M'KINLEY GAINING SLOWLY BUT SURELY.

Hope of Recovery Held by Those at Bedside Becomes Almost Conviction.

NOT AN UNFAVORABLE SYMPTOM DEVELOPS DURING THE DAY.

Patient Improves Every Hour, the Danger of Complications Steadily Grows Less and, Though the Physicians Will Not Yet Say Positively the President Will Live, the Relatives Are Confident and Are Returning to Their Homes.

Buffalo, Sept. 9.—The following bulletin was issued at the Milburn home at 9:30 a. m.: "The president's condition is growing more satisfactory. Untoward incidents are less likely to occur. Pulse, 122; temperature, 100.8; respiration, 28."

Milburn House, Buffalo, Sept. 9.—The following bulletin was issued by the president's physicians at 3 o'clock this afternoon: "The president's condition is steadily improving and he is comfortable, without pain or any unfavorable symptoms. The bowels and kidney functions are normally performed. Pulse, 113; temperature, 101; respiration, 26."

Buffalo, Sept. 9.—The following bulletin was issued by the president's physicians at 9:30 p. m.: "The president's condition continues favorable. Pulse, 112; temperature, 101; respiration, 27."

Washington, Sept. 9.—Chas. C. Dawes, comptroller of the currency and one of the president's closest personal friends, sent the following from Buffalo tonight: "The president's condition is steadily improving and his recovery seems almost certain."

Buffalo, Tuesday, Sept. 10.—Dr. Park came down stairs at the Milburn home at 3:15 o'clock this morning and reported that the president was resting quietly. Everything appears quiet at the house.

Buffalo, Sept. 9.—"God's contribution to the American people will be the sparing of the president's life." As the evening shadows were falling tonight, John G. Milburn reverently uttered these words as he stood before the president's bed. The patient is fighting so bravely with death. And all who had been at the Milburn residence today reflect the confidence that the battle will be won and the prayers of the world will be answered.

Since last night not an unfavorable symptom has appeared. Every opinion has been a victory. Faith in the outcome grows stronger and hope mounts higher, until in the minds of some the danger of all future complications is brushed aside and hope has become conviction. Indeed, many of the president's friends seem possessed with a sort of superstitious confidence in the president's recovery which nothing but an absolute change for the worse can shake.

Confidence Well Founded. The basis for the confidence expressed is solid. There has been nothing but improvement—gradual and slow, but steady. Every bulletin and every private and public word the physicians have given out are facts as they exist from a scientific standpoint, unmixed with sentiment. Still, that the president is by no means out of danger is the verdict of each one of them. Not one will risk his professional reputation with a statement that the president will live. All they say is that, with every hour, the danger of complications from peritonitis or blood poisoning decreases. Dr. McBurney expressed the opinion that if the improvement continues it will be a week yet before the president can be pronounced out of danger and convalescent. Some of his colleagues place the limit of danger still further away. The fear of peritonitis, it can be said positively, has well disappeared. At the expiration of the seventy-two-hour period, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, the danger from that source was almost gone.

Patient Sure He Will Live. The president himself has been cheerful all day and expressed confidence in recovery. Today he asked for a morning paper, but this had to be denied him. It is with some difficulty that he can be restrained from talking. He has spoken at intervals of several things he proposes to do in the future. Mrs. McKinley saw him again today for a brief visit and Secretary Cortelyou was admitted for the first time. No one else was allowed to see him, although he inquired several times who were below stairs. He was given nourishment today in the form of eggs beaten in milk. If he should grow worse, the change in that direction will also probably be slow. This is the opinion of Dr. Mann. There will be no crisis.

The extreme optimism of the vice president and the members of the cabinet would be difficult to overstate. "I am absolutely confident that everything will turn out all right," declared the vice president, and he said he based his confidence on information received behind the public expressions of the physicians. So relieved are Secretary Gage and Attorney General Knox that they returned to Washington tonight, feeling strongly that their chief would recover but with the assurance of the physicians that if a change for the worse should come it would be gradual and that they would have ample time to return.

Roosevelt Most Optimistic. Vice President Roosevelt said tonight: "I came here because I believed my place was near the president, and I will not leave until the situation is entirely cleared up. If I was predicting when I shall leave here, I would say tomorrow, because I firmly believe that the physicians will announce that there is absolutely no doubt but that the president will recover."

Dr. Rixey, one of the president's attending physicians and also the private physician of the president and Mrs. McKinley, said tonight: "I am not a specialist in abdominal surgery, but from very general knowledge of gunshot wounds I can say that the only possibility of complications is by blood poisoning or peritonitis, and I consider both now very remote probabilities. I see no reason why the president will not recover rapidly."

Judge Wm. R. Day of Canton arrived late this afternoon and went once to the Milburn house. Judge Day was accompanied by George B. Freese of Canton.

RELATIVES LEAVING FOR HOME.

Sudden Change in Sentiment Comes That President Will Recover. Buffalo, Sept. 9.—After the 9:30 p. m. bulletin had been issued tonight there were many indications that the bulletins were but meagre indications of the real improvement of the distinguished patient.

At 9:45 o'clock Miss McKinley, a sister of the president; Dr. and Mrs. Herman Baer, the latter a niece, and the Misses Barber, also nieces, left for their homes. Amner McKinley accompanied them to the station, and to the Associated Press said:

"The nearest relatives of the president are so confident of his recovery that they have no hesitation in leaving."

