overhauled and put in fine condition, the trip on which she met her doom being the first she made this season. The loss of life seems to have occurred on a river, that in respect to its width, with a swift current, and report states that the flames spread with great rapidity, rendering it a matter of great difficulty for any of those on board to save themselves. The vessel was valued at $160,000 and insured for about half that amount.

Oshkosh, Wis., is getting to be a great political center. It is the home of U. S. senator Sawyer and congressman Guenther, the latter again in the field as a candidate of re-election, also of the democratic nominee, Andrew H. H. Guenther, Mr. Guenther's chief opponent, and a dangerous one, owing to the detection of the prohibitionist element in his party, whose candidate is the well-known temperance reformer, Mr. Kanouse. As Kanouse cannot possibly be elected, there is no danger of Oshkosh losing her prestige as a result of the election—the representative elect will be an Oshkosh man, and a German, though there is a chance that he won't be quite so ardent a republican as the present incumbent, despite the anxiety of the latter to succeed himself.

Mayor Harrison peremptorily declines to be a candidate for congress from his district on the democratic ticket. In thus informing the committee appointed to officially notify him of its action by the nominating convention, the mayor indirectly alluded to the fact that he had only recently been married, and declared that he would not be subjected to breaking up house in Chicago to subject himself and bride to the dangerous and corrupting influences of Washington society. We have read many severe things about the bad state of morals in the nation's capital, but nothing quite so bad as the crushing arraignment implied by this very ingenious way of putting it that Washington is a wicked city than Chicago.

All efforts to effect a compromise between the Cameron and independent factions of the republican party in Pennsylvania have been abandoned, and the election of the democratic ticket in that state is regarded as reasonably certain. Cameron still hopes the weight of his bar in the scale will turn it in his favor, but this is because the blind stubbornness of the man will not permit him to see how hopelessly his position is being eroded. A great deal of money goes a very little way towards overcoming such a swelling to the point of hatred as Cameron has excited among the honest voters of his party in the Keystone state.

Col. Berdan, somewhat famed as a good rifle shot, has been offered a position in the service of the Turkish sultan, but had the good sense to decline. The porte is a dishonored, bankrupt concern at best, in whose service there is no alluring prospect of honors or wealth to be reaped, to entice outside adventurers. The keen-eyed colonel does well to decline taking passage in the sultan's sinking ship.

A hurricane on the Irish coast Sunday did considerable damage to shipping, driving many large vessels ashore and sinking several smaller ones. Buildings were blown down by the gale in many of the coast towns. It was the severest storm that has visited that coast for years.

FUN WITH THE BOYS.

FLORENCE.—The chief has been absent, in attendance upon the Army of the Cumberland reunion, but is holding down the editorial tripod in the News office once again.

They have some clever rogues in Florence, as appears from this account of one of their exploits, which we find in the News of the 29th ult.

A freight car near the depot, on Sunday night last, and which contained household goods belonging to contractors who have been working on the Iron River road, was entered by thieves at 9 o'clock in the evening and a lot of goods abstracted, consisting of watches, revolvers, suits of clothes and some other property.

Transactions in real estate continue brisk, with the prospect that the demand for property of this sort will remain good throughout the year.

A church fair was held last week at which Capt. Dickinson and Alex. Kempt were competitors for a gold-headed cane.

ESCANABA.—The Port states that "the big ones" have begun coming again, since the close of the great strike east has raised the embargo on the iron business, a circumstance betokening a more active movement of ore for the balance of the shipping season.

The Driving Park association—now fully organized—has purchased the land for its proposed track and grounds from the Ludington company, and will soon have it fenced and enclosed preparatory to making the other needed improvements.

An advance in seaman's wages is reported—the jolly tars now get $2.50 per day, which enables them to cruise about town "three sheets in the wind" with proportionately greater frequency when they come ashore.

ONTONAGON.—The Herald has heard a "well authenticated report" that 20 miles more of the O. & B. R. railroad will be constructed next year.

HAZELTON.—The Journal tells us that the democrats of Hazelton held a convention in Germania hall at Hazelton, Saturday last, to take action in relation to putting a county ticket in the field.

