KNOCK-OUT FOR CHICAGO
Drainage Canal Case Is Decided by the Supreme Court.
IS IN FAVOR OF ST. LOUIS.
Contention the Sewage Pollutes the Waters Is Sustained and Relief in Injunction Held Lawful.

NOT YET FINALLY SETTLED
Washington, Jan. 28.—The United States supreme court today rendered an opinion in the case of the Chicago drainage canal, overruling the demurrers filed in the case by the State of Illinois and Chicago Drainage Canal District board. The proceeding was brought by the state of Missouri against the state of Illinois and the drainage board, the end sought being to prevent the use of the canal because of its supposed pollution of the drinking water at St. Louis. The effect of the decision is to sustain the contention of the state of Missouri.
In his opinion Justice Shiras cited the original bill and the demurrer in the case. Then taking up the case, he said two questions were presented in it. The first was whether the allegations of the bill disclose a case of controversy between the state of Missouri and the state of Illinois and citizens thereof and the statutes of the United States which create definite and original jurisdiction in this court; and, second, whether, if it be held that the allegations of the bill do present such controversy, they are sufficient to entitle the state of Missouri to the equitable relief prayed for.
COMPLAINT IS SUFFICIENT.
In passing upon the first of these points, the court presented the result of an examination of numerous authorities, saying, in conclusion: "An inspection of the bill discloses that the nature of the injury complained of (the pollution of the drinking water of people of Missouri because of the deposit of the sewage of Chicago into the Mississippi river through the drainage canal and the Illinois river) is such that an adequate remedy can only be found in this court at the suit of the state of Missouri."
"It is true that no question of boundary is involved, nor of direct property rights in lands of the complainant state. But it must surely be conceded that, if the health and comfort of inhabitants of a state is threatened, the state is the proper party to represent and defend them. The health and comfort of the large communities inhabiting those parts of the state situated on the Mississippi river are not alone concerned, but the contagious and typhoid diseases introduced into the river communities may spread themselves throughout the territory of the state."
"Moreover, a substantial impairment of the health and prosperity of the towns and cities of the state situated on the Mississippi, including its commercial metropolis, would injuriously affect the entire state. That suits brought by individuals, each for personal injuries, threatened or received, would be wholly inadequate and disproportionate remedies requires no argument."

RELIEF IN INJUNCTION.
On the point that Illinois should not have been made a party to the bill, and that the sanitary district of Chicago should have been made the only defendant, Justice Shiras said:
"The bill does not allege that the sanitary district is acting without or in excess of lawful authority. The averment and conceded facts are that the corporation is an agency of the state to do the very things which, according to the theory of the complaints in the case, will result in the mischief to be apprehended. The sanitary district of Chicago is not a private corporation, formed for purposes of private gain, but a public corporation whose existence and operations are wholly within the control of the state."
"The object of the bill is to subject a public work to judicial supervision upon the allegation that the method of its construction and maintenance will create a continuing nuisance dangerous to the health of a neighboring state and its inhabitants. Surely, if such is the case the state of Illinois would have the right to appear and traverse the allegations of the bill and, having such right, might properly be made a party defendant."
Discussing the contention that the bill does not on its merits entitle the state of Missouri to the relief prayed for, Justice Shiras took up the argument that the drainage complained of is only problematical or contingent and asked, "Can it be gravely contended that there are no preventive remedies by way of injunction or otherwise against injuries inflicted or experienced but which would appear to be a natural result of the acts of the defendant, which he admits or avows it to be his intention to commit?"
TEXT OF THE DECISION.
Continuing, he said that the relief prayed for by the bill is not merely against the creation of a nuisance but

PAID RATHER THAN TELL.
COOKER GIVES UP $5,000 TO THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT RATHER THAN DISCLOSE FACTS ABOUT HIS INCOME.
London, Jan. 28.—Rather than make the source and amount of his income public, Richard Croker, the leader of Tammany Hall, has, according to the Daily Express, reluctantly paid £1,000 tax to the government upon the arbitrary assessment of £2,000 made by the Wantage commissioners.
The mystery of Mr. Croker's disappearance during the last five weeks of 1900 has been solved. He was at Mount House, Wantage, all the time, taking a rest. While foreign health resorts were being tracked, Mr. Croker was sleeping at Wantage. When detectives were hired to find him by alarmed friends, he still slept on. When he was rested, he arose, read his accumulated mail, and then came to Walsingham House, where his presence is denied to all comers.

MRS. NATION PAYS VISIT.
Beards Kansas Governor in His Room in the Capitol Building.
ARRAIGNS HIM FOR HOUR.
Attorney General, County Prosecutor and Sheriff Also Seen and Demanded to Close Saloons.

SOME PROMISES EXACTED.
Topeka, Kas., Jan. 28.—Mrs. Carrie Nation today invaded the office of Governor Stanley in his chambers in the Capitol building and for a solid hour arraigned the chief executive of the state for his failure to close the saloons in Kansas. Then, in turn, she visited the offices of Attorney General Colliard, County Attorney Nicholas and Sheriff Cook and demanded of each that they close the saloons.
CALLS HIM A PERJURER.
"You can close every joint in Kansas if you will, Governor Stanley," she said, with force. "You can do it if you want to, but you won't. But you are a law-breaker yourself if you don't. You took the oath of office to keep the constitution. If you refuse my request, you are not only a law-breaker, but a perjurer."
As Mrs. Nation proceeded she became more vehement and her voice quivered. She rose from her chair, looked full in the face of Governor Stanley and, pointing her finger at him, called him a law-breaker and perjurer without the least show of fear. She repeated her accusation again and again. Finally, his patience exhausted, the governor arose and shouted back:
"You cannot come here and talk this way to me. You are a woman, but I will not stand it. You will have to leave."
"I am a mother; I am a grandmother; I represent the mothers of the state," declared Mrs. Nation.
"You don't, you don't represent them," almost shouted the governor.
The room was in an uproar. Then Mrs. Nation talked more calmly, pleading with the governor to aid her. "You come with me and help to smash the saloons," she urged.
GETS OFF WITH PROMISE.
Finally, the governor volunteered: "You get the prosecuting attorneys of the different counties to put the saloon keepers in jail. I'll use my power as governor to keep them in. I'll see they are not paroled out."
This promise instantly transformed Mrs. Nation. She fairly beamed with joy, and, thanking the governor, started for the office of Attorney General Goddard. A somewhat heated interview ensued there and then Mrs. Nation, followed by an army of people, with a body guard of newspaper men, started for the county attorney's office, where she repeated her demands. Sheriff Cook was next visited and attacked in a similar manner. The chief of police was picked for the next onslaught, but his office was found locked, and Mrs. Nation harranged the crowd in the street.

The proposition to have the members of the legislature paid a regular salary instead of a per diem during the continuance of the session does not seem to meet the hearty approval of the bulk of the law makers now holding down seats at Lansing.

In remarking on evidences of indecision which Governor Bliss manifests at times in dealing with questions calling for executive action one of the visiting legislators who were here Saturday remarked that "the governor would find it much easier to satisfy people if he would just make up his mind to be governor."

There are now five justices of the supreme court, and the term of one expires every two years, the term being ten years. It is proposed to increase the number of justices to seven, and in order to have one elected at a time as the terms expire it will be necessary, if the increase is made, to lengthen the term to fourteen years or reduce it to seven.

