GREAT STRUGGLE FOR SUPREMACY

COLUMBIA HEADED BUT ONCE BY SHAMROCK.

While Test Was Unsatisfactory American Yacht's Ability to Hold Cup Is Now Unquestionable—Next Race Tomorrow.

New York, Sept. 26.—One of the biggest crowds that ever put to sea went to the Sandy Hook lightship today to witness Lord Lipton's second challenger, Shamrock II, and the white flyer Columbia, which successfully defended America's cup two years ago, struggle for the yachting supremacy of the world in the first of the cup races of 1901. The fleet returned disappointed. The great single stickers went out this morning fresh for battle, but the sea refused them a field of conflict. The wind, never more than nine knots, was too light and shifty to carry the contestants over the course in the time allotted. At the end of five and a half hours the race was officially declared off and the yachts were towed back to their berths. When the gun was fired to call attention to the signal declaring the race off the American yacht was still five miles from the finish line. The Englishman, hull down, was astern of her, experts estimating the distance behind the Columbia to be over three quarters of a mile.

Reasons for Congratulations.

Americans have reason to congratulate themselves. Columbia was headed but once in the twenty-five miles covered and then the Englishman showed the way only for five minutes. In windward work Columbia beat the foreigner seven minutes and fifteen seconds to the outer mark and increased the lead somewhat in the broad reach for home. While the test was unsatisfactory yachting sharp, who have been skeptical as to the ability of Columbia to successfully defend the cup, are more confident tonight that it will remain on this side of the Atlantic.

Columbia was first to reach the start and her mainsail was set, but it took the skipper some time to decide what sized jib to top-sail. He finally decided to use the biggest club topsail aboard. The yacht took kindly to the swell that rolled in from the sea, making little disturbance.

As Shamrock passed out it was noticed she splashed the water considerably and pitched heavily in the long swell.

The preparatory gun was fired at 10:55 and the wind was then eight knots, the weather was cool and the atmosphere clear. Ten minutes later the warning gun was fired and then the racers began to jockey for the weather berth start.

Defender Placed to Windward.

Captain Sycamore held the tiller of Shamrock and Barr was at the wheel of Columbia. He placed the defender to the windward of the challenger and kept her there in spite of his opponent's efforts to get clear. Columbia crossed the bow of Shamrock, tacked and stood for the line. Both were in such a hurry that they crossed before the starting gun was fired. They were recalled and both were round immediately after the gun sounded.

Columbia crossed the line ahead. Official time: Columbia, 11:10:49; Shamrock, 11:11:01.

The challenger went on the port tack and the defender followed her example. In order to get free from the back wind of her antagonist Shamrock kept broad off the wind and speedily worked clear of her rival, going very fast.

Columbia held luff and it was noticed that the American yacht pointed higher than Shamrock. The wind freshened a little. Shamrock went about on the starboard tack and Columbia also tacked. The American yacht got away the faster and crossed the bows of Shamrock 300 yards in the lead.

At 11:43 both yachts went on the starboard tack.

Columbia Almost Becalmed.

A little extra puff, which lasted a few minutes, died away and at 12:33 Columbia was almost becalmed. Shamrock seemed to have a breeze of her own. Both yachts tacked. When one went about the other followed her example, except at 1:47, when Shamrock went on the starboard tack and Columbia failed to follow. Captain Barr probably expecting that a breeze must come from the southward. Instead of a breeze Columbia fell into the flattest calms while Shamrock was enjoying the advantage of air, which had a good deal of propulsive power. Thus for the first and only time Shamrock was the leading boat.

At 1 o'clock both yachts were again on the port tack with Columbia a good eighth mile to the leeward.

The breeze piped up. Columbia crawled up and once more was ahead. A great piece of sea jockeying partly made up the leeway. The wind shifted east north to east southeast, enabling the yachts to point up to nearly their due course to the outer mark. Both craft took a hitch to the starboard and at 1:31 went on the port tack and again on the starboard tack, standing on this leg for twenty minutes, when they went about until they made sure of fetching the mark on the starboard tack.