As a train of cars was passing along the tramway at the Quincy some days ago, the two year old child of a Swede miner attempted to run across the track in front, and was struck and run over by the cars.

[First publication September 18.] PROBATE ORDER.—State of Michigan, county of Marquette, ss: At a session of the probate court for the county of Marquette, held at the probate office in the city of Marquette, on Friday, the fifteenth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two. Present, Hon. Edward S. Hardy, Judge of probate. In the matter of the estate of Thomas Fildwell, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Thomas Harris, praying that John Jeffrey, or some other suitable person, may be appointed to administer said estate. Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the sixteenth day of October next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be held at the Probate Office, in the city of Marquette, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petition should not be granted; and it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the hearing of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the MINING JOURNAL, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county of Marquette, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. EDWARD S. HARDY, Judge of Probate. [738y] [A true copy.] E. S. HARDY.

NEGAUNEE.

VERY many of our citizens have attended the agricultural fair in Marquette, this week.

THE fire company will hold another regular monthly consultation on Monday evening next.

THE proceedings of the republican convention will be found on the first page of this paper.

MR. WM. K. JONES, an attorney of Crystal Falls, was in the city during the week, on mining business.

MR. G. CONKLIN, general manager of the Concentrating company's works, arrived here from the east last Tuesday.

THURSDAY evening, the 26th inst., is the date fixed upon for the appearance of the Strakosch Italian Opera company.

N. LONSTORF and family will leave for Milwaukee on to-morrow's train, to make their future residence in the cream city.

THE Negaunee dramatic club does any quantity of rehearsing, but this many a day since the public got the benefit of their study.

THE city has been well patronized by local politicians during the week, and much of the "elegant booze" has been guzzled at their expense.

THE walls of Neeley's new block stand complete, and it is now in order for you fellows who bet the block would not rise this fall to pay the wagers.

CAPT. GEO. BERRINGER, a well-known and universally esteemed mining captain of this section, has decided to remove to Minnesota, and will soon leave for that state.

MR. JNO. QUINN, the clothier, is building a store at the new town of Iron River, on the Menominee range, which when stocked, will be put in charge of Mr. Robert Quinn.

THE wagon road to the Concentrating works has been completed by the grading of Cyr and Mill streets, and you can now drive to that institution without getting lost on the way.

THE illness of Dr. A. C. Mackenzie is reported. The doctor has been confined to the house most of the week, but we are happy to state that his sickness is not of an alarming nature.

THE barber shop of L. Granger, in the Mrs. Wedlake block, is closed, not for repairs, but to allow the leg of the barber time to mend. Granger had his leg broken by the kick of a horse.

THE closing of the saloons at Ishpeming on Sunday will tend to drive the bumper element of that city to us on that day, and the marshal will be wise to exercise his vigilance even more strictly than heretofore.

THE central office of the telephone company for this city will be located in the C. & N. W. depot, and Mrs. J. M. Gannon will preside over the "hello" box. The company has already secured some 35 subscribers in this city.

THE body of Mrs. R. A. Kirk, of this city, who went down with the ill-fated steamer Asia, in Georgian Bay, was recovered, along with one or two other bodies, on the 1st inst. Her remains were given interment at the home of her parents, in Canada.

MR. CHARLES MUCK has re-opened his meat market at the old stand, and is now doing business on the cash plan. His market has been renovated and cleaned up, and his stock is constantly fresh. If you have ready cash you may deal with him to advantage.

A WOMAN at the corner of Case and Jackson streets has issued a circular announcing her ability to cure all sorts of diseases by magnetism. This magnetism may be a big thing, but we'll just go this Case street girl two to one that we can name a very common complaint that her art cannot touch.

J. F. FOLEY's residence is now brilliantly lighted by gasoline, which is manufactured on the premises by a De Witt machine. There are thirty-one lights in the house, and when all are lighted the interior of the house fairly glazes in brilliant light, and the street for some distance is illuminated like unto day.

