

NEGAUNEE.

H. B. Blackwood has resigned the management of the opera house roller rink.

From all appearances the weather for Christmas will be all that could be desired for the holidays.

A young child of alderman Charles Devenshire was buried in the Protestant cemetery Sunday.

Ice for storage will soon be gathered from Toal Lake. It is already frozen nearly a foot deep.

The carnival at the Adelphi last night was well attended. Quite a number from Ishpeming were present.

The small pox scare has died out, and inasmuch as it is out of mind, nobody is being vaccinated.

Manager George Grube, of the Adelphi rink, will resign his position and leave the city at the close of the month.

The Negaunee club room will be fitted up at once, and probably opened soon after the beginning of the year.

The "Polo News" has been enlarged to an eight column folio, and gives promise of a healthy growth in the future.

Very convenient little cards, giving the running time of the M., H. & O. railway, have been distributed among the city.

C. Sundberg, the jeweler, advertises silverware for sale at prices 10 per cent. cheaper than any other firm in the county.

The turkey show to come off on Toal Lake, on Christmas day, of which previous mention has been made, will be held as announced.

Walter L. Newberry has recently had the kindness to shuffle off this mortal coil and on his departure for the regions of the blessed he left two and a half million dollars for Chicago to build herself a library.

Masquerade Announced. The Negaunee Orchestra announces that it will give a masquerade early in January, the date not having as yet been definitely decided upon.

Benjamin Pick and Alex. W. Bessemer paper, can be found on file at the Brethren House. It is a neat little paper, and an honest expositor of the interests of the Gogebic region.

Capt. James Foley will return from the Vermont district shortly before Christmas. Mrs. Griffee goes to her former home, at Coscut, Ohio, and Mr. Griffee returned Tuesday from Chicago.

The regular meeting of the Teachers' Literary Society was held Monday night. The society was organized last winter, and proved of great value to the teachers.

At Winter & Sues's meat market can be seen a new kind of oyster stand, wherein the oysters are kept fresh for any desired length of time.

From Mr. Dan McVehie, of Ishpeming, it is learned that ex-deputy collector T. M. Wells, of this city, has the best record of any of the eight deputy collectors in the state.

This is certainly a record to be proud of, and Mr. Wells' friends will be glad to learn that he proved himself a competent and faithful servant of the public.

A party of gentlemen of this city, who believe in meeting fraternally, and enjoying themselves when the occasion presents, have made arrangements to start a club room about the first of January.

The band played on the streets Saturday night, as announced. The boys do very well now, and the public will be pleased to have them come out frequently in the future.

From six to ten car loads of copper, from the Calumet & Hecla and Osceola mines are transferred here daily from the M., H. & O. to the C. & N. W. R'y., and go to the Atlantic coast ports.

The Iron Herald has promised to search James Mooney in its issue of to-day, but if it does, it is likely that the valorous James will be promptly heard from. He's a bad man to trifle with.

Several of our "leading citizens" are sporting "blackhorn" ones, presented to them by Hon. Edward Breitung. As a weapon of offence, and defence, there is nothing like a blackhorn cane.

The benefit to be given manager George Grube, of the Adelphi roller rink, has been set for Monday evening, Dec. 28th. Mr. Grube is popular here and his friends will not fail to do the proper thing on that date.

August Olson has received a fresh cargo of Bohemian and Bavarian beer, of the Ph. Best Brewing Co's brewing. He is also prepared to furnish familiar with bottled beer, of Seibel, Export, Bavarian, or Bohemian brands.

Let us see, wasn't it the captain of the Superior polo club who thought that his team could down the Adelphi and Casino together? In the light of recent events his opinion of the prowess of his club seems to have been too high by rather more than one-half.

THE WRECKED OCONTO.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Mr. Jarvis Patten, commissioner of navigation, has just completed his annual report, giving an account of the work of the new bureau of navigation since its establishment.

DETROIT, Dec. 14.—The Free Press special from Fort Huron says: On Sunday the tug Winslow arrived from the scene of the Oconto wreck—which occurred at Big Charity Island on the 5th inst.—with the remainder of the crew and passengers of the ill-fated vessel.

DETROIT, Dec. 14.—William E. Savage, of this city, one of the passengers of the wrecked steamer Oconto, arrived home this afternoon. He says that the wrecking tug Winslow left Big Charity Island at 2:12 P. M. Saturday with the remaining crew and passengers of the propeller.

DETROIT, Dec. 14.—The vessel is a trifle tilted to port, but is solidly frozen in and bids fair to remain in this position till the ice moves in the spring.