At 2 o'clock Shamrock took in her jib topsail and set a larger one. The

FATE DETERMINED

ASSASSIN OF PRESIDENT TO BE ELECTROCUTED.

JUDGE WHITE PASSES SENTENCE.

WEEK BEGINNING OCT. 28 IS THE TIME SET.

CZOLGOSZ EVINCES A DESIRE TO SPEAK and in a Whisper Declares That He Alone Committed the Crime and Had No Accomplices.

Buffalo, Sept. 26.—Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley was this afternoon sentenced to be electrocuted at Auburn prison during the week beginning Oct. 28. Before sentence was passed the assassin evinced a desire to speak but could not get his voice above a whisper and his words were repeated to the court by his counsel.

"There was no one else but me," the prisoner said in a whisper. "No one else told me to do it and no one paid me to do it. I was not told anything about the crime and I never thought anything about that until a couple of days before I committed the crime."

Prisoner Was Calm.

Czolgosz then sat down. He was quite calm but it was evident his mind was flooded with thoughts of his own distress. His eyes were dilated, making them appear very bright. His cheeks were a trifle pale and his outstretched hand trembled. The guards put handcuffs on his wrists and he looked at the officer. There was an expression of the profoundest fear and helplessness in his eyes. He glanced about at the people, who crowded the room in efforts to get a look at him. The prisoner's eyelids rose and fell tremulously and then he fixed his gaze upon the floor in front of him.

At this point Judge Titus came over to the prisoner and bade him good-bye. Czolgosz replied very faintly, letting his eye rest upon the man who had been his counsel. "Good-bye," he said weakly.

Czolgosz was then hurried down the stairs and through the tunnel of the jail, where he will remain until removed to Auburn to pay the penalty of his crime.

According to the law in this state Oct. 28 is the earliest date that could be fixed for the execution.

Brought Into Court.

Only about 150 spectators, including twenty-five women, were present when Czolgosz was brought into court at 2:05 this afternoon. He was perspiring and seemed nervous as he was led in shackled to two detectives. At 2:12 Justice White took his seat on the bench and the crier announced the opening of court.

"Czolgosz, stand up," commanded District Attorney Penney and the assassin arose. Then in reply to the attorney's question Czolgosz, in a low voice which could not be heard five feet away, said his name was Leon F. Czolgosz and that he was twenty-eight years old. He said he was born in Detroit and was living in Cleveland when arrested. He said that his occupation had been that of an iron worker, that he was single, had attended the public and church schools, was temperate, had never before been convicted of a crime and that his father was alive and his mother dead.

"Have you any legal excuse why sentence should be pronounced against you?" was asked the prisoner. Czolgosz could not, or pretended that he could not hear. Judge White intervened and explained what was meant by the question.

"First," he said, "you may claim that you are insane. Next, have you any good cause to offer against sentence being pronounced against you?"

The judge also stated the legal reasons the prisoner might have against sentence being pronounced.

"I have nothing to say about that," was the reply.

Justice Titus asked that the prisoner be allowed to say something in exculpation of his crime.

The prisoner began to speak. His voice was so low that he could scarcely be heard and Judge Titus was obliged to repeat it sentence by sentence so the court might hear.

"I have nothing to say," whispered Czolgosz.

"I think he ought to be permitted to make a statement in exculpation of his family," said Judge Titus, and turning to the prisoner again he held a brief conference.

No Others Implicated.

He then turned to the court and the counsel for the defendant said:

"He says no other person had anything to do with it and that no other person knew of his commission but himself. His father, mother, or anyone else knew nothing about it."

The prisoner stared straight ahead and awaited the court's pronouncement of his doom, which was brief. Czolgosz stood erect, looking straight at the judge. He did not tremble, not a muscle quivered.