REV. L. E. LENNOX has returned and will officiate at the Methodist Episcopal church to-morrow, both morning and evening. During the reverend gentleman's absence, the interior of the church has been cleaned and decorated, and worshippers will experience a deal more satisfaction in going through the Sunday programme of devotion.

THE old republican liberty pole that has stood at the C. & N. W. depot since the memorable Tilden-Hayes conflict of 1876, was on Tuesday morning cut down to make room for the cedar post of the telephone company. The liberty pole was worthless for the reason that the pulley at its top was broken, yet many regretted that its removal was necessary.

THE regular monthly meeting of the common council was held on Thursday evening, and the principal business transacted was the appointment of Mr. Byron D. Jones supervisor from the second ward, to fill the vacancy in that ward caused by the resignation of Maurice E. Gaffney; the setting apart of two days previous to the coming election, for purposes of registration; the payment of the monthly labor accounts (amounting to upwards of $700.); and the granting of permission to the telephone company to erect poles through the streets.

MARRIED.—At the residence of the bride's mother, in this city, Thursday noon, October 5th, by the Rev. Robt. Wood, Mr. Samuel Redfern and Mrs. Frances Mary Goyens. The newly wedded couple took the afternoon train for a short visit to the copper country. Mr. Redfern is the civil engineer of the Iron Cliffs company, and his bride is an estimable lady of many accomplishments, residing heretofore on Jackson street.

THE presence of detectives in the city during the past week was the cause of a well known young man's taking to the bush, where he has since been camping out. The bush up in this country is a very large but sparsely settled district, and it's not a bad place to hide. The detectives are "fresh ones" anyhow, and had they not "given away" their mission they might have returned east with their game before this; as it is they deserve to return unaccompanied, which they are sure to do.

THE Lake Superior Carriage works, this city, has orders in for all the concern is able to turn out between now and snow, and the entire force of the factory has been at work on cutters since the middle of August. Mr. Richardson has been obliged to enlarge his shop and otherwise increase his facilities. The neat and durable cutters of his manufacture have an established sale up in this country, and as they are made with special reference to Lake Superior winters, the demand for them must certainly increase.

MR. BERNARD CARR, an old and much esteemed citizen of Negaunee, died at his home on Saturday last, and was buried the following day. The deceased, who came to this place in the year 1864, was an honest and upright citizen, and had by industry accumulated some property. He retired from active business about one year ago, since which time he has been in feeble health. He leaves a wife and a large family of children, most of whom are grown up. Mr. Carr was born in Ireland, and was 59 years of age.

It doesn't pay to "monkey" with the wife of a Negaunee saloon-keeper. A half-drunken bum entered an Iron street "gin palace" last Monday evening, and, in the absence of the proprietor, undertook to give some "chink" to his wife, who was in charge of the bar. The fellow didn't say very much that could be considered insulting before the indignant female had him by the collar. She gave him one good blow, just for luck, and then, before he could say "Jack Robinson," he found himself clear across the sidewalk, and in the gutter. To the bystanders it was a very pleasing sight.

THE marriage of Dr. H. B. Davis, formerly of this city, and Miss Jennie Wallace, late a public school teacher in Marquette, was celebrated at the home of the bride, in Canada, on Thursday, and the young people are on their way to Negaunee for a short visit. Both the doctor and his estimable and accomplished bride are society favorites in Negaunee, and their coming in upon us in the relation of husband and wife will be the occasion of much rejoicing and congratulation. The doctor is now physician to the Jackson Iron company, at Fayette, in which place he has a large and growing practice.

A SERIES of rowdyish demonstrations, calling for the severest censure on the part of the press and people, and for suppression by law, has been the order with a certain class of young men lately. It is our opinion, now that the ring leader of the gang is away, that a voluntary end will come to these proceedings, but in case the end is not soon had there will be a public exposure of persons and actions in these columns that will play havoc with their reputations. The MINING JOURNAL isn't afraid of skunks, although it doesn't particularly relish the odor which follows their disturbance; but it does give warning that if further occasion arises for press censure, it will do its duty, and will not hesitate on account of the patrician bearing of the particular skunk or skunks.