CHARCOAL AND CHARCOAL KILNS.

A New Patent Kiln Which Seems Destined to Work a Revolution in Charcoal Burning.

An Iron Kiln with Central Fire Box—It can be Removed with Ease from one Locality to Another.

In seasons of financial and commercial depression, the tendency of practice with the business-world becomes that of economy in the management of means...

Marquette Makes a Record in the Amount Raised For the Parnell Parliamentary Fund After One Meeting.

The Number and Amount of the Subscriptions Already Received—A Communication From the Committee Appointed.

The MINING JOURNAL places before its readers this morning a communication from the committee in charge, giving the number and amount of the subscriptions received for the Parnell fund, as the result of the movement set on foot here by several prominent Irish-American citizens, and which culminated in the meeting in Adams' Hall addressed by Judge Isaac Marston, of Detroit.

Table listing names and subscription amounts for the Parnell Parliamentary Fund. Includes names like Joseph Gillett, T.G. Atkinson, Joseph Dunnebacke, Dennis Hogan, Martin Hogan, D. Woods, T. Sparrow, Jeremiah Harrington, W.C. Kinney, James McElree, Rudolph Sieger, Martin Wilson, John S. Ward, Peter Fox, J. Curran, Peter Redmond, Charles Brooks, Michael Shea, John Coleman, Harry Loftus, James Shuman, William Durman, Moses Topolaska, Frank E. Bay, John Powers, Joseph H. Hubbard, W.A. Johnson, H.W. Heau, Peter Kramer, H.F. Schillmann, Tracy, James Johnson, Thomas Dacey, William Deatcher, Miss Mary Brown, Miss Julia Smith, Mrs. E. Swift, J.P. Duce, Emile T. Huillier, W.J. Brown.

The sum total of the subscriptions already received is $951.25, which will be increased to considerably over $1,000. This is a splendid showing for a city of this size, and the MINING JOURNAL does not hesitate to affirm that in the amount raised for the fund in one meeting Marquette has surpassed any other town in this state, or in the United States, the population being taken into consideration.

Estimating the population of Marquette at 7,000, the subscription will average about fifteen cents for each man, woman and child in the city; on a full vote about 1,000 ballots are cast at elections here, so the average is about one dollar for each voter. If any other town can make a better showing as the result of one meeting for the cause Parnell champions, the MINING JOURNAL has yet to hear of it. As another indication of the public spirit of our citizens, the recent purchase of the Marchionis site here may be instanced. Portions of two days were occupied by the canvass, and in that time, without completely canvassing the business men of the city, enough money was raised to make up the required sum and to declare a "dividend" to the subscribers besides. If further evidence is required to establish the claim that in the public spirit of its citizens Marquette stands second to none, it may be found in the fact that the recent issue of five per cent war bonds to the sum of $11,000 was entirely taken up at home at par. The communication from the committee is appended:

There being quite a number who desire to contribute, whom the soliciting committee has not yet been able to reach, the books will be held open for another week, by the end of which time it is confidently expected that Marquette's contribution to the fund will be swelled to an amount in excess of $1,000—or a sum larger than has yet been contributed by any city in Michigan, and greater in proportion to population than raised for this purpose by any other town in the United States.

The distinction is a proud one, testifying as it does to the broad-minded generosity of our citizens, and their intelligent sympathy with a cause which they have made their own, regardless of nationality, because it is the cause of an oppressed people struggling to secure an inalienable right. On behalf of that people and cause, the committee desires to return thanks to those of our people whose names appear in the above list.

When the books are finally closed, a supplemental list, giving the names and amounts of further subscriptions, will be published. The treasurer of the fund, Mr. Thos. Dwyer, and the members of the soliciting committee, are authorized to receive any additional contributions that may be made.

Slightly Injured. Paul Johnson, a Swede employed at the Champion street viaduct in excavating earth for the fill was injured Tuesday by the falling in of the sand bank upon which he was at work. The sand is frozen to a depth of about two feet and a projecting point, which was not undermined enough to make it dangerous, it was thought, suddenly gave way and striking Johnson knocked him down against the cur he was filling. His head was badly cut by the cur and he was impossible for some time. Marshal French had him carried to the carriage works where he recovered sufficiently to walk home, declining to have a slight call as he feared it would alarm his family if he were carried home in that way. He will soon be able to resume work.

