After all, what doth it profit a newspaper concern to have a web-perfecting press in the basement unless there are brains in the attic?

There is complaint from all quarters of the country over the high price of coal. The coal supply is now controlled by a trust...

The board of governors of the Union League club of Baltimore did the right thing when they expelled Senator Wellington from membership on account of the expressions he used relative to the president when speaking of the attempt to assassinate him.

Rev. De Witt Tallmadge is quoted as saying, in comment on the attempt of Czolgosz to assassinate the president: "I wish the policeman who seized the pistol of the scoundrel who attempted to assassinate our adored president had taken the butt of the weapon and dashed the man's brains out instead."

injuries inflicted on him by an assassin, but presidents may die in their beds or by violence and the government at Washington will continue to exist and perform its functions without hindrance or interruption.

SHAFFER'S STRIKE. The great steel strike is no longer attracting much attention from the public, a sure indication that its end is near. There isn't much left of it but Shaffer and a few intractables of his kind who are endeavoring to hold the strikers together to the last in the hope that something will develop which will enable them to secure terms from the Steel Corporation managers...

At the Menominee city council meeting Tuesday evening a secret service committee was appointed by the aldermen, and the following aldermen will resume the detective epilogue and follow in the track of Sherlock Holmes: Geo. McKinney, Joseph DuBren, and R. E. Jennings.

band taking the part of the ruler. She armed herself with a pair of shears and attacked him, inflicting two or three wounds in the hand. The windup came Tuesday. She attacked him again, and gave him a severe licking, and Wednesday morning he appeared before Justice Miller and swore out a warrant for his wife's arrest, charging her with assault and battery.

Electric cars will be running into Flint this week. The United Railway company of Detroit has arranged for power to be supplied at that end of the line until such time as the power plant in Atlas is completed and in operation. A large power dynamo has been shipped to Flint and will be installed in the electric lighting and power plant.

The strike among the nurses of the Homeopathic hospital at Ann Arbor has extended so that Tuesday there were but three seniors on duty. Eight have declared that they will not submit to Principal Julia Nichols' ruling in the case, where Miss Mullenhauser, a senior, was ordered to take the place of Miss Pomeroy, a junior nurse.

Mr. Editor—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.

Unexpectedly $75,000 has been secured and the full amount completed for the projected beet sugar factory at LaPeer, and the preliminaries for the erection of the buildings and the signing of the contracts will begin immediately.

A NIGHT OF TERROR. "Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham as she would learn how the pneumonia before mentioned," writes Mrs. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of consumption. After taking she slept all night.

Reckless young men on the Kaw-kawlin road fired a revolver when near the home of a farmer of the name of DeFord. The bullet struck a cow DeFord, grazing the skin of the stomach. The men whipped up their horses to escape, but their identity is known. No arrests have yet been made.

The attempt to organize a trust among the chicory manufacturers of the United States is said to have fallen through, for the present at least, owing to its promoters having been unsuccessful in enlisting the support of several of the largest factories. Those who were agitating the movement, however, still have hopes of ultimately bringing about the combination. The Michigan factories would not enter the trust.

Don Gerow lawyers in Genesee county jail awaiting trial in the circuit court for having committed an alleged forgery. He was sent with a bill to a debtor in Fenton, and while on the way conceived it is said, the idea to make $1 capital. He raised the 75-cent order accordingly and failed. He waived his arraignment and was bound over.

Fred Foote of Fenton, who was paroled by Governor Fitzgerald from the Jackson prison, where he was sent for an attempt upon a neighbor's life with an ax, got on a rampage in that village and is in the county jail awaiting his trial. The term of his parole was that he should abstain from liquors for a term of years. An attempt will be made by the officials to let him have food of the provision in the parole and have Foote, returned, as he is considered a person too dangerous to be at liberty when filled with liquor.

Mrs. Emma Moss Greenleaf, forty-five years of age, was probably fatally injured by a northbound Michigan Central train near Owosso Tuesday afternoon. The woman was deaf and dumb, and of course, she walked in the center of the tracks. The engineer whistled frantically, attracting the attention of a score of passengers at Owosso Junction, who were horrified to see the woman thrown high in the air and strike unconscious fifty feet from the track.

In spite of all the reports to the contrary, the Avery House at Mt. Clemens is not going to be closed, and arrangements are well under way relative to giving the entire building a complete re-pairing. William M. Morse, Jr., has leased the house for another season, and the Avery House will be kept open during the coming winter. The Bath & Hotel company are to make extensive repairs, putting in a new system of heating and plumbing, while the house is to be repapered, redecorated and many of the rooms newly furnished. The built in Mt. Clemens wholly in the interests of the bath.

It was learned Tuesday that the site of the Riceley block at St. Joseph, which burned Monday morning, was purchased by John Cowley. If present plans are carried out the largest opera house in southwestern Michigan will be built on the vacant lots by a local stock company. The house seating capacity will be 2,000, and the cost of construction is estimated at $50,000. Porter J. White, presenting "Faust," bears a grievance against the managers of the Bell Opera House at Benton Harbor. He will have several shares of stock in the new company, thus keeping his word that he would help build a new opera house in direct opposition to the Benton Harbor opera house.

CAUSED FROM UNAVOID- ABLE NATURAL FEEDING.

Physicians Were Left No Alternative But to Nourish
President Through Mouth.

LATEST NEWS FROM BEDSIDE IS SOMEWHAT REASSURING.

Buffalo, and Particularly the Milburn House, Spent a Wild and Excited Night Waiting on the Patient's Condition—Numerous Scare Reports Were
Current—The Summoning of Cabinet, Relatives and Friends.

