BOERS ALARM TOWN

INVADERS ADVANCING ON BARKLY EAST IN CAPE COLONY.

LOCAL FORCES ARE MOBILIZED.

CASUALTY LISTS ISSUED AT LONDON SHOW HARD FIGHTING.

Develops Also the British Are Supporting 30,000 Burghers, That War Costs $7,125,000 Weekly and Typhoid Is Killing Troops.

Barkly East, Cape Colony, June 25.—General Fouché's two Boer commands have advanced beyond Glen Almond, ten miles southeast of Alwal North. Boer and British scouts have exchanged shots six miles hence. All the local defense forces have been mobilized.

Many Questions in Commons.

London, June 25.—The South African war was again a subject of innumerable questions in the house of commons today. Little information was elicited except that the war continued to cost £1,225,000 weekly, that the authorities estimated the invaders of Cape Colony to number from a thousand to two thousand men and that there were 184 cases of typhoid fever among the troops during the month of April, of which number 187 proved fatal. The number of the invaders, according to the reports from correspondents in the field, is greatly underestimated officially.

Disquietude on Casualty Lists.

The casualty lists made public by the war office continue to show rather severe fighting in various parts of South Africa that are not reported in the ordinary dispatches. This is noticeably so in regard to the Zerst portion of Cape Colony. It also inspires disquietude, which is added to by the repeated looting of Jamestown in spite of the proximity of a strong British force at Alwal North. It appears that, including the Boer prisoners and those in the concentration camps, the cost of supporting some eighty thousand Boers is today falling upon the British tax-payers.

COAL TAX CONCESSIONS.

English Government Agrees to Exemptions from the Duty.

London, June 25.—Concerning the government coal tax, the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach today explained in the house of commons that a concession of exemption from the tax on all coal exported up to the end of next December was allowed upon proof that the shipments were made under contracts consummated before the tax in question was announced.

During the subsequent debate on this matter and in an attempt to squeeze further concessions from the government majority was again reduced to twenty-eight, as many of the government supporters again abstained from taking part in the division and this in spite of the vigorous efforts lately made by the wigs to keep them in hand.

Sir Michael further announced that all values less than six shillings per ton would be exempt from duty.

TREASURER IS MISSING.

It was supposed his accounts were straight, but letters have been received from different banks with which the company does business showing forged notes to the amount stated are out. Action has been begun by the creditors, asking that the property of the company be sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of the debt. No efforts will be made to apprehend McCrum.

Hospital Adjoins the Burned Five-Story Building and the 100 Patients, Though Terrorized, Are Safely Removed in Pouring Rain.

Chicago, June 25.—During a heavy thunderstorm tonight, lightning struck the College of Physicians and Surgeons, at Harrison and Honor streets, and the resulting fire quickly destroyed the building, which was one of the finest of its kind in the West.

The report of the accompanying thunder caused a rumor that an explosion had occurred at the college, and when the first engine arrived on the scene the entire five floors of the building were in flames.

Adjoining the college building is the West Side hospital, and a mild panic ensued among the hundred patients there. All were quickly removed, in the rain, to places of safety, scores of medical students living in the neighborhood assisting the firemen and police in the work of removing the helpless inmates to the Cook County hospital, across the street.

The engine was totally demolished and three passenger coaches and two baggage cars were derailed and overturned.

SLAIN BY GAMBLER.

EX-CHIEF OF POLICE OF SEATTLE SHOT AND KILLED.

MURDERER HIMSELF WOUNDED.

DUEL IN A DRUG STORE AND A BYSTANDER IS HIT.

Seattle, Wash., June 25.—At 5:30 o'clock this afternoon John W. Considine, one of the promoters of the Standard gambling house and People's theatre, shot and killed ex-Chief of Police William Morelich. The shooting occurred in Guy's drug store, in the heart of the city. Considine was wounded in the head.

Threats of Lynching.

The stories of the shooting are conflicting, and it cannot be said who was the aggressor. The men had threatened to shoot on sight and both were prepared for trouble. The drug store at the time of the shooting was crowded with people, and one bystander was shot through the arm by a stray bullet.

Morelich was killed while struggling with John Considine and Tom Considine, who had come to his brother's aid. Considine was arrested and taken to police headquarters and from there was transferred to the county jail in a closed carriage, there being some talk of lynching in the crowd which gathered about the scene of the shooting.

