"He Won't Die"

Of consumption is a remark often made of a fleshy man. The remark expresses the popular recognition of the fact that the sign of consumption is emaciation, loss of flesh. On the other hand, a gain in flesh is a sure sign that wasting diseases are being cured.

Emaciated people with obstinate coughs, bleeding lungs, night-sweats and weakness, have been perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The several steps of the cure were recorded in ounces and pounds of increasing weight. When there is gain in flesh the wasting disease is being surely cured.

If the Michigan gold field is one-tenth as rich as the first advent claim, the Soo is again properly a subject of congratulation. That there is gold in Michigan is quite likely; that the ore is anywhere near as rich as the first reports would indicate is extremely improbable.

The football season was inaugurated Saturday, both in the west and in the east, and now baseball, racing, polo, golf and the various other sports will vane in popularity, while the gridders entertain thousands of the erstwhile devotees of other pastimes. The knight of the pig skin is now king, and his brief reign will be supreme until he breaks training to polish off his Thanksgiving turkey.

The British cable ship Colonia, by this time, has probably completed the laying of her cargo of the new Pacific cable, starting at Bantled Creek, Vancouver Island, and is en route to Europe for more cable. She has been doing fast work, laying the wire at the rate of 160 miles per day and keeping in constant touch with the shore end. Her sister ship, the Anglia, is to take up the cable from where it is buoyed, splice it and empty her own tanks of the carefully coiled wire. While the United States has been talking about an Asiatic submarine connection, Great Britain has been working, and work wins over words every time.

Germany is likely to furnish a concrete lesson in tariff reform. The price of meat has risen until it is beyond the reach of families usually classed as in "comfortable circumstances." Russia is the only country from which hogs can be imported and these only in restricted quantities. The importation of live cattle is prohibited and that of dressed meats greatly restricted by the agrarian tariff wall and the farmers of the country cannot meet the demand for meat stock. The Frankfurt Zeitung makes bold to state that the only hope lies in the overthrow of the agrarian party now in control, but that is a somewhat elusive hope, as previous experiments have shown.

Judge William Leland Carpenter, the nominee of last week's Grand Rapid convention, will make an ideal justice of the supreme bench and he may be relied upon to conserve the best traditions of that eminent tribunal. Judge Carpenter is a Michigan product, having been born at Orion, Oakland county, forty-eight years ago. His academic training was received in the Michigan Agricultural college, from which he was graduated in 1875. He went at once to the state university, where he took the law course, being graduated from that institution in 1878. Soon after he undertook practice in Detroit, and as one of his biographers puts it, "he had no other business until he went on the bench in January 1894." He was re-elected judge of the Wayne circuit in 1899 and is now serving his second term. While Judge Carpenter is not what would be called an active politician, he has always demonstrated his popularity with the masses by leading his ticket, and he is likewise well liked by lawyers, litigants and juries with whom he comes in contact in conducting his court. His mind is said to be keen, logical and pre-eminently of a "legal" turn, and while he is a rapid worker, his decisions do not suffer from the speed with which he is able to dispose of business. It is said that in the famous litigation against the trustees of the estate of the late Captain E. B. Ward, wherein charges of fraud were made concerning the handling of many millions of dollars, Judge Carpenter handed down his decision the morning after the arguments were closed. The trial had lasted six weeks. Able Detroit and Chicago attorneys had tried the case, and the evidence was voluminous and intricate. Nevertheless the decision went into many details of the case and showed a quick comprehension of all its intricacies and the law applying to them.

Your Liver

Will be roused to its natural duties and your biliousness, headache and constipation be cured if you take Hood's Pills Sold by all druggists. 25 cents.

The latest note-worthy development in the senatorial situation will probably be the last. When Governor Bliss, after D. M. Ferry's withdrawal from the race, appointed General Russell A. Alger to the vacancy caused by the late William McMillan's death, he acted logically and in the best interests of the party. He fully anticipated the action of the next legislature. General Alger will enter on his senatorial duties at the forthcoming short session of congress. His re-entry into public life constitutes a vindication that Michigan is happy in being able to give one of her noblest sons. Michigan is a rapid state. Friday there was no intimation that the senatorial race was to be simplified by Mr. Ferry's withdrawal. Saturday, by pulling out, Mr. Ferry assured General Alger's election and Sunday Governor Bliss anticipated this election by using his executive prerogative to appoint him to the vacancy. The burning question now will be: "Is the McMillan machine smashed?" There are many opinions as to this. A conservative view is that the machine, so called, is a little shattered, but still capable of a little influence for good or ill. The McMillan machine centered to a large degree in the person of the late senator, but he who believes that its various ramifications were destroyed with his passing will probably live to realize his mistake. The machine and the party organization have been too closely related for any such result.