Milburn House, Buffalo, Sept. 13.—President McKinley began to sink shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, after a critical period of twelve hours, in which alarm and hope mingled in the emotions of those who surrounded him. The trouble began on the preceding afternoon, through the failure of the digestive organs to perform their functions. The necessity for nourishment had been pressing for several days and the partial failure of artificial means had led to the adoption of natural means. The rectum, through which nourishment had been injected previously to Wednesday became irritated, and rejected enemas. This forced the physicians to try to feed the patient through the mouth, probably before the stomach was properly prepared for this.

The first administration of beef juice through the mouth, however, seemed to agree with the patient and physicians were highly gratified at the way the stomach seemed to receive the food.

Dr. McBurney was especially jubilant over the action of the stomach and, yesterday morning, before his departure for New York, he dwelt upon the fact that the stomach seemed to have resumed its normal functions. A breakfast of chicken broth, toast and coffee, given yesterday morning, was spoken of by all the physicians as strong evidence of the president's marked improvement. It was only when it became apparent late in the morning that the food had not agreed with the president that the first genuine anxiety was felt. The first note of alarm was sounded in an official bulletin yesterday afternoon. It spoke of the president's fatigue.

The president, already weak from the ordeal of the tragedy and the consequent suffering, complained of an increasing feeling of fatigue. He had heretofore been so buoyant and cheerful that his complaints were regarded seriously. The pulse was then also abnormally high, 126 beats to the minute. With a temperature of 100.2, it should have been 30 beats lower. Weakness of heart began to arouse serious concern. Instead of growing better the president's condition, after that, grew steadily worse.

The staff physicians, augmented by Dr. Stockton, who had temporarily taken the place of Dr. McBurney, were summoned early in the evening and there was a conference.

At 8:30 last night the physicians announced officially that the president's condition was not so good. The problem of disposing of the food in the stomach was becoming a serious one and the danger from heart failure was increasing. As midnight approached, the situation was growing critical. Calomel and oil were given to flush the bowels and digitalis to quiet the heart action. However, just before midnight, the president underwent two operations on the bowels, which relieved him very much and the midnight bulletin was more favorable. It stated that all the conditions were greatly improved since the last bulletin.

It was believed then that opening the bowels would have the effect of allaying the wild pulsations of the heart. The pulse did drop to 120 and the prospect was slightly improved, but, owing to the president's extreme weakness and his fatigue, no attempt was made to conceal the serious apprehension felt. The feeling of depression increased in volume and intensity.

Secretary Cortelyou insisted that the truth should be made public by the doctors, the bulletins, themselves, telling their unfortunate story all too plainly. There was still hope that the worn and weary patient would be better in the morning and, at midnight, Secretary Cortelyou said it was not probable that another bulletin would be issued until morning.

Hope came once more to the breasts of those who had waited for hours in anxiety. The physicians parted for the night and every sign was a cheering one. There had been disquieting pulse action for several hours, but practically all the unfavorable symptoms had been linked with the stomach trouble and it was thought that they would probably disappear with the removal of the cause which was supposed to have created them. Unofficial reports at 1 and 1:30 o'clock were both of a satisfactory nature and the watchers gathered about the house prepared for an uninterrupted night.

Shortly after 2 o'clock there was a general alarm, it spreading to consulting physicians and trained nurses as fast as messengers, telegraph and telephone could carry it. Restoratives did not, at once, prove effective and it was realized that the president was in an extremely critical condition.

That realization, with the shadow of death behind it, led to another call and that summons went to the cabinet, relatives and close personal friends of the president. Messengers, who returned with doctors and nurses, hurried off after those within reach, and to those who were absent from the city telegrams conveying the painful tidings were quickly transmitted. The scene about the Milburn house and the storm swept street was dramatic in its action, setting and spirit. Soon word was passed out that the president had partially collapsed, being critically ill. Newspaper correspondents, who had already sent warnings of a serious change in the president's condition, rushed to the improvised telegraph offices with their first bulletins.

Hingham, Mass., Sept. 12.—5:35 a. m.—Secretary Long has just received word of the president's condition. He will leave for Buffalo on the first train out.

Washington, Sept. 12.—5:50 a. m.—A telegram has just been received at the White House from Secretary Cortelyou, asking that Dr. W. W. Johnston of this city, be sent as early as possible to Buffalo. Dr. Johnston was called in consultation when Mrs. McKinley returned from San Francisco. Secretary Gage reached the White House at 5:40 a. m. He can not go to Buffalo at present.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Dr. Johnston, the specialist in heart troubles, is in Maine and cannot be reached. The request for him came from Dr. Rixey. Dr. Rixey is also anxious to get the services of Dr. Edward G. Janeway of New York city, also a specialist in cases of heart trouble. Dawes will leave for Buffalo at 7:50 this morning. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ailes left the White House shortly after 6 for the residence of Attorney General Knox, to convey to him the news of the president's relapse.

Buffalo, Sept. 13.—6:50 a. m.—Shortly before seven, Abner McKinley left the Milburn house for a short time. He said that the president was then sleeping and had been for some time.

Buffalo, Sept. 12.—At 6:30, Secretary Wilson said the president had rallied and had a fighting chance. This expression is believed to represent the limit of forlorn hope.

Buffalo, Sept. 13.—Physicians' Official Bulletin—9 a. m.—The president's condition has somewhat improved during the past few hours. There is better response to stimulation. He is conscious and free from pain.