Sentence of the Court.

Justice White passed sentence as follows:

"In taking the life of our beloved president you committed a crime which shocked and outraged the moral sense of the civilized world. You have confessed to that guilt and after learning all that at this time can be learned from the facts and circumstances, twelve good jurors have pronounced you

NEBRASKA STATESMAN OPPOSED TO RESTRICTION OF SPEECH.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 26.—W. J. Bryan is opposed to any limitation upon freedom of speech, which he says has been suggested as a cure for anarchy. He believes that the evils of restriction are greater than the evils of freedom and declares the death of President McKinley cannot be traced to anything said or written against him. The warfare must be against anarchy, not against the freedom of speech. Anarchy, he insists, is a European product and thrives most where there is the least freedom of speech and press.

BESSEMER WANTS A GAME.

J. E. Butler Anxious to Have His Team Line Up Against Ishpeming.

J. E. Butler, superintendent of the Bessemer public schools, writes the manager of the Ishpeming High school football team asking for at least one game before the close of this season. He says the lovers of football at Bessemer are all anxious to see the Ishpeming boys play, and that he would be greatly pleased to have the team go over there for a match. He suggests that when the Ishpeming team goes to Ironwood to play the eleven of that town for the upper peninsula championship on Saturday, November 2, they take an extra day and give the Bessemer boys a game in their town the following Monday. Mr. Butler will guarantee the team a sum sufficient to pay the expenses for the trip. The manager of the local team is inclined to look upon the proposition with favor, as he thinks the trip to Bessemer would be a pleasant one. Butler also states that he would like a game down here, though the trip would cost more than could well be raised at this time.

The Bessemer team has played two games with the Ironwood eleven and another one is scheduled for a week from next Saturday. The first game was played at Ironwood. It resulted in a victory for the home team, the score at the close being 10 to 5. The second contest was at Bessemer and was won by Butler's aggregation. The score in that battle was 16 to 0. The professor writes that the Ironwoods did not lose because of any inferior playing of the team as a whole, but on account of the inability of the quarter back to pass the ball. Mr. Butler is playing with his team. He wants it understood in case the Ishpeming give him a game that he shall not be barred, as there is no substitute to take his place. There are less than twenty boys attending the high school and all who are big and strong enough to stand up to a line are in the team. It was also necessary to take in one boy who does not attend school to fill up the team, but the superintendent says he is no better player than some of the school boys.

The Ishpeming team will go to Marquette to meet the school eleven of that place tomorrow afternoon. A large delegation of rooters from this city will be present. Many of the teachers who will attend the county institute at Marquette today and tomorrow will be on hand to make noise for their favorites. It is expected that the liveliest contest that has taken place on the Queen City gridiron in quite an interval will be that scheduled for tomorrow.

ALL ARE NOT IDLE.

The Greater Part of Working Force at Section 21 Mine Still at Work.

It was not necessary to lay off the miners and others employed at the Section 21 mine while the repairs to the machinery, shaft houses, skip roads, etc., are being made. There are in the neighborhood of two hundred men working at the property. Not more than twenty-five of these are now idle.

A number of the underground men, as well as nearly all the surface hands, are on top assisting with the repair work. Underground a few men will work steadily sinking the west shaft and driving drifts through rock. The latter is dead work and this is a good time to do it.

With the improvements under way completed it will be possible to considerably increase the output of the mine. The big five-ton skips going in at the east shaft will work in balance. Although the capacity of the skips is nearly three times as great as of the old ones it will not take any more fuel, and perhaps not as much, to operate the plant as it did with the old skips on. The empty skips will assist in bringing up the full one. After the down-going skip has passed a given point in the shaft the full one comes up without any power from the machinery.

In order to admit of the new skips being put in position the complete rebuilding of the skip road is necessary in the east shaft. The depth from top to bottom is 760 feet, so that the task of building the road is no light one. New restles will also be constructed leading from the east shaft.

