It is also believed here that these men will be found to hav been implicated in the robbery of the Palmer store, if not in a number of minor crimes. Both the officers at the prison and the local police officers regard them as thoroughly dangerous and bold men. They have been in Marquette at odd times during the past several weeks, and Anderson purchased a chisel in a hardware store here. On another occasion he sold over a dollar's worth pennies for seventy-five cents. It ssible that the pair contemplated do ing a job in this city, but the police kept close track of them and if they cherished any ulterior designs they evidently concluded that it was the part of wisdom to give them up. At Escanaba the men give their names as Thomas Johnson and A. Marvin. Saturday afternoon viewed the slaught er of the Marquette eleven in terms of the coming Ishpeming-Escanaba game and it was the general opinion of all who have seen both elevens that the coaches for Escanaba have plenty of work cut out for them if they are to vin the upper peninsula championship. Saturday's score does not indicate an overwhelming strength on Escanaba's part, so much as it indicates the weak ness of the Marquette boys, who either haven't been learning football at all or who forgot all of it they ever knew or the occasion of Saturday's game. Many of the local players are new men and possibly were suffering from stage fright, but Ishpeming will be another proposition, though to be sure the Ish beming team is much lighter even than Marquette. However, Escanaba is not playing a finished game by any means, Its work is ragged in many departments; it has a tendency to get itself penalized and the men do not seem to stand the wear and tear very well. The Escanabans are strapping big fellows, probably the largest high school team ever seen on the upper peninsula, but they will have to step lively to take Ishpeming into camp. Its a cinch that they will have to play faster football than they put up here Saturday.
