OUTBOXES AND OUTGENERALS GEORGE GARDNER IN THEIR BOUT AT SAN FRANCISCO.

FIGHT GOES TO THE LIMIT

AT TIMES IS TAME AND DOES NOT wreck at Indianapolis on Oct. 31. PLEASE THE CROWD.

Winner In Successful in Avoiding Punishment and While Frequently Flooring His Man Is Unable to Land a Knockout Panch,

San Francisco, Nov. 25.-Bob Fitzsimgeneraled George Gardner for twenty full rounds. Fitzsimmons was as awk ward and cunning as of yore, and there was not a moment when he was not carefulness personified. While the old man could avoid punishment from Gardner, he could not knock his op ponent out, although he landed a num ber of vicious blows.

To judge from his performance to-night, Gardner is not in Fitzsimmons' class. He landed once in a while, but Fitzsimmons was always going away from him and the blows were harmless Several times Fitzsimmons apparently had Gardner almost out, but he was either too tired or lacked his old strength and could not land a knockout punch. The fight did not please the crowd and Referee Graney said it was the worst he ever saw. He said he gave the decision to Fitzsimmons because the latter scored knockdowns. Fitzsimmons said the reason he did not put Gardner out was that he broke the knuckles of both hands early in the contest. Gardner's eyes were cut open

MORE WORK FOR THE POSTMAN. London Postmaster General's Plan for Shoppers,

Mr. Austen Chamberlain's legacy of mpending postal reforms bequeathed to Lord Stanley, his successor in the postmaster generalship, includes what is variously known as "cash on delivery" ahead of the public. The authorities wait the bidding of the nation to introduce the new scheme, of which Mr. Austen Chamberlain has on more than one occasion-in the house of commons and before a deputation of the Advertisers' Protective society-expressed his hearty approval.

As the result of a plebiscite among large business houses, by the Advertisers' Protection society, it has been found that 93 per cent favor the adoption of the reform, while the other 7 per cent remained neutral because they did not seem to be directly affected. It is claimed that the proposed new How Fortune-Seekers Lose Money on order of things would check the growing race of fraudulent advertisers who tempt people to send their money and It may be that the advertisement in give nothing adequate in return. A GENERAL HOLIDAY.

MESSMER IS AN

NEW ARCHBISHOP A MAN OF GREAT LEARNING AND GEN-ERAL INFORMATION.

AMERICAN HIERARCHY.

His Appointment as Katzer's Successor Has Been Generally Expected and So Comes Largely as a Matter of Course.

The news that Bishop Sebastian C Messmer, of Green Bay, had been apsucceed the late Archbishop Katzer, acontained in the press dispatches yeaterday morning, was not unexpected at the episcopal residence here and among the Catholic clergy of this diocese, and although the announcement has not yet been made through the official channel. no doubt is expressed that the news i correct. The opinion of people gene ally has been that Bishop Messme would be promoted to the higher office.

His scholarly attainments and admir istrative ability eminently qualify hi for the administration of the archbish opric. He is looked upon as one of the most able, energetic and progressive pr lates in the American hierarchy. He of kindly disposition and very affable It is predicted that he will be a vigorous archbishop and that he will distinguish himself by a progressive administraton tempered by principles of conservatism.

Bishop Messmer, it will be remembered, had a prominent part in the ceremonies here a few weeks ago in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Bishop Frederic Baraga's elevation to the episcopacy. He presided at the laying of the corner stone of the new Baraga school, delivering an eloquent

The archbishopric over which Bishop Messmer has now been called to preside comprises the entire state of Wisconsin and the northern peninsula of Michigan and his official residence is at Milwan There are three bishopries in hi territory, those of Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette, LaCrosse and Green Bay Bishop Messmer is not an ambitiou man. He at first refused his promotion to the episcopacy, and only submitted to take the office on Rome's insistency Now it is said that if he could consult his own choice he would prefer not to take the greater office within his grass

The New Archbishop.

Bishop Sebastian Gebhard Messme was born Aug. 29, 1847, at Goldach, canton of St. Gall, Switzerland. His ances tors were Swiss Catholies, and resided in Thal, also of the same canton. At the time of the reformation, one branch of his family became adherents of the Protestant church, but the other portion remained steadfast to the faith.

Sebastian G. Messmer, Sr., moved from Thal to Goldach, residing there until the time of his death in 1873. farmer by occupation, he managed to save a little fortune, besides time to ac quire an education that was far above his own unaided exertions, it is little to condered at that he became the subiect of numerous political, social and parochial honors in the gift of the peode in the canton in which he resided. Thus he served as a representative of his district in the general assembly, as well as in the Catholic administrative council, proving himself in both instances to be a faithful and conscientions legislator. A good citizen and staunch Catholic, he proved an active worker in both church and town, as his position of burch trustees, which he held for many strong and decided character, ruggedly

"MRS. WIGGS."

A Play of Many Laughs and Very Amateurish Construction,

People who have been laughing over the humor of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "Lovey Mary." revelling in Mrs. Wiggs' quaint philosophy, and enjoying the queer people of Mrs. Rice's two captivating stories had an opportunity last night to see the queen of the Cabbage Patch and the people over whom she reigned, on the stage at the Marquette opera house. Liebler & Co. have given Mrs. Flexner's stage version of Mrs. Rice's stories every advantage. They have an excellent scenic environment and are acted by a large and unusually capable company, yet "Mrs. Wiggs" leaves much to be desired, and Mrs. Flexner, the dramatist, is largely responsible. It is said that she was chosen to prepare "Mrs. Wiggs" for the stage chiefly because she was Mrs. Rice's friend, and it may ready be be-

As may be gathered from the above the dramatic structure of "Mrs. Wiggs' is insufficient. It is the veriest skeleton on which to hang Mrs. Wiggs, Lovey Mary, Stubbins, Mrs. Eichorn and the rest of them. For the purposes of plot Mr. Wiggs, who never lived in Mrs. Rice's stories, is brought to life, but he might better have been allowed to rest in his grave, as he adds little to the play. The plot is so slight as to be lmost useless and if Mrs. Flexner had write a third "Mrs. Wiggs" she might have written a much better one. tion is what is lacked. "Mrs. Wiggs' progresses but slowly, too slowly, Homely philosophy is all right in its place, but too much dialogue ruins dramatic effect. At times, too fre quently, people are inclined to yawn at "Mrs. Wiggs" and wish that Stubbins wight turn up, or that something might However, "Mrs. Wiggs" is by n means a failure. In fact it is interesting, and, as a whole, a pleasing entertainment. The excellent art of Mrs. Cook, who is Mrs. Wiggs, is a show it itself, and she is ably supported. Miss Taliaferro as Lovey Mary and Miss Helen Lowell as Mis' Hazy are excellent, the and sweetly girlish.