By 10:30 o'clock the entire temper of everybody about the Milburn residence seemed to have undergone a radical change. The police did not stop wagons from going by the nearest corner at high speed, and the regular army guard was not so particular about those who passed up the guarded street. Even those who came from the mansion stopped on the corner to laugh and chat. From a somber foreboding, the feeling has suddenly turned to the joyful confidence that the nation's ruler is to be spared.

At 10:50 the lights in the mansion, except those in the sick room, were extinguished and by 11 o'clock quiet reigned about the Milburn home. On the dark corner opposite soldiers, policemen and newspaper men kept vigil sheltered beneath their tents.

Senator Hanna was the last official caller at the house. He only stayed a few minutes, but during that time had a short interview with Dr. McBurney. When he came out he declined to talk further than to say: "Everything is all right and if the improvement continues I may go home tomorrow."

PREVENTED M'KINLEY'S MURDER.

Reward for the Negro Who Seized the Assassin Suggested.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The suggestion was thrown out in the executive departments today that it would be proper for the American people to do some thing for the colored man, Parker, whose prompt action possibly saved the president's life. The assassin, himself, complained it was the stunning blow delivered by Parker that prevented him from firing another shot.

ALL MARYLAND TO PRAY.

Today Set Aside for Appeals for the Recovery of McKinley.

Baltimore, Sept. 9.—The municipal and state buildings will be closed throughout the state from 11 to 12 noon tomorrow, pursuant to a proclamation of Governor Smith and a request of Mayor Hayes that the day be observed, either in whole or in part, as a day of prayer for the speedy recovery of the president.

ELEW OFF HIS HEAD.

Grief Over Shooting of President Drives Pennsylvania Man to Suicide.

Eric Pa., Sept. 9.—Grief over the shooting of the president and subsequently worry over his condition and the prospects of his recovery were causes which led Orlando D. Vancamp, one of Erie county's most prominent men, to kill himself tonight. He blew off his head with a shotgun.

DIES A RAVING MANIAC.

William Nieman Thought He Would Be Lynched for Murder of President.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 9.—William Nieman, an insane farmer who has been under the delusion that people were trying to lynch him for the murder of the president, died, raving like a maniac, in the county jail today.

DRUMMED OUT OF CAMP.

Old Soldier Discharged for Expressing Satisfaction at the Buffalo Shooting.

Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 9.—George Braunraider, an inmate of the soldiers' home here was dishonorably discharged tonight and drummed out of camp for expressing his satisfaction at the shooting of the president.

PHYSICIANS ALMOST CONFIDENT OF RECOVERY.

Buffalo, Sept. 9.—Dr. McBurney said to the Associated Press after the issue of the 9 o'clock bulletin that all the indications continued favorable. "No bad symptoms have appeared," he stated, "though no one can say now that the president is out of danger, or will be for a week—there is still a possibility that complications may set in. At the end of that time, if all goes well, we may be able to say he is convalescent."

"But I have known cases," put in Mr. Mann, "to go well for ten days and then change for the worse."

"That is true, perhaps," said Dr. McBurney, "but it is entirely unusual. If the president continues to improve for a week, we may safely say he is convalescent. It will probably be three weeks before it will be safe to move him. We must wait until the outer wound is healed and is strong. The inner wounds through the stomach proper will be strong before is the exterior wound. How long it will be before he will be able to sit up will depend upon the rapidity of improvement. I may say further that such improvement, if it continues, promises to be rapid."

Dr. McBurney was asked to compare Garfield's case and its treatment with that of McKinley's. He replied that to do so would be to give a history of the progress in surgery during the last twenty years. "Besides," he said, "the cases are utterly different. Garfield's wound was an extremely unfortunate one in every way. It was difficult to handle and it was impossible to get at the bullet, while the wound of President McKinley is, in many respects, a lucky one. There is no comparison possible."

Turning to the Associated Press representative Dr. McBurney said: "You can assure your client that all is well and that the president's condition could hardly be more satisfactory. Furthermore, you can impress and emphasize the fact that the bulletins issued state the truth."

Dr. Mann said the president was not out of danger. Some nourishment was administered today in the form of enema, and the patient had taken water in the stomach. It was found the patient is remarkably favorable and personally I cannot anticipate anything but recovery."

Dr. Eugene Wasdin said: "I, too, am averse to making predictions, but I agree that the president's condition is one that strongly favors complete and rapid recovery."

STRIKE TO GO ON

CIVIC FEDERATION'S EFFORTS AT PEACE ARE UNAVAILING.

PROPOSITION OF TRUST REFUSED.

LABOR LEADERS FIND IT UNSATISFACTORY AND ADJOURN.

Power to Arrange Any Truce Again Is Left to Shaffer—Bay View Mills Resume Operations and Joliet Is to Follow Suit.

Pittsburg, Sept. 9.—The last efforts to settle the steel strike have failed. The general executive board of the Amalgamated association this evening adjourned without date and without either accepting any peace proposal or making any counter propositions. A semi-official report is that the proposition secured through the intervention of the National Civic Federation was unsatisfactory, and the entire matter of arranging for settlement was left with President Shaffer. It is stated by some members of the board that adjournment left matters practically as they were before the meeting and that the strike must go on as before.

Joliet Mills to Resume.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 9.—Superintendent Sheldon officially announced this afternoon that the Illinois Steel works here would start this week, but he would not state on what day nor whether the start would be made with men outside of the Amalgamated association. The strikers will hold a joint conference tomorrow afternoon to decide what to do in the face of Sheldon's statement. There is a feeling that the strike be called off.

Milwaukee, Sept. 9.—Thirty-five Amalgamated association men returned to work at the plant of the Illinois Steel company at Bay View today. Many others are uneasy and are expected to return in a few days.

McKeesport Mill Closed Again.