Considine and Morelich had been mortal enemies for three years, although prior to that time, warm, personal friends and associates together in the theatre business at Spokane.

Suffer from Retaliation.

Morelich resigned office last Saturday. He was a city detective before being made chief, and while in the subordinate position he and Considine never spoke, but avoided open battle. When Morelich was made chief, however, he served notice on Considine that the latter could not remain in the city and do business. He followed the threat by making several police orders which affected Considine's business.

In retaliation, Considine publicly made charges of corruption in office against Morelich and reiterated them until the law and order league took the matter up and called for a council investigation of the police department. A council committee investigated and last Friday reported to Mayor Humes, advising the removal of Morelich.

Morelich was a son of W. M. Morelich of Chicago, chief of the national bureau of engraving and printing. Considine belongs to the family well known in Eastern sporting circles and has a wide acquaintance throughout the United States.

AT FURNACE SITE.

GOOD PROGRESS IS BEING MADE WITH THE FOUNDATION WORK.

DRAINAGE PROBLEM A BIG ONE.

STACK AND BUILDINGS TO BE ERECTED DIRECTLY ON SAND.

It Has Been Found That it is Amplely Stable, Being Hard and Firm—Marquette & Southeastern Track a Convenience.

For the past several weeks activity at the site of the Cleveland-Cliffs 150 ton charcoal blast furnace, now in process of erection in North Marquette, has been attentively watched and followed by all townspeople who travel in that direction and not a few make special trips to size up the advance made with the work. The progress is all that could be expected and it is eminently satisfactory to Resier, the Engineer in Charge. There has been no delay to date and prospects are good for steady, uninterrupted work.

The first problem which confronted the furnace people when they definitely decided to locate the new plant in North Marquette was that of providing stable foundations for the heavy stack and its accompanying buildings. There was some question as to the stability of the sand which underlies the entire furnace site, being covered with a fair layer of muck and bog which gives the acreage the swamp effect with which all Marquette people are familiar. Had the question been propounded to the average resident of the city, he would not have hesitated to say that it was impracticable to build the furnace plant on the North Marquette site without going to a tremendous expense to provide solid foundations by piling or some other means.

Investigation showed that the sand underlying the muck and bog was hard and firm, making it both feasible and practical to build the furnace on the soil without taking any steps to increase its natural stability. This is what is being done and when finished the furnace will rest on Mother Earth as securely and solidly as if it were an ordinary frame house.

Much Drainage.

The first activity at the furnace site consisted of the construction of drains for the purpose of sluicing the surface water off into the lake. The site, as has been remarked, consists of lands which have always been naturally swampy and to which no attention has been paid. They have been carrying a large quantity of water at a level a couple of feet above that of the lake. It would have been a comparatively easy task to drain them of much of their water at any time and it would have been a good thing to do on general principals. However that may be, the fact remains that when the Cleveland-Cliffs people became active north of the city, the swamps had been untouched. Drains were first built under the road to the lake. These were the means of carrying off large quantities of water. Later a steam pump was put in. It has been running steadily and is still in operation, lifting daily thousands of gallons of water.

The lands about the furnace site are perceptibly drier than when this drainage was commenced. That is they were before the last couple of heavy rains. These have saturated the bogs thoroughly and the drains and pump are now busy taking care of the surplus water for which they are responsible. It is being reduced rapidly, however and soon the water will be again drawn from the quantity naturally held by the swamp lands. The reclamation of this acreage will go on steadily and in a comparatively short time it will be fairly dry.

Foundation Work.

The considerable force of men now employed at the furnace site is busy on the foundations. These are being built of concrete, set directly on the sand body which underlies the swamp. Good progress has been made with them and they are rapidly assuming form. Soon they will be all but finished, when work on the superstructure will be undertaken. It will not be very long before the new plant begins to rise above the natural ground level. The foundation work is attended with considerable difficulty, owing to the presence of the water which discommodates and inconveniences the workmen to a considerable extent.

One thing greatly in favor of good progress with the furnace construction is the fact that the line of the new Marquette & Southeastern road runs right up to the site, furnishing a convenient means of getting material to the hands of the contractors. This does away with the necessity of wagon hauls and is the means of saving much valuable time, to say nothing of expense.

