CURE OF LOCKJAW

CHICAGO DOCTOR MAKES IMPOR- TANT DISCOVERIES.

DREAD DISEASES ARE CONQUERED

INJECTIONS OF SALT SOLUTION PROVE EFFECTIVE.

Locomotor Ataxia, Morphine Poisoning, Uremia and Other Deadly Ills Give Way Before It When All Other Remedies Have Failed.

Chicago, May 24.—Lockjaw, locomotor ataxia and others of the most horrible diseases with which modern man is afflicted have met defeat at the hands of modern investigation, according to an announcement made at the University of Chicago.

In the case of locomotor ataxia alone has the remedy proved ineffectual in the most advanced stages of the disease and in this disease it has been shown that some remarkable results have been brought about which are not yet thoroughly understood by any of those who have worked with Dr. Matthews.

A solution of calcium chloride, sodium chloride, sodium sulphate and sodium citrate is made up and is injected, in large quantities, into the veins of the patient. It has been shown that this solution stimulates not only the kidneys in particular but the entire central nervous system as well.

Beginning more than a year ago Dr. Matthews took up the work of making a practical application of the theories announced at the University of Chicago a year ago last Christmas by Professors Jacques Leeb and Albert P. Matthews, who both held that the action of inorganic salts on the tissues of the body was electrical.

Dr. S. A. Matthews made a solution of some of the salts mentioned in the paper of Professor A. P. Matthews and began his investigations on rabbits and other animals. In the case of locomotor ataxia, in which the disease appears to be the rotting of the cores of the nervous system, it was found that pains produced in the early stages of the disease could be stopped and prevented in advanced cases, while no cure could be effected, a return of the early stages of the disease appeared to be brought about.

Probably the most important cure effected is in the line of lockjaw. No cure for this dread disease has ever been known, but it was found that in cases of rabbits into which large and fatal doses of the tetanus toxin had been introduced into the system an injection of the salt solution appeared to cleanse the tissues and effect a cure even after the advanced symptoms of the disease had been shown.

In morphine poisoning Dr. Matthews found he could give rabbits doses of from .3 to .5 of a gram, which would have proved and also on when they may be put in force. Yet the prospect of another abundant crop in the United States relieves the situation from serious embarrassment.

New Bulgarian Ministry Would Remove the Russian Yoke.

Vienna, May 24.—Austrian statesmen are awakening to the fact that the change of ministry at Sofia introduces a new and extremely active influence in the Balkan situation. A COUGH CONUNDRUM

When is a cough more than a cough?

When it's a settled cold. When it hangs on in spite of all you can do. Cough mixtures won't cure it because they are merely for a cough and this is something more.

Scott's Emulsion cures the cough because it cures the something more. It heals and repairs the inflamed tissues where the cold has taken root and prevents its coming back.

Bulgarian independence from that source than from St. Petersburg. The recent influence of Russia on Bulgaria is likened to a creeping paralysis.

This outlook pleases Turkey and much displeases Russia. Therein lies danger of more harm than good to the cause of peace. Both Russia and Austria maintain a protective attitude toward the Balkan states with a view to becoming their heirs.

Challenges Redmond and Harrington to Duels Over Dublin Rumpus.

London, May 24.—Major McBride, organizer of the Irish Transvaal brigade, in an open letter from Paris has challenged John Redmond and Timothy Harrington and their friends to fight one or more duels in consequence of their attitude toward Mrs. McBride (formerly Maud Gonne) at the meeting of citizens held in Dublin rotunda on Monday night last in support of the Irish parliament.

Major McBride says: "It seems that only the fact that my wife is a lady prevented Redmond and Harrington and their friends from dealing summarily with her. They evidently regret that it was not her husband who was present.

GERMANS MUST IMPORT WHEAT.

Will Need from America Twice the Quantity Bought in 1902.

