MISS STONE CABLES. MESSAGE IS RECEIVED BY FAMILY IN BOSTON. TELLS OF RELEASE BY BRIGANDS. WARM WELCOME BY BULGARIAN FRIENDS IN STRUMITZA. Two Missionaries, With Mme. Taikka's Baby Were Left by Abductors Near Village and Waited Three Hours for Dawn.

Boston, Feb. 25.—The first message from Miss Stone to her family and friends was received tonight by her brother, Charles A. Stone, of Chelsea. The cablegram told of her release by the brigands and her warm welcome by Bulgarian friends in Strumitza. It read: "Freed, thank God, and well after our captivity of nearly six months. Yesterday, Sabbath morning, Mrs. Taikka and her seven-week-old daughter, Elena, and I found ourselves left by our abductors near the village and an hour distant from Strumitza. For three hours we waited for dawn, and then secured horses and came to this city."

GOVERNOR WITH SUITE CALLS. "The governor of the city, with his suite, called this morning and again this afternoon after the arrival of Dr. House and his son from Salonica, accompanied by M. Gargiulo, first dragoman of the American embassy at Constantinople. The last three have come to accompany us to Salonica tomorrow, where Mr. Taikka awaits his long-lost wife and their baby. They have brought me a bundle of letters from mother and my brothers and dearest friends. Thus, with unexpressed gratitude to God and to all the friends who, by their prayers and gifts, have helped to free us, we begin our life of freedom."

CONSIDERED CUBAN RECIPROCITY. Republican Members of the House Hold a Conference. A Bad Disease

There is a certain disease that has come down to us through many centuries and is older than history itself, yet very few outside of those who have learned from bitter experience know anything of its nature or characteristics. At first a little ulcer or sore appears, then glands of the neck or groins swell; pimples break out on the breast, back or other part of the body and fill with yellow pustular matter; the mouth and throat become sore and the tongue is at all times badly coated. Headaches are frequent, and muscles and joints throbb and hurt, especially during damp, rainy weather. These are some of the symptoms of that most loathsome of all diseases, Contagious Blood Poison. This strange poison does not affect all alike; it comes in various degrees of severity, but it is always fatal if not treated in time. It is a safe and infallible cure for this specific poison. It cures Contagious Blood Poison in every form and stage thoroughly and permanently. S. S. S. contains no Mercury, Potash or other harmful minerals, but is strictly and entirely a vegetable remedy, and we offer $1,000 reward for proof that it is not.

OUR MEDICAL which was established years ago, is doing a noble work in relieving suffering. Give our physicians a short history of your case and get their advice. This will cost you nothing, and what you will gain in confidence. With their help and a copy of our book on Contagious Blood Poison you can manage your own case and cure yourself.

As a court of inquiry President Roosevelt beats three of a kind.

When Shelley said there was "glory enough for all" did he count the captain in?

Prince Henry has caused it to be known that he is going to speak English only while he is in this country. If he doesn't break that rule when he visits Milwaukee he will meet a good many people there who will only be able to get at his meaning through the good offices of an interpreter.

The supreme court respectfully declines to identify itself as a factor with Governor Van Sant of Minnesota in the latter's great scheme to hold in check the movement to place the big railway lines of the country on a sensible basis of operation. The reliance of the "knockers" is now on Knox, the attorney general—whom they wanted fired out of the cabinet a short time ago because he was a corporation attorney because he entered it—and the almost obsolete Sherman anti-trust law.

"Mr. Devery, formerly a somewhat prominent member of New York's police force machine, recently bought $379,000 worth of real estate, and the New York papers wink knowingly and wonder where he got it," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. If they are wondering where and how he got the money to pay for so much real estate they are woefully ignorant of the many and varied uses to which a police machine can be put for the purpose of putting money in the purse of the man in control of it. But skilled as Devery was in that way he shined up small in comparison with Detroit's late police commissioner, Frank C. Andrews.

"A very large number of Americans agree with the views expressed by Wayne MacVeagh, who objects to the custom of sending special embassies to attend foreign coronations," remarks the Chicago News. Mr. MacVeagh believes that it is undignified and inconsistent for a republic which owes its independence to its fight against monarchical traditions to participate in ceremonies expressly designed to emphasize the monarchical idea. All the necessary courtesies are already performed through the regular diplomatic channels; the special embassy to the coronation is something out of the ordinary and beyond what international civility requires. This government does and should show courtesy to foreign governments and their nominal heads, but when it sends embassies to participate in the king-making process it acts at variance with its own fundamental doctrine, which is that men rule by consent of the governed and not by right of birth.

David Mills, a Canadian ex-minister of justice, is worrying himself into a state of mental imbecility over imagined purposes of this country concerning the South American republics. He thinks we are planning to absorb them, or to establish a dictatorship over them, or to do something equally as bad. So far from that being the case, the experience we are having with the Philippines is curing us of any desire we might once have had for more outlying territory. The people of the United States would be greatly indebted to Mr. Mills if he should show them how they can honorably let go of the Philippines, where they are maintaining authority at a heavy cost from a sense of duty. We shall soon turn Cuba over to a government instituted by the people of that island, and if we are keeping Porto Rico it is with the consent of its people. If Mr. Mills were in position to do that, and should offer us Canada tomorrow, it wouldn't be accepted. We are gunning for trade all over the world, but not for more territory.

SLUGGING IN THE SENATE.

It is more than possible that the disgraceful occurrence in the senate the other day, when the two South Carolina senators became involved in a vulgar brawl while that body was in session, may bring on the pair a punishment not so severe that a similar episode will not soon again occur in the nation's highest legislative assemblage.

Already the two senators have been made to feel the weight of the indignation of their humiliated colleagues and of the people of the country at large. The president cancelled the invitation he had sent Tillman, to be a guest at the White House dinner in honor of Prince Henry of Prussia, after having first given him an opportunity to decline acceptance—which the truculent South Carolinian, with characteristic obstinacy, refused to avail himself of—and the president pro tem. of the senate, Senator Frye, has given orders that while the South Carolina senators are held to be in contempt their names shall be omitted from the roll call. Tillman has given out that he will not submit to this order, and will be in his seat at the next call of the roll to protest against having his state deprived of its proper representation in the senate. About $137,000 will be paid out to employees at the forthcoming payday of the mines at Ironwood.

Owing to the accident which occurred at Quinnessee a few nights ago, resulting in the death of Will McLellan, an engineer and valued employee of the Cundy mine, Captain Cundy, the superintendent, has decreed that all gasoline lamps used on the premises must go.

Fred Cooper of Manistiquie has completed a sale of 34,000 acres of hardwood timber land located in Mackinac county, south of Gould City, to the Simmons Manufacturing company of Kenosha, Wis. The purchasers intend building a mill on the property, manufacture the lumber and ship by boat to Kenosha. The price paid was not made public.

There are four boys under arrest in Ingham township, Menominee county, on the charge of malicious destruction of property. Some time ago a debate was announced to come off at that place, but for some reason it was postponed. This made the boys angry and they went to the house of the man who was responsible for the postponement and smashed all the windows in the building.

Will McCallum, who is firing a locomotive on the South Shore railroad, had a hairbreadth escape from death one night last week. The coupling pin between the engine and tender broke just as he was stepping across the gangway. As he was falling under the wheels he managed to grasp the cab of the locomotive, to which he clung until the engineer was able to draw him into the cab. The accident happened near the Soo.

The Women's club of Menominee has taken steps to prevent midway dances and like exhibitions in that city. Last year at the country fair there were a number of such exhibitions and the club has appointed a committee to write to the managers of the fair to do away with these shows hereafter. It is said that if the management does not comply with the request the members of the club will probably declare a boycott on the fair.

TAXATION OF MINES.

There is a growing belief among the people of Minnesota that the iron mines of that state ought to be made to contribute more revenue to the commonwealth. As was long the case in this state, the farmers of Minnesota are eager to have the mining interests made to bear a heavy share of the state's expenses by providing for them a system of special taxation, and the proposition most strenuously urged is that which has been discarded in Michigan, i. e., taxing them on the tonnage of ore produced. We notice that many of the Minnesota papers favor that plan, and the arguments they advance in its support are similar to those with which we became familiar in Michigan before the present method of taxing mining properties went into operation. The state constitution of Minnesota stands in the way of having this system of taxing the mines adopted, and it is proposed to amend it so as to believe it of the prohibitory clause which now protects these properties. Urging that this should be done, the Minneapolis Tribune argues as follows:

Three-quarters of the iron ore owned by the billion dollar trust are said to be in Minnesota, and the trust says it has ore enough to last for sixty years. Fancy the wealth that will go out of the state in that sixty years without paying any revenue. Here is an industry, too, it is suggested, that will not be driven out of the state by taxation. The present method of taxing iron ore is a method of taxation recommended by the commission promises a much relief to other property as the tonnage tax has been paid by any competing industry. It is entirely proper that this industry, whose exploiters are making millions by removing precious natural wealth from the state, should pay a steady revenue to the state. In many countries mines are state monopolies. Our rule is to make them free to the people. These mines have become a natural monopoly. It would be worth all the trouble of amending the constitution to get the power to tax them properly.

If the people of Minnesota should proceed on the theory that the iron mines in their state should be made to pay a heavy tax because the ore they produce goes to furnaces in other states to be smelted they may compel the operators of such mines to cut down production considerably for the time being. That would count in favor of the Michigan ranges while the Minnesotians were coming to their senses, so we have cause to feel badly over the populist movement set on foot in that state, which has in view subjecting mining properties to excessive taxation.

HAD TO CONQUER OR DIE.

"I was just about gone," writes Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel Springs, N. C. "I had Consumption so bad that the best doctors said I could not live more than a month, but I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by seven bottles and am now stout and well." It's an unrivaled life-saver in Consumption, Pneumonia, La Grippe and Bronchitis; infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, and all other ailments of the throat and lungs. Trial bottles free at Stafford's drug store.

Lower Michigan.

At the election this spring the people of Emmet county will vote upon the proposition of removing the county seat from Harbor Springs to Petoskey, and it is looked upon as a foregone conclusion that Petoskey will be an easy winner.

A fine $12,000 school building will be erected at Nashville to replace the one destroyed by fire a few days ago. Work will be begun on the new building as soon as the weather permits, in order that it may be ready for the opening of the term in the fall.

In an effort to stop a runaway horse on the main street at Elk Rapids Sunday Charles Rusterholtz, aged 19, was seriously, and it may be fatally, injured. The horse slipped and fell upon him. The young man was so badly crushed that he has small chance of recovery.

William T. Hamilton of Detroit, who was the engineer on the Michigan Central train wrecked at Vienna in November, 1890, was awarded $3,000 by a jury in the circuit court at Monroe. Two of the jurors favored a verdict for the defendant. The railroad company will doubtless carry the case to the supreme court.

Miss Hattie Allen of Battle Creek, a deaf mute aged twenty-seven, has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Charles Scard, who was formerly a porter in a leading Grand Rapids hotel, charging him with criminal assault. Scard was arrested in Milwaukee and will be taken to Grand Rapids for trial, a requisition having been secured for that purpose.

Rev. M. H. Van der Valk, the Muskegon minister against whom charges were preferred some time since, has been expelled from the ministry by the Grand Rapids presbytery for bad conduct. He was accustomed to go on drinking bouts with young men of his congregation every now and then, when his inordinate appetite for spirituous exhilaration moved him.