Pittsburg, Sept. 9.—The strike situation at McKeesport reached an acute stage this morning, and serious trouble is feared as a result of the efforts of the striking employees of the National Tube company to prevent the men from returning to work, as they did on Saturday. Their efforts were almost perfectly successful, and where last week from 800 to 1,000 men went back into the mills not more than a dozen did so this morning. The big mill is completely tied up.

GETS NO RACE WITH SHAMROCK.

Lawson Orders Anew That His Yacht Independence Be Broken Up.

Boston, Sept. 9.—The work of breaking up the yacht Independence will begin tomorrow. Mr. Lawson gave the order tonight, the delay following the prior order was due to an effort to secure a race with Shamrock.

COPPER COUNTRY NEWS. (Additional).

Epworth League of Lake Linden Arranges for Several Attractions.

A course of entertainments which will be given at Lake Linden during the coming winter months, under the auspices of the Epworth league of the Methodist church, has been arranged and one will be given each month until a series of four is ended.

The attractions secured are of the best, and the first entertainment will be given in November, when the Oelshagel Concert company, consisting of a violinist, a soprano and a reader, will appear.

The Schiller male quartet, accompanied by a reader of ability, will be the attraction in December. In January, Ralph Bingham, who is reputed to be the world's greatest monologue entertainer, will render a program of songs, violin solos, stories, etc.

The last of the series will be in February, when Lou J. Beauchamp, lecturer, traveler and writer, will entertain. It is expected much interest will be taken in the course.

Freedom of speech and of the press is guaranteed by the United States constitution in the provision that congress shall not pass a law abridging either.

But freedom to incite to crime is not guaranteed by that provision. The right to bear arms is also guaranteed, but no one dreams of this giving an intending burglar or murderer the right to go armed for the purpose of committing crime.

Liberty is not license, as some misguided people unfamiliar with the spirit of American institutions seem to imagine. It is high time that such persons should be made to understand that fact.

The American people are tolerant to an extent unknown elsewhere. They have regarded more with amusement than anger the vapors of cranks and idealists who proclaim their purpose to overturn the social order by anarchical methods and who teach that universal brotherhood is to be attained by slaughtering those of their brothers who doubt its attainment that way.

In a despotism Americans can see a possible reason for such an evangel of disorder and violence as a means of obtaining freedom, but in their own republic, where the source of power is in the people themselves, they are disposed to look on the anarchist movement as a huge joke instead of a serious danger.

There is cause now for regarding it as shelving the incumbent politically. We sincerely hope that Mr. Roosevelt will be called to the presidency by so deplorable a happening as the death of President McKinley, but if he should be he will administer that high office wisely and well.

A Canadian doctor named Stewart who has been practicing at Bay City for over a year got himself into trouble by dropping a remark indicating that he was pleased with the attempt made on the life of President McKinley.

He was going down in the elevator from his office Saturday morning when he thus expressed himself, saying "Hurrah for the man who shot McKinley." The elevator man heard the words and told somebody else of what the doctor said, and soon a crowd assembled which was eager to do things to the miscreant medicine man.

He was run out of town with prompitude and despatch and has concluded not to go back. He explains that he didn't mean it, and was only joking, but if he has no more wit than to make so grave a matter the subject of a jocular remark at a time when the public mind is not attuned to appreciation of that kind of humor he can well be spared from both the city and chosen as his field and the country as a whole.

There are enough fools here without him. If President McKinley survives the wounds inflicted on him by the anarchist Czigoloz, it is not too much to say that he will owe his life to the skill of the surgeons who attended to his injuries.

Fortunately there were at hand at the time of the shooting men who stand at the head of their profession for high attainment in the science of surgery, ripened by much practical experience. They gave prompt attention to his injuries, and the fact that he is getting along so well goes to show that in dressing his wounds they made no mistake and left nothing to chance that the highest skill enabled them to guard against.

It has been frequently remarked since the attempt to assassinate President McKinley was made that if surgical science had reached the same stage of advancement when Garfield was shot as it has now attained the life of the victim of Guitierrez' pistol would have been saved.

Great strides have been made in scientific surgery during the past twenty years, and this bids fair to prove fortunate for the president, as well as humanity in general, for were it not for that it is doubtful if he could survive the grievous wounds that he sustained at the hands of the wretched creature who sought to slay him.

HOW ARCH ROCK WENT UP.

Heaviest Explosive Charge Since the One Used in Hell Gate in 1876.

Arch Rock is gone. Over where it once arose, a menace to navigation, mariners may soon, it is believed, steer their craft in perfect confidence.

One afternoon recently Miss Luella Axman, daughter of the contractor who has had the work in hand, pressed the button which unloosed all the explosive force of thirty tons of nitro-gelatin, well placed in hundreds of holes under the great arch. And then the watching hundreds on the boats and the thousands on the hills were transfixed in attention.

They saw a mountain of tumbling waters, dotted here and there with debris, rising majestically hundreds of feet in the air where an instant before had been a long flat platform shining in the midst of the summit, peaceful strait. The waters had hardly subsided when scores of craft of every description headed for the scene of the upheaval.

Pieces of timber were eagerly taken in as souvenirs, while boatmen did a lively business picking up dead fish. For acres and acres the waters were white with foam and strewn with debris. Presently the contractor's boat came up and began making sounds.

It was ascertained by Colonel Hur, by means of photographs and triangulation, that the maximum height reached by the water was 406 feet. In the first Shag Rock explosion the column ascended 981 feet; in the second 1,106 feet. In the amount of explosive used the present operations were exceeded only by the blowing up of Hell Gate in New York harbor in 1876. On that occasion black powder was used.

