[Youth's Companion.] A story is told of an exhibition once given in a grammar school at Helston in England, Some of the great men of the county were present, and listened, civil but weary, to essays by the boys on 'great political and historical subjects, in which the facts and ideas were necessarily borrowed from books, and reclothed in their own turgid lan-council of this city telegraphed to-day to A last, a bony, awkward boy, who stammered badly, handed in a paper which proved to be an account of his last half-holithe purpose of concealing the alarm felt by ords. Nothing had happened to him which might not happen to any boy every Saturday in the year. But he described the rock, the wild fowl, the fish and the people whom he had met, with keen, accurate strokes, and attempted to describe nothing which he had not seen and accurately noted. The other boys laughed contemptuously, but Bishop C-drew the tutor aside.

WHAT IS DYSPEPSIA? Among the many symptoms of Dyspepsia or indigestion, the most prominent are: Variable appetite; faint, gnawing feeling at pit of the stomach, with unsatisfied craving for food; heartburn, feeling of weight and wind in the stomach, bad breath, bad taste in the mouth, low spirits, general prostration, headache, and constipation. There is no form of disease more prevalent than Dyspepsia, and none so peculiar to the high-living and rapid-eating American people.