Berlin, May 24.—Germany will again be compelled to import large quantities of American wheat. The official report made public yesterday indicates that double the quantity purchased in 1902 and almost as much as the record-breaking importation of 1,250,000 tons of 1901 will be needed.

Nearly 21 per cent of the fields will require to be replowed, in comparison with 27 per cent in 1901, when the German crop was a practical failure. The report caused very little excitement in Berlin.

BUCKET SHOP RAIDED

CHICAGO POLICE PAY UNEXPECTED AND SENSATIONAL VISIT.

CLOSE UP SULLIVAN CONCERN

OWNER ACCUSED OF DOING A FRAUDULENT BUSINESS.

Fifty Patrons and All Employees Are Arrested and Later Freed on Bonds, While Proprietor Gets Out an Injunction and Resumes.

Chicago, May 24.—The offices of George T. Sullivan in LaSalle street were raided by the police yesterday and fifty men who were speculating, together with all the large force of employees, were placed under arrest.

Visit of Police Unexpected.

The raid was entirely unexpected. Those in the office were taken absolutely by surprise. Detective Woodridge, after posting the police about the building, entered and announced: "This place is in charge of the police. Let no man try to escape."

Sullivan was in his private office and refused to admit the officers. The door was forced and Sullivan was placed under arrest. He asserted he had an injunction against a raid, but although he was given time to produce the court documents he failed to do so.

The raid caused great excitement at the board of trade, directly across the street from the Sullivan concern. For a few minutes the pits were almost entirely abandoned. Crowds of board of trade men and spectators gathered about the patrol wagons and jeered and shouted at the entrapped men filed through the throng.

Swindling Scheme Alleged.

Detective Woodridge says the George T. Sullivan Stock and Grain company has sent out millions of circulars, and has induced thousands of persons all over the country to invest in grain, cotton, coffee and provision futures. The circulars were printed in red ink and superlative language.

tion and there is a large demand for metal as soon as it is produced. After the first hour the market weakened in sympathy with the decline in the New York list. The week closes with the copper market quiet and easy.

Table of market prices for various commodities including wheat, corn, and other grains.

Feeling in Grains Good.

Laidley said of the Chicago markets: "The grain market opened today about last night's close, to a shade lower. The foreign markets failed to respond to our strength yesterday. The receipts are small, but pit conditions seem to govern the situation entirely.

"Corn has been quiet but strong, at slightly higher prices than yesterday. The receipts are small, the cash demand good, although the offerings from the country have been a little heavier.

Bad Day in New York.

Walker said of the New York market: "The market opened quiet this morning, but a selling movement developed early in the day which continued throughout the entire session, and stocks yielded. There was special weakness in St. Paul, which was sold down in large blocks and there was every evidence of heavy liquidation in this stock.

The market closed weak at about the lowest prices. Closing prices: Wash. 105 3/4, No. Pacific 105 1/2, Ariz. 105 1/2, Manhattan 105 1/4, N. Y. Central 105 1/4, C. & O. 105 1/4, etc.

WILL CHALLENGE THEIR FOREMEN
Miners at Section 16 Want to Compete With Them in a Drilling Contest.

The men of Section 16 mine will make a strong bid for honors in the mining contest on the occasion of the semi-centennial of the Lake Superior Iron company. Several of their number who have had long experience in handling the steel and hammer will soon issue a challenge to the underground shift bosses to engage in a drilling contest, under the same conditions in force on the day of the celebration, for a stake of $100. The challenge will probably be accepted. It will be no amateur performance, and the men who win can well be proud of their success. Needless to say the foremen have learned a few things about drilling during the course of a thorough training in practical mining operations, and the men who will compete against them are all old-timers, having used the hand drill for years before the power machines came into general use.

The drilling contest will be the leading feature of the Lake Superior celebration in the eyes of a good many. At every mine a number are in training for the event, spending much of their leisure time at noon and after working hours drilling holes in the rock on the surface. The mine blacksmiths are working overtime sharpening and tempering the drills.