WHAT CLEWS SAYS.

In his weekly letter, dated the 27th, Henry Clews says that tight money had precisely the anticipated effect on the market. Prices were unsettled and lowered, despite strong support and unusual stimulating influences. On Saturday last the bank loans showed a further contraction of nearly $12,000,000, making a shrinkage of over $50,000,000 in five weeks, a curtailment which was accomplished without much inconvenience. The end of the present stringency is not yet in sight. Western crops demands are estimated at from $80,000,000 to $90,000,000, a goodly portion of which will fall directly on the New York market. Funds sent into the interior to meet these requirements will not begin to return for four to six weeks. Further contractions of loans are inevitable, unless the reserves are replenished by larger arrivals of gold than those now on the way, which are calculated to give only temporary relief. It is likely that important loans which were to have been floated in Europe this fall will be postponed until American demands are satisfied.

Unfortunately the situation is much aggravated by the awkward working of our treasury and currency systems, which always fails us in times of emergency and need. Treasury absorptions are after all the most serious menace in a situation that otherwise might be self-corrective. The treasury continues to take in funds more rapidly than it can return them. The very same trade activity that causes a large demand for money is stimulating imports of foreign commodities upon which the tariff exacts a large revenue. Legislation cannot immediately readjust revenue and expenditures; so the process goes on, and our cumbersome, obsolete fiscal machinery is kept running by all sorts of devices and expedients with no serious thought of adopting in its place the most modern and scientific methods. At present we are having a plain object lesson on the necessity of a modernization of the United States Treasury laws. Secretary Shaw has exhausted every resource in his power to offset treasury arrangements, and they amount to little compared with the relief coming from national sources. It is not yet sufficiently understood in the United States that all enlightened governments, except our own, have withdrawn from the banking business, leaving the duty of issuing currency to the banks, whose interests, as well as those of the public, lie in having the supply of currency rise and fall in accordance with the demand and thus avoiding extremes of redundancy in times of stagnation and stringency in times of activity. It should be fairly recognized that speculative interests are not suffering by the present stringency; they can readily wait for suitable opportunities; in fact high rates for money can easily be made to play into their hands by forcing stocks out of weak and timid holders. The real sufferers from these extremes in the money market are the merchants and the small agricultural borrowers scattered all over the country away from Wall street; the big borrowers and speculators usually having provided themselves against such contingencies. Our popular and universally respected president would do well to give some of his attention to currency reform as well as to trusts and tariff. It cannot be forgotten that currency reform is an inseparable part of the sound money campaign upon which President McKinley twice rode to victory. By some short-sighted individuals it is supposed to be good politics to delay action, so that the issue may be available for a third campaign. If, however, during the interim a monetary panic should develop, what then would happen to those who played political football with one of the most vital and delicate issues of the day? And if the present currency system works so badly at a time when confidence is high and business sound, how will it work under reversed conditions. General conditions affecting the stock market are unchanged. Business prospects are excellent, railroad earnings of responsibility so essential in developing a young man's confidence in himself, is most easily created by the possession of a life insurance policy in the greatest company in the world. "I am insured in The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York," he says, "and have equal rights with all other policy-holders in assets amounting to over $352,838,971.67" continue large, and it is certain that the roads will be taxed to their fullest capacity in handling freight for another six months. Already there are fears of a serious car famine. No abatement is shown in the general demand for iron. Home furnaces cannot supply the demand, and orders for about 50,000 tons of billets and 100,000 tons of pig iron are being placed in English and German markets; while over 135,000 tons of foundry iron have already been imported into this country. Here and there signs of reaction can be detected, and the horizon is not cloudless by any means; but thanks to a good harvest the outlook is satisfactory far beyond what any human judgment could have foretold three months ago. Confidence in the future is running strong; too strong perhaps for entire safety, for the chief danger now lies in the excesses which inevitably accompany a period of prolonged prosperity. Were it not for the restraint of tight money, we should now probably be in the midst of a speculative orgy, with the public highly excited over the effects of magnificent railroad deals, and the big insiders quietly allowing them to assist in lightening their present burdens. Fortunately this experiment has been postponed, if not averted; so tight money is a blessing in disguise. As we are still in danger of unpleasant times in the money market, purchases of stocks had better be deferred to the breaks, which are almost sure to come.