At the engine house the double engines will be disconnected. One will be used hereafter for hoisting from the west shaft and the other will pull the skips from the east shaft. Two high pressure boilers are being installed, taking the place of the low pressure ones.

While the changes are being made very few of the workmen will suffer. Those who are not working steadily at the mine will doubtless find temporary employment if they look for it.

ANARCHIST PAPERS COMING.

There Are a Number of Subscribers of Ciancibilli's Paper in Ishpeming.

In yesterday's news dispatches was one from Spring Valley, Ill., stating that Editor Ciancibilli, of an Italian paper there called L'Aurora, had been asked to leave the town. The citizens of the place have become incensed at his writings, which are said to be of an anarchistic nature. In a recent issue of his dirty rag he gloated over the murder of President McKinley and now the people of Spring Valley are up in arms, but it is said that the editor stands pat and flatly refuses to leave.

In a special from Spring Valley appearing in Wednesday's Chicago Times-Herald it was stated that large bundles of Ciancibilli's paper had been sent to Paterson, N. J., and Ishpeming, Mich., and that he had many sympathizers in both places. A representative of The Mining Journal has been informed that there are several copies of the paper coming here to regular subscribers, but what truth there is in the statement that the countrymen of the rabid editor are in sympathy with him cannot be said at this time. If there are any anarchists among Ciancibilli's readers here they certainly keep very quiet. No one is willing anything to people who are liable to take exceptions to their utterances.

The Chicago paper's correspondent expresses the belief that the government officials should take steps to exclude copies of the paper from the privileges of the mails.

"THE FAST MAIL" TONIGHT.

Lincoln J. Carter's "Fast Mail," conceded to be the best railroad play produced in America at this time, will be the offering at the Ishpeming Opera House tonight. The indications are that it will be greeted with a splendid audience. Carter's attractions always draw well here, and as a rule all give the very best of satisfaction. "The Fast Mail" has not been seen in Ishpeming in several years, and since its last production the play has been rewritten and a lot of new mechanical and scenic effects have been added. The company is large and capable in every particular. A number of fine specialties are introduced at each performance. The prices tonight will be twenty-five, fifty and seventy-five cents, the latter for reserved seats.

THE RIDGE STREET SEWER.

Assessment Roll for It Approved By the City Council.

At the special meeting of the city council held Wednesday evening the Ridge street sewer assessment roll, which was recently completed, was approved.

Thirteen applications were presented for the position of fireman at the water works station. After ten ballots were taken without a choice, a motion to delay the matter over until the next regular meeting prevailed.

The question of providing funds for the payment of city bills during the next two or perhaps three months was then taken up.

The announcement in yesterday's Mining Journal, that Captain James H. Rough is to return to this city to take charge of operations at the Cleveland-Chiffs mine, brought forth many expressions of pleasure from old friends.

One of the local politicians chuckled yesterday when he heard the announcement. He regards the captain as one of the best politicians in the county and he laughed when he thought of the way the boys used to line up with him.

Ten or a dozen men, constituting the engineering corps of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway company, are surveying for the spur that will be extended to the Cleveland-Chiffs company's new mine in the eastern part of this city.

Superintendent Harris of the road yesterday stated to The Mining Journal that the extension will not be built this fall.

Manager McDonald of the local opera house was in luck when he captured 'The Minister's Son' for a date at his theatre next Tuesday evening.

The picture is one in which the president holds his hat in his left hand. It is conceded by all competent judges of artistic work that this is by far the best picture the late president had taken in recent years.

The frame is of black oak with a silver border. It is a beautiful piece of work, and was prepared by the Anderson Art company of Chicago.

INSTITUTE OPENS

TEACHERS OF COUNTY WELCOMED TO CITY.

MEETING AT CITY HALL

MANGUM, VAN EVERA, DAVIS AND FALL TALK.

State Superintendent Makes a Plea for Physical as Well as Mental Training and Gives Suggestions Along This Line.