NEW CARD CATALOGUE.
Will Be Ready for Library Patrons Next Month—Other Library Notes.

We are glad to say that, if nothing occurs to prevent, our new fiction card catalogue, author, title and subject, will be practically finished next week. A few belated books will come straggling in after that date, but next week we can place the new catalogue where the public can use it, and of course, we expect library patrons will use it for the selection of their books instead of going to the shelves.

Those who are timid about taking books from the library, fearing that the volumes may carry disease germs, may feel easier if they know that we have a fumigating box in which the books that we have any reason to think need purifying go and are very thoroughly fumigated before they are placed on the shelves. The health officer keeps us posted as to the houses where infectious diseases exist, and we take all precautions possible to keep the books pure in that respect.

H. L. Elmendorf, of the Boston public library, is enthusiastic in his endorsement of the work of the public library in the public schools. A plan was adopted a few years ago by the Boston library whereby the school selected were to turn over to the public library all their miscellaneous books, retaining only purely reference books. The books taken over were to be sorted and those considered useful were to be supplemented by others from the public library, and returned to the library for use in each class room, about equal in number of volumes to the number of pupils. He further says, "We also have the testimony of the teachers and have yet to hear of the first case where a teacher or a school that has had books from the public library has been willing to give them up or go back to the old plan of the distinctly school library. One principal said that he had noticed a great improvement or gradual development in the general intelligence of his pupils, during the period of six years, in their attitude toward the school, in their relations with each other and in all that indicates an increased culture." Another teacher said: "We teachers realize daily how much these school room libraries are helping us to form right tastes, a moral backbone and altruistic spirit in our children. The desire for good reading has grown and it is a long time since we have been obliged to confiscate any pernicious literature found in the hands of children. I recall the case of a slovenly, surly, incorrigible boy, the despair of his teachers, metamorphosed into a neat, polite, interesting lad in a little more than a year, entirely through the judicious selection of interesting books, and a sympathetic interest in his interests on the part of the teacher. He loved to read, and read trash. His attention was turned to history and in a year this boy was the best historical debater in the school. The influence of well written books is shown in the thought and language of the children. The bad boy who is bad because he is idle is reached by the books as he can be in no other way. We diagnose the bad boy and ask the library to prescribe. We would give up much before we would give up the library books." This cooperation between the school and public library exists in many smaller places than Boston, and we will be glad when the day and place arrives for the Ishpeming public library to be of more value to the schools than the present conditions permit.

An eastern librarian was asked for "heroines of Adfleton, by Howls." Another wanted "Mrs. Wiggs of the Garbage Patch." A recent written request read: "Please send me a book, I want a sad, Christian story or something awful funny."

Volume III of H. J. Stevens' Copper Handbook has just been received at the library.

I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely and if not satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Rayder, of Patens Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, 'give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I want it in the house all the time for it cured me.'" For sale by Stafford Drug Co.

A rumor that the Republic and Ishpeming baseball teams would play ball at Union Park yesterday afternoon brought out quite an office in Marquette, connected with the local branch by a private wire. Offices will be established in the copper country also, all being connected by private telegraph wires. Phillip D. Kennedy, who has been here for a number of weeks, will open the new offices and will be succeeded here by the manager of the Escanaba office.

A queer freak of nature in the shape of a chicken with four legs has been on exhibition at the electric office for the past two days. It was hatched Friday, being one of a young brood of chicks belonging to Ernest Ozier, living at Union Park. It picked its way out of the shell, but died almost immediately after. Mr. Ozier took the body to the hospital where it was preserved in alcohol. It will be sent by Dr. Feich to the state university at Ann Arbor. The freak really possesses two perfectly formed bodies joined together closely, each possessing a separate pair of legs oppositely attached, so if the chicken had lived it would probably have suffered considerable inconvenience in walking. The head is attached to both bodies and is well developed. There was nothing abnormal about the appearance of the egg, but it was slower in hatching than the others.