PLAIN TALK GREATLY NETTLES THE NEW YORK BANKER.

Financier Is Said to Be Working Hard to Defeat Roosevelt and the Party and Coal Strike Is Being Used as a Weapon.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—The Washington correspondent of the Inter-Ocean wires his paper: "I am neither a bull nor a bear on Morgan stocks."

This is the exact language used by President Roosevelt in reply to the protests of J. Pierpont Morgan against the action of the attorney general in bringing suit against the Northern Securities company.

It was a new experience for Mr. Morgan. He had been sitting on a financial throne in New York, about which crowded the men of finance and business, eager to have him take their money and do with it as he willed.

It moves the world. Makes you well—keeps you well. It soothes the bowels, purges the system of impurities, enriches the blood, eradicates brain fog and restores perfect and normal energy.

COPPERS DEAD.

They Reflected Yesterday the Adverse Conditions in New York.

Paine, Webber & Co. said of the Boston market: "Twenty-five per cent for money, the president's illness, the coal strike and the rumored failure of the Louisville & Nashville deal caused heavy liquidation in the New York railroad stocks today. Prices melted in the last hour. Compared with other stocks, coppers were relatively strong. The decline in the general market has been too fast, and, barring accidents, prices should be higher before tomorrow's closing. We think prices are near bottom for the present at least."

Hayden, Stone & Co. said: "Most of the houses are only buying coppers for cash, and are asking customers to pay for those they have been carrying. This has caused some liquidation, but the market has taken it well."

Chicago Markets Somewhat Off.

W. H. Laidley said of the Chicago markets:

"Influenced by lower cables and fairly liberal receipts, which graded a little better, the wheat market opened lower, and, with the exception of the September option, continued to drag. December closing 5c under Saturday. The September option was again bid up sharply. The visible showed an increase of 2,316,000 bushels. The statistics were all bearish and were used to sell the market upon. We are of the opinion that wheat is in a very much overvalued condition and that a rally is due, consequently we advise buying it."

"Corn opened lower, with wheat, and upon more liberal receipts, the September option was weak, being quite freely sold. December held firm during the entire session. The world's shipments were small and almost entirely from Argentina, which is now shipping rather freely. We still favor the buying side of the market, and think that December corn bought around present figures will show handsome profits."

"Oats followed the rest of the market, but were extremely dull, closing slightly under Saturday. The receipts were fair, the estimates a little heavier and the grading much better. The visible showed a good increase. We prefer the buying side around the present figures."

New York Market Semi-Panicky.

Dick said of the New York market: "The market has been semi-panicky. No money relief materialized. Money was in big demand. It reached 35 per cent and apprehension extended to all quarters. Heavy liquidation showed throughout the market, and it was evident in the last hour that the weakened accounts were being liquidated. No support was given the market and the demoralization continued to the close. Declines of from three to nine points were common. Generally speaking, all stocks were affected by the general apprehension and money stringency, but in the case of Louisville the liquidation of the minority stock followed the intimation that only majority stock is to be taken care of in the Morgan deal. The market closed weak at a very slight rally from the worst prices."

The Elks here made a tremendous hit, so much so that the first nighters went right back and bought tickets for the second night."

Colleges Called the God-Given Rights of the Operators.

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—Dr. Ethelbert Talbot, bishop of the Episcopalian church, in a signed statement made public today, considers the strike situation and favors the operators. The letter in part is:

"The chief demand made by the strike leaders is that their organization be recognized. To grant this demand means that the operators shall no longer manage their own business. It is evident no business can be so conducted and no private individual could or would stand it for a moment. Vigorous measures are necessary. The dignity and majesty of the law should be maintained at all hazards. Today violence, persecution,

No Other Medicine Ever Accomplished Such Happy Results.

The world moves on, and so does the wonderful reputation of Paine's Celery Compound as a never failing cure for nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, debility, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles, and impure blood.

As the sun rises in the morning to cheer and enliven the earth, so does Paine's Celery Compound go forth to bestow the blessings of health to the diseased and suffering. This is the character of work that Paine's Celery Compound is accomplishing. Parents are saved to children and children to parents.