Ward Griswold, an eighteen-year-old nephew of M. V. Russell, the wealthiest man in Durand, is under arrest on a charge of breaking into and robbing Kitchen's store several nights ago. Griswold confessed that he was one of the pair of burglars, but would not tell the other's name. Watches, revolvers and small jewelry were taken. He told where the stolen stuff was hidden.

The sentence of Jacob Mosloski, sent to Jackson for life for criminal assault, has been commuted so that he can be released from the Ionia asylum, of which he is now an inmate, and accompany his wife back to their old home in Poland.

Mrs. Mosloski has worked for over a year in an effort to secure a pardon for her husband. Governor Bliss refused to pardon him, but agreed to commute his sentence.

ROOSEVELT AND HIS CALLERS.

Manner in Which the President Receives and Greets His Visitors.

The manner of the president in greeting his visitors is different, perhaps, from that of any of his predecessors. Visitors assemble in the wide east corridor of the White House. Cards are sent to Mr. Cortelyou, secretary to the president. He learns the mission of each visitor, and admits them to his office until from fifteen to twenty have assembled. While this "weeding out" process is going on the president is receiving in his office those who have advanced engagements with him. These engagements are made at hourly intervals. Between them the president enters Mr. Cortelyou's office, and can dispose of fifteen or twenty callers in as many minutes, no matter what their business may be. Mr. Cortelyou gives him a name and a hint as to the object of the visit. With a few rapid strides he crosses the room, shoots out his right arm to grasp the hand of the caller, and in a few explosive sentences inquires as to details. He permits no set speeches, nor does he listen to any but the briefest laudatory messages. The president is not a good listener. Half a dozen sentences given him the information he desires, and in a trice his decision is made up and announced, his visitor dismissed, and he turns to another.

There is nothing stiff or formal in the president's manner. He laughs heartily and moves about with surprising vigor, and talks in a clear and sometimes loud tone. He is usually dressed in a white shirt in a conventional Prince Albert coat, a low lay-down collar, with plain black bow tie, light-striped trousers and broad-toed polished calf shoes. The president has not lost the peculiar nervous twitching of his mouth, about which so much has been said and written since his accession to the presidency. It has often been described as a "grim" or indication of mirth on his part. This is not correct. The president has a way of setting his mouth very strongly while talking, and this is followed by an involuntary twitching of the lips, which exposes the teeth. The peculiarity is not one indicating mirth or emotion of any kind. It is involuntary, and observable at all times when he is engaged in conversation.

The president is accessible at all times during the regular hours at the White House, and even receives tourists who are prompted solely by the desire to grasp the hand of the president, even though they come unheralded and without an introduction.—Washington Correspondence St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than at all other sections put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Common drinks at the Soo who come under the guidance of the police authorities are usually fined five dollars. Recently a man was brought up before the police court of the Lock City on the charge of being inebriated and was given the usual fine. He pleaded that he was only half drunk, whereupon the court remitted one-half of the fine making it $2.50. It looks very much as if the Soo police authorities have what might be termed bargain days for those who look too long upon the wine when it is red.—Ontonagon Herald.

A passenger train on the St. Paul road had a collision at Wausauke the other day which fortunately was not attended by any fatalities. The fireman jumped from the cab to save himself. The accident was occasioned by a freight train on the siding, backing on to the main track just as the passenger came. The engine had one side torn away and a hole was broken into the mail car. The engine went into the air when it struck the freight and after running quite a distance on the wheels of the tender came down on the track. Considerable delay was occasioned.

Charles H. Stoll of New York has decided to erect a large club building and ten or twelve cottages on a point of land he owns on Marquette island, thirteen miles from Mackinac. An architect has been employed and the work will begin next summer. Mr. Stoll is chief attorney for the Kentucky Distilleries & Warehouse company and finds time in the midst of all his legal business to think of pleasure. He is a former Kentuckian transplanted in Gotham. It was he who promoted the big whisky combine. It is expected by the promoter of the enterprise that the building will be ready for occupancy for the season of 1903.

Peter Ledwidge, a brakeman on the South Shore road, is at a Bessemer hospital, suffering from severe internal injuries sustained by falling from a moving train. While passing over the track at a point where the track crosses a deep ravine a short distance west of the station at North Bessemer, Ledwidge lost his footing and fell from the train, striking the timbers of the viaduct. He was not missed until the train reached Saxon, when an engine and caboose were sent back for him. The injured man was found at a section house about a mile from the place where the accident happened, having walked that distance in the meantime.

The Escanaba Street Railway company will have another interurban car in operation soon after March 1, and still another will arrive about April 1, making a total of four large vestibuled cars. When these cars are in operation the service will be materially improved. It is proposed to run five cars on the main line, instead of four as at present. The street car company now employs twenty men, and two additional hands will be necessary when the new cars are ready for service. The company's payroll is more than $1,200 per month.

The employees of the Pabst mine at Ironwood showed their feeling for Captain John Trengembo the other evening, when they called him to the "dry house" as the two shifts were changing, and presented him with a gold watch, chain and charm. Dr. J. K. Niven made the presentation speech in behalf of the donors. He told of the captain's long service as superintendent of the Pabst mine, of the high esteem in which he is held by his employers as well as by those who worked under him during the twelve years, and referred feelingly to the regret that was expressed by all when it became known that the captain had tendered his resignation to the Oliver Mining company, and intended leaving shortly for his old home in Cornwall, England. Captain Trengembo thanked "the boys" for their splendid gift, and assured all that wherever he might be, he would be remembered by the men who worked with him at the Pabst. The watch, chain and charm are solid gold, the charm being a specially designed Masonic emblem. The watch is of the finest design, the front case containing a large diamond. Captain John Trengembo, who has been at the mine in charge of mining operations at the Pabst mine for twelve years, resigned the position some weeks ago, and will leave the mine on March 1. He will spend six weeks visiting in the Lake Superior districts, and will depart about the middle of April for England. He has not been heard of since he left there permanently, or return to the United States, but business matters there will require his attention for more than a year, after which he may return to Ironwood. Captain Trengembo feels that he has done his share of "climbing the ladder," and will be glad to be retired, and probably retire from mining for good and spend the remainder of his days in the enjoyment of the fruits of his well directed toil. Captain Trengembo is one of the oldest members of the Ironwood city council. He is the president of that body at the present time. His leaving will be regretted by the people of all classes, and his return to Ironwood will be hoped for.

At the election this spring the people of Emmet county will vote upon the proposition of removing the county seat from Harbor Springs to Petoskey, and it is looked upon as a foregone conclusion that Petoskey will be an easy winner.

Rev. M. H. Van der Valk, the Muskegon minister against whom charges were preferred some time since, has been expelled from the ministry by the Grand Rapids presbytery for bad conduct. He was accustomed to go on drinking bouts with young men of his congregation every now and then, when his inordinate appetite for spirituous exhilaration moved him.

Ward Griswold, an eighteen-year-old nephew of M. V. Russell, the wealthiest man in Durand, is under arrest on a charge of breaking into and robbing Kitchen's store several nights ago. The sentence of Jacob Mosloski, sent to Jackson for life for criminal assault, has been commuted so that he can be released from the Ionia asylum, of which he is now an inmate, and accompany his wife back to their old home in Poland.

The Michigan Chemical company of Bay City, which makes alcohol from the refuse of beet sugar molasses, will begin the shipment this week of 1,700 barrels of the liquor to the United States government. This will relieve the company of its present crowded conditions as there are 1,800 barrels in the bonded warehouse. The company now pays $6,000 a day for revenue stamps, with but one-half of its machinery in operation. The government will use the alcohol in making smokeless powder.

State Senator Jerome W. Nims of Romeo died at his home near that city Monday morning of Bright's disease. He was sixty-two years of age and unmarried. He was a native of Vermont, but came to Michigan in 1854, settling first in Sanilac county and moving to Macomb county a year later. He had been supervisor of his township in that county for twenty-seven years, resigning that office to take his seat in the senate when he was chosen a member of that body as representative of the twelfth senate district.

For the past few years nearly all the paperhangers at Mt. Pleasant have sold wall paper from sample books to their customers, which has cut deeply into the trade of the druggists who carry lines of wall paper. To retaliate one of the druggists has secured the services of a paper-hanger and decorator, and offers to hang for his customers all the paper they purchase of him. Five of the paperhangers, through the local papers, state that hereafter they will not hang any paper purchased of that particular druggist, and there the matter stands at present.

Albion has been invaded by a gang of peddlers, who are said to have been "doing" the people at a rapid rate. Some of them have been very impudent and have declined to take a refusal to buy their wares as final. One over-zealous agent, seeing a pocketbook lying on the table, and thinking the lady of the house was alone, is said to have picked up the pocketbook and started to take out the price of the article he was selling, when the lady of the house screamed to her husband, who was in the back room. The agent dropped the pocketbook and fled, and as he took no money no effort was made to capture him.

A great sensation was caused in the probate court at Muskegon one day last week when Mrs. Clara Edsall, supposed to have been dead five years, made her appearance to claim a widow's interest in the property of her late husband, George E. Edsall, a farmer, who left a $4,000 estate. At the time she entered the court room Mrs. Jennie Chamberlain was testifying to her claim for $2,000 for services rendered as housekeeper for the deceased. She was so started at what she thought was a ghostly apparition that she swooned and the case had to be adjourned. Mrs. Edsall says she left her husband many years ago on account of domestic difficulties.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barnard of Bay City have in their possession a baby girl left on their doorstep Friday evening last. Two strangers, a man and a woman, were seen hovering about that neighborhood in the afternoon. The child's cries brought Mr. Barnard to the door and he investigated immediately. The man who was in the neighborhood on the night of the discovery was seen hurrying away from there a few minutes after the child was found, and it is believed that the descriptions given the officers will result in finding the parents of the child. The child was nicely clothed and placed in a basket, along with bundles containing a baby's complete wardrobe. One of the bundles contained a note with the name of "N. No. 1," and a pin had the inscription "Holy Mary."

The Michigan Chemical company, of Bay City, which manufactures alcohol from refuse molasses of beet sugar, has closed a contract to supply the United States government with 75,000 gallons of beet alcohol for use in making smokeless powder. The company scored an important point in securing this contract, its contention being that beet alcohol is superior to the grain product. The government uses only the best obtainable.

Wm. H. Gromer of Holly has been bound over for trial in the circuit court on the charge of attempted blackmail. Gromer is in the laundry business at Holly. The charge on which he will stand trial was preferred by Wm. Gromer was held in the sum of $800 to appear for trial at the May term of the court.

Andrew Carnegie's offer of a $35,000 library building to Lansing on condition that the city furnish the site and expend $3,500 yearly for maintenance, was accepted by a decisive vote of the taxpayers there in Saturday's special election, 1,919 votes being registered in favor of the offer to $28 against 63. The women taxpayers voting numbered 587, and all but 59 were in favor of the proposition. A committee will soon be appointed to decide on the site.

Two deaf mutes were run down by a horse cart on its way to a fire and badly hurt at Saginaw Sunday night. They are Miss Alice Penney and Julius Kettel. The two were standing at a street corner when the horse cart came tearing along in response to an alarm. Both were dashed to the pavement and the cart about the head and body. Kettel was removed to St. Mary's hospital and Miss Penney was taken to the home of her father, Allen Penney of Bay City.