There are bills before the legislature for several more normal schools. The state is now provided with three, which is not enough, but two of these are infant institutions, which are in need of much that they should be supplied with to start them well on their careers.

Not a little comment has been excited by the action of "Hod-Carriers" Union No. 1 of Philadelphia in adopting resolutions, which will be presented to congress, urging the passage of the ship subsidy bill.

scope and nature from that in which they are engaged is a subject which arouses much curious conjecture. It is hardly possible that the Cramps, who are great ship-builders, are members of this union, nor would it be supposed that the members of the union are on such terms of social intimacy with the Cramps, and owners of the ocean vessel lines that would be directly benefited by the proposed ship subsidy, as to cause the hod carriers to make the welfare of these their special concern through the promptings of personal friendship.

If the Detroit News intended this allusion to the action of the Detroit authorities, in "resoluting" in support of Bob Oakman's claim to retention of his place on the state tax commission, to strengthen his case with the governor it made a sad miscue—but the probability is that the News, which has never been friendly to Oakman, desires to see him shoved off and contributed its "mite" to that end.

The unanimity and enthusiasm with which the common council and city government, without regard to party affiliations, have petitioned Gov. Bliss for the reappointment of Tax Commissioner Oakman, argue the possession by the commissioner of some of the most valuable qualities, and special fitness for the position he occupies.

Copper Country Department

SMALL-POX BILLS TOTAL ABOUT $8,000.
SPECIAL COUNTY BOARD COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER THEM TODAY—SOME, BUT IS SAID WILL NOT BE ALLOWED.

The special committee, composed of supervisors, appointed by the county board to look into the small-pox bills against the county will meet at the office of the county clerk at 9 o'clock this morning when the chairman has already acted upon favorably will be ordered paid. The meeting of the special committee was to have been held yesterday morning, but was postponed owing to the presence in Houghton of the investigating committee of the state legislature to the Michigan College of Mines.

It is understood that several of the bills which were charged up to the county were not allowed by the special committee under legal advice from Prosecuting Attorney Larson. In that case, the bills will be referred back to the townships from which they originated and will have to be settled by the townships if at all. The aggregate amount of the small-pox bills since last August—the time when the disease first broke out in copperdom—is from $5,000 to $8,000.

IRISH PLAN A COUNTY REUNION.
ST. PATRICK'S DAY TO BE CELEBRATED BY THE VARIOUS HIBERNIAN LODGES AT CALUMET ON SATURDAY, MARCH 16.

The Hancock lodge of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will go to Calumet this year to celebrate St. Patrick's Day, March 17, with the Calumet, Lake Linden and Dollar Bay lodges. As the day falls on Sunday this year, Saturday, March 16, will be observed. It was recently decided by the Hibernian lodge that the county celebration should be held at the metropolis of copperdom and the convention of the lodges will be made one worthy of the day which the Irish citizens are now looking forward to. Virtually the celebration will be one in the nature of a reunion of the Irish societies in the county.

On the evening of Saturday, March 16, the Hancock lodge of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will give an entertainment at St. Patrick's Hall, Hancock. A musical and literary program will be rendered and assignments for such are already being made among the home talent of Hancock. The evening's entertainment will serve as a pleasant and enjoyable ending of the day's proceedings.

HITS AT COPPERDOM.
ACTOR PARISH WRITES UNKINDLY OF THIS SECTION.

Grant Parish, an actor who recently visited the copper country has the following communication in regard to this region in the last issue of the New York Dramatic Mirror:

"Having just left the copper country, experience has taught me that the present is the proper time to keep away from this section. The intense cold here breeds small-pox, which, together with the rigor of the climate, prevents outlying mining and lumber towns and camps from contributing their share of the business. Early fall and late spring are the proper periods to tour the copper country."

One thing is certain, and that is the people of the copper country will remember what Mr. Parish has said when he again comes to this region. To read the above comment a stranger would naturally think that copperdom is one of the most dangerous places in the world to visit during the winter months. On the other hand, those acquainted with the region know that a healthier place does not exist. It is singular that other shows that visit here have no "kick" coming. They all play to big houses and consequently have nothing to praise for in copperdom. One citizen of Houghton yesterday remarked that he wondered which was worse—some of the theatrical troupes that visit the copper country or the small-pox itself.

HOCKEY MATCH THIS EVENING.
COLLEGE OF MINES AND HANCOCK TEAMS THE CONTESTANTS

The boys of the Michigan College of Mines have picked their hockey team and will play a game with the new Hancock seven at the Palace ice rink, Hancock, tonight. The teams met for a practice match at the rink Sunday morning when the Hancock seven was defeated by the score of 5 to 4. The game was hotly contested from start to finish, and although the team work of either team was nothing extra some good hard practice was secured. The boys showed up well for the first game. The match tonight will be well attended, as so little amount of interest in the prospects of these two organizations is being taken.

ANOTHER GAME THURSDAY.
 The Portage Lake hockey seven is practicing for its match with the Laurium team to be played at the Palace ice rink, Hancock, next Friday night. The boys will try to perfect their team work to a greater degree in order to make Friday night's exhibition a clever one, as far as their playing is concerned. A good deal of interest is being taken in the coming game.

Later—The game of hockey between the Portage Lake and Laurium hockey sevens will probably be changed to Thursday night at the Palace rink. The date for Friday conflicts with the skating party that the Hancock High school students will give at the Twin City ice rink the same evening and it is on that account that the date of the match will no doubt be changed.

the sun beats down hot upon a pavement. Thirteen pounds of asphalt to eighty-seven of sand is a good proportion, but in Hancock Mr. Scott thinks that 12 per cent of asphalt and 88 per cent of sand would be about the proper mixture.

Another point to be considered is that of the road-bed or the foundation upon which the asphalt is to be laid. The matter of foundations did not have to be considered before paving was done on the main thoroughfares at Chicago, as they were already made. In Hancock, however, the foundation will have to be made solid on Quincy street, which will serve as an additional factor in bringing the price of paving up to the estimated $3. Beneath the asphalt there will have to be at least six inches of concrete, and beneath that the bed must also be solid.

The question of curbing is also deemed by Mr. Scott to be an important one. There are cheap curbing and substantial ones, and the village president says that Hancock will put in the latter kind, as the job, when it is tackled, is to be done in up-to-date style and in the right way. Altogether, with foundations, curbing and paving, Mr. Scott does not think that a contract for the paving of Quincy street could be secured for much less than at the rate of $3 per square yard.

The subject of paving in Hancock has been brought up before. Last fall the project was so thoroughly discussed and planned so far ahead that the village board would have carried out the work if it had not been for the laying of the street car tracks. The proposition had the hearty support of all the property owners along Quincy street, but it was decided to drop the matter until a later day, owing to the construction of the street railway line through the village.

The announcement now that the paving project is again to be taken up and pushed to its conclusion will be received by Hancock people with great pleasure. The street in question would present an admirable appearance if it were paved with asphalt, and no one realizes the fact more than do the village fathers. The improvement of the main thoroughfare would simply mean another page added to the annals of the enterprise of the energetic business men of the village.

Not only would the appearance of Hancock be enhanced by paving Quincy street, but a goodly sum of money would be saved to the village in the end. That would be especially so in the winter, when after a heavy snow storm great difficulty is experienced in removing surplus snow from the street. The snow could be taken off an asphalt pavement with less expense and trouble. An expense could also be saved during the summer months, as a much less force of men than is employed on the streets at that time would be required. An asphalt pavement is generally cleaned by sweeping it, with an occasional flooding of the street with the city hose, the latter being done at night when there is less travel.