Viewed from the south the ascending waters seemed to rise first from the western end of the long working platform, spreading eastward as it rose.

A great burden of indiscriminate timbers, it soon reached a length almost twice that of its height. Then some idea could be gained of the thousands on thousands of cubic yards of water that had been lifted into midair. The deep reverberation came across the water to the ear of one after the mountain of water had almost subsided. Its deep rumble gave a new impression of the depth of the disturbance. The tons of rock which were lifted far out of the water could not be so well seen as the scattering fragments of the demolished coffer.

It had taken months to prepare the mines for their explosion. Many hundreds of holes had been drilled, and the work had extended over more than two acres.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A POLICEMAN WHO PREACHES. Odd Combination of Occupations Developed in the City of Churches.

Brooklyn's police force is one of the best in the country, residents aver, a fact that may be due to the rather odd circumstance that one of the patrolmen combines with his police duties that of preaching the gospel.

This anomaly is known as Patrolman Herbert Love of the Ralph avenue station. For the past thirteen years Patrolman Love has been engaged in evangelic work in conjunction with his duties as a member of the police department.

On Wednesday evening last he was informally ordained at the Westminster United Presbyterian church on Hopkins avenue, Brooklyn. A number of preachers from Brooklyn and Manhattan took part in the services, which were termed as undenominational ordination. Patrolman Love will now give his work wider range, and it is expected that he will be invited to preach in churches of the borough.

Patrolman Love has been a member of the police department for sixteen years. The origin of his evangelic work, he says, was inspirational. In three years, he says, he has, in connection with his daily duties as a policeman, delivered about 300 sermons, of which he has received 170 conversions.

Six of these conversions, he says, were death-bed repentances. Besides being a policeman and a preacher Patrolman Love is a poet. He has written about 340 memorial poems and has also distributed 200 poems of a miscellaneous character among the sick and afflicted with whom he has come in contact.

His comrades on the force have the greatest respect for him, and he is welcomed as a visitor in hundreds of homes in the upper section of Brooklyn.

SECRETARY LONG'S HAT. Its Supposed Antiquity Arouses the Awe of Maine Beholders.

Some of the Portland politicians are wondering what sort of hat the Hon. John D. Long wears. They are in no special doubt when it was made, because an old citizen recalls that hats just like it came into fashion in 1840, about the time when the Whigs of the country were all drinking hard cider, and yelling themselves hoarse for General Harrison.

The secretary of the navy has a great regard for ancient things, and seems to cling to that hat. It is a large hat, but rather small for the secretary. At home one evening, Secretary Long was at the meeting at the city hall, and left his hat, not without some reluctance, in the office of Mayor Boothby.

During the evening some of the members of the city government went to the mayor's room, and saw that hat. They looked at it, admired it, wondered who wore it, and then asked John D. Randall, the largest man in the party, who wears a seven and a fourth hat, to try it on.

Mr. Randall complied, and disappeared from sight. No one else wanted to try the experiment, and they are now asking the question, "Did you see Governor Long's hat?"

"I don't blame Governor Long for clinging to that old hat made in 1840," said a noted politician. "It's a mighty good hat today, and ought to last at least 100 years longer. If he should lose it, he would have to wait until a special block could be made for him."

All agree that he still wears the hat he did before President McKinley invited him to be a member of his cabinet and an assistant statesman.—Bangor Commercial.

A CERTAIN CURE FOR DYSENTERY AND DIARRHOEA. "Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa.

"I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when Editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by The Stafford Drug Co.

AN EFFECTIVE STAR.

"Big Bill" Devere Pleases in "A Common Sinner."

"Big Bill" Devere appeared before a fair sized audience in his new comedy, "A Common Sinner," at the opera house last evening. Devere is the most prominent player in the cast and he is fully as amusing as he ever was in his latest vehicle. He is eminently natural in his acting and it is the usual comment of those who see him for the first time that he must be the same man off as on the stage.

STUMP-SPEAKING TO CONTINUE.

President's Illness Will Not Interfere With Ohio Republican Politics.

Columbus, O., Sept. 9.—Replying to a proposition of the Democratic state committee to abandon public speaking during the campaign out of consideration for the president's condition, Chairman Dick of the Republican committee, declines to acquiesce. He gives his reasons at considerable length, and in concluding says: "President McKinley may not survive, but the principles for which he stood will live and triumph if we, in the discharge of our duty as citizens, meet every requirement with the same patriotism and devotion to those principles that have characterized the life of William McKinley."

THE MODERN MACHINE SHOP.

A Far Less Noisy Place Than Its Old-Time Predecessor.

"As compared with the old-time shop, with its incessant clatter and din," said a shop superintendent, "the modern machine shop might almost be described as noiseless."

"You used to hear in such places a constant rattling of wheels and a more or less continuous pounding. Now you might go through a big shop from top to bottom and never hear a hammer stroke; and instead of a general jangle of sounds you would only hear a smooth, uniform hum; a noise, to be sure, but not half so loud in volume as the noise of the old-time shop, and actually musical as compared with it. All this is due to vastly improved modern methods of work and enormously improved modern machines."

"In old times they used to chip and file all flat surfaces. You can imagine what sort of racket such work as that must have made. Then we got the metal planer, which did the work better, and, of course, at far less expense and which gradually did away with most of the chipping and filing. The planer can scrape some now; but that doesn't begin to make the noise it used to, and the machine is so arranged that it can be compared with that of the chippers and files."