Mrs. Jessie Stephens Pike, who died from the effects of a surgical operation at Harper hospital in Detroit last Friday morning, was a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Rankin of Flint. It is said that when she decided to have the operation performed she made a confidant only of her husband's mother, and quietly went to Detroit while her husband was away from home. At the time of her death her husband was in Chicago and her mother was visiting in Walker, Wis., Ont.

Not for many years has there been such a quantity of ice in the streams and mill ponds of Three Rivers and vicinity as there is at present. Commencing with a week of severe cold weather before Christmas, there has been no let up since. Many of the lakes and ponds are frozen nearly solid to the bottoms. The result is a scarcity of water, and there is no doubt that when the ice breaks up in the spring it will be found that thousands of fish have perished for want of air and water.

When the state tax commission visited Bay City last fall and raised the assessed valuation of the Bay Cities Consolidated Street railway from $65,000, as fixed by the local assessors, to $175,000, the receivers protested and declined to pay the taxes on that basis. Last week the city treasurer levied upon the company's property for the amount of the taxes, $1,572.70. Saturday the company paid the taxes under protest, giving ten reasons to show that the tax as assessed was invalid. The company claimed that the assessment of the city had been valid, and the assessment of the state commissioners to have been made arbitrarily and not on the true valuation of the railway company's property in Bay City. The receivers claim that the earnings of the system will not allow the company to pay taxes on an assessment of $175,000. The case will be taken to the courts.

POLITICS IN COPPERDOM.

Situation in Houghton Warming Up—Quiet in Other Towns.
The political situation in Houghton is evidently warming up as far as the office of village president is concerned. There appears to be a well defined opposition to the present official, Joseph Croze, and it is understood a candidate will be put up to run against him. President Croze will not seek the nomination this year, as he has already said, but will run again if the people see fit to give him the nomination. The opposition party named Fred Stoye as its candidate a short time ago but Mr. Stoye has declined to accept the honor. Now those against Mr. Croze are looking around for another man to head their ticket, and although it is understood they have one or two in mind, no announcement has been made of their choice.

The annual meeting of the council will be held tomorrow evening and the date of the caucus will then be decided. This promises to be a warm time at that caucus. The outgoing councilmen are Messrs. Murphy, Fox, Dee and Edwards. None of these are very desirous of serving the board again and they will not allow their names to be presented for re-nomination. No others have been named as yet for the places and it cannot be said now what the opposition, if it may be called such, will be. The name of Casper Brand, the present clerk, will go into the caucus. He has lately served the village and the citizens are generally satisfied.

Politics in Hancock are not waking up very much and it is not likely that there will be much opposition to those now in office. It is understood that all from Mayor Scott down the list, will one ticket will be in the field. Mr. Scott will not seek the nomination as president but would take it if tendered to him. He has started certain improvements in the village, such as the paving project, and desires to finish the work. In Laurium things are getting more lively in the political way, and according to the situation at present there will be two tickets now acting president of the village, will run again while Ernest Bollmann has also consented to be a candidate. Both are good men for the place and Mr. Houghton will have his excellent record while in the office to present to the voters. Messrs. Fisher and Reynolds of the outgoing trustees will be candidates for reelection. The gentlemen wish to see improvements which have been started through to completion. Paul P. Rhoad, John A. Anderson and Vincent Vario will also be candidates for trustees at the ticket with Mr. Bollmann. Both tickets will be strong and popular with the voters.

There promises to be two or more candidates in the field for village clerk at Red Jacket. The present incumbent, Albert J. March, will see a reelection and it is understood that there will be at least one after the job. Mr. March has made a good record while in office and that should help him. The Red Jacket council has chosen Thursday, Feb. 27, as the date for the spring caucus. John D. Cuddihy, John Schneider and John B. Curtis were appointed commissioners of election, and C. Schenk, Joseph Hermann and E. Roberts, inspectors of election. Election clerks will be E. W. Kraska and E. Roberts, while J. Brewer and G. F. Carlson will act as gatekeepers. The board of registration, composed of C. Schenk, J. J. March and J. F. Wiggins, will be in session on March 8, two days before election, at the village clerk's office to register all legal voters not already on the lists.

MAY PLAY CHICAGO.
Houghton Indoor Ball Team Would Like to Meet Windy City Players.
While in Chicago, Charles Webb of Houghton will try to arrange a match between the Houghton Light Infantry football team and the Spaulding team. The Houghton players are very desirous of meeting the crack Chicago aggregation. Members of the Houghton hockey team who saw the militia boys defeat the Calumet team at the Houghton armory last Saturday night stated after the game that the Houghton victory was the best they had ever seen, and that the work in the field was equal to the best. They were confident that the militia players could defeat Chicago.

STANDING OF BOWLERS.
The standing of the several teams in the Calumet bowling league to date is as follows: Clerks, 788; businessmen, 694; postal employees, 576; dentists, 500; barbers, 364; butchers, 364; independent, 364; lawyers, 333. In individual play average is 130.00. It is estimated there is 20,000,000 feet of timber in the tract, which is one of the best now standing in the upper peninsula. It is the intention of the Nestor people to cut a considerable portion of the timber next winter and to saw the logs at Baraga the following summer.

ADD UP THE GAINS.
In consumption, as in other diseases, the results secured from continued treatment with Scott's Emulsion come from the accumulation of many small gains. A little gain in strength each day—a little gain in weight each day—if continued for weeks, amounts to something. Scott's Emulsion can be taken for weeks and months without the least disturbance. It gives itself time to do good. It makes new flesh and strengthens the lungs.

BIG TIMBER LAND DEAL.
D. J. Norton, the Ontonagon lumberman, has closed a deal for the sale of 17,000 acres of timber land in Ontonagon, Houghton and Gogebic counties to the Nestor estate of Baraga, the amount involved being $1,000,000. It is estimated there is 20,000,000 feet of timber in the tract, which is one of the best now standing in the upper peninsula. It is the intention of the Nestor people to cut a considerable portion of the timber next winter and to saw the logs at Baraga the following summer.

TOWER NEARING COMPLETION.
The storm warning tower on top of the Sheldon-Dee building at Houghton will be completed in a few days. The observer of the local weather bureau office states, however, that the tower will not be used until the opening of navigation.

NEW DRILL SHARPENER.

California Men Introduce Invention in the Copper Country.
A machine which gives great promise of revolutionizing the work of making and sharpening mine drills, has been recently completed at the Portage Lake Foundry & Machinery Works, at Ripley, near Hancock and Houghton, and is now on exhibition at that place. The word inventors, John and William, are the inventors, and the former is the patentee. The two hail from Sacramento, Cal., but came to the copper country four months ago for the express purpose of introducing the machine in a region where it would be of great use. Before coming here the brothers had one machine completed and in operation at the Black Oak gold mine, the largest producer in California, in Touloume county. The contrivance worked so successfully that in a short time it cut down the expense of making and sharpening drills at the mine from $16 a day to $7.50. It was in the employ of N. P. and N. G. Scott of the Black Oak, conceived the idea of the machine, planned and carried it out, aided very materially by the Scott brothers.

In November of last year the brothers interested the Portage Lake Foundry & Machinery Works at Ripley, Mich., in the new machine, and made arrangements for the manufacture of one at the plant. Work on the various parts of the machine started under the supervision of the brothers soon after their arrival in copperdom. The plan of the machine was an excellent one and as it is now being sharpened it is greatly interested the local foundry people. Each part of the mechanism, which appears very simple, was made with much care. Now the machine is complete and ready to be seen in operation by the representative mining men of the county and elsewhere. The management of the works will probably invite mining men both from California to visit the works at their own convenience to see the machine. The machine is an improvement over the one in operation in California both in manufacture and point of mechanism. Its object is to do away with the labor that is now expended in the sharpening of mine drills as well as the expense of the same. At present mine drills are sharpened by hand. The new machine will sharpen them better, quicker and in a more uniform manner. There is no doubt that after the machine is thoroughly introduced and known by mining men that it will be in common use. The machines will be manufactured at the Cleaves foundry.

The first practical test of the new machine—which by the way has not been christened with a name—was made Monday afternoon in the presence of a number of interested persons. The trial was a grand success. The machine did all that is claimed for it and even exceeded the expectations of those present. Its operation was truly wonderful. The machine was operated by John Word and in this connection it may be said that only one man is required to run it. The power is compressed air, the machine operating under eighty pounds pressure. Two levers control the shutting off and releasing of the air on two hammers used in the operation, one a vertical and the other a horizontal hammer, and the levers in turn are controlled by the right foot of the person operating the machine. A forward movement of the foot on the foot plate shuts off the air from one of the hammers and at the same time releases air on the other hammer, and vice versa. The tools on which the drill bit is shaped and sharpened are securely fitted on a movable anvil which permits the tools to be moved separately under the vertical hammer directly in front of the horizontal hammer in one second.

The first process in making or sharpening a mine drill is the "upsetting" of the steel. This is done with both the horizontal and vertical hammers, and of course the drill end worked on is red hot. After the upsetting process the bit of the drill is placed on the tool called the "splitter" and under the vertical hammer. The "splitter" spreads out the wings of the bit and gives it some shape. The "piener," except in the making process, is the next tool used and this "piens" out the corners at the end of the bit or being. Then to a sharp edge so that the two sharp edges of the bit intersect each other as two lines. This in reality is the sharpening tool. The horizontal hammer is used in that process. The bit is then placed under the vertical hammer on a tool called the "swage" to give it a uniform thickness and size. "Dollying" the bit to straighten the edges comes next and then the tempering. The shank of the drill which fits into the chuck of a drilling machine is rounded off by a tool which is attached to the horizontal hammer. The machine is so made that it can sharpen or make any size of bit desired. The end block of the machine, which regulates the length and fits up closely to the shank of the drill, is worked by friction action and governed by a lever.

The average time consumed by the machine in making or sharpening a drill is one minute, but under the circumstances two drills can be sharpened in less than two minutes. This could be done at a mine where the forge is handy and several drills are always heated and ready for the machine. The weight of the machine is about 1,800 pounds. The weight of the blow of one of the hammers can be controlled from the light touch up to 2,000 pounds. Even though the explanation of the operation in the making and sharpening processes may appear complex and as requiring a much longer time than a minute the machine is truly operated by but one man and in the time stated. The inventor and the man who is known as the Word brothers' patent. John Word is the patentee and virtually the inventor, but in carrying out his ideas he was materially assisted by his brother, William, and the Scott brothers of the Black Oak mine, California. Work on the first machine was started in January of last year and the patent secured in March, 1901.

DEATH BY SUICIDE.
Coroner's Jury Returns a Verdict in the Underwood Case.
The body of R. P. Underwood, a Calumet & Hecla mine watchman and a well-known citizen of Calumet, was found in his room at the home of Joseph Saddy on Scott street by friends Monday evening. A revolver by the side of the dead man told the story. The coroner's jury, impaneled by Coroner Fisher shortly after the discovery, rendered a verdict of death by suicide yesterday.

NO SKI TOURNAMENT.
Lack of Snow in Copperdom Will Cause Ishpeming Riders to Stay Home.
Unless there is a snow storm before Saturday there will be no ski tournament in the copper country that day. Copperdom has been enjoying spring-like weather for the last three days and it has raised havoc with the snow. A few weeks ago there was plenty of snow but just now the hills are about bare of the beautiful. So the Ishpeming ski jumpers will have to wait a while. That copper country people would like to see a good exhibition is not doubted but no definite arrangements can be made until it snows again.

