WANTS TO COMPLETE EXTENSION. Car Line to Reopen Negotiations With Lake Linden and Laurium.

"I am here more to find out what people want than anything else," said W. O. Chapman, vice president of the Houghton County Street Railway company, who arrived at Houghton Sunday in speaking yesterday with reference to his present mission in the copper country.

"As far as new extensions are concerned we have none in mind just at present, and, in fact, none are contemplated for the time being. Extensions may be made, of course, but I believe I can safely say that nothing of the kind will be done this year.

B.st Spring Remedy Ever Formulated
PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

Miss E. M. Swan Completely Cured of Terrible Blood Troubles That Doctors Could Not Relieve.

In the month of May, it is an absolute necessity that the body should be furnished with a richer and purer supply of blood for the establishment of a health that can successfully cope with the enervating effects of hot summer weather. Poor blood in May produces listless, ambitionless, sleepless, and salivary men and women, who quickly become victims of some organic disease that ends in life.

Intelligent people recognize the necessity of cleansing and fortifying the system in May by using Paine's Celery Compound, which speedily removes all poisons from the system, and gives to the thin, watery blood a larger proportion of red corpuscles, and arouses all the organs of the body to healthy action. Paine's Celery Compound does a work for victims of impure blood that commands the attention of the most eminent medical men in the world. Miss E. M. Swan, Stamford, Conn., says:—

"Before I began taking Paine's Celery Compound my blood was in a very bad state, and I had three large abscesses under my right arm, which completely disabled me from work, or even dressing myself. At last I was compelled to have the abscesses opened, when my eczema became worse than ever before. I tried everything that I could hear of, and also had several of the best doctors, but they did not cure me. I then commenced the use of Paine's Celery Compound, and before I had finished the second bottle my abscesses had all healed, and the eczema was almost gone. I am now on my fourth bottle, and am more than happy to say that I have not a pimple or any sign of eczema on my body. I am thankful for the great work that Paine's Celery Compound has done for me."

"THE SECOND MRS. TANQUERAY."
Rose Coghlan Will Be Supported by a Strong Company at the Opera House.

"There is as much difference between Piner's heroines and the heroines of other dramatists as there is between an ordinary piece of chalk and a particularly fine piece of cheese. His plays are the fruit of a great genius, both in literary merit, and in details of stagecraft," says Rose Coghlan, who appears at the opera house Saturday evening in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." "Paula Tanqueray is more sinned against than sinning. I know and feel the wave of sympathy that sweeps up from the audience during that terrible last act. Of course there is a tendency to array scarlet women in silks, satins and laces, and to invest them with a halo. There is too much sympathy of the maudlin type also. But Paula makes a brave fight. The saintly purity of Aubrey Tanqueray's daughter, the daily association with this girl who has always worn 'the white flower of a spotless life,' begin to eat into Paula's heart and mind. She tortures herself with the knowledge of what might have been, and the girl herself, though she shows by no word or deed any signs of the woman she is, is a saint. Her presence is a constant reminder to Paula of her wasted years. The tender love of Aubrey Tanqueray for his 'Saint' Elean, prompts Paula's half sad, half sarcastic speech, 'there are two kinds of love—one for the woman you love, and one for the woman who loves you.' Personally I think those four acts of Piner's mean that one may never escape the consequences of sin."

Miss Coghlan gives only one performance of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." Her company is said to be an exceedingly clever one. Miss Coghlan's adopted daughter, Miss Agnes Roslyn, who has just emerged from a convent school, is sharing honors with Miss Coghlan as "Saint" Elean.

The steady increase in business at Grabower's big store has necessitated the addition of another clerk to the force. He is M. W. Wezinski of Milwaukee, who assumed his new duties yesterday. Mr. Wezinski is especially experienced in the carpet line and will be engaged chiefly in that department.

It is expected that the South Shore crossing on Front street will soon be removed, officials of the road having signified their willingness to have the step taken, provided it is understood thoroughly that the track may be relaid whenever the company's convenience shall demand it. It is likely that a contract to this effect will be entered into between the company and the city.