A strong plea for the physical as well as the intellectual training of children was made last evening by Hon. DeLois Fall, state superintendent of public instruction, at a public assemblage in the auditorium of the city hall. The meeting marked the opening of the annual inspiration institute arranged for the benefit of the teachers of Marquette county, and was fairly well attended, though not so much so by citizens generally as the proceedings merited.

Professor E. C. Thompson, superintendent of schools, presided, and with him on the platform were Dr. Fall, Mayor Mangum, J. R. Van Evera, and Professor T. D. Davis of Negaunee. A selection by a quartet composed of the Misses Johnson and Heppner and Messrs. Allen and Tucker opened the program, and in a few appropriate words Professor Thompson introduced Mayor Mangum.

Wants Patriotism Taught.

The city's executive voiced a hearty welcome to the institute. It was his opinion that one of the most important missions of the school is the teaching of patriotism—Americanism—and that the example furnished by the nation's heroes and great men should ever be kept prominent, to the end that in the minds of the children there be firmly rooted a desire to emulate the great deeds recorded in American history. His honor suggested that the nation has had enough great men so that a portion of every school day could be devoted to a study of their achievements with the object of teaching the children love of country.

John R. Van Evera welcomed the visitors on behalf of the school board. He emphasized the work of the teacher, and pointed out how in their hands lies the molding of the character of the children under their charge. The thought of helping to make the boys "manly men" and the girls "womanly women" should ever be uppermost.

County Commissioner Davis, who responded to the addresses of welcome in behalf of the institute, assured the mayor that there was no occasion to increase the police force because of the invasion of the educators. In words of eulogy he referred to Marquette as the prettiest little city along the lake, and deserving of the title of "Queen City"—and expressed the pleasure all felt that it had been chosen as the meeting place of this year's institute. Marquette, he said, was rapidly becoming the educational center of the north, and because of location, climate and other considerations well merited the honor. The speaker alluded feelingly to the recent death of McKinley, and pointed to the instantaneous resentment aroused by any slighting remark concerning the Buffalo tragedy, no matter where uttered in the land, as illustrative of the rampant patriotism. The planting of love of country in the minds of the children, he assured the mayor, was not neglected; the teaching of patriotism occupied a prominent place in the routine of school life.

Norma Ross, who sang a solo and responded to an encore, was followed by State Superintendent Fall. A hearty round of applause greeted the appearance to the front of the platform of this prominent educator. "That boy" was the subject of his address—the child, he said, were able to look after themselves.

Problem of Problems.

The problem of problems in this country, from an educational standpoint at least, was first how to keep the boys in school, and then to train them to mold their characters—to become good citizens and worthy to take up the guidance of the nation's welfare when the older generation laid it down. With this end in view, more depended upon physical development, the speaker declared, than most people were aware of. "A sound mind in a sound body" should be the watchword of those having in charge the training of boys. Statistics compiled by Professor Sargeant of Harvard, formerly of Yale, and by other authorities were cited to show the value of bodily exercise, and it was noted that nations who had excelled in physique had also been superior in the arts of war and peace. In the days of old the Grecians were as far above other peoples as we are over the African negro—and the Grecians had devoted as much attention to physical training as to mental development. Authorities were also cited to illustrate the speaker's point that a student excelling in bodily vigor, where properly trained mentally, likewise excelled intellectually.

Dr. Fall severely criticized the present tendency to send children to school at the tender age of five years, that is when considered with reference to the present method of teaching them. They were put within four walls amid all artificial surroundings, after having been in the lap of nature, as it were, for a couple of years, and were expected to glue their eyes and concentrate their minds on books and other like school paraphernalia of which they could not see the value. The speaker contended that this feature of the present educational system was literally a crime against the boy. The transition to school life was too abrupt, too sudden, and in some way Nature should be brought to the schoolroom with the boy.

Favors Manual Training.