ANOTHER FALSE ALARM.
Another false alarm of fire was sounded in Hancock Monday evening from block 12, at the corner of Reservation and Hancock streets. At the time there was a small chimney blaze in the North block but the authorities were of the opinion that there was no need of calling out the department. As a result it has been decided to do away with the glass fronts in the fire alarm boxes and substitute iron doors with keys. The keys will be placed in nearby houses where they may be secured in case of necessity. Although the new arrangement will not be quite so convenient it will do away with the false alarm racket. The iron doors will be put in shortly after Mayor Scott's return from Milwaukee.

ASSAULTED A "REFORMER."
For assaulting John McClain, a Calumet & Hecla mine blacksmith and a member of the Civic Federation of Calumet, Saloomkeeper Peter LaPointe of Hecla street, Laurium paid $25 and costs in Judge Fisher's court Monday. Mr. McClain, who is an active "reformer," says he was assaulted on Hecla street last week. As soon as the loss is determined Proprietor Burt Cummings will reopen the saloon and lower floor of the hotel, which were not materially damaged by the water. The Finnish Mutual Fire Insurance company of Calumet will let the contract today to rebuild the burned portion of the hotel.

EXPRESS OFFICE AT MILLS.
Route Agent T. E. Foard of the Soo arrived in Houghton yesterday. He came to establish an express office at Mills, near Lake Linden on the Hancock & Calumet road. The business at that place has reached such proportions that it is entitled to an office of its own. Heretofore all express for and from Mills has been handled by the Lake Linden office.

J. D. Cuddihy Says Western People Have Little Faith in Management.
John D. Cuddihy, of Calumet, who recently returned from a western trip, says that western people have but little faith in the management of the Old Dominion property, which he visited while on his tour. Affairs at the mine are not being conducted to the satisfaction of those interested and owing to the methods used considerable money has been lost. Six months ago the copper matte piled up at the smelter was worth $1,100,000 but it was not marketed and its value, owing to the drop in the price of copper, has shrunk to $750,000. Only one of the company's three large smelters is working, and nothing but the low grade ore from the upper levels of the mine, about 250 tons a day, is being treated. The lower levels of the mine are said to be very rich and the ore gets better with the depth. The old workings of the mine have been abandoned and operations are being carried on in a different location. Since the present management took hold in 1904 the product has been falling off and it is attributed to a backward policy.

COMPLIMENT FOR BUCHANAN.
Game Warden Buchanan is in receipt of a letter from State Game Warden Grant Morse acknowledging Mr. Buchanan's report of his recent trip through the southern portion of the county in quest of illegal hunters, and commending him for his close attention to duty. The county board certainly made no mistake when it appointed Mr. Buchanan to the office. Mr. Morse requested Mr. Buchanan to keep a close watch for illegal trout fishing from now on. The latter will spend the next few weeks visiting the creeks and rivers in the county in order that there may be no violations of the fish laws.

PAVING RESOLUTIONS READ.
At the special meeting of the Hancock common council Monday afternoon three resolutions referring to the paving of Quincy street and laying the foundation for the special tax to be levied for the work were read by Attorney Finnegan. Considerable discussion followed but nothing definite was done owing to the absence of several of the councilmen. The resolutions will not be passed upon until the next regular meeting of the council, to be held one week from today.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES PAVING.
A special meeting of the Hancock common council was held yesterday afternoon to consider resolutions for the paving of Quincy street. The passing of these resolutions is a necessary preliminary step before the final arrangements for the work can be made. Mayor Scott will leave for Milwaukee today to confer with Engineer Austin, who will be in charge of the work, in regard to the advertising for bids and the exhibiting of the plans and specifications at both Milwaukee and Hancock.

LITTLE TRUANCY IN CALUMET.
Calumet's truant officer is continually on the alert for youngsters who are not in school, and the result is that here and there a little truant in copperdom's metropolis, James Wills, the truant officer, arrested Sam Stevens, a fifteen-year-old boy who has been employed as a pin setter in the Miller bowling alleys, Monday, and County Agent W. F. Miller of Houghton attended to the case. The same evening Young Stevens will have to go to school.

TO ADJUST FIRE LOSS.
An insurance adjuster is expected at Hancock today to estimate the loss on the fixtures and furnishings damaged by fire and water in the International hotel last week. As soon as the loss is determined Proprietor Burt Cummings will reopen the saloon and lower floor of the hotel, which were not materially damaged by the water. The Finnish Mutual Fire Insurance company of Calumet will let the contract today to rebuild the burned portion of the hotel.

ASSAULTED A "REFORMER."
For assaulting John McClain, a Calumet & Hecla mine blacksmith and a member of the Civic Federation of Calumet, Saloomkeeper Peter LaPointe of Hecla street, Laurium paid $25 and costs in Judge Fisher's court Monday. Mr. McClain, who is an active "reformer," says he was assaulted on Hecla street last week. As soon as the loss is determined Proprietor Burt Cummings will reopen the saloon and lower floor of the hotel, which were not materially damaged by the water. The Finnish Mutual Fire Insurance company of Calumet will let the contract today to rebuild the burned portion of the hotel.

EXPRESS OFFICE AT MILLS.
Route Agent T. E. Foard of the Soo arrived in Houghton yesterday. He came to establish an express office at Mills, near Lake Linden on the Hancock & Calumet road. The business at that place has reached such proportions that it is entitled to an office of its own. Heretofore all express for and from Mills has been handled by the Lake Linden office.

THE GREAT AMERICAN CLIMATE.
On the heels of a bright mild day comes the fogging blizzard and the next thing you know people have colds and sore throats and stiff backs. Luckily, Perry Davis' Painkiller is at hand to give relief. Take it internally and rub it into the aching flesh. All druggists sell it. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.
A NIGHT ALARM.
Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and it means death unless something is done quickly. Foley's Honey and Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Cordier of Mansington, Ky., writes: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life." Refuse substitutes. Sold by People's Drug Store.

CROWDS IN BERLIN

Portraits of Roosevelt and Henry attract attention.

Kaiser salutes American flag

Germans show pleasure at reception to prince.

Newspapers that never before received special cablegrams from United States are now publishing such messages.

Berlin, Feb. 25.—All day long the crowds stared at the portraits of President Roosevelt and Prince Henry, which hung side by side in front of a newspaper office on "Unter den Linden."

The Germans are showing working up an animation over the reception in the United States to Prince Henry, and are glowing with good feeling toward America.

May Affect Press Dividends. One editor remarked that the entire German press would be without dividends this year, and expressed the hope that nothing else of equal interest would happen on the other side of the Atlantic for five years to come.

All the correspondents in the United States for German newspapers agree upon the warmth of the reception to Prince Henry for President Roosevelt, by the American officials and by the crowds and newspapers.

Regarding the rooms at the White House, the correspondent of Die Post declares them to have been wonderfully and artistically decorated, but without pomp.

American Newspapers Complimented. The attitude of all the newspapers, continues the correspondent, was extraordinarily cordial without exception.

Porto Rican Troops Will Take Formal Possession of Danish West Indies.

Washington, Feb. 25.—It has been practically decided that the formal ceremonies incident to taking over the Danish West Indies by the United States shall be performed by the army, and it is probable a detachment of troops from Porto Rico will be sent to the islands soon after the exchange of the ratifications of the treaty to raise the flag and formally take possession of the new territory.

"SOCIAL EVIL" IN PHILIPPINES.

National Council of Women to Petition Government to Investigate.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The National Council of Women closed its triennial session here today. It elected Mrs. Ida Smoot Dusenberry delegate to the National Congress of Mothers in session here.

Resolutions were adopted to petition the government immediately to investigate the reports that "social evil" is being practiced by the government in the Philippines, and that the United States flag is floating from windows of licensed brothels in Manila and in the various islands in possession of the government, and ask for the abolishing of these practices if found to exist.

WEALTHY IOWAN ASSASSINATED.

Murderer Shoots Farmer Through a Window of His Home.

Keokuk, Ia., Feb. 25.—William Mulliken, a wealthy farmer near here, was assassinated tonight, being shot in the side of the head through a window. He was talking to his wife over a newspaper when the murderer stepped on the porch and fired one shot from a revolver. Mulliken was killed instantly.

Mulliken was of a jovial disposition and often came to Keokuk in the evening with about a thousand dollars in money in his clothes. He was often robbed but never complained. No robbery was attempted at the house. The murdered man owned large farms near here and much city property, including a prominent hotel.

CUT HIS WIFE'S THROAT.

Dying Woman Charges Husband With Horrible Crime.

Louisville, Feb. 25.—Mrs. James E. Reagan, wife of a Wolfe county lumberman, was found in a room at Welch's tavern today, with her throat cut from ear to ear. The woman, who will probably die, charges her husband with having committed the deed after a quarrel, and who was arrested.

Reagan claims he and his wife were assaulted early this morning by thieves, who, after wounding his wife, cut him on the chin and robbed him. When Reagan was arrested a bloody Barlow knife was found in a grip in his room.

GAZETTEER OF CUBA

INTERESTING FACTS COMPILED BY GEOGRAPHER GANNETT.

ISLAND'S AREA 43,000 SQUARE MILES

MINERAL RESOURCES ALMOST ENTIRELY HEMATITE IRON.

Greater Percentage of Inhabitants Are Whites and Colored Population Is Steadily Diminishing—Many Are Illiterate.

"A Gazetteer of Cuba," by Henry Gannett, geographer, is the title of Bulletin No. 192 of the United States Geological Survey, now in press, but not yet published.

Cuba, the largest and most populous of the West Indian islands, lying directly south of Florida, has an extreme length, from Cape Maisi on the east to Cape San Antonio on the west, of 730 miles, a breadth ranging from 100 in the east to twenty-five miles in the neighborhood of Havana, and an area, including the island of Pines and the bordering keys, of approximately 43,000 square miles.

The north coast is mainly steep and rocky. In the western part of Cuba the bluffs are low; toward the eastern end, in Santiago province, the coast is rugged and almost mountainous. The south coast from Cape Maisi westward to Cape Cruz is bordered by mountains, partly by the Sierra Maestra. West of Cape Cruz is the Bay of Buena Esperanza, into which flows the Rio Cauto, the largest stream of the island. Thence westward the coast is low and marshy, broadening west of Cienfuegos, into the great Zapata swamp, seventy-five miles long and thirty miles broad. Off the southern coast are mainly low, mangrove covered islands.

Harbor Entrances Narrow. Most of the harbors of both coasts are narrow crooked channels opening into sheltered basins. The middle portion of the island, including the provinces of Habana, Matanzas, Santa Clara, and Puerto Principe, consists of broad, undulating plains, and shallow valleys. Throughout Pinar del Rio province in the west, parallel to the coast, runs a watershed, the Organo mountains, exceeding 2,000 feet, whose southward slopes form the celebrated Vuelta Abajo tobacco land. In Santiago province, the Sierra Maestra reaches altitudes exceeding 5,000 feet, and one peak, Turquino, is 8,320 feet high. The rivers of Cuba are numerous, but short, and few are navigable except through their estuaries. The Cauto, in Santiago province, is navigable for about fifty miles, and the Sagua Grande, in Santa Clara province, for about twenty miles. The interior of the island is dependent on only 1,100 miles of railroad and its poor trunk roads for intercommunication.

The mineral resources of the island, so far as developed, consist almost entirely of hematite iron ore, which has been mined for many years at the south base of the Sierra Maestra, a few miles east of Santiago. Nearly all the ore, which contains about 60 per cent of iron, is shipped to the United States. Copper, gold and silver were mined formerly. Asphaltum has been found in several places, particularly near the city of Santa Clara, where it has been utilized to make illuminating gas.