Have you, sufferer, tested this wonderful life-giver? If not, you are not doing justice to yourself or family. Paine's Celery Compound has saved tens of thousands of our weak and plain people; it will not fail in your case. Be wise and follow the example of the saved ones. Mrs. M. E. Moore, Cuba, Kan., tells of her marvelous cure as follows:

"Ten years ago I was so crippled with rheumatism that I could not walk, besides being troubled with my kidneys. Today, while I am nearly seventy-eight years of age, I am robust and strong. Paine's Celery Compound completely cured me."

"While Mr. Mitchell and his lieutenants among the strike leaders claim to be opposed to violence no mandatory proclamation has yet gone out from them and the evil is growing. Without taking sides with the operators or miners, the time has surely come when the moral support of every good man who reverences law and order should be given to the maintenance of peace and the protection of the individual in the exercise of his God-given rights."

Ishpeeming and its Environs.

TAKES A NEW POSITION.

Alfred West Will Be Head Bookkeeper at Marquette Branch Prison.

Alfred West, who has had charge of the books at the Finnish Mercantile association's store here, goes to the Marquette Branch Prison as head bookkeeper under Warden James Russell. Mr. West has been with the local society since a short time after it began doing business, about two years ago. Prior to taking that place he kept the books at Hendrickson & Skoglund's general merchandise establishment. He is considered one of the best accountants in Ishpeeming and he will doubtless fill his new position creditably. He was at the prison Friday and Saturday and will assist with the inventory. He will assume charge of the books Oct. 1. Mr. West's many Ishpeeming friends will be pleased to learn that he has obtained a more lucrative position than any he has previously held.

WOOD WILL NOT BE HIGHER.

Consolidated Company Will Hold the Price Down for Some Time to Come.

There is much talk these days as to what wood will cost local consumers during the coming fall and winter. In the absence of hard coal, the consumption of wood, particularly the dry hard kind, will be more than four times greater than during any previous winter in the history of the upper peninsula.

There has been an impression here that the dealers have raised the price of wood and a few facts concerning fuel will not be amiss at this time. The manager of the Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company advises The Mining Journal that wood is being sold at that company's yards at the same price that prevailed all last winter. Dry hard wood is delivered for $5.75 a load, split. The prices on other wood also remains unchanged.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the company the wood question was discussed at considerable length. The Consolidated people were fortunate in buying quite a large quantity of wood early last spring, before there was any indication of a coal famine. It was decided that no advances shall be made as long as the present supply lasts. The company has an option on some wood that will be cut this winter at prices which prevailed last spring.

Wood is selling at lower prices here than at most places in the upper peninsula, due to the fact that the Consolidated people have determined not to raise their prices. It is assumed that other local dealers will follow the price asked by the Consolidated.

Dry hard wood is bringing as high as $8.50 per cord in some of the lower peninsula cities, where fuel of all kinds is scarce. Upper peninsula people have reason to congratulate themselves that there will not be a shortage of wood. All the dealers in the cities and towns have bought heavier than usual.

The Consolidated company has not raised the price of soft coal, but dealers in most all other places are getting more for it than the local concern received last winter. The price here is $3 per ton, fifty cents less than it sold for last March. Manager R. P. Bronson stated yesterday that the $5 price will prevail just as long as the present supply holds out.

SCENERY FOR SMALL STAGES.

The production of "The Eleventh Hour," which will be seen at the local theatre tomorrow evening, will be complete in every way. None of Mr. Carter's scenic productions go on the road without two sets of scenery, adapted to large and small stages. This is why his attractions are so favorably received in the smaller towns.

Permanent Muscular Strength cannot exist where there is not blood strength. Young men giving attention to muscular development should bear this in mind. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives blood strength and builds up the whole system.

SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

By order of the senatorial committee. Dated, Ishpeeming, Mich., Sept. 12, 1902. T. F. DUNDON, Chairman.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION

A Democratic convention for the county of Marquette will be held at Andrews' hall in the city of Ishpeeming, on Tuesday, the 30th day of September, A. The several cities and townships of the county will be entitled to representation as follows: Marquette city, 19 delegates; Negaunee city, 11; Ishpeeming city, 23; Champion and Tilden townships, 3 each; Republic township, 4; Mungamie township, 2; Burns, Edy, Forsyth, Humboldt, Ishpeeming, Marquette, Negaunee, Richmond, Sands, Scandia, Turin and West Branch townships, one delegate each.