As concerns manual training, Dr. Fall declared himself a firm advocate of this modern adjunct to the schools. The boy—and girl too—should be trained "to think by the hand." This was a feature much neglected in the past and amends should now be made. The day was coming when all schools, in the opinion of the state superintendent, would have manual training departments. He beseeched the citizens to lend all aid in their power to the establishment and maintenance of manual training.

The necessity of precautions in the schools against the spread of communicable diseases was dwelt upon. "These measures," he stated, "are in the interest of the physical welfare of the boy. School houses were declared prolific sources of infection, and a system of daily medical inspection was advocated. The health department should be authorized to weed out all scholars who by any reason might communicate diseases to others, and in this the citizens should stand solidly behind the department. The state law requiring that precautions be taken by teachers in the interest of the public health was alluded to, and adherence to its provisions requested.

Today at the Normal.

The address of Dr. Fall brought the meeting to a close. This morning at 9 o'clock the institute will open in earnest at the Normal school auditorium. Superintendent Fall and Professor Cook and Principal Miss Summers of Illinois will deliver addresses of interest to teachers, and the program will be interspersed with music and other features. This evening at the city hall, Professor Cook, who enjoys a splendid reputation as a public speaker, will address the gathering on "The New Profession." The citizens generally are cordially invited to be present, and it is sincerely hoped that they will turn out in large numbers.

The great bulk of the teachers from up-the-road points will get in this morning, although a few arrived last night, and the attendance promises to be most flattering to the institute conductors. The schools throughout the county will be closed today.

"COPPERS" ON THE MEND.

Tendency of Boston Market Seems Again to Be Upward.

The feeling of nervousness was not so much in evidence among speculators yesterday. The stock market acted stronger, and confidence that the worst was over was more manifest in the offices of the brokers. "An irregular market probably will be had for awhile," remarked a prominent investor, "and then I look for a quick rebound in prices." This view apparently sizes up the situation locally, while that manipulation was responsible for the disastrous break, no one doubts. Speculators here are of the same mind as the Detroit copper man quoted as follows in the Tribune: "To what do I attribute the slump?" said Fred S. Osborne yesterday. "Largely to manipulation. I might say wholly so. Then the advice of the bear houses had a great influence on the action of timid holders of copper stocks, but you will notice that the sales of the lake stocks have been comparatively small, even on the heavy decline. Outside of those timid ones easily influenced by such houses as Hayden, Stone & Co., there has been no real pressure to sell. There is a meaning behind this drive at Amalgamated and I would not be surprised if the cut in the dividend was done for the very purpose of bringing this thing about. The reason for it, if this was the case, is not hard to find. This war between Henze and the Standard Oil interests cannot go on forever. It is a difficulty that can be settled at any time the parties get together. To effect this settlement the Amalgamated would have to have a big block of stock let him in on, and this would be the easiest way to secure it. They could never get it by going into the market after it. This is not an impossibly solution of the question. At any rate I will say I think that people who have let go their coppers will never get them back any lower, and I think that you will find there is a large short interest that will soon be forced to cover."

As Noted By the Brokers.

The following was the opinion expressed by Paine, Webber & Co. last evening: "The market looks as though it had been sold to a standstill. There was good buying of Amalgamated today. We hear strong talk on Lake Erie & Western and all the Vanderbilt issues. Copper stocks, we think, are a purchase on all declines let him in on, and this would be the easiest way to secure it. They could never get it by going into the market after it. This is not an impossibly solution of the question. At any rate I will say I think that people who have let go their coppers will never get them back any lower, and I think that you will find there is a large short interest that will soon be forced to cover."

Market Gossip.

The Wall street situation was reviewed as follows in a dispatch to Paine, Webber & Co.: "The movement of the market for the last few days is said to have been disappointing to no one more than to the large interests, who for some little time have been holding large lines of stocks that they have been extremely desirous of turning over to the public at favorable prices. Liquidation on the part of the former is said to be distinctly in evidence. J. P. Morgan is desirous of supporting the market, and the Standard Oil interests are desirous of depressing it. The purpose of the latter can be plainly seen in the action of the St. Paul, Amalgamated and Anaconda directors."