Climate Comparatively Simple.

The climate of Cuba is comparatively simple. The northeast trade winds bring an ample rainfall, about fifty-two inches, to the northern slopes of the island, between May and October; the rainfall on the southern slopes is less, but sufficient for most crops. The mean annual temperature at Havana is 77 degrees. The higher temperature lasts a long time, but on the northern slopes of the island the nights, even in summer, are cool.

The six provinces, from west to east, Pinar del Rio, Havana, Matanzas, Santa Clara, Puerto Principe, Santiago, are divided into 132 municipal districts, or terminos municipales, including the island of Pines; and are subdivided into about 1,500 barrios, including those constituting the cities. Cities, as organized in our sense, do not exist in Cuba. Havana has no legal limits, but comprises most of the municipal district of that name.

Colonists landed at Nuevitas on the north coast of Puerto Principe on Oct. 28, 1492. In 1512, Velasquez, with 300 men, founded the town of Baracoa near the eastern end of the island, and two years later Santiago and Trinidad, both on the southern coast. Havana was founded in 1519 and became the capital in 1552. In 1775 the European population numbered 171,620. The English held Havana and a part of Matanzas for some months in 1762. Insurrections occurred in 1717, 1812, 1826, 1808, and finally in 1895, the last resulting in the relinquishment by Spain of her sovereignty to the United States on Dec. 10, 1898.

Inhabitants of Island.

The aboriginal inhabitants of Cuba have been estimated at from 200,000 to 1,000,000. They were enslaved, put to work, and destroyed by the European settlers long before the end of the sixteenth century. African slaves were then introduced, and the African slave trade remained a most profitable one up to the abolition of slavery in 1883. The Spanish census of 1887 gave the population as 1,531,687; the census, taken under the direction of the United States war department in 1899 gave the population as 1,572,797, or nearly 9,000 less. Allowing for probable increase of population between 1887 and 1895, the date of the beginning of the insurrection, the loss of life due to the war, as indicated by these two censuses, may be estimated at nearly 200,000, and fell entirely upon the three western provinces, Pinar del Rio, Havana, and Matanzas. The density of population, taking the island as a whole, was 35.7 inhabitants to the square mile, and varied

Excess of Males Noted.

As to sex, the proportions were 51.8 per cent males and 48.2 per cent females, the excess of males being probably due to immigration. As to race, there were 68 per cent white and 32 per cent colored, and the colored population has for many years been diminishing. The foreign-born formed 9 per cent of the total population, which leaves 60 per cent as native whites. Three-fourths of the foreign-born came from Spain, the remainder chiefly from the United States, China, and Africa. Nearly one-third of the foreign-born element was found in Havana. The proportion of those married was 24 per cent of the population, and of this proportion about two-thirds were legally married, and one-third were living together without marriage. The legally married constituted only about one-half the proportion to the population that they do in the United States.

Of the total population 34 per cent were able to read, illiterates being 66 per cent among the colored than among the whites, and greater in the rural districts than in the cities. The number of Cubans reported as having gainful occupations was 40 per cent of the total population, a larger percentage than in either the United States, or Porto Rico. Of the males, 65 per cent were wage-earners; of the females, 9 per cent. Of the wage-earners, 48 per cent were employed in agriculture, fisheries and mining; 23 per cent in domestic and personal service; 15 per cent in manufacturing; 13 per cent in trade and transportation; and 1 per cent in the professions.

Farms Under Cultivation. There were, in 1899, 90,711 farms, having an average size of 143 acres, and an average cultivated area per farm of 13 acres. Only 10 per cent of the farm area and only 3 per cent of the total area of the island was under cultivation. Matanzas and Havana provinces are the most highly cultivated parts of the island. Of the cultivated area, less than 50 per cent was owned by its occupants, the rest being rented; and 85 per cent was occupied by whites, as owners or renters, only 11 per cent by colored, the remainder being unknown.

Measured by the areas under cultivation, sugar cane occupied 47 per cent of the cultivated lands; sweet potatoes 11 per cent; tobacco 9 per cent; bananas a little less than 9 per cent; and other crops in smaller proportions. Santa Clara and Matanzas produced nearly three-fourths of the sugar crop. Santiago, Cuba, and Havana about one-sixteenth. Three-fourths of the entire tobacco crop came from Pinar del Rio, and nearly all the remainder from Havana and Santa Clara provinces. There were in Cuba, in 1899, 207 sugar mills or centrals, producing daily 61,407 bags of sugar. There were also eighty-five stills, with a daily capacity of 161,751 gallons. Coffee was once an important Cuban product; but little is now produced, that little coming from the provinces of Santiago and Santa Clara.

WELCOME BY THE MAYOR.

Prince Henry and Party Are Given the Freedom of the City.

New York, Feb. 25.—At Battery Park the prince was greeted by an immense crowd escorted by the mayor's committee, the party drove up Broadway, the crowds welcoming him with tremendous cheers. In Wall street an avalanche of ticker tape almost covered the prince, who took it in good part and saluted the throngs.

At the city hall the party was welcomed by the mayor, and in the presence of the board of aldermen and a brilliant assemblage was given the freedom of the city, the mayor saying among other things:

"The freedom of the city, which is now to be conferred upon you, has not very often been granted in all our history. If it be now, in fact, but a form of words, it is a form that signifies the high regard and genuine friendship for him upon whom it is bestowed."

Prince Replies to Mayor.

Prince Henry spoke briefly, expressing his high appreciation for the honor conferred and for the many kindnesses and attentions shown him since his arrival. He concluded by again expressing his thanks, and wishing the city everything good for its future. At the conclusion of the ceremony the party returned to the Hohenzollern. Along the route the prince was given a continuous ovation and the American and German colors were everywhere.

RETURN TO CAPITAL.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt Arrive at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The special train bearing President and Mrs. Roosevelt and some of those who went to New York to witness the launching of the emperor's yacht returned tonight. Secretary Root, Senator Lodge and Miss Alice Roosevelt did not come back with the party, the latter remaining with Mrs. Cowles, the president's sister, for a few days' stay in New York city.

PLAYFUL SPOUSE HANGS WIFE.

Prank at a Rock Island Christening Almost Ends in Tragedy.

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 25.—A celebration following a christening in the southwestern part of the city came near ending in a tragedy. While the merry-makers, a large and powerful man, seized his young wife and carried her into the yard. Finding there a piece of rope, he placed one end of it about her neck, and throwing the other over the limb of a tree, without more ado drew her off the ground. Then he went back into the house and consoled a number of his friends the nature of the joke he had played on his better half. Some of the more sober ones thought it best to investigate, and upon doing so found to their horror that the playful husband had told the truth. They cut the woman down and restored her to consciousness by the use of stimulants.

"The freedom of the city, which is now to be conferred upon you, has not very often been granted in all our history. If it be now, in fact, but a form of words, it is a form that signifies the high regard and genuine friendship for him upon whom it is bestowed."

Prince Replies to Mayor.

Prince Henry spoke briefly, expressing his high appreciation for the honor conferred and for the many kindnesses and attentions shown him since his arrival. He concluded by again expressing his thanks, and wishing the city everything good for its future. At the conclusion of the ceremony the party returned to the Hohenzollern. Along the route the prince was given a continuous ovation and the American and German colors were everywhere.

RETURN TO CAPITAL.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt Arrive at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The special train bearing President and Mrs. Roosevelt and some of those who went to New York to witness the launching of the emperor's yacht returned tonight. Secretary Root, Senator Lodge and Miss Alice Roosevelt did not come back with the party, the latter remaining with Mrs. Cowles, the president's sister, for a few days' stay in New York city.

PLAYFUL SPOUSE HANGS WIFE.

Prank at a Rock Island Christening Almost Ends in Tragedy.

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 25.—A celebration following a christening in the southwestern part of the city came near ending in a tragedy. While the merry-makers, a large and powerful man, seized his young wife and carried her into the yard. Finding there a piece of rope, he placed one end of it about her neck, and throwing the other over the limb of a tree, without more ado drew her off the ground. Then he went back into the house and consoled a number of his friends the nature of the joke he had played on his better half. Some of the more sober ones thought it best to investigate, and upon doing so found to their horror that the playful husband had told the truth. They cut the woman down and restored her to consciousness by the use of stimulants.

Its rich, creamy lather extracts every particle of dirt; but it stops at the dirt! Ivory Soap—it floats.

WALL STREET STOCKS.

Market is Again Largely Devoted to Obscure Specialties.

New York, Feb. 25.—Today's stock market was again largely devoted to obscure specialties, both in the railroad and industrial list. The most of these showed advances and the entire lack of the explanation of the movements pointed to manipulation by speculative pools. Some of those which have advanced heretofore were undergoing the process of profit-taking, and the relapses thus caused were some times exceedingly sharp. There was desultory speculation here and there among the high-priced industrials, and in one or two groups as a whole, but the movements were of little significance and the tone of the market at all times was mixed and irregular.

Amalgamated Copper and Sugar were inclined to heaviness, the first on the reports that the purchases of the mine reported yesterday had been given undue significance, and the latter on the shading of prices of refined sugar. Amalgamated rose suddenly a point over last night. The strength of the specialties kept the general undertone firm.

Monday's sales on the Boston stock exchange, in shares, were in part as follows:

CIGARETTE SMOKERS BARRED.

Northwestern Students Must Quit Weed or Leave School.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Cigarette smokers are not wanted at the Northwestern Academy, Evanston. Dr. H. F. Fisk, principal of the academy, made a speech to the students against the weed, and ended by advising those who thought they couldn't quit them to leave the academy. He said that their tuition money would be refunded.

The address was made at chapel, and Dr. Fisk drew his conclusions of the effects of cigarette smoking from the comparative standing made in the recent examinations by those who smoke and those who do not.

Dividing the students into four grades, Dr. Fisk said that but 2 per cent of the users of cigarettes were in the highest grade, while 57 per cent of cigarette smokers stood in the lowest grade. Of the very best students the principal said that not one was a cigarette smoker.

"My experience has been," said Dr. Fisk, "that four out of five of those who persist in the cigarette habit ultimately make a failure in their studies, and for that reason I would advise those who do not wish to quit to withdraw from the school."

COLOMBIAN REVOLT SPREADING.

Insurgents Making Gains and Fresh Uprisings Are Reported.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Feb. 25.—In spite of the bulletins of victories over the insurgents published by the Venezuelan government, advices received here from Caracas indicate that the revolution is gaining ground daily. New uprisings are reported in almost all parts of the country, notably in the Tacriba district, on the Colombian frontier, and in the vicinity of Barcelona, where the insurgents are concentrating.

It is also asserted that General Matos' revolutionary steamer, Libertador (formerly the Ban Rich), having landed arms, ammunition and reinforcements at Pedernales, in the Gulf of Paria, the insurgents assembled at Maturin assumed the offensive and defeated the government troops at El Pilar, a village situated fifty kilometers from Carupano (state of Bermudez).

The latter place is said to be threatened by the insurgents.