"The old-time gear wheels were far more rattly and noisy than those of today. Extensively used in machine shops in one way and another, such wheels were formerly all cast. Nowadays gear wheels for use where such accuracy is desirable, are made by automatic gear-cutting machines, which cut the teeth on them with mathematical accuracy. Such wheels as these are themselves beautiful productions of what we call cool work; and when they come to be brought in for grinding, of course, with their perfect form and their nice adjustment, one to another, far less noise than the old-time ordinarily cogged wheels."

"Another common source of noise in the old-time shop was found in the pounding of the lathe. Now the lathe is to be turned on arbors in the lathe. There is nothing of that sort, or next to nothing, done in machine shops nowadays, that is, in the shops with modern equipment. Such work is pressed on the arbor, noiselessly, with a compound automatic or machine tool, powered by steam power; the work being pressed off the arbor, when finished, in like manner."

"In old times when they wanted to cut off a bar of steel they used to send for the blacksmith and his helper, who would come in with sledges and chisel and pound away at it. Now they would send such a bar to the cutting of machine and have it saved off, with no noise at all."

"Hack saws, of course, are old, but nowadays there are used for saving nuts in machine shops, lots of power hacks; these save a great deal of time, and, incidentally, sparing the shop a whole lot of cold chiseling and hammering."

"In short, the work in machine shops is nowadays more and more of it being done by wonderful labor and time-saving automatic or machine tools, which are comparatively noiseless in operation; and, in handling the work, power is brought more and more into use, and used more and more noiselessly; and so, with these improved methods and appliances, the modern machine shop is far less noisy than its old-time predecessor."—New York Sun.

NEWS HIDDEN FROM WIFE.

Mrs. McKinley in Ignorance of Fact President Was Shot.

Buffalo, Sept. 9.—The quiet that the physicians have insisted upon having is almost as necessary for Mrs. McKinley as for the president himself. The unhappy woman has been kept in an artificial atmosphere of sedatives and greatly modified statements as to the president's condition, which has deepened as far as possible the effect of the blow to her mind. She has been told that she knows that he has been the victim of a villainous attempt at assassination. She has been told merely that he was hurt out at the exposition grounds and that he needs quiet and careful nursing. To put him all right again. The woman's condition was such that to have told her the truth would have been to her truth of the situation would have been in all human probability to end her life long before now.

NEW NAVAL RATINGS.

Our Warships Under a Modern Classification.

Under an order issued by Secretary Long, the entire naval service, is divided into four ratings, exclusive of the torpedo boats, sailing ships and auxiliaries. Under the new order five battalions of nearly 12,000 tons displacement, three of over 10,000 tons, and two armored cruisers belong to the first rate. In addition there are nine powerful battleships under construction, three of which are of 15,000 tons, two of 14,000 tons, and the remainder of over 12,000 tons. Besides these, six immense armored cruisers of from 6,500 to 7,000 tons will be added to this rating.

Under the second rate, such ships as the triple-screw cruisers Columbia and Minneapolis, the Baltimore, San Francisco, Olympia and the monitors are included, of which there are now fifteen in the list. There are building, however, three protected cruisers of 9,000 tons displacement, having the enormous steam potentiality of 21,000 horsepower. All these will be classed as second rate.

The third rate ships include nearly all the auxiliaries, the double-turret monitors Terror and Monadnock, cruisers of the Cincinnati and Atlanta type, the new single-turret monitors now building, the unprotected cruisers of the Detroit class, and all the light-draught gunboats, numbering in all nearly one hundred.

In the fourth rate are such ships as the Gloucester, Vesuvius, Wasp, Eagle, Bancroft and the former Spanish ships El Cano, Callao, Samar, Panay and dozens or more of this type and class, numbering at least fifty.

The torpedo boats form a class by themselves, of which six are acting as receiving ships and ten in the list of unseizable ships, which include the Constitution and New Hampshire, both with good war records.

Numerically the navy presents a formidable force, but at least three-fourths of it comprise ships which cannot be credited with high fighting power, nor upon which the country would depend in any great fight on the high seas. The battleships, armored cruisers and torpedo boats are the classes that would carry the flag.

Seven sailing ships are still left to the new navy, of which six are acting as receiving ships and ten in the list of unseizable ships, which include the Constitution and New Hampshire, both with good war records.

IS IT DIPLOMACY? Anyhow, Duchess of Cornwall Shows Love for Children.

From natural amiability or from a well calculated attempt to achieve popularity, the duchess of Cornwall has made consideration for the children she has met one of the most conspicuous features of the tour now being made by their English royal highnesses.

This interesting point in connection with the future queen has everywhere been realized in advance. At Singapore, India, the duchess was received by a group of Chinese boys and girls who had been coached by the royal navy exactly how to receive a royal lady with a stork for children. There were five of the little creatures all elaborately dressed in costly silk, richly embroidered in silver and gold. Their chubby little heads were surmounted with head-dresses of almost royal proportions, every jewel in which was of rare quality and set in fine gold. The little orientals could not move freely, so weighed down were they with massive plendor of their attire; nevertheless, they managed to make a graceful presentation to the duchess of the bouquet that had been prepared for her.

At Melbourne, great delight was roused in the little Australians by the duchess's pronounced attention to the children's institutions of all kinds, and very pretty scenes attended her visits to the various children's hospitals.

At Brisbane, Australia, the small folk of the city decided to welcome her royal highness by dancing before her. Five thousand children therefore danced before the duke and duchess in the government house, and quite deserved the royal commendation which they afterward received.

How He Made the Salvation Army at Saratoga Happy.