Hayden, Stone & Co. had the following: "An official of the United States Metals Selling company admits that the copper supply is very large, but asserts there is nothing in the situation that will compel a reduction in the price of the metal."

Amalgamated sells ex-dividend today. At London yesterday, copper closed firm, up 18s, 9d on spot and 18s higher on futures. The sales were 800 tons of spot and 1,500 tons of futures.

Chicago Grains.

A. R. Jones & Co. said of the Chicago grain markets: "The wheat trade is again narrow. The market was heavy at the start, on lower cables and fine weather, but there was just enough commission house buying to hold the prices until corn stiffened up, when shorts bought and the market advanced. The Northwest bought moderately, and Kansas City is getting comparatively no wheat. Speculative conditions, however, are different, but these may improve almost any time."

"Corn started weak, but all offerings were snapped up and the market turned very strong. It looks as though Deember might be manipulated. One big professional was a heavy buyer, covering a short line. The market closes firm but little changed from last night. Buy corn on the weak spots."

SPECIAL TRAIN SECURED.

Easy Means of Transportation Arranged for the Football Game.

The Marquette High school football team has solved the problem of transportation to the new fair grounds Saturday afternoon, when it lines up against the Ishpeming team, by securing a special train service.

It has been anticipated all along that the contest would attract a good attendance in view of the strong game put up this season by the locals, but now that arrangements have been made with the South Shore people whereby those desirous of witnessing the fray on the gridiron will be able to get to the scene without much inconvenience, it is expected that a big crowd will take in the contest. The train will leave the platform near the new depot at 2:30 o'clock, and a rate of 15 cents for the round trip has been made.

Just now representatives of the team are circulating a subscription paper, requesting donations from the business men and others with the object in view of putting the eleven on a firm financial footing, and are meeting with good success.

LUMBERING SEASON IN SWING.

Big Bay District Will Be Scene of Activity this Winter.

Kunzie & McCrea, a lumbering firm with headquarters at Sidsaw, recently purchased about a million and a half feet of standing timber from Walter Prickett. The pine is located near Lake Independence, in the Big Bay district, and the work of getting it out is already in full swing. A force of about thirty men is employed, the camp has been built and several days ago a tug went up the lake with the concern's winter supplies. It is the intention of Kunzie & McCrea to acquire additional timber in the same territory, negotiations for which are under way, and if these deals are successfully concluded the force will be materially increased.

C. Hebard & Son of Pequaming, who are also logging in the vicinity of Big Bay, are now working a force of over sixty men. The operations have been in progress all summer, and skidding is now under way. The firm has still about ten million feet of pine to get out, a task that will last for the next two years at least.

Work on the construction of the McFee saw mill at Big Bay is progressing favorably, and the plant will go into commission before a great interval. The coming lumbering season in that region will be an exceedingly lively one.

Dan Curry will lumber in the vicinity of Nestoria this winter. He is figuring on working a good-sized crew of men and is already making preparations to put in his camps.

Lumbermen's Wages.

According to reliable reports the big loggers at the head of the lakes who are planning early work in the woods this winter have sent orders to their foremen for men at $26 to $30 per month. During the summer months as high as $35 a month and board was offered. This decline in wages offered is construed as an effort to reduce the general wage scale in the woods during the coming winter. The chances are not favorable for success along that line, as there is plenty of work of other kinds to be had at higher wages than now offered.

Josh Westhafer of Loogootee, Ind., is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. No external application is equal to this liniment for stiff and swollen joints, contracted muscles, stiff neck, sprains and rheumatic and muscular pains. It has also cured numerous cases of partial paralysis. It is for sale by The Stafford Drug Company.