MEMORIAL SUNDAY.
Memorial Sunday was observed yesterday by special service at Grace church. The veterans were escorted to the edifice by the Ishpeming Light Guard and the Lake Superior Guards. The line of march was formed at the city hall, the Light Guard being in the lead, followed by the Lake Superior Guards, with a dozen or more of the old soldiers in the rear. There were about a hundred men of the three organizations in line, all in uniform. At the church special music was rendered and the pastor preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion. After the services the veterans and their escort marched back to the city hall, where the ranks were broken.

The following testimonial was received from Mr. John W. Young, an old soldier and highly respected citizen of Lincoln, Ill., who says, "I had a severe cough and cold and I decided to get some kind of medicine. I purchased a bottle of Harts' Honey and Horehound, and am pleased to say I am now well. I advise anyone suffering from throat or lung affections to use this valuable remedy. I cannot recommend it too highly." Sold by People's Drug Store.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE CARE AND PRESERVATION OF THE PIANO.

ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL PIANO MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA.

BEAR IN MIND that a Piano is more than a piece of furniture in its mechanism, and delicate in its construction, and greater injury through lack of care than from excessive use.

TUNING: A Piano should be tuned at regular intervals, preferably after the beginning of each season. It becomes out of tune as much by change of temperature as by use. Too much stress cannot be placed upon the necessity of regular and expert tuning.

Miss Edith Broad Has Been Appointed, Taking Place of Mrs. Fiske.

At a meeting of the library board Friday afternoon Miss Edith Broad was chosen librarian, succeeding Mrs. Fiske, who has held the position for over two years, since the death of her husband. Miss Broad has been assistant librarian for nearly two years. She is familiar with her new duties, and with library work generally, having spent some time studying the system at the state university. She will take hold at once.

Several plans for the new library submitted by different architects have been sent to Mr. Carnegie for his approval, but none of them were satisfactory and others are being prepared. Work on the building will be started as soon as a suitable site is secured.

RADICAL MEASURE

VAN ZOEREN BILL WOULD ABOLISH PRISON CONTRACTS.

STATE ITSELF TO EMPLOY MEN

IT IS A SPECIAL ORDER FOR WEDNESDAY OF THIS WEEK.

It Was Brought Forward Because of the Complaints of the Labor Unions Against the Present Order of Things.

This week the house of representatives will grapple with the convict labor question, as the Van Zoeren bill has been made a special order for Wednesday. This measure proposes to have the state itself act as the chief employer of the inmates of its penal institutions, and is a result of the union agitation against convict labor, no small part of which was stirred up on account of the manufacture of cigars at the Marquette institution.

The nub of the Van Zoeren bill is contained in these words: "The prison boards shall not, nor shall any other authority whatsoever, make any contract by which the labor or time of any prisoner in the state prison, the state house of correction, the branch of the state prison in the upper peninsula, or the house of correction and reformatory at Ionia, or the product of his work shall be contracted, let, passed out, given or sold to any person, firm, association or corporation. Except that the convicts in the state penal institutions may work for, and the products of their labor may be disposed of to the state."

The labor of such prisoners shall be so directed as to produce the greatest amount of useful products, articles and supplies needed and used in the public buildings, institutions and offices in the state.

The bill originally provided for the furnishing of counties, townships, school districts and other political divisions of the state with prison-made supplies. Representatives Shea and Duncan, the Detroit labor representatives, had the bill amended to take out that part of the measure, because the labor unions object to it.

Mr. Van Zoeren claims the state should be able to profit by the new arrangement. "The private contractors for prison labor are making fortunes on it," he says. "Why can't the state get the benefit of these profits?"

The bill also provides a system by which convicts can leave prison with something more than the ordinary $7 and a suit of clothes. A diligent convict should have money to burn when he gets free without being forced to steal or sponge on his friends after he gets loose in the world. Read this section: "The prison board shall provide, as far as practicable, to have all work performed by the prisoners done by piece work, and shall designate, from time to time, a scale of prices to be allowed prisoners for work performed, whether the same is performed by piece work or time work." The said board shall also fix and determine the amount per day, week or month that shall be retained by the state from the earnings of each class of prisoners and shall direct the warden to place to the credit of such prisoners all earnings in excess of such amount.