AT an early hour last Saturday morning an incline shaft, nearly 100 feet deep and some thirty feet in diameter—circular shaped—was suddenly made by the caving in of that amount of earth near No. 7 pit of the Jackson mine, at a point immediately in front of Capt. Merry's present residence, and between the railroad track and the street. The caving in of this amount of earth caused some little alarm to the dwellers on the surface in the immediate locality, and especially did it alarm the railroad company, which was obliged to stop traffic. The suddenly constructed shaft had an incline toward the railway track, and this fact rendered it necessary to stop the running of trains, even after Captain Merry had assured himself that the further caving of earth was improbable, because the rumble and jar of the trains would certainly have shaken off the leaning wall of the shaft, and rendered its filling much more difficult. The force of the mine was put to work filling the hole as soon as it was discovered, and by noon the yawning chasm was filled with rock, dirt and cord wood. This part of the No. 7 pit had been abandoned, and no loss will be sustained by the mine, except the cost of filling.

CONE & CHRISTIE,

LAKE STREET,

MARQUETTE, MICH.

MR. L. B. SEARLS has organized a writing class, which meets for instruction and practice in the Cozzen house parlor each evening during the week, except Sundays, and on Saturday afternoons. The young gentleman is said to be a capable instructor.

NEARLY all of the excursionists from Grand Haven who took advantage of the cheap rates offered by the M. C. R. R. and D. M. & M. R. R. to visit Marquette, have returned to their homes. All expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the view they had of the upper peninsula, and particularly so with the city of Marquette.

A STONE sidewalk will shortly be laid in front of the high school building on Ridge street. This is an improvement which has long been needed there. If the good work goes on as rapidly as it has lately been progressing, that part of Ridge street between the Episcopal church and the lake will be—in the matter of sidewalks—up to the top notch.

DEER are being slaughtered in numbers along the line of the new railroad since the law ceased to protect them, and almost every train brings in its quota of venison. We fear that the days of this noble game are nearly numbered in this part of the upper peninsula, unless some further legal restriction be placed upon the time and methods of hunting them.

THE firm of Werner & Mosher, photographers, this week dissolved partnership, Mr. Werner retiring. The business will be carried on by Miss Mosher at the same place. Mr. Werner worked up a remunerative business in this city from a very small beginning, and it is to be hoped that his former partner, in carrying on the concern alone, will continue to do as well. Mr. W. intends to make Chicago his future home.

T. MORGAN, of this city, is agent for the logging and supply sleighs made by B. F. & H. L. Sweet of Fond du Lac, Wis., and those among our readers whose business interests them in such things would do well to examine his stock. Eight different sizes are manufactured, so that no one need depart unsatisfied on account of not being able to find the kind of sleigh he desires. Attention is called to the advertisement of these vehicles elsewhere.

COL. VAN DUSEN, of the Escanaba Iron Port, and major Clark, who is a voluminous producer of manuscript for another excellent paper, the Schoolcraft County Pioneer, visited our office Tuesday, on their way to the representative convention at St. Ignace. The gentlemen returned home later in the week in a happy frame of mind, having succeeded in "getting their man." It is something of a trip to take on a political mission solely, but we presume they regard the victory as adequate return for what it cost. Mr. Colwell, of Schoolcraft county, is the nominee.

THAT vagrant Billy goat of Freeman Beds, will "goat alone" no more on earth. In a moment of mental aberration, he wandered to a retired part of town yesterday where some public spirited person had a chance to shoot him on the spot, and it was done with such accuracy that he tumbled over and died where he fell, tranquilly chewing a quid of tobacco, that he had begged from a sailor at the next saloon, as his spirit passed away. Some insist that it wasn't a case of murder at all—that Billy was lonesome and dependent ever since "Nigger Joe" disappeared from the street, and suicided through grief, but this theory is untenable in our belief. At all events he's gone, and our earnest prayer is that we may not soon look on his like again.