Another point in favor of the asphalt paving proposition is the draining of the water from the thoroughfare after a rain. Curbs would be so constructed that the water collecting at the sides of the street, as it would from the natural incline of the thoroughfare, would easily drain away to the sewers without interruption.

AT THE COLLEGE TODAY.

The visiting solons who are here to look into the needs of the Michigan College of Mines will spend today at the school in looking over the work of the students. The party spent yesterday on a trip to Lake Linden and Calumet, where the great smelters and copper mines were visited. The legislators will leave at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon for Lansing. The special car in which they are traveling will be attached to the Northwestern train at Houghton.

IS BULLISH ON COPPER.

The Calumet & Hecla people have completed their annual stock taking and find themselves in an unusually good condition, both in the matter of finances and amount of copper on hand, says the Boston News Bureau. They are giving very little attention to the metal market and their only desire at the present time is to keep the market from going too high. It is understood that their sales during the past two or three months have exceeded considerably those for the corresponding period a year ago, but nothing has been sold under 17 cents, and he who is close to the management says he has no fear whatever that the price of the metal will be shaded because of the reduced exports, nor indeed did he anticipate that the shrinkage would be much longer continued. In fact, he was looking for a continuance of the present strength for an indefinite period. He further added that no negotiations were on at the present time for any large sale of the company's copper.

COPPER RANGE PROSPECTS.
 Within two years the expectation is, says the Boston News Bureau, that the Copper Range company, which owns the Copper Range railroad, and one-half of the Champion mine, will be on a dividend-paying basis. Assuming that early in 1903 the railroad hauls 3,000 tons of rock per day for the South range mines, the gross return per annum on this tonnage should approximate $400,000, while other miscellaneous tonnage and passenger receipts should bring the yearly gross up to $600,000. The management is confident that it can save one-half of this amount in net earnings for the stockholders, after a small interest charge on outstanding bonds.

EIGHT-HOUR LAW DEMANDED.
 The Butte (Mont.) Mill & Smelter Men's union has created some uneasiness among smelter operators by deciding to make a demand for an eight-hour day in the smelters, beginning on the first of April. None of the smelters of Butte have yet granted an eight-hour day, not even Helme and Clark, and it is claimed that it is impracticable to operate the smelter under an eight-hour day. The union, however, has published notices that no union man will work more than eight hours after the first of April.

The probability is, however, that the eight-hour law will be adopted at the mines, if not at the smelters, and in this connection a Butte dispatch quotes President William Scanlon of the Anaconda Mining company as saying that his company will on Feb. 1 introduce a law that their sales during the past two or three months have exceeded considerably those for the corresponding period a year ago, but nothing has been sold under 17 cents, and he who is close to the management says he has no fear whatever that the price of the metal will be shaded because of the reduced exports, nor indeed did he anticipate that the shrinkage would be much longer continued. PLEAS FOR FILIPINOS.

Notable Speech Closes the Senatorial Career of Charley Towne.

BIG CROWD APPLAUDS HIM

His Successor, Mr. Clapp, Immediately Sworn In at the Conclusion of the Duluth Man's Effort.

ADDRESS A DRAWING CARD

Washington, Jan. 28.—The senate turned from the grind of appropriations today to listen to a speech, which partook of the character of an oration, from Senator Towne of Minnesota.

The speech abounded in appeals to liberty and patriotism and scornful scathing arraignments of the policy by which the Filipinos are being annihilated.

Immediately following Mr. Towne's speech the credentials of his successor, Senator Clapp of Minnesota, were presented and after being sworn in the new senator took his seat and Mr. Towne retired.

Chief Justice Fuller read a dissenting opinion holding that the jurisdiction of the supreme court could only be invoked in cases in which it appears that states are in direct antagonism, and that this is true in this case.

WAR CLAIMS AIRED IN HOUSE.

THEIR ADJUDICATION IS THE QUESTION AND IT GOES OVER.

Washington, Jan. 28.—An interesting feature in the house today was an attempt to secure a vote upon the senate bill to appoint a commission to consider and adjudicate the claims of United States citizens against Spain arising out of the war with Spain.

The house at the last session recommended a similar bill with instructions to report back a bill to confer jurisdiction in these cases upon the court of claims.

also against its maintenance. "Our conclusion, therefore, is," he went on, "that the demurrers filed by the respective defendants cannot be sustained."

"We do not wish to be understood as holding that, in a case like the present one, where the injuries complained of grow out of the prosecution of a public work, authorized by law, a court of equity ought to interpose by way of a preliminary or interlocutory injunction, when it is denied by the answer that there is any reasonable foundation for the charges contained in the bill. We are dealing with the case of a bill alleging in explicit terms that damage and irreparable injury will naturally and necessarily be occasioned by the acts of the defendants and when the defendants have chosen to have their rights disposed of, so far as the present hearing is concerned, upon assenting to this bill.

"We fully agree with the contention that it is settled that an injunction to restrain a nuisance will issue only in cases where the fact of the nuisance is made out upon determining the factual evidence, that if the evidence is conflicting and the injury being sought to be prevented is of a nature that is not certain and that the fact of its existence is in doubt, and that the fact of its existence is in doubt, and that there is interposition by injunction is sought, to restrain that which it is apprehended will create the nuisance, the complaint may complain, the proofs must show such a state of facts as will manifest the danger to be real and immediate. But such observations are not relevant to the case as it is now before us. The demurrers are overruled and leave given to the defendant to file answers to the bill."

Then, turning to Emperor William, the king gave expression to his deep feeling for him saying he (the king) and the British royal family esteemed him, not only because of their blood relationship, but for all the great qualities of the Kaiser, and in particular they valued his long and peaceful reign in England. The king said that these friendly relations would always continue and that the two might in common continue to work together in the peace and civilization of the world.

KNIGHT OF THE GARTER

German Crown Prince Is Invested With the Order by King Edward.

A GREAT NAVAL DISPLAY.

Forty English Warships to Participate in the Funeral Parade Friday—Mourning Period Shortened.

MERCHANTS REQUESTED IT

Cowes, Jan. 28.—The crown prince of Germany, Frederick William, was invested with the Order of the Garter today by King Edward VII. The investiture occurred in the council chamber at Osborne house and was a brilliant function.

HOPES FOR WORLD'S PEACE. When presenting the insignia of the order to Crown Prince Frederick William, the correspondent of the London Daily Mail wires his paper, King Edward said it had been his mother's wish to confer the Garter, but that being impossible the duty and pleasure devolved upon himself.

ADVANCE IN WAGES IN THE INDIANA FIELDS DEMANDED BY NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Indianapolis, Jan. 28.—Before the adoption of the new scale submitted at the convention of the United Mine Workers of America today, a clause was added demanding that the price for mining coal in the block district of Indiana shall be advanced 15 cents per ton.

TO ENLARGE THE ORDER.

A motion also was adopted that hoisting engineers, firemen, blacksmiths and any other class of mine workers who are not members of any brotherhoods or unions composed of mine employes be admitted to the United Mine Workers of America upon the presentation of transfer cards from the union to which they formerly belonged.

