DAILY MINING JOURNAL. A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED).

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

MARQUETTE, MICH., JUNE 22.

A FARCICAL PROCEEDING. The jury in the Chippewa county circuit court which rendered a judgment for $2,500 against The Mining Journal for damages in the libel suit brought against the paper by John A. Couch of Sault Ste. Marie may have been actuated by the belief that it found a just, or approximately just, verdict.

The Mining Journal does not care to discuss the case at much length at this stage, and only alludes to the result of the trial had this week at Sault Ste. Marie to express its disappointment that in so old a county of this peninsula law courts exist where a litigant can find no assurance of safety in the justice of his cause.

The title of speculation is rising again with everything favorable, so far as can be now seen, to a period of great activity, during the continuance of which several of the specially favored stocks are likely to reach a higher level of prices than they have yet attained.

Label was charged on both publications, but Judge Steere held that the first article was not libelous, while the second—in which Mr. Chapman's letter was given and commented on—should be so construed.

It was shown on the trial that a demand was made on The Mining Journal by Couch for a retraction of the charges affecting him; that the paper made such retraction after investigation by the editor which convinced him that Couch was not guilty connected with the attempt to defraud Rickett as charged by the latter; also that suit had been begun by Couch against Chapman on account of the letter published in The Mining Journal, but had been withdrawn on the publication of a retraction by Mr. Chapman—said retraction being the "entire consideration" for dropping the suit, according to the sworn statement of Couch.

It was clearly established on the trial that The Mining Journal published what it did concerning the Rickett affair in entire good faith and with no malicious purpose; that the motive of the publication was the public good, and that when its publishers became satisfied that the paper had been led to unwarrantably connect certain parties, among them Couch, with the attempt to impose on Rickett they had fully explained that error of theirs through the columns of the paper.

STATE CAMP DATE CHANGED. The state military board recently fixed the annual ten days' encampment of the National Guard to commence on Saturday, Aug. 3, thus giving two Sundays in camp. The camp is located on the lake shore at Manistee. The military board has decided not to grant permits to any one to sell liquors within the camp limits.

ONE OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST. Consolidated South Range Properties Would Make a Wonderful Mine.

[By Horace J. Stevens.] It is the general impression, which seems to rest upon good grounds, that the Baltic, Trimountain and Champion mines will be consolidated under the so-called Standard Oil management, which is in control of the Arcadian, Isle Royale and Trimountain mines along Lake Superior properties in addition to controlling the Amalgamated Copper country, which is heavily interested in the leading Montana copper mines. Such a consolidation would make one of the greatest mines of the world in the next few years. All three mines are opened on the Baltic amygdaloid, which improves in richness toward the south so far as opened. The lode is phenomenal width and, strange to say, seems to carry the most copper where widest, which is the reverse of the usual rule. The Baltic was the first mine opened on this amygdaloid, whence the name of the lode.

The Baltic was opened in 1897 and became a Montana copper mine in extent in 1898. It is now making an average of better than 125 tons of mineral per month with the use of two stamps at the Atlantic mill, but for the past ten days has been turning out seven to eight tons daily, or at the rate of over 175 tons per month. The rock is yielding about twenty-two pounds of ingot per ton of material stamped, which is under the average of the Wolverine and Quincy but above that of the Osceola, Franklin, Atlantic and Isle Royale. The great width of the Baltic lode renders it of such quality extremely profitable, and there is little question—in fact none at all—that the Trimountain will average better than the Baltic, while it is highly probable that the Champion, still south of the Trimountain, will do yet better.

The amalgamation of these three mines would give the consolidated property a longer stretch of paying lode than is now owned by any Lake Superior mine, and owing to the sharp pitch of the lode, which descends into the earth at an angle of 69 to 73 degrees, the great width of lode, it is probable that the properties named carry at least twice as much copper per acre of area as the Calumet & Hecla. This is not to be construed as meaning that these properties are twice as good as the Calumet & Hecla, but a statement of fact regarding their remarkable copper resources.

It may be safely said, and this statement will be concurred in by the most conservative judges, that the consolidation of these three young mines will make a property that will rank with the best of the world's great mines. The world's greatest mining camps a few miles southwest of Houghton.

Progress on the Mills. Good progress is being made on the new mill of the Osceola, which should go into commission before the end of the year. Work at the new mills of the Wolverine and the Mohawk is advancing rapidly. The Wolverine's mill will be in readiness when the lease on the Allouez stamp expires next spring, and the Mohawk mill will be finished only a few weeks later, at the farthest, and possibly at the same time as the Wolverine mill.

The Adventure is mill than the companies having sites adjoining. The mine is well opened and capable of supplying a large amount of rock as soon as the mill is ready. The Mass mill is nearly ready for stamping, and work will probably be begun within a few weeks. The Adventure and the Wolverine are both phenomenally rich in heavy copper, and the only question about their future is regarding the percentage of good stamp rock that they can furnish. The showing at both mines is favorable, as regards this latter particular.

A millsite for the Michigan has been tentatively selected, on the Lake Superior shore, in the same district as the new mill sites of the Trimountain, Champion and Adventure.

Arcadian. The third stamp at the Arcadian is being placed in readiness for work. It is the general impression locally that some sort of a deal has been made or will soon be made between the Arcadian and Centennial by which the rock of the latter will be treated by the Wolverine, which has a surplus milling capacity. The episode shafts of the Arcadian continue to yield good rock which is being quickly turned into cash at the mill and is responsible for a materially enlarged monthly product. Work at the Arcadian proper is mainly confined to the southern end of the property. A pretty lean sort of proposition, but there is some good rock to the southward, and it is probable that the future development of the Arcadian proper will be the southward, where there is a long stretch of undeveloped territory before the north line of the Isle Royale is reached.

Quincy. The Quincy is now stamping between 3,000 and 3,500 tons of rock daily at its mills. The rock is not chosen with a view to making a good showing, but is strictly "mine run" and reflects accurately the average underground condition of this great mine. The present average monthly production of a trible under 1,200 tons of mineral can be maintained indefinitely without crowding, and if necessary the mine could be made to yield 1,500 tons monthly, but such a production would be secured at the expense of the reserves. The new No. 7 shaft is in very rich ground, while at the opposite end of the mine the Mesnard shafts are in ground which does not come up to the Quincy average, but is amply good enough to pay a substantial profit.

Calumet & Hecla. The $15 dividend of the Calumet & Hecla is a disappointment to many shareholders, who had grown used to a $20 dividend of the profits quarterly; still, dividends at the rate of six millions per annum are paid by very few mines. It is probable that the net profits of the mine were at least $2,000,000 for the past quarter, but the management is conservative and wishes to keep adding to the surplus fund. The economic

A search at Mass City for the little five-year-old girl of Finnish parentage who was missed from home last Tuesday still continued at last accounts, with slight hope of success.