The Chicago Department Store, 300 Front street, has closed its doors and will not resume business before Saturday morning, March 1st, the entire stock to be disposed of regardless of cost or value, by J. C. Rosenberg of Chicago. See small bills for prices, etc. (2-24-11)

A Strong Woman

Iowa City, Iowa, Aug. 15, 1900
My wife was sick for three years. We tried everything without relief and spent much money. My wife tried Wine of Cardui and four bottles cured her. She took two more bottles, knowing she would have to work hard during the hay harvest. She attended to all her household duties and loaded and unloaded all the hay. This medicine gave her strength. Formerly she was weak and tired and could hardly get about, but since she has been taking Wine of Cardui she feels better and stronger than when 20 years of age. JOS. A. EISENHAFER.

WINE OF CARDUI

Now, after taking the Wine of Cardui, she can work with her husband in the hay field. That is hard work, but it is not as injurious to a woman's health as labor in stores, factories and offices where thousands of girls are closely confined year after year. With the aid of Wine of Cardui a woman can do any reasonable work and enjoy good health. The health that Wine of Cardui brings makes a woman vigorous in body and mind. Freed from those terrible devastating pains a woman grows well and strong naturally. Wine of Cardui regulates the disordered menstruation and cures leucorrhoea, falling of the womb and periodical pains in the head and back caused by standing or sitting a long time in the same position. Theodora's Black-Draught puts the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys and blood in proper shape. Greatly increased strength and endurance is the natural result. Most cases are cured quickly. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui and 25 cent packages of Theodora's Black-Draught.

NEW STOCK COMPANY.

Will Control Lumber, Wood and Coal
Business of Two Local Firms.

Plans are nearly completed for the organization of a stock company, which will purchase the lumber, coal and wood business of F. W. Read & Co. and F. Braastad & Co. in this city. The corporation will be capitalized at $500,000, and will be called The Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company. The shares will sell at $10 each.

It is said that the stock is already largely over-subscribed, and some of those who have applied for large blocks of it will not get all they want. An inventory of the stock of both concerns is now being taken and a charter has been applied for.

It is expected that the charter will arrive within the next few days. Meanwhile the inventory will be completed and everything will be in readiness for perfecting the organization.

Randall P. Bronson, who has managed the local business of F. W. Read & Co. for a number of years past, will manage the affairs of the new corporation. Mr. Bronson has had a life-long experience in the lumber and fuel business and a better selection of a manager could not have been made.

The lease of the ground which F. Braastad & Co. occupy as a coal and wood yard will be transferred to the new company. The firm's coal and wood sheds stand on this ground, though the lots occupied by the lumber yard are owned by Mr. Braastad, they having been purchased by him a few years ago from the Ishpeming school board.

It is likely that the business of the corporation will be conducted in the office at present occupied by F. W. Read & Co. This will result in the closing of Braastad's office, as it will not be necessary to keep both open.

Both yards and all the sheds at present in use by both concerns will be utilized by the Consolidated company. The yards are admirably located for the economical handling of the material kept in stock.

ART EXHIBIT BEGINS TODAY.

Display Will Continue the Remainder of the Week at Anderson's Hall.

Much interest is being manifested, particularly by the teachers and pupils of the high school, in the exhibition of artistic photographs by the Soule Art company to begin today at the Anderson hall and to continue during the balance of the week. The features of the display will be superb views of the temples, pyramids and statues of the Nile valley. A number of very remarkable pictures will be shown and all true lovers of art should not fail to attend the exhibition during one of the days it will be held. It is said that some of the views to be displayed are unsurpassed in their beautiful perfection of the detail of Moorish architecture.

The instructors of the local school consider themselves in great luck in being given this opportunity to view the pictures carried by the Soule Art company. The children of the school have disposed of a large number of tickets which will admit the holders to the hall on any afternoon or evening during the remainder of the week. The tickets are selling at ten cents each. The money realized will be utilized for the purchase of pictures and other works of art for the schools. In view of the small admission asked for an exhibition of such merit as this will be, the hall should be crowded every evening.

GRIFFITH IN "A KING'S RIVAL."

This Well Known and Popular Actor
Will Be Here Next Monday.

John Griffith, of "Faust" fame, will appear here next Monday evening in his version of "Don Caesar," which is the lead of the present theatrical season. Mr. Hackett and Mr. Fayersham are doing this piece in New York, and London is having a "Don Caesar" craze also. It is, by far, the best romantic play of the year, having far more comedy than most plays of this kind. In fact, it is indeed almost a comedy. Mr. Griffith's many admirers will receive a delightful surprise to see how much comedy Mr. Griffith gets out of these situations.

Mr. Brennan has been especially engaged to play the old comedy "Marquise," and while he is on the stage the audience is in a continuous uproar.

Miss Kathryn Purnell, the leading support of Mr. Griffith, is one of the prettiest and most talented actresses on the stage today and will be most pleasantly remembered as Mr. Griffith's "Marguerite" in "Faust." She will play the Gypsy girl, "Moritana," who has an ambition to be a romancer, around which the plot revolves.

The company is an excellent one especially engaged for this play. It carries all scenery necessary for the production, also many new electrical effects.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The first session of the Sunday school convention, announced a short time ago to take place at the Presbyterian church, will be held this afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. A second session will be held this evening, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a meeting for children, to which all Sunday school pupils in the city are invited.

Addresses will be delivered at each session by Alfred Day, state secretary of the Sunday School association, and Mrs. Bryner of Chicago.

SUCCESSFUL CHURCH BAZAAR.

The bazaar held Saturday evening last at the Swedish Mission church was unusually successful. It was given by the Sunday School society, managed by Mrs. F. Braastad and Miss Annie West. The young people of the society had for some time been making useful and fancy articles to be sold at the bazaar. In consequence, many very pretty things were offered and disposed of readily. Refreshments were served during the evening and the attendance was large. The function netted about $100, which will be applied to the church fund.

HE KNEW THE REASON.

"Pay Day" Was the Reason This Youngster
Had a Day Away From School.

Youthful precocity sometimes gives teachers in the public schools opportunity to show whether they are gifted with that peculiar faculty which makes the patient pedagogue.

One of the teachers in the Salisbury school had a vivid illustration of the fact recently. She had been impressing upon the youngsters in her charge the fact that Saturday was Washington's birthday. With patient labor she had told the youngsters the tale of the "father of his country," and believed that she had impressed the story upon their minds.

Friday afternoon she thought the time had arrived when the lessons of patriotism which she had been giving the lads could be tested. "Well, I guess," remarked a knickerbocker youngster as the teacher fished him out of the mix-up, "Dad works over there, and I know it's pay day—see?"

"Well, Joe?"
"Please, ma'am, it's pay day at the East End."

"Now, it ain't. It's at the Angelina," was the sarcastic remark which came like a flash from one of the other lads.

That challenge came like the waving of a red rag at a bull. In another moment there was a discussion which took all the skill of the teacher to quell.

"Well, I guess I know," remarked a knickerbocker youngster as the teacher fished him out of the mix-up, "Dad works over there, and I know it's pay day—see?"

And the teacher is wondering yet whether the lessons of patriotism she imparted were entirely wasted or not.

JOSEPH WHINNEN EXPIRES.

Old Resident Found Dead in His Bed
Yesterday Morning.

Joseph Whinnen, who had been a resident of Ishpeming for the past twenty-five years or more, was found dead in his bed yesterday morning. He retired Monday night, feeling quite as well as usual, though he had been ailing for a few weeks past. The deceased was fifty-two years of age and is survived by his wife and several children.

Mr. Whinnen was an ex-treasurer of the city. About thirteen years ago he received an injury to his spine while working in the Lake Superior mine. This resulted in partial paralysis of the lower portion of his body and he had since been an invalid, though a great improvement in his condition had been noticed during the past year or more.

For a year past he had looked after the dry house at the Lake Superior Hard Ore mine, and was at work Monday, the day before his death.

Funeral arrangements will be completed this morning. It is likely that the remains will be held tomorrow afternoon.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to take this means of publicly thanking all kind friends for the interest they manifested in our behalf during our recent bereavement, also for the assistance extended by them. We assure all who in any way aided in comforting us during our hour of trial that we most heartily appreciate their efforts. We feel that words cannot express our thanks for the favors shown. THOMAS WALL AND FAMILY.

SOMETHING THAT WILL DO YOU GOOD.

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup—Camden (S. C.) ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

George Voelker advertises a fresh milk cow for sale.

John F. Mack of Marquette had business in Ishpeming yesterday.

J. C. Wareham, a popular barber of Hancock, was an Ishpeming visitor yesterday.

Sam Krokola and Miss Alina Lehtinen, both of this city, have made application for a marriage license.

Harry Watson, who has been ill with pneumonia the past two or three weeks, is able to be out of the house, though he is still quite weak.

The members of the Ishpeming Ski club will take their regular outing this evening. They will visit their usual resort at Deer lake.

H. E. Nelson has resigned the management of the Scandinavian Co-operative society's store here. His successor has not yet been named.

Captain Thomas Walters spent yesterday at Crystal Falls, visiting the Monongahela mine, which is being operated under his supervision.

A. G. Bohrer and wife of Hancock returned home Sunday after a couple of days' visit here with Mrs. Bohrer's parents, Captain James H. Rough and wife.

Ralph Bingham was greeted by a large audience last evening at the Ishpeming Opera House when he appeared to give one of his popular entertainments under direction of the ladies of the Presbyterian church. The attendance was larger than that which turned out to any of the other entertainments of the course, and the entertainment was greatly enjoyed.

The thoroughfares of the city have been in very bad shape the past couple of days. A few more days of soft weather and wagons will take the place of sleighs.

John Wall, who has spent the past two months or so with his folks here, left last evening for Houghton, where he will resume his position as brakeman in the South Shore yards.

Peter Handberg, who has been employed as clerk in S. Johnson & Co.'s store for some time past, has taken the position of assistant bookkeeper, succeeding Martin O. Johnson.

Frank Bankson, who is employed at the Cleveland Lake mine engine house, sustained a fracture of an arm last Friday. The member came in contact with a part of the moving machinery.

Mrs. M. Martineau is confined to the house as a result of a bad fall she received a few days ago while entering F. Braastad & Co.'s grocery store. The sufferer is under the care of Dr. W. S. Peotter.

Captain John H. Walls, of 709 Morris street, advertises in this issue for a blacksmith and a machinist. He wants mechanics who are accustomed to work about a mine. Good wages will be paid the right men.

A cloak gallery of large dimensions is being erected in the rear of F. Braastad & Co.'s dry goods department. This will make it possible to utilize additional space on the ground floor for the display of other goods.

Peter Gummerson has taken a position as assistant bookkeeper at the Finnish Co-operative society's store. Mr. Gummerson is a very competent man and the Finnish people did well in securing his services.

The dwelling which Harry Hulst is building on Pine street, near Johnston, will soon be enclosed. A good-sized force of carpenters is employed there. The men have pushed work during the past week while the fine weather prevailed.

A number of Ishpeming people will attend the colonial supper to be given tomorrow evening by the ladies of the Presbyterian church at Negaunee. The supper will attract a large crowd of Negaunee people, the ladies having disposed of several hundred tickets over there.

Reduced rates will be in effect on the South Shore road Thursday evening for the benefit of the play-goers who wish to see James O'Neill in "Monte Cristo" at the Marquette Opera House. If necessary, the late train leaving Marquette will be held until the close of the performance.

Thomas Wall, who came over from Crystal Falls to attend the funeral of his aunt, the late Mrs. Thomas Wall, returned home yesterday. Thomas Doyle and wife, who were down from the Gogebie range on the same mission, went home Monday. Mr. Doyle formerly lived in this city.