The new Beach Inn company has filed articles of incorporation with the county clerk of Alger. The stockholders are H. R. Harris and H. A. St. John of Marquette, H. H. Everard of Munising and R. C. Mann and W. G. Mather of Cleveland. As set forth in the articles of incorporation the objects of the company are to acquire lands by lease or purchase, to erect hotels and cottages with all that goes with them, including livery stable, store, and so on. Mr. Mather is the principal stockholder in the new company.

Today there will be a rummage sale for the benefit of the Associated Charities at the store on South Front street formerly occupied by McGuire & Co. All descriptions of useful, if not particularly ornamental, articles will be sold for nominal figures. Donations will be received today, any anything and everything will be gratefully accepted. The proceeds of the sale will be used in carrying on the work of the Associated Charities, and it should be largely attended. The sale will open at 9 o'clock this morning. There is urgent need of ladies to help and it is hoped a number will volunteer their services.

BYRNS WILL WIN OUT.

Ishpeming Man Will Be Elected to Directorate of Woodmen Society.

By obtaining the endorsement of the Michigan state camp of the Modern Woodmen of America, State Deputy C. J. Byrns, of Ishpeming, becomes the strongest candidate in the field for a place on the board of directors. There are two or three other prominent Woodmen aspiring for the directorate, but Byrns stands closer to the administration than any of the others. John Sullivan of Kansas City, who spoke here a few months ago, is a candidate, but it is said that he will throw his strength to Byrns if he finds that the Michigan man can swing the largest number of votes in the convention. There are two advocates of majority rule, which practically decided the death blow at the state camp sessions last week, also in the field. It is not likely that both together will pull more than one hundred votes at the head camp in Indianapolis.

Byrns has the united endorsement of the state deputies of the entire jurisdiction, as well as the backing of a large majority of the district deputies. It is now nearly two years since he first announced his candidacy. His first move was to consult the head officers and ascertain what chance he had of winning. In case he entered the race, he received little encouragement, and then his boom was started among the deputies. The latter are in position to do more "boosting" for a candidate than any other members of the society. As a rule the deputies control the politics of all the states, as they are constantly working among the members.

Combinations Formed Early.

Combinations looking to the election of Byrns have been forming for some time past. Several of the larger states will deliver a solid vote to the Ishpeming man. Byrns' friends among the deputies have been lying awake nights devising schemes that will work out in his interest. The leading Woodmen in several states, who will spring candidates for other offices at the Indianapolis meeting will find it to their advantage to "tie up" to Byrns and his Michigan delegation, as by so doing they will get in with a strong active crowd of workers. It is generally conceded that Byrns will have the solid vote of several states at the first ballot.

Wisconsin has a candidate for head banker. While in Chicago Friday The Mining Journal representative met Charles Whelan, who controls the politics of Wisconsin Woodmen. He stated that Byrns will get all of Wisconsin's thirty-six votes and that the delegates will stick to him from start to finish. He also stated that he knew positively that several of the other large states will throw Byrns their united support.

The administration, which practically stands for readjustment in some adequate form, captured about four-fifths of the delegates to the Indianapolis convention. The states that will send solid delegations are Missouri, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Michigan, Illinois, Maine, Ohio and Oregon. Several of the smaller states will also be in line. Kansas will send a contesting delegation. In this state Ed Murphy and J. C. Johnson, both candidates for head Consul Northcott's position, clashed. Johnson is the recognized leader of the majority rulers, and Murphy is a member of the board of directors. Director Tallant is also a candidate for the head consulship. It is likely that he or Murphy will withdraw before a vote is taken for the office. With one of these stepping up to Northcott's place the vacancy which Byrns aspires to fill will be left.

Michigan Was Hotbed.

The Michigan meeting was more spirited than that of any other state. The majority rule movement was started in Grand Rapids by a crowd of Woodmen who have not been successful in winning the confidence of the administration. To those who knew the man and are familiar with their movements, their scheme is nothing more or less than a well-laid plot to land them something which they cannot now obtain. They did clever work, but they were outwitted and outnumbered.

If the state had declared in favor of majority rule Byrns would have been side-tracked so far as Michigan is concerned. He had to win in favor of readjustment or he and all his supporters would have been whipped at every turn. The strength of the opposing factions was tested Wednesday morning, when a ballot on the adoption of a resolution endorsing Byrns was taken.