T. J. DUNDON, Chairman Democratic County Committee.

WITH OUTSIDE PITCHER BARRED.

Local Ball Players Say They Can Defeat Negaunee for Money.

The members of the Cleveland-Cliffs baseball team are not satisfied with the result of Sunday's contest with Negaunee. They claim that it was understood when arrangements for the game were made that neither team should play outside men. The local players did not know that Werner, the crack twirler of the Lake Linden team, was to pitch for Negaunee until they arrived on the grounds. It was too late to protest, so they played and were defeated by one run. The local players are satisfied that they have the stronger team and they are ready to back their belief with cash. While Werner did great work, the local players give the Negaunee men credit for putting up a splendid article of ball after the second inning.

NATURALIZATION PAPERS.

County Clerk William A. Ross has had the following notice of his proposed visit to this city on Thursday next to be posted here: "I will be in the city of Ishpeeming on Thursday, the 2nd day of October, 1902, for the purpose of issuing first papers to all who desire them, and can be found at the Nelson house from 8 o'clock a. m. until 9 o'clock p. m.

No one is permitted to vote until they are full citizens; if you get your first papers now you can get your second papers two years from this date (provided you have been five years, all told, in the United States), when you will be entitled to all rights and privileges of a citizen of the United States and can vote at the presidential election in 1904. "The fee for first papers is $1, so come prepared to pay for them."

RUMMAGE SALE.

The members of the Chancel society of Grace church will conduct a rummage sale for two or three days during the latter part of October. The ladies will begin at once to collect goods for the sale. They desire all their friends to help out. All who have cast-off clothing of any kind, household goods, etc., will confer a great favor by contributing. Many of the ladies have sent in goods that were a little out of date and there was a continuous rush at the bargain counters.

The rummage sale conducted by the older ladies of the congregation about a year ago was a gratifying success. Many of the ladies sent in goods that were a little out of date and there was a continuous rush at the bargain counters.

LARGE ARCH IS RAISED.

The large arch which fell at the new M. E. church Sunday was raised yesterday and placed in its position. The only damage caused by the accident was the breaking of one side of the truss of the arch. This can be repaired without taking the arch down. It was supposed at first that the frame work on the west side of the building would have to be rebuilt, but the damage done to it was very slight. Mr. Stekes, one of the contractors, arrived here Sunday and assisted in raising the arch.

DANCE WILL BE TONIGHT.

The Trombly orchestra will hold its dance at Anderson Hall this evening, instead of tomorrow night as announced. The change was made because of another engagement. The dancing class will precede the hop as usual, and will commence at 7:30 o'clock. A special car will be run late to accommodate the persons attending from Negaunee.

NOT DOOMED FOR LIFE.

A SAD DISAPPOINTMENT.

Ineffective liver medicine is a disappointment, but you don't want to purge, strain and break the glands of the stomach and bowels. DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They cleanse the system of all poison and putrid matter and do it so gently that one enjoys the pleasant effects. They are a tonic to the liver. Cure biliousness, torpid liver and prevent fever. H. Harwood, Ishpeeming. Stafford Drug Co., Marquette.

A FORMER RESIDENT HERE.

Mrs. Conrad Carlson Died a Week Ago Sunday at Ironwood.

The many friends of the family in Ironwood were pained to hear of the death at an early hour a week ago Sunday morning of Mrs. Conrad Carlson at the family home in Bessemer, says the Ironwood News-Record. She had been an invalid for several years, death being due to a cancerous growth. She failed rapidly after submitting to a surgical operation for its removal last winter, in fact it was not thought at the time that she would survive the shock of the operation. Mrs. Carlson was born in Sweden January 20, 1862, and came to Michigan with her parents when two years old, the family settling in the copper country. Emma Helen Lundahl and Conrad Carlson were married at Ishpeeming in 1878, and they settled at Bessemer in 1886, where they have since resided. Besides the husband, Mrs. Carlson leaves two children, Charles and Cora, who are at home. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon services being held at the house by the Rev. T. J. Joslin. The funeral was very largely attended, friends of the family from all parts of the county journeying to Bessemer to pay their last respects to the memory of this estimable woman.

DRILL MEN RETURNING.

Several Marquette County Experts Have Given Up Their Jobs in W. Africa.