The offer will remain open until May 1 and means that the men who heretofore have been members of any union instituted among mine employes may become members of the United Mine Workers without paying the initiation fees.

The addition to the national executive board advised by President Mitchell, who advised that two new members from the anthracite field be placed upon the board, met with strong opposition from the Iowa delegation and action upon the matter was deferred until the new constitution is adopted.

WILD DAY IN COTTON.

Speculation on the New York Exchange Culminates in a Panic.

BEARS BADLY PINCHED.

Bull Clique Runs Up the Price of January 225 Points Before Short Contracts Are Covered.

ENORMOUS PROFITS REaped

New York, Jan. 28.—The fluctuations of cotton on the local exchange today were far more violent than ever before known, reaching a matter of 255 points amid intense excitement, though with singularly small trading.

The shorts were graced in the first hour by sensational reports of 15 cents being the price at which the overseas January operators were to be allowed to "settle" and by claims that the clique would possibly refuse to settle at all until the last moment.

The movement to establish a woman's auxiliary was opposed by President Van Horn of the Indiana bituminous district, upon the ground that it might injure the Woman's Union League, which has for its object the accomplishment of the same ends for which the auxiliary is to be launched.

The funeral procession will leave Osborne house on Friday at 2 o'clock p. m. The route to the pier will be lined with troops and the royal personages will follow the coffin on foot.

An order issued by Admiral Sir Charles Fitzroy yesterday shows that thirty-eight British vessels will take part in the naval display.

Following the precedent of 1768, when the independent company also proposed to build a large oil refinery at Beaumont, the refinery at Corsicana, as well as the pipe lines in the Corsican district, is owned by the Standard Oil company, but it is proposed if the present movement looking to the consolidation is successful to also erect a local refinery in that field.

The iron markets of the country are in a quiet and nominal condition, speculation being almost entirely lacking, and prices remain as before quoted: Pig iron warrants, $9.50@10.50; Northern foundry, $15@16.50; Southern foundry, $14.50@15.75, and soft Southern, $13@13.75.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—In wheat today there was a fair trade, the market was moderately active from the range for the day a cent. The feeling was quiet weak and lower prices ruled early, with May off to 76 1/2, followed by a rally and then a decline, the market selling off to 76 and the close being about 1 1/4% lower than Saturday.

The absence of sellers created an unprecedented alarm in bear circles which soon spread to a veritable panic. By great leaps and bounds January shot up, with operators in other months standing aghast at the remarkable spectacle.

The shorts were graced in the first hour by sensational reports of 15 cents being the price at which the overseas January operators were to be allowed to "settle" and by claims that the clique would possibly refuse to settle at all until the last moment.

GOOD GOVERNMENT LEAGUE.
It Approves of Gordon's Slot Machine Bill.

The following article from Saturday's issue of the Detroit Evening News shows that Representative Gordon struck a popular chord when he introduced a bill designed to stop the manufacture, sale or rental of slot machines in the state of Michigan:

"S. D. Callender, secretary of the Good Government league, returned to Detroit from Lansing Friday. He went to the capital to help along the Colby primary election bill, which he thinks will pass the house without receiving amendments which will impair its efficiency. As to the fate of the bill in the senate, Mr. Callender is not so certain, but he concluded as the result of his interviews with several senators, that the men from the country would be pleased to see Wayne and Kent counties experiment with conventional politics.

"Another matter in which Mr. Callender expresses interest is the bill introduced by Rep. Gordon to prohibit the manufacture, sale or rental of nickel-in-the-slot machines. "This bill strikes at the root of the evil of this sort of gambling. While the police surveillance in Detroit is such that very few machines are in use, there are thousands of them in operation in the state. They develop gambling instincts, their opponents say, and aid in the formation of habits which are detrimental to society. In order to suppress their use it has been necessary to find them in operation, or ready for operation, which has not always been easy for various reasons.

"The only argument advanced in favor of slot-gambling machines which has come to Mr. Callender's ears, was from the mining districts of the upper peninsula. The argument was to the effect that the foreigners there who work in the mines sent from half to two-thirds of the earnings to Europe in the form of cash every month. The slot machines keep this money, or a part of it at home.

"A law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of slot-gambling machines will hit two Detroit concerns engaged in the manufacture—the Caille company, at 24 Grand avenue, and the Caille-Schreiner Co., at 147 Woodward avenue. These concerns, particularly the latter, are said to be doing a thriving business. Their machines are so good that they are selling them in Europe. One class of their manufactured product is designed for the use of foreign money, 5-pennig pieces and centimes.

"When Mr. Callender goes to Lansing next week, he will see Rep. Gordon in regard to this bill, and it is likely that the influence of the Good Government league will be thrown to aid its passage."

LION HUNTERS.
A Party of Them Chased by a Lion and One of Them Carried Away.

Lionel Deele, the well known traveler, writes the following account of an extraordinary lion tragedy in Africa: "I mentioned last year the large number of natives employed on the Uganda railway which was shunted by lions. A tragic occurrence has recently taken place on the line. Lions had been seen prowling near a small station in the interior and three white men determined to try and kill them. They got into a railway inspector's carriage, which was shunted on to a siding some little distance from the station. The carriage consisted of a saloon, with two lower and two upper berths, and a lavatory attached to it. The party decided that each one of them would watch in turn. The first watch was by a lion, and Mr. Ryall, while his two companions went to sleep. One of them slept on one of the lower berths while the other lay down on the floor. Exactly what happened will remain a mystery. Whether Mr. Ryall went to sleep, whether he was surprised in the dark, it is impossible to tell. Anyhow, the man who slept on the floor woke up in the middle of the night feeling a heavy weight on his body, and when he tried to rise his head came in contact with the breast of a lion tugging at Mr. Ryall, who was on his hands and knees, and there were three men in a space about 12x9 feet, locked up with a lion. The man on the floor managed to get off unharmed from underneath the beast and jumped out through a window, reaching the station sometime afterward. The man lying in one of the lower berths jumped up, and as he did so he put his foot on the lion's back. Terrified in his turn, he made for the bathroom door, but the servants who were sleeping inside had closed it. After some time, however, he got them to open the door and took refuge with them. In the meantime the lion carried off Mr. Ryall through the open window. A relief party started from the station, and Mr. Ryall's body was found some 300 yards off. Evidently the would-be hunters were inexperienced, otherwise they would have slept with their rifles loaded and handy. The victim's two companions can hardly be blamed for not having attempted to help him, as they could not have fired in the dark without risking to shoot him and it is a wonder that the three of them were not killed. I am told that the state of the carriage was dreadful to behold; all the cushions were torn off and covered with blood."

THE MILLIONAIRE BURRO.
Declared by the Court to Be Discoverer of a Mine Now Worth Four Millions.

The Millionaire Burro was self-made. He never had a pedigree. He was born to toil amid the rough life of the mountains. His companions were adventurers, eager for a "prospect," fond of drink, seldom choice in their language, and just as seldom gentle toward the pack animal that carried their burdens up steep hillsides and down gullies in their search for hidden wealth.

In 1883 the Coeur d'Alene mountains were known only as a picturesque range, where deer roamed almost unmolested by hunters, where trout leaped and multiplied in rushing streams, and where bears were commoner than men. But in the winter of 1882-83 the word flew abroad that these haunts of game were seamed with gold. The precious metal had been found on the north fork of the Coeur d'Alene river, and thither rushed thousands.