A party of men sat on the piazza of the United States hotel at Saratoga last Sunday afternoon watching the busy pleasure seekers. Scores of carriages dashed up and down Broadway drawn by spirited horses, whose fine breeding stood out in ever line from delicate nostril to dainty hoof.

There a small, devout band of Salvation Army workers was conducting its services. The captain began his earnest exhortation for the spiritual uplifting of the little throng about, and then to help the army's work of redeeming souls, he made a special plea for an extra offering of $15 that afternoon.

All this while a party of men on the hotel piazza had listened with interest, ceasing temporarily their talk of races and politics. The captain of the Salvation band was unconscious that he had awakened the interest of this group of distinguished men, including William C. Whitney, August Belmont, Senator Arthur Pue Gorman of Maryland, W. J. Arkell and Henry Watterson.

The captain finished his exhortation, and the ladies, with extension of tambourines, went on their collection tour. One ascended the steps to the State piazza, and walked past the lines of men. Some dropped in coins and others bills with a good-humored smile at the novelty of their act.

The tambourine was well filled when it came to Mr. Whitney's party. All its members deposited good-sized bills, and then the girl came to Mr. Whitney himself. He glanced up at her with contentment and his own kindly, genial face lighted up.

And then the band, splendidly happy, moved away, the throng of spectators departed, the carriages dashed up and down. Everything resumed its normal tone, except that in the heart of the Saratoga Salvation Army is enshrined the memory of the kindly, spontaneous generosity of warm-hearted William C. Whitney.—New York Times.

BOARD STANDS PAT

INTAKE MUST BE TRENCHED TO REQUIRED CONTRACT DEPTH.

KING & STEELE WILL LOSE MONEY.

NEVERTHELESS THEY WILL CARRY OUT THEIR AGREEMENT.

Work of Digging Out the Troublesome Length Will Proceed Immediately—A Surprising Discrepancy.

The new intake at the pumping station will have to be trenched and laid in full accordance with the specifications prepared at the order of the board of fire and water commissioners and assented to by the contractors, King & Steele of Duluth.

This matter was definitely and finally settled at a meeting held Saturday evening, the members being a unit on the question.

The decision entails much extra work for the contractors, as it means that the first length of the new intake out from shore, which is now firmly bedded in sand recently washed in by a big lake blow, will have to be dug out and removed, preliminary to completing the trenching to the required depth. In other words, the most laborious and expensive part of the contractors' work to date must be done over again.

With Saturday's decision of the board, it is said, the contractors lost any opportunity they might have had for coming out even with their work and now they are bound to lose money, the amount depending altogether on the speed and facility with which the remainder of the task of trenching and laying proceeds.

The board of fire and water commissioners is said to be amply protected, as the contractors have furnished a surety bond in a reliable company for half of the sum of their contract, something over $6,000.

King & Steele, while they were desirous that the board accept the first length of pipe in its present position, will nevertheless proceed with the work and carry out the terms of their agreement to the letter.

The submarine excavation of the troublesome length will be undertaken at once and, when it is out, the trench will be deepened, so that when it is again in the water it will lie at the required depth.

Big Discrepancy.

The large discrepancy between the depth of the pipe and that called for by the contract was, in itself, enough to leave the board no alternative but insist that the work be completed according to agreement. The section treating of this matter says that the top of the intake, when it is properly laid and trenched, must be five feet, two inches below the surface of the water. Its present depth is but three feet, ten and a half inches.

Engineer Capelin, employed by the board to oversee the work, and Contractor Steele explain this surprising discrepancy by stating that when the length was rolled into the water the trench was plenty deep enough for the reception of the pipe, except at one point at its outer end, where a number of boulders obstructed several inches, they preventing it from falling to the required position.

It was calculated that these boulders could be removed satisfactorily by the diver with the pipe in the trench, and with this belief there was no hesitancy about rolling the first length into the water.

Developments showed that the movement of sand had not been reckoned with and shortly the excavation in which it was intended that the pipe should lie was filled quite full. Then came the stiff storm which wrecked Win Williams' scow, it rolling in huge quantities of sand, which imbedded the pipe solidly.

Tried the Board.

In the interval since this unforeseen circumstance came to pass, there has been nothing done with the work of trenching and laying the pipe. The contractors have been endeavoring to persuade the members of the board that the first length out from the shore is in satisfactory condition in its present position. The situation has been investigated with a view of determining just how things stood. The main ball joint has been excavated and viewed. All the determinations confirmed the board in its opinion that its only course was to insist that the work be carried out according to contract.

The trouble at the pumping station is regrettable, but it is serious for no one except the contractors, although the fire and water commissioners would be mightily pleased had the work proceeded without a hitch. Considerable time will be consumed in excavating and replacing the troublesome length, but, if the weather is favorable, the improvement should be entirely completed in good season. Even in the event of the failure of this desired consummation, the board would be in as good, or better, condition at the completion of the by-pass, condition at the pumping station as it has been in recent years.

COPPERS BRACED UP.

Favorable News From President Caused the Turn.

Coppers made a good start yesterday on the task of recovering the ground they lost immediately after the attempt to assassinate President McKinley. Favorable news from Buffalo was responsible for the turn. Paine, Webber & Co. said:

"The very favorable news from the president caused the whole market to rally very strongly. If the news continues good, the market will go still higher. The market for the last two days shows clearly that the big interests have it strongly in hand. On strong spots, we would sell for a few days, but, for a long pull, we think they are a purchase."

Hayden, Stone & Co. wired the Laidley Commission Co.:

"The market is strong, but the public is buying light. From what we can learn, it appears to be in strong hands and we do not look for any decided decline at the present time. The condition of the president will hold the market here in check, but we see no reason why stocks bought now and well protected should not show handsome profits by Jan. 1. We are likely to have a pretty high money rate, call six per cent. There is some talk of gold being imported. We would take hold of some of your stocks sold last Thursday and put up big margins."