It was good politics on the part of Byrns and his followers to seek his endorsement before taking a vote for or against readjustment. There were no delegates present who were instructed for Byrns, but against readjustment. Had Byrns been turned down by the convention, there would have been no show to endorse readjustment in any form. The majority rulers put up a stiff fight against Byrns, but by this they lost friends rather than gained them, so that when the readjustment question finally came up nearly half their delegates had climbed into the band wagon.

Climping Woodmen at Indianapolis.

Michigan will send a large delegation to the Indianapolis meeting. Before the delegates left Orosso a movement was started for securing a special train from the lower peninsula. Many aside from delegates will attend. All will go shouting for Byrns.

Black diamonds are selling at $50 a carat, the lowest figure they have touched for a long time. The price has been going down for the past month, when they were $62 a carat about that length of time ago. The principal trouble the exploring companies are having in this vicinity at present is with the diamond drill operators, the men to run the machines and the diamond setters. They are scarce and hard to secure. A drill man says that they never were as scarce before as now, and some exploring work is being put off because of the difficulty in securing them.—Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

IMPROVING THE SYSTEM.

A force of men in the employ of the fire department have been engaged for several days in making improvements on the fire alarm system by connecting all the alarm boxes with new insulated copper wire. There has been great need for this improvement for a long time, as the old wires are worn and have given out in some places. The new system would give the wrong signal and sometimes they would not work at all. With the new wiring the system will be in the best of condition and will be placed beyond the need of further repairs for a long time. The wires are strung on the poles of the Michigan Telephone company.

TO REPEAT PERFORMANCE.

The Ishpeming Light Guard Dramatic club will repeat their performance of "61 to '63" tomorrow night by request. The play gave general satisfaction to those who attended its first presentation and the second appearance is guaranteed to be even better. Many comic specialties will be introduced, principally the singing of the awkward squad, which will appear between several acts. This will be the third presentation of the piece by the same cast. The reserved seats are on sale at Tillson's. Price, twenty-five, thirty-five and fifty cents.

A STARTLING TEST.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. McKeonway, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. COLONEL BURCH PREDICTS GREAT THINGS FOR THE U. P.

IN AMERICAN SHEEP BREEDER

ITS AGRICULTURAL AND STOCK RAISING POSSIBILITIES.

He Discusses Them in Elaborate Detail—His Comment on W. S. Prickett's Roycroft Farms at Sidaaw.

One of the most lengthy and notable articles on the agricultural and stock-raising possibilities of the upper peninsula of Michigan that has yet appeared anywhere is found in the April number of the American Sheep Breeder, the editor of which, Colonel Burch, lately visited this region with the special purpose of gathering material for this article and to inspect the country with a view of advising stock men as to its prospects.

As is usually the case, Colonel Burch's conclusions are highly favorable to the upper peninsula. He thinks that it has a promising future in stock raising, dairy products, fruit and truck farming. His conclusions were reached after a several days' trip through its present farming communities in all counties and after a careful inspection of the various soils and a study of the meteorological conditions. Colonel Burch knows whereof he writes, and his words may be taken at their face value, as he could have no possible motive for stating other than his honest opinion.

As Colonel Burch's article covers six pages, of very small type, in the American Sheep Breeder, it is manifestly impossible to reproduce it here, or to give any adequate idea of the ground it covers. It treats of the colonel's trip through this region in elaborate detail, mentioning names of farmers, and setting forth their opinions of the upper peninsula and its possibilities. The question under discussion is treated in both its general and particular aspects, and the result is a very valuable contribution to the literature bearing on upper peninsula agriculture.

The Roycroft Farms.