It was in September of 1885 that Cooper & Peck, of Murray, Idaho, had grub-staked N. S. Kellogg, an old prospector, to look for gold. Part of the outfit was the burro. Kellogg found some samples of silver-lead ore, but an assayer told Cooper & Peck that this mineral was of insufficient value to be worth any trouble in that country, and as a consequence, the partnership was dissolved.

Kellogg, however, was not willing to give up. He showed his samples to Phil O'Rourke, an old Colorado miner, who recognized their value. The two immediately started out, laboriously packing their outfit on their backs. While entering the gulch at the mouth of Milo creek, Kellogg descried wandering in the solitude his companion of the last prospecting tour, the burro. When the partnership with Cooper & Peck had been dissolved the donkey had been turned adrift. The animal had wandered for two weeks, and now joyfully rejoined his old friend, and willingly carried the packs of the tired prospectors.

But the pair found only "float" or surface ore. Their search for a lead brought no results. One disappointed evening they made their camp and failed to tether the burro securely. In the dead of night the animal stole away. The next morning the two set out to find him, strewing profanity as they searched. The tracks were plain, and words of encouragement were sent there against the rocks and fallen logs helped them keep the trail. It led along and down a steep precipice that they had difficulty in descending.

Finally, after entering a canyon and following it some distance, they saw the burro, standing on the side of a hill and gazing abstractedly across the canyon. The men stole cautiously forward, expecting a chase. But the burro remained like a statue. When the pair reached the animal's side, they found that he was standing on an out-cropping mineral vein, while he was gazing at the spot where shortly afterward was found another out-cropping of glistening galena.

At the place where the burro stood, the Bunker Hill mine was located, Kellogg's name being signed as discoverer and O'Rourke's as witness. After talking the matter over with the men, he concluded that if Kellogg was named as discoverer, Cooper & Peck might claim a share on the ground that their burro was part of the outfit, and that therefore Kellogg was still in grub-stake partnership with them. Consequently, the next morning the mineral vein, while the ground that the burro they had furnished in the grubstake was the real discoverer of the bonanza. Judge Henry Buckner, of the district court of Idaho, at Murray, affirmed their claim. In his decision, he said: "The court is of the opinion that the Bunker Hill mine was discovered by the jackass, Phil O'Rourke and N. S. Kellogg, and as the jackass is the property of the plaintiffs, Cooper & Peck, they are entitled to a half interest in the Sullivan claims."

EXPLOSION OF A BLAST.

IT KILLED A MINER IN THE HEMATITE MINE OF THE OLIVER MINING COMPANY.

The third fatal accident since the beginning of the new year in the mines of the Oliver Mining company occurred last evening at the Hematite. Frank Johnson, a miner, was charging four drill holes preparatory to a blast. His partner was getting the timber when he heard the explosion, and upon rushing to the scene he found Johnson dead. Only one of the holes had exploded but that was sufficient to horribly mangle Johnson's head and kill him instantly. Johnson leaves a wife, and a particularly sad part of the affair is that they had been married less than six weeks. He was a member of the Finnish Temperance society and resided at the Barnum location.

ANOTHER MINE FATALITY.

CARL MATTSOON KILLED IN THE CLIFFS SHAFTS MINE OF THE CLEVELAND-CLIFFS CO.

Another man has met his death in the mines. Yesterday afternoon, shortly after 4 o'clock, Carl Mattsson was hurt at the Barnum. Mattsson was a trapper. He and his partner, Jacko Antilla, were at work on the third level of the shaft. A car of ore on the level above was dumped as Mattsson and his partner were standing at the mouth of the chute. Antilla was standing behind a pillar but Mattsson was directly at the mouth. As the ore came down a piece of rock became dislodged and, bounding, struck him in the chest. He was brought to surface and help secured as soon as possible, but he died at 5 o'clock. Mattsson was a single man, aged twenty-six years, and lived on Pearl street. As far as can be learned he had no relatives in the vicinity and very few friends. He was a quiet, unassuming fellow and his employers speak very highly of him. He had worked at the Barnum ever since it was reopened some three years ago, going to work as a trapper and never doing anything else. Undertaker Backa took charge of the body, and a funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Finnish Lutheran church.

MINE SHUTS DOWN.

ALL OPERATIONS SUSPENDED AT THE RIVERSIDE MINE OF THE OLIVER COMPANY.

Much consternation was caused in Republic by the news that the Oliver Mining company had decided to close the Riverside. Though this was only an exploration, it was a serious matter, more than thirty men employed there, the town looked upon it as something which would develop into a mine. Superintendent Johnston received notice Saturday to suspend operations and this order was immediately carried into effect. The pumps were stopped yesterday and there are but few men working, they being engaged in clearing up and getting everything in readiness to leave.

The Oliver company started work on this property about a year ago and it has been pushed with vigor ever since. A new shaft was started and for some time they have been sinking in ore, but the vein was very narrow, and as there was no promise of anything better it was decided to abandon the whole proposition. The mine is the property of the Michigan Land & Iron company, which leased it to the Oliver people. This lease the Oliver company still holds, but it is thought that it will be surrendered.

The Riverside is situated about four miles from Republic. There is no railroad near and it is very inconvenient to get supplies to the location. The Oliver company does not think there is enough promise in the proposition to warrant any further expense. Mr. Johnston in speaking of the matter said the action of his company did not prove that there is no ore on the property, but that it was not worth the expense of its way clear to further explore it. The ore is of the hard variety and not of a particularly high grade. Joseph Hodgson was the mining captain. It could not be learned definitely whether the Oliver company would entirely abandon the property or not, but it is thought that such is its intention.

THEIR BUSINESS GROWING.

Mr. Jaedecke of Jaedecke Bros., the pioneer cigar manufacturers of Ishpeming, has been hard at work for some time past on a number of new labels for his popular brand of cigars, the Havana Plantation. He sent boxes with these labels to the trade for the first time last week and they have caught the town. A photograph of Mr. Jaedecke and his four sons decorates each label and the customary Cuban scene is not missing. The celebrated Havana Plantation will in the future be put up in three styles. A perfect shape is the latest thing. This sells for ten cents straight. A new box for the "old reliable" was made necessary by the popular demand, one containing fifty cigars. Formerly all Plantations were sold one hundred in a box but now this very popular cigar may be bought in smaller packages.

The firm of Jaedecke Bros. was formed in 1889 and was a success from the start. From a small beginning the business has grown so that it now requires twenty men to manufacture the cigars. These cigars are sold in every section of the upper peninsula and the demand for them is increasing every year. It was fourteen years ago that the brand "Havana Plantation" was first sold but it did not take long for the merits of the cigar to gain it recognition and a demand which was hard to fill sprung up for them. Since then other brands have been manufactured but none have been pushed so much as the "Old Reliable."

INDIGESTION, resulting from weakness of the stomach, is relieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great stomachic and cure for DYSPEPSIA.

Upper Peninsula News.

During the past six years 20,559 English sparrows have been killed and the houses, aggregating $425, paid by Menominee county. The slaughter has been enormous. The county pays a bounty of two cents per head and over a hundred boys are engaged during their idle hours killing the birds. It is a source of revenue for them combined with some sport.

