NEWS Nervousness.

A wearing out of the nerves; a breaking down of the nervestrength; an unrest; a weakness or exhaustion of the forces or energy that belong to the nervous system. The weak, the careworn, the melancholy, those with no appetite for food, or who have frequent headaches or nervous chills; the low-spirited and the depressed are on the verge of nervous prostration. Men and women who are easily excited, impatient, fidgety and unable to rest or sleep at night, should replenish the stores of nervous energy with the greatest of restoratives, Dr. MILES' NERVINE.

> "A cold, followed by menstrual derangement and hemorrhage of the lungs made me weak, run-down, bloodless and exhausted. I was so nervous that I could not sleep, my legs were always cold while my head was hot and aching. I seemed to be always in such a hurry; longed for food but could not sit long enough to eat. Failing to get relief from my family doctor, I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and slept soundly the first night. Two bottles cured me." Mrs. L. A. Voyles, Lincoln, Ills.

Renews the wasted nerve-force and repairs the worn-out braincells as nothing else can, and is the best of all restoratives for nervous prostration.

"I am so nervous! no one ever suffered as I do! There isn't a well inch in my body. I honestly believe my lungs are diseased, my chest pains me so, but I have no cough. I am so weak at my stomach, and have indigestion terribly, and palpitation of the heart; am losing flesh; and this headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I had hysterics.

"There is a weight in the lower part of my bowels, bearing down all the time, with pains in my groins and thighs - I can't sleep, walk, or sit, and blue - oh goodness! I am simply the most miserable of women."

This is a most vivid description of a woman suffering with nervous prostration, caused by inflammation or some other diseased condition of the womb.

No woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is no need of it. Read about Miss Williamson's case and how she was cured.