"The amount of such surplus standing on the books of the prison to the credit of any prisoner may be drawn by the prisoner during his imprisonment only upon the certified approval of the warden or superintendent of such institutions, and then only to aid dependent relatives of such prisoner for the purchase of books, instruments or instruction, not supplied by the institution to men of his class." And any balance to the credit of the prisoner at the time of his parole shall be subject to the draft of the prisoner in such sums and at such time as the warden or superintendent of such prison, reformatory or house of correction shall approve; but at the date of his release or final discharge from any such prison the whole amount of such surplus shall be subject to his draft at pleasure."

The bill is modeled on the New York law.

A BARREN VICTORY

ISHPEMING DEBATERS DECLARED GUILTY OF GROSS PLAGIARISM.

USED MUCH OF CORNELL'S ARGUMENT

SCHOOL AUTHORITIES MAY NOT SEE FIT TO ACT OFFICIALLY.

It Is Now Almost Impossible for Them to Make Out a Tangible Case—Matter Brought to Attention of a Judge.

Although the school authorities may not take any official cognizance of the matter, owing to the impossibility of getting their case in tangible form, it is a matter of common knowledge here, and it is beginning to be reported about other parts of the upper peninsula, that Ishpeeming was guilty of highly dishonorable practice in the recent debate between representatives of its high school and the Marquette school. It is charged that two of the Ishpeeming debaters, the first two who addressed the audience on the question, drew largely, and to great extent verbatim, from the subject matter prepared some time ago on the same question by Cornell debaters, who won a joint debate in which they supported the same side of the question that Ishpeeming had to defend.

The question was "Resolved, that compulsory arbitration between employees and employers should be required in the cases of all corporations operating under franchises of a public nature." Marquette had the affirmative and Ishpeeming the negative, the up-the-road debaters winning out by a fair margin of points.

It is claimed that the speech of the first Ishpeeming debater, George Erickson, was practically a duplication of the argument presented by one of the Cornell men. The line of thought was practically the same, and the phraseology in most part identical. The Marquette debaters and a number of Marquette people in the audience recognized the plagiarism at once, as the text of the Cornell debaters' argument had been read over here, and was familiar to local school people. However, the text was in Marquette at the time, and, as it would have been manifestly undignified and foolish to set forth the unsupported facts in the case, the boys kept silent, and went in and were trimmed largely with canned speeches. According to local report it was Erickson's speech which was most apparently plagiarized. Clancey, the second debater heard on the negative, was also an offender, though, it is said, in lesser degree. He read letters, conveying the impression that they were personal letters written in response to queries from Ishpeeming, from Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell, setting forth how these labor leaders looked with disfavor on any scheme of compulsory arbitration. These letters were taken bodily from the text of one of the Cornell debaters' arguments.

Debaters Were Sore. As has been remarked these gross plagiarisms were noticed by numerous Marquette people, including the debaters from this city, during the progress of the argument. On the return here the Cornell debate was gone over again, to make sure of the matter. It was found, as has been outlined, that to all intents and purposes one of the Ishpeeming men stole his arguments almost bodily from the Cornell subject matter, and another of the Ishpeeming debaters relied to a considerable extent on inspiration drawn from this doubtful source. Naturally the boys were sore, what else could be expected? The incident was the occasion of a conference of the teachers. The text of the Cornell argument was forwarded to Calumet to prosecuting attorney Larson, one of the judges, with the request that he look into it and pass opinion on the point of its similarity to the material submitted by the Ishpeeming debaters. As yet Mr. Larson has not been heard from.