The upper peninsula will have the following representation in the next state conventions, basing it on the recent election returns: Alger, 2; Baraga, 2; Chippewa, 7; Delta, 9; Dickinson, 7; Gogebic, 6; Houghton, 22; Iron, 4; Luce, 2; Mackinac, 3; Marquette, 14; Menominee, 10; Ontonagon, 3; Schoolcraft, 3. This is a substantial gain over the representation of the upper peninsula counties past conventions.

Orders have been received from New York at the headquarters of the Manila Iron company to cease all exploratory work in Menominee range, and to ship all material and supplies to Duluth. The order has occasioned surprise, as it has been supposed the company was going to work in its work near Iron Mountain. The Manila Iron company is a sub-corporation of the Federal Steel company to carry on mining and exploration in Michigan.

F. G. Fernstrum's boiler works at Menominee is a hive of industry. A contract has been secured to make 100 boilers for the A. W. Stevens company. This, with mill repairs, is crowding the works with an order for employment. Mr. Fernstrum will probably be awarded the contract for the four big boilers and digester for the new sulphite mill to be built at Menominee in the spring by the Menominee and Marinette Paper company. Work on this mill which will cost $500,000, will commence early in April.

The foundation work and material for the new federal building at Menominee has cost $2,000, for which vouchers have been delivered to the contractors. Work on the building will be resumed early in the spring and the contractors hope to have it completed by September. In this building there will be the postoffice, and postmaster's office and the office of the deputy collectors of customs and internal revenue. The building will be 32 feet high, that is, from the elevation to the cornice line. It will be the most modern building in Menominee.

There is now a strong probability that $50,000 will be appropriated by congress for the improvement of the Menominee harbor. Senator Quarles, of Wisconsin, strongly supported by Congressman Sheldon and other Wisconsin and Michigan congressmen, has introduced an amendment to the river and harbor bill to authorize the government to expend that amount. Government engineers, headed by Capt. Means, of Chicago, have made a survey of the harbor and the plans have been filed with the department. The projected work includes the deepening of the river channel to Wells street.

They are already talking municipal politics at Escanaba. The fact that the new school building is under way is taken to mean that there is to be an unusual amount of interest this year. One of the men who is considered a very likely successor to Mayor Hartnett, should be desired or seek the nomination, is Harry P. Lucas, of the Escanaba Woodmen company. Mr. Lucas has elements of strength and he would doubtless be an important factor in the convention should he decide to enter the lists. To him belongs the credit of securing for Escanaba her one large manufacturing plant, the Escanaba Woodmen company, and he is one of the city's heaviest tax payers.

That hardwood lumber manufacture will succeed that of pine in the locality of Menominee is proven by the cut of the last year, which was an increase of 25 per cent. over 1899. The hardwood lumber cut in the Green Bay district, which extends from Green Bay to Delta county, in 1899 was 255,861,000 feet, as compared with 297,714,000 feet cut in 1891. It was estimated that the cut in 1899 will be over 400,000,000 feet. More hardwood logs will be cut on the Menominee river this year than last. The Marinette Lumber company, the Sawyer-Goodman, the L. W. & V. S. company, the Bay Shore Lumber company and the Burns & Hicks mills are now operating and hardwood lumber is being manufactured. According to the American Lumberman there is 182,148,000 feet of hardwood lumber on hand in the Green Bay district, as compared with 90,945,000 feet in 1899. Nearly all of the hardwood logs are brought to Menominee by rail, as driving in streams has not been successful.

The I. Stephenson company, whose mill at Wells, Mich., has been in operation for the past fifty years, has timber for fifty years more sawing. The mill is not only the best and most modernly equipped but has the assurance of the longest life of any mill in the northwest now in operation, and this, with the mill running winter and summer and day and night. The newly equipped mills and yards at Wells are models of what experience and money can provide for the rapid manufacture of high grade lumber. The ease of handling it and in the facilities for expeditious and economical transportation. The mills were remodeled at large expense last fall and are now in full operation. The gang and the new third boiler have been started up and cutting 125,000 feet per day. The mill contains a saw, circular, two bands, strippers, lath and shingle machines, resawers, edgers, planers, etc. The company operates its own electric plant, which illuminates the mills and yards at night. Last year the sawmill cut 20,000,000 feet of lumber, 17,000,000 lath and 2,000,000 shingles. A large quantity of fine quality hardwoods are cut and finished. Cedar siding, birch flooring and finishing stuff are among the high grades being made. The railroads and shipping facilities are unsurpassed. Sidetracks intersect the yards and the cars are switched to any part, or to the dock at the harbor, which has been dredged and built at the company's own expense, and which is capable of floating the largest vessels on the lakes. It is adtion to the shipping facilities noted. Isaac Stephenson said that a cartery would be introduced at an early date, which would provide close and direct railroad shipment to the east. The Lake Superior & Escanaba R'y company, which is owned practically by the same people as the Isaac Stephenson company, is handling eighty cars a day over its line, forty of which are loaded with logs for the mill. Electricity will soon be substituted for steam on this line. The I. Stephenson company erects cottages at Wells for all its employees and the town is putting on many city airs commensurate with its showing importance and increased size.

It is a matter of a comparatively short time it is said, when all the shafts through which iron ore is brought to the surface on the Gogebic iron range will have to be abandoned. This is on account of the shafts having been sunk in the ore body, which caves as the ground is removed from beneath. Shafts of ore are always left to protect the shafts, but this has not proved sufficient, and it has already been necessary to abandon a number of them, and the remainder must go in the course of a few years if the present rate of mining is kept up. The work of sinking the new shafts, which will be made necessary, will be a very expensive piece of business for the mining companies, costing them hundreds of thousands of dollars, and should the shafts at present in use cave unexpectedly the mining operations on that range would be greatly retarded. The Oliver Mining company, whose headquarters are in Milwaukee, is already preparing for this expected emergency, and has commenced the sinking of a shaft at the Norrie mine in the foot wall—the wall of solid rock south of the ore body. Woodmen, which is expected to reach the vein some time during the present year. This new shaft is the largest ever sunk on the Gogebic range. It will have four compartments and will be supported by steel beams instead of wooden timbers. All the other shafts in the Lake Superior country have wooden timbers with the exception of one on the Vermilion range in a mine on that range owned by the same company. This will minimize the danger from fire and prevent accidents caused by rotten timbers. It will require about a dozen shafts similar to the above to provide hoisting facilities for the properties owned by the Oliver company in Ironwood.

Mrs. Pinkham Saved me from an Operation.

Hospitals in our great cities are sad places to visit. Three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow-white beds are women and girls. Why should this be the case? Because they have neglected themselves. Every one of these patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back. All of these things are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb.

What a terrifying thought! these poor souls are lying there on those hospital beds awaiting a fearful operation. Do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an examination and possible operation. Build up the female system, cure the derangements which have signified themselves by danger signals, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from the hospital. Read the letter here published with the full consent of the writer, and see how she escaped the knife by a faithful reliance on Mrs. Pinkham's advice and the consistent treatment of her medicines.

Mrs. Knapp tells of her Great Benefit. DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have received much benefit from using your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. After my child was born, blood poison set in, which left me with granulated inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I had suffered from suppressed and painful menstruation from a girl. The doctors told me the ovaries would have to be removed. I took treatment two years to escape an operation, but still remained in miserable health in both body and mind, expecting to part with my reason with each coming month. After using one bottle of the Compound, I became entirely rid of the trouble in my head. I continued to use your remedies until cured. The last nine months have been passed in perfect good health. This, I know, I owe entirely to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My gratitude is great indeed to the one to whom so many women owe their health and happiness.—Mrs. F. M. KNAPP, 1525 Kinnickinnic Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

In and About Negaunee.