Birdseye View of Marquette. Mr. Edward Demar, the artist who has been engaged in making a panoramic or birdseye view of Marquette, has about completed his work and it will be through the lithographer's hands and ready for delivery in about thirty days. Mr. Demar favored the MINING JOURNAL office with a call yesterday and exhibited the original drawing from which the lithograph will be made; it will be a valuable acquisition to the office and residence of every business man in the city.

The canvas is thirty-four by fifty-four inches, and on the margin surrounding the view of the city there are twenty-six side pictures, or views, of public buildings and some of the more prominent residences. There is also a geographical map of the entire lake region, showing the location of the leading lake ports and the railroads that are tributary thereto. The view shows that there are 1140 buildings in the city, every one of which is accurately located, and in all of the most notable instances, is correctly drawn. The streets and intersections appear exactly as they are, and by its aid a messenger could be directed to any house in the city, so that he could find it. Ten different tints have been used in coloring the drawing, and by a glance one can ascertain whether a given building is of wood, brick, or stone. A business directory appears on the margin also, in which appears the name of every business man, with a numeral that refers to his residence or place of business. The view takes in Presque Isle on the north and extends about the same distance on the west and south. The price has not been definitely settled yet, but the views will be much cheaper than anything of the kind was ever offered here before. It is a regular encyclopedia of information relating to Marquette, and will be appreciated.

An Active Period. The indications at present are that for the next four or five years the upper peninsula will be over run by thousands of men engaged in building railroads, opening mines and prospecting for others, building saw and grist mills, in short, a period of unprecedented activity is about to usher in. One of the main items of expense in the building of a new road or the extension of an old one is for supplies. Men engaged in such work are hearty eaters, and they require vast quantities of just such articles as can be successfully grown here. In order to reap the greatest possible advantage from the revival of partially paralyzed industries and the creation of new ones, it is necessary that we make provision for supplying our visitors to as great an extent as may be with what they eat. All kinds of vegetables, pork, beef, mutton, milk, poultry, eggs, hay, oats, etc., will bring good prices, and in cash. Truck patches, supplying fresh young onions, beans, lettuce and other relishes, will be almost as valuable as "Mono" stock, and a man with a few dollars ahead can not do better than to move right onto a piece of land and go to work clearing it up. If he has never used an axe, and can not tell whether a tree of certain size had better be made into a railway tie, or a telegraph pole, he can soon learn. Railroad ties, telegraph poles, fence posts and cord wood will be in good demand, and in most instances enough merchantable timber will be found on every acre of land to pay for clearing it, so that the farmer who is just starting in can maintain himself and family from the proceeds of his labor while he is clearing his land. Potatoes can be grown on most of the land cleared the first year, and that every bushel grown can be sold for fifty cents, is as sure as that it is a good price.

Settled For Aye. The upper peninsula branch state prison and house of correction commission met at the Mesnard House yesterday afternoon, and immediately entered upon the business before it. There were present P. A. Van Bergen, of Menominee; E. P. Boyce, of Escanaba; John Duncan, of Calumet; E. B. Chamberlain, of St. Ignace; and J. M. Wilkinson, of Marquette. This was a full board, the sixth member, Charles Hebard, having resigned and no successor as yet having been appointed, although his resignation was accepted. Mr. Duncan, for whom the other members of the commission had been waiting, arrived yesterday noon, his delay having been unavoidable. After the meeting had organized Mr. Van Bergen presented a resolution to the effect that the commission accept the site tendered by the citizens of Marquette and it was unanimously adopted.

The site selected was purchased by the citizens of Marquette through the business Men's Association of the city and comprises eighty-three and a half acres on the south side of Carp river, seventy-three acres of which were purchased from the Detroit and Marquette Iron company, and the remaining ten and a-half from Mrs. Williams, of Washington, D. C. The commission then accepted the proposition made by the Detroit, Mackinac & Marquette R. R. company, to build and maintain as a part of their road a branch track into the prison grounds. Messrs. Scott & Co., of Detroit, were then appointed the architects for the work and the plans in detail will be perfected in about six weeks, when they will be acted on by the commission. After an entirely harmonious session the commission adjourned to meet again at the Mesnard House this morning. This marks the end of the first part of the commission's labors; a proper site has been officially accepted, now the work of building the prison devolves upon the same gentlemen.

In this connection it may be stated that in starting the subscription to purchase the site those first subscribing were under the impression that the cost would be very much larger than it subsequently proved, so they gave so liberally that the sum was more than made up. In restoring the surplus it has been thought but fair to ask others to subscribe as liberally as they would have done at first; in this way the surplus can be restored pro rata and the entire subscription will not come from only a limited number.