They further said of wheat: "The wheat market showed distinct improvement today, though the volume of trade is still small and nothing of special importance developed. The clearances were over a million. We think Broomhall's estimates on the European requirements are very bullish. We can't see where buyers can lose much on purchases around the present prices. The trade is slow, but this is the only bear feature."

HI HENRY TONIGHT.

He Will Present His Big Minstrel Festival at the Opera House.

Hi Henry's big minstrel company, embracing between forty and fifty, all white, performers, will be the attraction at the opera house this evening. Hi Henry is a name to conjure with in minstrelsy and in the past it has stood for the best things in this class of entertainment. Henry has never headed anything but a first order aggregation and his company this year is said to be the peer of many he has had on the road in former seasons.

Included in its roster are eight star comedians, among whom are Bill Clark, Lou Hanvey, Corrigan, Dove, Cook and Hall. Among the olio features are the human song bird, Probst, imitator of birds and animals, Corrigan and Cooley buck wing dancers, Hanvey and Cooley in singing and comedy specialties, dissolving views of the Pan-American exposition, the world's famous acrobats, the brothers Bard, Billy Clark in monologue. Hi Henry in cornet solos and the little star ingenue and danseuse, Viola Abbott, especially engaged to please the little folks.

Hi Henry is carrying this year what is popularly described as a wonderful band. It has a large membership and most of the musicians are soloists. It will appear in a locomobile parade and in a concert before the performance in the evening.

FIRST SESSIONS YESTERDAY.

Schools Will Get Down to Hard Work This Week.

The first sessions of the public schools were held yesterday. The rooms were organized and dismissal followed shortly, the children being let out to supply themselves with the books and material necessary for their regular work. The stationers and book sellers put in a busy day, their stores being thronged from late in the morning throughout the afternoon. Nightfall saw most of the youngsters supplied with the equipment they need to pursue their work.

There was a good attendance at the first sessions of the schools and the prospects favor a slightly larger total enrollment this year, the school census showing more people of a school age in the city than was the case last summer.

Superintendent Thompson desires to impress on parents the necessity of requiring regular and punctual attendance, if the best work is to be done. Last year was very broken, on account of the prevalence of the small pox and the attendance records were anything but gratifying, although, under the circumstances, they were all that could be expected.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

YOUNG MEN FIND THEM IN WESTERN TIMBER LANDS.

U. P. LUMBERMEN SEEK THEM.

GEORGE DEGAGNE WRITES HOME FROM STATE OF OREGON.

He is a Baraga County Man On a Prospecting Trip—Little Capital Goes a Good Ways Where He is Now Located.

Northern Michigan lumbermen are manifesting a constantly increasing interest in the timber lands of the Pacific coast. From Menominee and its sister city across the river, there has been a great exodus of mill men and investors to the far western country for many months past and the movement is gradually spreading to other sections of the upper peninsula. During the past few days there have been a couple of departures from this county for Oregon, Washington and the other big timber states.

About six weeks ago George Degagne, who has conducted lumbering operations in Baraga county for several years, left for Oregon on a prospecting trip. He recently wrote the L'Anse Sentinel entertainingly and instructively concerning the outlook in that state. His letter, which is here published, was dated at Washougal, about twenty miles up the Columbia river from Portland, Ore.:

"Oregon offers very tempting inducements to young men interested in the lumbering business. It requires very little capital to start out. When a man has traveled for a couple of weeks through an interminable virgin forest his eyes become sore looking at the timber. He is pleased at beholding so much beautiful stuff of different kinds, white and yellow fir, larch, hemlock, cedar, sugar pine, yellow pine, and, in some places, white pine. You will see trees of from four to six or seven feet in the stump, and occasionally ten feet. Some of these trees will cut from 5,000 to 15,000 feet of lumber. You will travel whole days and see acre after acre of ground that will cut no less than 50,000 to 100,000 feet, and then timber under twenty-four inches on the stump is not counted in the estimate. Loggers in this section of the country don't cut trees as small as that. Mostly all of that timber could be bought at prices ranging from 10 cents to 50 cents per thousand.

Southern Pacific Lands.

"You may question the possibility of purchasing timber at that price. Here are reasons it can be done. There are the Southern Pacific railroad lands. Their limits extend from the Columbia river, on the north, through the state of Oregon to the California line on the south, a distance of 300 miles—with thirty miles east and thirty miles west of the road. They own millions of acres selected timber lands on every odd section inside of their right-of-way. This land is just open to market, for sale at prices ranging from $3.50 to $10 per acre, with 5 per cent off for cash; or, on long terms of ten years with 10 per cent cash down, the balance in yearly payments with six per cent interest.

"This investment would tempt any man to invest his last dollar in it, with certainty of prompt return that is given by copper stocks or any other investment known.

"Of course you can't buy small lots, such as a section or part of section. To illustrate: Eighteen odd sections would be 11,720 acres, which, at ten per cent cash, at $10 per acre, would be $11,720 of an investment. On an average of 50,000 feet per acre you get 586,000,000 feet of timber, which is more than will last a man a lifetime. Supposing he cuts 15,000,000 feet a year, it will take him sixty years to cut it all.

"After you purchase a tract of this timber you can log it at once, as there is a great demand for logs. Prices for logs delivered where the boats can take them in rafts range as follows: Red fir, $6.50; larch, $7 to $8; cedar, $10. As to pine, I am not posted on the price, and, in fact, have not seen any of it around the mills.