Of the Roycroft farms at Kenton, of which W. S. Prickett is the energetic proprietor, Colonel Burch says:

"These farms, consisting of 300 acres of highly improved and well cultivated meadows and grain fields, lie upon the sides of the village. The new and model sheep barns, lambing barn and hospital, and 300 feet of sheep sheds, together with the horse and carriage barns, office and warehouse, all grouped within the village limits, are among the leading attractions of the place and are first to command the attention of visitors. These farm buildings are models of their kind, constructed with every modern convenience, regardless of cost, and are admirably suited for the housing, breeding, lambing, nursing, feeding, dipping and shearing of sheep and goats. The yards and corrals are almost encircled with clear trout brooks that afford superb watering pools that never freeze, and the numerous and elegant buildings occupy high, dry, clean, sandy loam elevations exactly suited to the successful handling of sheep and Angora goats of which there are now on the farm about 600 head, exclusive of the young lambs and kids. The 300 acres of improved land from which nearly all the stumps have been taken, constitute a very small part of the farm, but in this new country, with its far-reaching and magnificent stretches of primitive woodland, seem more like the creation of magic than the work of plodding human hands. From Duluth to Negaunee there are no farm improvements at all comparable with them. Miles of the finest and most substantial cedar post and wire fence enclose the fields and buildings which look more like a section of some old baronial estate than a pioneer farm in the wild woods of northern Michigan. W. S. Prickett, the young master of this beautiful sheep and goat farm, made his money in these northern wilds and with unquenchable nerve, spirit and ambition has spent thousands of dollars in resewing these well cleared fields from the wide waste of stump and brush land, and giving them as object lessons to the unlucky lumber public that for a generation refused to credit this country with agricultural possibilities. He grows magnificent crops of oats, barley, peas, turnips and hay as an Englishman does for balanced sheep feeding, and here almost on the northern border of the United States has solved a shepherd's problem in the keeping of a thousand mutton bred sheep successfully in one flock. His courage and tact and determination have never once failed him. Year by year the stumps and brush disappear from new clearings, new fields are broken, enclosed and consecrated to clover, timothy and the golden hoof and fleece, and so far the great God has smiled approval of the work of this brave, patient, courageous young shepherd and farmer who is worth more to this beautiful north peninsula than all the land syndicates within its borders. This young lumberman, often criticized for the folly of spending his money in the wilds where he made it, has made many a blade of grass grow where none grew before, and philosophically cultivated the peaceful arts of the shepherd and of pioneer town builder while his critics have been whittling dry goods boxes, punishing bad whisky or cutting coupons. He has put his stamp—the royal crest and arms of the pioneer—on field and flock and town. I lift my derby and bow low to this earnest and inspiring worker of the shop, which is located in the Mining Journal building. He has been conducting the business for Mr. Eggers since the latter's election as city treasurer a year ago this spring, and is thoroughly competent to sustain the establishment's reputation for durable and high grade work, being a master of all the different branches of the bookbinder's trade. He has been connected with the Eggers bindery ever since he was first apprenticed there, and so is intimately acquainted with the needs and wants of all its old customers. The business will hereafter be known as the Stenglein Bindery company.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

John G. Stenglein Has Bought Out C. A. Eggers.

The details of a deal by which John G. Stenglein purchased the bindery and goodwill of Charles A. Eggers were concluded yesterday, and Mr. Stenglein is the proprietor of the shop, which is located in the Mining Journal building. He has been conducting the business for Mr. Eggers since the latter's election as city treasurer a year ago this spring, and is thoroughly competent to sustain the establishment's reputation for durable and high grade work, being a master of all the different branches of the bookbinder's trade. He has been connected with the Eggers bindery ever since he was first apprenticed there, and so is intimately acquainted with the needs and wants of all its old customers. The business will hereafter be known as the Stenglein Bindery company.

MANY STONE CUTTERS.

Lipssett & Sinclair Employ Them at South Marquette.

Lipssett & Sinclair have a force of about fifteen stone cutters at work at their shops near the South Marquette quarry, which just now present a scene of much activity. A good force has been employed since early last fall, and in the interim most of the stone for the new court house has been quarried, being brought down in its unfinished state from the Portage Lake quarries. There remains but a comparatively small part of the court house contract to be finished, and Mr. Sinclair promises that the masons at this structure will not lack for stone at any stage of the building operations. There is much material at the court house site and before it is all used up the cutting will be practically finished.

The cutters are now going over the material to be used in the completion of the belfry for St. Paul's church. Some stone has to be taken from the quarry for this improvement, and it will be gotten out very soon, the quarry having been unwatered. Work at the church will be taken up in about a week or ten days. Lipssett & Sinclair are jobbing cutters and they do not a little work at their South Marquette shops for other contractors.