REV. M. FRYKMAN, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran congregation at Republic, and who at intervals ministers to the spiritual wants of members of that faith here, informs us that his people in this place have secured a site and are now preparing to build a church of their own. The site adjacent to the lot on which stands the old Episcopal church, now owned and used as a place of worship by the German Lutheran congregation. We like to see churches go up around us, as they promote, as well as indicate, a healthy state of morals in the community, and we trust that the members of this struggling society will not be allowed to ask in vain for assistance towards carrying out their purpose of providing themselves with a place where they may meet to worship the Great Giver.

INCREASING business in their sales department has forced Messrs. Hager & Johnson to remove the work room, hitherto located on the first floor in the rear, to give space to goods, and George has fitted up a place for himself in the northwest corner in a style of oriental magnificence, where he attends to the books, and other details of their immense business. We love to see our neighbors prosper, but it doesn't seem fair to have a man in the furniture business sitting in an elegantly upholstered easy chair, with a Brussels carpet under his feet, his walls hung with paper of gold and the ceiling decorated to match, while the editor of this great family journal writes his classical editorials on a pine table, sitting in a common arm chair, with a couple of exchanges folded under him to serve as an insulator, and no carpet on the floor save that which the boy forgot to sweep out in the morning. Still, if we can't have such gorgeous surroundings as the furniture people next door, we can steal our wood from their pile, and that's no small comfort in this chilly weather.

OUR city schools show an enrollment of nearly one thousand pupils, the increase being such as to crowd the school rooms—notably those of the Washington street school—to an extent not consistent either with the health of the pupils or effective school work. An enlargement of the Washington street building is contemplated, to give the needed additional room. As appears from the showing published elsewhere, the attendance is unusually punctual this term, denoting a good state of discipline in the schools and a greater interest in school work on the part of the children attending them. The enrollment mentioned does not include any but public schools. Adding in the attendance at the sisters' school would, we presume, bring the figures considerably beyond a thousand for the city.

STILL ANOTHER.—Yesterday Mr. N. P. Johnson, of this city, who won one-fifth of the capital prize of $75,000 in the last monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, received his money, $15,000, through T. W. House's bank. Mr. Johnson has not yet made any investment of his money and is still working at his trade—that of jeweler—in the establishment of Sweeney & Coombs. He has, however, ordered six more tickets in the next monthly drawing, and will probably continue to make like investments the balance of his life. Mr. Johnson has been purchasing tickets in the Louisiana State Lottery for some time past, but was always a very cautious buyer. He truly struck a bonanza in the last drawing, and the winning came in very apropos, as he had married only about three months before the last drawing.—Houston, Tex., Post, September 21.

MR. F. O. CLARK informs us that the supreme court rendered a decision this week in the case brought by Malmstein against the M. H. & O. railroad company to recover for the killing of his wife last summer, affirming the verdict obtained by the plaintiff in the lower court. The verdict was for $5,000 damages. The woman was run over, and injured so that she died within an hour and a half, on the merchandise dock, the 18th day of August, 1881, it will be remembered, she being on her way to join her husband at Ishpeming at the time with her two children. They had made their way in safety from beyond the sea to rejoin the husband and father, and had only debarked from the steamer that brought them to Marquette a short time before the accident occurred. Malmstein is a miner employed in one of the mines above here, to whom the $5,000 awarded him by the courts will be quite a fortune.

A CAR loaded with charcoal caught fire near the D. M. & M. railway depot shortly after six o'clock Wednesday evening, causing an alarm to be sounded by a locomotive in the vicinity that startled the entire city. At first the employes about the depot endeavored to run it into the round house, with a view to getting it where a hose could be utilized to drown out the fire. When the car was got in the hose was attached to a hydrant, but quickly burst. Then it became necessary to get the car out to save the building. In doing this the car was run off the track, which settled its fate, and it was pretty much burned up before the department got the flames subdued. The first notice the department had of the fire was through the telephone exchange. Mr. Elliott sending the person in charge a message saying they were "all-a-fire" down there, and asking that the department be notified and help sent, which was complied with. This would seem to point out the advisability of having the hose house and pumping works connected with the telephone system of the city. The wonder is that it hasn't been done already.