(Subscribers to The Mining Journal will please remember that carrier boys are not allowed to receive money on subscription account.)

COMING IRON METROPOLIS. LOCAL LAONICS.

NEGAUNEE LIKELY TO WREST THE TITLE FROM ISHPeming IF THERE IS NO SET BACK ON THE VARIOUS MINING PROPOSITIONS BEING DEVELOPED.

That Negaunee has a bright future in store for her there is no question. The coming season will be the busiest which this town has experienced in years. All the old mines are preparing for work on a much larger scale, except those on the Cascade range, and there is a likelihood that some exploring will be done here. It will be some months before anything certain will be known regarding the ore body at the Maas exploration, but if there were not a good prospect there the Cleveland-Cliffs management would not be spending thousands of dollars in testing the property. If ore in a workable body is located the company may start sinking a shaft this year. It is generally believed in mining circles that at a near date a mine of importance will be opened up there.

The Hartford mine of the Oliver company was a somewhat interesting proposition but a short time ago, but the Oliver people have thoroughly proved it and today there is no more promising mine on the range. There are fifty men employed there at present and in the spring that number will be increased.

The Negaunee is expected to make a big increase in shipments this season. Much development work has been done and is still going forward in the old workings, and they are rapidly approaching a state that will permit of economical mining. These hundred men are employed at the mine now, but no one would be surprised if the force should be increased to five hundred at the opening of the shipping season. The water which has been bothering so much of late is being rapidly pumped out. The baler was in use on Sunday but was taken off in order that hoisting could be resumed yesterday morning. The lowest pump will be reached the last of the week and it will then take but little time to entirely free the mine. The change in ownership will have a good, rather than a bad, influence on the prospects of this mine, as it is understood that the Federal Steel company, the present owners of the property is planning to rush things next summer.

The Cambria and Lillie will probably be put on night shifts as soon as they get into work. No work has been done at these properties this winter but they are in excellent condition for a very busy season.

When the Northwestern Furnace company gets the option on the Lucy, as it is almost certain that it will, that section of the city is expected to keep pace with the rest. As far as can be learned, there is nothing new regarding this deal, but it is the general belief that important developments will take place at an early date.

It is reported that an exploratory work will be carried on at the Cascade this summer and if this is true a number of men will thus be employed. Everything considered, there is promise that Negaunee will see the best season which the city has experienced for many years and old residents are feeling jubilant over the prospect.

Wm. Dent, who was arrested at Durand Friday on the charge of embezzlement, telephoned to his brother, John Dent, at Lapeer, to come to Durand immediately. The brother did so and was arrested as he stepped from the train on the same charge as preferred against Wm. Dent. He also at one time had been an employe of the complainant, A. R. Harrington.

Friday afternoon a shocking fatality happened in Forest township, Genesee county. Mrs. L. Lanfer went to the barn to attend to some duty and left her two-year-old boy Earl at home. Returning within a few moments she was horrified to find his charred and lifeless body on the floor. He had played with the fire during her absence. Mrs. Lanfer was badly burned in extinguishing the flames in the house.

An unusually good strike of coal was made near Jackson Saturday, when the central City Coal Mining company finished sinking a shaft 105 feet deep, striking a vein of excellent bituminous coal three feet three inches in thickness. The mine is only a quarter of a mile west of Jackson and the coal field is said to comprise some 50 or 100 acres. Edward G. O'Halloran, a groceryman, and Andrew Bendall, a miner, have spent much money and labor during the past year in prospecting there. The two men leased the mining privilege under 255 acres and are the sole owners of the mine.

Saturday afternoon a fire was started in Glover's large dry goods store at Cheboygan in a peculiar way by one of the lady clerks, who stepped on and ignited a red-headed match which somebody had dropped on the floor. A lot of cotton batting caught fire from the burning match and in a few minutes the entire interior of the store was enveloped in flames. Several customers who were in the place at the time had to beat a hasty retreat and several of the girl clerks lost their wraps and other outer garments. A couple of women employed up stairs had a thrilling experience and came very near losing their lives but were rescued by the firemen. The loss on the stock is placed at $45,000, and Kraemer's tailoring and clothing stock in an adjoining store was damaged to the extent of $25,000, while an establishment adjoining the Glover store on the other side sustained a $10,000 loss. The damage to the buildings will amount to about $3,000.

THEY MAY GET TOGETHER. John Richards of Ishpeming says that he has no intention of backing out of the singing contest. He is very anxious to meet Granville and that very soon. He is even willing to waive all rights in the matter and let Granville decide upon the time and place. Richards wants to sing two comic and two sentimental songs and toss up for the choice of the other. On this point however he is willing to let the decision rest with Granville. It would seem that a match must surely be arranged unless one of the contestants is thinking of backing down.

A NOTABLE IMPROVEMENT.

Martin Sweder Has Designed One for His Recently Invented Reversible Coupling.

IT IS A NEW DEVICE FOR BRINGING FRICTION SURFACES INTO PLAY.

Its Perfection, It is Believed, Will Do Away With the Last Obstacle to a General Introduction and Use of the New Invention.

ITS UTILITY SHOWN BY TESTS.

Martin Sweder, of the Lakeside Iron works, the inventor of the reversible coupling which was described at length in an issue of The Mining Journal a few weeks ago, has been busy since the first tests of his new device perfecting a method of obtaining the reverse motion of the shafting to which his coupling may be attached.

Since Mr. Sweder's invention was first mentioned in these columns he has built but one new coupling, designed to be used on a four horse power gas motor. He is now testing it. In it he has applied his new device for obtaining the reverse motion, a device for which he has already sought a patent. He is entirely pleased with the operation and is convinced that he is on the right track.

His latest tests have been carried on with a five horse power marine engine with the accompanying shaft and screw, the latter being submerged in a barrel, giving conditions resembling those which will obtain when the coupling is tested on a marine gas engine. The tests, of necessity, proceed with considerable difficulty as all the arrangements for the experiments are of a temporary nature.

THE LATEST IMPROVEMENT.

As mentioned above the inventor's latest improvement in connection with his coupling has nothing to do with the underlying principles of the device. It has been stated that Mr. Sweder obtains all his results by effecting the friction of two surfaces. With the original coupling this friction was obtained by the use of a lever which was moved in different degrees to bring the shaft to a standstill or to set it revolving in a direction opposed to its true motion.

He hit upon a plan of fitting one part of his device, carrying one of the friction surfaces, with a thread by means of which it screws firmly and securely into the other part. Thus, when the reverse is obtained the two friction surfaces of the coupling are held firmly in juxtaposition until the engineer desires to send his launch ahead.

CHAIN AND SPROCKET.

The part of Mr. Sweder's coupling which screws into the second piece to bring the friction surfaces into play is fitted with a sprocket wheel, similar to those used on bicycles, which responds to the revolutions of a chain running over its teeth. This chain runs over a second sprocket, fitted on a long axle, that opposite end of which will be equipped with a crank and will be extended up to the front of the gas motor, ready at the engineer's hand. Turns on this crank will screw up the coupling and bring the friction surface into play.

DEARTH OF DEVELOPMENTS.

Boston Copper Market Is Short on News.