MADE YOUNG AGAIN.

WELL PLEASSED WITH PROPERTY.

Captain Hooper Reports Favorably on M. G. M. & Co.'s Mines.

From a telegram addressed to F. H. Begole by Captain Hooper, who spent a week in Magdalena, Mexico, and who is consulting engineer of the property which he went to inspect and properly open up it would appear that Marquette people and others have been very fortunate in their purchase of the Lake Superior Gold Mining & Milling company's stock. Captain Hooper has the reputation of being a very conservative mining man and the telegram from him saying, "found everything better at mines than expected or reported," would indicate that he is, to say the least, well satisfied with the property. The captain will shortly return to the copper country and resume his duties at the Victoria mine. His son, James Hooper, who accompanied him south, will remain in Mexico in charge of the property.

ROSS ESTATE LANDS.

Those in Alger County Purchased by C. R. Brown and Kelsey and Freeman.

Contracts have been signed and deeds are about to pass in a transaction whereby the lands of the Ross estate in Alger county are to be transferred to C. R. Brown of Marquette and Kelsey and Freeman of Toledo, O., the latter well known among the upper peninsula lumbering fraternity. There are about 3,000 acres of lands affected by the deal, and it is understood that the selling price was $1 an acre. The lands have been denuded of practically all their pine, and their new owners will go over them for the cedar, spruce and hemlock. They will begin work without loss of time. At present Judge Brown has a camp in at Rock River, where he owns some 1,100 acres on which he is cutting cedar principally, getting out poles, posts and ties. The operations in this locality will be extended to embrace the new purchase. Judge Brown has had the work at Rock River in hand for the past month or so.

LARGE EXCURSION BUSINESS.

South Shore Road Looks Forward to It This Year.

Martin Adson, general agent of the South Shore road, just home from the east where he conferred with agents of the connecting lines, says:

"There is every prospect of a very heavy east bound excursion business this year from the west and northwest. The South Shore road is now working on plans for special rates to the east on account of a number of attractions. The first low rate to be named will be on account of the annual spring excursion to Detroit and Buffalo, the next the Christian Scientists' meeting which takes place in Boston early in June. Then comes the educational convention in Boston early in July. The annual pilgrimage to the shrine at Ste. Anne, Beaupre is on July 19 and there will be several other excursions calling for low rates to the east for which dates have not yet been fixed."

DOWN IN MUNISING.

Charles Hanck Was Entertained There Last Week in a Strenuous Manner.

Charles Hanck, the popular representative of the Upper Peninsula Brewing company, was given some strenuous entertainment at Munising last week, in the course of which he figured in Justice Depey's court as defendant in a civil suit. Hanck went down to the city by Grand island to take possession for his company of the stock and fixtures of George Woods' saloon under a chattel mortgage. This purpose he, with the assistance of a force of able bodied helpers, accomplished easily enough, but in so doing he stirred up Woods' bile, with the result that his arrest, and that of the men he had employed on the work, was secured on a charge of forcible entry and detainer. In the justice shop the helpers were discharged, but Charles was convicted. No fine of any sort was assessed, but he is charged with the costs. The case, however, will be appealed by the Brewing company. It is claimed that Mr. Hanck kept within his rights at all stages of the proceedings and that the action taken by Woods was dictated solely by anger that the chattel mortgage should have been served. There is said to be no doubt that the decision of the superior court will favor the Brewing company, which is actuated in appealing it largely by a desire to do away with the probability of similar trouble in the future.

ANNA CHRISTIANSEN DEAD.

Miss Anna Christiansen, daughter of Paul Christiansen, residing at 506 Superior street, died last night after a lingering illness with tuberculosis. She was aged twenty-six. Miss Christiansen was well known and popular and her demise will bring sorrow to many. She was a member of the Royal Neighbors. The funeral arrangements will be announced tomorrow.

THE EAGLES WILL ORGANIZE.

The fundamental principles of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will be discussed at the Marquette Tuesday, at 8:30 p. m. Some of the Eagles' benefits are $1 per day sick benefit, medical services for self and entire family free of charge and $100 at death, besides the social features. All gentlemen are requested to be present and hear what the Eagles' standing is in this country.