THE RESULT OF PERSEVERANCE.—Yesterday morning a representative of the Times-Democrat happened to be present at the office of the Louisiana State Lottery company when Mr. D. P. Blair, of Columbus, Miss., received a check for $15,000, as the lucky holder of one-fifth of the capital prize of $75,000 at the last (September) drawing. He presented the ticket No. 42,101. "Did you not feel elated," asked the reporter, "when you found you had been favored by fortune?" "No," said Mr. Blair, "not at all. I had an idea I would win. I had been taking tickets—well, now it must be for nearly two years, and I was bidding my time, for I felt my turn would come soon. I heard through the postmaster of the town of Columbus that the lucky number had been sold there, and somehow I felt that I had it. I never hurried the Lottery company up, but waited, taking my tickets regularly every month, and now I've hit them." "What do you intend doing with the money?" said the reporter. "Well, the night I believed I had won, I sat down and mentally disbursed or distributed it. I have children, and I propose to invest a portion of the money for them while I am in the city. The plans I made on that night I intend carrying out. I felt on that occasion, by intuition, it would almost seem, that I had won. The feeling, of course, is impossible to describe."

Mr. Blair is a gentleman of about 48, of pleasing address, and full of humor and spirit.—New Orleans Times-Democrat, September 16.

EDS. MINING JOURNAL.—Last week to the driver had the pleasure of a visit to Dr. Hewitt's garden and I must confess I was more than pleased and surprised to find such a magnificent display of some of the choicest vegetables and fruits in the land. Such as squash, sweet corn, celery, tomatoes, cauliflowers, and, in fact, almost everything of garden produce suitable for the table, would make a lower Michigan grower's eyes glisten with surprise if not with envy. In fact I did not think there was such an excellent garden in the county. The largest of said squashes would not go in a barrel. It has since been gathered and weighs 88 lbs. And the beautiful red apples remind, one of rubies set in a tree of emeralds, while the pears, plums, etc., will compare favorably with any grown below. After such a display as that at Dr. Hewitt's, who will admit that the hundreds of thousands of dollars annually sent out of the county for grain, fruit and vegetables had not much better be kept and used at home, which, with a "strong right arm" and a "determined will," can easily be done. Yours, etc., LOVER OF PROGRESS, Oct. 5, 1882.

SWEET'S PATENT COMMON SENSE SLEIGH. THE STRONGEST, MOST DURABLE, AND MOST PERFECT SLEIGH IN USE. I RESPECTFULLY CALL THE ATTENTION OF Lumbermen to this cut, showing Sweet's Logging and Supply Sleighs. We are now making eight different sizes, suitable for all kinds of work, both double and single, and of any width of track desired. It is a well known fact that these Sleighs will draw larger loads with more ease of draft over rough roads and bad places than any other Sleigh produced. They are built loose jointed, so that each runner will act independent of each other, and will not tip over in bad places, as the common stiff-jointed sleigh is sure to do. They also have a Patent Shoe, Concave Heel, so as to prevent the sleigh from slewing or sliding sideways, so that the sleigh is bound to keep the track, which is a large item to every man that drives a team. I keep on hand all sizes of Logging, Light and Heavy Teaming and Delivery Sleighs, all warranted to give perfect satisfaction. Parties will please send their orders in time for the coming winter, and not wait until the rush comes. As this valuable sleigh is sold and shipped west and north-west by the car load—over 25,000 now in use—the best of references given on application. B. F. & H. L. INDUSTRIAL AND SCIENTIFIC.

Considerable activity has been displayed in railroad construction in the southern states since the business revival of 1879. The new mileage has not only been greatly increased, but the old roads have been improved to a considerable extent.

Work upon the Meteor, the first of the quick transit turtle-back steamers, is progressing rapidly in the ship-yard of Nyack on the Hudson, and the vessel may be expected to enter Boston harbor, her home port, in a short time.

The use of nickel for coinage purposes is spreading. A committee appointed by the French government to consider the question of substituting nickel for the bronze coins now in circulation has reported favorably.

The French consul at Cartagena, Spain, has, in a recent report, given some details on the character and extent of the mining of manganese iron ore in the Murcia district, which are of interest as bearing on the recent discussion on the duty on such ores.