There was nothing new in coppers yesterday, no material change in the situation. The market continued dull with no signs of an immediate improvement.

"Coppers have had a dull day. Amalgamated copper stocks, especially, were neglected. There continued to be practically no pressure to sell coppers. Buyers as a rule are disposed to wait for the Standard Oil people to make a move. Butte is hard to sell. It is said that retiring officials of the Mass Mining company are selling their stock. At the Victoria meeting, President Dunstain said an assessment would be levied a year hence to build a mill. The Victoria company has $188,000 in its treasury. The copper market is steady. Consumers will soon be in the market for their spring supplies. Money is plentiful and easy."

HERE THIS EVENING.

"A Lady of Quality" is a Notable Attraction.

Frances Hodgson Burnett's novel, "A Lady of Quality," will be presented at the opera house this evening in its dramatized form. The performance will certainly prove one of the best things of the present theatrical season.

Miss Blair's support is a capable one. Sir John Oxon is played by James Carew, who made his name as leading man in some of Frohman's productions. Miss Eleanor Montell is also a member of Miss Blair's cast, playing Lady Betty Tantillon.

The scenic effects are sumptuous, especially the rose garden and the parlor at Dunstanwald's town house. They were newly painted this season by Ernest Albert, of the Fifth avenue theatre, New York, for the opening of the play at the Grand Opera House, New York, where they excited much favorable comment.

The story and play, as dramatized by Mr. Stephen Townsend, is full of passion and pathos, with only here and there a touch of comedy. The happy end however, sends the audience home in a proper frame of mind. To follow the developments of "Miss Mrs. Oxon" from her youthful days to her retirement as the wife of a superior being is thrilling, and in the hands of a less capable woman nothing but disappointment would fall to the lot of the audience.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

What Detroit News-Tribune Said of the Prison Investigation.

The following editorial comment on the disclosures of the investigation of the Marquette branch of state prison is from the Detroit News-Tribune: The trial of this device has demonstrated that it is just the thing for which Mr. Sweder has been looking. The coupling on which he has tested it has been built for a Marquette launchman who owns a boat driven by a four horse power engine. It is of reasonable size and is very compact.

LAKE SUPERIOR PIONEER.

S. N. Bronson Came to Marquette in 1860.

Marquette county people expressed great regret Friday at the news of the death of Sherman Newton Bronson of Lake Maitland, Fla. Mr. Bronson was a resident of this city and while he was in business here he was known to a wide circle of acquaintances throughout this section. After he left Marquette in 1886, he revisited the city on numerous occasions and he also spent considerable time in Ishpeming, where his son, R. P. Bronson, lives, renewing all the old friendships and making many new ones.

Shortly after his arrival he met Miss Lady Peck, daughter of Samuel Peck, and in 1862 their marriage was celebrated. Mr. Bronson at this time being paymaster for the Jackson Iron company, of which his father-in-law was superintendent.

In 1866 Mr. Bronson bought into the firm of J. Foster & Co., which operated a saw and planing mill on the site of the present Lake Shore Engine works. Subsequently, in 1868, he acquired an interest in the merchandise business of Westlake, Burt & Co., which finally became the firm of Westlake & Bronson, a business association which he maintained until just before he left Marquette for Lake Maitland.

Mr. Bronson's first home was erected on the site of the present Wilkinson bank building. Here he lived until he was left homeless by the ravages of Marquette's "great fire," when he erected a new dwelling on what is now the Markham place, at the corner of Ridge and High streets.

In his early youth Mr. Bronson associated himself with the Baptist denomination, a religious connection which he continued until his death. During the many years he lived in Marquette he was an active and influential church member and, it is believed, he continually held office in the congregation. His stepfather, the Rev. D. A. Randall, was one of the early pastors of the First Baptist church here, having officiated in that capacity for two years.

After disposing of his business interests at Lake Maitland, Mr. Bronson did not linger long in Marquette, leaving almost immediately for Lake Maitland, Fla., where he has lived during the past thirteen years. Mrs. Bronson still survives the marriage. She is at Lake Maitland with her father, Samuel Peck. Her mother and father are present at the funeral. The sons, R. P. Bronson of Ishpeming and Hiram Bronson of Columbus, O., will both be here today.

The deceased was a man of strong and decided ideas as to right and wrong, ideas which he invariably lived up to. His possession of positive standards did not, however, make him a harsh judge of others' shortcomings and he was always willing and eager to make allowances for any person who chanced to slip from the trodden path of duty. His business character was freely acknowledged by all his acquaintances and he has justly been considered an ornament to the communities in which he lived. He was always a prominent citizen during his residence in Marquette, by reason of his important business transactions. At one time he owned considerable real estate and he was a director in the old Citizens' bank.

Yesterday's temperature: 7 a. m., 12 degrees; noon, 12 degrees; 4 p. m., 12 degrees; maximum, 13 degrees; minimum, 12 degrees.

County Clerk Ross has issued a marriage license to Henry Dutmer and Mathilda Alt of Marquette.

The curling and skating rink was not opened Sunday afternoon. It has been decided to keep it closed except on week days.

Walter Johnson, who recently accepted a position at the Soo, has returned to Marquette and has taken a position in the Lake Shore Iron works.

The funeral of George Goff will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the house at 316 Harrison street, with interment in Park cemetery. It has been postponed from this afternoon.

The members of the board of fire and water commissioners have been advised that one lot of material for the construction of the new intake is ready for shipment. It will be forwarded at an early date.

The tiling on the main floor of the city hall was repaired yesterday. Considerable of it was loose. It was set in plaster instead of cement when first laid, a fact to which the trouble experienced from time to time may be attributed.

The secretary of the interior has handed down to the land office a denial of the motion of J. S. Moiles for a review of the case of Richard J. Trombley vs. J. S. Moiles. A valuable tract of land in Saginaw county is affected. It is on the route of the inter-urban between Saginaw and Bay City.

Clarence Keyes, the three-years-and-eight-months old son of Patrick Keyes, formerly a resident of Marquette and Muskegon, died at Pueblo City, Col., Mr. Keyes' new home, Thursday of last week after a short illness with scarlet fever. The family's many Marquette friends will greatly regret to hear of the death.

Kirke Munroe appears to be the most popular of the number of authors whose books are loaned at the public library. In September, 1899, a new system of keeping the library's volumes was inaugurated, part of which was the insertion of cards in the back of each book to be marked every time the individual volume was drawn. The card in one of Kirke Munroe's juveniles was the first to be filled. It contains 167 pages, thus the volume has been drawn on the average about three times a month during the interval since September, 1899.

There is talk among the high school boys of endeavoring to interest the boys of the Negaunee and Ishpeming high schools in a skating meet to be held at the Marquette rink. It is suggested that three or four different meets, including a relay, might be pulled off. It is not known what kind of skating talent the up-the-road schools possess but it is undoubtedly as good as is found here, which would be a guarantee that the races would be very interesting. It is to be hoped that the meet will be arranged as it would result in some good healthy sport.

The board of supervisors will meet a week from Wednesday, Feb. 6. The members of the auditing committee will assemble Saturday of this week to look over the various accounts. County Clerk Ross requests that all bills be handed to him not later than Thursday. All claims arising from the small pox epidemic will be considered by the full board of supervisors at its next session and some disposition will be made of them so that the creditors of the county on this account will not have long to wait for their money. It is understood that the greater number of the accounts will be settled in full.