Ten or a dozen of the Marquette county men who left early in the year for the west coast of Africa to engage in diamond drill work for an English corporation may soon be home.

Very little information is obtainable from the letters. One of the men stated that he expected to leave England soon, but he was unable to tell just when.

It appears that the drill runners and diamond setters were under contract to work a certain number of hours each day. It is believed here that the time specified was six hours.

One of the men stated in his letter that they intended to remain in London to fight their case against the company.

Kluck; treasurer, William Brannan; register, John Jacobs; prosecuting attorney, Levy S. Rice; surveyor, James Tobin; coroners, John J. Shea and John Liljerus; senator Thirty-second district, John F. Finnegan.

E. J. Burrell of Manistique, Mr. Berry of Detroit and Attorney W. G. Sharpe, were at Newberry last week on business connected with the Newberry furnace property.

BIG SHRINKAGE IN COPPERS. Total Decline in Prices Since a Year Ago Is $180,000,000.

Copper stocks were beginning to drop briskly a year ago under the influence of the Amalgamated's failure to control the copper market.

Decline in market value leading Boston copper companies, June to September, inclusive, 1901, $130,000,000. Decline in same month, 1902, $188,000,000. Less advance in few, say, 8,000,000.

The work on the new hydro-carbon smelter, which is being erected for the George A. Bradwell Mining company, just south of Mayer, says the Prescott (Ariz.) Prospect, is steadily progressing.

The new works are a prominent feature of the young town of Mayer, just five-eighths of a mile south of the station and on higher ground.

The new smelter, if it proves to be successful—and it is scarcely a doubt that it will—will revolutionize the reduction of smelting ores everywhere.

The spur of the railroad rises quite a steep grade—perhaps 4 per cent—to deliver the ore to the rock breaker, whence it is delivered to the recumbent furnace.

Everything about the works is substantial and the visitor cannot help feeling pleased at the result of this few weeks of effort.

JEWISH NEW YEAR.

It Will Be Observed in Marquette County This Week.

With the most solemn prayer and worship, the Jewish people of this county will observe Thursday, Oct. 2, as their New Year's day.

The year, as handed down by the old Hebrews, does not begin at the time recognized by the Christian world today, but always comes on the first day of the Jewish month Tishri, which this year falls on Oct. 2.

The observance is in the nature of a festival, and this, with the Day of Atonement, which follows nine days later, are two of the occasions still most solemnly observed by both the Reformed Jews and the Orthodox. The day was instituted about the time of Christ, as in ancient Biblical times the feast of the passover was supposed to mark the opening of the new year. According to the old rule three services were held each day, although this idea is not strongly adhered to by the modern Jews.

One of the features of the morning service is the sounding of the trumpet. In some of the Jewish churches, the ram's horn is substituted, while in some of the reformed congregations a cornet solo takes its place. This part of the ceremony was most important in the Biblical days. So much, in fact, that the day was sometimes called the feast of the "Sounding of the Trumpet." Day of Memorial is another name used in ancient times, but more interesting and more significant is the name, "Day of Judgment."

Rabbis taught and will teach, and the good church people will continue to believe, that on this day God Almighty and all his hosts sit in judgment on the actions of mankind. The results were recorded in two books, one the book of life, and those who deserved to live were entered there; the other, the book of death, contained the names of those whose records were unworthy and were, therefore, doomed to death.

These books were kept open until the Day of Atonement, and the intervening days were designated as days of repentance. On the Day of Atonement the books were again examined, and the names of the sinners who had truly repented were taken off the roll of the book of death. Then the two books were sealed and no further changes could be made or pardons granted.

To an outsider unacquainted with ancient Biblical history the Jewish New Year, as well as many of their other religious feasts, has but little import, but to a faithful Israelite every part of the service, both in the home and in the synagogue, symbolizes something of higher and better life.

The Gladstone Delta says that the extension of the Rapid River branch of the Soo road to the Munising railway at a point about two miles west of Chatam, is about finished. When the rails are laid there will be a continuous track from Gladstone to Marquette, and it is probable that there will be through trains between the two cities. Nothing has been given out regarding the nature of the traffic to be done over the new road, but it will give the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company rail connection between its chief centers in the peninsula, Marquette, Negaunee, Munising and Gladstone and it is certain that there will be considerable business done on the line.—Houghton Daily Mining Gazette.