The disuse of iron rails is traced very clearly by the statistics of rail exports from Great Britain. During the eight months ending with August no longer ago than 1880, of the total British exports 302,738 tons (23 1/2 per cent.) had fallen on 17,569 tons (7 per cent.) of the whole; while the steel rail exports increased from 398,686 tons to 565,017.

The new St. Gotthard Railroad earned at the rate of $750 per mile in June and $67 in July. It is very little used by its Italian connections as yet.

The first car that has been illuminated with electricity in this country, says the Philadelphia North American of Sept. 20th, arrived at the Broad street station last evening, where it immediately became an attraction for railroad officials, electricians and others.

Henry Ward Beecher's cow broke into the grounds of a neighbor at Peekskill and made havoc, which brought the neighbor to Mr. Beecher. "I wish you would keep your cow out of my shrubbery," exclaimed the irate neighbor, to which Mr. Beecher replied, "And I wish you would keep your shrubbery out of my cow; it spoils the milk."

During a heavy thunder storm a meteor, weighing one pound and eleven ounces, fell at Lebanon, Pa. It struck in the middle of the street, having the appearance of a ball of fire as it came in contact with the earth.

Some good stories are told of Father Stinson, a Baptist clergyman, now of Kansas. His people were not prompt in paying him his salary, much of which he had to take "in kind."

Dr. Fleischer, of Germany, describes a new system of hydraulic propulsion for ships. He dispenses with a turbine, and allows the steam to act directly upon the water in two large vertical cylinders placed amidships.

The act to provide for deductions from the gross tonnage of vessels of the United States, approved Aug. 5, 1882, has changed the registered burden of vessels of the United States from gross to net tonnage.

About six months ago a cavalry soldier at the Walla Walla garrison invented a breech-loading army carbine. He was recently ordered to Washington to submit the improved weapon to the secretary of war and a board of officers appointed to consider and report upon its merits.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

"I can recommend my son anywhere," said an Arkansas gentleman to a business man. "It is true that he is a thief, but, sir, his morals are above reproach."

"It is impossible for a woman to suffer from weakness after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

When the small boy in the near West asks his father if he may go to see "Jumbo," the father replies, anxious that his son should see the biggest curiosity, "No, my son, but if you will be a good boy, I'll take you to see the Fair Commission."

Up at Tallula Falls last week was Mrs. Spriggins, from the country. She had with her a child with her, which could toddle about and was venturesome, and caused her great anxiety in the absence of Spriggins.

RHEUMATISM is the most painful and most troublesome disease that afflicts humanity. It comes when we least expect it and when we have no time to be interviewed by it.

"If I owned that land of yours," suggested a florid gentleman, bubbling over with good advice, "I'd cut it up into building lots, sell 'em and make enough to live easy the rest of my life."

Another kind of honor.—Propos of duelling, M. Albert Delpit relates in Paris a very amusing anecdote that will bear translating. One day one of his conferees called on him. He had had a quarrel with a gentleman at his club over the card table.

"Gentlemen, I refuse absolutely to give any satisfaction to M. X."

"I will never fight with him."

"Nor with anybody."

He took a cigar, lighted it with all the calmness of a man who felt perfectly certain of himself, and resumed, "Gentlemen, why do people fight duels? Because their honor is at stake. Well, I am not afraid to declare to you that there are two kinds of honor. If one of you two should receive an insult and you would be dishonored if you did not fight. Being public men you belong to the public. As for me, on the contrary, I am a merchant. If I was to fight a duel my honor would be gone. My credit would be dead. I would not be able to get even a note at three months discount."

Henry Ward Beecher's cow broke into the grounds of a neighbor at Peekskill and made havoc, which brought the neighbor to Mr. Beecher. "I wish you would keep your cow out of my shrubbery," exclaimed the irate neighbor, to which Mr. Beecher replied, "And I wish you would keep your shrubbery out of my cow; it spoils the milk."

"Oh, say, ma!" exclaimed a bright six-year-old girl, at dinner at a hotel, "hasn't that man over there got dreadfully big ears?"