The site presents a very busy aspect. A boiler which runs the pump is steaming away continually and a second boiler, for the present unused, stands by. There is a considerable force of men now employed. It will be increased from time to time as the occasion may demand.

PIONEER DIES.

Mrs. Mary Heffernan Passes Away After a Lingering Illness.

Mrs. Mary Heffernan, wife of Thomas Heffernan, died at the family residence in South Marquette yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Enlargement of the heart was the immediate cause of death, with which disease the deceased had been troubled for over two years. Mrs. Heffernan's death had been expected by her friends and relatives, as she had been very feeble for some time past. It was her great vitality which made it possible for her to linger through the spring months. The deceased was sixty-nine years of age.

Mrs. Heffernan was born in Tyrone county, Ireland, in 1832. She was the daughter of William Buchanan, a mill owner and an officer under the British government. In 1856 she left her native land for America and soon after reaching this country came to Detroit. In the same year she married Thomas Heffernan, and left Detroit at once for the upper peninsula. She settled in Marquette and since that time had continually made her home here. Mrs. Heffernan was well known and her death will be mourned by many friends.

The burial arrangements have not yet been made, but it is probable that the funeral will be held Friday morning from St. Peter's cathedral. The deceased is survived by her husband, six sons and two daughters. The children are, Thomas, William, Fred, Phillip, James, John and Susan and Mary. Friends of the family are requested to send no flowers.

GREATLY IMPROVED.

Presbyterian Church Grounds Will Be Finest in the City.

The trustees of the Presbyterian church have amply redeemed themselves. For a couple of years past the premises about their edifice have been in a truly disreputable condition, one of the eye sores of Front street. This spring improvements have been completed which will make them the finest church grounds in the city and which will improve the appearance of Front street in the vicinity of the church immeasurably.

The large expanse of ground south of the church has been graded up a couple of feet, a retaining wall having been built on its extreme southern edge. Sand was used for most of the filling, but a layer of richer soil, calculated to support a fine growth of grass was placed on the surface. Those parts of the grounds which were left at the former grade were spaded and hoed so that the old conglomeration of grass and weeds should be turned under to prepare for an entirely new growth of grass.

The edges of the new grounds have been sodded, but the greater part of the premises have been seeded to grass. They have been fenced in so that thoughtless pedestrians can have no opportunity to undo the trustees' good work and "no trespass" signs have been located.

Today the Presbyterian church and its grounds present an appearance which is a hundred per cent improvement over their aspect when the snow left the ground this spring and in the course of a few months they will be unapproached in Marquette. The trustees have set a fine example to the other congregations of the city, which, if followed, will soon give Marquette the finest appearing lot of churches to be found in any city of the size in the country.

ENTERTAINMENT TONIGHT.

Annual Graduating Exercises of St. Joseph's Academy at Opera House.

The commencement of St. Joseph's academy will be held at the opera house this evening. The class of '01 is composed of five members, who will be heard during the evening. The pupils of the undergraduates classes of the academy and the music class will participate in the program, which includes a number of musical selections. Two music diplomas are to be granted by the academy this spring. The opera house will be handsomely decorated for the commencement exercises. There is much interest in the program on the part of the friends and relatives of the young graduates and the attendance will be large.

CRAFT SHOULD TURN OUT.

Not Enough Interest Taken in Naval Parade by Launch Owners.

The committee in charge of the celebration to be held July 4 and 5, wish it to be distinctly understood that the second day will be just as elaborate as the first. All the athletic events including the bicycle races, the foot races and other sports, will take place on the 5th. The naval pageant will also be an attraction of the second day's program. This is the one event planned by the committee which is showing up poorly. The owners of yachts and other craft are not taking the interest that they should. A large number of launches and sail boats are owned by Marquette citizens, and the owners should come forward and signify their intention of entering the pageant. The naval parade properly conducted will be the most attractive event of the celebration. Each launch or boat participating will be supplied with fireworks and when these are set off out in the bay they will produce an extremely beautiful and picturesque scene. Mayor Mangum is anxious that this part of the program will be successful and to this end he is laboring with the launch owners to work up enthusiasm and have all the craft in Marquette entered.

The subscription fund is rapidly increasing, and wherever the finance committee has looked for donations they have met with success beyond their expectations.