No Horses Used.

"You can locate timber on some streams that have been improved or are operated on at present. They don't use horses here to log with, excepting a team or two for hauling supplies. Horses have a snap in this country. They use the iron horse, or 'donkey,' as it is called, and wire cable. They don't use cant hooks; it's something we don't see. A Michigan cant hook man cannot come here to log, unless he makes up his mind to log—that is, 'swamping,' or sawing alone, with a ten-foot saw, trees from four to six feet in diameter. A camp crew is composed of twelve men, counting engineer and fireman of the 'donkey,' and they put in on an average of 25,000 to 30,000 feet per day to the river.

"When a man has purchased timber he can raise all the money he wants to operate a logging camp. He can get an outfit, supplies, money for labor, etc., at the bank. They will furnish a man with money when he has timber. The prices of logs are very low. This demand for lumber as well as logs, but competition in the industry is limited.

"In regard to homestead and timber claims, there are some left. There has been a great rush for them during the past twelve months. A person has to spend lots of money before getting located, and a claim does not bring much money unless it is disposed of at railroad land price. You could not find buyers who would pay more than $10 per acre. The claim would have to be held for years to come."

Mr. Degagne closes by saying that he would be glad to furnish information regarding that country to anyone desiring it. He says that if a party of five or six could get together and raise about $12,000 of capital, sufficient to buy a township, he would go with them and locate in some place convenient to a ready market, on good streams and near a railroad.

COURT CONVENES TODAY.

Some Five or Six Criminal Cases Will Be Tried.

The September term of circuit court will open here today. It will be called to order in the morning, the jurors reporting for service in the afternoon. There is a fairly busy session ahead, as the docket is reasonably full.

There are an even dozen criminal cases scheduled for trial. Approximately half of these will be heard, most important among them being that of the People vs. Joseph St. Petas forger, who, it is alleged, swindled the firm of Johnson & Co. through the commission of this crime; the People vs. George Smith, an Ishpeming man, charged with a violation of the liquor laws; the People vs. Leo Gadeous, robbery, he being accused of one of the recent Ishpeming hold-ups; the People vs. Nina Bergist and three Negawane women, charged with keeping a house of ill fame; the People vs. Nina Berquist, charged with a violation of the liquor laws; the People vs. John Andrews and James Reynolds, larceny from a dwelling, their crime being committed at Champion some weeks ago, and the People vs. Rosa Graf, habitual drunkenness.

This is said to be Rosa's first appearance in the circuit court and the probabilities are that she will be put out of harm's way for some time to come. There are some twenty other cases of various kinds docketed, a number sufficient to keep the court busy for some days.

STOCK PILE AT PRESQUE ISLE.

Will Contain Ore from the Cleveland Lake Mine at Ishpeming.

The coming winter will see the accumulation of a goodly stockpile near Presque Isle, just north of the approach to the L. S. & I. dock, within stone's throw of the L. S. & I. depot. It will contain ore from the Cleveland Lake mine at Ishpeming, one of the properties of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. This mine is located on the edge of what was formerly the basin of Lake Angeline and, as the hills rise within a very few feet of the single shaft and the buildings, the room for stocking ore is too limited for the capacity of the mine, which is one of the heaviest producers in the country. For some time the officials have been pressed for room, much real inconvenience resulting. Now things are at such a pass that additional stocking facilities are absolutely essential. Various means of providing them have been considered, the most satisfactory of which entails hauling the ore to Marquette to be held until required for shipment.

Work has already been stated at the site of the trestle which will be used in the handling of the ore at Presque Isle and its erection will proceed at once, it being the expectation to complete it before snow flies.

The top of this trestle at the point where it leaves the dock will be some feet lower than the top of the dock. Railroad cars will not be run out on the trestle, but it will be equipped with a system of tram cars, which will carry the ore from the pocket, to be built at the dock, to the various points on the stockpile where it may be desired to place it.

The bottom of the stockpile will be on the ground level and a railroad spur will be extended to its northwest side to furnish facilities for getting the ore to the boats awaiting cargoes at the dock. The regular cars will be run in on this spur to be loaded from the stockpile by a steam shovel, which will be kept at Presque Isle for this purpose whenever needed during the shipping season. The cars loaded, they will be hauled back to be run up the approach onto the dock, where the ore will be handled into the steamers and vessels in the usual manner.

The erection of equipment of the trestle will cost considerable money and the cost of ore in the vessels will be somewhat increased by the necessity of rehandling it at Presque Isle, but under the circumstances the Cleveland-Cliffs people must go to the expense. They are making every provision for securing the greatest economy in the operation of the new plant.

The stockpile, when it has attained its maximum capacity, will be 150 by 800 feet.

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN.

Dr. Joseph L. Shorey, osteopathic physician, recently arrived in this city, has located here permanently. His rooms are in the residence building on Bluff street opposite the Presbyterian church. Dr. Shorey comes here with full diplomas as a competent practitioner in osteopathy and is the first physician making this his specialty to locate here.

YOUR AUTOMATIC BLOOD COOLER.

You will never be overcome by the heat as long as your pores are open and active.

When the pores are not obstructive, any rise in the temperature of the blood causes an increase of perspiration, the evaporation of which acts as an automatic cooler of the body and prevents overheating.

The pores should be kept in an active condition by a daily bath during hot weather. Comfort and safety demand it. The luxury and effectiveness of bathing are doubled by adequate bath supplies. We have everything required: Fine sponges, pure soaps, refreshing sea salt, fragrant toilet waters, good bath brushes that increase the vigor of the skin.