It is doubtful if the Marquette school authorities will take any official cognizance of the affair. They have nothing tangible to act on. There was, more's the pity, no stenographic record of the debate, and even if the Ishpeeming manuscripts were produced at this late hour there could be no guarantee that their form was substantially the same as it was when the debate occurred. Nevertheless it is understood that the school authorities consider that Ishpeeming was undoubtedly guilty of highly dishonorable and discreditable conduct and that its victory in the recent debate carried no honor with it. The plagiarism of the up-the-road debaters, it is asserted, is evident to any unbiased person who heard the arguments submitted and who reads the Cornell debate in question. It is reported that the Marquette school will formally sever debating relations with Ishpeeming.

The affair has caused no little indignation here without school circles, and it is certain that the course indicated above would meet with general approval.

TIONESTA HERE TOMORROW.

F. R. Spear & Sons have been informed that the new Anchor line steamer Tionesta, which disappointed Marquette people by sailing past this port last week, will be in here tomorrow, from 5 to 8 p. m., when it will be open for inspection at Spear's dock. The general public will be invited to look over the new craft, and they will not be backward in accepting the invitation. Full details in regard to the Tionesta's first visit to the port will be given tomorrow.

I paid out over $500, writes Mrs. S. P. Jones, Atlanta, for medicine but nothing did me any good until I used Rocky Mountain Tea. Made me entirely well. Stafford Drug Co.

....VAN ALSTYN'S STORE NEWS....
BARGAINS EVERY DAY IN THE WEEK!
Our regular prices are as low as any special "Bargain Day prices" offered by any other house in the county. Many times we sell goods for less money than others pay for them. The shrewd buyer will investigate values before placing orders. You owe it to yourself to find out who is giving you the best value for your money.
Can you afford to pay twenty-five per cent more for your goods for the sake of having them charged? It means paying five dollars more on every twenty-five dollars you buy—at least one hundred dollars a year. Better economize for a month and pay cash for your goods; you will have more at the end of the year. Book accounts don't pay.
We are large advertisers and, not often-times other people's advertisements, many times claiming to offer great reductions in prices which from their own statements are no less than our regular prices. We claim to sell goods at less (quality considered) than any other house in the city. We claim to show you a larger and better assortment than you will find elsewhere. We claim better styles, and all new goods. We have the lightest sales rooms in the city, where you can see what you are buying. We have but one price, and our goods are marked in plain figures. We refund the money on any goods returned that are not cut, and cheerfully refund the money if goods are not perfect or are not as represented.
Many buyers have already found that it pays to trade with our company. They know whatever they buy is good and reliable. Take a little time and look into this matter for yourself. Don't think because we have a clean, fine store that we can not sell you goods just as cheap as the stores that are dark and full of old goods. There is no better place for the workingman's family to trade than at our store, and don't forget that you are as welcome as any customer that may come to us. We want your business and believe we can do you more good than any store in Marquette.
Every commercial man and all strangers wonder when they come to Marquette how we can maintain such an elegant and large establishment in so small a city. The people of this city should be proud of such a store. They should be proud enough, and appreciate it enough, to support it. We hope by pursuing the same reliable methods of conducting our business that has characterized it in the past to make it so popular with the people of Marquette county that we will never be sorry that we gave Marquette a store worthy of a much larger city.
Active work will be pushed forward this week in the old express office. The entire front will be torn out, a new window extending the entire length of the front will be put in and will be lowered almost down to the floor and extended back deep into the room, making it the finest show window in this section. Five large windows have already been placed in the west wall or side of the room, which, with all the east windows and all the front transoms, will be fitted with prism glass, throwing a flood of light throughout the building. The wall cases for one side of the room are already on their way here and those for the other side are being made and will be shipped in a few days. When these are placed in position, all ready-made goods will be put in them, thus keeping them clean and free from dust and dirt.
Marquette is destined to be the center of commercial life in this upper country. We hope to see it connected with all the other cities of the county in the near future by interurban lines, thus making it the metropolis, hence our faith in making the extensive improvements in our store and extending our lease for another five years.