They were standing together where the thickly-clustering vines that clambered about the porticos of her father's palatial mansion cast their deepest shadow. His manly shoulder supported her classically feminine head as she spoke these words:

What is it that sustains us, Reggie, when the clouds of adversity shut out the blue sky of affluence, when the vanities and ambitions of life have fallen about us like leaves in autumn, when the voice of fate sounds in our ears like the dirge of midnight winds in a forest of pines, and there are no sweet song birds warbling in the bowers of hope—what is it that sustains us, Reggie?

He pressed his lips to her half-closed eyelids, and in a voice tremulous with happiness, answered:

"Gin."

COURAGE.

There is a courage—a majestic thing That springs forth from the brow of Pain...

A courage so sublime, so unafraid, It wears its sorrows like a coat of mail...

THE ALIENBY GHOST.

AN ENGLISH STORY.

In all the village of Saxtonholme there was no one more unlikely to be the heroine of a romantic adventure than poor, plain little Margaret Henderson.

Indeed, there was not much room for extravagance of any kind in Margaret's home. Her father was the village schoolmaster, and his salary was 80 pounds a year.

But no ill-fortune lasts forever. By dint of hard and persevering efforts Margaret at length acquired an education which she thought might warrant her advertising for the position of a governess.

So Lady Aliobny's terms were at once accepted, and a week afterward she found herself standing alone at the gates of Aliobny Park.

In the first place, it was evident that Lady Aliobny might be a myth for aught Margaret would be likely to see of her.

Margaret followed her in a queerly indifferent mood; all her interest and curiosity seemed to have evaporated.

air of authority, but took with apparent pleasure her dismissal. Then Margaret drew a chair to the fire and sat down, determined to await patiently the next move in this strange life-drama.

By-and-by the child stepped lightly across the rug, and laying her open book on Margaret's knee, said gravely, "Do you believe Robinson Crusoe ever saw that one-naked-footprints on the sands?"

"No," answered Margaret, boldly. "I do," said the child, with a positiveness that defied contradiction.

"When I get sleepy, I am not sleepy to-night. Last night I heard some one walking about in the next room at this time. I want to see if they come back again."

"You may put me to bed now, Alison. I am very much disappointed," and with the shadow of a courtesy, she dismissed her attendant through one of the many doors communicating with the parlor in which they were sitting.

It was not a very pleasant beginning, but better came of it than Margaret hoped for.

"Come and read me about the Ancient Mariner again," said Julia, seating herself upon the rug and clasping her hands upon her small knees.

"Miss Henderson, whom have you been to meet?" "Lord Richard Aliobny."

"What is that you say? Speak quickly. Does John Chaloner live?" "My lady, I have given Lord Richard this night a letter from him."

Whether her purpose was divined, or no sooner had she made the resolution that all her movements should be kept as secret as possible.

for no sooner had she made the resolution that all her movements should be kept as secret as possible.

One night, as she sat watching by the sick child's bed, she saw distinctly the shadow of a man's figure upon the wall.

It might be a week after this; Julia was recovering again, and Mrs. Selby had watched until after midnight in order that Margaret might rest awhile.

When she looked again the shawl had been removed. She sat calmly and reasoned about this event, and in about half an hour again examined the window recess.

"I have watched you sleeping to-night, and felt sorry for you. I will go to you, return to-morrow at the same hour. You may trust me."

For Margaret was now certain that some wicked plot involving both the child and the man was in progress, and she resolved to watch him.

Still it was not until the middle of August that the mystery was solved. One warm still night, when the heavy odor of the honey-suckles filled the air.

"What a traitor my son has been!" "No, my lady, you wrong him."

and educating John Chaloner's daughter as the heiress of Aliobny. But the fashionable world had now a genuine sensation.

Greatly to the chagrin of many fine matrons, Lord Aliobny returned with a wife, "an exceedingly plain person," as the Duchess of Courtney said.

"An OLD PROSPECTOR'S ADVICE.—The Virginia (Nev.) Chronicle says: His son getting ready to go to a ball, proceeded to give him some wholesome advice about women."

"Tom, my boy," he said, filling up his pipe, "I see you are getting fancy tops on your hat."