Gust Hallstrom will leave the latter part of this week for Marquette to take a position as clerk in Louis Grabow's store. Mr. Hallstrom has been in the employ of Ed Clark for the past few months and prior to taking that position he was with F. Braastad & Co. Mr. Hallstrom expects to move his family to the Queen City as soon as he can find a convenient house there.

The Soo Times in its issue of Sunday last said: "T. F. Follis, who recently accepted a position as head clerk at Ishpeming for the John W. Joachim Hardware Co., arrived in the Soo yesterday to spend Sunday with his family. Mrs. Follis and daughter expect to move to their new home in Ishpeming this week. Mr. Follis is well pleased with his new position. The many Soo friends of Mr. and Mrs. Follis regret their departure from this city."

A THOUSAND DOLLARS THROWN AWAY.
Mr. W. W. Baker of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife had lung trouble for over fifteen years. We tried a number of doctors and spent over a thousand dollars without any relief. She was very low and I lost all hope, when a friend suggested trying Foley's Honey and Tar, which I did; and thanks be to this great remedy it saved her life. She is stronger and enjoys better health than she has ever known in ten years. We shall never be without Foley's Honey and Tar and would ask those afflicted to try it." Sold by People's Drug Store.

VENICE IN FLOOD.
Entrances of Palaces on the Grand Canal Submerged.

What a fog is to London a flood is to Venice. It interrupts routine and disorganizes everything. The comparison ends there and does not extend to vital statistics. The fog is noisome; the flood is an occasion of merrymaking. A Venice correspondent sends us a little "impression" of a recent flood experience there. When the flood wind to which Venice owes her mild winter is persistent the tides are so affected as to arrest the flow of water from the narrow canals to the lagoons. The wind blows rain, which, being continuous, assists to raise the water level.

In the recent flood the halls of houses and entrance steps of palaces on the Grand canal were submerged; the Piazza was inundated and lay like a mir-

SHERMAN ANECDOTES.

Famous Soldier Loved to Give and Take in Repartee.
Of the many anecdotes told of General Sherman, the following will appeal to those who remember the abrupt, nervous manner of the great leader:

At least once a year the general visited a few of the larger military posts in the west. Fort Leavenworth being the main objective point, as the general of the army was then one of the board of visitors to inspect the military prison there. In course of one of these visits the usual evening reception was given to the general and his party at the home of the commanding general of the department. Escorting after a while from the crowded rooms, General Sherman came out upon the wide veranda, to get a breath of the cool evening air. A youth from the nearby city, likewise seeking the quiet, delighted at such an opportunity for an informal chat with the distinguished guest, sauntered up and accosted him:

"What a great bore all this sort of thing must be to you, general!"
"What's that?" peering at him intently.

"I say, it must bore you so, going about in this way, meeting a lot of people you don't know, and making them feel that you do remember them."

"Yes, yes. Now, for instance, I don't know who the devil you are!"
On the other hand General Sherman could and did say most kind and tactful things, especially to women. It was at this same reception that the wife of an officer well known to the general was present with her husband. General Sherman had never seen her before, but taking her hand he greeted her cordially and said: "Madam, how are those dear children?" The officer's wife never would believe that it was only a shrewd guess; she was convinced that he had heard of those four little girls.

A cavalry officer used to tell of his meeting with General Sherman. The young cavalryman frequently indulged in some added decoration in the way of trimming on their blouses. This was not regulation, but they thought it gave a little more dash to their uniform. One of these facts was a single, heavy black silk cord put on the front of the blouse, just below the collar line, fastened on each side, but hanging loosely across the chest. Seeing one of these irregular ornaments one time, General Sherman darted up to the officer, lifted the cord in his fingers, saying: "What's this, sir?"

With a salute the young officer replied: "My lariat, sir." Perhaps it was the presence of mind in this quick reply that caused the general to walk away without further comment.

General Sherman appreciated the value of the line of the army, as will be seen from a story told by an infantry officer, that when his department commander requested that he be detailed to some staff position, General Sherman returned the application disapproved, on the ground that "line officers so detailed are apt to degenerate into mere staff officers!"—New York Tribune.

OSZARK GOLD MINING & MILLING CO., MOSCOW, IDAHO.

GREAT DEVELOPMENT. In Florence—The Splendid Showing of the Banner and Ozark Has Stimulated All Other Mining Enterprises.

J. N. Taylor, United States Mineral Surveyor, has just come down from Florence and reports great activity in the camp and that there is more development going on at the present time than there has ever been before in central Idaho.

In an interview with The Star reporter, Mr. Taylor said: "The Banner is working sixty men in getting their mine ready to start as soon as the hundred ton mill they are putting in is completed."

But the Banner is not the only mine in the camp that has developed. The Ozark mine lying north of the Banner is also drifting on a twenty-four foot ledge on the 100 foot level, and there is no question but that it will develop into a great mine, as it has the richest ore in the camp and has a greater showing as far as developed than the Banner.

The remains of the late Peter Cole, who died here at an early hour Monday morning, have been taken to L'Anse-au-Loup, home for interment. The mother and sister of the deceased, who were with him when he passed away, accompanied the remains to L'Anse.

Louis Greener, manager of the Negaunee Co-operative store, left Monday evening for Milwaukee and Chicago, where he will spend a week or so purchasing new goods.

Andrew Lindquist, the contractor, will soon go up to Champion to do some work at Levine & Davidson's store. New shelving will be put in and the interior will be improved in other ways.

Manager McDonald has secured John Griffith of "Faint" fame, for a date at his theatre next Saturday evening when he will be seen in "A King's Rival."

Those who have seen John Griffith in such roles as "Faint," "The King's Rival" and other tragic creations, would little think that the actor is also a gifted comedian.

Several years ago a noted phrenologist was spending a few days at Mr. Griffith's summer home up the Hudson and gained the reluctant consent of the actor to let him make a reading of his head.

OCEAN DERELICTS. The Fanny E. Wolston Roamed Ten Thousand Miles.

Perhaps it is the natural instinct to personally every craft that floats—perhaps it is because they were once the homes of living beings—that makes human interests in derelicts universal.

TOWN AT BIG BAY

MAFEE SETTLEMENT TAKING ON THE AIRS OF A VILLAGE.

TWO BIG MILLS ARE BUILDING

MANY STRUCTURES ALREADY, ALL LIGHTED BY ELECTRICITY.

Timber Holdings of the Company Are Sufficient to Furnish Food for the Saws for Many Years to Come—Town's Future Bright.

About thirty miles up the lake shore from the city, at a point where a year ago was a virgin forest, tenanted only by song birds and the wild animals native to this region, is now located a flourishing little town which has an exceedingly bright future before it.

The town is that which the Big Bay Lumber company has established. It is situated at the northwestern extremity of Lake Independence, and about half a mile from Big Bay, on Lake Superior. Already it possesses numerous buildings, with more in process of construction; it is equipped with an electric light plant which furnishes illumination for both buildings and the street. It is supplied with a postoffice, with Manager A. McAttee as postmaster, and will soon be possessed of a school and a church, the structure which will house the former now being in process of erection with the intention of being opened in the spring.

Hum of Industry.

A visit paid to the townsite this week found evidence of prosperity and growth on every hand, despite the wintry weather which has somewhat hampered the outdoor operations, and that the little town was a veritable hum of industry. The number of buildings already constructed and their substantial character was surprising. On one side of the main thoroughfare was noted the following:

- Boarding house, 30 by 96 feet in size.
- Sleeping house, 30 by 40.
- Club house and lounging room, 30 by 40.
- Tool house, 30 by 40.
- Blacksmith shop, 30 by 40.
- Machine shop, 36 by 46.
- Portable saw mill, 20 by 40.
- Shingle mill, 30 by 45.
- Ice house and refrigerator, 16 by 24.
- Cannery building, 16 by 20.

On the other side of the street, the structures erected are:

- Store, 24 by 60 feet, two stories high, with a large addition on the rear.
- Four dwelling houses, each 16 by 24.
- Two barns, one 20 by 35 and the other 35 by 50.

In addition, a hotel building is being erected. It will be a structure 24 by 60 feet in size, and with the addition which is proposed to build on in the spring will provide for fifty sleeping rooms.

Big Bend Mill Building.

There is also in process of construction a large permanent saw mill. This will be 30 by 110 feet in dimensions, 25 feet in height to the plate, and will be what is known as a band mill. Its capacity will be 50,000 feet of lumber per day.

The structure which will house the planing machinery is also being erected; in fact, this building is virtually completed and the plant will go into commission within a few days. The planer and other equipment having been set in place before the carpenters began work.

The shingle mill, the building of which is completed, will have a capacity of 100,000 shingles per day. The machinery is now being installed and it is expected that in a week or two the mill will be in operation. Part of its equipment will be a steam drag saw, something new in this section of the country.

The portable mill has an output of 20,000 feet of lumber daily. During the past few months it has been in commission it has turned out 400,000 feet of lumber—hemlock, maple, birch, oak, pine, basswood and some spruce. Of the product, about 275,000 feet has been used in the construction of the various buildings and the balance is still piled in the yards.

Store Is Well Stocked.

At the store a general merchandise business is carried on, and that the stock is no small one may be noted from the fact that during the season of navigation about seventy tons of goods and supplies were shipped to it from Marquette.

The ice house is a veritable cold storage plant, half of the space being utilized as a refrigerator in which meats and other perishable food supplies will be stored during the warm months. The ice compartment is already filled with ice harvested on Lake Superior.

It is claimed for the larger of the two barns that there is no finer in the upper peninsula. It is very well built, is warm and comfortable and, like all the other buildings, is lighted by electricity. It is equipped with conveniences for the scientific care of horses.

The machine shop, which is being equipped with its machinery, will be complete in all appointments. It will be supplied with three lathes, a drill, a planer and other devices with which the up-to-date shop is fitted. The machinery having been shipped to Big Bay last summer from Lake View, Mich., where Mr. McAttee purchased a machine shop entire and sent the complete outfit up north.

Steam Laundry in Spring.

The establishment of a steam laundry in the spring is under contemplation and will undoubtedly be definitely decided upon in a few days, the matter depending on negotiations for a plant, now in progress, being satisfactorily concluded.

level ground and has been graded and rolled until it is declared there is not a street in Marquette that can excel it. Alongside the highway, a tram road from the mills to the shore of the big lake is to be constructed next summer. Over this the lumber and shingles will be hauled to a dock which is to be built during the coming season and from which the product of the company's plant will be loaded directly into vessels. The dock will be 300 feet in length, which will carry it into water sufficiently deep to accommodate the largest of the lumber carriers.

Big Timber Holdings.

The company this winter is furnishing steady employment to a force of sixty-five men, which number will be largely increased when the snow leaves the ground and the mills now being put in readiness go into operation. The monthly payroll aggregates about $2,000. The men employed by the company are of the better class, and none other will be had about the place. They are sober and industrious, and disorders of any kind are unknown and, indeed, would not be permitted. The best of accommodations are provided for the workmen, and in all ways the company endeavors to enhance the good feeling now existing between employer and employee. The men do not sleep in bunks, like in the average lumber camp, but on the best of spring and mattresses. Separate rooms are provided, and the bedding and linen are kept as clean and as fresh as in the most modern hotel. In the dining rooms, the dishes are of crockery, the table linen is of the best and the best of service is provided.

That the future of the town will be a prosperous one is indicated by the timber holdings of the company. Mr. McAttee and his associates own outright 122,500 acres of heavily timbered lands, and in addition have other tracts in view which will likely be acquired in the not distant future. On the lands already controlled there are from 125,000 to 150,000,000 feet of timber and material sufficient for 150,000,000 or more of shingles. The tracts are located on the shores of Lake Independence and along the Yellow Dog river and its tributaries. The main stream empties in the lake and thus assures an inexpensive method of getting the logs to the mills.

Logging All the Timber.

The policy being followed by the company is to cut all the various kinds of timber as the choppers come to it, which explains why not only pine, but hard woods and other varieties of soft woods have been turned into lumber at the portable mill the past few months. It is the claim of woodsmen who have inspected the timber holdings of the Big Bay people that no better has ever been cut in the peninsula; in fact, the quality is considerably beyond expectations. The maple, in particular, is of better than it was anticipated would be the case. None of it so far logged has been possessed of the "black heart" so noticeable of the hardwood in some sections of the peninsula, and the indications are that every stick still standing is just as sound. It is figured that the timber already controlled by the company will be sufficient to feed the saws for fifteen or eighteen years.

Lake Independence is about three and a half by one and a half miles in extent, and is supposed to have at one time been a portion of Lake Superior. The half-mile stretch of country between the two bodies of water is dry and level ground, and in the summer time, with the maple trees and other foliage, is a veritable beauty spot which will attract the resorter. Indeed, several Marquette people and two or three parties residing in lower Michigan have taken options on lots along the smaller lake and proposed to erect summer cottages during the coming season, it being in the same section, by the way, where the summer cottage and farm of J. M. Longyear are located. The lake teems with fish of many varieties and the Yellow Dog river and the creeks which flow into it, as well as the Little Iron river, which is the outlet of Lake Independence, running from it to the big lake, are noted fishing streams. All in all, with the best of water and location and with the town located close at hand, the Lake Independence country would seem to have special attractions for the "summer cottager."

Good Home for Workmen.

The town itself will offer a good home for the toiler. With the mills and their accompanying industrial branches in operation, there will be work for many men the year round. Besides the electric lighting, other conveniences of the up-to-date locality will be provided, and extra inducements for the building of homes will be offered, the company assisting in the requirement of the land and in the construction of the houses and giving employment to practically all who come providing they meet the standard required of the workmen.

The great bulk of the territory in the vicinity of Lake Independence is an excellent farming country, and in the respect of the future, not only a bustling and progressive town, but a progressive agricultural community must be included. The territory now is a practical wilderness but it will not be many more years, and as projected plans are carried out, before it will be well settled. It apparently is an ideal district for the home-seeker.

PAULSON CONVICTED.

Circuit Court Jury Convicts Him on the Second Count—Civil Cases Now.

Isaac Paulson, charged with forgery, was yesterday found guilty of the crime by a jury in the circuit court. He will be sentenced later in the term. Paulson was convicted on the second count. There was doubt that he had actually raised the check, but that he had passed it knowing that a forgery had been committed was held to have been proven. The prisoner is but thirty years of age and has been in this country but a short time, coming from Finland about a year ago. He is said to be an expert penman.

The trial of Paulson was finished at noon yesterday. It was the last of the criminal cases to be considered this term, and this morning the court will turn its attention to the civil docket, the case of James Thornton vs. George Shaw being taken up. This is an appeal from justice court.

FINE BALL GAME.

Maccabees Defeated the Workmen by Narrow Margin Last Night.

Maccabees ... 1 1 3 2 0 0 0 2 0 9
Workmen ... 1 2 0 2 0 3 0 0 0 8

The ball game at the Casino last evening surprised the spectators. They had expected to see an interesting contest, but that it would be as exciting and close as it proved was not the general anticipation. However against the more experienced Maccabees, the Workmen showed up surprisingly strong and demonstrated that from now on they must be figured in the championship of the team as at present composed is certainly a very strong one, and it plays fast and snappy ball.

It was not until the last runner had died that the laurels were decided, and even then there was a disposition in some quarters to dispute the right of the Maccabees to the victory, it being claimed that throughout the contest the umpiring had been partial and that the true score should have favored the A. O. U. W. team. However that may be, the game was intensely exciting and well pleased the spectators.

For the Maccabees, Hogan pitched a strong game; he scored fifteen strikes and Varel took for the Workmen, fanned ten. A particular feature of the contest was the work behind the bat of Carl Rydholm, who took the place of Trudeau on the Maccabee team, Trudeau being out of the city. Rydholm played brilliantly; in fact, had he not put up the game he did the result might have been much different. No rank errors were made by either team, and the game was not marred by wrangling. In fact, in all ways the contest is declared to have been the best of the season.

MAKING CIGARS AND OVERALLS.

About 235 Convicts in the Branch Penitentiary Here.

According to a report compiled by Warden George Freeman, there are 235 prisoners at the branch penitentiary here, nearly all of whom are employed in making cigars and overalls. The average cost of food per day per man is about ten cents. During the past year the maintenance of the prison, as was the case at the other state penal institutions, cost more than the earnings, though nearly all the convicts are employed. The deficit was $22,000, for which amount the state treasury was drawn on. The principal reason for the deficit was the advance in the price of almost everything which goes into the prison for its needs and wants, without a corresponding advance in the price of contract labor. The average earnings per man last year was about thirty-five cents per day. At Jackson last year's deficit was $24,000 and at Ionia $42,000.

At the summer meeting of the joint prison boards, to be held at Mackinac Island, beginning July 25, John Hennes of Menominee, a member of the Marquette prison board, has made a study of the prison of that city. He prepared a paper on that subject, and M. H. Morarity, also of the Marquette board, and Dr. Bliss of the Jackson board will discuss corporal punishment in prisons. The state boards of pardons and of corrections and charities will meet with the prison boards at that time.

CITY BREVITIES.

Today's weather: Partly cloudy, moderate temperature. Brisk southerly winds.

Yesterday's temperature: 7 a. m., 29; noon, 38; 7 p. m., 49. Maximum, 41; minimum, 25.

N. J. Dolph of Kenton is a visitor in the city.

J. H. Sawbridge of Negaunee was among the Marquette visitors down from up the road yesterday.

Warden George Freeman is back from Jackson, where he attended a joint meeting of the prison boards.

C. T. Harvey, formerly of Marquette and remembered as the founder of Harvey, down near Chocoma, is in the city from Ottawa, Ont.

There will be a tournament at the bowling alley this evening. All members of the club are requested to come and enter the contest.

John Penglass, Jr., went to Newberry yesterday in charge of Andrew Railamaki, who had been adjudged insane and committed to the asylum.

J. M. Longyear has leased to Corrigan, McKimley & Co., of Cleveland, eighty acres of land adjoining the Colby mine at Bessemer. The lease runs for five years.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church will hold its tenth anniversary services in the church parlors this afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock.

panied by her sister, Mrs. Charles Line, and the latter's little daughter, who will spend a few weeks here.

L. Getz arrived home yesterday from New York, where he made his purchases of spring dry goods. He secured some rare bargains of which his customers will get the benefit.

The state pardon board will meet at the branch state prison today for a two days' session. Applications for parole and pardon will be considered and testimony from convicts and other persons heard.

Deloth, South Shore & Atlantic stock was in demand in Wall street yesterday. There were quite large transactions and the price closed at a material advance. No explanation of the movement reached here.

The Beavers' ball club leaves for Houghton this morning to play two games with the Light Infantry team. The players will be accompanied by a delegation of "rooters," a round-trip rate of $2.50 applying to all alike.

To date, but thirty marriage licenses have been issued in this county this year. Compared with the same period a year ago this is about twenty-five below the record. Matti Niemi and Amalia Ojala of Republic were yesterday licensed to wed.

The Soo indoor ball team will be here next Monday evening to try conclusions with the Maccabee club. The Lock City players stopping off on their way to the copper country. On their return journey they will contest with the Beavers' team, on Thursday or Friday evening.

F. C. Chamberlain, formerly "the Tall Pine of the Gogebic," but now a resident of Detroit, has been appointed attorney for the A. O. U. W. grand lodge for a term of two years. Mr. Chamberlain is an enthusiastic member of the order and has many personal friends in Marquette.

It develops that the Mapes-Mance case, arising from the removal by the health department of the famous masure pile, has not been finally settled, and was reported Monday. The case will not be tried at this term of court, but will come up, presumably, at the next session.

Ice in the straits of Mackinaw is not generally as solid now as it was a year ago. In some places it has drifted, and piled up to a considerable depth. It averages from ten to twenty inches in thickness at the extreme stern end, while further westward it is but eight or ten inches thick.

Vessels to move upwards of a quarter of a million tons of ore from Marquette to Lake Erie ports were last week chartered on season contracts at the rate of seventy cents per ton. The figure is now accepted as the ruling charge. It is a material advance over the rate received by the vessel men last season.

The street commissioner had a force of men at work yesterday clearing the snow from the gutters in the business section and in general diverting the water into the sewers. The thaw continued yesterday, but along toward evening the temperature turned colder and there were indications of more rigid weather.

William F. McOmbe, a carpenter residing on Lee street, met with an accident Monday at Pickens & Co.'s new coal dock which will keep him from work for a couple of weeks or more. A heavy timber fell on one of his feet, severely smashing the member. The injured man was removed to St. Luke's hospital.

The race at the ice rink last evening resulted in a victory for Champion Nilsson, but by a very close margin. Mitchell skated a very fast race and gave the local visitors a hard time, showing further improvement and surprising his friends. The attendance was large and the exhibition of jumping by Nilsson, very interesting.

The opening of the sale of seats for "Monte Cristo" yesterday morning at Bigelow's found quite an extended line of theatre patrons in wait. The sale continued good all day, and tonight saw the balcony practically sold out and almost three-quarters of the seats down stairs as well. It is expected that the balance will nearly all be taken today.

Sheriff E. J. Swart and deputy of Chippewa county arrived on the afternoon train yesterday with three prisoners sentenced to the branch state prison. The men were manacled and were gazed at with curiosity by the large crowd at the station. A rig was in waiting and took the party direct to the penitentiary. The prisoners were: Felix Fretchette, sentenced to fourteen years for rape; George Webster, two years and six months for assault with intent to do great bodily harm; and Jack McCrea, two and a half years for grand larceny.

The funeral of Carrie Brown, only daughter of A. F. Brown, was held yesterday afternoon from the house on Harrison street. Rev. Mr. Elliot officiating. The little lady was born twelve years ago at Cass City, Mich., and had lived at Ishpeming, L'Anse and in this city. Since coming to Marquette she had been a regular and interested attendant of the Methodist Sunday school and Junior league and she will be greatly missed by her teachers and fellow pupils. Sincere sympathy is felt for her father and brother, who mourn one who was the sunshine of their lives.

Marshal Gribble of Negaunee yesterday brought Alec Pentilla to the county jail to serve a thirty-day term for drunkenness. Pentilla practically makes his home at the jail, especially during the colder months, and for the past ten years he has been confined there at regular intervals. The old gentleman apparently relishes the accommodations at the Pentilla bastille, for as a usual thing he no sooner is released than he comes back again, evidently getting drunk or committing some other minor infraction of the laws on purpose of being at the jail and grounds, and it is well liked by the sheriff and his force. Pentilla it is said, was once a wealthy man, but like many others met with misfortunes.

FOR STOMACH TROUBLES.

"I have taken a great many different medicines for stomach trouble and constipation," says Mrs. S. Geiger of Dunkerton, Iowa, "but never had as good results from any as from Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets." For sale by The Stafford Drug Co.
